KHULĀṢA-E-TAFSĪR (summary of the commentary)

Alif-Lām-Mīm — is ke ma‘nī Allāh hī ko ma‘lūm hain. Yih (āyatein) us ek pur-ḥikmat kitāb, ya‘nī Qur‘ān kī (āyatein) hain, jo ke hidāyat aur raḥmat kā sabab hai — un nekī karne wālon ke liye jo namāz kī pābandī karte hain aur zakāt adā karte hain, aur woh log ākhirat kā purā yaqīn rakhte hain. Yih log (jo) Qur‘ān ke i‘tiqād ke sāth hidāyat kī badaulat apne Rab ke sīdhe raste par hain, aur yihī log rāh-e-hidāyat aur raḥmat kī badaulat falāḥ pāne wāle hain. pas ba‘z ādmī aise hain jaisā ki (ūpar) bayān kiyā gayā; aur bar-khilāf un ke, ba‘z ādmī aisā bhī hai jo Qur‘ān se i‘rāḍ kar ke in bāton kā kharīdār bantā hai — (ya‘nī) Allāh (kī yād) se ghāfil karne wālī bāten ikhtiyār kartā hai; ... aur is gharaḍ se (aisā kiyā jātā hai) tāki (logon ko) Allāh ke (rāste) se ḥaṭāwe, be-samjhe bījhe gumrāh kare, aur rāh-e-ḥaq kī hansī uṛāwe — tāki dūson ke dil se bilkul us kī waq‘at aur ta’sīr nikal jāwe. Tab to (yih) kufr o ḍalāl, aur ḍalāl ke sāth idlāl (dūson ko gumrāh karnā) bhī hai; aur aise logon ke liye ākhirat mein zillat kā ‘adhāb (hone wālā) hai. rahā un ke aḍḍād — (un ke liye) najāt aur falāḥ ...

Aur us shakhṣ-e-madhkūr ke i‘rāḍ kī yih ḥālat hai ki jab us ke sāmne hamārī āyatein paṛhī jātī hain to woh shakhṣ takabbur kartā huā aisī be-iltifātī se munh moṛ letā hai jaise us ne sunī hī nahīn — jaise us ke kānon mein thiqaal (bojh) hai. So us shakhṣ ko ek dardnāk ‘adhāb kī khabar sunā de. Yih to i‘rāḍ karne wāle kī sazā kā bayān huā; aur āge ahl-e-hidāyat kī jazā kā bayān hai, jo ki falāḥ-e-maw‘ūd kī tafṣīl hai — ya‘nī albatta jo log īmān lāye aur bhale kām kiye, un ke liye ‘aysh kī jannatein hain, hamesha hamesha (rahenge). Yih Allāh ne sachchā wa‘da farmāyā, aur woh zabardast ḥikmat wālā hai (pas aisī kamāl-e-qudrat se wa‘da aur us wa‘de ko wāqī‘ kar saktā hai, aur ḥikmat se us ko ḥasb-e-wa‘da wāqī‘ karegā).

MA‘ĀRIF O MASĀ’IL (points of guidance & rulings)

- Yu’tūna’z-zakāt — is āyat mein zakāt kā ḥukm hai, ḥālānki yih āyat Makkī hai. Is se ma‘lūm huā ki aṣl zakāt kā ḥukm Makka-e-Mu‘azzama mein hijrat se pahle ā chukā thā. Aur yih jo mashhūr hai ki zakāt kā ḥukm hijrat ke dūse sāl mein nāfidh huā — is se murād niṣābon kā taqarrur, aur miqdār-e-wājib kī tafṣīlāt, aur ḥukūmat-e-Islāmiyya kī taraf se us kī wuṣūl-yābī aur maṣraf par kharch karne kā intizām hai; yih hijrat ke dūsre sāl mein huā.

Ibn Kathīr (rah.) ne Sūrah-e-Muzzammil kī āyat "Aqīmuṣ-ṣalāta wa ātu'z-zakāta" ke taḥt yihī taḥqīq farmāī hai — kyūnki Sūrah-e-Muzzammil to (un kāī sūraton mein se hai jo) bilkul ibtidā mein, nuzūl-e-Qur'ān ke zamāne mein nāzil huī hai. Is se ma'lūm hotā hai ki jis ṭarah Qur'ān-e-Karīm kī āyāt mein aksar ṣalāt aur zakāt ko sāth sāth bayān farmāyā hai, usī ṭarah un kī farḍiyyat bhī sāth sāth hī huī hai. Wa'llāhu a'lam.

(Ḍakarahu fi'r-Rūḥ 'an asbāb an-nuzūl li'l-Wāḥidī wa Muqātil, wa ḍakarahu fi'd-Durr al-Manthūr bi-riwāyat al-Bayhaqī.)

Aur Durr-e-Manthūr mein Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍ.) se ek riwāyat is ko yūn bayān kartī hai ki (Naḍr) ek gāne wālī kanīz (laundī) kharīd kar lāyā thā, aur us ke zarī'e se in logon ko Qur'ān sunne se rokne kī yih ṣūrat kartā: ki jo log Qur'ān sunne kā irādā karte, (woh) apnī us kanīz se un ko gānā sunātā; aur yih kahtā ki "Muḥammad (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) tum ko Qur'ān sunā kar kahte hain ki namāz paṛho, roza rakho aur apnī jān ko taklīf mein (ḍālo) — main tum ko kahtā hūn ki (behtar hai) gānā suno aur jashn-e-ṭarab manāo."

Qur'ān-e-Karīm kī madhkūra āyat usī wāqī'e par nāzil huī; aur is mein "ishtirā lahwa'l-ḥadīth" se woh qīṣṣe-kahāniyān aur gāne wālī laundī (kī kharīdārī) murād hai. Wāqī'a-e-nuzūl ke i'tibār se lafẓ "ishtirā" apne ḥaqīqī ma'nī — kharīdne — ke liye ista'māl huā hai; aur "lahw al-ḥadīth" ke jo 'ām ma'nī āge bayān ho rahe hain, un ke i'tibār se lafẓ "ishtirā" bhī is jagah 'ām hai — ya 'nī ek kām ke badle dūsre ko ikhtiyār karnā; is mein sāmān-e-lahw kī kharīdārī bhī dākhil hai.

Aur "lahw al-ḥadīth" mein lafẓ "ḥadīth" to bāton aur qīṣṣe-kahāniyon ke ma 'nī mein hai, aur "lahw" ke lughawī ma 'nī ghaflat mein paṛne ke hain. Jo chīẓein insān ko ḍarūrī kāmōn se ghaflat mein ḍāl dein, (woh) "lahw" kahlātī hain; aur ba 'z auqāt aise kāmōn ko bhī "lahw" kahā jātā hai jin kā koī natīja/fā'ida na ho — maḥaḍ waqt-guzārī kā mashghala, dīl bahlāne kā sāmān ho.

Āyat-e-madhkūra mein "lahw al-ḥadīth" ke ma 'nī aur tafsīr mein mufasssīrīn ke aqwāl mukhtalīf hain. Ḥaḍrat Ibn Mas'ūd aur Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhum) kī ek riwāyat mein is kī tafsīr gāne-bajāne se kī gāī hai (rawāhu'l-Hākim wa ṣaḥḥaḥahu, wa'l-Bayhaqī fī sh-Shu'ab waḡhaira). Aur jumhūr ṣaḥāba o tābi'īn aur 'amma mufasssīrīn ke nazḍīk "lahw al-ḥadīth" se 'ām (murād) hai — tamām ...

... (lahw al-ḥadīth se 'ām hai —) tamām un cheezon ke liye jo insān ko Allāh kī 'ibādat aur (us kī) yād se ghaflat mein ḍāl dein. Is mein ghinā o mazāmīr (gānā aur bāje) bhī dākhil hai, aur behūda qīṣṣe-kahāniyān bhī.

Imām Bukhārī (raḥ.) ne apnī kitāb "al-Adab al-Mufrad" mein isī tafsīr ko ikhtiyār kiyā hai; is mein farmāyā hai ki: "lahwa'l-ḥadīthi huwa'l-ghinā'u wa ashbāhuhū" — ya 'nī "lahw al-ḥadīth" se murād gānā aur us ke mushābih dūsarī cheezein hain (jo) Allāh kī 'ibādat se ghāfil kar dein.

Aur Sunan-e-Bayhaqī mein hai: "lahw al-ḥadīth" se murād gāne-bajāne wāle mard yā 'aurat ko kharīdnā, yā us ke amthāl aisī behūda cheezon ko kharīdnā hai jo Allāh kī yād se ghāfil karein.

Ibn Jarīr (raḥ.) ne bhī isī 'ām ma 'nī ko ikhtiyār farmāyā hai. Aur Tirmidhī kī ek riwāyat se bhī yihī 'umūm thābit hotā hai, jis mein ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kā yih irshād hai ki "gāne wālī launḍiyon kī tijārat na karo", aur phir farmāyā: "wa fī mithli ḥādḥā nazalat ḥādhihi'l-āyah" — ("wa minā'n-nāsi may-yashtarī ..." ilā ākhiri'l-āyah).

Author's note

Lahw o la 'b aur us ke (sāmān) ke shar'ī aḥkāṁ kī pūrī tafṣīl, Qur'ān o Sunnat ke dalālīl ke sāth, aḥqar (mu'allif) ke ek mustaqīl risāla "as-Sa'y al-Ḥathīth fī tafsīr lahwa'l-ḥadīth" mein madhkūr hai — jis mein ghinā o mazāmīr kā bhī mufaṣṣsal kalām, Qur'ān o ḥadīth, phir fuqahā, ummat aur ṣūfiyā'-e-kirām ke aqwāl se (naql) kiyā hai. Yih risāla ba-zabān-e-'arabī "Aḥkāṁ al-Qur'ān" kī ḥizb-e-khāmis mein shā'ī ho chukā hai; ahl-e-'ilm us kā muṭāla'a kar sakte hain. 'Awām ke liye us kā khulāṣa yahān naql kiyā jātā hai:—

Pahlī bāt qābil-e-naẓar yih hai ki Qur'ān-e-Karīm ne jitne mawāqī' mein "lahw" yā "la 'b" kā

dhikr kiyā hai, woh (sab) madhammat aur burā'ī hī ke mawāqī' hain, jin kā adnā darja karāhat hai (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī o Kashshāf). Aur āyat-e-madhkūra "lahw" kī madhammat mein bilkul wāḍiḥ aur ṣarīḥ hai.

Aur Mustadrak-e-Ḥākim, Kitāb al-Jihād mein, Ḥaḍrat Abū Hurayra (raḍ.) se riwāyat hai ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne farmāyā:

"Kullu shay'in min lahwī'd-dunyā bāṭilun illā thalāthatan: intiḍāluka bi-qawsika, wa ta'dībuka li-farasika, wa mulā'abatuka li-ahlika — fa-innahunna mina'l-ḥaqq."
ya'nī dunyā kā har lahw o la'ib bāṭil hī hai, magar tīn cheezein: ek yih ki tum tīr-kamān se khelo (nishāna-bāzī karo); dūsre apne ghoṛe ko sidhāne ke liye (khelo); tīsre apnī bībī ke sāth khel karo.

"lahw"; degrees of blameworthy lahw (1: that which leads to kufr)

Is ḥadīth mein har lahw ko bāṭil qarār diyā hai; aur jin tīn cheezon ko mustasnā qarār diyā hai woh dar-ḥaqīqat "lahw" mein dākhil hī nahīn — kyūnki "lahw" to us kām ko kahā jātā hai jis mein koī dīnī o duniyāwī fā'ida mu'tad-bihā na ho. Aur yih tīnon cheezein to mufīd kām hain jin se (bahut se) dīnī aur duniyāwī fawā'id wābasta hain: tīr-andāzī aur ghoṛe ko sidhānā to jihād kī tayyārī mein dākhil hai, aur bīwī ke sāth mulā'abat tawālud o tanāsul (afzā'ish-e-nasl) ke maqṣad kī takmīl hai. In ko ṣirf ṣūratān aur zāhir ke i'tibār se "lahw" kah diyā gayā hai; warna woh ḥaqīqat ke i'tibār se "lahw" mein dākhil hī nahīn.

Isī tarah in tīn cheezon ke 'alāwa aur bhī bahut se aise kām hain jin se dīnī yā duniyāwī (bahut se) fawā'id muta'alliq hain, aur ṣūrat ke i'tibār se woh "lahw" (khel) samjhe jāte hain — un ko bhī dūsri riwāyāt-e-ḥadīth mein jā'iz, balki ba'z ko mustaḥsan, qarār diyā gayā hai; jis kī tafṣīl āge ā jāyegī.

Khulāṣa yih ki jo kām ḥaqīqatan "lahw" hon — ya'nī jin mein na koī dīnī fā'ida ho na duniyāwī — woh sab ke sab madhmūm aur makrūh to ḍarūr hī hain; phir un mein tafṣīl hai: ba'z to kufr kī ḥad tak pahunch jāte hain, ba'z ḥarām-e-ṣarīḥ hain, aur kam se kam darja makrūh-e-tanzīhī kā hai. Pas is se koī (aisā) lahw jo ḥaqīqatan lahw ho mustasnā nahīn; aur jin (khelon) ko (mustasnā) kiyā gayā hai woh ḥaqīqatan "lahw" mein dākhil hī nahīn — jaisā ki ek ḥadīth mein khud us kī taṣrīḥ maujūd hai.

Kitāb al-Jihād mein hī — jis ke alfāz yih hain: "laysa mina'l-lahwi illā thalāthun: ta'dību'r-rajuli farasahū, wa mulā'abatuhū ahlahū, wa ramyuhū bi-qawsihī wa nablihi" — al-ḥadīth. (Naṣb ar-Rāya, ṣ.2–3, j.4.)

Is ḥadīth ne khud yih taṣrīḥ kar dī ki yih tīn cheezein dar-ḥaqīqat "lahw" mein dākhil hī nahīn; aur jo ḥaqīqatan "lahw" hai woh bāṭil aur madhmūm hai — āge us ke madhmūm hone ke mukhtalif darajāt hain:

1. Jo khel (insān ke apne) dīn se gumrāh hone, yā dūsron ko gumrāh karne kā zarī'a bane — woh kufr hai; jaisā ki āyat-e-madhkūratu'ṣ-ṣadr "wa mina'n-nāsi may-yashtarī lahwa'l-ḥadīth" mein us kā kufr wa ḍalāl honā bayān farmāyā gayā, aur us kī sazā "'adhāb-e-muhīn" qarār dī — jo kuffār kī sazā hai. Kyūnki yih āyat Naḍr ibn al-Ḥārith ke jis wāqī'e par nāzil huī, us mein is "lahw" ko Islām ke khilāf logon ko gumrāh karne ke liye ista'māl kiyā gayā thā; is liye yih lahwa ḥarām ...

... (jo khel logon ko Islām ke khilāf gumrāh karne kā zarī'a bane, woh) gumrāh hone ke sāth kufr tak pahunch gayā.

2. Dūsri ṣūrat yih hai ki koī lahwa logon ko Islāmī 'aqā'id se to gumrāh nahīn kartā, (lekin) un ko kisī ḥarām aur ma'ṣiyat mein mubtalā kartā hai — woh kufr to nahīn, magar ḥarām aur sakht gunāh hai. Jaise woh tamām khel jin mein qimār aur juā ho — ya'nī hār-jīt par māl kā len-den ho; yā jo (khel) insān ko adā'e farā'id (namāz, roza waghaira) se mānī' hon.

3. Aur jin khelon mein na kufr hai na koī khulī huī ma'ṣiyat — woh makrūh hain, kyūnki (insān un ke zarī'e) ek be-fā'ida kām mein apnī tawānā'ī aur waqt ko ḍā'i' kartā hai.

margin heading: khelon ke sāmān kī kharīd o farokht:

(Is tafṣīl se) khelon ke sāmān kī kharīd o farokht kā ḥukm bhī ma'lūm ho gayā: jo sāmān kufr o ḍalāl yā ḥarām o ma'ṣiyat hī ke khelon mein ista'māl hotā hai, us kī tijārat aur kharīd o farokht bhī ḥarām hai; jo lahwa makrūh mein ista'māl hotā hai, us kī tijārat bhī makrūh hai; jo sāmān jā'iz aur mustasnā khelon mein ista'māl hotā hai, us kī tijārat bhī jā'iz hai; aur jis sāmān ko jā'iz aur nā-jā'iz donon (kāmon) mein ista'māl kiyā jātā hai, us kī tijārat (bhī) jā'iz hai.

margin heading: mubāḥ aur jā'iz khel:

Idhar yih bāt tafṣīl se ā chukī ki madhmūm aur mamnū' woh lahw (o khel) hai jis mein koī dīnī yā dunyawī fā'ida nahīn. Lekin jo khel badan kī warzish aur ṣiḥḥat (bāqī rakhne), yā kisī dūsrī dīnī o dunyawī ḍarūrat ke liye hon — yā kam az kam un mein koī gunāh kī bāt na ho, aur un mein ghuluww na kiyā jāye ki unhī ko (apnā) mashghala banā liyā jāye aur ḍarūrī kāmon mein un se ḥarj paṛne lage — to aise khel shar'an mubāḥ hain; aur agar dīnī ḍarūrat kī niyyat se hon to thawāb bhī rakhte hain.

Madhkūra ḥadīth mein tīn khelon ko mumāna'at se mustasnā karnā ūpar guzar chukā hai: tīr-andāzī, ghoṛe kī sawārī, aur apne ahl ke sāth mulā'abat. Aur Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍ.) se ek riwāyat mein hai: "khayru lahwī'l-mu'mini as-sibāḥah, wa khayru lahwī'l-mar'ati al-mighzal" — ya'nī mu'min kā behtarīn lahw tairākī hai, aur 'aurat kā behtarīn lahw charkha (taklā) hai.

Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim aur Musnad-e-Aḥmad mein Ḥaḍrat Salama ibn al-Akwa' (raḍ.) kī riwāyat hai ki Anṣār-e-Madīna mein ek ṣāḥib dauṛ mein baṛe māhir the, koī un se sabqat na le jā saktā thā. Unhon ne ek roz i'lān kiyā: koī hai jo mere sāth dauṛ mein muqābala kare? Main ne Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) se ijāzat chāhī ki main muqābala karūn — Āp ne ijāzat de dī, to main muqābale mein (us se) āge baṛh gayā. Is se ma'lūm huā ki piyāda dauṛ kī mashq karnā bhī jā'iz hai.

Ek mashhūr pahlawān Rukāna ne Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) se kushtī ṭhahrā'ī, to Āp ne us ko kushtī mein pachhāṛ diyā (Abū Dāwūd fī'l-Marāsīl).

Ḥabasha ke kuchh nau-jawān Madīna Ṭayyiba mein fann-e-sipāh-garī (nezā-bāzī) kī mashq karne ke liye nezon waghaira se khelte the. Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne un kā khel Ḥaḍrat 'Āisha (raḍ.) ko apnī pusht ke peechhe (khaṛā kar ke) dikhlāyā, aur un logon ko farmāyā: "ilhaw wa'l'abū" (khel-kūd karte raho). (Rawāhu'l-Bayhaqī fī'sh-Shu'ab; kadhā fī'l-Kanz, min bāb al-lahw.) Aur ba'z riwāyāt mein us ke sāth yih alfāz bhī āye hain: "...an lā turā fī dīnika ghilzah" — ya'nī (Allāh ko) yih pasand nahīn ki tumhāre dīn mein khushkī aur shiddat dekhī jāye.

Isī tarah ba'z ṣaḥāba-e-kirām se manqūl hai ki jab woh Qur'ān o ḥadīth ke mashāghil (mein thak jāte), to ba'z auqāt 'Arab ke ash'ār yā tārikhī wāqī'āt se dil bahlāte the. (Ḍakarahu 'an Ibn 'Abbās fī Kaff ar-Ri'ā.)

Ek ḥadīth mein irshād hai: "rawwiḥu'l-qulūba sā'atan fa-sā'ah" (akhrajahu Abū Dāwūd fī marāsīlihi 'an Ibn Shihāb, mursalah) — ya'nī tum apne qulūb ko kabhī-kabhī ārām diyā karo, jis se qalb o dimāgh kī tafriḥ ho. Is se kuchh waqt dil bahlāne kā jawāz thābit huā.

Sharṭ in sab cheezon mein yih hai ki niyyat un maqāsid-e-ṣaḥīḥa kī ho jo in khelon mein pāye jāte hain — khel barā'e khel maqṣad na ho, aur woh bhī ba-qadr-e-ḍarūrat ho, is mein tawassu' aur ghuluww na ho. Aur (yih) jān lo ki in sab khelon ke jawāz kī wajah wahī hai: dar-ḥaqīqat yih jab apnī ḥad ke andar hon to "lahw" kī ta'rīf mein dākhil hī nahīn.

Isī tarah ek riwāyat mein shaṭranj khelne wāle par la'nat ke alfāz āye hain (rawāhu'l-'Uqaylī fī'd-Ḍu'afā' 'an Abī Hurayra, kadhā fī Naṣb ar-Rāya).

Qur'an 31:11 — Hādhā khalqu'llāhi fa-arūnī mādihā khalaqa'lladhīna min dūnihī; bali'z-ẓālimūna fī ḍalālīn mubīn.

MA‘ĀRIF O MASĀ‘IL

"Khalaqa's-samāwāti bi-ghayri ‘amadin tarawnahā" — isī maḍmūn kī ek āyat Sūrah-e-Ra‘d ke shurū‘ mein guzar chukī hai: "Allāhu'lladhī rafa‘a's-samāwāti bi-ghayri ‘amadin tarawnahā." Tarkīb-e-naḥwī ke i‘tibār se is ‘ibārat ke do mafhūm ho sakte hain:

(1) Ek yih ki "tarawnahā" ko "'amad" (sutūn) kī ṣifat qarār diyā jāye, aur us kī ḍamīr "'amad" kī taraf rāji‘ ho — to ma‘nī yih honge ki Allāh ta‘ālā ne āsmānon ko paidā kiyā baghair (aise) sutūnon ke jin ko tum dekhte ho; ya‘nī agar sutūn hote to tum un ko dekhte; jab sutūn naẓar nahīn āte to ma‘lūm huā ki yih āsmān kī ‘azīmu'sh-shān chhat baghair sutūnon ke banā‘ī gaī hai. Yih tafsīr Ḥaḍrat Ḥasan (Baṣrī) aur Qatāda se manqūl hai. (Ibn Kathīr.)

(2) Dūsarī ṣūrat yih hai ki "tarawnahā" kī ḍamīr "samāwāt" kī taraf rāji‘ ho, aur yih jumla ...

Bahar-šūrat, is āyat ne Ḥaqq ta 'ālā kī qudrat-e-kāmila kī yih nishānī batlā'ī ki āsmān kī itnī wasī' o 'arīḍ aur itnī buland, 'azīmu'sh-shān chhat ko aisā banāyā hai ki us mein koī 'amūd aur sutūn nahīn dekhā jātā.

Ek su'al o jawāb — a question & answer

Yahān yih su'al paidā hotā hai: ki āsmān, jaisā ki falāsifa kahte hain aur 'ām ṭaur par mashhūr hai, ek kura (gol cheez) hai; aur aise gol (kura) mein woh jahān bhī ho, 'ādatan 'amūd aur sutūn nahīn hote — to (phir) āsmān kī kyā khuṣūsiyyat hai (ki use "bilā-sutūn" kahā)? Is kā jawāb yih bhī ho saktā hai ki jis ṭarah Qur'ān-e-Karīm ne aksar mawāqī' mein zamīn ko "firāsh" (bichhauna) farmāyā — jo us ke gol/kura hone ke ba-zāhir munāfi hai, magar us kī wus'at kī wajah se woh (zamīn) 'ām nazron mein ek saṭḥ (hamwār satah) kī ṭarah dekhī jātī hai, aur isī 'awāmī takhayyul kī binā par Qur'ān ne use "firāsh" farmāyā — usī ṭarah āsmān ek chhat kī ṭarah nazar ātā hai jis ke liye ('ādatan) sutūnon aur 'imād kī ḍarūrat hotī hai; is 'ām khayāl ke munāsib us kā "bilā-sutūn" honā bayān farmāyā gayā hai. Aur dar-ḥaqīqat, qudrat-e-kāmila kā subūt — us ke liye itne ba're 'azīmu'sh-shān kura kī takhlīq hī kāfi hai.

Aur ba'z mufasssīrīn (Ibn Kathīr waghaira) kī taḥqīq yih hai ki āsmān kā (muttaṣil) kura honā Qur'ān o Sunnat kī rū se thābit nahīn; balki ba'z āyāt se us kā qubbe (dome) kī shakl mein honā ma'lūm hotā hai. In kā kahnā hai ki ek ṣaḥīḥ ḥadīth mein madhkūr hai ki har roz āftāb (sūraj) takht (al-'arsh ke nīche) pahunch kar sajda kartā hai — woh isī šūrat par ho saktā hai ki āsmān muttaṣil kura na ho; isī šūrat mein us mein fauq (ūpar) aur taḥt (nīche) kī jihat muta'ayyin ho saktī hai. (Muttaṣil kura mein kisī jihat ko muta'ayyin nahīn kahā jā saktā.) Magar ham yaqīn se "ūpar" yā "nīche" nahīn kah sakte. Wallāhu subḥānahū wa ta 'ālā a 'lam.

Aur kabhī dunyā mein (bhī) shukr karne se ni'mat baḥh jātī hai. Aur jo nā-shukrī karega to apnā hī (nuqṣān karega), kyūnki Allāh ta'ālā to be-niyāz aur sab khūbiyon wālā hai — yihī "Ḥamīd" kā madlūl hai; is liye woh ghanī hai, us ko kisī ke shukr o thanā kī iḥtiyāj nahīn, (warna) us mein istikmāl-bi'l-ghayr (dūsre se kāmīl honā) lāzim ātā.

Aur chūnki Luqmān (khud) "ḥikmat — ya'nī 'ilm o 'amal — ke sāth" mauṣūf hain, is se mafhūm huā ki unhon ne ta'līm-e-shukr par khud bhī 'amal kar ke shukr kiyā hogā, jis se un kī ḥikmat mein taraqqī bhī huī hogī. Pas aise (kāmīl) ḥakīm kī ta'līm ḍarūr qābil-e-'amal honī chāhiye. So un kī ta'līmāt (un logon ke sāmne dhikr kī jātī hain): jab Luqmān ne apne beṭe ko naṣīḥat karte hu'e (kahā) ...

(Luqmān ne kahā:) "ai beṭā! Khudā ke sāth kisī ko sharīk mat ṭahranā; be-shak shirk karnā baḥā bhārī ḡulm hai." — ḡulm kī ḥaqīqat 'ulamā' ne yih bayān kī hai ki kisī cheez ko be-maḥall (apnī jagah se haṭā kar) ista'māl kiyā jāye; aur yih bāt shirk mein sab se zyāda wāḍiḥ hai ki paidā karne wāle (Khāliq) kī jagah buton kī parastish kī jāye.

Aur is qīṣṣe ke darmiyān, amr-e-tauḥīd kī tākīd ke liye, Ḥaqq ta'ālā ne (apne ḥuqūq ke sāth) us ke mān-bāp ke muta'alliq (bhī) tākīd kī, ki un kī iṭā'at aur khidmat kare — kyūnki (un ne, aur) bi'l-khuṣūṣ mān ne, us ke liye baḥī mashaqqatein jhelī hain: us kī mān ne ḍa'f (kamzorī) par ḍa'f uṭhā kar us ko peṭ mein rakhā — kyūnki jūn-jūn ḥaml baḥtā jātā hai ḥāmila kā ḍa'f (baḥtā jātā) hai — aur phir do baras mein us kā dūdh chhūṭtā hai; in donon (baras) mein bhī woh (mān) har ṭarah us kī khidmat kartī hai. Isī ṭarah apnī ḥālat ke muwāfiq bāp bhī mashaqqat uṭhātā hai.

Is liye ham ne apne ḥuqūq ke sāth mān-bāp ke ḥaq (kī adā'igī) kā ḥukm farmāyā; chunānche yih irshād huā ki "tū merī aur apne mān-bāp kī shukr-guzārī kar" — Ḥaqq ta'ālā kī shukr-guzārī to (us kī) 'ibādat aur iṭā'at-e-ḥaqīqiyya ke sāth (hotī hai), aur mān-bāp kī (shukr-guzārī) un kī khidmat o adā'e ḥuqūq-e-shar'iyya ke sāth — kyūnki (ākhir) merī hī taraf sab ko lauṭ kar ānā hai; us waqt main a'māl kī jazā o sazā dūngā. Is liye (mere) aḥkām kī bajā-āwarī ḍarūrī hai.

Aur (yih bhī) dekho, māl-bāp kā itnā baṛā ḥaq hai — magar amr-e-tauḥīd aisā ‘aẓīmu’sh-shān hai ki agar woh donon (māl-bāp) tujh par zor (bhī) ḍālein ki tū mere sāth aisī cheez ko sharīk ṭhahrāye jis ke sharīk-e-ulūhiyyat hone kī tere pās koī dalīl aur sanad na ho — (aur ẓāhir hai ki koī cheez aisī nahīn jis ke sharīk hone par koī dalīl qā’im ho, balki ‘adam-e-istiḥqāq par bahut sī dalīlein qā’im hain) — to un kā kahnā mat mānnā.

Aur hān, yih ḍarūr hai ki dunyā ke ḥawā’ij o mu‘āmalāt mein (un ke sāth achchhī ṭarah) rahein — un ke ḍarūrī ikhrājāt aur khidmat waghaira (kā ḥaq adā karein), un ke sāth khūbī ke sāth basar karein — magar dīn ke bāre mein sirf us shakhṣ kī rāh par chalnā jo merī taraf rujū‘ ho, ya ‘nī mere aḥkām kā mu‘taqīd aur ‘āmil ho. Phir tum sab ko merī taraf ānā hai; āne ke waqt main tum ko jatlā dūngā jo kuchh tum karte the (aur us ke mutābiq jazā o sazā dūngā). Is liye kisī amr mein mere ḥukm ke khilāf mat chalo.

Āge phir naṣā’ih-e-Luqmāniyya (Luqmān kī naṣīḥaton) kī takmīl hai: unhon ne apne beṭe ko aur naṣīḥatein bhī kīn; chunānche tauḥīd o ‘aqā’id ke bāre mein yih bhī naṣīḥat kī ki: "beṭā! Ḥaqq ta‘ālā kā ‘ilm aur qudrat us qadar (muḥīṭ) hai ki agar kisī kā koī ‘amal aisā hī makhfī (chhupā) ho — masalan farḍ karo ki woh rā’ī ke dāne (ke barābar ho) ...

Aur yihī asbāb hain jin se (koī cheez) ‘ām makhluq kī naẓron se poshīda rahtī hai: kyūnki kabhī koī cheez chhoṭī aur bārīk hotī hai ki naẓar mein nahīn ātī; aur kabhī makān (jagah) ke ba‘īd (dūr) hone se, aur kabhī shadīd ḥijāb ḥā’il hone se, aur kabhī zulmat se (chhup jātī hai). Lekin Ḥaqq ta‘ālā (kī qudrat) kī aisī shān hai ki agar yih (tamām) chhupne ke asbāb bhī mujtami‘ (ikaṭṭhe) hon, tab bhī, qiyāmat ke roz-e-ḥisāb, us ko Allāh ta‘ālā ḥāḍir kar degā — jis se (us kā) ‘ilm aur qudrat donon thābit hu’īn. Be-shak Allāh ta‘ālā baṛā bārīk-bīn (laṭīf) hai, aur bā-khabar (khabīr) hai.

Aur a‘māl ke bāb mein yih naṣīḥat kī: "beṭā! namāz paṛhā kar" — yih ‘aqā’id (kī taṣḥīḥ) ke ba‘d a‘lā darja kā ‘amal hai; aur jaisā (apnī) taṣḥīḥ-e-‘aqā’id aur ‘amal se apnī takmīl kī hai, usī ṭarah dūsron kī takmīl kī bhī koshish karnī chāhiye — "pas logon ko achchhe kāmon kī naṣīḥat kiyā kar, aur bure kāmon se man‘ kiyā kar (amr bi'l-ma‘rūf o nahy ‘ani'l-munkar); aur is amr mein, aur har ḥālat mein bi'l-‘umūm, tujh par jo muṣṭabat wāqi‘ ho us par ṣabr kiyā kar" — yih ṣabr karnā himmat ke kāmon se hai.

Aur akhlāq o ‘ādāt ke bāb mein yih naṣīḥat kī: "beṭā! logon se apnā rukh mat pher (ghurūr se munh mat moṛ), aur zamīn par itrā kar mat chal — be-shak Allāh ta‘ālā kisī itrāne wāle, fakhr karne wāle ko pasand nahīn karte. Aur apnī raftār (chāl) mein i‘tidāl ikhtiyār kar: na bahut dauṛ kar chal — ki yih waqār ke khilāf hai aur gir jāne kā bhī iḥtimāl hai; aur na bahut sangīn (bhārī) qadam rakh — ki yih waḍ‘-e-mutakabbirīn (ghamanḍiyon kā andāz) hai — balki be-takalluf, mutawassiṭ (miyāna) raftār aur tawāḍu‘ o sādḡ kī chāl ikhtiyār kar," jis ko dūsri āyat mein is ‘unwān se dhikr kiyā hai: "yamshūna ‘ala'l-arḍi hawnā" (Allāh ke bande zamīn par narmī/‘ājizī se chalte hain).

"Aur (bolne mein) apnī āwāz ko past (nīchī) rakh — ya‘nī bahut ghul (shor) mat machā" — aur yih maṭlab nahīn ki itnī pastī kar de ki dūsrā use sun bhī na sake. (Allāh ta‘ālā) ghul machāne se nafrat dilāte hain (farmā kar): "be-shak āwāzon mein sab se burī āwāz gadhon kī āwāz hotī hai" — to ādmī ho kar gadhon kī sī (āwāz mein) chīkhnā aur chillānā kyā munāsib hai? Nīz chīkh-chillā kar (bolne) se ba‘z auqāt dūson ko waḥshat o adhiyyat (takleef) bhī hotī hai.

Luqmān (‘alaihi's-salām) jumhūr salaf ke nazdīk nabī nahīn, balki walī aur ḥakīm the.

"Wa laqad ātaynā Luqmāna'l-ḥikmata" — Ḥaḍrat Luqmān (‘alaihi's-salām) ko, Wahb ibn Munabbih kī riwāyat ke muṭābiq, Ḥaḍrat Ayyūb (‘alaihi's-salām) kā khāla-zād bhāī (bhānjā) batlāyā hai. Aur Muqātil ne — Tafsīr-e-Bayḍāwī waghaira mein — (yih kahā hai) ki un kī ‘umr darāz hu‘ī, yahān tak ki Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd (‘alaihi's-salām) kā zamāna pāyā. Yih bāt dūsri riwāyāt se bhī (thābit hai) ki Luqmān Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd (‘alaihi's-salām) ke zamāne mein the.

Aur Tafsīr-e-Durr-e-Manthūr mein Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.) kī riwāyat hai ki Luqmān ek Ḥabashī ghulām the, najjārī (baṛhaī) kā kām karte the. (Akhrāju Ibn Abī Shayba wa Aḥmad fī'z-Zuhd wa Ibn Jarīr wa Ibn al-Mundhir.) Aur Ḥaḍrat Jābir ibn ‘Abdullāh (raḍ.) se (manqūl hai) ki woh past-qad (chhoṭe qad) aur past-nāk (chaptī nāk) ke Ḥabashī the; aur Mujāhid ne farmāyā ki woh Ḥabashī ghulām, moṭe honṭon wāle aur phaṭe hu'e qadmon wāle the. (Ibn Kathīr.)

Luqmān — nabī yā walī?: Ibn Kathīr ne farmāyā ki jumhūr salaf kā is par ittifāq hai ki woh nabī nahīn the; sirf Ḥaḍrat ‘Ikrima se un kā nabī honā naql kiyā jātā hai, magar us kī sanad ḍa‘īf hai.

Is par (sab kā) ittifāq hai ki woh faqīh aur ḥakīm the, nabī nahīn. Aur Imām Baghawī ne farmāyā ki woh ḥakīm the, nabī nahīn the. (Maẓharī.)

Ibn Kathīr ne farmāyā ki Ḥaḍrat Qatāda se un ke bāre mein ek ‘ajīb riwāyat (manqūl) hai: ki Ḥaḍrat Luqmān ko ikhtiyār diyā gayā thā ki nubuwwat le yā ḥikmat — to unhon ne ḥikmat ko ikhtiyār kar liyā. Aur ba‘z riwāyāt mein hai ki (jab) un ko nubuwwat kā (ikhtiyār diyā gayā, to) unhon ne ‘arḍ kiyā: "agar is (nubuwwat) ke qabūl karne kā ḥukm hai to mere sar-ānkhon par; warna mujhe mu‘āf farmāyā jāye."

(Luqmān se kisī ne) pūchhā ki āp ne ḥikmat ko nubuwwat par kyūn tarjīḥ dī, jabki āp ko donon kā ikhtiyār diyā gayā thā? Āp ne farmāyā ki nubuwwat baṛī dhimma-dārī kā manṣab hai; agar woh mujhe baghair mere ikhtiyār ke de diyā jātā to Ḥaqq ta‘ālā khud us kī kifālat farmāte ki main us ke farā'id adā kar sakūn; aur agar main apne ikhtiyār se us ko ṭalab kartā to dhimma-dārī mujh par hotī. (Ibn Kathīr.)

Aur rahī ki Luqmān ‘alaihi's-salām kā nabī na honā jumhūr ke nazḍīk musallam hai, to phir un ko woh ḥukm jo Qur‘ān mein madhkūr hai "ani'shkur lī", yih ba-dharī‘a ilhām ho saktā hai jo auliyā'-Allāh ko ḥāṣil hotā hai.

Ḥaḍrat Luqmān ‘alaihi's-salām Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd ‘alaihi's-salām se pahle shar‘ī masā'il mein logon ko fatwā diyā karte the; jab Dāwūd ‘alaihi's-salām ko nubuwwat ‘aṭā huī to fatwā denā chhoṛ diyā ki ab merī ḍarūrat nahīn rahī. Ba‘z riwāyāt mein hai ki Banī Isrā'īl ke qāḍī the. Ḥaḍrat Luqmān se bahut ḥikmatein manqūl hain; Wahb ibn Munabbih kahte hain ki main ne Ḥaḍrat Luqmān ‘alaihi's-salām kī ḥikmat ke das hazār se zyāda abwāb paṛhe hain. (Qurṭubī.)

Ḥaḍrat Luqmān ek roz ek baṛī majlis mein logon ko ḥikmat kī bātein sunā rahe the; ek shakhṣ āyā aur us ne su‘āl kiyā ki kyā tum wahī nahīn jo mere sāth falān jangal mein bakriyān charāyā karte the? Luqmān ‘alaihi's-salām ne farmāyā ki hān, main wahī hūn. Us shakhṣ ne pūchhā ki phir āp ko yih maqām kaise ḥāṣil huā ki khalq-e-Khudā āp kī ta‘zīm kartī hai aur āp ke kalimāt sunne ke liye dūr-dūr se jam‘ hotī hai? Luqmān ‘alaihi's-salām ne farmāyā ki is kā sabab mere do kām hain: ek hamesha sach bolnā, dūsre fuḍūl bāton se ijtināb karnā.

Aur ek riwāyat mein yih hai ki Ḥaḍrat Luqmān ne farmāyā ki chand kām aise hain jinhon ne mujhe is darje par pahunchāyā; agar tum ikhtiyār kar to tumhein bhī yihī darja aur maqām ḥāṣil ho jāyegā. Woh kām yih hain: apnī nigāh ko past rakhnā, zabān ko band rakhnā, ḥalāl rozī par qanā‘at karnā, apnī sharmgāh kī ḥifāẓat karnā, bāt mein sachchāī par qā'im rahnā, ‘ahd ko pūrā karnā, mehmān kā ikrām karnā, paṛosī kī ḥifāẓat karnā, aur fuḍūl kām aur kalām ko chhoṛ denā. (Ibn Kathīr.)

Lafz-e-ḥikmat Qur’ān-e-Karīm mein muta‘addid ma‘ānī ke liye ista‘māl huā hai: ‘ilm, ‘aql, ḥilm o burdbārī, nubuwwat, iṣābat-e-rā‘e. Abū Ḥayyān ne farmāyā ki ḥikmat se murād woh kalām hai jis se log naṣīḥat ḥāṣil karein, aur un ke dilon mein mu‘aththir ho, aur jis ko log maḥfūz kar ke dūsron tak pahunchāyein. Aur Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.) ne farmāyā ki ḥikmat se murād ‘aql o fahm aur dhahānat hai. Aur ba‘z ḥaḍrāt ...

(ḥikmat ke ma‘nī, cont.) ... ‘ilm ke muṭābiq ‘amal karnā ḥikmat hai; aur dar-ḥaqīqat in (ma‘ānī) mein koī taḍād nahīn — yih sabḥī cheezein ḥikmat mein dākhil hain. Ūpar Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr mein ḥikmat kā tarjuma "dānishmandī" se, aur us kī tafsīr "‘ilm bā-‘amal" se kī gaī hai; yih (ta‘rīf) bahut jāmi‘ aur wāḍiḥ hai.

Āyat-e-madḥkūra mein Ḥaḍrat Luqmān ‘alaihi’s-salām ko ḥikmat ‘aṭā karne kā dhikr farmā kar āge farmāyā "ani'shkur lī". Is mein ek iḥtimāl to yih hai ki yahān "qulnā" (ham ne kahā) maḥdhūf mānā jāye — maṭlab yih hogā ki ham ne Luqmān ko ḥikmat dī, aur yih ḥukm diyā ki "merā shukr adā kiyā karo". Aur ba‘z ḥaḍrāt ne yih farmāyā hai ki "ani'shkur lī" khud ḥikmat kī tafsīr hai — ya‘nī woh ḥikmat jo Luqmān ko dī gaī yih (shukr) thī, jis kī unhon ne ta‘mīl kī. Is ṣūrat mein maṭlab yih hogā ki Allāh ta‘ālā (shukr karne wāle) kī ni‘mat mein aur ziyādatī kar dete hain.

Us ke ba‘d Luqmān ‘alaihi’s-salām ke kuchh kalimāt-e-ḥikmat kā dhikr farmāyā hai, jo unhon ne apne beṭe ko mukḥaṭab kar ke irshād farmāye the; woh kalimāt-e-ḥikmat Qur’ān-e-Karīm mein is liye naql farmāye ki dūsre log bhī un se fā’ida uṭhāyein.

In kalimāt-e-ḥikmat mein sab se awwal ‘aqā’id kī durustī hai; aur in mein sab se pahlī bāt yih hai ki Khudā ta‘ālā ko sāre ‘ālam kā khāliq o mālik aur lā-sharīk samajh kar ghayr kī ‘ibādat na kare, kisī ghayrullāh ko (us kā) sharīk-e-‘ibādat na ṭhahrāye — kyūnki is dunyā mein is se baṛā bhārī zulm koī nahīn ho saktā ki Khudā ta‘ālā kī kisī makhluq ko khāliq ke barābar ṭhahrāye. Is liye farmāyā: "yā bunayya lā tushrik bi’llāh, inna’sh-shirka la-ẓulmun ‘aẓīm."

... sharīk qarār dene par majbūr karne lagein, to us mu‘āmale mein wālidayn kā kahnā mānnā jā‘iz nahīn.

Aur yahān, jabki wālidayn ke ḥuqūq aur un kī shukr-guzārī kā ḥukm diyā gayā, to us kī ḥikmat yih batlāī ki us kī mān ne us ke wujūd o baqā par baī meḥnat bardāsht kī hai: ki nau mahīne to us ko apne peṭ mein rakhā — us kī ḥifāzat aur parwarish kī wajah se ḍa‘f par ḍa‘f aur taklīf par taklīf uṭhātī rahī; phir us ke paidā hone ke ba‘d do sāl tak us ko dūdh pilāne kī zaḥmat bardāsht kī, jis mein mān ko khāshī meḥnat shab o roz uṭhānī partī hai aur us kā ḍa‘f bhī us mein baṛhtā hai; phir bachche kī parwarish mein meḥnat o mashaqqat ziyāda hī uṭhānī hai. Is liye sharī‘at mein mān kā ḥaq bāp (par) bhī muqaddam rakhā gayā. "Wa waṣṣaynā'l-insāna bi-wālidayhi ... ḥamalathu ummuhū wahnān ‘alā wahnin wa fiṣāluhū fī ‘āmayn" kā yihī maṭlab hai.

Aur aisī ṣūrat mein ki mān-bāp us ko shirk o kufr par majbūr karein aur Allāh ta‘ālā kā ḥukm yih ho ki na māne — to (mumkin hai) insān se un ke sāth bad-kalāmī yā bad-khūī pesh ā jāye. Islām ek qānūn-e-‘adl hai, har ḥaq ke sāth us kī ek ḥad hai; is liye shirk mein wālidayn kī iṭā‘at na karne ke sāth sāth yih ḥukm bhī de diyā ki: "ṣāḥibhumā fi'd-dunyā ma‘rūfā" — ya‘nī dīn mein to tum un kā kahnā na māno, magar dunyā ke kāmon mein (masalan un kī jismānī khidmat yā mālī ikhrājāt waghaira) us mein kamī na hone do; balki duniyāwī mu‘āmalāt mein un ke sāth ‘ām dastūr ke muṭābiq mu‘āmala karo, un kī be-adbī na karo, un kī bāt kā jawāb aisā na do jis se bilā-ḍarūrat dīl-āzārī ho.

Maṭlab yih hai ki un ke shirk o kufr ke mu‘āmale mein na māne se jo un kī dīl-āzārī hogī woh to majbūrī ke liye bardāsht karo, magar usī ḍarūrat kī ḥad mein rakho; dūsre mu‘āmalāt mein un kī dīl-āzārī se parhez karte raho.

Fā‘ida: Is āyat mein jo bachche ke dūdh chhuṛāne kī muddat do sāl batlāī gāī hai, yih ‘ām ‘ādat ke muṭābiq hai; is mein us kī koī taṣrīḥ nahīn ki is se ziyāda muddat tak dūdh pilāyā jāye to us kā (kyā) ḥukm. Is mas‘ale kī tafṣīl Sūrah-e-Aḥqāf kī āyat "wa ḥamluhū wa fiṣāluhū thalāthūna shahrā" ke taḥt mein in shā‘a’llāhu ta‘ālā āyegī.

Dūsarī waṣīyyat-e-Luqmānī — re ‘aqā‘id: Yih hai ki (beṭā) yih i‘tiqād o ‘azm rakhe ki āsmān o zamīn aur un ke andar jo kuchh hai, us ke ek dharre par bhī Allāh ta‘ālā kā ‘ilm muḥīṭ aur wasī‘ hai, aur sab par us kī qudrat bhī kāmil hai. Koī cheez chhupī se chhupī huī ho, ‘ām naẓron mein na ā saktī ho, kitnī hī dūr yā chhoṭī ho, kitne hī andhere aur parde mein ho — Allāh ta‘ālā ke ‘ilm o naẓar se nahīn chhup saktī; woh jis ko chāhe, jab chāhe, jahān chāhe ḥāḍir kar sakte hain. "Yā bunayya innahā in taku mithqāla ḥabbatin min khardalin ..." (al-āyah). Is mein Ḥaqq ta‘ālā ke ‘ilm o qudrat kā (har cheez par) muḥīṭ honā — yihī Islām kā buniyādī ‘aqīda hai, aur ‘aqīda-e-tawḥīd kī bahut baī dalīl hai.

Tisrī waṣiyyat-e-Luqmānī — re iṣlāḥ-e-‘amal: A ‘māl-e-wājiba mein sab se baṛā aur aham ‘amal namāz hai; aur khud (‘ibādat) hone ke sāth sāth woh dūsrē a ‘māl kī durustī kā dharī‘a bhī hai — jaisā ki namāz ke bāre mein irshād-e-rabbānī hai "inna'ṣ-ṣalāta tanhā ‘ani'l-faḥshā'i wa'l-munkar". Is liye namāz kā dhikr kar ke farmāyā "yā bunayya aqimi'ṣ-ṣalāta" — ya ‘nī ai mere beṭe, namāz ko qā'im karo. Aur jaisā ki guzar chukā hai, iqāmat-e-ṣalāt kā mafhūm ṣirf namāz paṛh lenā nahīn, balki us ke tamām arkān o ādāb ko pūrī ṭarah bajā lānā, us ke auqāt kī pābandī karnā, aur us par mudāwamat karnā — iqāmat-e-ṣalāt ke mafhūm mein dākhil hain.

Chauthī waṣiyyat-e-Luqmānī — re iṣlāḥ-e-khalq: Namāz jaisē aham farīze ke ba‘d "al-amr bi'l-ma'rūf wa'n-nahy ‘ani'l-munkar" kā farīza batlāyā: ki logon ko nekī kā ḥukm (da‘wat) do aur bure kāmōn se roko — "wa'mur bi'l-ma'rūfi wa'nha ‘ani'l-munkar". Is mein do (kām hain): ek apnī iṣlāḥ, dūsrā ‘ām makhluq kī iṣlāḥ. Is kī pābandī mein khāṣī mashaqqat o meḥnat bardāshat karnī paṛtī hai, us par thābit-qadam rahnā āsān nahīn — khuṣūṣan iṣlāḥ-e-khalq ke liye amr bi'l-ma'rūf kī khidmat kā ṣila dunyā mein hamesha ‘adāwat aur takleef se milā kartā hai. Magar ba‘z ādmī aise hain jo Allāh ta‘ālā ke bāre mein jhagarte hain — na un ke pās ‘ilm-e-ḍarūrī (ma‘lūmāt) hai, na ‘ilm-e-istidlālī-e-‘aqlī (‘aqlī dalīl), na ‘ilm-e-istidlāl-e-naqlī (kisī raushan kitāb kī dalīl). Aur jab un se kahā jātā hai ki us (kitāb) kā ittibā‘ karo jo Allāh ne nāzil farmāī hai — ya‘nī ḥaq ko thābit karne wāle dalā‘il mein ghaur kar ke un kā ittibā‘ karo — to jawāb mein kahte hain: "ham (is kā nahīn) balki usī kā ittibā‘ karenge jis par ham ne apne baṛon ko pāyā." Sūrah ke shurū' mein kuffār o mushrikīn ko is par tambīh thī ki Allāh ta'ālā kā 'ilm muḥīṭ aur us kī qudrat-e-muṭlaqa ke maẓāhir ko dekhne ke bāwujūd yih log (apne) dhoke o fareb par muṣīr hain; aur un ke bi'l-muqābil iṭā'at-shi'ār mu'minīn kī madḥ-e-khair aur un ke anjām-e-khair kā (dhikr) thā. Phir Luqmān 'alaihi's-salām ke waṣāyā kā dhikr bhī ek khāṣ ḥaithiyyat se inhī maḍāmīn kī takmīl thā. Āyāt-e-madhkūra mein Ḥaqq ta'ālā ke 'ilm o qudrat ke muḥīṭ hone, aur makhluq par us ke in'āmāt o iḥsānāt kā dhikr kar ke phir tawḥīd kī taraf da'wat hai.

"Sakhkhara lakum mā fi's-samāwāti wa mā fi'l-arḍ" — ya'nī Allāh ta'ālā ne tumhāre liye un tamām cheezon ko musakhkhar kar diyā jo āsmānon aur zamīn mein hain. "Taskhīr" ke mashhūr ma'nī kisī cheez ko (apne) tābi'-farmān banā dene ke hain. Yahān is par yih su'āl paidā hotā hai ki awwal to zamīn kī sab cheezein bhī insān ke tābi'-farmān nahīn — balki bahut sī cheezein us ke mizāj ke khilāf kām kartī hain — khuṣūṣan jo cheezein āsmān mein hain, un mein to insān ke tābi'-farmān hone kā koī iḥtimāl hī nahīn.

Jawāb yih hai ki dar-aṣl "taskhīr" ke ma'nī ṣirf kisī cheez ko zabardastī tābi'-farmān banā dene aur us par majbūr kar dene hī ke nahīn; (balki) zamīn kī sab makhluqāt ko insān ke liye musakhkhar karne kā maṭlab yih hai ki un tamām makhluqāt ko insān kī khidmat aur naf'a-rasānī mein lagā diyā. Is mein bahut sī cheezein to is ṭarah khidmat mein lagāīn ki un ko insān kā tābi'-farmān banā diyā — woh jis waqt jis ṭarah chāhe un ko ista'māl kartā hai. Aur bahut sī cheezein aisī hain ki un ko insān ke kām mein lagā diyā gayā hai ki woh insān kī khidmat mein lagī huī hain, magar ...

... (Allāh ne) taqāḍā-e-ḥikmat-e-rabbānī (ke peshe naẓar) un (āsmānī) cheezon ko insān kā tābi‘-farmān nahīn banāyā — jaise makhlūq-e-āsmānī, sayyāre, aur barq o bārān waghaira. Kyūnki agar un ko insān ke ḥukm kā tābi‘ banā diyā jātā to insānon kī tāqat, mizāj aur ḥālāt ke ikhtilāfāt kā burā athar partā: (masalan) ek insān chāhtā ki āftāb jaldī ṭulū‘ ho, to dūsrē kī ḍarūrat is par mauqūf hotī ki us mein der kare; ek shakhṣ chāhtā ki bārish ho, to dūsrā safar mein khule maidān mein hai aur chāhtā ki bārish na ho — to yih (mutaḍḍad) taqāḍe āsmānī kā ināt ke niẓām mein taḍād aur khalal paidā kar dete. Is liye Allāh ta‘ālā ne in sab cheezon ko insān kī khidmat mein lagā diyā, magar us ko be-ḥukm (apne taḥt) nahīn banāyā — yihī ek qism kī taskhīr hai. Wa’llāhu a‘lam.

"Wa asbagha ‘alaykum ni‘amahū zāhiratan wa bāṭinah" — "isbāgh" ke ma‘nī "pūrā karne" ke hain; ma‘nī yih hain ki Allāh ta‘ālā ne tum par apnī zāhirī ni‘maton ko aur bāṭinī ni‘maton ko mukammal kar diyā. Zāhirī ni‘maton se murād woh ni‘matein hain jo insān apne ḥawās-e-khamsa (pānch ḥisson) se maḥsūs aur ma‘lūm kar letā hai — masalan ḥusn-e-ṣūrat, a‘ḍā-e-insānī kā i‘tidāl, aur har ‘uzw ko munāsib tanāsib se banānā; isī tarah rizq, māl o daulat, asbāb-e-ma‘īshat, tandurustī aur ‘āfiyat waghaira sab zāhirī ni‘matein hain. Isī tarah dīn-e-Islām ko sahl kar denā, Allāh o Rasūl kī iṭā‘at kī tauḥīq honā, aur Islām kā dūsrē adyān par ghālib ānā (aur) dushmanon ke muqābale mein musalmānon kī madad honā — yih bhī inhī ni‘māt-e-zāhira mein dākhil hain. Aur bāṭinī ni‘matein woh hain jo insān ke qalb se muta‘alliq hon — jaise imān, Allāh ta‘ālā kī ma‘rifat, ‘ilm o ‘aql, ḥusn-e-akhlāq, gunāhon kī parda-poshī, aur jarā‘im par faurī sazā na milnā waghaira.

"Wa law anna mā fi'l-arḍi min shajaratin aqlāmun..." — is āyat mein Ḥaqq ta‘ālā ne apnī ma‘lūmāt, apnī qudrat ke taṣarrufāt, aur apnī ni‘maton kī ek misāl dī ki woh ghair-mutanāhī (lā-mutanāhī) hain — kisī zabān se woh sab adā nahīn ho saktīn, (ya ‘nī) koī qalam un sab ko likh nahīn saktā. Misāl yih farmā‘ī ki sārī zamīn mein jitne darakht hain agar un sab ko tarāsh kar qalam banāye jāyēin, aur un ke likhne ke liye samandar (kī) siyāhī banā dī jāyē, phir sab Ḥaqq ta‘ālā kī ma‘lūmāt aur taṣarrufāt-e-qudrat ko likhnā shurū‘ karein — to samandar khatm ho jāyegā magar (woh) ma‘lūmāt o taṣarrufāt khatm na honge. Aur ek samandar nahīn balki sāt samandar aur bhī siyāhī mein shāmil kar diye jāyēin, jab bhī sab samandar khatm ho jāyenge, lekin Allāh ta‘ālā ke kalimāt khatm na honge. ... (yih) na‘mā‘e-Ilāhiyya bhī isī mein dākhil hain. Aur "sāt samandar" se maṭlab yih nahīn ki bas sāt samandar maujūd hain, balki murād yih ki ek samandar ke sāth sāt (aur) samandar bhī mil jāyēin, jab bhī in sab se "kalimāt-Allāh" ko ḍabt-e-taḥrīr (likhne) mein nahīn lāyā jā saktā. Aur "sāt" ke ‘adad kī qaid bhī is mein maqṣūd nahīn — aur is kī dalīl Qur‘ān kī dūsrī āyat hai, jis mein farmāyā: "Qul law kāna'l-baḥru midādan li-kalimāti rabbī la-nafida'l-baḥru qabla an tanfada kalimātu rabbī wa law ji'nā bi-mithlihī madadā" — ya ‘nī agar samandar ko "kalimāt-Allāh" likhne ke liye siyāhī banā diyā jāyē to samandar khatm ho jāyegā aur kalimāt-Allāh khatm na honge; aur ṣirf yihī samandar nahīn, isī jaisā ek aur samandar bhī shāmil kar diyā jāyē, tab bhī bāt yihī rahegī. Is āyat mein bhī misāl farmā kar ishāra kar diyā ki yih silsila dūr tak chalā jāye — is samandar ke mithl dūsra, phir tīsra, chauthā — gharaḍ samandaron kī kitnī hī miqdār farḍ karo, un kī siyāhī (Allāh ke ‘ilm) kā iḥāṭa nahīn kar saktī. ‘Aqlī ṭaur par yih wajah ṣāhir hai ki samandar agar sāt hazār bhī hon to ba-har-ḥāl maḥdūd o mutanāhī hain, aur kalimāt-Allāh (aur us kī ma‘lūmāt) ghair-mutanāhī hain; aur koī mutanāhī cheez ghair-mutanāhī kā iḥāṭa nahīn kar saktī.

Ba‘z riwāyāt mein hai ki yih āyat aḥbār-e-Yahūd (Yahūdī ‘ulamā’) ke ek su‘āl ke jawāb mein nāzil huī: Qur‘ān kī āyat "wa mā ūtītum minā-l-‘ilmi illā qalīlā" (ya ‘nī tumhein ‘ilm nahīn diyā gayā magar thoṛā) ke bāre mein, jab Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) Madīna tashrīf lāye, to aḥbār-e-Yahūd ḥaḍīr hu’e aur mu‘āraḍa (i‘tirāḍ) kiya ki "āyat ke (mukḥaṭab) ham Yahūd hain (ki hamein thoṛā ‘ilm diyā gayā), yā āp ne apnī qaum kā ḥāl dhikr kiya hai?" Āp ne farmāyā ki sab hī (is mein) dākhil hain — ya ‘nī hamārī qaum (‘Arab) bhī aur Yahūd o Naṣārā bhī. To unhon ne mu‘āraḍa kiya ki "Allāh ta‘ālā ne hamein Taurāt ‘aṭā farmāī hai, jis kī shān ‘tibyānan li-kulli shay" (har cheez kā bayān) hai" — (yih) Ḥaḍrat Abū Hurayra (raḍ.) se manqūl hai. Āp ne farmāyā ki woh (Taurāt) bhī Allāh ke ‘ilm ke muqābale mein qalīl (thoṛī) hī hai. Pas Allāh ke ‘ilm ke muqābale mein sārī āsmānī kitābon aur sab anbiyā kā majmū‘a-e-‘ilm (bhī) qalīl hī hai. Isī kalām kī tā‘īd ke liye yih āyat ("wa law anna mā fī-l-arḍi min shajaratīn aqlāmūn ... al-āyah") nāzil huī. (Ibn Kathīr.)

Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr — fear the Day no one avails another; the five things Allah alone knows

Qur'an 31:33 — Yā ayyuha'n-nāsu'ttaqū rabbakum wa'khshaw yawman lā yajzī wālidun ‘an waladihī wa lā mawlūdun huwa jāzin ‘an wālidihī shay‘ā; inna wa‘da'llāhi ḥaqqun fa-lā taghurrannakumu'l-ḥayātu'd-dunyā wa lā yaghurrannakum bi'llāhi'l-gharūr.

Ai logo! apne Rab se ḍarte raho, aur us dīn se ḍaro jab koī bāp apne beṭe ke kām na āyega, aur na koī beṭā apne bāp kī jagah kuchh bhī badla dene wālā (hoga). Be-shak Allāh kā wa‘da sachchā (ṭhīk) hai; so dunyā kī zindagānī tum ko dhokā na de, aur na tum ko Allāh ke (nām par) woh dhokā-bāz (shayṭān) dhokā de.

Qur'an 31:34 — Inna'llāha ‘indahū ‘ilmu's-sā‘ati wa yunazzilu'l-ghaytha wa ya‘lamu mā fī-l-arḥām; wa mā tadrī nafsun mādḥā taksibu ghadā; wa mā tadrī nafsun bi-ayyi arḍin tamūt; inna'llāha ‘alīmun khabīr.

Be-shak Allāh hī ke pās qiyāmat kī khabar hai; aur wahī mīnh (bārish) barsātā hai; aur jāntā hai jo kuchh mām ke peṭ mein hai; aur kisī ko khabar nahīn ki kal kyā karega; aur kisī ko khabar nahīn ki kis zamīn mein marega. Be-shak Allāh sab kuchh jānne wālā, khabardār hai.

KHULĀṢA-E-TAFSĪR

Ai logo! apne Rab se ḍaro aur kufr o shirk chhoṛ do, aur us dīn se ḍaro jis mein na koī bāp apne beṭe kī taraf se kuchh muṭālaba adā kar sakega, aur na koī beṭā apne bāp kī taraf se zarā bhī muṭālaba adā karne aur de dene wālā hoga — kyūnki (is ke bāre mein) Allāh kā wa‘da hai, aur be-shak

Allāh kā wa‘da sachchā hotā hai. So tum ko dunyā kī zindagānī dhoke mein na ḍāle ki (us mein) munhamik (mashghūl) ho kar us dīn se ghāfil raho; aur tum ko yih dhokā dene wālā (shayṭān) Allāh (ke mu‘āmale) mein dhoke mein na ḍāle — ki tum us ke bahkāne mein ā jāo (yih samajh kar) ki Allāh ‘adhāb na dega.

Be-shak Allāh hī ke pās qiyāmat kā ‘ilm hai; aur wahī apne ‘ilm ke muwāfiq mīn (bārish) barsātā hai — yih (‘ilm aur qudrat) usī ke sāth makhṣūṣ hai. Aur wahī jāntā hai jo kuchh mān (ḥāmila) ke raḥm mein hai; aur kisī shakhṣ ko ma‘lūm nahīn ki kal kyā ‘amal karega; aur kisī ko yih bhī khabar nahīn ki kis zamīn mein marega. ...

Madhkūrāt-ṣ-ṣadr āyāt mein, khuṣūṣan pahlī āyat mein, mu‘min o kāfir donon ko khiṭāb farmā kar Allāh ta‘ālā (ke khauf) aur qiyāmat ke (dīn) kī tayyārī kī taraf hidāyat kī gāī.

"Yā ayyuha'n-nāsu'ttaqū rabbakum" — ai logo! apne Parwardigār se ḍaro. Is jagah Allāh ta‘ālā ke nām kī (kisī aur) ṣifāt ke bajāye ṣifāt-e-"Rabb" ke intikhāb mein ishāra is taraf hai ki Allāh ta‘ālā ke khauf kā jo ḥukm hai, yih (woh) ḍar (dahshat) nahīn jaise kisī darinda yā dushman kā (khauf) ‘ādatan huā kartā hai — kyūnki Allāh ta‘ālā tumhārā Rabb aur pālne wālā hai, us kī taraf se kisī nuṣṣān kā khaṭra nahīn honā chāhiye. Balki "khauf" se murād is jagah woh ḍar (awe) hai jo apne baṛon aur buzurgon kī ‘aẓmat o haibat ke darje mein honā lāzim hai — jaise beṭā apne bāp se ḍartā hai (ḥālānki woh us kā dushman yā muḍirr o saẓā dene wālā nahīn, magar us kī ‘aẓmat o haibat dilon mein hotī hai, aur wahī us ko bāp aur ustād kī iṭā‘at par majbūr kartī hai). Yahān bhī yihī murād hai ki Allāh ta‘ālā kī ‘aẓmat o haibat qalb par ḥāwī honī chāhiye, tāki tum us kī iṭā‘at āsānī se kar sako.

"Wa'khshaw yawman lā yajzī wālīdun ‘an waladīhī wa lā mawlūdun huwa jāzin ‘an wālīdīhī shay’ā" — ya‘nī us roz se ḍaro jis mein na koī bāp apne beṭe (kī nekī) kā koī naf‘a pahunchāyega aur na beṭā bāp ko naf‘a pahunchāne wālā hoga. Murād is se (aisā) bāp aur beṭā hai jin mein se ek mu‘min ho aur dūsrā kāfir — kyūnki mu‘min bāp apne (kāfir) beṭe ke ‘adhāb mein kuchh kamī na karega na us ko koī naf‘a pahunchāyega; isī tarah mu‘min beṭā apne kāfir bāp ke kuchh kām na āyega.

Is takhṣīṣ (bāp-beṭe ke khāṣ dhikr) kī wajah yih hai ki Qur‘ān-e-Karīm kī dūsrī āyāt aur riwāyāt-e-ḥadīth mein is kī taṣrīḥ hai ki qiyāmat ke roz mān-bāp aulād kī, aur aulād mān-bāp kī shafā‘at karenge, aur us shafā‘at kī wajah se un ko kāmyābī bhī hogī. Qur‘ān-e-Karīm mein hai: "wa'lladhīna āmanū wa'ttaba‘at-hum dhurriyyatuhum bi-īmānin alḥaqqnā bihim dhurriyyatahum..." — ...

... (chunānche) muta'addid riwāyāt-e-ḥadīth mein aulād kā bāp kī shafā'at karnā manqūl hai. Is liye āyat-e-madhkūra kā yih ḍābṭa — ki koī bāp beṭe ko aur beṭā bāp ko maḥshar mein koī fā'ida na pahunchā sakega — yih isī ṣūrat mein hai ki un mein se ek mu'min ho aur dūsrā kāfir. (Maḥzarī.)

Fā'ida: Yahān ek bāt qābil-e-ghaur hai ki is āyat mein bāp kā beṭe ko naf'a na pahunchā sakne ko to jumla-e-fi'liyya kī ṣūrat mein — "lā yajzī wālidun 'an waladihī" ke alfāz se — dhikr farmāyā; aur dūsrī jānib (beṭe kā bāp ko naf'a na pahunchānā) do (khāṣ) ta'bīron se bayān kiyā: ek yih ki us ko jumla-e-ismiyya kī ṣūrat mein bayān farmāyā ("wa lā mawlūdun huwa jāzin"), aur dūse yih ki us mein "walad" ke bajāye lafẓ "mawlūd" ikhtiyār farmāyā. Ḥikmat is mein yih hai ki jumla-e-ismiyya, nisbat-e-fi'liyya se ziyāda mu'akkad (zor-dār) hotā hai. Is taghyīr-e-'ibārat mein is farq kī taraf ishāra kar diyā ki bāp aur aulād mein se bāp kī muḥabbat aulād ke sāth ziyāda hotī hai (jaisī muḥabbat aulād kī bāp ke sāth dunyā mein bhī us darje kī nahīn hotī). Maḥshar mein naf'a-rasānī kī nafī to donon hī kī gāī, magar aulād kī 'adam-e-naf'a-rasānī ko mu'akkad kar ke bayān farmāyā. Aur lafẓ "walad" ke bajāye "mawlūd" ikhtiyār karne mein yih ḥikmat hai ki "mawlūd" ṣif aulād ko kahā jātā hai, jabki lafẓ "walad" mein bāp aur aulād kī aulād (poton) ko bhī shāmil (kiyā jā saktā) hai. Is mein dūse rukh se is maḍmūn kī tā'īd ho gāī ki jab khud ṣulbī (sage) beṭā bhī bāp ke kām na āyega, to pote-parpote kā ḥāl (to khud) ma'lūm hai.

Aur dūsrī āyat (34) mein pānch cheezon ke 'ilm kā bi'l-khuṣūṣ Ḥaqq ta'ālā ke sāth makhṣūṣ honā, aur us ke siwā kisī makhluq ko un kā 'ilm na honā bayān farmāyā. (In pānch cheezon — 'ilm-e-ghayb — kā mas'ala āge, PDF p.53 se, tafṣīl ke sāth jāri hai.)

"Inna'llāha 'indahū 'ilmu's-sā'ati wa yunazzilu'l-ghaytha wa ya'lamu mā fi'l-arḥām, wa mā tadrī nafsun mādhā taksibu ghadā, wa mā tadrī nafsun bi-ayyi arḍin tamūt" — ya'nī Allāh hī ke pās qiyāmat kā 'ilm hai (ki kis sāl, kis tārīkh ko āyegī); aur wahī bārish ko utārtā hai; aur wahī jāntā hai jo shikam-e-mādar (mān ke peṭ) mein hai — laṛkī hai yā laṛkā, aur kis shakl-o-ṣūrat kā hai; aur koī shakhṣ nahīn jāntā ki woh kal kyā kamāyega (khair o sharr mein); aur koī nahīn jāntā ki woh kis zamīn mein marega.

Pahlī tīn cheezon mein agarche yih taṣrīḥ nahīn kī gāī ki un kā 'ilm Allāh ke siwā kisī ko nahīn, magar kalām aise andāz mein hai jis mein in tīn cheezon ke 'ilm kā ikhtisāṣ Allāh hī mein ma'lūm hotā hai; aur bāqī do cheezon mein is kī taṣrīḥ maujūd hai. (Pas) Allāh ta'ālā ke siwā kisī makhluq

ko in pānch cheezon kā ‘ilm nahīn. Aur yih (maḍmūn) Sūrah-e-An‘ām kī āyat mein bhī ā gayā hai: "wa ‘indahū mafātīḥu'l-ghaybi lā ya‘lamuhā illā huwa" — ya‘nī mafātīḥ-e-ghayb širf Allāh hī ke pās hain, un ko us ke siwā koī nahīn jāntā. "Mafātīḥ" — "miftāḥ" (kunjī, chābī) kī jam‘ hai, jis se qufl (tāle) khulte hain; murād us se ghayb ke woh uṣūl (asāsī cheezein) hain jin se mā-taḥt-al-ghayb ma‘lūm hotī hain.

Is mas'ale kī tafṣīl, ba-qadr-e-darūrat, Sūrah-e-Naml kī āyat "Qul lā ya‘lamu man fi's-samāwāti wa'l-arḍi'l-ghayba illa'llāh" ke taḥt dhikr kī gāī hai. Us āyat mein muṭlaqan ‘ilm-e-ghayb kā Ḥaqq ta‘ālā ke liye makhṣūṣ honā (ṣarāḥatan) bayān kiyā gayā hai, aur yihī pūrī ummat kā ‘aqīda — salafan o khalafan — rahā hai. Is āyat-e-zer-e-baḥṭh (Luqmān 34) mein jo širf in (pānch) cheezon kā khuṣūṣiyat ke sāth dhikr kiyā gayā ki in kā ‘ilm kisī makhlūq ko nahīn, širf Allāh hī un ko jāntā hai — yih (‘ilm-e-ghayb ko inhī pānch tak) maḥdūd karne ke liye nahīn (warna Sūrah-e-Naml kī āyat se taḍād ho jāyega); balki in pānch cheezon kā khāṣ ihtimām (tawajjuh) dilāne ke liye yahān in kā dhikr farmāyā hai.

Aur is takḥṣīṣ o ihtimām kī wajah yih hai ki ‘ām ṭaur par jin cheezon ko jānne kā insān shā‘iq (mushtāq) hotā hai woh yihī pānch cheezein hain; nīz ‘ilm-e-ghayb kā da‘wā karne wāle inhī pānch cheezon kī khabrein logon ko batā kar apnā ‘ālim-e-ghayb honā thābit karte hain. Aur ba‘z riwāyāt mein hai ki kisī shakhṣ ne Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se inhī pānch cheezon ke muta‘alliq daryāft kiyā thā, us par yih āyat nāzil huī — jis mein in pānchon ke ‘ilm kā Allāh ...

Aur ḥadīth mein — jo Ibn ‘Umar aur Ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍ.) kī riwāyat se āī hai — yih irshād hai: "Mafātīḥu'l-ghaybi khamsun lā ya‘lamuhā illa'llāh" (Rawāḥu'l-Imām Aḥmad). Ibn Kathīr (raḥ.) ne lafz "anbā'at" se yih bāt wāḍiḥ kar dī ki in pānch cheezon ke ‘alāwa jin ghā‘ibāt kā ‘ilm Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko ḥāṣil huā, woh Allāh ta‘ālā kī taraf se baṭaur-e-waḥy diyā gayā thā — is liye woh "‘ilm-e-ghayb" kī ta‘rīf mein shāmil nahīn. Kyūnki anbiyā (‘alaihimu's-salām) ko ba-dharī‘a-e-ilhām/waḥy ghayb kī jo khabrein Allāh kī taraf se dī jātī hain, woh ḥaqīqat ke i‘tibār se "‘ilm-e-ghayb" nahīn (jis kī binā par un ko "‘ālimu'l-ghayb" kahā jāye), balki woh "anbā'u'l-ghayb" (ghayb kī khabrein) hain. Allāh ta‘ālā jab chāhtā hai, jitnā chāhtā hai, apne (nek) farishton, rasūlon aur maqbūl bandon ko ‘aṭā farmā detā hai. Qur‘ān-e-Karīm mein in ko "anbā'u'l-ghayb" farmāyā gayā: "min anbā'i'l-ghaybi nūḥīhā ilayk" (yih ghayb kī khabrein hain jo ham āp kī taraf waḥy karte hain).

Is liye ḥadīth kā maṭlab yih hai ki in pānch cheezon kā ‘ilm to Allāh ta‘ālā ne apnī dhāt se aisā makhṣūṣ farmāyā hai ki baṭaur "anbā'-e-ghayb" ke bhī farishton aur rasūlon ko us kā ‘ilm nahīn diyā gayā. Is ke ‘alāwa dūsarī mughayyabāt kā ‘ilm bahut kuchh anbiyā (‘alaihimu's-salām) ko ba-dharī‘a-e-wahy diyā jātā hai. Is taqrīr se bhī in pānch cheezon ke khuṣūṣī dhikr kī ek aur wajah ma‘lūm ho gaī.

Ek shubha aur jawāb:

Madhkūra āyat se yih thābit huā ki muṭlaq ‘ilm-e-ghayb — jo Ḥaqq ta‘ālā kī khuṣūṣiyat hai — us mein khāṣ ṭaur par yih pānch cheezein (dākhil) hain; is kā taqāḍā yih hai ki yih cheezein aisī hain ki in kā ‘ilm kisī makhluq ko ba-dharī‘a-e-wahy (bhī) nahīn diyā jātā. Is ke bi'l-muqābil (yih sawāl uṭhtā hai ki) yih cheezein kabhī kisī ko ma‘lūm ho jātī hain — ḥālānki bahut se awliyā-Allāh se aise wāqī‘āt manqūl hain ki unhon ne kahīn bārish yā ḥaml (pregnancy) kī khabar dī, yā kisī ke muta‘alliq āyenda kisī kām ke karne yā na karne kī khabar dī, yā kisī ke marne kī jagah muta‘ayyin kar ke batlā dī — aur phir ba‘ainihī (hū-ba-hū) ṭhīk kā mushāhada bhī thābit huā. Isī ṭarah ba‘z nujūmī (astrologers) yā jughrāfiya waghaira kā fan jānne wāle in cheezon ke muta‘alliq ba‘z khabrein dete hain, aur ba‘z auqāt woh bhī ṭhīk ho jātī hain — to phir in pānch cheezon kī "‘ilm-e-Allāh ke sāth khuṣūṣiyat" kis ṭarah rahī?

... ḥaqīqat mein "‘ilm-e-ghayb" us ‘ilm ko kahā jātā hai jo sabab-e-ṭab‘ī (qudratī wasīle) ke bilā-wāṣṭa, asbāb ke baghair wujūd mein āye. Aisī cheezein jo anbiyā (‘alaihimu's-salām) ko ba-dharī‘a-e-ilhām, aur nujūmiyon (astrologers) waghaira ko apne ḥisābāt o asbāb-e-ṭab‘īyya ke dharī‘e ḥāṣil ho jāyein — woh "‘ilm-e-ghayb" nahīn, balki "anbā‘u'l-ghayb" hain. (Pas) is āyat se ḥāṣil yih hai ki in pānch cheezon kā mukammal (kullī) ‘ilm — jo tamām makhluqāt par ḥāwī ho — Allāh ta‘ālā ne kisī ko ba-dharī‘a-e-wahy (bhī) nahīn diyā; (albatta) kisī ek ko koī juzwī wāqī‘a ba-dharī‘a-e-ilhām ḥāṣil ho jānā us ke munāfi nahīn.

Is ke ‘alāwa, "‘ilm" se murād "‘ilm-e-qaṭ‘ī" (yaqīnī ‘ilm) hai jo Allāh ta‘ālā ke siwā kisī ko nahīn; ilhām ke dharī‘e jo ‘ilm kisī ko ḥāṣil hotā hai woh qaṭ‘ī nahīn hotā, us mein maghālaton (ghaltī) ke bahut ihtimāl rahte hain; aur nujūmiyon waghaira kī khabron mein to (aksar) yih bhī mushāhada ho jātā hai ki das jhūṭ mein ek sach hotā hai — sab ṭhīk nahīn hotā — to us ko "‘ilm-e-qaṭ‘ī" kaise kah sakte hain?

Ustādh-e-muḥtaram Shaykh al-Islām Ḥaḍrat Maulānā Shabbīr Aḥmad ‘Uthmānī (rah.) ne apnī tafsīr ke Fawā‘id mein ek mukhtaṣar, jāmi‘ bāt farmāī hai, jis se madhkūra qism ke sab ishkālāt khatm ho jāte hain. Woh yih ki ghayb kī do qismein hain:

(1) Aḥkām-e-ghaybiyya — in mein Allāh ta‘ālā kī dhāt o ṣifāt kā ‘ilm bhī dākhil hai (jise "‘ilm-e-‘aqā‘id" kahā jātā hai), aur woh tamām aḥkām-e-shar‘iyya bhī jin kā ‘ilm hamein hotā hai ki Allāh

ta'ālā ko kaun se kām pasand hain yā nā-pasand. Yih sab cheezein ghayb hī kī hain. Is pahlī qism ke ghā'ibāt kā 'ilm Allāh ta'ālā ne apne anbiyā o rusul ko ba-dharī'a-e-waḥy 'aṭā farmāyā hai — jis kā dhikr Qur'ān-e-Karīm mein yūn āyā hai: "... lā yuḏhiru 'alā ghaybiḥi aḥadan illā mani'rtaḍā min rasūl" — ya'nī Allāh ta'ālā apne ghayb par kisī ko muṭṭali' nahīn karte, bajuz us rasūl ke jise us ne is kām ke liye pasand farmā liyā ho. Aur yihī ('ilm pahunchānā) bi'that (nubuwwat) kā maqṣad hai.

PDF PAGE 56 · [Fā'ida — the wording of verse 34]: the eloquence of varying the expression for the five things; why the last two negate human knowledge

... in (ghayb kī cheezon) kā 'ilm-e-juzwī bhī ba-dharī'a-e-waḥy yā ilhām — jise Allāh ta'ālā (apnī) qudrat se manẓūr ho — 'aṭā farmā detā hai; (magar) woh khud bajuz Allāh ke 'aṭā-karda 'ilm hai, us ko ḥaqīqī ma'nā ke i'tibār se "'ilm-e-ghayb" nahīn kahā jā saktā, balki "anbā'u'l-ghayb" (ghayb kī khabrein denā) kahā jātā hai.

Is āyat mein pānch cheezon ke 'ilm kā Ḥaqq ta'ālā ke sāth makhṣūṣ honā ek khāṣ ihtimām ke sāth bayān farmāyā gayā hai. Is kā ṣāhirī taqāḍā yih thā ki ek hī 'unwān se pānchon cheezon ko shumār kar ke yih kah diyā jātā ki "in kā 'ilm Allāh ta'ālā kī dhāt ke sāth makhṣūṣ hai, kisī makhḷūq ko nahīn diyā gayā." Magar āyat-e-madḥkūra mein aisā nahīn kiyā gayā: balki ibtidā'ī tīn cheezon ke 'ilm ko to musbat ṭaur par Allāh ke liye khāṣ hone kā dhikr farmāyā, aur ākhirī do cheezon mein ghayr-Allāh se 'ilm kī naḥī farmā'ī. Aur pahlī tīn mein bhī: 'ilm-e-sā'at (qiyāmat) ko to is ṭarah farmāyā "inna'llāha 'indahū 'ilmu's-sā'ah" (Allāh hī ke pās sā'at kā 'ilm hai); dūsarī cheez (bārish) kā dhikr 'unwān badal kar jumla-e-khabariyya mein yūn farmāyā "yunazzilu'l-ghayth" (Allāh bārish utārtā hai — is mein bārish ke "'ilm" kā dhikr nahīn, balki us ke "utārne" kā dhikr hai); aur tīsarī cheez (raḥm) kā dhikr phir 'unwān badal kar "wa ya'lamu mā fī'l-arḥām" se farmāyā. Is taghayyur-e-'unwān ko balāghat-e-kalām kā ek nukta bhī kahā jā saktā hai, aur ghaur karne se is se kuchh aur ḥikmatein ma'lūm hotī hain jo "Bayānu'l-Qur'ān" mein Ḥaḍrat (Thānawī) ne farmā'ī hain.

Khulāṣa yih hai ki ākhirī do cheezein — ya'nī insān āyenda kal kyā kām karega, aur kis zamīn mein marega — yih khud insān kī (apnī) dhāt se muta'alliq ḥālāt hain; in mein yih ihtimāl ho saktā thā ki insān un kā 'ilm ḥāṣil kar le — is liye in donon mein khuṣūṣiyat se ghayr-Allāh ke 'ilm ko manfī kar ke bayān farmāyā. Is se pahlī tīn cheezon kā ghayr-Allāh ke liye ('ilm na honā) ba-darja-e-awlā thābit ho gayā: ki jab insān khud apne āyenda a'māl, makāsib (kamā'ī), maut aur us kī jagah (tak) nahīn jāntā, to āsmān, nuzūl-e-bārish aur shikam-e-mādar (mān ke pet) ke andhere mein chhupī cheez ko kyā jānega?

Aur ākhirī cheez (ya'nī makān-e-maut) mein ṣirf "makān" (jagah) kā 'ilm na honā bayān farmāyā, ḥālānki makān-e-maut kī ṭarah zamān-e-maut (maut kā waqt) bhī insān ko ma'lūm nahīn hotā. (Is kī) wajah yih hai ki makān-e-maut agar che muta‘ayyin taur par ma‘lūm na ho, magar chūnki zāhirī ḥālāt ke i‘tibār se insān kuchh samajh saktā hai — (masalan) jahān rahtā hai wahīn marega, yā woh makān jis mein us kā marnā hai dunyā mein (pahle se) maujūd hai — bar-khilāf zamān-e-maut ke, jo zamāna-e-mustaqbil mein abhī wujūd mein bhī nahīn āyā. To jo shakhṣ makān-e-maut ko — jo maujūd hai — nahīn jān saktā, us se muta‘alliq ...

... (zamān-e-maut, jo abhī wujūd mein nahīn āyā) us ko jānne kā taṣawwur kaise kiyā jāye? Khulāṣa yih hai ki yahān ek cheez (makān-e-maut) kī nafī se khud dūsrī cheez (zamān-e-maut) kī nafī ba-darja-e-awla ma‘lūm ho jātī hai; is liye in donon ko manfī ‘unwān se bayān farmāyā. Aur pahle tīn cheezein to insānī dastras (pahunch) se, zāhirī ḥālāt mein, khud hī khārij hain — un mein insān ke ‘ilm kā dakhil nahīn — is liye un mein musbat ‘unwān ikhtiyār kar ke un kā ikhtisāṣ Ḥaqq ta‘ālā ke sāth bayān kar diyā gayā.

Aur in mein se pahle jumle ko jumla-e-ismiyya se, aur ba‘d ke donon jumlon ko fi‘liyya ke ‘unwān se dhikr karne mein bhī shāyad ḥikmat yih hai ki qiyāmat to ek amr-e-muta‘ayyin hai, us mein tajaddud (renewal) nahīn; bar-khilāf nuzūl-e-maṭar (bārish) aur raḥm ke, ki un ke ḥālāt mein tajaddud hotā rahtā hai, aur jumla-e-fi‘liyya tajaddud par dalālat kartā hai. Aur in donon mein bhī: raḥm ke ḥālāt mein to ‘ilm-e-Ilāhī kā dhikr farmāyā "wa ya ‘lamu mā fi'l-arḥām", magar nuzūl-e-bārish mein "'ilm" kā dhikr nahīn (balki "yunazzilu'l-ghayth" — utārne kā dhikr). Wajah yih ki yahān bārish nāzil karne kā dhikr kar ke ḍimnan yih batlā diyā ki bārish — jis se insān ke hazāron manāfi‘ wābasta hain — woh Allāh hī ke karne se ātī hai, kisī (aur) ke taṣarruf mein nahīn; aur us (bārish ke ‘ilm) kā ikhtisāṣ (Allāh ke sāth) to siyāq-e-kalām hī se thābit ho jātā hai. Wa'llāhu subḥānahū wa ta‘ālā a‘lam.

"Mā atāhum min nadhīr" — "nadhīr" se murād is jagah "Rasūl" hai; maṭlab yih ki Quraysh mein Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se pahle koī Rasūl nahīn āyā thā. Is se yih lāzim nahīn ātā ki anbiyā kī da‘wat bhī in logon ko pahle nahīn pahunchī thī — kyūnki dūsri āyat mein wāḍiḥ ṭaur par irshād hai "wa in min ummatin illā khalā fīhā nadhīr" — ya‘nī koī ummat o jamā‘at dunyā mein aisī nahīn jis mein koī na koī Allāh (ke ‘adhāb) se ḍarāne wālā aur us kī rāh kī taraf da‘wat dene wālā na āyā ho.

Is āyat mein lafẓ "nadhīr" apne ‘ām lughawī ma‘nā mein hai — ya‘nī Allāh kī taraf da‘wat dene wālā, khwāh Rasūl o Paighambar ho, yā us kā koī nā‘ib (khalīfa) yā ‘ālim-e-dīn. To is āyat se tamām anbiyā (kī ummaton) aur jamā‘aton tak tawḥīd kī da‘wat pahunchnā ma‘lūm hotā hai — aur yih Ḥaqq ta‘ālā kī raḥmat-e-‘amma kā taqāḍā hai. Aur īmān (o hidāyat) kisī zamāne aur kisī makān (jagah) kī kisī qaum se (bhī) kabhī munqaṭī‘ nahīn hotī.

Is kā taqāḍā yih hai ki aqwām-e-‘Arab mein ba-qadr-e-ḍarūrat tawḥīd kī da‘wat pahle bhī pahunchtī rahī hogī; magar is ke liye ḍarūrī nahīn ki yih da‘wat koī nabī o rasūl hī lāyā ho — (ho saktā hai ki) un ke nā‘ibīn (‘ulamā) ke dharī‘e pahunchī ho. Is liye is sūrah aur Sūrah-e-Yāsīn waghaira kī woh āyatein jin mein yih thābit hotā hai ki Quraysh-e-‘Arab mein āp se pahle koī "nadhīr" nahīn āyā — un mein "nadhīr" se murād (iṣṭilāḥī ma‘nā ke i‘tibār se) Rasūl o Nabī hai; aur murād yih hai ki is qaum ke andar āp se pahle koī nabī o rasūl nahīn āyā thā, agarche da‘wat-e-īmān o tawḥīd dūsre dharā‘i‘ se yahān bhī pahunchtī rahī ho.

Zamāna-e-fatrat (ya'nī Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī bi'that se pahle ke daur) ke bahut se ḥaḍrāt ke muta'alliq thābit hai ki woh dīn-e-Ibrāhīm o Ismā'īl ('alaihimā's-salām) par qā'im the, tawḥīd par un kā īmān thā, aur but-parastī se bachne ke liye (us se) mutanaffir the.

Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī mein Mūsā ibn 'Uqba kī "Maghāzī" se yih riwāyat naql kī hai ki Zayd ibn 'Amr ibn Nufayl — jo Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) se bi'that aur hijrat se pahle mile bhī the, magar nubuwwat se pahle un kā intiqāl us sāl huā hogā jis mein Quraysh ne Bayt-Allāh (Ka'ba) kī ta'mīr kī thī, aur yih wāqī'a āp kī nubuwwat se pānch sāl pahle kā hai — un kā ḥāl Mūsā ibn 'Uqba ne naql kiyā hai ...

Aur Abū Dāwūd Ṭayālīsī (raḥ.) ne, un ke ṣāhibzāde Ḥaḍrat Sa'īd ibn Zayd (raḍ.) — jo 'Ashara-e-Mubashshara mein dākhil hain — kī riwāyat mein yih naql kiyā hai ki unhon ne Nabī-e-Karīm (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) se 'arḍ kiyā: "mere wālīd kā yih ḥāl thā ki woh tawḥīd par qā'im, but-parastī se bachte rahte — to kyā main un ke liye du'ā-e-maghfirat kar saktā hūn?" Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne farmāyā: "hān, un ke liye du'ā-e-maghfirat jā'iz hai; woh qiyāmat ke roz (akele) ek mustaqil ummat ho kar uṭhenge."

Isī tarah Warāqa ibn Nawfal — jo āp ke zamāna-e-nubuwwat ke shurū' (nuzūl-e-Qur'ān kī ibtidā) ke waqt maujūd the — tawḥīd par qā'im the, aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī madad karne kā apnā 'azm zāhir kiyā thā, magar fauran ba'd hī un kā intiqāl ho gayā. Yih wāqī'āt thābit karte hain ki aqwām-e-'Arab (bhī) da'wat-e-īmān o tawḥīd se maḥrūm na the, magar khud un ke andar koī nabī nahīn āyā thā. Wa'llāhu a'lam.

Tafsīr Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī mein aur bhī muta'addid taujīhāt (explanations) 'ulamā aur ṣūfiyā-e-kirām se naql kī gāī hain, magar sab kī sab qiyāsāt (conjectures) hain — aisī cheezein nahīn jin ko "Qur'ān kā madlūl" kahā jā sake yā jin ko yaqīn se kahā jā sake. Is liye aslam (sab se maḥfūz) woh ṭarīqa hai jo salaf-e-ṣāliḥīn (ṣaḥāba o tābi'īn) ne ikhtiyār kiya: ki is "ek" aur "pachās" ke farq kā 'ilm (khud) Allāh hī ke ḥawāle kar diyā, aur itnā kahne par iktifā kiya ki "hamein in kī ḥaqīqat mā'lūm nahīn."

Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍ.) ne is ke muta'alliq farmāyā: "Humā yawmāni dhakarhumā'llāhu (ta'ālā) fī kitābih, Allāhu a'lamu bihimā, wa akrahu an aqūla fī kitābi'llāhi mā lā a'lam" — ya'nī "yih do dīn hain jin kā Allāh ne apnī Kitāb mein dhikr kiya hai, aur Allāh hī un kī ḥaqīqat ko jāntā hai; aur main is bāt se sharmātā (katarātā) hūn ki Qur'ān mein woh bāt kahūn jis kā mujhe 'ilm nahīn." (Rawāhu 'Abd ar-Razzāq, wa'l-Ḥākim wa ṣaḥḥaḥahu.)

"Alladhī aḥsana kulla shay'in khalaqahū" — ya'nī us (Allāh) ne har cheez kī khilqat ko ḥasīn (khūb) aur behtar banāyā hai; (dunyā kī har cheez apnī dhāt mein ḥusn rakhtī hai,) burā'ī to us ke ghalat ista'māl se ātī hai. Wajah yih ki is 'ālam mein Allāh ta'ālā ne jo kuchh paidā farmāyā woh ḥikmat aur maṣāliḥ-e-'ālam ke iqtidā se banāyā hai; is liye har cheez apnī dhāt se, ek i'tibār se, ḥusn rakhtī hai. ...

... aur in sab se ziyāda ḥasīn aur behtar (Allāh ne) insān ko banāyā hai — jaisā ki irshād farmāyā:
"Laqad khalaqna'l-insāna fī aḥsani taqwīm" (ham ne insān ko sab se ziyāda ḥasīn taqwīm aur behtarīn shakl-o-ṣūrat mein paidā kiya).

Aur dūsarī makhluqāt — khwāh woh zāhir mein kitnī hī qabīḥ (badṣūrat) aur burī samjhī jātī hon: gadhā, kuttā, khinzīr, sānp, bichchhū, sher, chītā, bheṛiyā — yih sab cheezein jo ba-zāhir burī aur darinda jānwar naẓar mein burī samjhī jātī hain, magar majmū'a-e-nizām-e-'ālam ke maṣāliḥ ke i'tibār se in mein se koī bhī burī nahīn. Kisī ne khūb kahā hai (‘):

"Nahīn har cheez be-ḥikmat kisī zamāne mein ... koī burāī nahīn qudrat ke kārkhāne mein."

Ḥaḍrat Ḥakīmu'l-Ummat (Maulānā Thānawī raḥ.) ne farmāyā ki "kulla shay" mein tamām jawāhir aur a‘rāḍ dākhl hain: woh cheezein jo khud jauharī (substances) hain — jaise ḥaywānāt, nabātāt, jamādāt waghaira — aur a‘rāḍ bhī, jaise insān ke akhlāq o a‘māl o shahwat. Yahān tak ki jo akhlāq "bure" batlāye jāte hain — jaise ghuṣṣa, ḥirṣ (lālach), shahwat waghaira — yih bhī apnī dhāt mein bure nahīn; in kī burāī ghayr-ḍarūrat (be-maḥall) ista‘māl se hai. (Apne) maḥall mein rahein to in mein koī cheez burī nahīn. Lekin is se murād ashyā kī khilqat (takhlīq) kī jihat kā khair o ḥusn hai — (ya‘nī) Allāh kā banānā sab ḥusn hai. Aur a‘māl o dūsarī cheezein insān ke makāsib o iktisāb (apne ikhtiyār se kām mein ṣarf karnā) hain; is ḥaithiyyat se sab ḥusn nahīn, balki un mein tafṣīl hai — Allāh ta‘ālā ne (jin ko) ḥusn (kī ijāzat) nahīn dī woh qabīḥ hain. Wa'llāhu a‘lam.

"Wa bada'a khalqa'l-insāni min ṭīn" — is se pahle yih batlāyā ki Allāh ta‘ālā ne ‘ālam kī har cheez ko ḥasīn banāyā; us ke ba‘d insān (kā dhikr) farmāyā jo un sab se ziyāda ḥasīn hai. Aur kamāl-e-qudrat ke iẓhār ke liye yih batlāyā ki insān ko — jo sab makhluq se behtar banāyā — us kā mādḍa-e-takhlīq koī a‘lā cheez nahīn (rakhā gayā), balki sab se kamtar cheez — ya‘nī miṭṭī — banāyā gayā; phir qudrat-e-kāmila aur ḥikmat-e-bāligha ne is kamtar cheez ko kahān se kahān pahunchā kar "ashraf al-makhluqāt" qarār diyā.

So jo log īmān lāye aur bhale kām kiye, un ke liye rahne ke bāgh hain — (un ke) un kāmon kī badaulat mehmānī, jo woh karte the.

Aur jo log nāfarmān hu’e, un kā ṭhikāna āg hai; jab bhī chāhenge ki us mein se nikal paṛein, (to) usī mein lauṭā diye jāyenge, aur un se kahā jāyega: "chakho us āg kā ‘adhāb jise tum jhuṭlāte the."

... (woh apne) Rab se milne ke munkir hain — aur yih (un kā su‘āl) istifhām-e-inkārī (denial in question-form) hai. (Jawāb mein) Allāh ne farmāyā ki "tumhārī jān maut kā woh farishta qabḍ karega jo tum par (Allāh kī taraf se) muta‘ayyin hai; phir tum apne Rab kī taraf lauṭā kar lāye jāoge." (Asl maqṣūd "turja‘ūn" — ya‘nī Rab kī taraf lauṭnā — hai.)

Aur (farmāyā:) agar āp un logon kā ḥāl dekhein jab mujrim log dhillat o nadāmat o sharmindagī se apne sar jhukāye (khare) honge, aur Rab se ‘arḍ karenge: "ai hamāre Parwardigār! ab hamārī ānkhein aur kān khul gaye — ham ne dekh liyā aur sun liyā; (so) ham ko (dunyā mein) phir bhej dījiye, ham khūb nek kām kiyā karenge; ab ham ko pūrā yaqīn ā gayā." (Magar yih un kā kahnā be-kār hogā,) is liye ki agar ham ko (un kī hidāyat) manzūr hotī to ham har shakḥ ko ḍarūr us kī rāh (najāt kā rāsta) dikhā kar maqṣūd tak pahunchā dete. Lekin (yih azalī taqdīr) bahut sī ḥikmaton se mutaḥaqqaq ho chukī hai ki "main jahannam ko jinnāt o insān donon (ya‘nī jo kāfir honge un) se ḍarūr bhar dūngā." (Is kī ba‘z ḥikmaton kā bayān Sūrah-e-Hūd ke ākhīr mein aisī hī āyat kī tafsīr mein guzrā hai.)

To un (kāfiron) se kahā jāyega: "ab is ‘adhāb ko chakho — ki tum apne is dīn ke āne ko bhūl gaye the; aur ham ne (bhī) tum ko bhulā diyā" (ya‘nī raḥmat se maḥrūm kar diyā — jise "bhulānā" majāzan kah diyā) — "aur apne a‘māl kī badaulat abadī (hamesha ke) ‘adhāb ko chakho." Yih kuffār kā ḥāl aur un kā anjām huā.

Āge mu‘minīn kā ḥāl aur anjām madhkūr hai: "pas hamārī āyaton par wahī log īmān lāte hain ki jab un ko āyatein yād dilāī jātī hain to woh sajde mein gir parte hain (jis kī taḥqīq Sūrah-e-Ḥā-Mīm Sajdah ke rukū‘-e-chahārum mein āyī hai), aur apne Rab kī tasbīḥ o taḥmīd karne lagte hain, aur woh log īmān (lāne) mein takabbur nahīn karte." Yih to (un kā) Qur‘ān kī taṣdīq o iqrār aur akhlāq kā ḥāl thā; aur (un ke) a‘māl kā ḥāl yih hai ki shab (rāt) ko (un kī karwaṭein bistar se judā rahtī hain) ...

... (mu'minīn apne biston se) 'alāḥida hote hain — khwāḥ farḍ-e-'ishā ke liye ho yā tahajjud ke liye — aur woh khālī (be-maqṣad) 'alāḥida nahīn hote, balki is ṭaur par ki woh log apne Rab ko (thawāb kī) ummīd se aur ('adhāb ke) khauf se pukārte hain (is mein namāz, du'ā aur dhikr sab ā gaye), aur hamārī dī huī cheezon mein se kharch karte hain. (Yih īmān wālon kī ṣifāt hain — ba'z to nafs-e-īmān par mawqūf hain, aur ba'z kamāl-e-īmān kī hain.) So kisī shakhṣ ko khabar nahīn ki un ke liye (āge) ānkhon kī ṭhanḍak kā kaisā sāmān — ni'maton kā khazāna — chhupā kar rakhā hai, un ke (nek) a'māl ke badle mein.

Phir (Allāh ne) farmāyā: jo shakhṣ mu'min ho, kyā woh us shakhṣ jaisā ho jāyega jo be-ḥukm (fāsiq) ho? Nahīn — "lā yastawūn" (yih barābar nahīn ho sakte). Aur is 'adam-e-musāwāt (nā-barābarī) kī tafṣīl ke liye farmāyā: jo log īmān lāye aur unhon ne nek achchhe kām kiye, un ke liye bahisht kā ṭhikāna — jannatein — hain, jo un ke (nek) a'māl ke badle, baṭaur un kī mehmānī ke hain (ya'nī woh 'izzat o ikrām ke sāth mehmān banāye jāyenge). Aur jo log be-ḥukm (nāfarmān) rahe, un kā ṭhikāna dozakh hai; woh log jab us mein se bāhar nikalnā chāhenge to (zabardastī) usī mein lauṭā diye jāyenge, aur un se kahā jāyega: "dozakh kā woh 'adhāb chakho jise tum jhuṭlāyā karte the."

Aur yih 'adhāb-e-maw'ūd to ākhirat mein hī hogā; magar ham un ko, us baṛe 'adhāb (jo ākhirat mein maw'ūd hai) se pahle, ek qarīb kā (ya'nī dunyā mein āne wālā) 'adhāb bhī chakhā denge — ya'nī amrāḍ o asqām (bīmāriyān) aur maṣā'ib (āfatein). Kyūnki amrāḍ o āfāt, ba-mūjib-e-taṣrīḥ-e-Qur'ān, a'māl-e-bad ke athar se āte hain — tāki yih log dunyā hī mein mutanabbih ho kar kufr se bāz ā jāyein (yih "la'allahum yarji'ūn" kā maṭlab hai). Phir jo (is par bhī) na lauṭe, us ke liye "'adhāb-e-akbar" hai.

Aur aise logon par 'adhāb kā ānā kuchh ba'īd o ta'ajjub kī bāt nahīn: kyūnki us shakhṣ se baḥ kar ṣālim kaun hoga jise us ke Rab kī āyatein yād dilāī jāyein, phir woh un se i'rāḍ (munh moṛ) kare? (To us ke mustaḥiqq-e-'adhāb hone mein kyā shubā?) Is liye "ham aise mujrimon se badla lenge."

"Qul yatawaffākumu malaku'l-mawti'lladhī wukkila bikum" — is se pahlī āyat mein mushrikīn ko qiyāmat (ke inkār) par tambīh, aur un ke is istib'ād (resurrection ko dūr samajhne) kā jawāb thā ki "zamīn mein mil kar marne aur gum ho jāne ke ba'd dubāra kaise zinda honge?" Is āyat mein us kā bayān hai ki tum apnī maut par dhyān do aur ghaur karo — woh khud Ḥaqq ta'ālā kī qudrat o mulk kā ek baṛā maḥzar hai. Tum (apnī ghaflat se) samajhte ho ki maut to khud ba-khud ā jātī hai; bāt yih nahīn — Allāh ke nazdīk tumhārī maut kā ek waqt muqarrar hai, aur us ke liye farishton kā ek khāṣ niẓām hai, jin mein baṛe 'Azrā'īl ('alaihi's-salām) hain jo sārī dunyā kī maut kā intizām (karte hain), aur dūsre ba'z firishte un ke taḥt (mein hain). Jis shakhṣ kī, jis jagah, jis waqt maut muqarrar hai, ṭhik usī waqt woh us kī rūḥ qabḍ karte hain. Āyat-e-madhkūra mein isī kā bayān hai.

Aur yahān "malaku'l-mawt" lafẓ mufrad (singular) lāyā gayā hai — is se murād 'Azrā'īl ('alaihi's-salām) hain. Aur ek dūsarī āyat mein farmāyā: "alladhīna tatawaffāhumu'l-malā'ikah" — is mein "malā'ikah" lafẓ jam' (plural) lāyā gayā, jis mein ishāra hai ki 'Azrā'īl ('alaihi's-salām) tanhā yih kām anjām nahīn dete, un ke sāth bahut se firishte is mein sharīk hote hain.

Imām (Rāzī) ne tafsīr mein farmāyā ki sārī dunyā malaku'l-mawt ke sāmne aisī hai jaise kisī insān ke sāmne ek khulā ṭasht (tray) ho, jis mein se jo chāhe uṭhā le. Yih maḍmūn ek marfū' ḥadīth mein bhī āyā hai (dhakarahu'l-Qurṭubī fī't-Tadhkirah).

Aur ek ḥadīth mein hai ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne ek martaba ek Anṣārī ṣaḥābī ke sirhāne malaku'l-mawt ko baiṭhā pāyā, to (farmāyā:) "mere ṣaḥābī ke sāth narmī karnā." Malaku'l-mawt ne jawāb diyā: "āp muṭma'in rahein, main har mu'min ke sāth narmī kartā hūn." Aur (yih bhī) farmāyā ki "ādmī jitne shahron mein, yā dehāt aur janglon mein, pahāron mein yā daryāon mein ābād hain, main un sab mein se har ek ko din mein pānch martaba dekhtā hūn; is liye main un ke har chhoṭe baṛe se bilā-wāṣṭa wāqif hūn." Phir farmāyā: "ai Muḥammad (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam)! yih (sab) to Allāh ke ḥukm se hai; warna main agar ek machchhar kī rūḥ bhī qabḍ karnā chāhūn to mujhe us par bhī qudrat nahīn, jab tak Allāh ta'ālā hī kā amr us ke liye na ā jāye."

... ki jānwar kī rūḥ bhī ba-dharī'a-e-Khudāwandī malaku'l-mawt hī qabḍ karte hain (yih ek qaul hai); magar ba'z dūsarī riwāyāt se yih ma'lūm hotā hai ki farishte ke dharī'e qabḍ-e-rūḥ insān hī ke sāth makhṣūṣ hai — us kī sharāfat o karāmat ('izzat) ke liye — bāqī jānwar ba-ghair wāṣṭa-e-farishta (hī) mar jāyenge. (Kadhā fī Ibn 'Aṭīyya, az Qurṭubī.)

Yihī maḍmūn Abu'sh-Shaykh, 'Uqaylī, Ṭabarānī waghaira ne Ibn 'Umar (raḍ.) se ek ḥadīth marfū'an (naql) kiyā ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne farmāyā: bahā'im (chaupāye) aur ḥasharātu'l-arḍ (zamīn ke kīre-makoṛe) — yih sab apnī zindagī mein Allāh kī tasbīḥ mein mashghūl rahte hain; jab un kī tasbīḥ khatm ho jātī hai to Allāh ta'ālā un kī rūḥ qabḍ farmā letā hai — (ya'nī) jānwaron kī maut malaku'l-mawt ke supurd nahīn. Isī maḍmūn kī ek ḥadīth Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Umar (raḍ.) se bhī riwāyat kī hai. (Maḥzarī.)

Aur ek riwāyat mein hai ki jab Ḥaqq ta'ālā ne malaku'l-mawt ko paidā kar ke sārī dunyā kī maut kā mu'āmalā (un ke) supurd kiyā, to unhon ne 'arḍ kiyā: "ai mere Parwardigār! agar āp ne mujhe aisī khidmat supurd kī ki sārī dunyā aur sab ādmī mujhe burā kahenge (mujh se 'adāwat karenge)..." Ḥaqq ta'ālā ne farmāyā: "ham ne is kā tadārūk is tarah kar diyā hai ki dunyā mein maut ke kuchh ṣāhirī asbāb aur amrāḍ (bīmāriyān) rakh dete hain, jin ke sabab log maut ko un asbāb o amrāḍ kī taraf mansūb karenge, aur tum un kī halākī (ke ilzām) se maḥfūṣ rahoge." (Qurṭubī fī't-Tafsīr wa't-Tadhkirah.)

wa sallam) ne farmāyā: yih jitne amrāḍ, dard aur ranj waghaira hain, woh sab maut ke "qāṣid" (messengers) hain — insān ko us kī āne wālī maut yād dilāte hain. Phir jab maut kā waqt ā jātā hai to malaku'l-mawt marne wāle ko mukhāṭab kar ke kahtā hai: "ai bande-e-Khudā! main ne tere pās pahle kitne hī qāṣid — ek ke ba'd dīgre — tujhe khabardār karne aur maut kī tayyārī karne ke liye, ba-ṣūrat-e-amrāḍ o ḥawādith, bheje the; ab main khud ā pahunchā, jis ke ba'd koī aur khabardār karne wālā yā qāṣid bhejne wālā nahīn hai; ab tujhe apne Rab ke ḥukm ko lā-maḥāla mānnā hī hogā — khwāh khushī se yā majbūrī se." (Maẓharī.)

Mas'ala: Malaku'l-mawt kisī kī maut kā waqt pahle se nahīn jānte, jab tak ki un ko ḥukm na diyā jāye ki "falān kī rūḥ qabḍ kar lo." (Akhrāju Aḥmad wa Ibn Abī'd-Dunyā 'an 'Umar; Maẓharī.)

Namāz-e-tahajjud: Biston se uṭh kar dhikr o du'ā mein mashghūl ho jāne se murād — jumhūr mufasssīrīn ke nazḍīk — namāz-e-tahajjud hai; (ya'nī) jo nīnd se (jāg kar, sone ke ba'd phir uṭhne ke ba'd) parhī jātī hai. (Yih qaul Ḥasan, Mujāhid, Mālik aur Awzā'ī kā hai, aur dūsrī riwāyāt-e-ḥadīth se bhī is kī tā'īd hotī hai.)

Musnad-e-Aḥmad, Tirmidhī, Nasā'ī waghaira mein Ḥaḍrat Mu'adh ibn Jabal (raḍ.) se riwāyat hai ki ek martaba ham ek safar mein Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke qarīb the. (Main ne 'arḍ kiyā:) "mujhe koī aisā 'amal batlā dījiye jo mujhe jannat mein dākhil kare aur jahannam se dūr kare." Āp ne farmāyā: "tum ne ek ba'ī cheez kā su'āl kiyā, magar yih us ke liye āsān hai jis ke liye Allāh ta'ālā āsān kar de. Woh ('amal) yih hai: Allāh kī 'ibādat kar aur us ke sāth kisī ko sharīk na kar; namāz qā'im kar; zakāt adā kar; Ramaḍān ke roze rakh; aur Bayt-Allāh kā Ḥajj kar." Phir farmāyā: "ab main tumhein khair (bhalā'ī) ke abwāb batlā detā hūn: roza ('adhāb se) ḍhāl hai; ṣadqa ādmī ke gunāhon ko (aise) bujhā detā hai jaise pānī āg ko; aur isī tarah ādmī kī namāz, raat ke (pichhle) ḥisse mein." Aur (phir) Qur'ān-e-Majīd kī yih madhkūra āyat tilāwat farmā'ī: "Tatajāfā junūbuhum 'ani'l-maḍājī'."

Ḥaḍrat Abu'd-Dardā (raḍ.) aur Qatāda aur Ḍaḥḥāk (raḍ.) ne farmāyā ki "pahlū'on ke biston se alag ho jāne" kī yih ṣifāt un logon par bhī ṣādiq (applicable) hai jo 'ishā kī namāz jamā'at se adā kar ke phir ṣubḥ (fajr) kī namāz (bhī) jamā'at ke sāth parhein. Aur Tirmidhī mein ba-sanad-e-ṣaḥīḥ Ḥaḍrat

Anas (raḍ.) se riwāyat hai ki yih "tatajāfā junūbuhum" un logon ke bāre mein nāzil huī jo 'ishā se pahle nawāfil (paṛhte) aur jamā'at-e-'ishā kā intizār karte hain.

Aur ba'z riwāyāt mein hai ki yih āyat un logon se muta'alliq hai jo Maghrib aur 'ishā ke darmiyān nawāfil paṛhte hain (Rāh: Muḥammad ibn Naṣr). Aur Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍ.) ne farmāyā ki "jo log, jab ānkh khule, Allāh kā dhikr karein — leṭe, baiṭhe, aur karwaṭ par — woh bhī is (āyat) mein dākhil hain."

Ibn Kathīr (raḥ.) aur dūsre a'imma-e-tafsīr ne farmāyā ki in sab aqwāl mein koī taḍād nahīn; ṣaḥīḥ bāt yih hai ki āyat in sab ko shāmil hai. Aur ākhir-e-shab (raat ke pichhle pahar) kī namāz in sab mein a'lā o afḍal hai — Bayānu'l-Qur'ān mein isī ko ikhtiyār kiyā gayā hai.

Aur Ḥaḍrat Asmā' bint Yazīd (raḍ.) se riwāyat hai ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne farmāyā: jab Allāh ta'ālā awwalīn o ākhirīn ko qiyāmat ke roz jam' farmāyenge, to Allāh ta'ālā kī taraf se ek munādī khaṛā hoga jis kī āwāz tamām makhlūqāt sunengī; woh nidā degā ki "ahl-e-maḥshar āj jān lenge ki Allāh ke nazdīk āj kaun log 'izzat o ikrām ke mustaḥiqq hain." Phir woh farishta nidā degā ki "ahl-e-maḥshar mein se woh log khaṛe hon jin kī ṣifāt yih hai: 'tatajāfā junūbuhum 'anil-maḍājī' — ya'nī jin ke pahlū biston se alag rahte the." Is āwāz par yih log khaṛe honge, jin kī ta'dād qalīl (thoṛī) hogī. (Rāh: Ibn Kathīr.) Aur isī riwāyat ke ba'z alfāz se (ma'lūm hotā hai) ki yih log baghair ḥisāb ke jannat mein dākhil kiye jāyenge; us ke ba'd tamām log khaṛe honge aur un kā ḥisāb liyā jāyega. (Maḥzarī.)

"Wa la-nudhīqannahum mina'l-'adhābi'l-adnā dūna'l-'adhābi'l-akbari la'allahum yarji'ūn" — "al-adnā" — "adnā" ke ma'nī "qarīb" ke hain; aur "'adhāb-e-adnā" se murād dunyā ke maṣā'ib o āfāt aur amrāḍ waghaira hain, aur "'adhāb-e-akbar" se murād ākhirat kā 'adhāb hai.

Dunyā ke maṣā'ib: Maṭlab yih hai ki Allāh ta'ālā bahut se logon par — un ke gunāhon par, (un par) raḥmat karne ke liye — dunyā mein amrāḍ o maṣā'ib o āfāt musallaṭ kar dete hain, tāki yih mutanabbih ho kar apne gunāhon se bāz ā jāyein aur ākhirat ke "'adhāb-e-akbar" se najāt pāyein.

Is āyat se ma'lūm huā ki gunahgāron ke liye maṣā'ib o āfāt aur amrāḍ o takālīf bhī ek qism kī raḥmat-e-Khudāwandī hain — jin se (woh) ghaflat se bāz ā kar 'adhāb-e-ākhirat se bach jāyein. Albatta agar yih log āfāt o amrāḍ par bhī Allāh kī taraf rujū' na hon, to un ke liye yih dohrā 'adhāb ho jātā hai: ek yih (dunyā kī takleef), aur dūsra ākhirat kā "'adhāb-e-akbar."

Aur anbiyā o awliyā-Allāh par jo āfāt o maṣā'ib āte hain, un kā mu'āmala in sab se alag hai: woh un ke imtiḥān, aur imtiḥān ke dhārī'e raf'-e-darajāt (darajon kī bulandī) ke liye hote hain; aur is kī 'alāmat (pehchān) yih hai ki in logon par amrāḍ o āfāt ke waqt bhī ek qism kā qalbī sukūn o iṭmīnān (Allāh ta'ālā par) hotā hai. Wa'llāhu a'lam.

"Innā mina'l-mujrimīna muntaqimūn" — lafz "mujrimīn" mein har jurm kā mujrim shāmil hai; lihāzā intiqām (badla) bhī 'ām hai — har mujrim apne jurm mein, khwāh dunyā mein ho yā ākhirat mein, yā donon mein. Magar ba'z riwāyāt-e-ḥadīth se ma'lūm hotā hai ki ba'z gunāh aise hain jin kī sazā ākhirat se pahle dunyā mein bhī miltī hai: (1) ḥaq ke khilāf jhagarnā aur ghairon (mukhālifīn) ke sāth i'lānā (us kī) koshish karnā; (2) wālidayn kī nāfarmānī; (3) zālīm kī imdād (madad). Qur'an 32:23 — Wa laqad ātaynā Mūsā'l-kitāba fa-lā takun fī miryatin min liqā'ihī wa ja'alnāhu hudal li-banī Isrā'īl.

Aur ham ne Mūsā ko kitāb dī — so tū us ke milne (yā us se mulāqāt) mein shak mein na ho — aur ham ne us (kitāb) ko Banī Isrā'īl ke liye hidāyat banāyā.

Qur'an 32:24 — Wa ja'alnā minhum a'immatan yaḥdūna bi-amrinā lammā ṣabarū; wa kānū bi-āyātīnā yūqīnūn. Aur ham ne un mein se peshwā (imām) banāye jo hamāre ḥukm se rāh batāte the — jab unhon ne ṣabr kiya; aur woh hamārī āyaton par yaqīn rakhte the.

Qur'an 32:25 — Inna rabbaka huwa yaḥṣilu baynahum yawma'l-qiya'mati fīmā kānū fīhi yakhtalifūn. Be-shak terā Rab hī qiyāmat ke dīn un ke darmiyan us bāt kā faṣla karega jis mein woh āpas mein ikhtilāf karte the.

Qur'an 32:26 — Awa lam yaḥdi lahum kam ahlaknā min qablihim mina'l-qurūni yamshūna fī masākinihim; inna fī dhālika la-āyāt; afalā yasma'ūn.

Kyā un ko is bāt se rāh na sūjhī ki ham ne un se pahle kitnī jamā'aton (qaumon) ko halāk kar diya, jin ke gharon mein (ab) yih chalte-phirte hain? Be-shak is mein baṭī nishāniyan hain; kyā (phir bhī) yih nahīn sunte?

Qur'an 32:27 — Awa lam yaraw annā nasūqu'l-mā'a ila'l-arḍi'l-juruzi fa-nukhriju bihī zar'an ta'kulu minhu an'amuhum wa anfusuhum; afalā yubṣirūn.

Kyā unhon ne nahīn dekhā ki ham be-ghās (sūkhī) zamīn kī taraf pānī hānk (le jā) kar phir us se khetī nikālte hain, jis mein se un ke chaupāye aur khud woh (bhī) khāte hain? Phir kyā yih dekhte nahīn?

Qur'an 32:28 — Wa yaqūlūna matā hādha'l-fatḥu in kuntum ṣādiqīn.

Aur (yih munkir) kahte hain: "yih faṣla (fatḥ) kab hoga, agar tum sachche ho?"

Qur'an 32:29 — Qul yawma'l-fatḥi lā yanfa'u'lladhīna kafarū imānuhum wa lā hum yunzarūn.

Tū kah: "faṣle ke dīn munkiron ko un kā imān lānā kān na āyega, aur na un ko (kuchh) ḍhīl

Qur'an 32:30 — Fa-a'riḍ 'anhum wa'ntaẓir innaḥum muntaẓirūn.

KHULĀṢA-E-TAFSĪR (v.23–30)

Aur ham ne Mūsā ('alaihi's-salām) ko (āp hī kī ṭarah) Kitāb dī. (Pas) jis ṭarah un ko us kī ishā'at (phailāne) mein takleefein bardāshṭ karnī paṛīn, isī ṭarah āp ko bhī bardāshṭ karnā chāhiye — yih ek tasallī (consolation) hu'ī. Aur (ai Paighambar) is Kitāb ke milne mein kuchh shak na kījiye (li-qawlihī ta'ālā "wa innaka la-tulaqqā'l-Qur'āna min ladun ḥakīmin 'alīm"); maṭlab yih ki āp ṣāḥib-e-Kitāb hone kī ṣalāḥiyat rakhte hain — jab āp Allāh ke nazdīk itne maqbūl hain ki āp ko yih martaba milā, to phir (is mein) koī gham kī bāt nahīn.

Aur dūsrī tasallī yih hu'ī ki jis ṭarah Mūsā ('alaihi's-salām) kī Kitāb ko ham ne Banī Isrā'īl ke liye hidāyat banāyā thā, usī ṭarah āp kī Kitāb se bhī bahuton ko hidāyat hogī.

Aur (tīsī tasallī:) ham ne un (Banī Isrā'īl) mein se dīnī peshwā (a'imma) banāye jo hamāre ḥukm se (logon ko) hidāyat karte the — jabki woh log (dukh par) ṣabr karte rahe, aur hamārī āyatun par yaqīn rakhte the. So jis ṭarah un ko ishā'at aur hidāyat mein jo mashaqqat o dukh āte the un par unhon ne ṣabr kiya, isī ṭarah āp bhī ṣabr karein — kyūnki yaqīn kā taqāḍā ṣabr hai. Yih tasallī dunyā ke i'tibār se hu'ī.

Aur ek tasallī ākhirat ke i'tibār se: āp kā Rab qiyāmat ke roz un ke darmiyān un (sab) bāton kā faisla karega jin mein yih āpas mein ikhtilāf karte hain — (ya'nī) mu'minīn ko (ḥaq par hone kī wajah se) jannat mein, aur kuffār ko dozakh mein ḍāl degā. Is se bhī tasallī ḥāsil karnī chāhiye.

Aur is maḍmūn (ba'th o qiyāmat) kā inkār kar ke kuffār shuba karte rahte the ...

... (do shube the:) ek yih ki woh kufr (kī sazā) ko nā-mumkin samajhte the, aur dūsrā yih ki woh qiyāmat hī ko nā-mumkin samajhte hain. In donon ke daf' (radd) ke liye do maḍmūn (bayān farmāye):

Pahlā: (kuffār ko jo shuba hai) — kyā un ko is bāt ne rāh na dikhā'ī ki ham ne un se pahle, un ke kufr o shirk kī wajah se, kitnī hī qaumein halāk kar dīn, jin (ke ujṛe gharon) ke maqāmāt mein yih log (ab) chalte-phirte hain (jab Shām kī taraf āte-jāte guzarte hain)? Be-shak is mein (Allāh kī qudrat o 'ibrat kī) ṣāf nishāniyān hain. Kyā yih log (un ghārat-shuda umam ke qīṣṣe) sunte nahīn?

Dūsrā: (qiyāmat ke imkān par jo shuba hai) — kyā unhon ne is bāt par naẓar nahīn kī ki ham bādalon yā nahron waghaira ke dharī‘e khushk (sūkhī) zamīn kī taraf pānī (hānk kar) le jāte hain, phir us se khetī paidā karte hain, jis mein se un ke mawāshī (chaupāye) aur woh khud bhī khāte hain? To kyā yih (bāt) bhī nahīn dekhte — (ki jo zamīn murda thī woh kaise zinda ho gaī)? — jis kī taqrīr pahle guzar chukī hai. Pas donon shube daf‘ ho gaye.

Aur yih log qiyāmat aur faisle kā dhikr sun kar, baṭaur-e-istihzā (mazāq) o āzār, yūn kahte hain: "agar tum is bāt (ya‘nī qiyāmat ke hone) mein sachche ho, to batlāo yih faisla (fath) kab hoga?" Āp farmā dījiye: "faisle ke din munkiron kā īmān lānā un ko bilkul naf‘a na degā, aur na un ko mohlat dī jāyegī" (us waqt īmān be-kār, aur dunyawī najāt mafqūd hogī). So (ai Paighambar) un (kī bāton) kā khayāl na kījiye, aur (faisla-e-maw‘ūd ke) muntaẓir rahiye; yih log bhī (apne za‘m mein, āp ke ḍarar ke) muntaẓir hain (li-qawlihī ta‘ālā "natarabbasu bikum rayba'l-manūn"); magar ma‘lūm ho jāyega ki āp kā intizār muṭābiq-e-wāqī‘ hai aur un kā nahīn (li-qawlihī ta‘ālā fī jawābihim: "qul tarabbasū fa-innī ma‘akum mina'l-mutarabbiṣīn").

"Fa-lā takun fī miryatin min liqā'ihī" — "liqā'" ke ma‘nī "mulāqāt" ke hain. Is āyat mein kis kī mulāqāt kis se murād hai? Is mein ahl-e-tafsīr ke aqwāl mukhtalif hain. In mein ek woh hai jise Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr mein ikhtiyār kiyā gayā: ki "liqā'ihī" kī ḍamīr "al-kitāb" — ya‘nī Qur‘ān — kī taraf rāji‘ hai ...

Mūsā / the prophets' sunnah of hardship); v.24 — leadership needs ṣabr & yaqīn

... (pahlā qaul:) maṭlab yih liyā gayā ki jis ṭarah Mūsā (‘alaihi's-salām) ko Allāh ne Kitāb dī, āp bhī apnī Kitāb ke (milne) mein koī shak na karein — jaisā ki ek dūsarī āyat mein Qur‘ān ke muta‘alliq aise alfāẓ āye hain: "wa innaka la-tulaqqa'l-Qur‘āna (min ladun ḥakīmin ‘alīm)."

Aur Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.) aur Qatāda (raḥ.) se is kī tafsīr is ṭarah manqūl hai ki "liqā'ihī" kī ḍamīr Ḥaḍrat Mūsā (‘alaihi's-salām) kī taraf hai — aur is mein Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī Mūsā (‘alaihi's-salām) ke sāth mulāqāt hone kī khabar dī hai; aur farmāyā ki āp is mein shak na karein ki āp kī mulāqāt Mūsā (‘alaihi's-salām) se hogī. Chunānche yih mulāqāt shab-e-Mī‘rāj mein honā aḥādīth-e-ṣaḥīḥa se thābit hai, aur phir qiyāmat mein (bhī) mulāqāt honā thābit hai.

Aur Ḥaḍrat Ḥasan Baṣrī (raḥ.) ne is kī tafsīr yih farmāī ki jis ṭarah Mūsā (‘alaihi's-salām) ko ek Kitāb dī gaī, aur logon ne un kī takdhīb kī aur un ko īdhā (takleef) dī — to āp bhī yaqīn rakhein ki yih sab cheezein āp ko bhī pesh āyengī; is liye āp kuffār kī īdhāon se dil-gīr (ranjīda) na hon, balki us ko sunnat-e-anbiyā samajh kar bardāshht karein.

"Wa ja‘alnā minhum a'immatan yahdūna bi-amrinā lammā ṣabarū wa kānū bi-āyātīnā yūqīnūn" — ya‘nī ham ne Banī Isrā'īl mein se kuchh logon ko imām, peshwā o muqtadā banāyā, jo (logon ko) ba-idhn-e-rabbānī hidāyat kiyā karte the — jabki unhon ne ṣabr kiyā, aur jabki woh hamārī āyaton par yaqīn rakhte the.

Is āyat mein, Banī Isrā'īl ke 'ulamā mein se ba'z ko imāmat o peshwā'ī kā darja 'aṭā farmāne ke do sabab dhikr farmāye: (1) awwal, ṣabr karnā; (2) dūsre, āyāt-e-Ilāhiyya par yaqīn karnā. "Ṣabr" kā mafhūm 'arabī zabān ke i'tibār se bahut wasī' hai — is ke lughawī ma'nī "bāndhne aur thābit rahne" ke hain. Is jagah "ṣabr" se murād aḥkām-e-Ilāhiyya kī pābandī par thābit-qadam rahnā, aur jin (cheezon) ko Allāh ta'ālā ne ḥarām yā makrūh qarār diyā un se nafs ko roknā hai — jis mein tamām aḥkām-e-sharī'at kī pābandī ā jātī hai; aur yih bahut baṛā "'amalī kamāl" (perfection in action) hai. Dūsra sabab un kā āyāt-e-Ilāhiyya par yaqīn rakhnā hai — is mein āyatun ke mafhūm ko samajh-būjh kar us par yaqīn karnā dākhil hai; aur yih bahut baṛā "'ilmī kamāl" (perfection in knowledge) hai.

Khulāṣa yih ki imāmat o peshwā'ī ke lā'iq Allāh ta'ālā ke nazdīk ṣirf woh log hain jo 'ilm mein bhī kāmīl hon aur 'amal mein bhī. Aur yahān "'amalī kamāl" (ṣabr) ko "'ilmī kamāl" (yaqīn) se muqaddam (pahle) bayān farmāyā ...

... (ki) tartīb-e-ṭab'ī (natural order) mein "'ilm" "'amal" se muqaddam hotā hai; (yahān 'amal ko pahle dhikr karne) mein is taraf ishāra hai ki Allāh ke nazdīk woh 'ilm qābil-e-i'tibār nahīn jis ke sāth 'amal na ho. Ibn Kathīr (rah.) ne ba'z 'ulamā kā qawl is āyat kī tafsīr mein naql kiyā hai: "bi'-ṣabri wa'l-yaqīni tunālu'l-imāmatu fi'd-dīn" — ya'nī ṣabr aur yaqīn ke dharī'e (hī) kisī ko dīn mein imāmat kā darja miltā hai.

"Awa lam yaraw annā nasūqu'l-mā'a ila'l-arḍi'l-juruzi fa-nukhrij(u)..." — ya'nī kyā yih log nahīn dekhte ki ham khushk (sūkhī) zamīn kī taraf pānī ko (kuchh mawāqī' par zamīn par) chalā kar le jāte hain, aur us se (khetī/) darakht ugāte hain?

Khushk zamīn ko sairāb karne aur us mein nabātāt ugāne kā Qur'ān-e-Karīm ne jā-ba-jā is ṭarah dhikr kiyā hai ki us khushk zamīn par bārish barastī hai, jis se zamīn tar-o-tāza ho kar ugāne ke qābil ho jātī hai. Magar is āyat mein, bārish ke bajāye, pānī ko zamīn par chalā kar khushk zamīn kī taraf le jāne aur us se darakht ugāne kā dhikr farmāyā hai — ya'nī bārish kisī dūsarī zamīn par nāzil kī jātī hai, aur wahān se nadī-nālon ke dharī'e pānī ko us khushk zamīn kī taraf le jāyā jātā hai jahān bārish nahīn hotī.

Is mein ishāra is taraf hai ki ba'z zamīnein aisī "khām" (kachchī) aur narm hotī hain jo bārish ko mutaḥammil (bardāsh) nahīn kartīn — ki agar un par pūrī bārish barsā'ī jāye to 'imāratein munhadim ho jāyein aur darakht ukhar jāyein. Is liye (qudrat ne) aisī zamīnon ke liye yih niẓām banāyā ki bārish to us zamīn par nāzil kī jātī hai jo us kī mutaḥammil ho, phir sairāb karne kā pānī un zamīnon kī taraf le jāyā jātā hai jo bārish kī mutaḥammil nahīn — jaise Miṣr (Egypt) kī zamīn hai, aur ba'z zamīnein Nīl ke qarīb, Yaman aur Shām kī — jin ko is kā miṣdāq qarār diyā gayā hai. (Kadhā 'an Ibn 'Abbās; Maṣḥarī.)

Aur ṣaḥīḥ yih hai ki yih maḍmūn aisī tamām zamīnon ko shāmil hai, aur Miṣr kī zamīn khuṣūṣiyat se is mein shāmil hai — jahān bārish bahut kam hotī hai; magar bilād-e-Ḥabasha (Africa) kī bārish kā pānī Daryā-e-Nīl ke dharī‘e Miṣr mein ātā hai, aur wahān kī surkh (lāl) miṭṭī sāth lātā hai, jis mein nabātāt kā mādda (zar-khez ‘unṣur) ziyāda hotā hai. Is liye Miṣr ke log apne mulk mein bārish na hone ke bāwujūd barsāt ke pānī aur zar-khez miṭṭī se fā‘ida uṭhāte hain. Fa-qāla‘llāhu ta‘ālā: "afalā yubṣirūn" (to kyā yih dekhte nahīn?).

"Wa yaqūlūna matā hādha'l-faṭḥ" — ya‘nī munkirīn-e-kuffār kahte hain ki "woh faṭḥ (faiṣla/ghalba) kab hogā jis kā āp dhikr karte hain? Hamein to kahīn us ke āthār naẓar nahīn āte" ...

... (kuffār kahte hain ki) "ham to dekhte hain ki musalmān (kamzor o) maghlūb hain, chhupte-phirte hain (phir un kī faṭḥ ke āthār kahān hain)?"

Is ke jawāb mein Ḥaqq ta‘ālā ne farmāyā: "Qul yawma'l-faṭḥi lā yanfa‘u'lladhīna kafarū imānūhum" — ya‘nī āp un ke jawāb mein yih kah dījiye ki "tum jis 'faṭḥ ke dīn' kā ham se taqāḍā karte ho, woh dīn to tumhārī muṣṭibat kā (dīn) hogā; kyūnki jis waqt hamārī faṭḥ hogī us waqt tum ‘adhāb mein giriftār ho chuke hoge — khwāh dunyā mein (jaise Ghazwa-e-Badr mein huā), yā ākhirat mein. Aur jab Allāh kā ‘adhāb kisī ko pakar letā hai, to phir us kā imān (lānā) qabūl nahīn hotā." (Kadhā dhakarahu Ibn Kathīr.)

Aur ba‘z ḥaḍrāt ne is jagah "matā hādha'l-faṭḥ" ke ma‘nī "roz-e-qiyaṃmat" ke kiye hain — aur Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr mein isī ko ikhtiyār kiyā gayā. Wa'llāhu subḥānahū wa ta‘ālā a‘lam.

Sūrah Al-Aḥzāb Madanī hai; is kī tahattar (73) āyatein hain aur nau (9) rukū‘.

Qur'an 33:1 — Yā ayyuha'n-nabiyyu'ttaqi'llāha wa lā tuṭi' i'l-kāfirīna wa'l-munāfiqīn; inna'llāha kāna 'alīman ḥakīmā.

Ai Nabī! Allāh se ḍar, aur munkiron (kāfirōn) aur daghā-bāzon (munāfiqōn) kā kahnā mat mām; be-shak Allāh sab kuchh jānne wālā, ḥikmaton wālā hai.

Qur'an 33:2 — Wa'ttabi' mā yūḥā ilayka min rabbik; inna'llāha kāna bimā ta'malūna khabīrā.

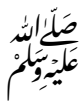

Aur usī (ḥukm) par chal jo tujh ko tere Rab kī taraf se waḥy kiyā jātā hai; be-shak Allāh sab kāmōn kī, jo tum karte ho, khabar rakhtā hai.

Qur'an 33:3 — Wa tawakkal 'ala'llāh; wa kafā bi'llāhi wakīlā.

Ai Nabī! Allāh se ḍarte rahiye, aur kisī (se) na ḍariye, aur un (kuffār o munāfiqīn) kī dhamkiyon kī zarā parwā na kījiye. Aur na kāfirōn kā kahnā māniye — jo khulam-khullā dīn ke khilāf mashware dete hain — aur na munāfiqīn kā, jo dil mein (āp se) judā aur un (kuffār) ke sāth muttāfiq hain; balki Allāh (ke ḥukm) ke muwāfiq kahnā/karnā kījiye. Be-shak Allāh ta'ālā baṛā 'ilm wālā (aur) ḥikmat wālā hai ...

... (Allāh) baṛā ḥikmat wālā hai — us kā har ḥukm maṣāliḥ par muḃtanī (based) hotā hai. Aur (ai Nabī) āp ke Parwardigār kī taraf se jo ḥukm āp par waḥy kiyā jātā hai usī par chaliye. Be-shak Allāh tum logon ke sab a'māl kī khabar rakhtā hai — (ya'nī) jo log hamāre Paighambar kī mukhālafat aur muzāḥamat karte rahe, ham un sab ko (un ke kiye kī) samajh lenge. Aur ai Nabī! āp un logon kī dhamkiyon ke mu'āmale mein Allāh par bharosa rakhiye — Allāh kāfī kār-sāz hai; us ke muqābale mein in logon kī koī tadbīr nahīn chal saktī. Albatta yih kuchh fikr kī bāt nahīn: (agar) Allāh ta'ālā kī ḥikmat is 'āriḍī (waqtī) takleef kī muqṭaḍī hu'ī, to yih ḍarar (nuqṣān) nahīn, balki 'ain-e-manfa'at (sarāsar fā'ida) hai.

Yih Madanī sūrah hai. Is ke beshtar maḍāmīn Rasūl-e-Karīm (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī maḥbūbiyyat aur khuṣūsiyyat 'inda'llāh par mushtamil hain — jis mein āp kī ta'zīm kā wājib honā aur āp kī īdhā-rasānī (takleef pahunchāne) kā ḥarām honā mukhtalif 'unwānāt se bayān huā hai. Aur bāqī maḍāmīn bhī isī kī takmīl o itmām se munāsabat rakhte hain.

Is sūrah ke sabab-e-nuzūl mein chand riwāyāt manqūl hain:

(1) Ek yih ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) jab hijrat kar ke Madīna Ṭayyiba tashrīf-farmā hu'e, to Madīna ke ās-pās Yahūd ke qabā'il — Banū Quraiṣa, Banū Naḍīr, Banū Qaynuqā' waghaira — ābād the. Raḥmatu-lī'l-'ālamīn (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī khwāhish aur koshish yihī thī ki kisī ṭarah yih log musalmān ho jāyein. Ittifāqan in Yahūd mein se chand ādmī āp kī khidmat mein āne lage; aur

munāfiqīn (jo ba-zāhir Islām kā iqrār kar ke) āp se "musalmān" kahlāte the, magar dilon mein īmān nahīn thā. Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne un ko narmī se samjhāyā — (is ḥikmat se ki) kuchh log musalmān ho jāyēin to dūsron ko da‘wat-e-dīn āsān ho jātī hai. Is liye āp un logon ke sāth khāṣ mudārāt (khātir-dārī) kā ihtimām farmāte, aur un ke chhoṭe-baṛe āne wālon kā ikrām karte the; aur agar koī burī bāt un se ṣādir hotī to dīnī maṣlahat samajh kar us se chashm-poshī (darguzar) farmāte the. Is wāqī‘e par Sūrah-e-Aḥzāb kī ibtidā‘ī āyāt nāzil hu‘īn. (Qurṭubī.)

(2) Ek dūsri riwāyat Ibn Jarīr (rah.) ne Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (rah.) se naql kī hai ki hijrat ke ba‘d, kuffār-e-Makka mein se Walīd ibn al-Mughīra aur Shayba ibn Rabī‘a Madīna Ṭayyiba āye, aur Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke sāmne yih peshkash kī ki "ham — sab Quraysh tak — āp ko (māl waghaira dene par āmāda hain) agar āp apne da‘we (nubuwwat) ko chhoṛ dein." Aur Madīna Ṭayyiba ke munāfiqīn aur Yahūd ne (bhī) āp ko yih ...

... (Madīna ke munāfiqīn aur Yahūd ne yih) dhamkī dī ki "agar āp ne apnā da‘wā aur da‘wat se rujū‘ (wāpsī) na kī to ham āp ko qatl kar denge." Is par yih āyatein nāzil hu‘īn. (Rūḥ.)

(3) Tīsrā ek wāqī‘a Qurṭubī aur Wāḥidī (rah.) ne baghair sanad naql kiya hai ki Abū Sufyān, ‘Ikrima ibn Abī Jahl, aur Abu'l-A‘war al-Sulamī us zamāne mein — jab wāqī‘a-e-Ḥudaybiya mein kuffār aur Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke mā-bain tark-e-jang (ceasefire) kā mu‘āhada ho gayā thā — Madīna Ṭayyiba āye, aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se ‘arḍ kiya ki "āp hamāre ma‘būd dewtāon kī burā‘ī kā dhikr karnā chhoṛ dein; ṣirf itnā kah dein ki yih bhī shafā‘at karenge aur naf‘a pahunchāyenge; (agar) āp inkār karein to ham āp ko aur āp ke Rab ko chhoṛ dein, jhagrā khatm ho jāyega." Un kī (yih) bāt Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) aur musalmānon ko sakht nā-gawār hu‘ī; musalmānon ne un ke qatl kā irāda kiya. Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne (farmāyā ki main) un se mu‘āhada-e-ṣulḥ kar chukā hūn, is liye aisā nahīn ho saktā. Is par yih āyatein nāzil hu‘īn. (Rūḥ.) — Yih riwāyāt agarche mukhtalif hain, magar dar-ḥaqīqat in mein koī taḍād nahīn; yih (sab) wāqī‘āt āyāt-e-madhkūra ke nuzūl kā sabab ho sakte hain.

In āyaton mein Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko do ḥukm diye gaye: pahlā "itta‘illāh" (Allāh se ḍaro); dūsra "lā tuṭī ‘il-kāfirīn" (kāfiron kā kahnā na māno). Is kā maṭlab yih hai ki in tamām wāqī‘āt mein kuffār kī jo farmā‘ishein (mutālbe) hain, woh mānne ke qābil nahīn; is kī tafṣīl āge ātī hai.

"Yā ayyuha'n-nabiyyu'ttaqī'llāh" — yih Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kā khāṣ i‘zāz o ikrām hai ki pūre Qur‘ān mein āp ko nām se khiṭāb nahīn kiya gayā — jaisā ki dūsre anbiyā ke khiṭābāt mein "yā Ādam, yā Nūḥ, yā Ibrāhīm, yā Mūsā" waghaira bār-bār āyā hai — balki hamesha, pūre Qur‘ān mein jahān āp ko khiṭāb kiya gayā, "an-Nabī" / "yā Nabī" / "Rasūlullāh" waghaira se khiṭāb kiya gayā. Sirf chār mawāqī‘ — jin mein yihī batlānā manzūr thā ki āp Allāh ke Rasūl hain — un mein āp kā nām dhikr kiya gayā, jo ḍarūrī thā.

Is khiṭāb mein Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko do ḥukm diye gaye: ek Khudā ta‘ālā se ḍarne kā — ki mushrikīn-e-Makka se mu‘āhada ho chukā hai, us kī khilāf-warzī na honī chāhiye; dūsre mushrikīn-e-Makka, yā munāfiqīn o Yahūd kī bāt na mānne kā. Yahān jo su‘āl paidā hotā hai ...

"lā tuṭī 'i'l-kāfirīn" = forbidding even the causes of obedience; the munāfiqīn

Aur ba‘z mufasssīrīn ne farmāyā ki is āyat mein agarche khiṭāb Nabī-e-Karīm (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko hai, magar murād ummat hai — kyūnki āp to ma‘šūm the, aḥkāṃ-e-Ilāhiyya kī khilāf-warzī kā āp se kisī ko iḥtimāl na thā. Magar qānūn pūrī ummat ke liye hai; un ko sunāne ke liye yih ‘unwān ikhtiyār kiyā gayā ki khiṭāb Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko farmāyā — jis se is ḥukm kī ahmiyyat bahut barḥ gāī: ki jab Allāh ke Rasūl bhī is ke mukhāṭab hain, to ummat kā koī fard is se kaise mustasnā ho saktā hai?

Aur Ibn Kathīr (rah.) ne farmāyā ki is āyat mein kuffār o mushrikīn kī itā‘at se man‘ karne kā aṣl maqṣad yih hai ki āp un se mashware na karein, aur un ke sāth ziyāda majālasat (uṭhnā-baiṭhnā) na rakhein — kyūnki aise mashware aur bāhamī rawābiṭ (ta‘alluqāt) (un kī bāt mānne kā) sabab ban jāyā karte hain. Agarche un kī bāt mān lene kā Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se koī iḥtimāl na thā, magar aise rawābiṭ rakhne aur un ko apne mashwaron mein sharīk karne se (bhī) āp ko rok diyā gayā — aur is ko "itā‘at" ke lafz se is liye ta‘bīr kar diyā ki aise mashware aur bāhamī rawābiṭ itā‘at (mānne) kā sabab ban jāyā karte hain. To yahān dar-ḥaqīqat āp ko asbāb-e-itā‘at se man‘ kiyā gayā hai; nafs-e-itā‘at kā to āp se iḥtimāl hī na thā.

Rahā yih su‘āl ki kāfiron kī taraf se khilāf-e-shar‘ aur khilāf-e-ḥaq bāton kā inkār to koī ba‘īd nahīn, un kī itā‘at se man‘ karnā bhī zāhir hai; magar munāfiqīn — jo agar Islām ke khilāf koī bāt āp se kabhī kahte to phir woh munāfiq na rahte (khulā kāfir ho jāte) — un kā alag dhikr karne kī kyā ḍarūrat thī? Jawāb yih hai ki ho saktā hai ki munāfiqīn ne kabhī bilkul khul kar to koī bāt khilāf-e-Islām na kahī ho, magar dūsre kuffār kī tā‘īd o ḥimāyat mein koī na koī kalima kahā ho. ...

... (woh ḥukm) jo Allāh kī taraf se āp ko ba-dharī'a-e-waḥy batlāyā jāta hai — bas āp aur ṣaḥāba usī kā ittibā' karein. Chūnki is khiṭāb mein ṣaḥāba-e-kirām aur 'ām musalmān bhī shāmil hain, is liye ākhir mein ba-ṣiḥa-e-jam' "bimā ta'malūn" (jo tum sab karte ho) farmā kar tambīh kar dī gāi.

"Wa tawakkal 'ala'llāh, wa kafā bi'llāhi wakīlā" — yih usī ḥukm kī takmīl hai. Is mein irshād hai ki āp in logon kī bāton par kān na dharein, aur apne maqṣad kī kāmyābī mein ṣirf Allāh par bharosa karein — ki wahī kāfī kār-sāz hai. Us ke hote hu'e āp ko kisī kī rawādārī (accommodation) kī ḍarūrat nahīn.

Mas'ala: Āyāt-e-madhkūra se thābit huā ki umūr-e-dīn (religious matters) mein kuffār se mashwara lenā bhī jā'iz nahīn. Albatta dūsre umūr-e-dunyā — jo tajruba waghaira se ta'alluq rakhte hon — un mein (kuffār se) mashwara lene mein muḍā'iqā nahīn. Wa'llāhu a'lam.

Qur'an 33:4 — Mā ja'ala'llāhu li-rajulin min qalbayni fī jawfih; wa mā ja'ala azwājakumu'llā' tuṣāhirūna minhunna ummahātikum; wa mā ja'ala ad'iyā'ukum abnā'ukum; dhālikum qawlukum bi-afwāhikum... Allāh ne kisī mard ke andar do dil nahīn rakhe; aur na tumhārī un bīwiyon ko — jin se tum ṣiḥār karte ho (jin ko "mān kī ṭarah" kah baiṭhte ho) — (ḥaqīqī) māyein banāyā; aur na tumhāre le-pālāk (munh-bole beṭon, adopted sons) ko (ḥaqīqī) beṭe banāyā. Yih (sab) tumhāre munh kī (kahī) bātein hain ... (āge)

Qur'an 33:4 — ... abnā'ukum; dhālikum qawlukum bi-afwāhikum; wa'llāhu yaqūlu'l-ḥaqqā wa huwa yahdī's-sabīl. ... (le-pālakon ko) beṭe (nahīn banāyā). Yih tumhāre munh kī (kahī) bāt hai; aur Allāh ṭhīk (ḥaq) bāt kahtā hai, aur wahī (sīdhī) rāh batātā hai.

Qur'an 33:5 — Ud'ūhum li-ābā'ihim huwa aqṣaṭu 'inda'llāh; fa-in lam ta'lamū ābā'ahum fa-ikhwānukum fi'd-dīni wa mawālīkum; wa laysa 'alaykum junāḥun fīmā akḥṭa'tum bihī wa lākin mā ta'ammadat qulūbukum; wa kāna'llāhu ghafūran raḥīmā.

Allāh ta'ālā ne kisī shakhṣ ke sīne mein do dil nahīn banāye; aur isī ṭarah tumhārī un bīwiyon ko — jin se tum ṣiḥār karte ho — tumhārī (ḥaqīqī) māyein nahīn banāyā; aur isī ṭarah tumhāre munh-bole beṭon ko tumhārā sach-much kā beṭā (bhī) nahīn banāyā. Yih širf munh se kahne kī bāt hai (jo ghalaṭ hai, wāqī‘ ke muṭābiq nahīn); aur Allāh ta‘ālā ḥaq bāt farmātā hai, aur wahī sīdhī rāh batātā hai.

So jab munh-bole beṭe (ḥaqīqatan beṭe) nahīn hain, to tum un ko (un ke) le-pālak banāne wālon kā beṭā mat kaho, balki un ke ḥaqīqī bāpon kī taraf mansūb kiyā karo — yih Allāh ke nazdīk ziyāda rāstī (justice) kī bāt hai. Aur agar tum un ke bāpon ko na jānte ho, to un ko apnā bhāī yā dost kah kar pukārā karo — ki ākhīr yih tumhāre dīn ke bhāī hain aur tumhāre dost hain. Aur tum par is mein jo bhūl-chūk ho jāye us par koī gunāh nahīn; lekin hān, jo dil se irāda kar ke kaho us kā (gunāh) tum par hoga — aur us se bhī (agar) mu‘āfi māngo to mu‘āf ho jāyega, kyūnki Allāh ta‘ālā bakhshne wālā, mehrbān hai.

PDF PAGE 84 · Ma‘ārif (v.4) — the three Jāhili beliefs: "two hearts," ṣihār, and adoption (mutabannā); the two-hearts point as a preamble (tamhīd)

Sābiqa āyāt mein Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko kuffār o munāfiqīn ke mashware par ‘amal na karne aur un kī bāt na mānne kī hidāyat hai. Āyāt-e-madhkūra mein kuffār ke kuchh bāṭil khayālāt kī tardīd (radd) hai:

(1) Yih ki zamāna-e-jāhiliyyat mein ‘Arab log aise shakhṣ ko — jo bahut dhahīn (intelligent) hotā — yih kahte the ki "us ke sīne mein do dil hain."

(2) Dūsre, un mein apnī azwāj (bīwiyon) ke muta‘alliq "ṣihār" kī rasm thī: jab koī shakhṣ apnī bīwī ko apnī mām kī pīṭh yā kisī ‘uzw se tashbīh detā aur kah detā "tū mere liye aisī hai jaise merī mām kī pīṭh," to un ke muḥāwre mein ise "ṣihār" kahā jātā thā (jo "ṣahr" se mushtaq hai — "ṣahr" ke ma‘nī "pīṭh"). Aur un kā khayāl yih thā ki jis shakhṣ ne apnī bīwī se ṣihār kar liyā, woh hamesha ke liye us par ḥarām ho gā.

Yih zamāna-e-jāhiliyyat ke tīn bāṭil khayālāt o rasmein thīn. In mein se (pahlī — do dil wālī — bāt), agarche koī madhhabī ‘aqīda yā ‘amal se muta‘alliq nahīn thī — is liye sharī‘at-e-Islām ko us kī tardīd kī (sakht) ḍarūrat nahīn thī — magar yih fann-e-tashrīḥ (anatomy) kā mu‘āmala thā ki insān ke sīne mein ek hī dil hotā hai yā do bhī; us kā ṣāhir buṭlān (falsity) sabhī ko ma‘lūm thā. Is liye shāyad us ke buṭlān ke dhikr ko bhī bāqī do madlūlon (ṣihār o mutabannā) kī tā‘īd o tamhīd (preamble) ke ṭaur par bayān kar diyā gayā — ki jis ṭarah ahl-e-jāhiliyyat kā yih kahnā bāṭil hai ki kisī ek insān ke sīne mein do dil hote hain (aur is ke butlān ko ‘ām o khāṣ sabhī jānte hain), usī ṭarah ṣihār aur mutabannā ke masā'il mein bhī un ke khayālāt bāṭil hain.

Bāqī do dalīlein — ek ṣihār aur dūsre mutabannā (munh-bole beṭe) ke aḥkām — yih mu‘āsharatī (social) aur ...

PDF PAGE 85 · Ma‘ārif (v.4–5) — ṣihār does not cause permanent prohibition; the adopted son (da‘iyy) is not a real son; attribute him to his true father

... (yih ṣihār o mutabannā ke) masā'il hain jin kī Islām mein khāṣ ahmiyyat hai — yahān tak ki in kī juz'iiyyāt aur tafṣīlāt bhī Ḥaqq ta‘ālā ne Qur‘ān mein khud hī bayān farmā'ī hain; (dūsre mu‘āmalāt kī ṭarah) ṣirf uṣūl bayān kar ke tafṣīl Paighambar (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke ḥawāle nahīn farmā'ī. In donon mas'alon mein ahl-e-jāhiliyyat ne apnī (khwāhish kī) binā par ḥalāl o ḥarām aur jā'iz o nā-jā'iz ke khud-sākhṭa (self-made) qawānīn banā rakhe the; dīn-e-ḥaq ne farḍ ṭahrāyā ki woh in bāṭil rusūm o khayālāt ko bāṭil kar ke ḥaq bāt wāḍiḥ kare.

Is liye farmāyā: "Wa mā ja‘ala azwājakumu'llā'ī tuṣāhirūna minhunna ummahātikum" — ya‘nī tumhārā yih khayāl ghalaṭ hai ki agar (tum ne) bīwī ko mān ke barābar (mān kī pīṭh jaisā) kah diyā to woh ḥaqīqī mān kī ṭarah hamesha ke liye us par ḥarām ho gaī. Tumhāre kahne se bīwī ḥaqīqatan mān nahīn ban jāṭī; tumhārī mān to wahī hain jin se tum paidā hu'e ho. So is āyat ne ahl-e-jāhiliyyat ke is khayāl ko bāṭil kar diyā ki ṣihār karne se ḥurmat-e-mu'abbada (permanent prohibition) ho jāṭī hai. Āge yih bāt — ki aisā kahne par koī shar‘ī natīja (consequence) hotā hai yā nahīn? — is kā ḥukm mustaqillan Sūrah-e-Mujādala mein batlāyā gayā: ki aisā kahnā gunāh hai, us se parhez wājib hai; aur aisā kahne wālā agar kaffāra-e-ṣihār adā kare to bīwī us ke liye ḥalāl ho jāṭī hai. (Kaffāra-e-ṣihār kī tafṣīl Sūrah-e-Mujādala mein āyegī.)

Dūsra mas'ala mutabannā (munh-bole beṭe) kā thā. Us ke muta‘alliq farmāyā: "Wa mā ja‘ala ad‘iyā'akum abnā'akum." "Ad‘iyā'" — "da‘iyy" kī jam‘ hai; "da‘iyy" woh laṭkā hai jise munh-bolā beṭā kahā jāṭā hai. Maṭlab yih hai ki jis ṭarah ek insān ke sīne mein do dil nahīn hote, aur jis ṭarah bīwī ko mān ke mithl kahne se bīwī mān nahīn ban jāṭī, usī ṭarah munh-bolā beṭā tumhārā (ḥaqīqī) beṭā nahīn ban jāṭā — ya‘nī na woh dūsre (ḥaqīqī) beṭon ke sāth mīrāth mein sharīk hoga, aur na ḥurmat-e-nikāḥ ke masā'il us par ‘ā'id honge. Is liye (ḥaqīqī) beṭe kī muṭallaqa (divorced) bīwī to (bāp par) hamesha ke liye ḥarām hai, magar mutabannā (munh-bole beṭe) kī bīwī (us ke liye) ḥarām nahīn (jab da‘iyy use ṭalāq de de).

Aur chūnki is ākhirī mas'ale kā athar bahut se mu‘āmalāt par paṭṭā hai, is liye yih ḥukm nāfidh kar diyā gayā: ki munh-bole beṭe ko jab pukāro yā us kā dhikr karo, to us ke aṣlī (ḥaqīqī) bāp kī taraf mansūb kar ke dhikr karo; jis ne us ko (apnā) beṭā banāyā hai us kā beṭā kah kar khiṭāb na karo — kyūnki is se bahut se mu‘āmalāt mein ishtibāh (confusion) o iltibās paidā ho jāne kā khaṭra hai.

Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī o Muslim waghaira mein Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Umar (raḍ.) kī ḥadīth hai ki is āyat ke nāzil hone se pahle ham Zayd ibn Ḥāritha (raḍ.) ko "Zayd ibn Muḥammad" (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kahā karte the. (Kadhā fī Ibn Kathīr.)

... (Ibn 'Umar:) "... Zayd ko mutabannā banāyā thā; is āyat ke nuzūl ke ba'd ham ne yih 'ādat chhoṛ dī."

Mas'ala: Is se ma'lūm huā ki jo log dūson ke bachchon ko pālṭe hain aur "beṭā" kah kar pukārte hain — jab ki yih maḥaḍ shafqat (affection) ke darje se ho, mutabannā (legal adoption) qarār dene ke darje se na ho — to (yih) jā'iz hai; agarche behtar yih hai ki yih (bhī) na karein, kyūnki šūratān mumāna'at mein dākhil hai. (Kadhā fi'r-Rūḥ 'an aḍ-Ḍaḥḥāk, 'ala'l-Bayḍāwī.)

Aur yih wahī mu'āmala hai jis ne Quraysh-e-'Arab ko ek bare gunāh-e-'aẓīma kā murtakib banā diyā: ki woh Rasūl-e-Karīm (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) par (tuhmat) lagāne lage ki āp ne apne beṭe kī muṭallaqa bīwī se nikāḥ kar liyā — ḥālānki woh (Zayd) āp ke (ḥaqīqī) beṭe na the, balki mutabannā the; jis kā dhikr isī sūrah mein āge āne wālā hai (ya'nī wāqī'a-e-Zayd o Zaynab).

Qur'an 33:6 — An-nabiyyu awlā bi'l-mu'minīna min anfusiḥim wa azwājuhū ummahātuhum; wa ulu'l-arḥāmi ba'ḍuhum awlā bi-ba'ḍin fī kitābi'llāhi min al-mu'minīna wa'l-muhājirīna illā an ta'ālū ilā awliyā'ikum ma'rūfā; kāna dhālika fī'l-kitābi maṣṭūrā.

Nabī mu'minon ke (sāth) un kī apnī jān se (bhī) ziyāda lagāv (ḥaq) rakhte hain, aur āp kī bīwiyān un (mu'minon) kī māyein hain. Aur qarābat wāle (khūnī rishtedār) Allāh ke ḥukm (kī kitāb) mein ek dūse se ziyāda lagāv (qarīb) rakhte hain, ('ām) mu'minīn aur muhājirīn se; magar yih ki tum apne rafīqon (doston/ḥulafā') ke sāth koī iḥsān (ma'rūf) karnā chāho (to woh jā'iz hai). Yih (sab) Kitāb mein likhā huā hai.

Nabī (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) mu'minīn ke sāth khud mu'minīn ke nafs (jān o dhāt) se bhī ziyāda ta'alluq rakhte hain. (Kyūnki) insān kā apnā nafs to kabhī us ko naf'a pahunchātā hai aur kabhī nuqṣān: agar nafs achche kāmon kī taraf chalātā hai to naf'a hai, aur agar bure kāmon kī taraf chalne lage to khud apnā nafs apne liye muṣibat ban jātā hai. Bar-khilāf Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke, ki āp kī ta'līm naf'a hī naf'a aur khair hī khair hai. Aur apnā nafs agar chāhe to bad-khwāhī (apnā burā) bhī kartā hai ...

... (apnā nafs agar bure kāmon kī taraf chalā jāye, to) us kā naf'a Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke naf'a ke barābar bhī nahīn ho saktā — kyūnki apne nafs mein to khair o sharr (maṣlaḥat o maḍarrat) donon kā ikhtilāṭ (mixing) ho saktā hai, aur us ko maṣāliḥ o maḍārr kā pūrā 'ilm bhī nahīn;

bar-khilāf Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke, ki āp kī ta‘līmāt mein kisī (ghalaṭī ke) ikhtilāf kā khaṭra nahīn. Aur jab naf‘a-rasānī mein Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) hamārī jān aur hamāre nafs se bhī ziyāda hain, to un kā ḥaq ham par hamārī jān se bhī ziyāda hai — aur woh ḥaq yihī hai ki āp ke har ḥukm mein iṭā‘at karein, aur āp kī ta‘zīm o takrīm tamām makhlūqāt se ziyāda karein.

Aur "āp kī bīwiyān un mu‘minīn kī māyein hain" — is taqrīr se ma‘lūm huā ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) mu‘minīn ke (ḥaqq mein) rūḥānī bāp hain, jo un kī apnī dhāt se ziyāda un par shafīq o mehrbān hain; isī munāsabat se āp kī azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ummat kī māyein ho gaīn — ya‘nī ta‘zīm o takrīm mein un kā ḥaq māon kī ṭarah hai.

Is āyat ne azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ko ṣarāḥatan ummat kī māyein, aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko ishāratan ummat kā rūḥānī bāp qarār diyā. To is se (bhī) ek aisā hī ishtibāh (confusion) ho saktā thā jaisā mutabannā ko us ke ḥaqīqī bāp kī taraf mansūb karne mein thā — (ya‘nī yih khaṭra ki) ummat ke musalmān āpas mein (apne ko) ḥaqīqī bhāī-bahn samjhne lagein, jis se un kā āpas mein nikāḥ ḥarām ho jāye, aur mīrāth mein bhī (yih iltibās ho ki) ek musalmān dūsre kā wāris ban jāye.

Is (iltibās) ko dūr karne ke liye farmāyā: "Wa ulu'l-arḥāmi ba‘ḍuhum awlā bi-ba‘ḍin fī kitābi'llāh" — ya‘nī rishtedār (khūnī qarābat wāle) Kitāb-Allāh ke ḥukm-e-shar‘ī mein ek dūsre se mīrāth mein ziyāda ta‘alluq rakhte hain, ba-nisbat dūsre mu‘minīn o muḥājirīn ke. Magar agar tum apne in doston (dūsre mu‘minīn) ke sāth luṭf o muruwwat kā kuchh sulūk karnā chāho to woh jā‘iz hai. Yih bāt bhī (Lawḥ-e-) Maḥfūz mein likhī jā chukī hai. — (Ibtidā-e-hijrat mein, imānī ukhuwwat kī binā par, muḥājirīn ko Anṣār kī mīrāth kā ḥaq-dār banā diyā gayā thā; magar bil-ākhir taqṣīm-e-mīrāth qarābat-dārī aur raḥm hī kī binā par rah gaī.)

Jaisā ki pahle bayān ho chukā hai, Sūrah-e-Aḥzāb mein beshtar maḍāmīn Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī ta‘zīm aur āp kī īdhā-rasānī (takleef pahunchāne) ke ḥarām hone se muta‘alliq hain. Sūrah ke shurū‘ mein, mushrikīn o munāfiqīn kī āp ko īdhā-rasānī ke dhikr ke (sāth), Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko hidāyat dī gaī ...

(Recap:) Sūrah ke shurū‘ se yahān tak īdhā-e-Rasūl (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se muta‘alliq maḍmūn thā. Jāhiliyyat kī tīn rusūm kā ibtāl (nullification) kiyā gayā, jin mein ākhirī rasm (mutabannā) kā ta‘alluq Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī īdhā se thā — kyūnki (āge) jab āp ne Zayd kī muṭallaqa bīwī se nikāḥ kiyā, to kuffār ne jāhilī rasm-e-mutabannā kī binā par āp par (tuhmat) lagāī ki āp ne "apne beṭe" kī muṭallaqa bīwī se nikāḥ kar liyā. Is āyat-e-madhkūra mein āp kī ta‘zīm aur (āp kī) iṭā‘at kā tamām makhlūq se ziyāda honā bayān kiyā gayā hai.

gayā, woh Ibn ‘Aṭīyya waghaira kā qaul hai, jise Qurṭubī aur (dūsre) mufasssīrīn ne ikhtiyār kiyā hai. Us kā ḥāṣil yih hai ki āp kā ḥaq musalmān ke liye apne mān-bāp aur khud apne nafs se bhī ziyāda wājibu't-ta‘mīl (more binding) hai. Jis tarah mān-bāp ke kisī (aise) ḥukm ke khilāf (jo Nabī ke ḥukm ke khilāf ho) un kī bāt mānnā jā‘iz nahīn, isī tarah khud apne nafs kī tamām khwāhishāt par bhī Nabī (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke ḥukm kī ta‘mīl muqaddam (preferred) hai.

"Mā min mu'minin illā wa anā awla'n-nāsi bihī fi'd-dunyā wa'l-ākhirah; iqra'ū in shi'tum: 'an-nabiyyu awlā bi'l-mu'minīna min anfusihim'."

ya ‘nī koī bhī mu'min aisā nahīn jis ke liye main dunyā o ākhirat mein sāre insānon se ziyāda awlā aur aqrab (closer) na hūn; agar tumhārā dil chāhe to is kī taṣdīq ke liye Qur‘ān kī yih āyat parḥ lo: "an-nabiyyu awlā bi'l-mu'minīna min anfusihim."

Us kā ḥāṣil yih hai ki main har mu'min musalmān par sārī dunyā se ziyāda shafīq o mehrbān hūn. Aur yih zāhir hai ki is kā lāzimī athar yih honā chāhiye ki har mu'min ko Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se muḥabbat sab se ziyāda ho — jaisā ki ḥadīth mein yihī irshād hai:

"Lā yu'minu aḥadukum ḥattā akūna aḥabba ilayhi min wālidihī wa waladihī wa'n-nāsi ajma‘īn."

ya ‘nī tum mein se koī us waqt tak (kāmil) mu'min nahīn ho saktā jab tak us ke dil mein merī muḥabbat (us ke) bāp, beṭe aur sab insānon se ziyāda na ho jāye. (Rawāhu'l-Bukhārī wa Muslim; Maḥzarī.)

... (mān aur aulād ke dūsre aḥkāṁ —) nikāḥ aur raḥm (kinship) ke darje kā bāham parda na honā, aur mīrāth mein ḥissa-dār honā — yih ḥukm is (mān hone) se muta‘alliq nahīn, jaisā ki āyat ke ākhir mein is ko khol diyā gayā hai. Aur azwāj-e-muṭahharāt se kisī (ummatī) kā nikāḥ ḥarām honā ek mustaqil āyat mein ‘alāḥida qarār diyā gayā hai; (yih) is liye nahīn ki ḥurmat-e-nikāḥ "mān hone" ke darje mein ho.

Mas'ala: Āyat-e-madhkūra se thābit huā ki azwāj-e-muṭahharāt mein se kisī kī shān mein koī adnā be-adbī (disrespect) bhī ḥarām hai — is liye (bhī) ki woh ummat kī māyein hain, aur is liye (bhī) ki un kī īdhā (takleef) Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī īdhā hai, jo har mu'min par ḥarām hai.

"Wa ulu'l-arḥāmi ba‘ḍuhum awlā bi-ba‘ḍ" — "ulu'l-arḥām" ke lafzī ma‘nī sab rishtedāron aur qarābat-dāron ko shāmil hain — khwāh woh log hon jin ko fuqahā "‘aṣabāt" (agnates) ke nām se ta‘bīr karte hain, yā woh jin ko khāṣ iṣṭilāḥ ke i‘tibār se "‘aṣabāt" ke muqābil "dhawu'l-arḥām" kahte hain. Qur‘ān-e-Karīm mein yih fīqhī iṣṭilāḥ (jo ba‘z ne ikhtiyār kī hai) murād nahīn.

Maṭlab yih hai ki Rasūl (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) aur un kī azwāj kā ta‘alluq mu‘minīn-e-ummat se — agarche is darje kā hai ki mān-bāp se bhī muqaddam hai — magar mīrāth ke aḥkām mein us kā koī dakhil nahīn; balki mīrāth nasabī aur qarābatī rishte kī binā par dī jāyegī.

Aur "mina'l-mu‘minīn" ke ba‘d "wa'l-muhājirīn" kā dhikr un ke ikhtiṣāṣ o imtiyāz (distinction) ko batlāne ke liye hai.

Aur ba‘z ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā ki yahān "mu‘minīn" se murād Anṣār, aur "muhājirīn" se murād Quraysh (ke muhājirīn) hain. Is ṣūrat mein yih āyat "tawāruth bi'l-hijrah" (hijrat kī binā par wirāsat) kī nāsikh (abrogator) hogī — kyūnki ibtidā-e-hijrat mein Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne muhājirīn o Anṣār ke darmiyān mu‘ākhāt (brotherhood) karā kar un ke bāham mīrāth jāri hone kā bhī ḥukm diyā thā; is āyat ne "tawāruth bi'l-hijrah" ko (bhī) mansūkh kar diyā. Aur woh waqt qābil-e-dhikr hai jab ki ham ne tamām paighambaron se un kā iqrār (‘ahd) liyā ki woh aḥkām-e-Ilāhiyya kā ittibā‘ karein — jin mein khalq-Allāh ko tablīgh o da‘wat, aur bāham ta‘āwun o tanāṣur (mutual support) bhī dākhil hai. Aur in paighambaron mein se āp (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se bhī iqrār liyā, aur Nūḥ, Ibrāhīm, Mūsā aur ‘Īsā ibn Maryam (‘alaihimu's-salām) se bhī. ... aur yih mīthāq-e-anbiyā azal mein usī waqt liyā gayā jab ki 'ām makhlūq se "alastu bi-rabbikum" kā 'ahd liyā gayā thā. (Rūḥ, Maẓharī.)

Āyat-e-madḥkūra mein jo anbiyā ('alaihimu's-salām) se 'ahd o iqrār lene kā dhikr hai, woh us "iqrār-e-'ām" ke 'alāwa hai jo sārī makhlūq se liyā gayā. Jaisā ki Mishkāt mein, ba-riwāyat-e-Imām Aḥmad, marfū'an āyā hai (... "akhadhtu mīthāqa'n-nabiyyīn ..." Arabic reading uncertain). Yih 'ahd anbiyā ('alaihimu's-salām) se nubuwwat o risālat ke farā'īd adā karne, aur bāham ek dūsre kī tā'īd o madad karne kā 'ahd thā — jaisā ki Ibn Jarīr, Ibn Abī Ḥātim waḡhaira ne Ḥaḍrat Qatāda se riwāyat kiyā hai. Aur ek riwāyat mein hai ki 'ahd-e-anbiyā mein yih bhī shāmil thā ki woh sab (Muḥammad ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī nubuwwat kā) i'lān karenge — (ya'nī) ki Muḥammad Muṣṭafā (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) Allāh ke Rasūl aur Khātamu'n-Nabiyyīn hain, āp ke ba'd koī nabī nahīn hoga — is kā 'ahd liyā gayā thā. (Rūḥ.)

Dūsra mīthāq ("Nūḥ" waḡhaira) — anbiyā ('alaihimu's-salām) kā 'ām dhikr karne ke ba'd, un mein se pānch anbiyā kā khuṣūṣī dhikr un ke khāṣ imtiyāz o sharaf (ya'nī ulu'l-'azm hone) kī binā par kiyā gayā. Aur in (pānchon) ke dhikr mein Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke dhikr ko awwal aur sab se muqaddam kiyā gayā — agarche āp kī bi'that sab ke ba'd hai. Is kī wajah khud ḥadīth mein bhī bayān farmā'tī: Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne farmāyā:

ya'nī main takhlīq (creation) ke dhikr mein sāre insānon se pahlā hūn, aur ba'th o bi'that (sending) mein sab se ākhir. (Rawāhu Ibn Sa'd wa Abū Nu'aym fi'l-Ḥilya 'an Qatāda mursalan, waṭ-Ṭabarānī fi'l-Kabīr 'an Ibn 'Abbās.)

Ai īmān wālo! Allāh kā (woh) iḥsān apne ūpar yād karo, jab tum par (kāfiron kī) faujein āīn, to ham ne un par ek āndhī (hawā) bhejī, aur (aisī) faujein (farishte) jin ko tum ne nahīn dekhā; aur Allāh, jo tum karte ho, dekhtā hai.

Aur un mein se ek giroh Nabī se ijāzat māngne lagā, kahte the "hamāre ghar be-ḥifāẓat (khule) hain" — ḥālānki woh be-ḥifāẓat na the; (asl mein) woh to bas bhāg jānā chāhte the.

Qur'an 33:14 — Wa law dukhilat 'alayhim min aqṭārihā thumma su'ilu'l-fitnata la-ātawhā wa mā talabbathū bihā illā yasīrā.

KHULĀṢA-E-TAFSĪR

Ai īmān wālo! Allāh kā (woh) in‘ām apne ūpar yād karo, jab tum par bahut se lashkar jam‘ ho kar ā'e (ya'nī ‘Uyayna ibn Ḥiṣn kā lashkar, aur Abū Sufyān kā lashkar, aur Yahūd-e-Quraīza); phir ham ne un par ek āndhī (hawā) bhejī jis ne un ko pareshān kar diyā, aur (aisī) faujein (farishte) bhī bhejīn jin ko tum nahīn dekhte the. Pas ittibā‘ o iqtidā kā taqāḍā yih thā ki jān bachā kar na phire. Sūrah Baqarah mein is kā ishāra qarīb-baṣarāḥat maujūd hai: "am ḥasibtum an tadhkulu'l-jannata ..." (āyat) "... wa zulzilū" (2:214) — kyūnki Sūrah Baqarah nuzūl mein (ghazwa-e-)Aḥzāb se, aur Sūrah Aḥzāb se muqaddam (pahle) hai ('ala'l-Itqān). Aur (jo) Allāh o Rasūl ne farmāyā thā, us mein (jo) Aḥzāb se (muta‘alliq) ṣādiq o muṣaddaq (sachchī) peshīn-go‘ī thī — us se in ke īmān aur ṭā‘at mein taraqqī ho ga‘ī. Yih wasf to sab mu'minīn mein mushtarak hai; aur ba‘z auṣāf ba‘z mu'minīn mein khāṣṣ bhī hain, jin kā (āge) dhikr hai.

Qur'an 33:23 — "Rijālun ṣadaqū mā ‘āhadu'llāha ‘alayh" — in mu'minīn mein kuchh log aise (mard) bhī hain jinhon ne, jis bāt kā Allāh se ‘ahd kiyā thā, us mein zarā (kotāhī na kī). In mu‘āhidīn ('ahd-wālon) kā dhikr — bil-muqābil us (ūpar kī) āyat ke jo munāfiqīn ke ḥaqq mein hai ("wa laqad kānū ‘āhadu'llāha ..." 33:15) — (lāyā gayā). Aur in mu‘āhidīn se (murād) Ḥaḍrat Anas ibn an-Naḍr aur un ke rufaḳā hain: yih log ghazwa-e-Badr mein sharīk nahīn ho pā'e the, to in ko afsos huā aur ‘ahd kiyā ki "agar ab ke ko‘ī jihād huā to us mein hamārī jān-toṛ koshish kī jāye gī" — maṭlab yih ki maidān se mūnh na moṛenge: yā māre jāyenge (shahīd honge) yā (fath).

Phir yih mu‘āhidīn do qismon mein ho ga'e: ba‘z to woh hain jo apnī nadhr ('ahd) pūrī kar chuke — ya‘nī woh ‘ahda yā shahādat jo (un kī) mannat-o-nadhr se wājibu'l-īqā‘ thī, use sach kar dikhāyā: shahīd ho ga'e aur ākhiri dam mein (bhī) na muṛe. Chunānche Ḥaḍrat Anas ibn an-Naḍr (Uḥud mein) shahīd ho ga'e, isī tarah Ḥaḍrat Muṣ‘ab (aur ba‘z aur). (Dekho) aise maṣā'ib o ḥawāḍith mein mukhliṣ aur ghayr-mukhliṣ muta‘ayyin ho jātā hai; aur aḥyānan (kabhī) ahl-e-(ummat mein se) ba‘z ghayr-mukhliṣ bhī mutā'aththir ho kar mukhliṣ ho jāte hain. "Inna'llāha kāna ghafūran raḥīmā" — is liye (un kī) tawba kā qubūl ho jānā mustab‘ad nahīn; is mein tawba kī targhīb bhī hai.

Āge munkirīn (mushrikīn) ke ḥāl kā dhikr hai: ki Allāh ta‘ālā ne kāfiron (mushrikīn) ko un ke ghuṣṣe mein bhare hu'e (Madīne se) yūn hatā diyā ki un kī kuchh bhī murād pūrī na hu'ī; aur jang mein Allāh ne musalmānon ko (laṛne kī takleef se) khud kāfī ho kar bachā liyā — (ya‘nī) kuffār ko ko'ī fath na hu'ī, woh nā-murād dafa‘ ho ga'e. Aur Allāh baṛī quwwat wālā, zabardast hai (is liye yih us se ba‘īd nahīn).

Yih to mushrikīn kā ḥāl huā. Aur dūsrā giroh jo (un kī) pusht-panāhī mein thā — woh ahl-e-kitāb (Yahūd-e-Banū Qurayṣa) the. Ab āge un kā dhikr hai: jin ahl-e-kitāb ne is (kāfir fauj) kī madad kī thī, Allāh ta‘ālā ne un ke dilon mein ru‘b (dahshat) dāl diyā, aur un ko un ke qil‘on se utār diyā — (chunānche) ek giroh ko tum qatl karne lage aur ek giroh ko qaid kar liyā; aur (Allāh ne) un kī zamīn, un ke ghar aur un ke māl kā tum ko wāris (mālik) banā diyā, aur (us) zamīn kā bhī jis par tum ne (abhī) qadam (tak) nahīn rakhā — is mein futūḥāt-e-mustaqbila (āyinda fathon) kī bashārat hai (‘umūman, yā fath-e-Khaybar, yā ko'ī aur fath khuṣūṣan). Aur Allāh ta‘ālā har cheez par pūrī qudrat rakhtā hai, is liye yih umūr (us se) ba‘īd nahīn.

Is ghazwa mein kuffār kī mukhtalif jamā‘atein (ḥizb) mil kar musalmānon ko khatm kar dene ke ‘ahd-o-paymān par (Madīne par) chaḥḥ āī thīn — is liye is ghazwa kā nām "Ghazwa-e-Aḥzāb" hu‘ā. Aur chūnki is ghazwa mein dushman ke rāste par Nabī Karīm (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne khandaq (trench) khudwāī thī, is liye ise "Ghazwa-e-Khandaq" bhī kahte hain. Ḥaḳīqat mein Ghazwa-e-Khandaq, Ghazwa-e-Aḥzāb hī kā ek juzv (ḥissa) thā — jaisā ki wāqī‘e kī tafṣīl se ma‘lūm hogā.

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) jis sāl Makka-e-mukarrama se hijrat kar ke Madīna-e-munawwara mein tashrīf-farmā hu‘e, us ke dūsre sāl Badr kā wāqī‘a pesh āyā, tīsre sāl mein Ghazwa-e-Uḥud, aur chauthē sāl mein Ghazwa-e-Aḥzāb wāqī‘ hu‘ā (aur ba‘z riwāyāt mein ise pānchve sāl kā wāqī‘a qarār diyā gayā hai). Bahar-ḥāl, ibtidā-e-hijrat se is waqt tak kuffār ke sāth musalmānon kī laṛā‘iyon kā silsila jāī thā. Ghazwa-e-Aḥzāb kā ḥamla baṛī quwwat ke sāth kiyā gayā, is liye Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) aur ṣaḥāba-e-kirām par yih ghazwa sab se ziyāda shadīd thā — kyūnki is mein ḥamla-āwar Aḥzāb-e-kuffār kī ta‘dād bārah hazār se pandrah hazār tak batlāī gaī, jab ki is ṭaraf se musalmān (sirf) tīn hazār the, be-sar-o-sāmān, aur sakht sardī (ke mausam) mein.

Qur‘ān-e-Karīm ne is wāqī‘e kī shiddat ko baṛī haulnāk ṣūrat mein bayān farmāyā hai: "idh jā‘atukum junūdun ..." ... aur (āge Allāh ne) un ko is qābil (bhī) na chhoṛā ki woh musalmānon par kisī ḥamle kā irāda (tak) kar sakein. Is liḥāẓ se yih ghazwa kufr o islām kā ākhīrī (faiṣla-kun) ma‘raka thā, jo Madīna-e-munawwara kī zamīn par hijrat ke chauthē yā pānchve sāl mein laṛā gayā.

Is wāqī‘e kī ibtidā yahān se huī ki Yahūd ke qabīla Banū Naḍīr aur qabīla Banū Wā‘il ke taqrībān bīs ādmī — jo Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) aur musalmānon se sakht ‘adāwat rakhte the — Makka pahunche, aur Quraysh ke sardāron se mulāqāt kar ke un ko (musalmānon se) jang karne ke liye āmāda kiyā. Quraysh ke sardāron ne (un se) yih pūchhā ki "musalmān hamārī but-parastī ko kufr kahte hain; tum ahl-e-kitāb aur ahl-e-‘ilm ho — pahle yih batlāo ki tumhāre nazdīk hamārā dīn behtar hai yā Muḥammad (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kā dīn?"

Siyāsāt ke taqāḍe mein in Yahūd ne — apne ‘ilm o ḍamīr ke bilkul khilāf — un ko yih jawāb diyā ki "(tumhārā dīn behtar hai); tumhārā dīn Muḥammad (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke dīn se behtar hai" (jhūṭ in ke liye koī naī cheez na thī). Is par yih log kuchh muṭma‘in hu‘e. Phir ma‘āmala yih ṭahrā ki

(woh) bīs Yahūdī ādmī aur Quraysh ke sardār Masjid-e-Ḥarām mein jā kar, Baytullāh kī dīwāron se sīne lagā kar, Allāh ke sāmne yih ‘ahd karte ki "ham mein se jab tak ek ek ādmī (bhī) zinda rahe gā, ham Muḥammad (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke khilāf jang karte rahenge."

Yih Yahūdī, Quraysh-e-Makka ke sāth mu‘āhada karne ke ba‘d, ‘Arab ke ek baṛe aur jangjū qabīla Ghaṭafān ke pās pahunche, aur un ko batlāyā ki "ham aur Quraysh-e-Makka is par muttāfiq ho chuke hain ki is (na'e) dīn-e-islām ke phailāne wālon kā ek martaba sab mil kar istiṣāl (jaṛ se khātma) kar dein — āp bhī is par ham se mu‘āhada karein." Aur un ko rishwat (bhī) pesh kī: jis qadr khajūr ek sāl mein paidā hogī woh (in ko denge) — ba‘z riwāyāt mein us kā niṣf (ādhā) qabīla Ghaṭafān ko diye jāne kā wa‘da kiyā. Aur bahar-hāl qarār pāyā ki: Quraysh kā lashkar chār hazār (4,000) jang-jū'on, tīn sau (300) ghoṛon aur ek hazār (1,000) ūnṭon ke sāmān ke sāth, Abū Sufyān kī qiyādat (command) mein Makka-e-mukarrama se nikla. Rāste mein qabīla Aslam, qabīla Ashja‘, Banū Murra, Banū Fazāra aur (pūrā) Ghaṭafān ke sab qabā'il shāmil ho ga'e — jin kī majmū'ī ta'dād ba‘z riwāyāt mein das hazār (10,000), ba‘z mein bārah hazār (12,000), aur ba‘z mein pandrah hazār (15,000) bayān kī ga'ī hai.

Mashwara mein (chand tajāwīz sāmne ā'in): (1) ... (2) ... (3) ... (yih) bi-qadr-e-wus'at (?) thīn. Is ke ba'd muḥājirīn o anṣār ke ahl-e-ḥall o 'aqd ko jam' kar ke (Āp ne) un se mādī wasā'il par mashwara liyā. Agarche woh ḥaqīqat mein mashwara kī ḍarūrat na thī (kyūnki Āp ko barāh-e-rāst Allāh ta‘ālā kī waḥy o ijāzat se kām karne kā ikhtiyār thā), magar qulūb-e-mu'minīn mein bāham rabt o ittiḥād (paidā karne), aur ek ummat mein is mashwara kī sunnat jāri karne (ke liye Āp ne mashwara liyā).

Is ke ba'd difā' aur jang ke mādī wasā'il par ghaur huā. Majlis-e-mashwara mein Ḥaḍrat Salmān Fārsī (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) bhī shāmil the — jo abhī (qarīb hī mein) ghulāmī se āzād ho kar islāmī khidmāt ke liye tayyār ho rahe the. Unhon ne (Fārs/Persia ke ṭarīqe par) yih mashwara diyā ki dushman ke ḥamle ko rokne ke Ḥaḍrat Salmān (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ke khandaq khudwāne ke wāqī’ e mein āyā hai ki woh har roz das gaz (lambā’ī) aur pānch gaz (gahrā’ī) khodte the — is ḥisāb se khandaq kī gahrā’ī pānch gaz tak ho saktī hai.

ISLĀMĪ LASHKAR KĪ TA’DĀD

BULŪGH KĪ ‘UMR PANDRAH (15) SĀL QARĀR DĪ GA’Ī

Islāmī lashkar mein kuchh nā-bāligh bachche bhī apne josh-e-īmānī se (jang ke liye) nikal khāṛe hu’e the. Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne un (bachchon) ko wāpas kar diyā jo abhī pandrah sāl se kam ‘umr ke the, aur jin kī ‘umr pandrah sāl (ho chukī) thī un ko (lashkar mein) shāmil farmā liyā. In mein Ḥaḍrat ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar, Zayd ibn Thābit, Abū Sa’īd Khudrī aur Barā’ ibn ‘Āzib (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhum) shāmil the — jin ko (umūr-e-jang ke li’) islāmī lashkar ke muqābala mein (shāmil) kiyā gayā. (Yih wāqī’ a fuqahā ke nazḍik is kī dalīl hai ki bulūgh kī ‘umr pandrah sāl hai.)

Phir munāfiqīn (musalmānon mein) ṭahre rahte; kuchh log (chhupke se) bhāḡte, aur kuchh logon ne bhāḡne ke (jhūṭe) i’dhār (bahāne) pesh kar ke Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se wāpasī kī ijāzat lenī chāhī — yih (bhī) apne andar se ek na’ī āfat bhaṛī thī. (Aur jaisā ki) dhikr aur ṣaḥīḥ riwāyat mein hai, isī munāfiqīn ke muta‘alliq chand āyāt nāzil hu’ī hain (33:12–20).

Qabā’il (lashkar) kī is taqṣīm mein Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne muḥājirīn ke intizām-o-imtiyāz (kī qiyādat) Ḥaḍrat Zayd ibn Ḥāritha (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ke supurd farmāyā, aur anṣār (kī qiyādat) Ḥaḍrat Sa’d ibn ‘Ubāda (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ke supurd farmāyā. Is waqt muḥājirīn o anṣār ke darmiyān mu’ākhāt o bhā’ī-chāre ke ta’alluqāt baṛī mazbūṭ o muḥkam buniyādon par qā’im the, aur sab bhā’ī-bhā’ī the; (sirf) intizāmī suhūlat ke liye muhājirīn kī qiyādat alag aur anṣār kī alag kar dī ga'ī thī. Is se ma'lūm huā ki islāmī qaumiyyat aur islāmī waḥdat, intizāmī aur mu'āsharatī taqṣīm ke munāfi nahīn — balki jamā'at par dhimma-dārī kā bojh dāl dene se bāham i'timād aur ta'āwun o tanāṣur (bāham madad) ke jadhbe kī taqwiyyat ho ga'ī thī. Aur is jang ke sabab se pahle kām — ya'nī khandaq khodne — mein is ta'āwun kā is tarah mushāhada huā ki:

KHANDAQ KHUDĀ'Ī KĪ TAQṢĪM

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne pūre lashkar mein muhājirīn o anṣār ko das-das ādmiyon par taqṣīm kar ke, har das ādmiyon ko chālīs (40) gaz khandaq khodne kā dhimma-dār banāyā. Ḥaḍrat Salmān Fārsī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) jo khandaq khodne ke (māhir the) ...

... (Ḥaḍrat Salmān raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) mashwara dene wāle, kām ke wāqif aur maẓbūt ādmī the. Un ke muta'alliq anṣār aur muhājirīn (donon) mein yih (muḥabbat-bharā) jhagrā paidā ho gayā: anṣār kahte the "Salmān hamāre (mein se) hain", aur muhājirīn kahte the "Salmān hamāre (mein se) hain." Yahān tak ki ma'āmala Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) tak ā'ī, to Āp ne faisla farmāyā: "Salmān minnā ahla'l-bayt" — ya'nī "Salmān hamāre ahl-e-bayt mein (se) hain."

Āj to duniyā mein mulkī (local) aur ghayr-mulkī (foreigner), maqāmī aur ghayr-maqāmī kā imtiyāz hai; log ghayr-mulkī ko apne barābar kā darja dene ko pasand nahīn karte. Jab ki (Islām mein) har farīq ahl-e-ṣalāḥiyyat (ṣāhib-e-ahliyyat) ko apne sāth shāmil karne mein fakhr maḥsūs kartā thā.

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne in (Ḥaḍrat Salmān) ko ahl-e-bayt mein shāmil kar ke is qabā'ilī jhagre ko khatm farmā diyā. Aur (jis das ādmiyon kī jamā'at mein woh the,) us mein Ḥaḍrat 'Amr ibn 'Awf aur Ḥaḍrat Ḥudhayfa (raḍiyallāhu 'anhum) waghaira muhājirīn mein se the.

EK 'AẒĪM MU'JIZA

Ittifāq se khandaq kā jo ḥiṣṣa Ḥaḍrat Salmān (waghaira) ke supurd thā, us mein ek sakht aur bahut baṛī patthar kī chaṭān (boulder) nikal ā'ī. Ḥaḍrat 'Amr ibn 'Awf (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) farmāte hain: "is chaṭān ne hamāre kulhāre (aur auzār) toṛ diye, aur ham is ke kāṭhe se 'ājiz ho ga'e hain." Is jagah unhon ne bahut khandaq khodī, magar woh chaṭān na ṭuṭī. Pas Ḥaḍrat Salmān (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī khidmat mein ḥāḍir hote hain aur (yih) wāqī'a 'arḍ karte hain (ki yih chaṭān nahīn ṭuṭī — ham kyā karein?).

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) khud apne ḥiṣṣe kī khandaq mein kām kar rahe the. (Āp khandaq mein tashrīf lā'e ...)

... (Āp us waqt khandaq) kī miṭṭī us jagah se muntaqil karne (uṭhāne) mein maṣrūf the. Ḥaḍrat Barā' ibn 'Āzib (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) farmāte hain: "main ne Āp ko (is ḥāl mein) dekhā ki Āp ke jism-e-mubārak ko ghubār (dust) ne aisā ḡhānp liyā thā ki peṭ aur pīṭh ke bāl (ghubār mein) chhup ga'e the." Āp khud us mauqa' par tashrīf lā'e jahān das (ṣaḥāba) ma'a Ḥaḍrat Salmān ke us ḥiṣṣe ke khodne mein maṣrūf the, aur khandaq ke andar Āp bhī un mein shāmil ho ga'e.

Aur Āp ne gurdāl (kudāl/pickaxe) apne dast-e-mubārak mein le kar us chaṭān par ek ḍarb (strike) lagā'ī, aur yih (āyat) paṛhī: "Tammat kalimatu rabbika ṣidqan wa 'adlā" (6:115). Is ek ḍarb se chaṭān kā ek tihā'ī (½) ḥiṣṣa kaṭ gayā, aur us ke sāth hī ek raushnī (light) us chaṭān se barāmad hu'ī. Is ke ba'd Āp ne dūsri ḍarb lagā'ī aur wuhī āyat paṛhī — "Tammat kalimatu rabbika ṣidqan wa 'adlā" — is dūsri ḍarb se ek tihā'ī chaṭān aur kaṭ ga'ī, aur isī ṭarah patthar se ek (aur) raushnī niklī. Tīsri martaba phir wuhī āyat pūrī paṛh kar tīsri ḍarb lagā'ī, to bāqī chaṭān bhī kaṭ kar khatm ho ga'ī.

Aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) khandaq se bāhar tashrīf lā'e, aur apnī chādar — jo khandaq ke kināre par rakh dī thī — uṭhā kar ek ṭaraf baiṭhe. Us waqt Ḥaḍrat Salmān Fārsī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) ne 'arḍ kiyā: "Yā Rasūlallāh! Āp ne jis martaba ḍarb lagā'ī, har martaba main ne patthar se ek raushnī nikaltī dekhī." Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne Ḥaḍrat Salmān se farmāyā: "kyā wāqī'ī tum ne yih raushnī dekhī?" Unhon ne 'arḍ kiyā: "Yā Rasūlallāh, merī ānkhon ne (khud) is kā mushāhada kiyā hai."

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne farmāyā: "pahlī ḍarb mein jo raushnī niklī, us raushnī mein main ne Kistrā (Fāris ke bādshāh) ke shahron ke maḥallāt (palaces) dekhe, aur Jibrīl-e-Amīn ne mujhe batlāyā ki Āp kī ummat in shahron ko fath kare gī. Dūsri ḍarb mein dūsri raushnī mein mujhe Rūm (Byzantium) ke mulk ke surkh (red) maḥallāt dikhā'e ga'e, aur Jibrīl-e-Amīn ne yih khush-khabarī dī ki Āp kī ummat in shahron ko bhī fath kare gī. (Tīsri mein Yaman/Ṣan'ā ke maḥallāt.)" Yih irshād farmāte hī sab musalmān muṭma'in ho ga'e, aur ā'inda 'aẓīmu'sh-shān futūḥāt par yaqīn ho gayā.

Us waqt jo munāfiqīn khandaq kī khudā'ī mein shāmil the, woh kahne lage: "Muḥammad (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī bāt par ḥairat o ta'ajjub (kī) bāt hai — yih tumhein kaise bāṭil aur (be-buniyād) baṛe-baṛe da'we banāte hain ki Yathrib (Madīna) mein khandaq kī gahrā'ī ke andar inhein Ḥīra aur Madā'in-e-Kistrā ke maḥallāt naẓar ā rahe hain — aur ..."

... "(yih kah kar) tum log kaise fath kar loge? Zarā apne hāl ko to dekho — tumhein apne tan-badan kā hosh nahīn, khāṭī (trench) khodne kī ḍarūrat pūrī karne kī himmat nahīn — aur tum (kahte ho ki) Kisrā o Rūm ke mulk waghaira ko fath kar lenge!" Isī wāqī 'e kī taraf āyāt-e-madhkūra-e-Madanī ishāra hai, bi-qaulihī ta'ālā: "wa idh yaqūlu'l-munāfiqūna wa'lladhīna fī qulūbihim maraḍun mā wa'adana'llāhu wa rasūluhū illā ghurūrā" (33:12). Is āyat mein "alladhīna fī qulūbihim maraḍ" se bhī unhī munāfiqīn kā hāl bayān kiyā gayā hai jin ke dilon mein nifāq kā marḍ chhupā huā thā.

Ghaur kījiye: is qadr (sakht) hālāt mein musalmānon ke īmān aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī khabar par pūre yaqīn kā imtiḥān thā — kuffār ke ru'b o ghalaba kī hālāt mein, jab woh khandaq khodne mein bhare-pūre the, sakht sardī (ke mausam) mein, be-sar-o-sāmān, ḍar o khauf (kī hālāt mein) — magar (phir bhī) un ko 'aẓīm salṭanat-e-Rūm o Kisrā kī futūḥāt kī khush-khabarī par (pūrā) yaqīn thā. (Yih īmān kī woh quwwat thī ki) ḡāhir asbāb ke sarāsar khilāf hone ke waqt bhī un ke Rasūl ke irshād mein koī shak o shubha paidā na huā.

Wāqī 'a-e-madhkūra mein yih bhī ma'lūm huā ki ṣaḥāba-e-kirām, Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke aise jān-nisār khādim the ki (sakht meḥnat mein bhī) koī ḥāl (shikāyat) na pūchhte the; aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) khud bhī is mazdūrī kī sakht dushwārī mein un ke sharīk hote. Āp ne ṣaḥāba kī dil-joṭī aur ummat kī ta'līm ke liye is meḥnat o mazdūrī mein barābar kā ḥiṣṣa liyā. Ṣaḥāba-e-kirām kī jān-nisārī Āp ke auṣāf-e-kamāl aur tarbiyat-e-risālat kī buniyād par (parwān charḥī), magar ḡāhir asbāb mein ek baṛā sabab yih bhī thā ki har meḥnat, mashaqqat, takleef aur dushwārī mein Āp sab se 'awām kī ṭarah un mein sharīk hote the. Ḥākīm o maḥkūm, bādshāh o ra'īyyat, aur ṣāḥib-e-iqtidār o 'awām ke darmiyān (jo) woh tafāwut kā taṣawwur (hai), wahān paidā na hotā. Aur jab se mulk-e-islām ne is sunnat ko tark kiyā, usī waqt se yih tafarruq (divisions) phūṭe, aur ṭarah-ṭarah ke fitne ummat ne apne dāman mein lā'e.

MUSHKILĀT PAR 'UBŪR ḤĀṢIL KARNE KĀ NAMŪNA

Wāqī 'a-e-madhkūra mein nā-qābil-e-(toṛ) chaṭān par ḍarb lagāne ke sāth yih āyat tilāwat farmāṭ: "Tammat kalimatu rabbika ṣidqan wa 'adlā, lā mubaddila li-kalimātihī ..." (6:115). Is se ma'lūm huā ki kisī mushkil ko ḥall karne ke liye is āyat kī tilāwat ek mujarrab (tried-and-tested) nuskha (remedy) hai.

Şahāba-e-kirām (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhum ajma‘īn) kī jidd o jahd aur koshish kī yih (barakat hu‘ī) ki yih ṭawīl, choṛī aur gahrī khandaq chhah (6) dīn ke andar mukammal ho ga‘ī. (Mazharī)

ḤAḌRAT JĀBIR (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) KĪ DA‘WAT

Isī khandaq kī khudā‘ī ke daurān woh mashhūr wāqī‘a pesh āyā (jo ek baṛā mu‘jiza thā): ek roz Ḥaḍrat Jābir (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ne Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko (is ḥāl mein) dekhā ki Āp bhūk ke sabab mutā‘aththir the (Āp ne bhūk ke māre peṭ par patthar bāndhā huā thā). Ḥaḍrat Jābir ne apnī ahliyya (bīwī) ke pās jā kar kahā: "main ne Āp (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko bhūk se mutā‘aththir dekhā hai — ghar mein khāne ko kuchh hai?"

Ghar mein ek ṣā‘ jau (barley) the — un ko pīs kar āṭā banā liyā (ek ṣā‘ hamāre wazn ke i‘tibār se taqrībān sārhe tīn ser hotā hai); aur ghar mein ek bakrī kā bachcha bhī thā — Ḥaḍrat Jābir ne use dhabḥ kar ke gosht tayyār kiyā. Jab Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko bulāne ke liye chale, to ahliyya ne (tākīd kar ke) kahā: "dekhiye, Ḥuḍūr ke sāth bahut thoṛe ādmī ā‘en (warna yih kam khānā kis ke liye pūrā hogā); kisī ṭarah ṣīrf Ḥuḍūr ko tanhā bulā lā‘iye — mujhe ruswā na kījiye ki ṣahāba-e-kirām kī baṛī anjuman (majma‘) ā jāye."

Ḥaḍrat Jābir ne Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se pūrī ḥaqīqat-e-ḥāl ‘arḍ kar dī ki "ṣīrf itnā khānā hai"; magar Āp ne pūre lashkar mein i‘lān farmā diyā: "Jābir ke ghar chalo — da‘wat hai!" Ḥaḍrat Jābir ḥairān the; ghar pahunch to ahliyya ne sakht pareshānī kā iẓhār kiyā, aur pūchhā: "Āp ne Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko aṣl ḥaqīqat aur khāne kī miqdār batlā dī thī?" Jābir ne farmāyā: "hān, main ne batlā diyā thā." (Yih sun kar) ahliyya muḥtarama muṭma‘in hu‘īn ki "phir hamein kuchh fikr nahīn — Ḥuḍūr (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) aur Allāh jis ṭarah chāhenge kar lenge."

Wāqī‘e kī tafṣīl is jagah ghayr-ḍarūrī hai; itnā natīja ma‘lūm kar lenā kāfī hai ki khud Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne apne dast-e-mubārak se (woh khānā) taqṣīm farmāyā, aur sab logon ko shikam-sair (peṭ-bhar) khilāne kā ihtimām farmāyā, aur sab ne shikam-sair ho kar khāyā. Aur Ḥaḍrat Jābir farmāte hain ki "sab ke fārigh hone ke ba‘d bhī hamārī hānḍī mein se gosht nikaltā rahā, aur woh gundhā huā āṭā bhī (jyon kā tyon rahā), us mein koī kamī ma‘lūm na hu‘ī. Ham sab ghar wālon ne bhī shikam-sair (ho kar khāyā) ... "

... (sab ne) shikam-sair ho kar khāyā, aur jo (khānā) bach gayā us ko paṛosiyon mein taqṣīm kar diyā.

Is ṭarah chhah roz mein jab khandaq se farāghat (fursat) ho ga‘ī, to aḥzāb (kā lashkar) bhī Madīne ke qarīb pahunch gayā; aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) aur ṣahāba-e-kirām ne Jabal-e-Sala‘ ko apnī pīṭh kī taraf rakh kar fauj kī ṣaff-bandī kar dī.

YAHŪD BANŪ QURAYṢA KĪ ‘AHD-SHIKANĪ (covenant-breaking)

Us waqt das-bārah hazār (10–12,000) bā-sāmān lashkar ke muqābale mein tīn hazār (3,000) be-sar-o-sāmān logon kā muqābala (yūn hī) ‘aql o qiyās mein āne kī cheez na thī. Is par ek aur idāfa yih huā ki Banū Naḍīr kā sardār Ḥuyayy ibn Akḥṭab — jis ne Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) aur musalmānon kī dushmanī mein baṛā nām kiyā thā — Madīne pahunch kar Yahūd ke qabīla Banū Qurayṣa ko bhī (aḥzāb ke) sāth milāne kī tadbīr karne lagā.

Banū Qurayṣa aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke mābain ek ṣulḥ-nāma (peace treaty) par mu‘āhada ho chukā thā — (ki Madīne par ḥamla ho to) mil kar ek dūsre kī (madad/difā‘) karenge. Banū Qurayṣa kā sardār Ka‘b ibn Asad thā; jab Ḥuyayy ibn Akḥṭab us ke pās pahunchā aur Ka‘b ko us ke āne kī khabar milī, to us ne apne qīl‘e (fort) kā darwāza band kar liyā — Ḥuyayy us tak na pahunch sakā. Magar Ḥuyayy ibn Akḥṭab ne āwāzein dīn aur darwāza kholne par iṣrār kiyā. Ka‘b ne andar se jawāb diyā: "ham to Muḥammad (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke sāth ṣulḥ kiye hu'e hain, aur āj tak ham ne is mu‘āhade kī pābandī kī hai — Āp (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī taraf se koī daghā (treachery) nahīn dekhī — is liye ham is mu‘āhade ke pā-band hain, Āp (logon) ke sāth (mil kar) nahīn āte."

Magar Ḥuyayy ibn Akḥṭab darwāza kholne aur Ka‘b se bātein karne par iṣrār kartā rahā, aur Ka‘b andar se inkār kartā rahā. Bil-ākhir Ḥuyayy ne Ka‘b se bahut iṣrār kar ke darwāza khulwā liyā, aur use woh "sabz bāgh" (jhūṭe sabz-bāgh/false hopes) dikhā'e ki ākhir Ka‘b us kī bāton mein ā gayā, aur aḥzāb mein shirkat kā wa‘da kar liyā. Aur jab Ka‘b ne apne qabīla ke dūsre sardāron ko yih bāt batlāī, to sab ne yak-zabān ho kar kahā: "tum ne ghaḍab (burā) kiyā — musalmānon se bilā-wajah ‘ahd-shikanī kī, aur in (aḥzāb) ke sāth lag kar apne liye khaṭra ḍāl diyā!" Ka‘b bhī un kī bāt se mutā'aththir huā aur apne kiye par nadāmat (regret) kā iḥzār kiyā — magar bāt us ke qabḍe se nikal chukī thī. Aur bil-ākhir yihī ‘ahd-shikanī Banū Qurayṣa kī halākat o barbadī kā sabab banī, jis kā dhikr āge āe gā.

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) aur ṣaḥāba-e-kirām ko jab is kī ittilā‘ milī, to us waqt un kī (pareshānī o) be-chainī mein sakht idāfa ho gayā, aur baṛī fikr lāḥiq huī: ki aḥzāb ke ek rukh se to khandaq khod lī gaī, magar yih log (Banū Qurayṣa) to Madīne ke andar (kī taraf) se hain — in se (apnī ‘aurton bachchon ko) kaise bachā'enge? ... mein jo us (ḥamle) ke muta‘alliq farmāyā ki "(kuffār-e-aḥzāb) tum par ūpar (kī taraf) se aur nīche se ā gae" — "idh jā'ūkum min fawqikum wa min asfala minkum, wa idh zāghati'l-abṣār ..." (33:10) — us kī tafsīr mein (ba‘z ahl-e-‘ilm ne) yih bhī farmāyā hai ki "min fawqikum" se murād Banū Qurayṣa (jo bālāī jānīb the) aur "min asfala minkum" se āne wāle aḥzāb hain.

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne is ‘ahd-shikanī kī ḥaqīqat aur ṣaḥīḥ ṣūrat-e-ḥāl ma‘lūm karne

ke liye Anṣār ke qabīla Aws ke sardār Ḥaḍrat Sa‘d ibn Mu‘ādh (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) aur qabīla Khazraj ke sardār Ḥaḍrat Sa‘d ibn ‘Ubāda (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ko, ba-ṣūrat-e-wafd (delegation), Ka‘b ke pās bhejā — ki "us se guftagū karein." Aur yih hidāyat de dī ki "agar yih ‘ahd-shikanī kā wāqī‘a ghaṭaṭ thābit ho to sab ṣaḥāba ke sāmne khol kar bayān kar denā; aur agar ṣaḥīḥ thābit ho to (ishāre mein) koī gol-mol bāt kah kar mujhe samjhā denā — tāki ‘awām ṣaḥāba-e-kirām mein (be-jā) sarsarī (be-chainī) paidā na ho."

Yih donon buzurg "Sa‘dayn" (do Sa‘d) wahān pahunche to ‘ahd-shikanī kā sāmān khulā (wāḍiḥ) dekhā. In ke aur Ka‘b ke darmiyān sakht-kalāmī (harsh words) bhī huī. Aur wāpas ā kar, ḥasb-e-hidāyat gol-mol bāt kah kar, Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko (Banū Qurayṣa kī ‘ahd-shikanī ke) ṣaḥīḥ hone kī khabar dī.

Us waqt jab Yahūd kā qabīla Banū Qurayṣa — jo musalmānon ke sāth ḥalīf (ally) the — (‘ahd-shikanī par utar āyā, to ba‘z munāfiqīn kā) nifāq bhī khulne lagā. Ba‘z ne (woh bāt kahī) jaisā āge ā‘egā: "wa idh yaqūlu'l-munāfiqūna ..." (33:12); aur ba‘z ne ḥamle se (ghabrā kar) yahīn se maidān-e-jang se bhāg jāne ke liye Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se ijāzat māngī — jin kā dhikr āyāt-e-madḥkūra mein hai (33:13).

Ab maidān-e-jang kī ṣūrat yih thī ki khandaq kī wajah se aḥzāb (kā lashkar) andar na ā saktā thā; is ke dūsre kināre par musalmānon kā lashkar thā. Donon mein har do ṭaraf se tīr-andāzī (archery) kā silsila rahtā thā. Isī ḥāl mein taqrībān ek mahīna (month) ho gayā — koī qaṭ‘ī faiṣla-kun jang na hotī thī. Aur is ḍiqqat (tangī) ke waqt bhī ṣaḥāba-e-kirām aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) khandaq kī ḥifāẓat (chaukī-dārī) karte the. Agarche Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ba-nafs-e-nafīs is meḥnat o mashaqqat mein sharīk the, magar Āp par yih bāt bahut shāqqa (giran) thī ki ṣaḥāba-e-kirām sab ke sab sakht (idṭirāb aur) be-chainī mein hain.

RASŪLULLĀH (ﷺ) KĪ EK JANGĪ TADBĪR

Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke ‘ilm mein yih bāt ā chukī thī ki qabīla Ghaṭafān ke ra‘ison ne in Yahūd ke sāth shirkat (sāth dene) kā (faiṣla) Khaybar ke phal (khajūr) ... ke ‘iwāḍ kiyā thā.

... Āp ne Ghaṭafān ke do sardār ‘Uyayna ibn Ḥiṣn aur Abū'l-Ḥārith ibn ‘Awf ke pās (yih paighām bhejne kā irāda kiyā) ki "ham tumhein Madīne kī paidāwār kā ek tihāī (1/3) phal (khajūr) de denge, agar tum apne sāth wālon ko le kar maidān se wāpas chale jāo." Guftagū donon (sardāron) ke darmiyān (qarīb-qarīb tay) thī; qarīb thā ki mu‘āhada-e-ṣulḥ par (dastkhat) ho jāye — magar Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne (is se pahle) Anṣār ke do qabīlon (Aws o Khazraj) ke do buzurg "Sa‘dayn", ya‘nī Ḥaḍrat Sa‘d ibn ‘Ubāda aur Ḥaḍrat Sa‘d ibn Mu‘ādh (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhumā) se mashwara kiyā.

Donon ne ‘arḍ kiyā: "Yā Rasūlallāh! agar yih Allāh kā ḥukm hai to ham (sar-e-taslīm khamm karte hu'e) qubūl karenge; aur agar yih (mujarrad) tadbīr hai, to (sun lījiye)..."

Ḥaḍrat Sa‘d ibn Mu‘ādh (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhū) ne ‘arḍ kiyā: "Yā Rasūlallāh! jis waqt ham aur yih donon qabīle but-parastī par the, Allāh ta‘ālā ko nahīn pahchānte the, us kī (buton kī) ‘ibādat karte the — us waqt bhī in logon ke hāth hamāre shahr ke phal kā ek dāna (tak) lene kī himmat na thī, sivā is ke ki woh hamāre mehmān hon, aur ham unhein (mehmānī mein) khilā'en, yā woh ham se kharīd kar le jā'en. Āj jab ki Allāh ta‘ālā ne hamein islām kī ‘izzat o i‘zāz ‘aṭā farmā diyā hai — kyā āj ham in logon ko apnā phal aur apne amwāl dein ge?! Hamein in kī (is ṣulḥ kī) koī ḥājat nahīn — ham to in ko talwār ke siwā kuchh nahīn denge, yahān tak ki Allāh ta‘ālā hamāre aur in ke darmiyān faiṣla farmā de!"

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne Sa‘d kī (is) adā, ‘azm aur ghayrat-e-īmānī ko dekh kar apnā irāda chhoṛ diyā, aur farmāyā ki "yih (mujarrad) tadbīr thī." (Pas) Ghaṭafān se ṣulḥ kā (ma‘āmala) tark ho gayā — abhī is par dastkhat nahīn hu'e the. Ghaṭafān ke sardār ‘Uyayna aur (Abū'l-Ḥārith) ibn ‘Awf, jo is ṣulḥ-nāma ke liye tayyār ho rahe the, majlis hī mein maujūd the; ṣaḥāba-e-kirām kī yih quwwat o (yak-jihātī o) shirkat dekh kar khud bhī apne dilon mein mutazalzil (waver) ho ga'e.

Ḥaḍrat ‘Ā'isha (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) farmātī hain: "main bhī us waqt usī qil‘e mein thī, aur ‘aurton ko pahre ke aḥkāṁ de kar us waqt tak rahī. Main ne dekhā ki Sa‘d ibn Mu‘ādh ek chhoṭī (sī) zirah (coat of mail) pahne hu'e hain, jis mein un ke (bāzū/hāth khule rah) ga'e the; aur un kī wālida un ke pīchhe (yih kahtī) huī thīn: 'jā kar jaldī karo, Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke sāth lashkar mein shāmil ho jāo!' Ḥaqq ta‘ālā ne Āp (ke wāsile se Sa‘d) kī yih donon du‘ā‘ein qubūl farmā‘īn. Is wāqī‘a-e-Aḥzāb ko kuffār kā ākhīrī ḥamla (against Madīna) banā diyā gayā; is ke ba‘d musalmānon kī futūḥāt kā daur shurū‘ huā — chunānche (āge) Makka fath huā, aur phir (dūsre ‘ilāqe). Aur jo Banū Qurayza kā wāqī‘a āge ātā hai, us mein un (Banū Qurayza) ke ma‘āmale kā faiṣla Ḥaḍrat Sa‘d ibn Mu‘ādh (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhū) ke supurd kiyā gayā, aur un ke faiṣle ke muṭābiq un ke jawān (fighting men) qatl kiye ga‘e aur ‘aurtein bachche qaid kiye ga‘e (phir Sa‘d kā zakhm phūṭ kar shahādat kā sabab banā — du‘ā pūrī hu‘ī).

Is wāqī‘a-e-Aḥzāb mein ṣaḥāba-e-kirām aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko rāt-rāt bhar khandaq kī dekh-bhāl (pahra-dārī) karnī partī thī. Agarche (ārām) ke waqt bhī, agar kisī ṭaraf se shor-o-shaghab (clamour) kī āwāz uṭhī to Ān-Ḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) aslaḥa (weapons) bāndh kar maidān mein chale jāte. Ḥaḍrat Umm Salama Umm-ul-Mu‘minīn (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) farmātī hain: "ek rāt mein ka‘ī martaba aisā hotā thā ki Āp zarā ārām karne ke liye tashrīf lā‘e, aur koī na koī āwāz sunī to fauran bāhar tashrīf le ga‘e; phir ārām ke liye zarā kamar lagā‘ī, aur phir koī āwāz sunī to bāhar tashrīf le ga‘e."

Ḥaḍrat Nu‘aym ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ne Banū Qurayṣa ke sardāron se nāṣihāna aur khair-khwāhāna andāz mein (yih) kahā: "Āp log jānte hain ki Quraysh-e-Makka hon, yā hamārā qabīla Ghaṭafān, yā dūse qabā'il, Yahūd waghaira — in kā waṭan yahān nahīn. Yih agar shikast khā kar bhāg jā'en to in kā koī nuqsān nahīn. (Magar) tumhārā ma‘āmala musalmānon ke sāth (rahne kī wajah se) mukhtalif hai: tumhārā waṭan, tumhāre ghar, tumhārī ‘aurtein aur māl — sab yahān hain. Agar tum ne in logon ke sāth jang mein shirkat kī aur yih log shikast khā kar bhāg ga'e, to tumhārā kyā hogā? Tum to phir tanhā musalmānon se muqābala (na) kar sakoge. Is liye main tumhārī khair-khwāhī se yih mashwara detā hūn ki tum us waqt tak shirk-e-jang (jang mein sharīk) na ho jab tak yih log apne khāṣ logon — apne sardāron kī ek ta‘dād — tumhāre pās (baṭaur ḍamānat/hostage) na rakh dein, tāki yih tum ko (musalmānon ke ḥawāle kar ke) chhoṛ kar bhāg na jā'en."

Is ke ba‘d Nu‘aym ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) Quraysh ke sardāron ke pās pahuncha, aur un se kahā: "Āp log jānte hain ki main Āp kā dost hūn, aur Muḥammad (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se barī (lā-ta‘alluq) hūn. Mujhe ek khabar milī hai, aur tumhārī khair-khwāhī kā taqāḍā hai ki woh khabar tum ko batā dūn — ba-shartekē Āp log mere nām kā iẓhār na karein." Unhon ne (manzūr) kahā. (Tab) us ne kahā: "woh khabar yih hai ki Yahūd Banū Qurayṣa, tumhāre sāth mu‘āhada karne ke ba‘d, apne faisle par nādim (regret) ho ga'e hain, aur Muḥammad (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke pās yih kahlā bhejā hai ki 'ham is shart par rāḍī ho sakte hain ki Quraysh aur Ghaṭafān ke chand sardāron ko āp ke ḥawāle kar dein, āp un kī gardan mār dein, phir ham āp ke sāth mil kar in sab se jang karein' — aur Muḥammad (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne un kī yih bāt qubūl kar lī hai. Pas (dekhna) Banū Qurayṣa tum se baṭaur ḍamānat tumhāre kuchh sardāron kā muṭālba karenge — ab Āp log apne ma‘āmale ko khūb soch lein."

Is ke ba'd Nu'aym ibn Mas'ūd (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) apne qabīla Ghaṭafān mein ga'e, aur un ko bhī yihī khabar sunāī. "...jab tak tum donon qabīlon ke chand sardār hamāre pās baṭaur rahn (yarghamāl) ke na pahunch jā'en."

'Ikrima aur Daraqa ne yih khabar Abū Sufyān ko pahuncha dī, to Quraysh aur Ghaṭafān ke sardāron ne yaqīn kar liyā ki Nu'aym ibn Mas'ūd (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) ne jo khabar dī thī woh ṣaḥīḥ hai. Aur Banū Qurayẓa se kahlā bhejā ki ham ek ādmī bhī apnā āp ko nahīn dein ge; phir āp kā dīl chāhe to hamāre sāth jang mein shirkat karein, aur na chāhein to na karein.

Banū Qurayẓa ne yih ḥāl dekh kar us bāt par jo Nu'aym ibn Mas'ūd (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) ne kahī thī ziyāda yaqīn ho gayā. Is tarah Allāh Ta'ālā ne us dushman girōh mein ek shakhs ke zari'a un ke āpas mein phūṭ ḍāl dī, aur un logon ke pānw ukhar ga'e.

Ḥaḍrat Ḥuẓaifa (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) kā dushman ke lashkar mein jāne aur khabar lāne kā wāqī'a

Dūsri taraf Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī kār-guzārī aur Aḥzāb ke darmiyān phūṭ ke waqī‘āt kī khabar milī to irāda farmāyā ki apnā koī ādmī dushman ke lashkar mein jā kar un ke irādon kā pata lā'e. Koī nahīn uṭhā. Ānḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) phir namāz mein mashghūl ho ga'e, aur kuchh der ke ba‘d tīsrī martaba wuhī khiṭāb farmāyā jaisā ki pahle farmāyā thā ki (jāne wālā) jannat mein dākhil kiyā jā'e gā. Magar pūrī qaum dīn bhar ke sakht thakān, (kā dīn ke) fāqa, bhūk, aur der se der sardī kī shiddat se aisī be-ḥāl ho rahī thī ki phir bhī koī na uṭhā.

Ḥaḍrat Ḥuzaifa ibn al-Yamān (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) — rāwī-e-ḥadīṣ — farmāte hain ki us waqt Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne merā nām le kar farmāyā: "Ḥuzaifa, uṭho." Ḥālat merī bhī sab jaisī thī, magar nām le kar ḥukm dene par iṭā‘at ke siwā chāra na thā; badan kānp rahā thā. Āp ne apnā dast-e-mubārak mere sar aur chehre par pherā, aur farmāyā: "Dushman ke lashkar mein jāo aur mujhe ṣirf khabar lā kar do, aur mere pās wāpas āne se pahle koī (aur) kām na karnā." Aur phir āp ne merī ḥifāẓat ke liye du‘ā farmā'ī. Main ne apnī tīr-kamān uṭhā'ī aur apne (garam) kapṛe apne ūpar bāndh liye, aur un kī taraf rawāna ho gayā.

Jab yahān se rawāna huā to ‘ajīb mājrā yih dekhā ki (jo) khaime ke andar baiṭhe hu'e the un par jo sardī se kapkapī ṭārī thī woh khatm ho ga'ī, aur main us tarah chal rahā thā jaise koī garam ḥammām ke andar ho — yahān tak ki un ke lashkar mein pahunch gayā. Main ne dekhā ki hawā ke ṭūfān ne un ke khaime ukhār diye the aur hāṇḍiyān ulaṭ dī thīn. Abū Sufyān āg ke pās baiṭh kar seṅk rahe the.

Main ne yih dekh kar apnā tīr-kamān mustahkam kiyā, aur Abū Sufyān par tīr phenkne wālā thā ki mujhe Ḥuḏūr (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kā yih farmān yād ā gayā ki wāpas āne tak koī (aur) kām na karnā. Abū Sufyān bilkul merī zad mein the, magar us farmān kī binā par main ne apnā tīr alag kar liyā.

Abū Sufyān ḥālāt se pareshān ho kar wāpasī kā i‘lān karnā chāhte the, magar is ke liye zarūrī thā ki qaum ke zimmadāron se bāt karein. 's judgment via Sa'd ibn Mu'āz; his verdict, his wound, his prayer, his death

Dūsarī ṣūrat yih hai ki tum apnī aulād aur 'aurton ko pahle khud apne hāth se qatl kar do, aur phir pūrī ṭāqat se muqātala karo yahān tak ki tum bhī sab maqtūl ho jāo.

Tīsī ūrat yih hai ki yaum-us-sabt (hafta ke din) tum musalmānon par yak-bāragī ḥamla kar do, kyūnki musalmān jānte hain ki hamāre mazhab mein yaum-us-sabt mein qitāl ḥarām hai, is liye woh hamārī taraf se us din mein be-fikr honge; ham nāgahānī taur par ḥamla karein to mumkin hai kāmyābī ho jā'e.

Ka'b ra'īs-e-qaum kī yih taqrīr sun kar qaum ke logon ne jawāb diyā ki musalmān ho jānā to ham hargiz qubūl na karein ge, kyūnki ham Taurāt ko chhoṛ kar aur kisī kitāb ko na mānein ge. Dūsī bāt — 'aurton bachon ne kyā qusūr kiyā hai ki ham un ko qatl kar dein. Bāqī tīsī bāt — khud ḥukm-e-Taurāt aur hamāre mazhab ke khilāf hai; yih bhī ham nahīn kar sakte.

Is ke ba'd sab ne is par ittifāq kiyā ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke sāmne hathiyār ḍāl dein, aur āp ke bāre mein jo faisla farmā'ein us par rāḍī ho jā'en. Anṣārī ṣaḥāba-e-kirām mein jo log qabīla Aus se muta'alliq the, aur Banū Qurayẓa ke darmiyān qadīm zamāne mein mu'āhada rahtā thā, to usī qabīle ke ṣaḥāba-e-kirām ne Ānḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) se yih 'arz kiyā ki āp in logon ko hamāre ḥawāle kar dein.

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne farmāyā ki tum is par rāḍī ho ki un kā ma'āmala tumhāre hī ek sardār ke sipurd kar dūn? Yih log is par rāḍī ho ga'e. Aur Ānḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne farmāyā ki tumhāre sardār Sa'd ibn Mu'āẓ hain, is kā faisla un ke sipurd kartā hūn. Is par sab log rāḍī ho ga'e.

Ḥaḍrat Sa'd ibn Mu'āẓ (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) ko wāqī'a-e-Khandaq mein ek tīr kā zakhm pahunchā thā, shadīd zakhm thā. Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne un kī tīmār-dārī ke liye aḥḥaṭa-e-masjid ke andar ek khaima lagwā kar us mein ṭhahrā diyā thā.

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke farmāne ke muṭābiq Banū Qurayẓa ke faisle kā ikhtiyār qaidiyon par unhein de diyā gayā. Unhon ne yih faisla diyā ki in mein se jo jang karne wāle jawān hain woh qatl kar diye jā'en, aur 'aurton, bachon, būṛhon ke sāth jangī qaidiyon kā ma'āmala kiyā jā'e, jaisā ki Islām mein ma'rūf hai. Yihī faisla nāfiz kar diyā gayā.

Aur is faisle ke fauran ba'd hī Ḥaḍrat Sa'd ibn Mu'āẓ (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) ke zakhm se khūn bah paṛā, usī mein un kī wafāt hu'ī. Allāh Ta'ālā ne un kī donon du'ā'ein qubūl farmā'īn — ek yih ki ā'inda Quraysh kā Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) par koī ḥamla na hogā, dūsre Banū Qurayẓa kī ghadārī kī sazā un ko mil jā'e — woh Allāh ne usī ke zari'a dilwā dī.

Jin ko qatl karnā tajwīz huā thā, un mein se ba'ẓ musalmān ho jāne kī wajah se āzād kar diye ...

Iḥsān ke badle mein, Ḥaḍrat Ṣābit ibn Qays (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) Zubair ibn Bāṭā kī rihā‘ī kā ḥukm ḥāṣil kar ke un ke pās ga'e, aur kahā ki main ne yih is liye kiya hai ki tumhāre us iḥsān kā badla kar dūn jo tum ne jang-e-Bu‘āṣ mein mujh par kiya thā. Zubair ibn Bāṭā ne kahā ki be-shak sharīf ādmī dūse sharīf ke sāth aisā hī ma‘āmala kiya kartā hai — magar yih to batlāo ki woh ādmī zinda rah kar kyā kare gā jis ke ahl-o-‘iyāl na rahe hon.

Ṣābit ibn Qays (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ne ‘arz kiya ki un ke ahl-o-‘iyāl kī bhī jān-bakhshī kar dī jā'e; āp (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne yih bhī qubūl farmā liya. Zubair ibn Bāṭā ko is kī iṭṭilā‘ dī, to yih ek qadam aur āge baṛhe: "Ṣābit! Yih to batlāo ki koī insān ṣāḥib-e-‘iyāl kaise zinda rahe gā jab us ke pās koī māl na ho." Ṣābit ibn Qays (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) phir Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī khidmat mein ḥāẓir hu'e, aur un ke māl kā su‘āl kiya, aur Ānḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne un kā māl bhī un ko dilwā diyā. Yahān tak to ek mo‘min kī ṣarāfat aur iḥsān-shanāsī kā qaṣiya thā jo Ḥaḍrat Ṣābit ibn Qays kī taraf se huā.

Ab dūsrā rukh suniye: Zubair ibn Bāṭā ko jab apne ahl-o-‘iyāl kī āzādī aur apne māl o matā‘ sab wāpas mil jāne kā iṭmīnān ho chukā, to us ne Ḥaḍrat Ṣābit ibn Qays (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) se qabā‘il-e-Yahūd ke sardāron ke muta‘alliq su‘āl kiya, aur pūchhā ki (Ibn al-Ḥuqayq) kā kyā huā, jis kā chehra Ḥulaimī jaisā thā? Unhon ne batlāyā ki woh qatl kar diyā gayā. Phir pūchhā ki Banū Qurayṣa ke sardār Ka‘b ibn Asad aur (‘Amr ibn Su‘dā) kā kyā anjām huā? Unhon ne batlāyā ki yih donon bhī qatl kar diye ga'e. Phir do jamā‘aton ke muta‘alliq su‘āl kiya; is ke jawāb mein un ko khabar dī ki woh sab qatl kar diye ga'e.

Yih sun kar Zubair ibn Bāṭā ne Ḥaḍrat Ṣābit ibn Qays (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) se kahā ki āp ne apne iḥsān kā badla pūrā kar diyā, aur apnī zimma-dārī kā ḥaqq adā kar diyā, magar main ab apnī zamīn aur jā‘idād in logon ke ba‘d ābād nahīn karūn gā — mujhe bhī apne inhī logon ke sāth shāmil kar do, ya ‘nī qatl kar ḍālo. Tanbīh

Ghazwa-e-Aḥzāb o Banū Qurayṣa kā is jagah kisī qadar tafṣīl se lāne kī ek wajah to khud Qur‘ān-e-Karīm kā in ko tafṣīl se dūr rukū‘ mein bayān farmānā hai. Dūsri wajah yih bhī hai ki in waqī‘āt mein — un kī zindagī mein mukhtalif shu‘bon se muta‘alliq — bahut sī hidāyāt aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke mu‘jizāt aur bayyināt hain, aur bahut sī ‘ibratein hain, jin ko is qisṣe mein ‘unwānāt de kar wāḥeḥ kar diyā gayā hai. Is pūre wāqī‘e ke ma‘lūm kar lene ke ba‘d āyāt-e-mazkūra kī tafsīr ke liye khulāṣa-e-tafsīr-e-mazkūr kā dekh lenā kāfī hai; kisī mazīd tashrīḥ kī ṣarūrat nahīn rahtī, ṣirf chand bāten qābil-e-naṣar hain.

Awwal yih ki is ghazwa mein musalmānon par shiddat aur mukhtalif qism kī takālīf mein muṭtalā hone kā zikr farmā kar, us iṣṭirāb ke ‘ālam mein ek ḥāl to mo‘minīn kā batlāyā gayā hai ki:

ya‘nī tum log Allāh ke sāth mukhtalif qism ke gumān karne lage the.

In gumānon se murād ghair-ikhtiyārī waswase hain jo iṣṭirāb ke waqt insān ke dil mein āyā karte hain ki ab maut ā hī gaī, ab najāt kī koī ṣurat nahīn rahī, waghaira waghaira. Aise ghair-ikhtiyārī khaṭarāt o waswase na kamāl-e-īmān ke munāfi hain na kamāl-e-wilāyat ke; albatta in se muṣibat o iṣṭirāb kī shiddat kā andāza hotā hai ki ṣaḥāba-e-kirām jaise jibāl-e-istiḳāmat ke dilon mein bhī waswase āne lage.

Dūsra ḥāl munāfiqīn kā zikr farmāyā hai ki unhon ne khule taur par Allāh aur Rasūl (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke wa‘don ko dhokā-farēb kahnā shurū‘ kar diyā, jaisā ki farmāyā:

ya‘nī munāfiqīn aur jin ke dilon mein maraḏ thā, kahne lage ki Allāh aur us ke Rasūl ne ham se jo wa‘da kiya thā woh maḥḏ dhokā thā.

Yih un ke bāṭinī kufr kā izhār thā. Āge ‘amalī taur par woh munāfiqīn jo zāhir mein musalmānon ke sāth sharīk-e-jihād the, un ke do ṭabqon kā zikr hai. Ek ṭabqa to bepūchhe (khud) bhaṛkāne lagā — ek shakhs ne kahā:

Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr

Ai Nabī (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam), āp apnī bīwiyon se farmā dījiye — (yih bāt hamesha ke liye kahī jāti hai, tāki hamesha ke liye ek qīṣṣa taraf ho, woh bāt yih hai ki) tum agar dunyawī zindagī kī ‘aish (aur us kī bahār) chāhtī ho, to āo, main tumhein kuchh (māl o) matā‘ (dunyawī) de dūn — (riwāyat yih hai ki is se murād woh joṛā hai jo muṭallaqa-e-madkhūla ko ba-waqt-e-ṭalāq denā mustaḥab hai, yā murād nān-o-nafqa-e-‘iddat kā hai; aur donon ko shāmil hai) — aur (matā‘ de kar) tum ko khūbī ke sāth rukḥṣat karūn (ya ‘nī muwāfiq-e-sunnat-e-ṭalāq de dūn, tāki jahān chāho jā kar dunyā ḥāṣil kar lo).

Aur agar tum Allāh ko chāhtī ho aur (us ke) Rasūl ko — aur maṭlab "Allāh ko chāhne" se is jagah yih hai ki us ke nikāḥ mein rahnā chāhtī ho — aur ‘ālam-e-ākhirat ke darajāt-e-‘āliya ko chāhtī ho, jo ki zaujiyat-e-Rasūl par murattab hone wāle hain, to yih tumhārī nek kirdārī hai; aur tum mein jo nek kirdār hon, un ke liye Allāh Ta‘ālā ne (ākhirat mein) ajr-e-‘aẓīm muḥayyā kar rakhā hai — ya ‘nī woh ṣawāb jo makhṣūṣ hai har zaujāt-e-Nabī (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke liye, ki dūsri nek bīwiyon ke ajr se woh ajr a‘ẓam hai.

Aur jis se zaujiyat-e-Nabī (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko ikhtiyār na karne kī ṣūrat mein maḥrūmī ho gī — agarcheh ‘umūm-e-dalā’il se muṭlaq-e-īmān o a‘māl-e-ṣāliḥa ke ṣamarāt is ṣūrat mein bhī ḥāṣil hon ge. Yahān tak to mazmūn-e-takhyīr kā hai jo Ḥuẓūr (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī taraf se azwāj ko ikhtiyār diyā gayā ki apnī maujūda ḥālat par qanā‘at kar ke āp (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī zaujiyat mein rahnā pasand karein, yā phir āp (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se ṭalāq ḥāṣil kar lein.

Shakhṣ ko us ‘amal par jitnī sazā miltī, is se dohrī sazā ho gī; aur yih bāt Allāh ko bilkul āsān hai — yih nahīn ki dunyawī ḥukkām kī tarah aḥyānan sazā baḥāne se kisī kī ‘aḥamat us ko mānī‘ ho jāwe; aur is sazā ke baḥne kī wajah abhī taz‘īf-e-ajr kī taqrīr mein ātī hai.

Yih is kā maṭlab nahīn ki qaṣḍan nazākat mat karo, kyūnki us kā burā honā to badīhī hai;

dūsre mukhāṭab ya‘nī azwāj-e-muṭahharāt mein us kā ihtimāl nahīn — balkeh maṭlab yih hai ki jaise ‘aurton ke kalām kā fiṭrī andāz hotā hai ki kalām mein narmī aur nazākat ṭab‘ī hotī hai, us andāz ko mat barto ki us se aise shakhṣ, kor-ṭab‘an, khayāl-e-fāsid paidā hone lagtā hai jis ke qalb mein kharābī (aur badī) hai — (balkeh aise mauqa‘ par takalluf aur ihtimām se us fiṭrī andāz ko badal kar guftagū karo) — aur qā‘ida-e-‘iffat ke muwāfiq bāt kaho, ya‘nī aise andāz se jis mein khushkī aur durushṭī(dīkhāwe) ho ki yih ḥāfiẓ-e-‘iffat hai, aur bad-akhlāqī nahīn hai. Is mein to bolne ke muta‘alliq ḥukm farmāyā, aur āge parde ke muta‘alliq irshād hai; aur amr-e-mushtarak donon mein faqat ‘iffat hī hai, ya‘nī (tum apne gharon mein qarār se raho) — murād is se yih hai ki maḥẓ kīrā orh-lapeṭ kar parda kar lene par kifāyat mat karo, balkeh parda is ṭarīqe se karo ki badan nīz libās naẓar na ā‘e — jaisā ki āj-kal ahl-e-sharaf mein parda kā ṭarīqa muta‘āraf hai ki ‘aurtein gharon hī se nahīn nikaltīn — albatṭa mawāqī‘-e-ẓarūrat dūsri dālīl se mustaḥṣanā hain.

Aur āge isī ḥukm kī tākīd ke liye irshād hai ki qadīm zamāna-e-jāhiliyat ke dastūr ke muwāfiq mat phiro (jis mein be-pardagī rā‘ij thī, go balā-faḥsh hī kyūn na ho). Aur qadīm jāhiliyat se murād woh jāhiliyat hai jo Islām se pahle thī, aur is ke muqābale mein ek ba‘d kī jāhiliyat-e-ukhrā hai — is kī wajah ki ba‘d ta‘līm o tabliḡh-e-aḥkām-e-Islām ke, in par ‘amal na kiyā jā‘e. Pas jo tabarruj ba‘d-e-Islām ho gā woh jāhiliyat-e-ukhrā hai; is liye tashbīh mein takhṣīṣ-e-jāhiliyat-e-ūlā kī ẓāhir hai, kyūnki mushabbah-mushabbah kā taghāyur ẓarūrī hai. Is sūrat ke maqāshid mein se aḥamm maqṣad Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī īzā se, aur har aisī chīz se bachne kī tākīd hai jis se āp ko taklīf pahunchē; nīz āp kī iṭā'at aur riṣā-jū'ī ke mu'akkida aḥkām hain. Mazkūr-uṣ-ṣadr āyāt mein khāṣ azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu 'anhunna) ko ta'līm hai — is kā ihtimām khuṣūṣan is se hai ki āp ko un ke kisī qaul o fi'l se īzā na pahunchē, aur yih bhī ho saktā hai ki woh Allāh Ta'ālā aur us ke Rasūl kī mukammal iṭā'at mein lag jā'en. Is silsile ke chand aḥkām azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu 'anhunna) ko khiṭāb kar ke batlā'e ga'e hain.

Shurū' āyāt mein azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu 'anhunna) ko ṭalāq kā jawāz denā, is kā ikhtiyār denā mazkūr huā — is kā sabab ek yā chand waqī'āt hain jo azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu 'anhunna) kī taraf se pesh ā'e, jo Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke manshā' ke khilāf the, jin se bilā-qaṣd o ikhtiyār Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ko taklīf pahunchī.

In waqī'āt mein se ek wāqī'a woh hai jo Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim waghaira mein Ḥaḍrat Jābir (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) kī riwāyat se mufaṣṣal āyā hai; is mein mazkūr hai ki azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu 'anhunna) ne jama' ho kar Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) se is kā muṭālaba kiyā ki un kā nān-o-nafqa baḥḥāyā jā'e. Tafsīr-e-Baḥr-e-Muḥīṭ mein Abū Ḥayyān ne is kī tashrīḥ yih bayān kī hai ki Ghazwa-e-Aḥzāb ke ba'd Banū Naẓīr phir ...

Banū Qurayẓa kī futūḥāt aur amwāl-e-ghanīmat kī taqṣīm ne ‘ām musalmānon mein ek gūna khush-ḥālī paidā kar dī thī. Azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhunna) ko us waqt yih khayāl huā ki Āḥḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne bhī apnā ḥiṣṣa rakhā ho gā; is liye unhon ne jama‘ ho kar ‘arz kiyā ki: "Yā Rasūlallāh! Yih Kisrā o Qaiṣar kī bīwiyān ṭarah-ṭarah ke zewarāt aur qīmī libāson mein malbūs hain, aur un kī khidmat ke liye kanīẓein hain, aur hamārā ḥāl faqr o fāqa kā āp dekhte hain; is liye ab kuchh tawassu‘ se kām liyā jā’e."

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne apnī azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhunna) kī taraf se yih muṭālaba sunā ki un ke sāth woh ma‘āmala kiyā jā’e jo bādshāhon aur dunyā-dāron mein hotā hai, to āp ko is se bahut ranj huā ki unhon ne bait-e-nubuwwat kī qadr na pahchānī; azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhunna) ko khayāl na thā ki is se āp ko īzā pahunche gī. Abū Ḥayyān ne farmāyā ki ‘ām musalmānon mein mālī wus‘at dekh kar in ke liye bhī wus‘at kā khayāl dil mein ā gayā thā.

Abū Ḥayyān ne is wāqī‘e ko Ghazwa-e-Aḥzāb ke wāqī‘e ke ba‘d bayān karne se is kī tā‘īd hotī hai ki azwāj kā yih muṭālaba hī ṭalāq kā sabab banā. Ba‘ḏ riwāyāt-e-ḥadīṣ mein Ḥaḍrat Zainab (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) ke ghar shahd pīne kā wāqī‘a — jo āge Sūrat at-Taḥrīm mein mufaṣṣal ā’e gā — is mein azwāj kī bāhamī ghairat ke sabab jo ṣūrat pesh ā’ī, woh is takhyīr-e-ṭalāq kā sabab banī. Agar yih donon chīẓein zamāne mein qarīb pesh ā’ī hon to yih ba‘īd bhī nahīn ki donon hī sabab hon; lekin āyat-e-takhyīr ke alfāẓ se ziyāda tā‘īd isī kī hotī hai ki azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhunna) kī taraf se koī muṭālaba-e-mālī is kā sabab banā hai, kyūnki is āyat mein farmāyā hai:

in kuntunna turidna-l-ḥayāta-d-dunyā wa zīnatahā ... al-āyah
agar tum dunyā kī zindagī aur us kī zīnat chāhtī ho ... (āyat)

Is āyat ne sab azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ko ikhtiyār de diyā ki woh Nabī-e-Karīm (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī maujūda ḥālat — ya‘nī ma‘āshī ‘usrat o tangī — ke sāth āp kī zaujiyat mein rahnā qubūl karein, yā phir āp se ṭalāq ke sāth āzād ho jā’en. Pahlī ṣūrat mein un ko ‘ām ‘aurton kī nisbat se bahut ziyāda ajr-e-‘azīm aur ākhirat ke khāṣ darajāt-e-‘āliya ‘atā hon ge; aur dūsarī ṣūrat, ya‘nī ṭalāq lene mein, un ko kabhī dunyā ke (mutlaqa) logon kī ṭarah kisī talkhī o taklīf kī naubat nahīn ā’e gī, balkeh sunnat ke muṭābiq kapṛā-jorā waghaira de kar ‘izzat ke sāth rukṣat kiyā jā’e gā.

... nāzil huī, to Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne is ke izhār o i‘lān kī ibtidā mujh se farmāī, aur yih āyat sunāne se pahle farmāyā ki main tum se ek bāt kahne wālā hūn, magar tum is ke jawāb mein jaldī na karnā, balkeh apne wālidain se mashwara kar ke jawāb denā. Şiddīqa (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) farmāī hain ki mujh par yih khāṣ ‘ināyat thī ki mujhe wālidain se mashwara ke baghair izhār-e-rā'e se āp ne mana ‘farmāyā, kyūnki āp ko yaqīn thā ki mere wālidain mujhe kabhī yih rā'e na dein ge ki main Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se mufāraqat ikhtiyār kar lūn.

Main ne āp se ‘arz kiyā ki kyā is ma‘āmale mein wālidain se mashwara lene jā'ūn? Main to Allāh ko, aur us ke Rasūl ko, aur ākhirat ko ikhtiyār kartī hūn. Phir mere ba‘d sab azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ko yih ḥukm-e-Qur‘ān sunāyā gayā; sab ne wuhī kahā jo main ne kahā thā — ki koī bhī Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī zaujiyat ke muqābale mein dunyā kī kisī farākhī ko qubūl na kare gī. (Az-ḥadīṣ ḥasan ṣaḥīḥ, qāla-t-Tirmizī)

Ikhtiyār-e-ṭalāq kī do ṣūratein hotī hain: ek yih ki ṭalāq kā ikhtiyār ‘aurat ke sipurd kar diyā jā'e — agar woh chāhe to khud apne nafs ko ṭalāq de kar āzād ho jā'e. Dūsre yih ki ṭalāq shauhar hī ke hāth mein rahe — agar ‘aurat chāhe to woh ṭalāq de de.

Āyat-e-mazkūra mein ba‘z mufasssīrīn ne pahlī ṣūrat ko, aur ba‘z ne dūsarī ko ikhtiyār kiyā hai. Saiyidī Ḥakīm-ul-Ummat (raḥimahullāh) ne Bayān-ul-Qur‘ān mein farmāyā ki ṣaḥīḥ bāt yih hai ki āyat ke alfāz mein donon ihtimāl hain; jab tak kisī ṣarīḥ naṣṣ se ek kī ta‘yīn na ho jā'e, apnī taraf se kisī ṣūrat ko muta‘ayyin karne kī zarūrat nahīn.

Mas'ala

Is āyat se yih ma‘lūm huā ki jab zaujain kī ṭabī‘aton mein munāsabat na ho, to mustaḥab yih hai ki bīwī ko ikhtiyār diyā jā'e ki shauhar kī maujūda ḥālat par qanā‘at kar ke sāth rahe, to rahe; warna sunnat ke muṭābiq ṭalāq de kar kapre-jore ke sāth ‘izzat ke sāth rukhṣat kar diyā jā'e.

Āyat-e-mazkūra se is ma‘āmale kā istiḥbāb hī ṣābit kiyā jā saktā hai, wujūb par koī dalīl nahīn. Ba‘z a'Imma-e-fuqahā ne is āyat se wujūb par istidlāl kiyā hai, aur isī binā par aise muflis ādmī kī bīwī ko ‘adālat ko ṭalāq dene kā ḥaqq diyā hai, jo bīwī ko nafqa dene par qādir na rahe. Is mas'ale kī pūrī tafṣīl Aḥkām-ul-Qur‘ān(al-Jaṣṣāṣ) mein, isī āyat ke tahat, isī zabān-e-‘arabī mein mazkūr hai.

Qur'an 33:30 — (restated)

... ya'ti minkunna bi-fāḥishatin mubayyinatīn yuḍā'af lahā-l-'azābu ḍi'fayni; wa kāna zālika 'alā-llāhi yasīrā. Wa man yaqnut minkunna li-llāhi wa rasūlihī wa ta'mal ṣāliḥan nu'tihā ajrahā marratayni ... al-āyah

In do āyatōn mein azwāj-e-muṭahharāt kī yih khuṣūṣiyat bayān farmā'ī hai ki agar woh koī gunāh kā kām karein gī to un ko dūsri 'aurton kī nisbat se do-gunā 'azāb diyā jā'e gā — ya'nī un kā ek gunāh do ke qā'im-maqām qarār diyā jā'e gā. Isī tarah agar woh nek 'amal karein gī to dūsri 'aurton kī nisbat un ko ṣawāb bhī dohrā diyā jā'e gā, un kā ek nek 'amal do ke qā'im-maqām ho gā.

Yih āyat ek ḥaiṣiyat se azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ke liye un ke us 'amal kī jazā' hai jo unhon ne āyat-e-takhyīr nāzil hone par Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī zaujiyat par dunyāwī farākhī ko qurbān kar diyā. Is ke ṣile mein Allāh Ta'ālā ne un ke ek 'amal ko do kā darja de diyā, aur gunāh kī ṣūrat mein dohrā 'azāb bhī — un kī khuṣūṣī faẓīlat aur imtiyāzī sharāfat kī wajah se huā, kyūnki yih bāt 'aqlī bhī hai aur naqlī bhī, ki jitnā kisī kā 'izz o iḥtirām hotā hai utnā hī us kī taraf se ghaflat o sarkashī kī sazā bhī baḥḥ jā'tī hai.

Azwāj-e-muṭahharāt par Ḥaqq Ta'ālā ke in 'āmāt baḥe hain ki un ko Allāh Ta'ālā ne apne Rasūl kī zaujiyat ke liye intikhāb farmā liyā; un ke gharon mein waḥī-e-ilāhī nāzil hotī rahī. To un kī adnā ghalaṭī o kotāhī bhī baḥī ho gī — agar dūsron se Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ko īzā pahunche, to us se kahīn ziyāda ashadd ho gā ki in se koī aisī bāt īzā-rasānī kī sar-zad ho. Qur'ān-e-Karīm ke alfāẓ mein khud is sabab kī taraf ishāra hai — "wa-zkurna mā yutlā fī buyūtikunna" (jo pahle guzar chukā hai).

Azwāj-e-muṭahharāt kī khuṣūṣiyat ki un ke 'amal kā dohrā ṣawāb mile, 'ām ummat ke i'tibār se is se yih lāzim nahīn ātā ki kisī ummat mein kisī fard yā jamā'at ko kisī khuṣūṣiyat se aisā in 'ām na bakhshā jā'e ki us ko dohrā ṣawāb mile; chunānceh ahl-e-kitāb mein se jo log musalmān ho ga'e, un ke muta'alliq Qur'ān-e-Karīm mein irshād hai:

ulā'ika yu'tawna ajrahum marratayni

yihī log hain jinhein un kā ajr do bār diyā jā'e gā.

Aur Qaiṣar-e-Rūm ke nām jo nāma-e-mubārak Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne taḥrīr farmāyā, us mein isī irshād-e-Qur’ānī kī wajah se āp ne Qaiṣar-e-Rūm ko yih likhā ki: "yu'tika-llāhu ajraka marratayni" — ahl-e-kitāb jo Islām lā'ein, un ke muta‘alliq to khud Qur’ān mein ajr-e-marratayn kī taṣrīḥ hai. Aur ek ḥadīṣ aur bhī hai jis mein tīn ādmiyon ke liye isī tarah dohrā ajr mazkūr hai; is kī tafṣīl Sūrat al-Qaṣaṣ mein āyat "yu'tawna ajrahum marratayni" ke tahat likhī gaī hai.

PDF PAGE 131 · Al-Jaṣṣāṣ on why scholars share this doubling principle; what "fāḥisha mubayyina" means here (not zinā — general sin/hurting the Prophet ﷺ, per Imām Muqātil); why reward needs conditions but punishment needs only one sin

Imām Abū Bakr al-Jaṣṣāṣ (raḥimahullāh) ne Aḥkām-ul-Qur’ān mein farmāyā ki jis sabab Ḥaqq Ta‘ālā ne azwāj-e-muṭaḥharāt (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhunna) ke ‘amal-e-ṣāliḥ kā ṣawāb du-gunā qarār diyā hai, aur un ke gunāh kī sazā bhī du-gunā qarār dī hai — ki woh ‘ulūm-e-nubuwwat aur waḥī-e-ilāhī kī khāṣ mawrid hain — isī sabab kī wajah se ‘ulamā-e-dīn mein bhī (yih uṣūl) maujūd hai. Is liye jo ‘ālim apne ‘ilm par ‘āmil bhī ho, us ko bhī is ‘amal kā ṣawāb dūsron se ziyāda mile gā; aur agar (koī ‘ālim) gunāh karega, to us kā gunāh kā ‘aḏāb bhī dūsron se ziyāda ho gā.

Lafẓ "fāḥisha" ‘arabī zabān mein bad-kārī aur zinā waghaira ke liye bhī isti‘māl kiyā jātā hai, aur muṭlaq ma‘ṣiyat aur gunāh ke liye bhī yih lafẓ Qur’ān mein baḳaṣrat isti‘māl huā hai. Is āyat mein "fāḥisha" ke lafẓ se bad-kārī aur zinā murād nahīn ho saktā, kyūnki Allāh Ta‘ālā ne apne sab paighambaron kī azwāj ko is sakht ‘aib se barī farmāyā hai; tamām anbiyā (‘alaihimu-s-salām) ke azwāj mein se kisī se bhī aisā fi‘l ṣādir nahīn huā. Ḥaḍrat Lūṭ aur Nūḥ (‘alaihimā-s-salām) kī bīwiyān apne (shauhar ke) dīn se munḥarīf hone aur sarkashī ikhtiyār karne kā jo ilzām un mein kisī par bhī thā — magar bad-kārī kā ilzām un mein kisī par bhī nahīn thā. Azwāj-e-muṭaḥharāt mein se kisī se bhī aise fāḥisha ke ṣudūr kā iḥtimāl hī na thā, is liye is āyat mein fāḥisha se murād ‘ām gunāh aur ma‘ṣiyat hai, jo Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī īzā o taklīf hai.

Aur is jagah "fāḥisha" ke sāth lafẓ "mubayyina" āyā hai — yih is par shāhid hai, kyūnki be-ḥayā‘ī aur bad-kārī kahīn mubayyina (khulī hu‘ī) nahīn hotī, woh pardon mein ikhfā se kī jātī hai. To (yahān) "fāḥisha-e-mubayyina" se murād ‘ām gunāh hain, yā Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī īzā hai.

A'imma-e-tafsīr mein se Imām Muqātil ibn Sulaimān ne is āyat mein is "fāḥisha" kā mafhūm Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī īzā hī qarār diyā hai — ki āp se koī aisā muṭālaba kiyā jā'e yā āp kī nāfarmānī ho, jis se āp ke liye mashaqqat ho. (Rawāhu-l-Baiḥaqī fī-s-Sunan)

Aur Qur'ān-e-Karīm ne dohre 'azāb ke silsile mein to şırf "fāḥisha-e-mubayyina" par 'azāb murattab kiyā hai, magar dohre ajr o şawāb ke liye kāi şarṭein rakhī hain:

Qur'an 33:31 —

wa man yaqnut minkunna li-llāhi wa rasūlihī wa ta'mal şālihān is mein qunūt — ya'nī itā'at-e-Allāh aur us ke Rasūl kī — şarṭ hai, phir 'amal-e-şālih (bhī) şarṭ hai.

Sabab yih hai ki ajr o şawāb to us waqt miltā hai jab itā'at mukammal ho aur 'amal-e-şālih bhī sāth ho; jab-ki sazā ke liye ek hī gunāh kāfī hai.

... Rasūlullāh (şallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) se aise muṭālabāt karne se rokā gayā hai jin kā pūrā karnā āp ke liye dushwār ho, yā jo āp kī şhān ke munāsib na hon; aur jab unhon ne is ko ikhtiyār kar liyā to un kā darja 'ām 'aurton se baḥḥā diyā gayā ki un ke ek 'amal ko do ke qā'im-maqām banā diyā. Āge un ko işlāḥ-e-'amal aur Rasūlullāh (şallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī şuḥbat o zaujiyat ke munāsib banāne ke liye chand hidāyāt dī ga'ī hain — yih sab hidāyāt agarcheh azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ke liye makhşuş nahīn, balkeh tamām hī musalmān 'aurte in kī ma'mūr hain, magar yahān azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ko khuşuşī khiṭāb kar ke is par mutawajjih kiyā gayā hai ki yih a'māl o aḥkām jo sab musalmān 'aurton ke liye lāzim o wājib hain, āp ko in kā ihtimām dūsron se ziyāda karnā chāhiye; aur "ka-aḥadin mina-n-nisā'" se yihī khuşuşiyat murād hai.

Āyat ke in alfāz se zāhiran ma'lūm hotā hai ki azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu 'anhunna) tamām dunyā kī 'aurton se afzal hain. Magar Qur'ān-e-Karīm kī āyat Ḥaḍrat Maryam ('alaihā-s-salām) ke bāre mein yih hai ki:

Qur'an 3:42 —

be-shak Allāh ne tujhe chun liyā aur tujhe pāk kiyā, aur tamām jahān kī ‘aurton is se Ḥaḍrat Maryam (‘alaihā-s-salām) kā sāre jahān kī ‘aurton se afṣal honā ṣābit

hotā hai. Aur Tirmizī mein Ḥaḍrat Anas (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) kī ḥadīṣ hai ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne farmāyā ki kāfī hain tum ko sārī ‘aurton mein se

ḥadīṣ mein Ḥaḍrat Maryam ke sāth tīn aur ‘aurton ko nisā’-e-‘ālamīn se afṣal farmāyā

Is liye is āyat mein jo azwāj-e-muṭahharāt kī afṣaliyat aur fauqiyat bayān kī ga‘ī hai, woh ek khāṣ ḥaiṣiyat — ya ‘nī azwāj-e-Nabī aur nisā’-un-Nabī honā — kī hai, jis mein woh

"lastunna ka-aḥadin mina-n-nisā’i in-ittaqaytunna" ke ba‘d "in-ittaqaytunna" yih shart us faṣīlat kī hai jo Allāh Ta‘ālā ne un ko nisā’-un-Nabī hone kī wajah se bakhshī hai.
Maqṣūd is se is bāt par tanbīh karnā hai ki faqat is nisbat o ta‘alluq par bharosā kar

Is āyat mein parde ke muta'alliq aṣlī ḥukm yih hai ki 'aurtein gharon mein rahein — ya'nī bilā-ẓarūrat-e-shar'īyya bāhar na nikalein — is ke sāth yih bhī farmāyā ki jis ṭarah Islām se pahle zamāna-e-jāhiliyat kī 'aurtein 'alāniya be-parda phirtī thīn, aise na phiro. Lafẓ "tabarruj" ke aṣl ma'nī zuḥūr ke hain, aur is jagah murād is se apnī zīnat kā izhār hai ghair mardon par, jaisā ki dūsarī āyat mein:

'Aurton ke parde kī pūrī baḥs aur mufaṣṣal aḥkāṃ āge isī sūrat mein ā'ein ge; yahān sirf āyat-e-mazkūra kī tashrīḥ likhī jātī hai. Is āyat se parde ke muta'alliq do bāten ma'lūm hotī hain: awwal yih ki aṣl maṭlūb 'ind-Allāh 'aurton ke liye yih hai ki woh gharon se na nikalein; un kī takhlīq ghareloo kāmon ke liye hu'ī hai, un mein mashghūl rahein; aur dar-aṣl parda jo shar'an maṭlūb hai woh ḥijāb bi-l-buyūt hai.

Dūsarī bāt yih ma'lūm hu'ī ki agar ba-ẓarūrat kabhī 'aurat ko ghar se nikalnā pāre to zīnat ke izhār ke sāth na nikle, balkeh burqa' yā jilbāb — jis mein pūrā badan ḍhak jā'e — pahan kar nikle, jaisā ki āge isī Sūrat al-Aḥzāb kī āyat:

Mazkūra hidāyāt mein ākhīrī tīn mein kisī ko shubha nahīn ho saktā ki yih azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ke sāth makhṣūṣ hon — ya ‘nī namāz, zakāt, aur Allāh o Rasūl kī iṭā‘at — in hidāyaton mein se koī musalmān mard o ‘aurat mustaṣnā nahīn ho saktā. Āyāt-e-sābiqa mein jo hidāyāt azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ko mukhāṭab kar ke dī ga‘ī hain, agarcheh un kī zāt ke sāth makhṣūṣ na thīn — balkeh pūrī ummat in aḣkām kī mukallaf hai — magar azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ko khuṣūṣī khiṭāb is liye kiyā gayā ki woh apnī shān aur bait-e-nubuwwat aur rif‘at ke mutanāsib in a‘māl kā ziyāda ihtimām karein. Lafz "rijs" Qur'an mein muta'addid ma'anī ke liye isti'māl huā hai. Ek jagah:

Qur'an 5:90 —

Ḥāṣil yih hai ki har woh chīz jo shar'an yā ṭab'an qābil-e-nafrat samjhī jātī ho, woh "rijs" hai. Is āyat mein yihī 'ām ma'nī murād hain. (Baḥr-e-Muḥīṭ)

Āyat mein "Ahl-e-Bait" se kyā murād hai?

Ūpar kī āyāt mein "nisā'a-n-Nabī" (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ko khiṭāb thā, is liye ba-ṣīgha-e-tanīṣ khiṭāb kiyā gayā. Aur ba'ḍ a'imma-e-tafsīr ne ahl-e-bait se murād sirf azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ko qarār diyā hai. Ḥaḍrat 'Ikrima o Muqātil ne yihī farmāyā hai; aur Sa'īd ibn Jubair (raḥimahullāh) ne Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhumā) se bhī riwāyat naql kī hai ki unhon ne is āyat mein ahl-e-bait se murād azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ko qarār diyā. Lekin ḥadīṣ-e-ṣaḥīḥ kī muta'addid riwāyāt jin ko Ibn Kaṣīr (raḥimahullāh) ne is jagah naql kiyā hai, is par shāhid hain ki ahl-e-bait mein Ḥaḍrat Fāṭima (raḍiyallāhu 'anhā) aur 'Alī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) aur Ḥaḍrat Ḥasan (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) o Ḥusain (raḍiyallāhu

Ibn Kaṣīr (raḥimahullāh) ne is mazmūn kī muta‘addid aḥādīṣ-e-mu‘tabara naql karne ke ba’d farmāyā ki dar-ḥaḳīqat in donon aqwāl mein — jo a’imma-e-tafsīr se manqūl hain — koī tazād nahīn. Jin logon ne yih kahā hai ki yih āyat azwāj-e-muṭahharāt kī shān mein nāzil hu’ī hai, aur ahl-e-bait wahī hain — is se yih munāfi nahīn ki dūsre ḥaẓrāt bhī ahl-e-bait mein shāmil hon. Is liye ṣaḥīḥ yih hai ki ahl-e-bait mein azwāj-e-muṭahharāt bhī dākhil hain, aur un kā (āyat mein) dākhil honā kisī shubha kā muḥtamil nahīn, kyūnki shān-e-nuzūl isī āyat kā wuhī hain; aur Ḥaḍrat Fāṭima o ‘Alī o Ḥasan o Ḥusain (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhum) bhī irshād-e-nabawī (‘alaihi-s-salām) ke muṭābiq ahl-e-bait mein shāmil hain.

Aur is āyat se pahle aur ba’d mein donon jagah "nisā’a-n-Nabī" ke ‘unwān se khiṭāb, aur un ke liye ṣīgha-e-mu’annaṣ kā isti‘māl farmā’e ga’e hain. Qur’ān aur ḥikmat se murād Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī ta‘līmāt aur sunnat-e-Rasūl hai, jaisā ki ‘amma mufasssīrīn ne ḥikmat kī tafsīr is jagah sunnat se kī hai. Fā’ida

Ibn al-‘Arabī ne Aḥkām-ul-Qur’ān mein farmāyā ki is āyat se yih ṣābit huā ki jo shakhṣ Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se koī āyat-e-Qur’ān yā ḥadīṣ sune, us par lāzim ho ki woh ummat ko pahunchā’e — yahān tak ki azwāj-e-muṭahharāt par bhī lāzim kiyā gayā ki jo āyāt-e-Qur’ān un ke gharon mein nāzil hon, yā jo ta‘līmāt Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se ḥāṣil hon, un kā zikr ummat ke dūsre afrād se karein, aur Allāh kī amānat un ko pahunchā’ein.

ā kar Allāh ko kaṣrat se zikr karne kā irshād farmāyā.

Is kī ḥikmat ḡāliban yih hai ki awwal to zikr-e-Allāh aṣl rūḥ hai sab 'ibādāt kī, jaisā ki Ḥaḍrat Mu'āz ibn Anas (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) kī riwāyat se āyā hai ki kisī shakhṣ ne Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) se su'āl kiyā ki mujāhidīn mein sab se ziyāda ajr o ṣawāb kis kā hai? Farmāyā: jo sab se ziyāda zikr-e-Allāh kā zikr kare. Phir isī tarah namāz, zakāt aur ḥajj o ṣadqa ke muta'alliq su'ālāt kiye; har martaba āp ne yihī farmāyā ki jo Allāh kā zikr ziyāda kare, wuhī ziyāda mustaḥiqq-e-ajr hai. (Rawāhu Aḥmad, Ibn Kaṣīr)

Dūsre yih ki (zikr) sab 'ibādāt mein sab se ziyāda sahl hai; is ke liye koī shart nahīn rakhī — wuzū, be-wuzū, leṭe, baiṭhe, chalte-phirte, har waqt mein zikr-e-Allāh kiyā jā saktā hai — woh na insān se koī meḥnat letā hai, na kisī furṣat ko muqtaṣī hai.

Is wāqī‘e par yih āyat nāzil hu‘ī: "wa mā kāna li-mu'minin wa lā mu'minatin" — al-āyah — jis mein yih hidāyat kī ga‘ī hai ki jab Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kisī ko kisī kām kā ba-taur-e-ḥukm de dein to us kām kā karnā wājib ho jātā hai, us ko na karne kā ikhtiyār shar‘an nahīn rahtā — agarcheh nafs-e-kām shar‘an wājib o ṣarūrī na ho — magar jis ko āp ne ḥukm de diyā, us par is ḥukm kā zimma lāzim o wājib ho jātā hai; aur jo aisā (ḥukm) na māne, to ākhir-e-āyat mein isī ko gumrahī farmāyā.

Ibn Kaṣīr (raḥimahullāh) waghaira mufasssīrīn ne isī tarah ke do wāqī‘e aur bhī naql kiye hain; in mein se bhī yih mazkūr hai ki āyat-e-mazkūra in wāqī‘āt ke muta‘alliq nāzil hu‘ī ho. In mein se ek wāqī‘a Ḥaḍrat Julaybīb (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) kā wāqī‘a hai ki un kā rishta ek Anṣārī ṣāḥabī kī laṛkī se karnā chāhā to us Anṣārī aur un ke ghar wālon ne is rishte aur nikāḥ se inkār kar diyā; jab yih āyat nāzil hu‘ī to sab rāḍī ho ga'e aur nikāḥ kar diyā gayā. Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne un ke liye wus‘at-e-rizq kī du‘ā farmāī. Ṣāḥāba-e-kirām kā bayān hai ki Allāh ne un ke ghar mein

Nikāḥ mein nasabī kufw kī ri‘āyat kā ḥukm aur darja

Nikāḥ-e-mazkūr mein Ḥaḍrat Zainab bint Jaḥsh (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) aur un ke bhāī ‘Abdullāh (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ne Zaid ibn Ḥārīṣa (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) se nikāḥ ko ibtidā mein nāpasand kiya thā; is kī wajah donon ke khāndānī nasab aur kafā‘at o mumāṣalat kā na honā thā, aur yih wajah shar‘an khud maṭlūb hai. Aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kā irshād hai ki laṛkiyon kā nikāḥ un ke kufw (hamsar) mein karnā chāhiye (is kī taḥqīq āge ā‘e gī) — is liye yahān yih su‘āl paidā hotā hai ki is ma‘āmale mein Ḥaḍrat Zainab (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) aur un ke bhāī ke ‘uzr kyūn maqbūl na hu’e.

Nikāḥ ek aisā ma'āmala hai jis mein agar zaujain kī ṭabā'ī kī muwāfaqat na ho to maqāṣid-e-nikāḥ mein khalal ātā hai, ek dūsre ke ḥuqūq adā karne mein khalal ātā hai, bāhamī jhagre aur niza' paidā hote hain. Is liye sharī'at mein kafā'at — ya'nī bāhamī mumāṣalat kī ri'āyat karne kā ḥukm diyā gayā hai. Magar is kā yih maṭlab nahīn ki koī a'lā khāndān kā ādmī apne se kam khāndān wāle ādmī ko zalīl yā razīl samjhe. Logon ke ṭa‘n o tashnī‘ se bachne ke liye Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam)

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne farmāyā ki zamāna-e-jāhiliyat mein jab Bait-Allāh kī ta‘mīr kī ga‘ī to us mein kāī chīzein bunyā-e-Ibrāhīmī ke khilāf kar dī ga‘ī hain. Awwal to yih ki Bait-Allāh kā kuchh ḥiṣṣa ta‘mīr se bāhar chhoṛ diyā; dūsre, bunyā-e-Ibrāhīmī mein logon ke Bait-Allāh mein dākhl hone ke liye do darwāze the — ek mashriqī jānib mein, dūsra maghribī jānib mein — jis kī wajah se Bait-Allāh mein dākhl hone aur nikalne mein zaḥmat na hotī thī. Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne farmāyā ki agar nau-musalmān logon ke ḡalaṭ-fahmī mein muṭtalā ho jāne kā khatra na hotā to main (Bait-Allāh ko) phir bunyā-e-Ibrāhīmī ke muṭābiq banā detā. Yih ḥadīṣ sab kutub-e-mu‘tabara mein maujūd hai. PDF PAGE 161 · Why "wa lākin Rasūla-llāh" was needed — nasabī fatherhood negated, rūḥānī fatherhood over the whole ummah affirmed; answering the mushrikīn's "abtar" taunt; "Khātām-un-Nabiyyīn" and its two qirā’āt explained

Mukhālifīn ke i’tirāz aur ṭa’n kā izāla isī jumle se ho gayā thā, magar āge dūsre shubhāt ke izāla ke liye farmāyā: "wa lākin rasūla-llāhī" — ḥarf-e-lākin ‘arabī zabān mein is kām ke liye ātā hai ki pichhle kalām mein jo koī shubha ho saktā thā us ko dūr kar diyā jā’e. Yahān jab Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke muta’alliq yih bayān kiyā gayā ki āp ummat ke mardon mein se kisī ke bāp nahīn, to is par yih shubha ho saktā thā ki har nabī apnī ummat kā bāp hotā hai, is liḥāz se Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ummat ke sabhī mardon o ‘aurton ke bāp hain — āp se abuwwat kī nafī goyā nubuwwat kī nafī hai.

Is kā jawāb "lākin rasūla-llāh" ke lafz se yih diyā gayā ki ḥaqīqī aur nasabī bāp honā — aur woh chīz hai jis par nikāḥ ke ḥalāl-o-ḥarām ke aḥkām ‘ā'id hote hain — aur ba-ḥaiṣiyat-e-nubuwwat ummat kā rūḥānī bāp honā dūsarī chīz hai jis se yih aḥkām muta‘alliq nahīn hote. To goyā maṭlab is pūre jumle kā yih ho gayā ki āp is ummat ke mardon mein se kisī ke nasabī bāp nahīn, lekin rūḥānī bāp sab ke hain.

Is mein ek dūstre ṭa‘n kā jawāb bhī ho gayā, jo ba‘ḏ mushrikīn ne kiyā thā ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) — ma‘āzallāh — abtar (ya‘nī maqtū‘-un-nasl) hain — ya‘nī koī zinda aulād āp kī nahīn hai jis se nasab chale, aur āp kā paighām chand roz ke ba‘d un kā qīṣṣa hī khatm ho jā'e gā. Alfāz-e-mazkūra ne yih wāḏeḥ kar diyā ki agarcheh nasabī aulād āp kī nahīn, lekin āp ko nasabī aulād kī ṣarūrat nahīn — is ke liye rūḥānī aulād kām kiyā kartī hai. Is liye chūnki āp Rasūlullāh hain, aur Rasūl ummat kā rūḥānī bāp hotā hai, is liye āp pūrī ummat ke rūḥānī bāp hone kī ḥaiṣiyat se sab dūstre bāpon kī nisbat kaṣīr-ul-aulād hain.

Yahān jab-ki Ānḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī risālat o nubuwwat kā zikr āyā, aur is maṣab-e-nubuwwat mein āp ko tamām dūstre anbiyā se khāṣ imtiyāzī faḏīlat ḥāṣil hai, to āge āp kī makhṣūṣ shān aur tamām anbiyā (‘alaihimu-s-salām) par āp kā fā'iḳ honā is lafz se wāḏeḥ kiyā gayā:

Qur'an 33:40 — (restated)
wa khātama-n-nabiyyīn
aur mohr sab nabiyyon par —

Lafz "khātam" mein do qirā'aten hain: Imām Ḥasan (raḥimahullāh) aur ‘ām qurrā "khātim" bi-faṭḥ-it-tā, aur dūstre a'imma-e-qirā'at "khātam" bi-kasr-it-tā paṛhte hain. Ḥāṣil ma'nī donon kā ek hī hai, ya'nī anbiyā ko khatm karne wāle — kyūnki "khātam", khwāḥ bi-kasr-it-tā ho yā bi-faṭḥ-it-tā, donon ma'nī ākhir ke āte hain, aur mohr ke ma'nī mein bhī.

PDF PAGE 162 · Dictionary and tafsīr support for both qirā'āt of "khātam"; the summary meaning (last of the prophets); why khatm-un-nubuwwah is the crowning perfection of prophethood, tied to "al-yauma akmalu lakum dīnakum"

Yih donon lafz isti'māl hote hain, aur dono kā naṭīja aur dūstre ma'nī donon kā ek hī ma'nī hai — ya'nī ākhir ke ma'nī mein — kyūnki mohr kisī chīz par band karne ke liye us ke ākhir hī mein makī jā'tī hai. Lafz "khātam" bi-l-kasr wa-l-faṭḥ, donon ke ma'nī ‘arabī lugat kī tamām kitābon mein mazkūr hain — Qāmūs, Ṣiḥāḥ, Lisān-ul-‘Arab, Tāj-ul-‘Arūs waghaira isī liye tafsīr Rūḥ-ul-Ma‘ānī mein "khātam" ba-ma'nī mohr bhī, ḥāṣil ma'nī ākhir ke batlā'e hain. Is ke alfāz yih hain: "wa-l-khātimu ismu-l-āyah bihi khutima kālkhātam limā yuṭba‘u bihi; fa-ma'nā khātami-n-nabiyyīna-l-lazī khutima bihi ammu-n-nabiyyīn" — yihī mazmūn tafsīr Baiḏāwī aur Rāḥmadī mein bhī mazkūr hai.

Imām Rāḡib ne Mufradāt-ul-Qur’ān mein farmāyā: "wa khātamu-n-nubuwwati āyatuhū — ay tammatu bihī mu’jizātuhū" — ya’nī āp ko khātam-un-nubuwwat is liye kahā gayā, is liye ki āp ne nubuwwat ko us ke shurafā’ lāne se khatm aur mukammal kar diyā.

Aur muḥkam Ibn Sayyidih mein hai: "khātimu kulli shai’in wa khātimatuhū wa ‘āqibatuhū wa ākhiratuhū" — ya’nī har chīz kā khātam aur khātima us ke anjām aur ākhir ko kahā jātā hai.

Khulāṣa yih hai ki qirā’at khwāh bi-faṭḥ tā kī lī jā’e yā bi-kasr tā kī, ma’nī donon ṣūraton mein yih hain ki āp hain ki āp khatm karne wāle hain in ānewāle anbiyā ke, ya’nī āp sab ke ākhir aur āp ke ba’d mab’ūṣ hone wāle (koī nabī nahīn hai).

Ek aisī ṣifāt hai jo tamām kamālāt-e-nubuwwat o risālat mein āp kī a’lā faẓīlat aur khuṣūṣiyat ko ṣāhir kartī hai — kyūnki ‘umūman har chīz mein tadrījī taraqqī hotī hai, aur is kā intihā par pahunch kar us kī takmīl hotī hai, aur woh ākhirī natīja hī daraṣṭ maqṣūd hotā hai. Qur’ān-e-Karīm ne khud is ko wāḣeḥ kar diyā hai:

al-yauma akmaltu lakum dīnakum wa atmamtu ‘alaikum ni‘matī āj mein ne tumhārā dīn tumhāre liye mukammal kar diyā, aur apnī ne ‘mat tum par pūrī kar dī.

Anbiyā-e-sābiqīn ke dīn bhī apne-apne waqt ke liḥāṣ se mukammal to the, magar kamāl-e-muṭlaq isī dīn-e-Muṣṭafawī ko ḥāṣil huā, jo awwalīn o ākhirīn ke liye ḥujjat aur qiyāmat tak chalne wālā dīn hai.

Is jagah ṣifāt khātam-un-nabiyyīn ke izāfe se is mazmūn kī aur bhī ziyāda wuḣāḥat aur takmīl ho gaī ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ko maqtū‘-un-nasl kahnā jahālāt hai, jab-ki sārī ummat ke bāp hone kī ḥaiṣiyat se āp mutaṣṣif hain — kyūn ki lafẓ ...

Āp kā khātam-un-nabiyyīn honā ākhīr zamāna mein ‘Īsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) ke nuzūl ke munāfi nahīn

Chūnki Qur’ān-e-Karīm kī muta‘addid āyāt aur aḥādīs-e-mutawātira se yih sābit hai ki qiyāmat se pahle ākhīr zamāna mein Ḥaḍrat ‘Īsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) phir dunyā mein tashrīf lā‘ein ge, dajjāl-e-a‘zam ko qatl karein ge, aur us waqt har gumrahī ko khatm karein ge — jis kī tafṣīl aḥqar ke risāla "At-Taṣrīḥ bimā Tawātara fī Nuzūl-il-Masīḥ" mein mazkūr hai.

Mirzā-e-Qādiyānī ne ‘Īsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) kā zinda āsmān mein uṭḥāyā jānā, aur phir ākhīr zamāne mein tashrīf lānā — jo Qur’ān aur Sunnat kī be-shumār nuṣūṣ se sābit hai — un kā inkār kar ke, khud Masīḥ-e-Mau‘ūd hone kā da‘wā kiyā, aur istidlāl mein yih pesh kiyā ki agar Ḥaḍrat ‘Īsā ibn Maryam — nabī Banī-Isrā‘īl — kā phir dunyā mein ānā taslīm kiyā jā‘e to yih Ānḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke khātam-un-nabiyyīn hone ke munāfi ho gā.

Jawāb bilkul wāzeḥ hai ki khātam-un-nabiyyīn aur ākhīr-un-nabiyyīn ke ma‘nī yih hain ki āp ke ba‘d koī shakhṣ ‘ohda-e-nubuwwat par fā‘iz na ho gā; is se yih lāzim nahīn ātā ki āp se pahle jis ko nubuwwat ‘aṭā ho chukī hai, un kī nubuwwat salb ho jā‘e gī, yā un mein se koī is ‘ālam mein phir nahīn ā saktā. Albatta Ānḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke ba‘d jo bhī āp kī ummat mein iṣlāḥ o tablīgh ke liye ā‘e gā, woh apnī nubuwwat par qā‘im hote hu‘e, is ummat mein iṣlāḥ kī khidmat Ānḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī ta‘līmāt hī ke tābi‘ anjām de gā — jaisā ki aḥādīs-e-ṣaḥīḥa mein taṣrīḥ hai.

Ummat kā ijmā‘ hai, aur Qur’ān is par nāṭiq hai, aur aḥādīṣ-e-Rasūl jo taqrīban darja-e-tawātur ko pahunchī huī hain is par shāhid hain — woh yih ki Ḥaḍrat ‘Īsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) ākhīr zamāna mein nāzil hon ge, kyūnki un ko nubuwwat is dunyā mein hamāre Nabī (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se pahle mil chukī thī.

Is mudda ‘ī-e-nubuwwat ne da ‘wā-e-nubuwwat kā rāsta hamwār karne ke liye ek na‘ī chāl yih chālī kī nubuwwat kī ek na‘ī qism ījād kī, jis kā Qur’ān o Sunnat mein koī wujūd-e-ṣubūt nahīn, aur phir yih kahā kī yih qism-e-nubuwwat, ḥukm-e-Qur’ānī khatm-e-nubuwwat ke munāfi nahīn. Khulāṣa is kā yih hai kī us ne nubuwwat ke mafhūm mein woh rāsta ikhtiyār kiya jo dūsrī qaumon mein ma‘rūf hai, kī ek shakḥ dūsrī kī shakḥ ke jism mein (ba-za‘m-e-un ke) ḥulūl kar saktā hai; aur phir yih kahā kī jo shakḥ Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke kāmil ittibā‘ kī wajah se āp kā ham-rang ho gayā ho, us mein āp kā ānā goyā khud āp hī kā ānā hai — woh dar-ḥaqīqat āp hī kā ḡill aur burūz hotā hai, is liye is ke da‘we se ‘aqīda-e-khatm-e-nubuwwat mutā‘ṣir nahīn hotā.

Magar awwal to khud yih ījād-e-nau — kī nubuwwat-e-Islām mein kamāl se āī — is kā koī ṣubūt nahīn. Is ke ‘ilāwa woh mas‘ala khatm-e-nubuwwat — chūnki ‘aqā‘id-e-Islāmiyya kā ek bunyādī ‘aqīda hai — is liye Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ne is ko mukhtalif ‘unwānāt se mukhtalif auqāt mein aisā wāzeḥ kar diya hai kī kī taḥrīf karne wāle kī koī taḥrīf ḥall nahīn kar saktī. Is tamsīl-e-balīg kā ḥāṣil yih hai ki nubuwwat ek ‘ālī-shān maḥall hai, jis ke arkān anbiyā (‘alaihimu-s-salām) hain. Ānḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se pahle yih maḥall bilkul taiyār ho chukā thā, aur us mein ṣīrf ek īnṭ ke siwā kisī aur qism kī gunjā‘ish ta‘mīr mein bāqī nahīn thī. Is ke muta‘alliq farmāyā ki ummat ke, āp ke ba‘d, ta‘līm o hidāyat kā intizām kis zari‘e se ho gā, jo Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke khulafā' ke zari‘e āp ke maqāṣid-e-nubuwwat ko pūrā karein ge — agarcheh ḡillī, burūzī koī nubuwwat kī qism ho, yā ghair-tashrī‘ī nubuwwat bāqī hotī, to ḡarūrat na thī yahān is kā zikr kiyā

Ai īmān wālo! Iḥsānāt-e-ilāhiyya ko 'umūman, aur aise iḥsān ke — akmal Rasūl kī ba 'ṣat ke baḥṣ ke khuṣūṣan — yād kar ke us kā shukr adā karo ki Allāh ko khūb kaṣrat se yād karo, aur is zikr par (aur) is ṭā 'at par dawām rakho — ṣub-o-shām (ya 'nī 'alā-d-dawām) is kī tasbīḥ (o taqdīs) karte raho — dil se bhī aur a 'ṣā' se bhī, aur zabān se bhī.

Pas jumla-e-ūlā se 'umūm-e-a 'māl o ṭā 'āt kā, aur jumla-e-sāniya mein 'umūm-e-azmina-o-auqāt kā ḥāṣil ho gayā — ya 'nī na to aisā karo ki koī ḥukm bajā lā'e aur koī na bajā lā'e, aur na aisā karo ki kisī din koī kām kar liyā, kisī din na kiyā.

Us ne tum par bahut iḥsān kiye hain, aur ā'inda bhī kartā rahtā hai; pas bi-ṣ-zarūrat yih mūjib-e-zikr-o-shukr hai. Chunānchēh Allāh — woh aisā raḥīm hai ki khud, us ke ḥukm se (us ke farishte bhī), tum par raḥmat bhejte rahte hain — aur farishton kā raḥmat bhejnā (mo'minīn ke liye) du 'ā-e-raḥmat karnā hai, kamā qāla-llazīna yaḥmilūna-l-'arsh... ilā ākhirihī. Aur yih raḥmat bhejnā is liye hai, tāki Ḥaqq Ta 'ālā — bi-barakat is raḥmat ke — tum ko jahālat o ṣalālat kī tārkīyon se 'ilm-o-hidāyat ke nūr kī taraf le ā'e — ya 'nī Khudā'ī raḥmat aur du 'ā-e-malā'ika kī barakat ho, ki tum ko 'ilm aur hidāyat kī tawfīq aur us par ṣabāt ḥāṣil ho — is kā sabab yihī hai ki yih raḥmat har waqt mutajaddid hotī rahtī hai.

Aur is se ṣābit huā ki Allāh Ta 'ālā mo 'minīn par bahut meḥrbān hai; aur yih raḥmat mo 'minīn ke ḥāl par dunyā aur ākhirat, donon mein hai — aur dar-aṣl ākhirat mein woh bhī maur-e-raḥmat hon ge. Chunānchēh jis roz Allāh se milein ge, to un ko jo salām ho gā, woh khud Allāh Ta 'ālā kī taraf se 'izzat-o-i 'zāz kī 'alāmat hī hai — phir jab-ki khud Allāh Ta 'ālā kī taraf se salām ho, kamā qāla:

Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhumā) ne fārmāyā ki Allāh Ta'ālā ne apne bandon par zikr-Allāh ke sivā kisī aisī 'ibādat kī bakaṣrat karne kā ḥukm nahīn diyā jis kī koī khāṣ ḥadd muqarrar na ho: pānch waqt kī, aur har namāz ke rak'āt kī ta'dād muta'ayyin hain; roza ek māh-e-Ramaṣān ke muta'ayyin aur maqarrar hai; ḥajj bhī khāṣ maqām par khāṣ a'māl muqarrara karne kā nām hai; zakāt bhī sāl mein ek hī martaba farz hotī hai — magar zikr-Allāh aisī 'ibādat hai ki us ke na koī ḥadd aur ta'dād muta'ayyin hai, na koī khāṣ waqt aur zamāna muqarrar hai, na is ke liye koī khāṣ hai'at-e-qiyām yā nishist kī muqarrar hai, na is ke liye ṭāhir honā, yā baraiyya (qibla-rukḥ honā), yā wuḍū' honā shart hai.

Isī liye is ke tark mein insān kā koī 'uzr masmū' nahīn, bajuz is ke ki us ke ḥawāss

Imām Aḥmad ne Ḥaḍrat Abū-d-Dardā' (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se riwāyat kiyā hai ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ne ṣaḥāba-e-kirām ko khiṭāb kar ke farmāyā ki: "kyā main tumhein na batlā'ūn woh chīz jo tumhāre a'māl mein se behtar, aur tumhāre mālik ke nazdīk sab se ziyāda maqbūl hai, aur tumhāre darajāt buland karne wālī hai, aur tumhāre liye sone-chāndī kharch karne se, aur (sone-chāndī) tumhāre liye jihād-fī-sabīlillāh ke liye kharch karne se behtar hai, aur is se bhī behtar hai ki tum apne dushman se ...

Āyat-e-mazkūra mein lafẓ "ṣalāt" Allāh Ta‘ālā ke liye bhī isti‘māl kiyā gayā hai, aur farishton ke liye bhī — lekin dono ke maṣādīq-e-ṣalāt alag-alag hain: Allāh kī ṣalāt to yih hai ki woh raḥmat nāzil farmā’e; aur farishte khud to kisī kām par qādir nahīn hain ki un kī ṣalāt yih ho ki woh nuzūl-e-raḥmat kī du‘ā māngein.

yā ayyuha-n-nabiyyu innā arsalnāka shāhidan wa mubashshiran wa nazīrā, wa dā'iyan ila-llāhi bi-iznīhī wa sirājan munīrā

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī khāṣ ṣifāt

Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī khāṣ ṣifāt-e-kamāl aur manāqib kī taraf is mein ishāra hai. Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kī pānch ṣifāt kā zikr farmāyā: shāhid, mubashshir, nazīr, dā'ī ilā-llāh, aur sirāj-e-munīr.

Shāhid se murād yih hai ki āp qiyāmat ke roz ummat ke liye shahādat dein ge, jaisā ki Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī, Nasā'ī, Tirmizī waghaira mein Ḥaḍrat Abū Sa'īd al-Khudrī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se ek ṭawīl ḥadīṣ riwāyat hai, jis ke ba'ṣ jumle yih hain ki qiyāmat ke roz Nūḥ ('alaihi-s-salām) pesh hon ge, to un se su'āl kiyā jā'e gā ki āp kā (ḥaqq) paighām pahunchāne kā koī is par gawāh (shāhid) hai? Woh 'arz karein ge ki Muḥammad (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) aur un kī ummat gawāh hain. Ba'ṣ riwāyāt mein hai ki woh gawāhī ummat-e-Muḥammadiyya pesh karein ge, to ummat-e-Nūḥ (‘alaihi-s-salām) un par yih jarḥ karein gī ki yih hamāre ma‘āmale mein kaise gawāhī de sakte hain — yih to us waqt wujūd hī paidā nahīn hu'e the, ham se bahut zamāne ba‘d paidā hu'e hain.

Is jarḥ kā jawāb ummat-e-Muḥammadiyya se pūchhā jā'e gā; yih jawāb dein ge ki be-shak ham us waqt maujūd nahīn the, magar ham ne is kī khabar apne Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se sunī thī, jis par hamārā īmān o i‘tiqād hai. Us waqt Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) se āp kī ummat ke, āp ke is qaul kī taṣdīq ke liye, shahādat lī jā'e gī.

Khulāṣa yih hai ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) apnī ummat kī shahādat ke zari‘a (dūsarī) ummaton kī taṣdīq o tauṣīq farmā'ein ge, ki be-shak main ne un ko yih khabar dī thī.

Aur ummat par shāhid hone kā ek mafhūm-e-‘ām yih bhī ho saktā hai ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ...

Apnī ummat ke sab afrād ke achche-bure a‘māl kī shahādat dein ge; aur yih shahādat is binā par ho gī ki ummat ke a‘māl Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke sāmne har roz ṣubaḥ-o-shām, aur hafte mein ek roz, pesh hote hain, aur āp ek-ek fard is ummat ke a‘māl ke zari‘e pahchānte hain. Is liye qiyāmat ke roz āp ummat ke shāhid banāye jā'ein ge. (Rawāhu Ibn al-Mubārak ‘an Sa‘īd ibn al-Musayyib, Maḥzarī)

Aur "mubashshir" ke ma‘nī bishārat dene wālā — murād yih hai ki āp apnī ummat ke nek logon ko jannat kī khush-khabarī sunāne wāle hain. Aur "nazīr" ke ma‘nī ḍarāne wālā — murād yih hai ki āp ummat ke logon ko jo ṣūrat khilāf-e-shar‘ī hai us ke bāre mein ‘aḏāb se ḍarāte hain.

"Dā‘ī ilā-llāh" se murād yih hai ki āp ummat ko Allāh Ta‘ālā ke wujūd aur tauḥīd aur iṭā‘at kī taraf da‘wat dene wāle hain. "Dā‘īyan ilā-llāhi bi-iznīhī" ke sāth mashrūṭ farmāyā ki āp logon ko Allāh kī taraf da‘wat dete hain aur bulāne wāle hain, woh ādmī Allāh kī izn se hain. Is qaid-o-sharṭ kā izāfa is liye hai ki tabligī-o-da‘wat kī khidmat sakht-dushwār hai; woh Allāh Ta‘ālā ke izn aur i‘ānat ke bagair insān ke bas mein nahīn ā saktī.

"Sirāj" ke ma‘nī charāḡ, aur "munīr" ke ma‘nī raushan karne wālā hai. Is pānchwīn ṣifāt mein is bāt kā bayān farmāyā gayā ki āp raushan karne wāle charāḡ hain — aur

Baihaqī waghaira ke ḥawāle se Ḥaḍrat Qāḍī Ṣanā‘ullāh Ṣāhib ne Tafsīr-e-Maẓharī mein farmāyā ki āp kī ṣifat "dā‘ī ilā-llāh" to ṣāhīran zabān ke i‘tibār se hai, aur "sirāj-e-munīr" kī ṣifat āp ke qalb-e-mubārak ke i‘tibār se hai — ki jis tarah sārā ‘ālam āftāb kī raushnī se ḥāṣil kartā hai, isī tarah tamām mo‘minīn ke qulūb āp ke qalb ke nūr se munawwar hote hain. Aur yih bhī kahā jā saktā hai ki tamām anbiyā, khuṣūṣan Rasūl-e-Karīm (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam), āp is dunyā se guzarne ke ba‘d bhī apnī qabron mein zinda hain ...

Ma‘ārif o Mas‘īl

Āyāt-e-mazkūra mein nikāḥ o ṭalāq waghaira se muta‘alliq in sāt aḥkāṁ kā zikr hai jo Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke liye makhṣūṣ hain, aur yih khuṣūṣiyāt Ānḥadrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī ek imtiyāzī shān aur khuṣūṣī i‘zāz kī ‘alāmat hain. In mein se ba‘z aḥkāṁ to aise hain ki un kī khuṣūṣiyat Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke sāth bilkul wāḥid aur jalī hai; aur ba‘z aise hain jo agarcheh sab musalmānon ke liye ‘ām hain, magar in mein se kuchh qaidein shar‘ī Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke liye makhṣūṣ hain. Ab in kī tafṣīl dekhiye.

Pahlā ḥukm: "innā aḥlalnā laka azwājaka-l-lātī ātaita ujūrahunna" — ya ‘nī ham ne ḥalāl kar diyā āp ke liye āp kī maujūda azwāj ko, jin ko mahr adā kar dete hain. Yih ḥukm ba-zāḥir yih hai ki nuzūl-e-āyat ke waqt āp ke nikāḥ mein chār se ziyāda ‘aurtein maujūd thīn, aur ‘ām musalmānon ke liye chār se zā‘id ‘aurton ko ek-bāraghī nikāḥ mein jama‘ karnā ḥalāl nahīn — to yih āp kī khuṣūṣiyat thī ki chār se ziyāda ‘aurton ko nikāḥ mein rakhnā āp ke liye ḥalāl kar diyā gayā.

Aur is āyat mein jo "ātaita ujūrahunna" farmāyā, yih koī qaid-e-ihtirāzī yā shart-e-ḥillat nahīn, balkah yih wāqī' e kā izhār hai — ki jitnī 'aurtein Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke nikāḥ mein ā'īn, āp ne mahr naqd adā kar diyā. Āp kī 'ādat-e-sharīfa yih thī ki jis chīz kā denā āp ke zimma 'ā'id huā, us ko fauran, be-kam-o-besh, de diyā karte the.

PDF PAGE 188 · Second ruling — "mā malakat yamīnuka" and the meaning of "fai"; a slave-woman lawful for the Prophet ﷺ (e.g. Ḥaḍrat Māriya al-Qibṭiyya) remains unlawful to marry for anyone after him; Ḥakīm-ul-Ummat's two further exclusivities begin — "ṣafiyy-un-Nabī" from war-booty

Bilā zarūrat tā'khīr na farmāte the; is wāqī' e ke izhār mein 'ām musalmānon ko bhī aisā karne kī tarḡīb hai.

Dūsra ḥukm: "wa mā malakat yamīnuka mimmā afā'a-llāhu 'alaika" — ya'nī aur āp ke liye ḥalāl kar diyā un 'aurton ko jo āp ke mulk mein hon, is tarah ki Allāh Ta'ālā ne un ko āp kā mālīk banā diyā ho. (Is āyat mein lafẓ "afā'a" "fai" se mushtaq hai. Is āyat mein is kā zikr kisī shart ke taur par nahīn ki āp ke liye ṣirf woh kanīz ḥalāl ho gī jo māl-e-fai' yā ḡanīmat mein āp ke ḥisṣe mein ā'ī ho, balkah jis ko āp ne qīmat de kar kharīdā woh bhī is ḥukm mein shāmil hai.)

Lekin is ḥukm mein ba-zāhir Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) kā koī ikhtīṣāṣ-o-imtiyāz nahīn, pūrī ummat ke liye yih ḥukm hai — jo kanīz māl-e-ḡanīmat se ḥisṣe mein ā'e, yā jise qīmat de kar kharīdein, woh un ke liye ḥalāl hai. Is liye Rūḥ-ul-Ma'ānī mein kanīzon kī ḥillat se muta'alliq bhī Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke sāth khuṣūṣiyat batlā'ī hai ki jis tarah āp ke ba'd azwāj-e-muṭaḥharāt mein se kisī kā nikāḥ kisī ummatī se ḥalāl nahīn.

Isī tarah jo kanīz āp ke liye ḥalāl kī ga'ī hai, āp ke ba'd kisī ke liye ḥalāl na ho gī — jaisā ki Ḥaḍrat Māriya al-Qibṭiyya (raḍiyallāhu 'anhā) hain, jin ko Muḡauqīs bādshāh-e-Rūm ne āp ke liye hadiya bhejā thā. To jis tarah āp kī wafāt ke ba'd azwāj-e-muṭaḥharāt kā nikāḥ kisī se jā'iz nahīn rakhā gayā, isī tarah in kā bhī kisī nikāḥ se jā'iz nahīn rakhā gayā. "banāti ‘ammika wa banāti ‘ammātika" ... al-āyah — is āyat mein "‘am" aur "‘ammāt" aur "khāl" aur "khālāt" ko mufrad lāne kī wujūḥāt ‘ulamā ne bahut likhī hain. Tafsīr Rūḥ-ul-Ma‘ānī ne Abū Ḥayyān kī is taujīḥ ko ikhtiyār kiyā hai ki muḡāwara-e-‘Arab kā isī tarah hī hai; ash‘ār-e-‘Arab is par shāhid hain ki "‘am" kī jama‘ kī jagah mufrad hī isti‘māl hotā hai.

Maṭlab āyat kā yih hai ki āp ke liye chachā aur phūphī kī laṛkiyān, aur māmūn-khāla kī laṛkiyān, ḥalāl kar dī gā‘īn. Chachā-phūphī mein bāp ke khāndān kī sab laṛkiyān, aur māmūn-khāla mein mām ke khāndān kī sab laṛkiyān shāmil hain, aur in se nikāḥ kā ḥalāl honā (sab musalmānon kā) yihī ḥukm hai. Lekin in mein yih qaid ki unhon ne āp ke sāth Makka-e-Mukarrama se hijrat kī ho, yih Ānḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kī khuṣūṣiyat hai. Is kā ḥāṣil yih hai ki ‘ām ummat ke liye to bāp aur mām ke khāndān kī yih laṛkiyān baḡair kisī shart ke ḥalāl hain, khwāh unhon ne hijrat kī ho yā na kī ho, magar Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ke liye in mein se ṣirf wuhī ḥalāl hain jinhon ne āp ke sāth hijrat kī ho.

Aur Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) se nikāḥ ke liye muḥājirāt kī shart sirf āp ke khāndān kī laṛkiyon mein thī; 'ām ummat kī 'aurton mein hijrat kī shart na thī, balkeh un kā sirf musalmān honā kāfī thā. Aur khāndān kī laṛkiyon mein hijrat kī shart lagāne mein shāyad yih ḥikmat ho ki 'umūman khāndān kī laṛkiyon ko apne khāndān kā ek nāz aur fakhr hotā hai, aur Rasūl kī zaujiyat ke liye yih shāyān-e-shān nahīn — is kā 'ilāj hijrat kī shart se kiyā gayā, kyūnki hijrat sirf woh hī 'aurat kare gī jo Allāh-o-Rasūl kī muḥabbat ko apne sāre khāndān aur waṭan aur jā'idād kī muḥabbat se ḡalīb rakhe. Khulāṣa yih hai ki mān-bāp ke khāndān kī laṛkiyon ke nikāḥ mein Ānḥaḍrat (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke liye ek khuṣūṣī shart yih hai ki unhon ne hijrat kar ke Makka se Madīna mein hijrat karne mein āp kā sāth diyā ho.

lā yaḥillu laka-n-nisā’u min ba‘du wa lā an tabaddala bihinna min azwājīn wa lau a‘jabaka ḥusnuhunna

Ya’nī is ke ba‘d āp ke liye dūsarī ‘aurton se nikāḥ ḥalāl nahīn, aur yih bhī ḥalāl nahīn ki āp maujūda azwāj mein se kisī ko ṭalāq de kar us kī jagah dūsarī badal lein.

Is āyat mein lafẓ "min ba‘du" kī do tafsīrein ho saktī hain — ek yih ki murād yih ho: in nau ‘aurton ke ba‘d jo is āyat ke waqt āp ke nikāḥ mein thīn, in ke ‘ilāwa aur kisī se āp kā nikāḥ ḥalāl nahīn. Ba‘ṣ ṣaḥāba aur a’imma se bhī yihī tafsīr manqūl hai, jaisā ki Ḥaḍrat Anas (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ne ...

PDF PAGE 196 · First tafsīr of "min ba'du" continues — the wives' own choice to stay exclusive to him (Ibn 'Abbās, 'Ikrima); second tafsīr — "min ba'du" as referring to the categories already named at the āyah's start, so no new prohibition, just emphasis; 'Ā'isha's (raḍiyallāhu 'anhā) riwāyat supporting it

Farmāyā ki jab Allāh Ta'ālā ne azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ko ikhtiyār diyā ki agar dunyā-ṭalabī se āp se judā'ī ikhtiyār karein, yā phir tangī o farākhī jo kuchh pesh ā'e us par qanā'at kar ke āp kī zaujiyat mein rahnā chāhein — to sab azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ne apne nafqa kī ziyādātī ke muṭālbe ko chhoṛ kar isī ḥāl mein rahnā ikhtiyār kiyā, to Allāh Ta'ālā ne āp kī zāt-e-girāmī ko in azwāj ke liye makhṣūṣ kar diyā, in ke siwā kisī se nikāḥ jā'iz na rahā. (Rawāhu-l-Baihaqī fī Sunanihī, kazā fī-r-Rūḥ)

Aur Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhumā) ne farmāyā ki jis tarah Allāh Ta'ālā ne azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ko āp ke liye makhṣūṣ farmā diyā ki āp ke ba'd bhī woh kisī se nikāḥ nahīn kar saktīn, isī tarah āp ko bhī un ke liye makhṣūṣ farmā diyā ki āp un ke 'ilāwa aur koī nikāḥ nahīn kar sakte. Ḥaḍrat 'Ikrima (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se bhī ek riwāyat mein yihī tafsīr manqūl hai.

Aur Ḥaḍrat 'Ikrima (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu), Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhumā), aur Mujāhid o a'imma-e-tafsīr se ek riwāyat mein lafz "min ba'du" kī yih tafsīr naql kī ga'ī hai ki "min ba'di-l-aṣnāfi-l-mazkūrati" — ya'nī shurū'-e-āyat mein āp ke liye jitnī aqsām 'aurton kī ḥalāl kī ga'ī hain, is ke ba'd — ya'nī in ke siwā aur qism kī 'aurton se āp kā nikāḥ ḥalāl nahīn.

Maslan shurū'-e-āyat mein apne khāndān kī 'aurton mein se ṣirf woh ḥalāl kī ga'īn jinhon ne Makka-e-Mukarrama se Madīna Ṭayyiba hijrat karne mein āp kī muwāfaqat-e-waqt kī thī; khāndān kī 'aurton mein ḡair-muhājirāt se āp kā nikāḥ ḥalāl nahīn rakhā gayā. Isī tarah mo'mina kī qaid lagā kar ahl-e-kitāb kī 'aurton se nikāḥ nā-jā'iz qarār de diyā gayā.

To āyat ke jumle "min ba'du" kā maṭlab yih hai ki jitnī qismein āp ke liye ḥalāl kar dī ga'ī hain, ṣirf inhīn mein se āp kā nikāḥ ho saktā hai; 'ām 'aurton mein to musalmān honā hī shart hai, aur khāndān kī 'aurton ke sāth muhājira honā bhī shart hai. Jin mein yih do shartein maujūd na hon, un se āp kā nikāḥ ḥalāl nahīn.

Is tafsīr ke muṭābiq yih jumla koī nayā ḥukm nahīn, balkeh pahle hī ḥukm kī tākīd o tauzīḥ hai jo shurū'-e-āyat mein bayān huā hai. Aur is āyat kī wajah se koī kisī aur 'aurat se nikāḥ ḥarām nahīn kiyā gayā, balkeh ḡair-mo'mina aur ḡair-khāndān kī 'aurton se nikāḥ mamnū' huā hī, jo pahle hī ma'lūm ho chukā hai; bāqī 'aurton se mazīd nikāḥ āp ke liye ikhtiyār mein rahā.

Ḥaḍrat ‘Ā’isha Ṣiddīqa (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) kī ek riwāyat se bhī is dūsarī tafsīr kī tā’id hotī hai, ki āp ke liye mazīd nikāḥ karne kī ijāzat rahī. Wallāhu a‘lam.

PDF PAGE 197 · Seventh ruling concludes (only "substitution" was forbidden, not future marriages, per the second tafsīr); Qur’ān matn + tarjuma, Sūrat al-Aḥzāb 33:53 begins — the āyat-e-ḥijāb: entering the Prophet's ﷺ houses only by invitation, asking his wives from behind a curtain, and never marrying them after him

"Wa lā an tabaddala bihinna min azwāj" — dūsarī tafsīr ikhtiyār karne par is jumle kā maṭlab wāḍeḥ hai ki agarcheh āp ko maujūda azwāj ke ‘ilāwa dūsarī ‘aurton se nikāḥ ba-sharā’iṭ-e-mazkūra jā’iz hai, magar yih jā’iz nahīn ki ek ko ṭalāq de kar us kī jagah dūsarī ko badal lein — ya’nī khālīṣ tabdīlī kī niyyat se koī nikāḥ jā’iz nahīn, baḡair liḥāḡ-e-tabdīlī ke jitne chāhein nikāḥ kar sakte hain.

Aur agar āyat-e-mazkūra kī pahlī tafsīr murād lī jā’e to ma’nī yih hon ge ki ā’inda na kisī ‘aurat kā izāfa maujūda azwāj mein āp kar sakte hain, aur na kisī kī tabdīlī kar sakte hain, ki us ke qā’im-maqām kisī aur ‘aurat se nikāḥ kar lein. Wallāhu subḥānahū wa Ta‘ālā a‘lam.

Is wāqi'e kī binā par bayān mein, aur ta'bīr mein khāṣ azwāj-e-muṭaḥharāt kā zikr hai, magar ḥukm sārī ummat ke liye 'ām hai — khulāṣa-e-ḥukm kā yih hai ki agar mardon ko dūsra 'aurton se koī chīz isti'māl ke liye lenī ho, bartan, kapṛā waghaira, to zarūrī hai ki āmne-sāmne ho kar na lein, balkah parda ke pīchhe se māngein — aur farmāyā ki yih parda kā ḥukm mard aur 'aurton dono ke dilon ko nafsānī waswas se pāk rakhne ke liye diyā gayā hai.

Is jagah yih bāt qābil-e-naẓar hai ki yih parde ke aḥkām jin 'aurton mardon ko diye ga'e hain, jin ke dilon ko pāk rakhne kā ḥaqq Ta'ālā ne khud zimma le liyā hai — jis kā zikr is se pahle āyāt-e-mazkūra mein huā — dūsra ṭaraf jo mard mukhāṭab hain woh āp (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam) ke ṣaḥāba-e-kirām hain, jin mein se bahut se ḥaẓrāt kā maqām farishton se bhī āge hai.

Lekin in sab umūr ke hote hu'e yih zarūrī samjhā gayā ki un kī ṭahārat-e-qalb aur nafsānī waswas se bachne ke liye har mard-o-'aurat ke darmiyān parda karāyā jāe — āj kaun hai jo apne nafs ko ṣaḥāba-e-kirām ke nufūs-e-pāk se, aur apnī 'aurton ke nufūs ko azwāj-e-muṭaḥharāt ke nufūs se ziyāda pāk hone kā da'wā kar sake, aur yih samjhe ki hamārā ikhtilāf 'aurton ke sāth kisī kharābī kā mūjib nahīn hai?

Shurū‘-e-āyat mein jo mehmānī ke ādāb bayān hote hain ki bagair bulā'e khāne ke liye na jā'ein, aur khāne ke intizār mein na baiṭhein — is kā sabab-e-nuzūl Ibn Abī Ḥātim ne Sulaimān ibn Arqam se naql kiya hai ki yih āyat un ṣuqalā' aur bojhal logon ke bāre mein nāzil huī jo bilā-da‘wat kisī ke makān mein jā baiṭhein aur khāne kā intizār karein.

Aur Imām ‘Abd ibn Ḥumaid ne Ḥaḍrat Anas (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) se riwāyat kiya hai ki yih āyat un ba‘ẓ logon ke bāre mein nāzil huī jo intizār mein rahte aur khāne ke waqt se pahle Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) ...

Dūsra ḥukm jo ‘aurton ke parde se muta‘alliq hai, is ke shān-e-nuzūl mein Imām Bukhārī (rahimahullāh) kī do riwāyatein hain. Āyat-e-mazkūra mein ūpar jitne aḥkām āye hain, in mein agarcheh khiṭāb Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) aur āp kī azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ko ho rahā hai, magar ḥukm ‘ām hai sārī ummat ke liye — bajuz is ākhirī ḥukm ke, ki ‘ām ummat ke liye qānūn yih hai ki shauhar kī wafāt ke ba‘d ‘iddat guzar jā'e to us kī bīwī kā dūsre ādmī se nikāḥ kar sakti hai; azwāj-e-muṭahharāt ke liye yih khuṣūṣī ḥukm hai ki woh āp kī wafāt ke ba‘d kisī se nikāḥ nahīn kar saktīn.

Is kī wajah yih bhī ho saktī hai ki woh ba‘z i‘tibār se Qur‘ān mein Ummahāt-ul-Mo‘minīn hain, aur agarcheh un ke ummahāt hone kā aṣar un ke aulād kī durī-dū-riḥmānī par nahīn partā ki woh sab bahen-bhātī ho kar bāham nikāḥ na kar sakein, magar tā-ḥaddīn taḥtu-z-zāt kī iḥtimāl-e-mumāna‘at-e-nikāḥ kā ḥukm de diyā gayā.

Yih bhī kahā jā saktā hai ki Rasūlullāh (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) apnī qabr-e-sharīf mein zinda hain — āp kī wafāt kā darja aisā hai jaisā koī zinda shauhar gharon se ḡā‘ib ho — isī liye āp kī mīrās taqṣīm nahīn huī. Isī binā par āp kī azwāj kā ḥāl woh nahīn hotā jo ‘ām shauharon kī wafāt par un kī azwāj kā ḥāl hotā hai.

Yih ḥikmat bhī hai ki shar‘ī qā‘ide se jannat mein har ‘aurat apne ākhirī shauhar ke sāth rahe gī — jaisā ki Ḥaḍrat Ḥuzaifa (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ne apnī zauja ko waṣiyyat farmāī thī ki agar tum jannat mein merī bīwī rahnā chāhtī ho to mere ba‘d koī dūsrā nikāḥ na karnā, kyūnki jannat mein ‘aurat apne ākhirī shauhar ko mile gī. Is ke ‘ilāwa ṭab‘ī ṭaur par koī shauhar yih pasand nahīn kartā ki us kī bīwī dūsre ke nikāḥ mein jā'e, magar is ṭab‘ī khwāhish kā pūrā karnā ‘ām logon ke liye shar‘an zarūrī nahīn. In asbāb o zarā'i' ko kabhī ḥarām qarār diyā gayā jo 'ādat-e-gālība ke taur par un jarā'im tak pahunchāne wāle hain — maslan sharāb-noshī ko ḥarām kiyā gayā to sharāb ko banāne, kharīdne, bechne, aur kisī ko dene ko bhī kabhī ḥarām qarār diyā gayā — isī liye is se hī jaltī mu'āmalāt ko bhī nā-jā'iz kar diyā gayā, isī liye ḥazrāt-e-fuqahā ne sab mu'āmalāt-e-fāsida se ḥāṣil hone wāle naf' ko sūd kī tarah māl-e-khabīṣ qarār diyā.

Magar in asbāb o zarā'i' kā qurb-o-bu'd ek ṭawīl-o-ba'īd darāz tak silsila hai; agar dar-pesh silsile ko roknā hai to zindagī tang-o-dushwār ho jātī hai, aur 'amal mein baṛī tangī pesh ā jātī hai, jo sharī'at ke mizāj ke khilāf hai. Qur'ān-e-Karīm kā is ke bāre mein khulā i'lān yih hai:

Mard o ‘aurat kā woh ḥiṣṣa-e-badan jis ko ‘Arabī mein "‘aurat" aur Urdū o Fārsī mein "satr" aur "ḥijāb" kahte hain — jis kā munāsib libās se chhupānā shar‘ī, ṭab‘ī aur ‘aqlī ṭaur par farḍ hai — aur imān ke ba‘d sab se pahlā farḍ jis par ‘amal ṣarūrī hai, woh satr-e-‘aurat ya‘nī a‘zā-e-mastūra kā chhupānā hai.

Yih farīza to ibtidā-e-āfrīnīsh se farḍ hai; tamām Anbiyā ‘alaihimu-s-salām kī sharī‘aton mein farḍ rahā hai, balki sharā‘ī ke wujūd se bhī pahle — jab jannat mein shajar-e-mamnū‘a khā lene ke sabab Ḥaḍrat Ādam wa Ḥawwā ‘alaihimā-s-salām kā jannatī libās utar gayā aur satr khul gayā, to wahān bhī Ādam ‘alaihi-s-salām ne satr khulā rakhne ko jā‘iz nahīn samjhā, isī li‘e donoṅ ne jannat ke patte apne satr par bāndh liye. Qur‘an 7:22 — ... ṭafīqā yakhṣifānī ‘alaihimā min warāqī-l-jannah — kā yihī maṭlab hai.

Dunyā mein āne ke ba‘d Ādam ‘alaihi-s-salām se le kar Khātamu-l-Anbiyā ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam tak har paighambar-e-dīn kī sharī‘at mein satr chhupānā farḍ rahā hai. A‘zā-e-mastūra kī ta‘yīn aur taḥdīd mein ikhtilāf ho saktā hai — ki satr kahān se kahān tak hai — magar aṣl farḍiyyat-e-satr tamām sharā‘ī‘-e-Anbiyā mein musallam hai. Aur yih farḍ har insān, mard o ‘aurat par bi-naḥsihī ‘ā‘id hai, khwāh koī dūsrā dekhne wālā ho yā na ho. Isī li‘e agar koī shakhṣ andherī rāt mein nangā namāz paṛhe, ḥālānki satr chhupāne ke qābil kapṛa us ke pās maujūd ho, to yih namāz bil-ittifāq nā-jā‘iz hai — ḥālānki us ko nangā kisī ne dekhā nahīn (Durr / al-Jauhara wa al-Rā‘iq). Isī tarah namāz agar kisī aisī jagah paṛhī jahān koī dūsrā ādmī dekhne wālā na ho, us waqt bhī agar namāz mein satr khul gayā to namāz fāsid ho jātī hai (kamā fī ‘āmmati kutub al-fiqh).

Khārij-e-namāz logōn ke sāmne satr-poshī ke farḍ hone mein to kisī kā ikhtilāf nahīn; lekin khalwat mein, jahān koī dūsrā dekhne wālā maujūd na ho, wahān bhī ṣaḥīḥ qaul yihī hai ki khārij-e-namāz bhī bilā ṣarūrat-e-shar‘iyya yā ṭab‘iyya ke satr khol kar nangā baiṭhnā jā‘iz nahīn (kamā fī al-Baḥr ‘an Sharḥ al-Munya).

always disliked among the Anbiyā, ṣulahā and shurafā' (the two daughters of Shu'aib 'alaihi-s-salām standing apart at the well, Sūrat al-Qaṣaṣ). But formal parda was not yet obligatory in early Islam; it was made farḍ in 3 AH (or 5 AH). So satr-e-'aurat and ḥijāb-e-nisā' are two distinct rulings.

Yih ḥukm to satr-e-'aurat kā thā, jo awwal-e-Islām se — balki awwal-e-āfrīnīsh se — tamām sharā'ī '-e-Anbiyā mein farḍ rahā hai, jis mein mard o 'aurat donoṁ barābar hain. Is mas'ale mein bhī itnī bāt to Anbiyā wa Ṣulahā aur shurafā' mein hamesha se rahī hai ki ajnabī mardoṁ ke sāth 'aurtoṁ kā be-muḥābā (be-takalluf) ikhtilāf na ho. Ḥaḍrat Shu'aib 'alaihi-s-salām kī do laṛkiyoṁ kā qīṣṣa jo Qur'ān-e-Karīm mein Sūrat al-Qaṣaṣ, pāra 20: mein āyā hai — us mein laṛkiyān apnī bakriyoṁ ko pānī pilāne ke li'e bastī ke ku'oṁ par ga'īn, jahān logoṁ kā hujūm ziyāda thā aur log apne jānwaroṁ ko pānī pilā rahe the, to yih laṛkiyān ek taraf alag kharī ho ga'īn. Ḥaḍrat Mūsā 'alaihi-s-salām, jin kā us waqt ittifaqī ṭaur par musāfirāna andāz mein wahān se guzar huā, to un laṛkiyoṁ ko 'alaḥida kharē dekh kar sabab pūchhā, to laṛkiyoṁ ne do bāteṁ batlā'īn:

Awwal yih ki is waqt yahān mardoṁ kā hujūm hai; ham apne jānwaroṁ ko pānī us waqt pilā'en gī jab yih log fāriḡ ho kar chale jā'en ge. Dūsra bāt yih bhī batlā'ī ki hamāre wālid boṛhe aur ṣa'īf hain, jin ke majbūr hone ke sabab jānwaroṁ ko pānī pilāne ke li'e ham ko nikalnā paṛā — yih 'urf wa 'ādat ke i'tibār se 'aurtoṁ kā kām nahīn thā, magar wālid ke ṣa'f o majbūrī aur kisī dūse ādmī ke maujūd na hone ke sabab yih kām hamēn karnā paṛ gayā.

Yih ḥāl Qur'ān mein Ḥaḍrat Shu'aib 'alaihi-s-salām kī laṛkiyoṁ kā batlāyā gayā hai, jis se ma'lūm huā ki us zamāne aur un kī shar'at mein bhī 'aurtoṁ kā mardoṁ ke sāth be-muḥābā chalnā aur be-muḥābā ikhtilāf pasand nahīn thā, aur aise kām jin mein mardoṁ ke sāth ikhtilāf lāzim ho — woh 'aurtoṁ ke supurd hī nahīn kiye jāte the. Bahar-ḥāl is majmū'a se yih ma'lūm hotā hai ki woh aise kām 'aurtoṁ ke supurd hī nahīn the.

Hān, yih ma'lūm hotā hai ki 'aurtoṁ ko bā-qā'ida parde mein rahne kā ḥukm us waqt nahīn thā; isī ṭarah ibtidā-e-Islām mein bhī yihī ṣūrat jāri rahī. Sana 3 hijrī yā sana 5 hijrī mein 'aurtoṁ par ajnabī mardoṁ se parda karnā farḍ kar diyā gayā, jis kī tafṣīlāt āge ātī hain.

Is se yih ma'lūm ho gayā ki satr-e-'aurat, aur ḥijāb-e-nisā' — yih do mas'ale alag alag hain: satr-e-'aurat hameshā se farḍ hai; ḥijāb-e-nisā' sana 3 yā 5 hijrī mein farḍ huā. Satr-e-'aurat ...

Yih tafṣīl is li’e likhī ga’ī ki in donoñ mas’aloñ ko khalt-malt kar dene se bahut se shubhāt, masā’il aur aḥkām-e-Qur’ān ke samajhne mein paidā ho jāte hain. Maṣalan ‘aurat kā chehra aur hathelīyāñ satr-e-‘aurat se bi-l-ijmā‘ mustaṣnā hain; isī li’e namāz mein chehra aur hathelīyāñ khulī hoñ to namāz bi-l-ittifāq wa bi-l-ijmā‘ jā’iz hai. Chehra aur hathelīyāñ tawātur se, naṣṣ ke zari’e: mustaṣnā hain; qadamain ko fuqahā’ ne un par qiyās kar ke mustaṣnā qarār diyā hai.

Lekin ajnabī mardoñ se parde mein bhī chehra aur hathelīyāñ mustaṣnā hain yā nahīñ — is mein ikhtilāf hai, jis kī tafṣīl Sūrat an-Nūr kī āyat Qur’an 24:31 — "lā yubdīna zīnatahunna illā mā ṣāhara minhā" ke taḥt guzar chukī hai, jis kā khulāṣa āge ātā hai.

Sūrat al-Aḥzāb kī zer-e-baḥṣ āyat Qur'an 33:53 — "wa izā sa' altumūhunna matā'an fa-s' alūhunna min warā' i ḥijāb" is kī wāziḥ dalīl hai, aur is se ziyāda wāziḥ Sūrat al-Aḥzāb hī ke shurū' kī āyat Qur'an 33:33 — "wa qarna fī buyūtikunna" hai. In āyaton par jis taraḥ Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaiḥi wa sallam ne 'amal farmāyā, us se aur us se ziyāda is kī tashrīḥ sāmne ā jāti hai.

Yih ūpar ma'lūm ho chukā hai ki parda-e-nisvān ke muta'alliq pahlī āyat Ḥaḍrat Zainab (raḍiyallāhu 'anhā) ke nikāḥ ke waqt nāzil hu'ī. Riwāyāt-e-ḥaḍīṣ mein Ḥaḍrat Anas (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) ne farmāyā ki is wāqī'a-e-ḥijāb ko sab se ziyāda main is li'e jāntā hūn ki main us waqt Ḥuḍūr (ṣallallāhu 'alaiḥi wa sallam) kī khidmat mein maujūd thā. Jab parde ke li'e yih āyat nāzil hu'ī, to āp ne mardoñ ke sāmne ek chādar waghaira kā parda ḍāl kar Ḥaḍrat Zainab (raḍiyallāhu 'anhā) ko andar mastūr kar diyā; yih nahīn kiyā ki un ko burqa' yā chādar mein nikāl kar darmiyān mastūr kar dete.

guzar chukā hai, us se bhī yihī ma‘lūm hotā hai ki Ḥaḍrat ‘Umar (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) kā maqṣūd yih thā ki Ummahāt al-Mu‘minīn (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhunna) mardoṅ kī nazroṅ se alag andar rahein — jaisā ki un ke in alfāẓ se ma‘lūm hotā hai: "yadkhulu ‘alaiki al-birru wa-l-fājir".

Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī, Bāb Ghazwa-e-Mu‘ta mein Ḥaḍrat Ṣiddīqa ‘Ā’isha (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) kī riwāyat hai ki jab Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ko Ḥaḍrat Zaid bin Ḥārīsa aur Ja‘far aur ‘Abdullāh bin Rawāḥa (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhum) kī shahādat kī khabar milī to āp Masjid-e-Nabawī mein tashrīf rakhte the, āp ke chehra-e-mubārak par sakht ḡham o ṣadma ke āṣār the. ‘Ā’isha raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā farmātī hain: main ḥujra ke andar darwāza kī ek shiqq (darz) se yih sab mājrā dekh rahī thī.

Is se ṣābit huā ki Umm al-Mu‘minīn (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) is ḥādīṣa ke waqt bhī bāhar ā kar burqa‘ ke sāth majma‘ mein shāmil nahīn hu‘īn, balki darwāza kī shiqq se us majlis kā mushāhada kiyā.

Aur Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī, Kitāb al-Maghāzī, ‘Umrāt al-Qaḍā’ ke bāb mein hai ki Ḥaḍrat ‘Urwa ibn Zubair — Ḥaḍrat Ṣiddīqa ‘Ā’isha (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) ke bhānje — aur ‘Abdullāh bin ‘Umar (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhumā) Masjid-e-Nabawī mein Ḥaḍrat Ṣiddīqa ‘Ā’isha (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) ke ḥujre ke bāhar mutṭaṣil tashrīf rakhte the, aur Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ke ‘umroṅ ke muta‘alliq bāham guftagū kar rahe the. PDF PAGE 216 · More evidence that after the ḥijāb āyāt the azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhunna) kept parda within the homes: the Ṭā’if wuḍū-water tabarruk (Umm Salama raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā speaking from behind the curtain); a Fā’ida on their devotion to the Prophet’s ﷺ tabarrukāt; the camel-stumble on a journey (Abū Ṭalḥa raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu covering his face, then covering Ṣafīyya raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā before helping her) — parda kept even in a sudden accident; and the Tirmizī ḥadīth "al-mar’atu ‘auratun, fa-izā kharajat istashrafahā al-shaiṭān".

... ‘umrāt-e-Nabī ﷺ kā zikr hai. Is riwāyat se bhī ma‘lūm huā ki āyāt-e-ḥijāb nāzil hone ke ba‘d azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhunna) kā ma‘mūl yih ho gayā thā ki gharoṅ mein rah kar parda kartī thīn.

Isī taraḥ Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī, Bāb Ghazwa-e-Ṭā’if mein ek ḥadīṣ hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne ek pānī ke bartan mein kullī kar ke Ḥaḍrat Abū Mūsā aur Bilāl (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhumā) ko ‘aṭā farmāyā ki is ko piyo aur apne chehre par mal lo. Umm al-Mu‘minīn Ḥaḍrat Umm Salama (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) parde ke pīchhe yih wāqi‘a dekh rahī thīn; unhoṅ ne andar se āwāz de kar in donoṅ buzurgoṅ se kahā ki is tabarruk mein se kuchh apnī mān — ya ‘nī Umm Salama (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) — ke li‘e chhoṛ denā.

Yih ḥadīṣ bhī shāhid hai ki nuzūl-e-ḥijāb ke ba‘d azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhunna) gharoñ aur pardoñ ke andar rahtī thīñ.

Is riwāyat mein yih bāt bhī qābil-e-naẓar hai ki azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhunna) bhī Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ke tabarrukāt kī aisī hī shā‘iq (mushtāq) thīñ jaise dūsre Musalmān. Yih bhī āp kī zāt-e-aqdas hī kī khuṣūṣiyyat thī, warna bīwī se jo be-takalluf ta‘alluq shauhar kā hotā hai, us ke sāth is qism ke taqaddus o ta‘ẓīm kā yih darja qā‘im rahnā ‘ādatan nā-mumkin hai.

Aur Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī, Kitāb al-Adab mein Ḥaḍrat Anas (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) se riwāyat hai ki woh aur Abū Ṭalḥa (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ek martaba Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ke sāth kahīñ jā rahe the. Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ūñṭ par sawār the, āp ke sāth Umm al-Mu‘minīn Ḥaḍrat Ṣafīyya (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) bhī sawār thīñ. Rāsta mein achānak ūñṭ ko ṭhokar lagī, aur Abū Ṭalḥa ke bayān ke muṭābiq āp aur Ḥaḍrat Ṣafīyya (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) ūñṭ se gir ga‘e. To Abū Ṭalḥa (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) āp ke pās ḥāẓir hu‘e aur ‘arṣ kiyā: Allāh ta‘ālā mujhe āp par qurbān kare, āp ko koī choṭ to nahīñ ā‘ī? Āp ne farmāyā ki nahīñ; tum ‘aurat kī khabar lo. Abū Ṭalḥa (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ne pahle to apnā chehra kapṛe mein chhupāyā, phir Ḥaḍrat Ṣafīyya (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) ke pās pahuñche aur un ke ūpar kapṛā ḍāl diyā, to woh khaṛī hī ho ga‘īñ; phir isī ṭarah parde mein un ko mastūr kar ke un kī sawārī par sawār kiyā.

Is wāq‘a mein bhī — jo ek ḥadīṣa kī ṣūrat mein achānak pesh āyā — Ṣaḥāba-e-kirām aur azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhunna) kā parde ke mu‘āmala mein itnā ihtimām is kī baṛī ahammiyyat kā shāhid hai.

Aur Jāmi‘ Tirmizī mein Ḥaḍrat ‘Abdullāh bin Mas‘ūd (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) kī ḥadīṣ hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā: ḥadīṣ "al-mar‘atu ‘auratun, fa-izā kharajat istashrafahā al-shaiṭān" (qāla al-Tirmizī: hāzā ḥadīṣun ḥasanun ṣaḥīḥun ḡarīb). Ma‘nī yih hain ki "‘aurat jab ghar se nikaltī hai to shaiṭān us ko tāk letā hai" — ya‘nī is ko Musalmānoñ mein burā‘ī phailāne kā zari‘a banātā hai.

PDF PAGE 217 · [Q 33:33] · More proofs that the primary aim is ḥijāb-e-ashkhāṣ (women staying home): Ibn Khuzaima / Ibn Ḥibbān wording "wa aqrabu mā takūnu min wajhi rabbihā wa hiya fī qa‘ri baitihā"; the Ṭabarānī report "laisa li-n-nisā‘i naṣībun fī l-khurūji illā muḍṭarratan"; Alī’s raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu report of Fāṭima’s raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā answer "lā yarayna r-rijāla wa lā yarawnahunna", which the Prophet ﷺ endorsed ("baḍ‘atun minnī"); and the ifk incident showing the azwāj travelled inside a hawdaj (shughduf), not merely in a burqa'.

Aur Ibn Khuzaima wa Ibn Hibbān ne is ḥadīṣ mein yih alfāẓ bhī naql kiye hain:

"wa aqrabu mā takūnu min wajhi rabbihā wa hiya fī qa'ri baitihā" — ya'nī 'aurat apne Rab se sab se ziyāda qarīb us waqt hotī hai jab woh apne ghar ke bīch mein mastūr ho.

Is ḥadīṣ mein bhī is kī shahādat maujūd hai ki aṣl 'aurtoṅ ke li'e yihī hai ki woh apne gharoṅ mein baiṭheṅ, bāhar na nikleṅ — aur bilā ẓarūrat na nikleṅ; ẓarūrat ke mawāqī' mustaṣnā hain.

Aur ek ḥadīṣ mein Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kā irshād hai: "laisa li-n-nisā' i naṣībun fī l-khurūji illā muḍṭarratan" (rawāhu al-Ṭabarānī, kamā fī al-Kanz, ṣ 263, j 8) — ya'nī 'aurtoṅ kā bāhar nikalne ke li'e koī ḥiṣṣa nahīn, ba-juz is ke ki bāhar nikalne ke li'e koī iẓtirārī ṣūrat pesh ā jā'e.

Aur Ḥaḍrat 'Alī karramallāhu wajhahū se riwāyat hai ki main ek roz Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī khidmat mein ḥāẓir thā, āp ne Ṣaḥāba-e-kirām (raḍiyallāhu 'anhum) se sawāl farmāyā: "ayyu shai' in khairun li-l-mar'ah?" ('aurat ke li'e kyā chīz behtar hai?). Ṣaḥāba-e-kirām khāmosh rahe, koī jawāb nahīn diyā. Phir jab ghar mein gayā aur Fāṭima (raḍiyallāhu 'anhā) se main ne yihī sawāl kiyā to unhoṅ ne farmāyā: "lā yarayna r-rijāla wa lā yarawnahunna" — ya'nī 'aurtoṅ ke li'e behtar yih hai ki na woh mardoṅ ko dekheṅ aur na mard un ko dekheṅ. Main ne un kā yih jawāb Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ke sāmne naql kiyā, to āp ne farmāyā: "ṣadaqat, innamā Fāṭima baḍ'atun minnī" — unhoṅ ne durust kahā, be-shak woh Fāṭima: merā ek juz' hī hai.

Wāqī'a-e-ifk mein jo sabab Ḥaḍrat Ṣiddīqa (raḍiyallāhu 'anhā) ke jangal mein rah jāne kā pesh āyā, woh yihī thā ki azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu 'anhunna) kā parda sirf burqa' yā chādar hī kā nahīn thā, balki woh safar mein bhī apne hawadaj (shughdufe) mein rahtī thīn; yih shughduf hī ūnt ke ūpar sawār kar diyā jātā thā aur isī ṭarah utārā jātā thā. Shughduf musāfir kā miṣl makān ke hotā hai.

Is wāqī'a mein jab qāfila chalne lagā to ba-ḥasab-e-'ādat khādimoṅ ne shughduf ko yih samajh kar ūnt par sawār kar diyā ki Umm al-Mu'minīn (raḍiyallāhu 'anhā) is ke andar maujūd hain; aur wāqī'a yih thā ki woh is mein nahīn thīn, balki ṭab'ī ẓarūrat ke li'e bāhar ga'ī hu'ī thīn. Is muḡālaṭa mein qāfila rawāna ho gayā aur Umm al-Mu'minīn (raḍiyallāhu 'anhā) jangal mein tanhā rah ga'īn.

Yih wāqī'a bhī is bāt kā qawī shāhid hai ki ḥijāb-e-shar'ī kā mafhūm Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam aur azwāj-e-muṭahharāt (raḍiyallāhu 'anhunna) ne yihī samjḥā thā ki 'aurtein apne makānoṅ mein — safar mein hoṅ to apne shughduf mein — raheṅ, un kā wujūd mardoṅ ke sāmne na ā'e. Aur jab safar kī ḥālat mein ḥijāb-e-ashkhāṣ kā yih ihtimām thā, to ḥaḍar (iqāmat) mein kitnā ihtimām hogā?

Proof: [Q 33:59] "yudnīna 'alaihinna min jalābībihinna"; jilbāb per Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu = wrapped head to foot, face and nose covered, one eye free for the road. Valid at need by ittifāq, with extra conditions in the ṣaḥīḥ ḥadīth (no perfume, no jangling jewellery, walk at the roadside, not into crowds of men). · THIRD degree (disputed among fuqahā'): whole body covered but face & hands open — on the two readings of "illā mā ṣāhara minhā"; three of the four Imāms (Mālik, Shāfi'ī, Aḥmad) did not permit opening the face unconditionally.

Ẓarūrat ke mawāqī' mein jab 'aurat ko ghar se bāhar jānā pāre, to us waqt kisī burqa' yā lambī chādar ko sar se pair tak oṛh kar nikalne kā ḥukm hai, jis mein

badan kā koī ḥiṣṣa ṣāhir na ho

Yih Sūrat al-Aḥzāb kī is āyat se ṣābit ho rahī hai jo āge ā rahī hai:

Qur'an 33:59 — yā ayyuha-n-nabiyyu qul li-azwājika wa banātika wa nisā' i-l-mu'minīna yudnīna 'alaihinna min jalābībihinna

Ya'nī: Ai Nabī! Āp apnī azwāj-e-muṭaḥharāt aur banāt-e-ṭāhirāt (raḍiyallāhu 'anhunna) ko, aur 'ām Musalmānoṅ kī 'aurtoṅ ko ḥukm dein ki apnī jalābīb ista'māl karein. "Jilbāb" us lambī chādar ko kahte hain jis mein 'aurat sar se pair tak mastūr ho jā'e (rawā ṣālika 'an Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu).

Ibn Jarīr ne apnī sanad ke sāth Ḥaḍrat 'Abdullāh bin 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se ista'māl-e-jilbāb kī ṣūrat yih naql kī hai ki 'aurat sar se pā' oṅ tak is mein lipṭī huī ho, aur chehra aur nāk bhī is se mastūr ho, ṣīrf ek ānkh rāsta dekhne ke li'e khulī ho. Is āyat kī pūrī tafsīr āge ātī hai; yahān ṣīrf yih batlānā manẓūr hai ki ẓarūrat ke waqt jab 'aurat ghar se nikalne par majbūr ho, to us ko parde kā yih darja ikhtiyār karnā ẓarūrī hai ki jilbāb waghaira mein sar se pā' oṅ tak mastūr ho, aur chehra bhī — ba-juz ek ānkh ke — chhupā hu'ā ho.

Jin ḥaḍrāt ne "illā mā ṣahara minhā" kī tafsīr chehra aur hathelīyōñ se kī hai, un ke nazḍik chūñki chehra aur hathelīyān ḥijāb se mustaṣnā ho ga'īñ, is li'e in ko khulā rakhnā jā'iz ho gayā (kamā rawā 'an Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu). Aur jin ḥaḍrāt ne "mā ṣahara minhā" se burqa', jilbāb waghaira murād liyā hai, woh is ko nā-jā'iz kahte hain (kamā rawā 'an Ibn Mas'ūd raḍiyallāhu 'anhu).

Jinhoñ ne jā'iz kahā hai, un ke nazḍik bhī yih shart hai ki fitna kā khaṭra na ho; magar chūñki 'aurat kī zīnat kā sārā markaz us kā chehra hai, is li'e is ko kholne mein fitna kā khaṭra na honā shāz o nādir hai — is li'e is kā anjām-kār 'ām ḥālāt mein un ke nazḍik bhī chehra waghaira kholnā jā'iz nahīñ.

Quotes: Faṭḥ al-Qaḍīr (j.1 ṣ.181) — not being 'aura and being lawful to look at do not entail each other; looking is unlawful once shahwa is feared, even at a beardless youth's face, though it is not 'aura. Be-shak Allāh ta‘ālā aur us ke firishte raḥmat bhejte hain un Paighambar (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) par. Ai īmān wālo! tum bhī āp par raḥmat bhejā karo aur khūb salām bhejā karo — (tāki āp kā ḥaqq-e-‘aẓamat, jo tumhāre zīmma hai, adā ho jā’e).

Namāz ke qa‘da-e-akhīra mein ṣalāt (durūd sharīf) sunnat-e-mu‘akkada to sab ke nazdīk hai; Imām Shāfi‘ī aur Aḥmad bin Ḥanbal (raḥimahumallāh) ke nazdīk wājib hī hai; , jin ke tark se namāz wājib al-i‘āda ho jātī hai.

Mas’ala: Is par bhī jamhūr fuqahā’ kā ittifāq hai ki jab kisī ko Āḥḥadrat ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam kā zikr kar ke yā sun kar maujūd ho to us par durūd sharīf wājib ho jātā hai — kyūnki ḥadīṣ mein āp ke zikr-e-mubārak ke waqt durūd sharīf na paṛhne par wa‘id ā’ī hai. Jāmi‘ Tirmizī mein hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki: "raḡima anfu rajulin zukirtu ‘indahū fa-lam yuṣalli ‘alayya" — ya’nī zalīl ho woh ādmī jis ke sāmne merā zikr kiyā jā’e aur woh mujh par durūd na bheje (qāla al-Tirmizī: ḥadīṣun ḥasan; wa rawāhu Ibn al-Sunnī bi-isnādin jayyid).

Aur ek ḥadīṣ mein irshād hai: "al-bakhīlu man zukirtu ‘indahū fa-lam yuṣalli ‘alayya" — ya’nī bakhīl (kanjūs) woh shakhṣ hai jis ke sāmne merā zikr kiyā jā’e aur woh mujh par durūd na bheje (rawāhu al-Tirmizī wa qāla: ḥadīṣun ḥasanun ṣaḥīḥ).

Mas’ala: Agar ek majlis mein āp kā zikr-e-mubārak bār-bār ā’e to ṣirf ek martaba durūd paṛhne se wājib adā ho jātā hai; lekin mustaḥab yih hai ki jitnī bār zikr-e-mubārak khud kare yā kisī se sune, har martaba durūd sharīf paṛhe. Ḥaḍrat muḥaddiṣīn se ziyāda kaun āp kā zikr kar saktā hai — ki un kā har waqt kā mashghala hī ḥadīṣ-e-Rasūl (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) hai, jis mein har waqt bār-bār āp kā ...

... zikr ātā hai; tamām A‘imma-e-ḥadīṣ kā dastūr yihī rahā hai ki har martaba durūd o salām parḥte aur likhte hain. Tamām kutub-e-ḥadīṣ is par shāhid hain. Unhoṅ ne is kī bhī parwā nahīn kī ki is takrār-e-ṣalāt o salām se kitāb kī ṣakhāmat kāfī baḥ jātī hai — kyūnki akṣar to chhoṭī chhoṭī ḥadīṣeṅ ātī hain jin mein ek do saṭron ke ba‘d nām-e-mubārak ātā hai, aur ba‘z jagah to ek saṭr mein ek se ziyāda martaba nām-e-mubārak mazkūr hotā hai — phir bhī Ḥaḍrāt muḥaddiṣīn kahīn ṣalāt o salām tark nahīn karte.

Mas‘ala: Jis ṭarah zabān se zikr-e-mubārak ke waqt zabānī ṣalāt o salām wājib hai, isī ṭarah qalam se likhne ke waqt ṣalāt o salām kā qalam se likhnā bhī wājib hai. Aur is mein jo log ḥurūf kā ikhtiṣār kar ke "ṣal‘am" likh dete hain, yih kāfī nahīn; pūrā ṣalāt o salām likhnā chāhi‘e.

Mas‘ala: Zikr-e-mubārak ke waqt afzal wa a‘lā aur mustaḥab to yihī hai ki ṣalāt aur salām donoṅ parḥe aur likhe jā‘eṅ; lekin agar koī shakhṣ un mein se ek — ya‘nī ṣirf ṣalāt yā ṣirf salām — par iktifā‘ kare to jamhūr fuqahā‘ ke nazdīk koī gunāh nahīn. Shaikh al-Islām Nawawī waghaira ne donoṅ mein se ṣirf ek par iktifā‘ karnā makrūh farmāyā hai; Ibn Ḥajar Haitamī ne farmāyā ki un kī murād karāhat se khilāf-e-awlā honā hai, jis ko iṣṭilāḥ mein "makrūh-e-tanzīhī" kahā jātā hai. Aur ‘ulamā‘-e-ummat kā musalsal ‘amal is par shāhid hai ki woh donoṅ hī ko jam‘ karte hain, aur ba‘z auqāt ek par bhī iktifā‘ kar lete hain.

Mas‘ala: Lafz "ṣalāt" Anbiyā ‘alaihimu-s-salām ke siwā kisī ke li‘e ista‘māl karnā jamhūr ‘ulamā‘ ke nazdīk jā‘iz nahīn. Imām Baihaqī ne apnī Sunan mein Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhumā) kā yih fatwā naql kiyā hai: "lā yuṣallā ‘alā aḥadīn illā ‘alā al-nabiyyi ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam, lākin yud‘ā li-l-muslimīna wa-l-muslimāti bi-l-istiḡḥfār."

Imām Shāfi‘ī ke nazdīk ḡhair-nabī ke li‘e lafz "ṣalāt" kā ista‘māl mustaqillan makrūh hai; Imām A‘zam Abū Ḥanīfa aur un ke aṣḥāb kā bhī yihī mazhab hai. Earlier āyāt only warned about the unintentional īzā some Muslims caused (entering the Prophet's ﷺ houses uninvited, coming far too early, lingering in conversation after the meal — [Q 33:53]). These two āyāt (57-58) are about the deliberate īzā from the enemies of Islam — kuffār and munāfiqīn: bodily harm, and spiritual harm (slander of him ﷺ and buhtān against the azwāj-e-muṭahharāt), with a threat of la‘nat and severe pūnishment. · On "hurting Allāh": His pure Being is above all effect; acts that customarily cause īzā are called "īzā of Allāh" — e.g. cursing "the age" (ignoring that the true Doer is Allāh), image-making of living things.

Sābiqa āyāt mein Musalmānoñ ko un chīzoñ par tanbīh kī ga’ī thī jin se Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ko īzā wa taklīf pahuñchtī thī. Magar kuchh Musalmān nā-wāqifiyyat yā be-taujjuhī kī wajh se bilā qaṣd īzā mein mubtalā ho jāte the — jaisā ki āp ke buyūt (gharoñ) mein bilā da‘wat chale jānā, yā da‘wat ke waqt se bahut pahle ā kar baiṭh jānā, yā khānā khāne ke ba‘d āp ke ghar mein bāham bāt-chīṭ mein mashghūl ho kar der lagānā waghaira — jin par āyat "yā ayyuha-llazīna āmanū lā tadkhulū buyūta-n-nabiyy ... al-āyah" mein tanbīh kī ga’ī hai. Yih woh īzā thī jo bilā qaṣd aur bilā irāda ghaflat se pahuñch jātī thī, is par to širf tanbīh kar denā kāfī samjhā gayā.

Mazkūr al-ṣadr do āyatoñ mein is īzā wa taklīf kā zikr hai jo muḥālifīn-e-Islām — kuffār o munāfiqīn — kī ṭaraf se qaṣdan āp ko pahuñchā’ī jātī thī; isī li‘e Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr mein yahāñ "qaṣdan" kā lafz baṛhāyā hai. Jis mein jismānī īzā’ēñ bhī dākhil hain, jo mukhtalif auqāt mein kuffār ke hāthoñ āp ko pahuñchī hain; aur rūḥānī īzā’ēñ bhī — jo āp par ṭa‘n o tashnī‘ aur azwāj-e-muṭahharāt par buhtān-tarāshī ke zari‘e pahuñchā’ī ga’īñ. Is bā-irāda īzā pahuñchāne wāle par la‘nat aur ‘azāb-e-shadīd kī wa‘id bhī āyat-e-mazkūra mein ā’ī hai.

Is āyat ke shurū‘ mein jo yih irshād hu‘ā ki "jo log Allāh ta‘ālā ko īzā pahuñchāte hain" — is mein īzā pahuñchāne se murād woh af‘āl wa aqwāl hain jo ‘ādatan īzā kā sabab banā karte hain. Agarcheh Ḥaqq ta‘ālā kī zāt-e-pāk har ta‘aṣṣur wa infī‘āl se bālā-tar hai — kisī kī majāl hī nahīñ ki us tak koī taklīf pahuñchā sake — lekin aise af‘āl, jin se ‘ādatan īzā pahuñchtī hai, un ko "īzā-e-Allāh" se ta‘bīr kar diyā gayā hai.

Is mein A'imma-e-Tafsīr kā ikhtilāf hai ki yahān "Allāh ko īzā dene" se kyā murād hai? Ba'z A'imma-e-Tafsīr ne un af'āl wa aqwāl ko is kā mişdāq ṭahrāyā hai jin ke bāre mein Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī zabānī aḥādīṣ mein batlāyā gayā hai ki yih Allāh ta'ālā kī īzā kā sabab hain — maṣalan ḥawādiṣ o maṣā'ib ke waqt zamāne ko burā kahnā; ki dar-ḥaqīqat fā'il-e-ḥaqīqī Ḥaqq ta'ālā hai, aur yih log zamāne ko fā'il samajh kar gāliyān dete the, to dar-ḥaqīqat woh gāliyān fā'il-e-ḥaqīqī tak pahuñchtī thīn. Aur ba'z riwāyāt mein hai ki jāndār chīzoñ kī taṣwīreñ banānā Allāh ta'ālā kī īzā kā sabab hai. To āyat mein "Allāh ko īzā dene" se murād yih aqwāl yā af'āl hu'e.

Is ḥadīṣ se jaisā yih ma'lūm hu'ā ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī īzā se Allāh ta'ālā ko īzā pahuñchtī hai, isī ṭarah yih bhī ma'lūm hu'ā ki Ṣaḥāba-e-kirām mein se kisī ko īzā pahuñchānā yā un kī shān mein gustākhī karnā Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī īzā hai.

a slave-girl's sharī' parda before strangers is what a free woman's is before her maḥrams (face etc. uncovered), because her work constantly takes her out; a free woman goes out only rarely, so full parda is not hard for her — hence free women are told to draw the long chādar over the face so it is not seen by ajnabī men (also distinguishing them from slave-girls, protecting them from molesters). · Words: "yudnīna" from "idnā" (to bring near); "'alaihinna" = over themselves; "jalābīb" pl. of "jilbāb" (a particular long wrap). Ibn Mas'ūd raḍiyallāhu 'anhu: worn over the dū-patta. Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu: cover the face from over the head with the jilbāb, leaving one eye free. Muḥammad ibn Sīrīn / 'Abīda al-Salmānī demonstrated it in action.

... ek farq bhī rakhā hai ki kanīzoñ kā sharī' parda woh hai jo har ḥarā'ir kā apne maḥramoñ ke sāmne hotā hai — maṣalan chehra waghaira kholnā, jo ḥarā'ir ke li'e apne maḥramoñ ke sāmne jā'iz hai; kanīzoñ ke li'e bāhar bhī is kī ijāzat is li'e dī ga'ī ki un kā kām hī apne āqā aur us ke ghar kī khidmat hai, jis mein un ko bāhar bhī bār-bār nikalnā partā hai, aur chehra aur hāth mastūr rakhnā mushkil hotā hai. Bi-khilāf ḥarā'ir ke, ki un ko kisī ṣarūrat se bāhar nikalnā bhī paṛe to kabhī kabhī hogā, jis mein pūre parde kī ri'āyat mushkil nahīñ. Is li'e ḥarā'ir ko yih ḥukm de diyā gayā ki woh lambī chādar — jis mein mastūr ho kar nikaltī hain — us ko apne sar par se chehre ke sāmne laṭkā liyā kareñ, tāki chehra ajnabī mardoñ ke sāmne na ā' e.

Is se un kā parda bhī mukammal ho gayā, aur bāndiyōñ, kanīzoñ se imtiyāz-e-khāṣ bhī ho gayā, jis ke sabab woh sharīr logoñ kī chheṛ-chhāṛ se khud bi-khud ma'mūn ho ga'īñ. Aur kanīzoñ kī ḥifāzat kā intizām un munāfiqīn ko sazā kī wa'id sunā kar kiyā gayā ki is se bāz na ā'e to Allāh ta'ālā un ko dunyā mein bhī apne Nabī aur Musalmānoñ ke hāthoñ sazā dilwā'eñ ge.

"Allāh ta'ālā ne Musalmānoñ kī 'aurtoñ ko ḥukm diyā ki jab woh kisī zarūrat se apne gharoñ se nikleñ to apne saroñ ke ūpar se yih chādar laṭkā kar chehroñ ko chhupāleñ, aur ṣirf ek āñkh (rāsta dekhne ke li'e) khulī rakheñ."

Aur Imām Muḥammad bin Sīrīn farmāte hain ki main ne Ḥaḍrat 'Abīda Salmānī se is āyat kā maṭlab aur jilbāb kī kaifiyyat daryāft kī, to unhoñ ne apne hāthoñ se sar ke ūpar se chādar laṭkā kar chehra chhupā liyā, aur ṣirf bā'īñ āñkh khulī rakh kar "idnā'-e-jilbāb" kī tafsīr 'amalan bayān farmā'ī.

PDF PAGE 235 · [Q 33:59 / 33:62] · The face-covering of the chādar over the head is the tafsīr of "'alaihinna" (Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu, 'Abīda al-Salmānī). This āyah plainly commands covering the face, confirming the Sūrat an-Nūr discussion: face and hands, though not in themselves satr, must be covered for fear of fitna, except under compulsion. · Tanbīh-e-ẓarūrī: the special form of parda for free women (chādar down over the face) is only to distinguish them from slave-girls and protect them from rowdies — Islam did NOT make the 'iṣmat of slave-girls less protected. The rowdies themselves made that distinction; the sharī'a used it so that most women are protected by their own practice, and the next āyah gives the law that protects slave-girls likewise — seized and killed if the molesters do not desist. Ibn Ḥazm's ta'wīl to avoid the shubha is unnecessary.

... sar ke ūpar se chehre par chādar laṭkānā, jo Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) aur 'Abīda Salmānī ke bayān mein āyā hai — yih lafz "'alaihinna" kī tafsīr hai ki

"apne ūpar chādar ko qarīb karne" kā maṭlab chādar ko sar ke ūpar se chehre par laṭkānā hai.

Is āyat ne bi-ṣarāḥat chehre ke chhupāne kā ḥukm diyā hai, jis se is maẓmūn kī mukammal ta'īd ho ga'ī jo ūpar Sūrah Nūr kī pahlī āyat ke zail mein mufaṣṣal bayān ho chukā hai — ki chehra aur hathelīyān agarcheh fī nafsihī satr mein dākhil nahīn, magar ba-wajh khauf-e-fitna ke un kā chhupānā bhī ẓarūrī hai; ṣirf majbūrī kī ṣūrat mein mustaṣnā hai.

Is āyat mein ḥurra 'aurtoṅ ko ek khāṣ ṭarah ke parde kī hidāyat farmā'ī ki chādar ko sar ke ūpar se laṭkā kar chehre ko chhupāleṅ, tāki 'ām kanīzoṅ se un kā imtiyāz ho jā'e aur yih sharīr logoṅ ke fitne se maḥfūẓ ho jā'en. Mazkūr al-ṣadr bayān mein yih bāt wāẓiḥ ho chukī hai ki is kā yih maṭlab hargiz nahīn ki Islām ne 'iffat kī ḥifāzat mein ḥarā'ir aur kanīzoṅ ke darmiyān koī farq kar diyā — ki ḥarā'ir kī ḥifāzat karā'ī, kanīzoṅ ko chhoṛ diyā. Balki dar-ḥaqīqat yih farq aubāsh sharīr logoṅ ne khud kar rakhā thā ki ḥarā'ir par dast-andāzī kī jur'at o himmat nahīn karte the, magar imā', ya 'nī kanīzoṅ ko chheṛte the. Sharī'at-e-Islām ne un ke ikhtiyār-karda is farq se yih fā'ida uṭhāyā ki 'aurtoṅ kī akṣariyyat to khud unhī ke Muslima 'amal ke ẓarī'e khud bi-khud maḥfūẓ ho jā'e; bāqī rahā kanīzoṅ kā mu'āmalā, so un kī 'iṣmat kī ḥifāzat bhī Islām mein aisī hī farḡ o ẓarūrī hai jaisī ḥarā'ir kī.

Magar is ke li'e qānūnī tashaddud aur iḥtiyār kiye baḡhair chāra nahīn, to aglī āyat mein is kā qānūn batlā diyā ki jo log apnī is ḥarakat se bāz na ā'en ge un ko kisī ṭarah mu'āf na kiyā jā'e gā, balki jahān mileṅ ge pakare jā'en ge, aur qatl kar diye jā'en ge. Is ne kanīzoṅ kī 'iṣmat ko bhī ḥarā'ir kī ṭarah maḥfūẓ kar diyā.

Is se wāẓiḥ ho gayā ki 'Allāma Ibn Ḥazm waghaira ne jo mazkūra shubha se bachne ke li'e āyat kī tafsīr jamhūr 'ulamā' se mukhtalif karne kī ta'wīl kī hai, us kī koī ẓarūrat nahīn; shubha tab wājib hotā jab ki kanīzoṅ kī ḥifāzat kā intizām na kiyā gayā hotā.

The last āyah calls it Allāh's ancient sunna → the earlier Anbiyā's sharī'as also had death for the murtadd. · Chand Masā'il: (1) women going out at need cover the whole body with a long chādar and draw it over the head to cover the face too — the customary burqa stands in its place; (2) spreading rumours that alarm and harm Muslims is ḥarām. · Then [Q 33:63] on the Hour.

Ṣaḥābī deliberately hurt the Prophet ﷺ — deliberate īzā is only from the munāfiqīn; where a Ṣaḥābī is reported to have said something, he did not realise it caused hurt. · The Prophet ﷺ himself explained "ka-llazīna āzau Mūsā" (Bukhārī, Kitāb al-Tafsīr & Kitāb al-Anbiyā, from Abū Huraira raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): Mūsā ‘alaihi-s-salām was extremely modest and always covered his body, bathing behind a screen, unlike the Banī Isrā‘īl who bathed openly — so some said he had a bodily defect (leprosy, a hernia, or some other affliction). Allāh cleared him: one day, bathing alone, the stone carrying his clothes moved off; he chased it crying "thaubī ḥajar" until it stopped before a gathering of Banī Isrā‘īl who then saw his sound, flawless body; he struck the stone with his staff, leaving marks in it.

... nahīn ki Musalmānoṅ se koī aisā kām sar-zad ho nā ho, balki ḥifẓ-mā-taqaddum ke ṭaur par un ko yih qīṣṣa sunā kar hidāyat kī ga'ī hai. Aur ek riwāyat mein jo qīṣṣa ba'ẓ Ṣaḥāba kā manqūl hai, us kā maḥmil bhī yihī hai ki un ko us waqt is ṭaraf tawajjuh na hu'ī hogī ki yih kalima Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī īzā kā mūjib hai; bil-qaṣd īzā pahuñchāne kā kisī Ṣaḥābī se imkān nahīn. Jitne qīṣṣe bil-qaṣd īzā ke hain, woh sab munāfiqīn ke hain.

Aur Mūsā 'alaihi-s-salām kā qīṣṣa khud Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne bayān farmā kar is āyat kī tafsīr bayān farmā dī hai, jis ko Imām Bukhārī ne Kitāb al-Tafsīr aur Kitāb al-Anbiyā mein Ḥaḍrat Abū Huraira (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se riwāyat farmāyā hai:

Ki Ḥaḍrat Mūsā 'alaihi-s-salām bahut ḥayā karne wāle aur apne badan ko chhupāne wāle the; un ke badan ko koī na dekhtā thā. Jab ḡhusl kī zarūrat hotī to parde ke andar ḡhusl karte the. Un kī qaum Banī Isrā'īl mein 'ām ṭaur par yih riwāj thā ki mard sab ke sāmne tange ho kar nahāte the, to ba'ẓ Banī Isrā'īl kahne lage ki "Mūsā 'alaihi-s-salām jo kisī ke sāmne nahīn nahāte, is kā sabab yih hai ki un ke badan mein koī 'aib hai — yā to baraṣ hai, yā khuṣyatain bahut baṛī hu'ī hain, yā koī aur āfat hai." Allāh ta'ālā ne irāda farmāyā ki Mūsā 'alaihi-s-salām kī is ṭarah ke 'uyūb se barā'at kā iẓhār farmā dein.

Ek roz Mūsā 'alaihi-s-salām ne khalwat mein ḡhusl karne ke li'e apne kapṛe utār kar ek paṭhar par rakh diye; jab ḡhusl se fāriḡh ho kar apne kapṛe lenā chāhā to yih paṭhar (ba-ḥukm-e-khudāwandī) ḥarakat mein ā gayā (aur kapṛe le kar bhāgne lagā). Mūsā 'alaihi-s-salām apnī lāṭhī uṭhā kar paṭhar ke pīchhe chale, yih kahte hu'e: "thaubī ḥajar, thaubī ḥajar" — ya'nī "ai paṭhar! mere kapṛe, ai paṭhar! mere kapṛe." Magar paṭhar chaltā rahā, yahān tak ki yih paṭhar aisī jagah jā kar ṭaharā jahān Banī Isrā'īl kā ek majma' thā. Is ṭarah Allāh ta'ālā ne Mūsā 'alaihi-s-salām kī barā'at un 'uyūb se sab ke sāmne zāhir farmā dī.

"Qaul-e-sadīd" kī tafsīr ba‘ḏ ne "ṣidq" se, ba‘ḏ ne "mustaqīm" se, aur ba‘ḏ ne "ṣawāb" se kī hai. Ibn Kaṣīr ne sab ko naql kar ke farmāyā ki yih sab ḥaqq hain. Maṭlab yih hu‘ā ki Qur‘ān-e-Karīm ne is jagah "ṣādiq" yā "mustaqīm" waghaira ke alfāḏ chhoṛ kar "sadīd" kā lafḏ ikhtiyār farmāyā, kyūnki lafḏ "sadīd" in tamām auṣāf kā jāmi‘ hai. Isī li‘e Kāshfī ne Rūḥ al-Bayān mein farmāyā:

"Sadīd" woh qaul hai jo sachchā ho, jhūṭ kā is mein shā‘iba na ho; ṣawāb ho, jis mein khaṭā kā shā‘iba na ho; ṭhīk bāt ho; hazl (ya‘nī mazāq o dil-lagī) na ho; narm kalām ho, dil-kharāsh na ho.

PDF PAGE 242 · [Q 33:70-71] · The core command is "ittaqu-llāh" (taqwā = full obedience to all of Allāh's aḥkām: doing every command, shunning every prohibition and makrūh) — hard for man, so a single key deed is added: setting right one's speech. Reforming the tongue is an effective means to reforming all the limbs and deeds — hence "qūlū qaulan sadīdā" is followed by "yuṣliḥ lakum a‘mālakum" and "yaghfir lakum zunūbakum": master the tongue, become truthful and straight in speech, and Allāh will set right the rest of your deeds and forgive your lapses. · The Qur‘ān's general style: wherever a hard command is given, an easing method is given alongside. So "ittaqu-llāh" is usually paired with a facilitating deed — here "qūlū qaulan sadīdā"; in the previous āyah, "wa lā takūnū ka-llazīna āzau Mūsā" (hurting Allāh's righteous servants is the biggest obstacle to taqwā). Cf. "kūnū ma‘a-ṣ-ṣādiqīn" (keep company with the truthful) and "wa-l-tanzur nafsun mā qaddamat li-ghad".

Is āyat mein aṣl ḥukm sab Musalmānoḥ ko yih diyā gayā hai ki "ittaqu-llāh" — ya‘nī taqwā ikhtiyār karo, jis kī ḥaqīqat tamām aḥkām-e-ilāhiyya kī mukammal iṭā‘at hai: ki tamām awāmīr kī ta‘mīl kare, aur tamām manhiyyāt wa makrūhāt se ijtināb kare. Aur ṣāḥib hai ki yih kām insān ke li‘e āsān nahīn; is li‘e "ittaqu-llāh" ke ba‘d ek khāṣ ‘amal hī kī hidāyat kī — ya‘nī apne kalām kī durustī aur iṣlāḥ. Ham ne yih amānat — ya ‘nī dīnī aḥkāṃ jo ba-manzila-e-amānat ke hain — āsmānoñ aur zamīn aur pahāroñ ke sāmne pesh kī thī, un mein kuchh dīnī shu‘ūr paidā kar ke (jo ki ab bhī hai) un ke rū-ba-rū apne aḥkāṃ — aur ba-ṣūrat-e-mānne ke in‘ām wa ikrām, aur ba-ṣūrat-e-na-mānne ke ‘azāb kā mu‘ākhaza...

PDF PAGE 244 · [Q 33:72-73] · The "offering" of the amānat: the aḥkāṃ were shown to the heavens, earth and mountains with their reward-and-punishment consequences, and the option to decline; they declined out of fear of the punishment, forgoing the possible reward, afraid of where it would end. Had they taken it on, they too would have been granted the ‘aql needed to grasp the aḥkāṃ, rewards and penalties. Man took it on (as in Allāh's knowledge he was destined to be khalīfa). This "offering" is probably prior to the akhḡ-e-mīṣāq, which is a branch of this bearing of the amānat; the āyah recalls it like the mīṣāq is recalled — you undertook these aḥkāṃ yourself, so fulfil them. · Jinn too are mukallaf and probably shared in the offering; man is named only because he is the subject here. After undertaking it man became, in most cases, ṣalūm in deeds and jahūl in knowledge — falling short in both works and beliefs. The upshot (v.73): Allāh punishes the hypocrites and mushrikīn who waste the aḥkām, and turns in mercy to the believers — and one who repents after opposing is admitted among the believers.

... is par ta'zīb wa ālām pesh kar ke un ko na lene kā ikhtiyār diyā. Aur ḥāṣil is pesh karne kā yih thā ki agar tum in aḥkām ko apne zimme rakhte ho to un ke muwāfiq 'amal karne kī ṣūrat mein tum ko ṣawāb mile gā, aur khilāf karne kī ṣūrat mein 'azāb hogā; aur agar nahīn lete to mukallaf na banā'e jā'o ge, aur ṣawāb wa 'azāb ke bhī mustahiqq na ho ge. Tum ko donoṁ ikhtiyār hain.

Jis qadar in ko shu'ūr thā, woh ijmālan is qadar mazmūn samajh lene ke li'e kāfī thā; chūnki in ko ikhtiyār bhī diyā gayā thā, so unhoṁ ne (khauf-e-'azāb ke sabab, iḥtimāl-e-ṣawāb se bhī dast-bardārī kī, aur) is kī zimmedārī se inkār kar diyā, aur is kī zimmedārī se ḍar ga'e ki khudā-jāne kyā anjām ho.

Aur agar woh apne zimme rakh lete to (miṣl-e-insān ke) un ko bhī 'aql 'aṭā kī jāī jo tafṣīl-e-aḥkām wa maṣūbāt wa 'uqūbāt ke samajhne ke li'e ṣarūrī hai — chūnki is ko nahīn manzūr kiyā, is li'e 'aql kī bhī ṣarūrat na huī. Gharaḥ unhoṁ ne to 'uzr kar diyā. Aur (jab in samāwāt wa arz wa jibāl ke ba'd insān ko paidā kar ke us se) yihī bāt pūchhī ga'ī, to insān ne (ba-wajh is ke ki 'ilm-e-ilāhī mein us kā khalīfa honā muqarrar thā) is ko apne zimme le liyā (ghāliban); us waqt tak us mein bhī itnā hī ṣarūrat ke qadr shu'ūr hogā. Aur ghāliban yih pesh karnā akhṣ-e-mīṣāq se muqaddam hai, aur woh mīṣāq isī ḥaml-e-amānat kī far' hai; aur us mīṣāq ke waqt us mein 'aql 'aṭā kī ga'ī hogī. Yih samāwāt wa arz wa jibāl mukallaf na hu'e, aur yih insān mukallaf banā diyā gayā. Āyat mein is kā yād dilānā ghāliban isī ḥikmat se hai jaisā ki mīṣāq yād dilāyā — ya'nī in aḥkām kā tum ne az-khud iltizām kiyā hai, to phir nibāh banānā chāhī'e. Aur chūnki mukallaf jinn bhī hai, is li'e ghāliban woh 'arz aur ḥaml mein sharīk hai, magar takhṣīṣ ṣikr insān kī ṣirf is li'e hai ki is maqām mein kalām usī se ho rahā hai.

Phir is iltizām ke ba'd insān kī ḥālat, ba-i'tibār akṣar afrād ke, yih huī ki (woh) (insān 'amaliyāt mein) ṣālim hai, aur ('ilmiyāt mein) jāhil hai — ya'nī donoṁ amroṁ mein, a'māl mein bhī aur 'aqā'id mein bhī khilāf-warzī kartā hai. Sūrah stresses the honouring and obedience of the Messenger ﷺ; at its end that obedience and the carrying out of the aḥkām is termed "amānat". · Boxed: what "amānat" means — the mufasssīrīn, Ṣaḥāba and Tābi'īn give many views: farā'iz-e-shar'īyya, guarding chastity, trusts of wealth, ghusl of janāba, ṣalāt, zakāt, ṣawm, ḥajj etc.; jamhūr (Qurṭubī): all of the dīn's duties and deeds are included. Tafsīr Maḥzarī: the whole body of the sharī'a's obligations (amr and nahy). Abū Ḥayyān, Baḥr al-Muḥīt: "everything one is entrusted with — command, prohibition, any matter of dīn, dunyā or shar' — is amānat; this is the jamhūr view." · Some: amānat = the capacity/readiness to bear Allāh's aḥkām, which rests on a particular degree of 'aql and shu'ūr, on which taraqqī and the fitness for khilāfa depend — a rank other creatures, even the angels, cannot advance to ("wa mā minnā illā lahū maqāmūn ma'lūm").

Ma'ārif o Maṣā'il

Is pūrī Sūrah mein ta'zīm wa takrīm-e-Rasūl (ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam), aur un kī itā'at par zor diyā gayā hai. Ākhir Sūrah mein is itā'at kā maqām-e-buland aur us kā darja batlāyā gayā hai; is mein Allāh o Rasūl kī itā'at, aur un ke aḥkām kī ta'mīl ko amānat se ta'bīr kiyā gayā hai, jis kī wajh āge ā jā'e gī.

Is jagah lafz amānat kī tafsīr mein A'imma-e-tafsīr, Ṣaḥāba wa Tābi'īn waghairahum ke bahut se aqwāl manqūl hain — farā'iz-e-shar'īyya, ḥifāzat-e-'iffat, amānat-e-amwāl, ghusl-e-janābat, namāz, zakāt, roza, ḥajj waghaira. Isī li'e jamhūr mufasssīrīn ne farmāyā hai ki dīn ke tamām waḥā'if wa a'māl is mein dākhil hain (Qurṭubī).

Tafsīr-e-Maḥzarī mein farmāyā ki sharī'at kī tamām taklīfāt — amr o nahī — kā majmū'a amānat hai. Abū Ḥayyān ne Baḥr-e-Muḥīt mein farmāyā:

matn: "al-ḥāziru annahā kullu mā yu'tamanu 'alaihi min amrin wa nahyin wa sha'ni dīnin wa dunyā wa shar'in, kulluhū amānatun; wa hāzā qaulu al-jumhūr."

"Ya'nī har woh chīz jis mein insān par i'timād kiyā jātā hai — ya'nī amr o nahī, aur har ḥāl jis kā dīn yā dunyā se ta'alluq ho, aur sharī'at pūrī kī pūrī — amānat hī hai; yihī jumhūr kā qaul hai."

Khulāṣa yih hai ki amānat se murād aḥkām-e-shar'īyya kā mukallaf wa ma'mūr honā hai, jin mein pūrā utarne par jannat kī dā'imī ni'mateñ, aur khilāf-warzī yā kotāhī par jahannam kā 'azāb, mau'ūd hai.

Aur ba'z ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā ki amānat se murād aḥkām-e-ilāhiyya kā bār uṭhāne kī ṣalāhiyyat wa isti'dād hai; aur yih ṣalāhiyyat wa isti'dād 'aql wa shu'ūr ke khāṣ darja par mauqūf hai, aur taraqqī aur istiḥqāq-e-khilāfat-e-ilāhiyya isī khāṣ isti'dād par mauqūf hai. Jin ajnās-e-makhlūqāt mein yih isti'dād nahīn hai, woh apnī jagah kitnā hī a'lā wa unchā maqām rakhte hoñ, magar woh is maqām se taraqqī nahīn kar sakte. Isī wajh se āsmān, zamīn waghaira mein — yahāñ tak ki firishtoñ mein bhī — taraqqī nahīn; jis kā jo maqām-e-qurb hai bas wuhī hai: "wa mā minnā illā lahū maqāmun ma'lūm" — ya'nī ham mein se koī nahīn magar us kā ek mu'ayyan maqām hai.

Aḥmad): the Prophet ﷺ told them two ḥadīths — one they saw come true, one they await. (1) Amānat was first sent down into the hearts of the men of dīn, then the Qur'ān came, and the believers took 'ilm from the Qur'ān and 'amal from the Sunna. (2) A time will come when a man wakes and amānat is stripped from his heart, leaving only a trace — like an ember rolled over the foot: the ember is gone but its blister remains, with no fire in it — until people transact and make covenants but none discharges a trust, and a trustworthy man becomes so rare that people say "there is one trustworthy man in such-and-such a tribe." · So amānat is a thing tied to the human heart, the very readiness to be mukallaḥ with the shar'ī duties. · 'Abdullāh bin 'Amr raḍiyallāhu 'anhumā (Musnad Aḥmad): four things — if you have them, losing any other worldly thing is no cause for grief: guarding trusts, truthful speech, good character, a lawful morsel (Ibn Kaṣīr). · Boxed: the "offering" of the amānat — was it majāz/tamṣīl (cf. "lau anzalnā ḥāza-l-Qur'āna 'alā jabalin la-ra'aitahū khāshi'an...") or real? — begins.

... Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne hamēñ do ḥadīṣeñ sunā'ī thīñ; in mein se ek ko to ham ne khud āñkhoñ se dekh liyā, dūsarī kā intizār hai.

Pahlī ḥadīṣ yih hai ki awwal rijāl-e-dīn ke qulūb mein amānat nāzil kī ga'ī; phir Qur'ān utār āyā, to ahl-e-īmān ne Qur'ān se 'ilm ḥāṣil aur Sunnat se 'amal ḥāṣil kiyā.

Is ke ba‘d dūsī ḥadīṣ yih sunā‘ī ki (ek waqt aisā āne wālā hai jis mein) ādmī so kar uṭhe gā to us ke qalb se amānat salb kar lī jā‘e gī, aur us kā kuchh aṣar nishān aisā rah jā‘e gā jaise tum koī āg kā angārā apne pā‘on par luṛhkā do, aur woh angārā to chalā gayā, magar us kā aṣar tumhāre pā‘on mein warm yā chhāle kī ṣūrat mein rah gayā, ḥalānki us mein āg kā koī juz‘ nahīn (rihī, qauluhū) — yahān tak ki log bāham mu‘āmalāt aur mu‘āhadāt karen ge, magar koī amānat kā ḥaqq adā na kare gā; aur (amānat-dār ādmī kā aisā qaṭt ho jā‘e gā ki) log yih kah kar kaheṅ ge ki "falān qabīla mein ek ādmī amānat-dār hai."

Is ḥadīṣ mein amānat ek aisī chīz ko qarār diyā hai jis kā ta‘alluq insān ke qalb se hai; aur wuhī taklīf-e-shar‘iyya aur waṣā‘if-e-dīniyya ke mukallaf hone kī ṣalāḥiyyat wa isti‘dād rakhtā hai.

Aur Musnad Aḥmad mein Ḥaḍrat ‘Abdullāh bin ‘Amr (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhumā) kī riwāyat hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki chār chīzeṅ aisī hain ki jab woh tumheṅ ḥāṣil ho jā‘eṅ to dunyā kī aur koī chīz tumheṅ ḥāṣil na ho to koī afsos kī bāt nahīn. (Woh chār chīzeṅ yih hain:) amānat kī ḥifāzat, bāt kī sachchā‘ī, ḥusn-e-khulq, aur luqma-e-ḥalāl (rawā Ibn Kaṣīr).

Āyat-e-mazkūra mein yih irshād diyā hai ki "ham ne amānat ko āsmānoṅ par, zamīn par aur pahāroṅ par pesh kiyā, to sab ne us kā bojh uṭhāne se inkār kar diyā, aur us se ḍar ga‘e ki ham is kā ḥaqq adā na kar sakeṅ ge; aur insān ne yih bojh uṭhā liyā."

Yahān yih bāt ḡhaur-ṭalab hai ki āsmān, zamīn, pahār — jo ḡhair zī-rūḥ aur ba-ẓāhir be-‘ilm wa shu‘ūr hain — un ke sāmne pesh karne, aur un ke jawāb dene kī kyā ṣūrat ho saktī hai? Ba‘ṣ ḥaḍrāt ne to is ko majāz aur tamṣīl qarār diyā — jaisā Qur‘ān-e-Karīm ne ek mauqī‘ par ba-ṭaur-e-tamṣīl ke farmāyā: "lau anzalnā ḥāza-l-Qur‘āna ‘alā jabalin la-ra‘aitahū khāshi‘an mutaṣaddī‘an min khashyati-llāh" — ya‘nī ham agar yih Qur‘ān pahār par nāzil karte to tum dekhte ki woh bhī is ke bojh se jhuk jātā, aur ṭukre ṭukre ho jātā Allāh ke khauf se — ki is mein ba-ṭaur farṣ ke yih miṣāl dī ga‘ī hai; yih nahīn ki ḥaqīqatan pahār par Qur‘ān utārā gayā ho. In ḥaḍrāt ne ...

PDF PAGE 247 · [Q 33:73] · The jamhūr reject taking "innā ‘araḍnā" as majāz/tamṣīl: where the Qur‘ān means a hypothetical, it uses "lau" and makes the farḍī nature plain; "innā ‘araḍnā" affirms an actual event, not to be read figuratively without proof. The objection "these things are lifeless and senseless" is refuted by "wa in min shai‘in illā yusabbiḥu bi-ḥamdih" — nothing but glorifies Allāh, which needs idrāk and shu‘ūr; so awareness exists in all creation, even inanimate things, and they can be addressed and can answer (by words, or otherwise — Allāh could grant them speech). So per the jamhūr the offering of the amānat to the heavens, earth and mountains was real, and their pleading inability was real — no tamṣīl or majāz. · Boxed: the offering was optional (ikhtiyārī), not compulsory. On "how could they refuse a divine command?" — refusing a ḥākimāna command would have meant their annihilation; their obedience is proved by "ataynā ṭā'ī'īn" (come willingly or unwillingly — "we come willingly"). But that was a binding decree; this āyah offered the amānat with the choice to accept or decline. · Ibn Kaṣīr's chains from Ṣaḥāba and Tābi'īn (Ibn 'Abbās, Ḥasan al-Baṣrī ...) follow.

Magar jamhūr 'ulamā' ke nazdīk yih ṣaḥīḥ nahīn; kyūnki jahān āyat se tamṣīl par istidlāl kiyā gayā ho, wahān to Qur'ān-e-Karīm ne ḥarf-e-"lau" ke sāth is kā bayān kar ke us kā qāziyya farziyya honā khud wāḍiḥ kar diyā hai; aur āyat "innā 'araḍnā" mein ek wāqi'a kā iṣbāt hai, jis ko majāz wa tamṣīl par ḥaml karnā baḡhair kisī dalīl ke jā'iz nahīn. Aur agar dalīl mein yih kahā jā'e ki "yih chīzeḥ be-ḥiss wa be-shu'ūr hain, un se jawāb-o-sawāl nahīn ho saktā", to yih Qur'ān kī dūsarī taṣrīḥāt se mardūd hai — kyūnki Qur'ān-e-Karīm kā wāḍiḥ irshād hai: "wa in min shai'in illā yusabbiḥu bi-ḥamdih" — ya'nī koī chīz aisī nahīn jo Allāh kī ḥamd wa tasbīḥ na paṛhtī ho. Aur zāḥir hai ki Allāh ta'ālā ko pahchāntā, aur us ko khāliq wa mālik aur sab se a'lā wa buland-tar jān kar us kī tasbīḥ karnā, baḡhair idrāk wa shu'ūr ke mumkin nahīn. Is li'e is āyat se ṣābit hu'ā ki idrāk wa shu'ūr tamām makhluqāt mein — yahān tak ki jamādāt mein bhī — maujūd hai.

Isī idrāk wa shu'ūr kī binā par in ko mukhāṭab bhī banāyā jā saktā hai, aur woh jawāb bhī de sakte hain. Jawāb kī mukhtalif ṣūrateḥ ho saktī hain; alfāz wa ḥurūf ke zari'e bhī ho saktā hai; aur is mein 'aqlī imtinā' nahīn ki Allāh ta'ālā in jamādāt — āsmān, zamīn aur pahāron — ko nuṭq wa gūyā'ī 'aṭā farmā dein. Is li'e jamhūr-e-ummat ke nazdīk āsmān, zamīn aur pahāron par 'arṣ-e-amānat ḥaqīqī ṭaur par kiyā gayā, aur unhoḥ ne ḥaqīqī ṭaur par hī is bār se apnā 'ājiz honā zāḥir kiyā; is mein koī tamṣīl yā majāz nahīn.

Rahā yih sawāl ki jab Ḥaqq ta'ālā shānuḥū ne āsmān, zamīn wa ḡhaira par is amānat ko khud pesh farmāyā, to un ko majāl-e-inkār kaise hu'ī? Jawāb: ḥukm-e-ilāhī se rū-gardānī kī hotī to un ko nīstī wa nābūdī, do-hara ho jānā chāhi'e thā. Is ke 'ilāwa un āsmān zamīn kā muṭī' aur tābi'-farmān honā Qur'ān-e-Karīm kī āyat "ataynā ṭā'ī'īn" se bhī ṣābit hai — ya'nī jab Ḥaqq ta'ālā ne āsmān wa zamīn ko ḥukm diyā ki "hamāre ḥukm kī ta'mīl ke li'e ā'o, khwāḥ apnī khushī se yā zabar-dastī se", to donoḥ ne yih jawāb diyā ki "ham ta'mīl-e-ḥukm ke li'e khushī se ḥāẓir hain."

ḥukm diyā gayā thā, jis mein yih bhī kah diyā gayā thā ki "tum is ḥukm par dil se rāzī ho yā na ho, ba-har-ḥāl yih ḥukm mānnā paṛe gā." Bī-khilāf is āyat-e-‘arḻ-e-amānat ke, ki is mein amānat ko pesh kar ke un ko ikhtiyār diyā gayā thā ki qabūl karen yā na karen.

PDF PAGE 248 · [Q 33:73] · Mujāhid etc. (via Ibn Kaṣīr): Allāh offered the amānat — dīnī obedience to the aḥkām — first to the heaven, then the earth, then the mountains, optionally, with its "mu‘āwaḍa": reward and special honour if fulfilled, punishment if failed or fallen short. The great bodies answered: "we still obey Your command, but given the choice we find ourselves unable to bear this load; we want neither the reward nor to bear the punishment." · Via Ḥakīm al-Tirmizī in Qurṭubī, from Ibn ‘Abbās raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu: after that, Allāh addressed Ādam ‘alaihi-s-salām — "the heaven and earth were unable to bear this; will you take it on, with what comes with it?" He asked what comes with it; the answer: reward (Allāh's nearness, riḍā, the eternal blessings of Jannat) if fulfilled, punishment if wasted. Ādam ‘alaihi-s-salām took it on (longing to rise in Allāh's nearness); not even a Ṣuhr-to-‘Aṣr span passed before Shaiṭān drew him into the well-known lapse and he was brought out of Jannat. · Boxed: when did the offering happen? — before the creation of Ādam ‘alaihi-s-salām (then recounted to him); apparently even before the mīṣāq-e-azal ("‘ahd-e-alastu"), which is the first link of this same bearing of the amānat.

... Mujāhid waghaira se ‘arḻ-e-amānat kī yih tafṣīl naql kī hai ki Allāh ta‘ālā ne awwal āsmān par, phir zamīn par, phir pahārōñ par, ikhtiyārī ṣūrat mein yih pesh kiyā ki "hamārī amānat — ya nī dīnī ṭā‘at-e-aḥkām — kā bār uṭhā’o, aur is mu‘āwaḍa ke sāth jo is ke li’e muqarrar hai." Har ek ne sawāl kiyā ki "mu‘āwaḍa kyā hai?" to batlāyā gayā ki "agar amānat — ya nī dīnī ṭā‘at-e-aḥkām — tum ne pūrī ṭarah kī to tumhen jazā’ wa ṣawāb, aur Allāh ta‘ālā ke nazdīk a‘zāz-e-khāṣ mile gā; aur agar ta‘mīl-e-aḥkām na kī, yā is mein kotāhī kī, to ‘azāb wa sazā mile gī."

In sab baṛe baṛe ajsām ne yih sun kar yih jawāb diyā ki "ai hamāre Parwardgār! ham ab bhī āp ke tābi‘-e-farmān chal rahe hain; lekin (jab hamen ikhtiyār diyā gayā to) ham is bār ko uṭhāne se apne ko ‘ājiz pāte hain; ham na ṣawāb chāhte hain, na ‘azāb ke mutaḥammil hain."

Aur Tafsīr-e-Qurṭubī mein Ḥakīm Tirmizī ke ḥawāle se Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) kī yih riwāyat naql kī hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki (āsmān, zamīn waghaira par ‘arḻ-e-amānat aur un ke jawāb ke ba‘d) Ḥaqq ta'ālā ne Ḥaḍrat Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām ko khiṭāb farmāyā, aur farmāyā ki "ham ne apnī amānat āsmān zamīn ke sāmne pesh kī, to woh us kā bār uṭhāne se 'ājiz ho ga'ī; kyā āp is bār-e-amānat ko uṭhā'ēn ge, ma' is chīz ke jo is ke sāth hai?" Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām ne sawāl kiyā ki "ai Parwardgār! woh chīz jo is ke sāth hai kyā hai?" Jawāb milā: ki "agar amānat mein pūre utre (ya'nī dīnī iṭā'at mukammal kī) to āp ko jazā' mile gī, (jo Allāh ta'ālā ke qurb wa raṣā aur jannat kī dā'imī ni'matoñ kī ṣūrat mein hogī); aur agar is amānat ko ṣā'i' kiyā to saṣā mile gī." Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām ne (Allāh ta'ālā ke qurb wa raṣā mein taraqqī hone ke shauq mein) is ko uṭhā liyā; yahān tak ki bār-e-amānat uṭhāne par itnā waqt bhī na guṣṣā thā jitnā ṣuhr se 'aṣr tak hotā hai ki is mein Shaiṭān ne un ko mashhūr laḡhzish mein mubtalā kar diyā, aur jannat se nikāle ga'e.

Abhī jo riwāyat Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhū) kī ūpar guṣṣā hai, us se ma'lūm hotā hai ki yih 'arṣ-e-amānat āsmān, zamīn waghaira par takhlīq-e-Ādam se pahle hu'ā thā; phir jab Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām ko paidā kiyā gayā to un ke sāmne yih bhī bayān farmāyā gayā ki "āp se pahle āsmān zamīn par bhī yih amānat pesh kī jā chukī hai, jis kī un ko ṭāqat na thī, is li'e 'uṣr kar diyā."

Aur ṣāhir yihī hai ki yih 'arṣ-e-amānat kā wāqī'a mīṣāq-e-azal — ya'nī 'ahd-e-"alastu" — se bhī pahle kā hai; kyūnki "'ahd-e-alastu bi-rabbikum" isī bār-e-amānat kī pahlī kaṭī, aur apne maṣṣab kā ḥalf uṭhāne ke qā'im-maqām hī hai.

PDF PAGE 249 · [Q 33:72-73] · Boxed: for the earthly khilāfa, the capacity to bear the amānat was required. In azalī taqdīr Allāh had settled that Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām would be His khalīfa on earth, and the khilāfa could only be entrusted to one who would carry the load of obeying the aḥkām — its very purpose being to enforce Allāh's law on earth and move people to obey it. So takwīnān Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām was made ready to bear it, though other great creatures had shown their inability (Maṣḥarī, Bayān al-Qur'ān). · "innahū kāna ṣalūman jahūlā": ṣalūm = one who wrongs his own self, jahūl = unaware of the outcome. Apparently a rebuke of man for taking on a load beyond him — but per the Qur'ān that is not so: "insān" here, whether Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām or the whole human kind — Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām is a ma'ṣūm prophet who did discharge the trust (hence khalīfat-Allāh, maṣjūd of the angels, a rank above them in the ākhira); and the species contains lakhs of Anbiyā 'alaihimu-s-salām and crores of Ṣāliḥīn and Auliyā whom even angels envy, and for whose sake the Qur'ān calls man ashraf al-makhlūqāt ("wa laqad karramnā banī Ādam"). So the phrase describes the majority — the ummat's kuffār, munāfiqīn, fuṣṣāq, fuḡḡār and sinful Muslims (Ibn 'Abbās, Ibn Jubair, Ḥasan al-Baṣrī — Qurṭubī).

Ḥaqq ta'ālā ne taqdīr-e-azalī mein Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām ko zamīn mein apnā khalīfa banānā tay farmāyā thā, aur yih khilāfat isī ko supurd kī jā saktī thī jo aḥkām-e-ilāhiyya kī itā'at kā bār uṭhā'e. Kyūnki is khilāfat kā ḥāsil hī yih hai ki zamīn par Allāh ke qānūn ko nāfiz o zī-kar de, khalq-e-khudā ko aḥkām-e-ilāhiyya kī itā'at par āmāda kare. Is li'e takwīnī ṭaur par Ḥaḍrat Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām is amānat ke uṭhāne ke li'e āmāda ho ga'e — ḥalānki dūsarī baṛī baṛī makhlūqāt kā is se 'ājiz honā bhī ma'lūm ho chukā thā (Maḡharī wa Bayān al-Qur'ān).

"innahū kāna ḡalūman jahūlā" — "ḡalūm" se murād apne nafs par ḡulm karne wālā, aur "jahūl" se murād anjām se nā-wāqif. Is jumle se bi-zāhir har shakhṣ yih samajhtā hai ki yih muṭlaqan insān kī mazammat mein āyā hai ki "is nādān ne apnī jān par ḡulm kiyā ki itnā baṛā bār uṭhā liyā jo us kī ṭāqat se bāhar thā." Magar Qur'ānī taṣrīḥāt ke muṭābiq wāqī'a aisā nahīn; kyūnki "insān" se murād Ḥaḍrat Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām honā yā pūrī nau'-e-insānī — in mein Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām to Nabī, ma'ṣūm hain; unhoñ ne jo bār uṭhāyā thā, us kā ḥaqq bhī yaqīnī ṭaur se adā kar diyā. Isī ke natīja mein un ko khalīfat-Allāh banā kar zamīn par bhejā gayā, un ko firishton kā masjūd banāyā gayā, aur ākhirat mein un kā maqām firishton se bhī buland o bālā hai.

Aur agar nau'-e-insānī hī murād ho to us pūrī nau' mein lākhoñ to Anbiyā 'alaihimu-s-salām hain, aur karoñ woh Ṣāliḥīn aur Auliya-Allāh hain, jin par firishte bhī rashk karte hain, jinhoñ ne apne 'amal se ḡābit kar diyā ki woh is amānat-e-ilāhiyya ke ahl aur is ke mustahiq the. Unhīn ḥaqq-e-amānat ko adā karne wāloñ kī binā par Qur'ān-e-Ḥakīm ne nau'-e-insānī ko ashraf al-makhlūqāt ṭahrāyā, aur "wa laqad karramnā banī Ādam" kahā. Is se ḡābit hu'ā ki na Ādam 'alaihi-s-salām qābil-e-mazammat hain, na pūrī nau'-e-insānī.

Isī li'e ḥaḍrat mufasssīrīn ne farmāyā ki yih jumla — ba-i'tibār akṣar afrād-e-nau' ke — bayān-e-wāqī'a ke ṭaur par irshād hu'ā hai; maṭlab yih hai ki nau'-e-insānī kī akṣariyyat ḡalūm wa jahūl ḡābit hu'ī, jis ne is amānat kā ḥaqq adā na kiyā aur khisāre mein paṛī; aur chūnki akṣariyyat kā yih ḥāl thā, is li'e is ko nau'-e-insānī kī ṭaraf mansūb kar diyā gayā.

Khulāṣa yih hu'ā ki āyat mein "ḡalūm wa jahūl" un afrād-e-insānī ko kahā gayā hai jo aḥkām-e-shar'iyya kī itā'at mein pūre na utre aur amānat kā ḥaqq adā na kiyā — ya'nī ummat ke kuffār wa munāfiqīn, aur fussāq wa fujjār, aur ḡunāḡḡār Musalmān. Yih tafsīr Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās, Ibn Jubair, Ḥasan Baṣrī waghaira se manqūl hai (Qurṭubī).

Alf-e-Şānī rahmatullāh and other Şūfiyā. · "li-yu‘azziba-llāhu...": the lām is not lām of purpose but lām-e-‘āqiba (of outcome) — as in the Arabic verse "lidū li-l-mauti wa-bnū li-l-kharāb" (every birth ends in death, every building in ruin). It connects to "ḥamalaha-l-insān": the outcome of man's bearing the amānat is that the species splits in two — the kuffār, munāfiqīn etc. who rebelled and wasted it, who are punished; and the mu‘minīn and mu‘mināt who discharged the trust through obedience to the shar‘ī aḥkām, who meet mercy and forgiveness. This confirms the majority-reading of "ḡalūm wa jahūl". Wallāhu subḥānahū wa ta‘ālā a‘lam. — Sūrat al-Aḥzāb completed, 20 Muḥarram al-Ḥarām 1392 AH, Tuesday.

Aur ba‘ḡ ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā ki lafḡ "ḡalūm wa jahūl" is jagah bhūle-bhāle ke ma‘nī mein ba-ṭaur muḥibbāna khiṭāb ke hai — ki us ne Allāh jalla shānuhū kī muḥabbat aur us ke maqām-e-qurb kī justajū mein aur kisī anjām ko nahīn sochā. Isī ṭarah yih lafḡ pūrī banī nau‘ ke li‘e bhī ho saktā hai. Tafsīr-e-Mazharī mein Ḥaḍrat Mujaddid Alf-e-Şānī (rahmatullāh) aur dūsre Şūfiyā‘-e-kirām se isī ṭarah kā mazmūn manqūl hai.

"li-yu‘azzib" mein ḥarf "lām" bayān-e-‘illat wa ḡharāḡ ke li‘e nahīn, balki iṣṭilāḥ-e-‘arabiyyat ke liḡāḡ se lām-e-‘āqibat hai — ya‘nī jo kisī chīḡ kā anjām bayān kare. Jaise ek ‘arabī shi‘r mein hai: "lidū li-l-mauti wa-bnū li-l-kharāb" — ya‘nī "paidā ho maut ke li‘e, aur ta‘mīr kar do wīrān hone ke li‘e" — murād yih hai ki har paidā hone wāle kā anjām maut, aur har ta‘mīr kā anjām wīrānī hai.

Is ākhirī jumle mein bhī "ḡalūm wa jahūl" ke alfāḡ kī is tafsīr kī ta‘īd huī jo akṡar A‘imma-e-tafsīr se ūpar naql kī ga‘ī hai — ki yih tamām nau‘-e-insānī ke li‘e nahīn, balki khāṡ un afrād ke li‘e hai jinhoñ ne amānat-e-ilāhiyya ko ḡā‘i‘ kiyā. Wallāhu subḥānahū wa ta‘ālā a‘lam.

PDF PAGE 255 · [Q 34:7-9] · End of Khulāṣa: at the Hour there will also be punishment for having denied the Hour. The disbelievers say among themselves: "shall we point you to a man who tells you this strange news — that when you are utterly crumbled you will be raised in a new creation? Either he has lied against Allāh deliberately, or there is some junūn in him" — because to them the thing is impossible. Allāh rejects both charges: the Prophet ﷺ is neither a liar nor mad; rather, those who do not believe in the ākhira are in the punishment and far-gone error — an error whose present effect is that even the truthful look to them like liars and madmen, and whose final effect is that they will bear the punishment. These ignorant people, who reckon the re-gathering of scattered dead parts as far beyond [His] power — have they not looked at the sky and earth, before and behind them? He who first created those vast bodies — can He not create small bodies a second time? ("la-khalqu-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍi akbaru min khalqi-n-nāsi wa lākinna akṣara-n-nāsi lā ya'lamūn"). Despite clear proofs they persist in denial, so they deserve punishment now and hereafter — the very heavens and earth, a great ni'ma to them, could be made an instrument of their torment; if He willed He could sink them into the earth or drop fragments of the sky on them, but ḥikma wills a respite. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il — "'ālim al-ghaib" — begins.

Their big reason for denial: once all people become dust and its particles scatter through the world, how can the scattered particles be gathered, each person's separated from others', and rejoined into his own body? They deemed it impossible only because they measured Allāh's knowledge and power by their own. The answer: Allāh's knowledge so encompasses all the world that He knows every thing in the heavens and earth, and where and in what state it is; no particle of creation is outside His knowledge. Such encompassing knowledge is Allāh's alone — no creature, angel or prophet, can have it. For the One with such knowledge, gathering one man's particles from the whole world and reassembling his body is no difficulty. · Verse notes: "li-yajziya-llazīna āmanū" connects to "la-ta'tiyannakum" — the Hour will surely come, to reward the believers with the best provision of Jannat; and "allazīna sa'au fī āyātīnā" (mu'ājizīn = as if to make Us unable to seize them, escaping the reckoning) get "'azābun min rijzin alīm" (rijz alīm = a severe, painful punishment). PDF PAGE 257 · [Q 34:7-10] · "...that man" is plainly the Prophet ﷺ, who gave news of the Hour and the raising of all the dead and urged people to believe it — and they all knew him well; the phrasing is only mockery and belittlement. "muzziqtum" is from "mazzq" (to rend, tear, break to pieces); "kulla mumazzaqīn" = the human body crumbling and coming apart. "aftarā ‘ala-llāhi kazīban am bihī jinnah" — to them, particles regathering into a body and coming alive is so unreasonable that it is not even worth considering; so his claim is either a deliberate lie against Allāh, or the speaker is mad, whose words have no sound basis. · "afa-lam yarau ilā mā baina aidīhim wa mā khalfahum" — this āyah holds proofs of qiyāmat (reflecting on the creation of the heavens and earth and observing Allāh's power removes the deniers' istib‘ād), and a threat: the vast creations that are great ni‘mats to you could, by His power, be made your punishment — the earth swallowing you, or the sky falling on you in pieces. · Then v.10 — Dāwūd ‘alaihi-s-salām given faḍl: "yā jibālu awwibī ma‘ahū wa-ṭ-ṭair..."

Yih bāt ṣāhir hai ki "is shakhṣ" se murād Nabī-e-Karīm ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam hain, jo qiyāmat aur us mein sab murdoñ ke dubāra zinda hone kī khabar dete hain, aur logoñ ko us par īmān lāne kī tākīd karte the; aur yih sab log āp ko pūrī ṭarah jānte the. "afterā 'ala-llāhi kazīban am bihī jinnah" — maṭlab yih hai ki jism ke rīza-rīza ho jāne ke ba'd sab zarrāt kā jam' ho kar phir badan-e-insānī ban jānā, aur zinda honā — to aisī nā-ma'qūl bāt hai, jis ko taslīm karne aur mānne kā koī sawāl hī nahīñ paidā hotā; is li'e in kā yih qaul yā to jān-būjh kar Khudā ta'ālā par iftirā' wa buhtān bāndhnā hai, yā phir yih kahne wālā majnūn hai, jis ke kalām kī koī bunyād ṣaḥīḥ nahīñ hotī.

Wisdom in it: joy in the zīkr, a miracle of his, and probably a tasbīḥ the hearers could understand — otherwise non-understood tasbīḥ is general ("wa in min shai' in illā yusabbiḥu bi-ḥamdihī wa lākin lā tafqahūna tasbīḥahum"). We softened iron for him like wax and commanded: make full, good coats of mail, keep proper measure in joining the links; and — Dāwūd 'alaihi-s-salām and his people — do righteousness in shukr for the ni'mats; I am watching all your deeds, so keep the ḥudūd fully. · For Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām the wind was subjected — a month's journey in the morning and a month's in the evening ("wa sakhkharnā lahu-r-rīḥa tajrī bi-amriḥ"). And the jinn were subjected to him, working before him by their Lord's [subjecting] command; whoever of them deviated from Our command (to obey Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām) would be made to taste the punishment of the blaze — implying that one who works in submission, whose full submission includes accepting īmān, is safe from the 'azāb-e-sa'ir.

PDF PAGE 260 · [Q 34:13-14] · Khulāṣa: the jinn made for Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām whatever he wished — great buildings and figures, basins like large tanks, and huge fixed cauldrons that could not be moved. He and the family of Dāwūd were told: as I have given you nī'mats, work in shukr for them; grateful servants are few, and by this shukr (whose way is 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ) you are distinguished above the many. Parallels: Dāwūd 'alaihi-s-salām also had "i'malū āla Dāwūda shukrā", taskhīr of mountains and birds, and softened iron; Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām had taskhīr of the wind and jinn, and molten copper. · v.14: when death was decreed for Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām it came in a way the jinn did not notice — near death he sat on his throne holding his staff with both hands, chin resting on it, and his soul was taken in that posture; he stayed so for a year. The jinn, seeing him seated, thought him alive and kept working, no one daring to approach or look closely. Only a wood-worm showed his death — it kept eating his staff until part of it gave way and he fell; from the worm's rate they reckoned he had been dead a year. Then the jinn's claim to knowledge of the ghaib was exposed: had they known the unseen they would not have stayed a year in that humiliating, toilsome misery. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il begins.

woh jinnāt jin ke li'e woh chīzeñ banāte the jo un ko (ya'nī Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām ko) banwānā manzūr hotā: baṭī baṭī 'imārateñ aur mūrāteñ, aur aise baṛe (aur aisi baṭī) hauṛ jaise hauṛ, aur baṭī baṭī degen jo ek hī jagah jamī raheñ, hilā'e hil na sakeñ.

Aur ham ne un ko yih ḥukm diyā ki "jaise ham ne tum ko ni'mateñ bhī dī hain, ai Dāwūd ke khāndān wālo — ya'nī Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām aur un ke muta'alliqīn — tum sab (un ni'matoñ ke) shukr mein nek kām kiyā karo. Pas is jumla mein taḥrīz ho ga'ī shukr wa 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ par — jaise Dāwūd 'alaihi-s-salām ko bhī "i'malū āla Dāwūda shukrā" kā ḥukm hu'ā thā — aur isī ṭarah dahān (Dāwūd ke hān) taskhīr-e-jibāl wa ṭuyūr rahī thī, aur yahān (Sulaimān ke hān) taskhīr-e-rīḥ wa jin mazkūr hu'ī; aur lohe ko narm kar diyā thā Dāwūd ke hān, tāñbe ko yahān (Sulaimān ke hān).

s-salām) is told to remove the deniers' istib'ād — Allāh let them witness by these prophets' hands, in this world, deeds they held impossible: iron made like wax, the wind made obedient, copper made to flow like water. · "wa laqad ātainā Dāwūda minnā faḍlā" — faḍl literally = increase; here the special qualities given him above others. Every prophet was given some distinguishing ṣifāt. Dāwūd's 'alaihi-s-salām: with his nubuwwa and risāla, worldly kingship and rule; and such a beautiful voice that when he engaged in zikr or recited the Zabūr, birds flying in the air gathered to listen; and several special miracles mentioned ahead. · "yā jibālu awwibī" — "awwib" from "ta'wīb" (to repeat, return): Allāh had commanded the mountains that when Dāwūd 'alaihi-s-salām engaged in zikr and tasbīḥ, the mountains too would recite and echo those words back (Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu: "awwibī" = "sabbihī" — Ibn Kaṣīr). This tasbīḥ of the mountains with Dāwūd 'alaihi-s-salām is beyond the general tasbīḥ all creation shares ("wa in min shai' in illā yusabbihū bi-ḥamdihī wa lākin lā tafqahūna tasbīḥahum"); here it is his miracle, so its hearers must have understood it, else it would be no miracle. Nor was the mountains' echoing a mere acoustic reverberation (as in a dome or well), for the Qur'ān mentions it as a special faḍl and in 'ām on Dāwūd 'alaihi-s-salām.

Āyāt-e-mazkūra mein un kā istib'ād dūr karne ke li'e Ḥaqq ta'ālā ne Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd aur Sulaimān ('alaihimā-s-salām) ke qisṣe kā zikr is li'e farmāyā ki Allāh ta'ālā ne un ke hāthoñ isī dunyā mein aise kāmoñ kā mushāhada karā diyā jin ko yih log muḥāl samajhā karte the — maṣalan lohe ko mom banā denā, hawā ko tābi'-e-farmān banā denā, tāñbe ko ek sayyāl chīz pāñī kī ṭarah kar denā.

"wa laqad ātainā Dāwūda minnā faḍlā" — ya'nī 'aṭā kiyā ham ne Dāwūd ko apnā faḍl. Faḍl ke lafẓī ma'nī ziyādatī ke hain; murād woh khāṣ ṣifāt hain jo dūsroñ se zā'id un ko 'aṭā kī ga'ī hain. Allāh ta'ālā ne har Nabī o peḡhambar ko ba'ẓ khāṣ ṣifāt-e-imtiyāzī 'aṭā farmā'ī hain, jo un kī makhṣūṣ faẓīlat samjhī jāti hai. Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) kī makhṣūṣ ṣifāt yih thīñ ki un ko apnī nubuwwat wa risālat ke sāth pūrī dunyā kī salṭanat wa ḥukūmat bhī 'aṭā farmā'ī thī. Aur khush-āwāzī kī aisi ṣifāt 'aṭā farmā'ī thī ki jab āp Allāh ke zikr yā Zabūr kī tilāwat mein mashghūl hote to parinde hawā mein uṛte hu'e sunne ko jam' ho jāte the. Isī ṭarah muta'addid mu'jizāt-e-khuṣūṣī 'aṭā hu'e the jin kā zikr āge ātā hai.

"yā jibālu awwibī" — "awwib" "ta'wīb" se mushtaq hai, jis ke ma'nī duhrāne aur lauṭāne ke āte hain. Murād yih hai ki Allāh ta'ālā ne pahāroñ ko ḥukm de diyā thā ki jab Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) Allāh kā zikr wa tasbīḥ karen to pahār bhī woh kalimāt parh kar lauṭā'eñ. Isī ṭarah Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) ne "awwibī" kī tafsīr "sabbihī" se farmā'ī hai (Ibn Kaṣīr).

waqt har zamāne mein jāri hai — jaisā ki Qur'ān-e-Karīm ne farmāyā hai "wa in min shai' in illā yusabbiḥu bi-ḥamdihī wa lākin lā tafqahūna tasbīḥahum" — ya'nī dunyā kī koī chīz aisī nahīn jo Allāh ta'ālā kī ḥamd o ṣanā kī tasbīḥ na paṛhtī ho, magar tum un kī tasbīḥ ko samajhte nahīn.

Yahān jis tasbīḥ kā zikr hai, woh Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) ke mu'jiza kī ḥaiṣiyat rakhtī hai. Isī li'e yih zāhir hai ki is tasbīḥ ko 'ām sunne wāle bhī samajhte hoñ ge, warna phir mu'jiza hī na hotā.

Isī se yih bhī ma'lūm hu'ā ki Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) kī āwāz ke sāth pahāron kā āwāz milānā aur tasbīḥ ko duhrānā — yih āwāz-e-bāz-gasht ke ṭaur par nahīn thā, jo 'ām ṭaur par gunbad yā kanwīn waghaira mein āwāz dene ke waqt āwāz ke lautne se sunī jātī hai — kyūnki Qur'ān-e-Karīm ne is ko Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) par khuṣūṣī faḍl wa in 'ām kī ḥaiṣiyat mein zikr farmāyā hai; āwāz-e-bāz-gasht ...

PDF PAGE 262 · [Q 34:10-11] · Echo (āwāz-e-bāz-gasht) has nothing to do with anyone's distinction — every person's voice returns in an echoing place. · "wa-ṭ-ṭairu" — on one grammatical view manṣūb as the maf'ūl of a suppressed "sakhkharnā": "We subjected the birds for Dāwūd 'alaihi-s-salām" — they gathered in the air at his voice and glorified with him like the mountains (cf. "innā sakhkharna-l-jibāla ma'ahū yusabbiḥna bi-l-'ashiyyi wa-l-ishrāqi wa-ṭ-ṭaira maḥshūrah"). · "wa alanna lahu-l-ḥadīd; ani-'mal sābighātin wa qaddir fī-s-sard" — the second miracle: iron softened for him. Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, Qatāda, al-A'mash etc.: miraculously made like wax, needing neither fire nor hammer nor tools. The āyah says it was softened so he could easily make coats of mail; another āyah says Allāh taught him the craft ("wa 'allamnāhu ṣan'ata labūsin lakum"). "qaddir" from "taqdīr" (to make to a measure); "sard" = weaving/linking: make the rings balanced and proportionate — none too small or large — so it is both strong and good-looking (Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu — Ibn Kaṣīr). · Fā'ida: outward beauty in a craft is also commendable — Allāh specially directed it. · Fā'ida 2: some read "qaddir fī-s-sard" as: fix a measured time for the craft so all one's time is not spent on it, lest 'ibāda and affairs of state be disrupted.

... mein kisī kī faḍīlat wa khuṣūṣiyyat se kyā ta'alluq hai — woh to har insān [ke] li'e hai; āwāz-e-bāz-gasht kī jagah mein us kī āwāz bhī lautī hai.

"wa-ṭ-ṭairu" — yih lafẓ naḥwī tarkīb mein "sakhkharnā" ke maf'ūl (maḥzūf) hone kī wajh se manṣūb hai (dūsarī rā'e) — ma'nī yih hain ki "ham ne parindon ko Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) ke li'e musakhkhar kar diyā thā." Murād is taskhīr se yih hai ki parinde bhī āp kī āwāz par hawā' on mein jam' ho jāte, aur āp ke sāth pahāron kī

ṭaraḥ tasbīḥ karte the — jaisā ki ek dūsarī āyat mein mazkūr hai: "innā sakhkharna-l-jibāla ma‘ahū yusabbiḥna bi-l-‘ashiyyi wa-l-ishrāqi wa-ṭ-ṭaira maḥshūrah" — ya‘nī ham ne pahāron ko Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) kā musakhkhar kar diyā thā ki ṣubḥ shām un ke sāth tasbīḥ kiyā karen, aur parindon ko bhī musakhkhar kar diyā.

"wa alanna lahu-l-ḥadīd; ani-‘mal sābighātin wa qaddir fi-s-sard" — yih dūsarā mu‘jiza hai ki lohe ko un ke li‘e narm kar diyā thā. Ḥasan Baṣrī, Qatāda, A‘mash waghaira A‘imma-e-tafsīr ne farmāyā ki Allāh ta‘ālā ne ba-ṭaur-e-mu‘jiza lohe ko un ke li‘e mom kī ṭaraḥ narm banā diyā thā, ki us se koī chīz banāne mein na un ko āg kī ṣarūrat parṭī thī, aur na kisī hathorē yā dūsre ālāt kī.

Āge āyat mein is kā bayān hai ki lohe ko un ke li‘e narm is li‘e kiyā thā ki woh lohe kī zireñ āsānī se banā sakeñ. Aur ek dūsarī āyat mein yih bhī mazkūr hai ki Allāh ta‘ālā ne zira-sāzī kī ṣan‘at āp ko khud sikhā‘ī thī: "wa ‘allamnāhu ṣan‘ata labūsin lakum" — ya‘nī ham ne sikhā‘ī un ko ṣan‘at zira banāne kī. Aur us āyat mein bhī āge jo "qaddir fi-s-sard" āyā hai, yih bhī us ṣan‘at ke sikhāne kī takmīl hai.

Lafz "qaddir" "taqdīr" se mushtaq hai, jis ke ma‘nī ek andāze par banāne ke hain; aur "sard" ke lafzī ma‘nī bunne ke hain. Maṭlab yih hai ki zira ke banāne mein us kī kaṛiyon ko mutawāzin aur mutanāsib banā‘en — koī chhoṭī, koī baṛī na ho — tāki woh mazbūt bhī bane, aur dekhne mein bhī bhalī ma‘lūm ho. "qaddir fi-s-sard" kī yih tafsīr Ḥaḍrat ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) se manqūl hai (Ibn Kaṣīr).

Fā‘ida: Is se yih bhī ma‘lūm hu‘ā ki ṣan‘at mein ṣāhirī khush-numā‘ī kī ri‘āyat bhī pasandīda chīz hai, ki us ke li‘e Allāh ta‘ālā ne khāṣ hidāyat farmā‘ī.

Fā‘ida dovm: Ba‘ṣ ḥaḍrāt ne "qaddir fi-s-sard" kī tafsīr mein "taqdīr" se yih murād liyā hai ki is ṣan‘at ke li‘e ek miqdār-e-waqt mu‘ayyan kar lenā chāhi‘e — sāre auqāt isī mein ṣarf na ho jā‘en, tāki ‘ibādat aur umūr-e-salṭanat mein is kī wajh se khalal na ā‘e. "Dāwūd is a very good man, better than all for himself and his people — but for one habit, without which he would be perfect: he takes his and his family's living from the Muslims' wealth, i.e. from the bait al-māl." Hearing this, Dāwūd ‘alaihi-s-salām earnestly begged Allāh to teach him a craft by which he could earn his and his family's keep by his own hand, and do all the service and affairs of state without payment. Allāh answered him — taught him armour-making and, as a prophetic honour, softened iron for him so the craft would be easy and a little time would earn his living, leaving the rest for ‘ibāda and affairs of state. · Mas’ala: a khalīfa/sulṭān whose whole time goes to affairs of state may lawfully take a moderate living from the bait al-māl, but another means of livelihood is more praiseworthy — as Sulaimān ‘alaihi-s-salām had the world's treasures opened to him with leave to spend from the bait al-māl without account ("fa-mnun aw amsik bi-ghairi ḥisāb"), yet Allāh, wishing to raise His Anbiyā ‘alaihimu-s-salām, brought about this incident, after which Dāwūd ‘alaihi-s-salām, despite his great kingdom, earned his own keep and was content with it. · The same ruling for ‘ulamā' who teach and preach without pay, and qāḍīs and muftīs — they may take their expenses from the bait al-māl, but another means that does not disrupt the dīnī service is better.

... Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) is kām ke li’e nikle to yih firishta un se milā. Ḥasb-e-‘ādat is se bhī wuhī sawāl kiyā. Firishte ne jawāb diyā ki "Dāwūd bahut acchā ādmī hai, aur sab ādmiyoṅ se woh apne nafs ke li’e bhī aur apnī ummat wa ra‘iyyat ke li’e bhī bihtar hai; magar us mein ek ‘ādat aisī hai ki agar woh na hotī to woh bilkul kāmīl hotā." Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) ne pūchhā: "woh kyā ‘ādat hai?" Firishte ne kahā ki "woh apnā khānā pīnā aur apne ahl o ‘iyāl kā guzāra Musalmānoṅ ke māl — ya‘nī bait al-māl mein se — lete hain."

guzāra karūn, aur Musalmānoñ kī khidmat aur salṭanat ke tamām kām bilā mu‘āwaza karūn."

Un kī du‘ā ko Ḥaqq ta‘ālā ne qabūl farmāyā, un ko zira-sāzī kī ṣan‘at sikhā dī, aur peḡhambarāna a‘zāziya diyā ki lohe ko un ke li‘e mom banā diyā — tāki yih ṣan‘at bahut āsān ho jā‘e, aur thoṛe se waqt mein apnā guzāra paidā kar ke bāqī waqt ‘ibādat aur umūr-e-salṭanat mein lagā sakeñ.

Mas‘ala: Khalīfa-e-waqt yā sulṭān ko, jo apnā pūrā waqt umūr-e-salṭanat kī anjām-dahī mein ṣarf kartā hai, shar‘an yih jā‘iz hai ki apnā mutawassiṭ guzāra bait al-māl se le; lekin koī dūsarī ṣūrat guzāra kī ho sake to woh ziyāda pasandīda hai. Jaise Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) par Allāh ta‘ālā ne sārī dunyā ke khazāne khol diye the, aur zar o jawāhirāt aur tamām ashyā‘-e-ẓarūrat kī baṛī farāwānī thī, aur Allāh ta‘ālā kī ṭaraf se un ko bait al-māl ke māl mein ḥasb-e-manshā har taṣarruf kī ijāzat bhī de dī ga‘ī thī — āyat "fa-mnun aw amsik bi-ghairi ḥisāb" mein yih bhī iṭmīnān dilāyā thā ki "āp jis ṭarah chāheñ kharch kareñ, āp ke zimme ḥisāb denā nahīñ hai." Magar Anbiyā ‘alaihimu-s-salām ko Ḥaqq ta‘ālā jab maqām-e-buland par rakhnā chāhte hain, us ke taqāza se yih wāqī‘a pesh āyā, aur us ke ba‘d Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) itnī baṛī salṭanat ke hote hu‘e apnī mazdūrī se apnā guzāra paidā karte, aur usī par qanā‘at karte the.

PDF PAGE 267 · [Q 34:12-14] · But the "taskhīr" famous among practitioners through operations ('amaliyāt) needs scrutiny — what is its shar'ī ruling? Qāḍī Badr al-Dīn al-Shiblī al-Ḥanafī (8th-century), in his book "Ākām al-Marjān fī Aḥkām al-Jānn": taking service from jinn was first done by Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām, bi-izn Allāh, as a miracle; the Persians attribute it to Jamshīd bin Awanjahān; likewise Āṣif bin Barkhiyā etc. connected to Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām; among Muslims, most famous are Abū Naṣr Aḥmad bin Hilāl and Hilāl bin Waṣīf (who compiled a book of the jinn's words presented before Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām and the covenant he took from them). · Qāḍī Badr al-Dīn also wrote: most practitioners who "subject" jinn use kufrī, satanic words and siḥr, which the wicked jinn and shayāṭīn like; the "subjection" is really that those jinn, pleased by the practitioner's kufrī/shirkī deeds, do some of his work as a bribe — hence they often write the Qur'ān in filth or blood in these operations, to please the kāfir jinn. The one exception: a certain Ibn al-Imām, in the time of khalīfa al-Mu'taḍid bi-llāh, subjected jinn by the divine names, with nothing contrary to the shar'ī'a (Ākām al-Marjān, ṣ.100). · Khulāṣa: if jinn become subject to someone without intent or operation, purely from Allāh (as for Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām and some Ṣaḥāba), it is mu'jiza or karāma. Taskhīr through operations: kufr if it involves kufrī words or deeds; a kabīra if only ma'ṣiya; and using words of unknown meaning is also nā-jā'iz per the fuqahā' — they might contain kufr, shirk or ma'ṣiya (Qāḍī Badr al-Dīn, Ākām al-Marjān).

... thā ki Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī ṭaraḥ kuchh jinnāt ko un ḥaḍrat kā musakhkhar banā diyā. Lekin jo taskhīr-e-‘amaliyāt ke zari‘e ‘āmiloṅ mein mashhūr hai, woh qābil-e-ghaur hai ki shar‘an is kā kyā ḥukm hai?

Qāzī Badr al-Dīn Shiblī Ḥanafī — jo āṭḥwīn ṣaḍī ke ‘ulamā’ mein se hain — unhoṅ ne jinnāt ke aḥkām par ek mustaqil kitāb, jo "Ākām al-Marjān fī Aḥkām al-Jānn" likhī hai, us mein bayān kiya hai ki jinnāt se khidmat lene kā kām sab se pahle Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) ne bi-izn Allāh ba-ṭaur mu‘jiza ke kiya hai; aur ahl-e-Fāris Jamshīd bin Awanjahān kī ṭaraf mansūb karte hain ki unhoṅ ne jinnāt se khidmat lī hai. Isī ṭaraḥ Āṣif bin Barkhiyā waghaira, jin kā ta‘alluq Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) se rahā hai, un ke muta‘alliq bhī istikhḍām-e-jinn ke wāqi‘āt mashhūr hain. Aur Musalmānoṅ mein sab se ziyāda shuhraṭ Abū Naṣr Aḥmad bin Hilāl Sakīl aur Hilāl bin Waṣīf kī hai, jin se istikhḍām-e-jinnāt ke ‘ajīb wāqi‘āt mazkūr hain — Hilāl bin Waṣīf ne ek mustaqil kitāb mein jinnāt ke kalimāt, jo unhoṅ ne Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) ke sāmne pesh kiye, aur jo ‘ahd o mīṣāq Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) ne un se liya thā, un ko jam‘ kar diyā hai.

Qāzī Badr al-Dīn ne isī kitāb mein likhā hai ki ‘ām ṭaur se taskhīr-e-jinnāt kā ‘amal karne wāle ‘āmilīn kalimāt-e-kufriyya shaitāniyya se, aur siḥr se kām lete hain, jin ko fājir jinnāt wa shayāṭīn pasand karte hain; aur un ke musakhkhar wa tābi‘ hone kā rāz shīr yih hai ki woh un ke a‘māl-e-kufriyya, shirkiyya se khush ho kar ba-ṭaur rishwat ke un ke kuchh kām bhī kar dete hain, aur isī li‘e bi-kaṣrat in ‘amaliyāt mein Qur‘ān-e-Karīm ko najāsat yā khūn waghaira se likhte hain, jis se kuffār-e-jinn aur shayāṭīn rāzī ho kar un kā kām kar dete hain.

Albatta ek shakṣ Ibn al-Imām ke muta‘alliq yih likhā hai ki yih khalīfa Mu‘taḍid bi-llāh ke zamāne mein thā; jinnāt ko us ne asmā‘-e-ilāhiyya ke zari‘e se musakhkhar kiya thā, us mein koī bāt khilāf-e-shar‘ nahīn thī (Dar Ākām al-Marjān, ṣ 100).

Khulāṣa yih hai ki jinnāt kī taskhīr agar kisī ke li‘e baghair qaṣd wa ‘amal ke maḥẓ min-jānib Allāh ho jā‘e — jaisā ki Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) aur ba‘ẓ Ṣaḥāba-e-kirām ke muta‘alliq ṣābit hai — woh to mu‘jiza yā karāmat mein dākhil hai. Aur jo taskhīr ‘amaliyāt ke zari‘e kī jāti hai, us mein agar kalimāt-e-kufriyya yā a‘māl-e-kufriyya hoṅ to kufr; aur shīr ma‘ṣiyat par mushtamil hoṅ to gunāh-e-kabīra hai. Aur jin ‘amaliyāt mein aise alfāẓ ista‘māl kiye jā‘eṅ jin ke ma‘nī ma‘lūm nahīn, un ko bhī fuqahā’ ne is binā par nā-jā‘iz kahā hai ki ho saktā hai ki in kalimāt mein kufr o shirk yā ma‘ṣiyat par mushtamil kalimāt hoṅ. Qāzī Badr al-Dīn ne "Ākām al-Marjān" mein aise nā-ma‘lūm al-ma‘nā kalimāt ke isti‘māl ko bhī nā-jā‘iz likhā hai.

(jalb-e-manfa‘at); making it a money-earning trade is not allowed even for such a one, since it enslaves a free being and takes forced labour without shar‘ī right, which is ḥarām. Wallāhu a‘lam. · "wa man yazigh minhum ‘an amrinā nuziqhu min ‘azābi-s-sa‘īr" — any jinn who deviates from the command to serve and obey Sulaimān ‘alaihi-s-salām is given the punishment of fire; most mufasssīrīn: the ākhira punishment of Jahannam. Some: in this world too an angel was set over them, who drove any negligent jinn to work with lashes of fire (Qurṭubī). No objection that jinn are made of fire so fire cannot affect them — "made of fire" is like man being "made of clay" (the dominant element of man's being is clay, yet clay/stone striking him hurts); likewise the jinn's dominant element is fire, yet pure, intense fire burns them too. · "ya‘malūna lahū mā yashā‘u min maḥārība wa tamāsīla wa jifānin ka-l-jawābi wa quḍūrin rāsiyāt" — detail of what the jinn made for Sulaimān ‘alaihi-s-salām. "maḥārīb" pl. of "miḥrāb" — the highest/noblest part of a building; a government chamber of kings and great men; from "ḥarb" (war) — the special part one defends and keeps others from. Hence a house's special part, and in masjids the imām's standing-place (and sometimes the masjids themselves) are called miḥrāb; "maḥārīb" of Banī Isrā‘īl and of the Ṣaḥāba = their masjids.

Aur agar yih ‘amal-e-taskhīr asmā‘-e-ilāhiyya yā āyāt-e-Qur‘āniyya ke zari‘e ho, aur us mein najāsāt waghaira ke ista‘māl jaisī koī ma‘ṣiyat bhī na ho, to woh is sharṭ ke sāth jā‘iz hai ki maqṣūd is se khud bachnā yā dūsre Musalmānoḥ ko bachānā ho — ya‘nī daf‘-e-maṣarrat maqṣūd ho, jalb-e-manfa‘at maqṣūd na ho. Kyūnki agar is ko kasb-e-māl kā peshā banā liyā gayā, to us ke li‘e bhī jā‘iz nahīn, ki is mein sitr-e-riqāq — ya‘nī ḥurr, āzād ko apnā ghulām banānā, aur bilā ḥaqq-e-shar‘ī us se begār lenā hai, jo ḥarām hai. Wallāhu a‘lam.

"wa man yazigh minhum ‘an amrinā nuziqhu min ‘azābi-s-sa‘īr" — ya‘nī ham ne jinnāt ko Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī khidmat wa itā‘at kā jo ḥukm diyā hai, agar un mein koī fard is itā‘at se inḥirāf kare gā to us ko āg kā ‘azāb diyā jā‘e gā. Akṣar mufasssīrīn ne is se ākhirat kā ‘azāb jahannam murād liyā hai.

Aur ba‘ḏ ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā ki dunyā mein bhī Allāh ta‘ālā ne un par ek firishta ko musallaṭ kar diyā thā, ki jo jinn Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī itā‘at mein kotāhī kare, us ko āg ke koṛe mār kar kām karne par majbūr kartā thā (Dar Qurṭubī). Aur is par yih shubha nahīn ho saktā ki jinnāt to khud āg se bane hu‘e hain, āg un par kyā aṣar kare gī — kyūnki jinnāt ke āg se banne kā maṭlab wuhī hai jo insān ke miṭṭī se banne kā maṭlab hai: ya‘nī ‘unṣur-e-ghālib insān ke wujūd kā miṭṭī hai, magar us ko miṭṭī ke sāth [ya‘nī pathar] se mārā jā‘e to taklīf pahuñchtī hai; isī tarāḥ jinnāt kā ‘unṣur-e-ghālib āg hai, magar khāliṣ aur tez āg se woh bhī jal jāte hain.

"maḥārīb" — "miḥrāb" kī jam‘ hai, jo makān ke ashraf wa a‘lā ḥiṣṣe ko kahne ke li‘e bolā jātā hai. Bādshāh aur baṛe log jo apne li‘e ḥukūmat kā kamra banā‘en, is ko bhī miḥrāb kahā jātā hai. Aur lafz "miḥrāb" "ḥarb" ba-ma‘nī jang se mushtaq hai; koī ādmī jo apnā ḥukūmat-karda khāṣ banātā hai, us ko dūsroñ kī rasā‘ī se maḥfūz rakhtā hai — us mein koī dast-andāzī kare to us ke khilāf laṛā‘ī kartā hai. Is munāsabat se makān ke makhṣūṣ ḥiṣṣe ko miḥrāb kahte hain. Masājid mein imām ke khare hone kī jagah ko bhī isī imtiyāz kī binā par miḥrāb kahte hain, aur kabhī khud masājid ko "maḥārīb" ke lafz se ta‘bīr kiyā jātā hai. Qadīm zamāne mein "maḥārīb" [se] Banī Isrā‘īl, aur Islām mein "maḥārīb"-e-Ṣaḥāba se un kī masājid murād hotī hain.

PDF PAGE 269 · [Q 34:13] · In the age of the Messenger ﷺ and the Khulafā'-e-Rāshidīn there was no custom of building the maṣjid miḥrāb as a separate recessed chamber for the imām's standing-place; later kings brought that custom in for its protection. Among Muslims the custom also has a maṣlaḥa: the imām stands where the row behind him stays fully occupied — because of crowding and cramped maṣjids, the miḥrāb is recessed into the qibla wall so full rows can form behind him. Since this was not the qarn-e-ūlā practice, some ‘ulamā' called it bid‘a (Shaykh Jalāl al-Dīn al-Suyūṭī wrote a risāla "I‘lām al-Arā‘ib fī Bid‘ati l-Maḥārīb"). The verified position: if such miḥrābs are built for maṣlaḥa and ease and are not held to be a sunnat-e-maqṣūda, there is no ground to call them bid‘a; but if treated as a sunnat-e-maqṣūda and denouncers of it are censured, this ghuluww can make the practice bid‘a. · Mas‘ala: where the maṣjid miḥrāb is a separate chamber, the imām must stand a little outside it, his feet toward the worshippers' side, so the imām's and the muqtadīs' space counts as one; otherwise it is makrūh/nā-jā‘iz for the imām to stand alone in a separate space. If the miḥrāb is wide enough that a row of muqtadīs stands beside him within it, the objection is removed. · "tamāṣīl" pl. of "timṣāl" (Qāmūs: maṣdar, timṣāl bi-faṭḥ al-tā' = an image/picture). Ibn al-‘Arabī (Aḥkām al-Qur‘ān): images are of two kinds — of zī-rūḥ (animate) things, and of ḡhair-zī-rūḥ (inanimate); inanimate things are again of two kinds — one with no growth or increase (stone, clay etc.), another "nāmī" which grows (trees, crops). The jinn made for Sulaimān ‘alaihi-s-salām images of all these kinds. — "tamāṣīl" is by its general sense...

Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam aur Khulafā'-e-Rāshidīn ke ‘ahd tak imām ke khare hone kī jagah ko ek ‘alaḥida makān kī ḥaiṣiyat se banāne kā riwāj nahīn thā; qarn-e-ūlā ke ba‘d salāṭīn ne is kā riwāj apne taḥaffuz ke li‘e diyā. Aur ‘ām Musalmānoñ mein is kā riwāj is maṣlaḥat se bhī hu‘ā ki imām jis jagah kharā hotā hai woh pūrī ṣaf khālī rahtī hai — namāziyōn kī kaṣrat aur masājīd kī tangī ke pesh-e-naẓar ṣirf imām ke khaṛe hone kī jagah dīwār-e-qibla mein gahrī kar ke banā dī jāti hai, tāki us ke pīchhe pūrī ṣafūf muqtadiyōn kī khaṛī ho sakeñ. Chūnki yih ṭarīqa qarn-e-ūlā mein na thā, is li'e ba'ẓ 'ulamā' ne is ko bid'at kah diyā hai; Shaykh Jalāl al-Dīn Suyūfī ne is mas'ale par mustaqil risāla ba-nām "I'lām al-Arā'ib fī Bid'ati l-Maḥārīb" likhā hai.

Aur taḥqīq aur ṣaḥīḥ bāt yih hai ki agar is ṭarah kī miḥrābeñ namāziyōn kī suhūlat aur masjid ke maṣāliḥ ke pesh-e-naẓar banā'ī jā'eñ, aur un ko sunnat-e-maqṣūda na samjhā jā'e, to un ko bid'at kahne kī koī wajh nahīñ. Hāñ, is ko sunnat-e-maqṣūda banā liyā jā'e, aur is ke khilāf karne wāloñ par nakīr hone lage, to is ghuluww se yih 'amal bid'at mein dākhil ho saktā hai.

Mas'ala: Jin masājīd mein miḥrāb-e-imām ek mustaqil makān kī ṣūrat mein banā'ī jāti hai, wahāñ imām par lāzim hai ki us miḥrāb se kisī qadr bāhar is ṭarah khaṛā ho ki us ke qadam miḥrāb se bāhar namāziyōn kī ṭaraf raheñ, tāki imām aur muqtadiyōn kā makān ek shumār ho sake; warna yih ṣūrat makrūh wa nā-jā'iz hai ki imām alag makān mein tanhā khaṛā ho, aur sab muqtadī dūsre makān mein. Ba'ẓ masājīd mein miḥrāb itnī wasī' wa 'arīẓ banā'ī jāti hai ki ek mukhtaṣar sī ṣaf muqtadiyōn kī bhī us mein ā jā'e; aisī miḥrāb mein agar ek ṣaf muqtadiyōn kī miḥrāb mein khaṛī ho aur imām un ke āge pūrā miḥrāb mein khaṛā ho, to imām o muqtadiyōn ke makān kā ishtirāk ho jāne kī wajh se karāhat nahīñ rahe gī.

"tamāṣīl" — "timṣāl" kī jam' hai. Qāmūs mein hai ki "timṣāl" bi-fatḥ al-tā' maṣdar hai, aur bi-kasr al-tā' "timṣāl" taṣwīr ko kahā jāta hai. Ibn al-'Arabī ne Aḥkām al-Qur'ān mein farmāyā ki timṣāl — ya'nī taṣwīr — do ṭarah kī hotī hai: ek zī-rūḥ jāndār chīzoñ kī taṣwīr, dūsre ḡhair-zī-rūḥ be-jān chīzoñ kī. Phir be-jān chīzoñ mein [bhī] do qisimeñ hain: ek jamād, jis mein ziyādatī aur numuww nahīñ hotā — jaise paṭhar, miṭṭī waghaira; dūsre "nāmī", jis mein numuww aur ziyādatī hotī rahtī hai — jaise darakht aur khetī waghaira. Jinnāt Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) ke li'e in sab qism kī chīzoñ kī taṣwīreñ banāte the. — Awwal to lafẓ "tamāṣīl" ke 'umūm hī se ... (continues on PDF p.270)

PDF PAGE 270 · [Q 34:13] · "tamāṣīl" being general implies the images were of every kind, not a particular one; other historical reports mention images of birds on Sulaimān's 'alaihi-s-salām throne. · Boxed: the prohibition in Islam of making and using images of animate things. This āyah shows that in Sulaimān's 'alaihi-s-salām sharī'a making/using images of living things was not ḥarām. But in earlier ummats it was observed that people made images of their elders as memorials, kept them in their houses of worship so seeing them would bring their worship to mind and inspire the viewer — then gradually made these very images their ma'būd, and idol-worship began. · Khulāṣa: in earlier ummats, images of living things became a means to idolatry; since Islam's sharī'a is decreed to last till qiyāmat, it takes special care that, as the root ḥarām things and ma‘āsī are forbidden, so their zarā‘i‘ and near causes are attached to them and forbidden. The great root sin is shirk and idolatry; so the paths to idolatry are also guarded and its near means forbidden. Making and using images of zī-rūḥ was forbidden on this principle (ṣaḥīḥ, mutawātir ḥadīths). · Likewise: wine ḥarām → its buying, selling, carrying-wage, manufacture all ḥarām; theft ḥarām → entering a house without leave, even peeping in from outside, forbidden; zinā ḥarām → deliberately looking at a ghair-maḥram forbidden. Many such parallels. · Boxed: a common objection to the prohibition of pictures, and its answer — in the Prophet's ﷺ age pictures as then used could become a means to idolatry; but today's usēs (identifying accused persons, trademarks, meeting friends/relatives, aiding investigation of events) have made them a necessity of life...

Āyat-e-mazkūra se ma‘lūm hu‘ā ki Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī sharī‘at mein jān-dāron kī taṣāwīr banānā aur ista‘māl karnā ḥarām nahīn thā. Magar chūnki pichhlī ummaton mein is kā mushāhada hu‘ā ki logoṅ ne taṣāwīr un ke [buzurgoṅ] kī yādgār ke ṭaur par banā‘īn, aur un ko apne ‘ibādat-khānon mein is gharāḥ ke li'e rakhā ki un ko dekh kar un kī ‘ibādat-guzārī kā naqsh sāmne ā‘e to khud unheṅ bhī ‘ibādat kī tawfīq ho jā‘e gī — magar rafta rafta un logoṅ ne inhī taṣwīron ko apnā ma‘būd banā liyā, aur but-parastī shurū‘ ho ga‘ī.

Khulāṣa yih hai ki pichhlī ummaton mein jān-dāron kī taṣāwīr yih but-parastī kā zarī‘a ban ga‘īn; sharī‘at-e-Islām ke li'e chūnki qiyāmat tak qā‘im aur bāqī rakhnā taqdīr-e-ilāhī hai, is li'e is mein is kā khāṣ ihtimām kiyā gayā hai ki jis ṭarāḥ aṣl ḥarām chīzon aur ma‘āsī ko ḥarām wa mamnū‘ kiyā gayā hai, isī ṭarāḥ un ke zarā‘i‘ aur asbāb-e-qarība ko bhī aṣl ma‘āsī ke sāth mulḥaq kar ke ḥarām kar diyā gayā hai. Aṣl jurm-e-‘azīm shirk wa but-parastī hai, us kī mumāna‘at hu‘ī; to jin rāston se but-parastī ā saktī thī, un rāston par bhī shar‘ī pahra biṭhā diyā gayā, aur but-parastī ke zarā‘i‘ aur asbāb-e-qarība ko bhī ḥarām kar diyā gayā. Zī-rūḥ kī taṣāwīr kā banānā aur ista‘māl karnā isī uṣūl kī binā par ḥarām kiyā gayā; Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam kī aḥādīṣ-e-ṣaḥīḥa wa mutawātirā se is kī ḥurmat sābit hai.

Isī ṭarāḥ miṣl sharāb ḥarām kī ga‘ī, to us kī kharīd, farokht, us ko lāne le jāne kī mazdūrī, us kī ṣan‘at — sab ḥarām kar dī ga‘ī, jo sharāb-noshī ke zarā‘i‘ hain. Chorī ḥarām kī ga‘ī to kisī ke makān mein bilā ijāzat dākhil honā — balki bāhar se har us [makān mein] jhānknā bhī mamnū‘ kar diyā gayā. Zinā ḥarām kiyā gayā to ghair-maḥram kī ṭaraf bil-qaṣd naẓar karne ko bhī ḥarām kar diyā gayā. Sharī‘at-e-Islām mein is kī be-shumār naẓā‘ir maujūd hain.

Yih kahā jā saktā hai ki Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ke ‘ahd-e-mubārak mein taṣāwīr ko jis ḥaiṣiyat se ista‘māl kiyā jātā thā, woh zarī‘a-e-but-parastī ban saktī thī; lekin āj-kal taṣwīr se jis ṭarah ke kām liye jāte hain — mulzimon kī shanākht, tijāraton ke khāṣ mārḳ, doston ‘azīzon se mulāqāt, wāqī‘āt wa ḥālāt kī taḥqīq mein imdād waghaira — jin kī wajh se woh ṣarūriyāt-e-zindagī mein dākhil ho ga‘ī hai ... PDF PAGE 271 · [Q 34:13] · (Objection cont.) ...with no notion of idolatry, so the ban made for fear of idolatry should now lapse. · Answer: (1) it is not even true that pictures are no longer a means of idolatry — many groups still worship images of their pīrs, murshids and elders; and a ruling based on an ‘illa need not have that ‘illa present in every instance. (2) The ban is not only because pictures are a means to idolatry — the ṣaḥīḥ ḥadīths give another reason: image-making imitates a special attribute of Allāh ("al-Muṣawwir" is of His Asmā'-e-Ḥusnā); it is in His power alone that among the thousands of species and their crores of members no two forms match (man alone: clear distinction between male and female forms, and no two of the crores of men or women identical — distinctions so plain the viewer sees them without reflection). One who makes a figure or a coloured image of a living thing is, in effect, claiming he too can shape forms. Hence the Bukhārī ḥadīth: on qiyāmat the image-makers will be told, "since you copied Our making, complete this form — breathe a soul into your made form, if you claim this creation." · Another reason in the ṣaḥīḥ ḥadīths: the angels hate pictures and dogs; the angels of mercy do not enter a house that holds them, so its baraka and nūrāniyya are effaced and its dwellers' tawfīq for ‘ibāda diminishes. And the saying is not wrong — "khāna-e-khālī rā dēv mī-gīrad" (a devil seizes an empty house): a house empty of the angels of mercy is surrounded by shayāṭīn, who keep casting waswasas and then intentions of sin into the dwellers' hearts.

Jawāb yih hai ki awwalan yih kahnā bhī ṣaḥīḥ nahīn ki āj-kal taṣwīr zarī‘a-e-but-parastī nahīn rahī; āj bhī kitne firqe aur giroh hain jo apne pīr o murshid, buzurgon kī taṣwīr kī pūjā-pāṭ karte hain. Aur jo ḥukm kisī ‘illat par dā‘ir ho, yih ṣarūrī nahīn ki woh har fard mein pāyā jā‘e. Is ke ‘ilāwa taṣwīr kī mumāna‘at kā sabab ṣirf

yihī nahīn ki woh but-parastī kā zarī‘a hai, balki aḥādīs-e-ṣaḥīḥa mein is kī ḥurmat kī dūsarī wajh bhī mazkūr hai — maṣalan yih ki taṣwīr-sāzī Ḥaqq ta‘ālā kī ṣifat-e-khāṣ kī naqqālī hai; "Muṣawwir" Ḥaqq ta‘ālā ke Asmā‘-e-Ḥusnā mein se hai. Aur ṣūrat-garī dar-ḥaqīqat naql hai; aur us [Allāh] kī qudrat mein hai ki makhluqāt kī hazāron ajnās aur anwā‘, aur har nau‘ mein us ke karōṇ afrād hote hain, ek kī ṣūrat dūsre se nahīn miltī — insān hī ko lo, to mard kī ṣūrat aur ‘aurat kī ṣūrat mein numāyān imtiyāz; phir ‘aurton aur mardon ke karōṇ afrād mein do fard bilkul yaksān nahīn hote — aise khule hu‘e imtiyāzāt hote hain ki dekhne wālon ko kisī ta‘ammul aur ghaur o fikr ke baghair hī imtiyāz wāzīḥ ho jātā hai.

Yih ṣūrat-garī Allāh Rabb al-‘Izzat ke siwā kisī kī qudrat mein [nahīn] — jo insān kisī jāndār kā mujassama yā naqsh aur rang se us kī taṣwīr banātā hai, woh goyā yā ‘amalī ṭaur par is kā mudda‘ī hai ki woh bhī ṣūrat-garī kar saktā hai. Isī li‘e ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī waghaira kī aḥādīs mein hai ki qiyāmat ke roz taṣwīreṅ banāne wālon ko kahā jā‘e gā ki "jab tum ne hamārī naql utārī, to is ṣūrat ko mukammal kar ke dikhlā‘o; agar tumhāre bas mein ho — ki ham ne to sirf ṣūrat utārī, is mein rūḥ bhī ḍālī hai — agar tumheṅ is takhlīq kā da‘wā hai, to apnī banā‘ī hu‘ī ṣūrat mein rūḥ bhī ḍāl kar dikhlā‘o."

Ek sabab taṣwīr kī mumāna‘at kā aḥādīs-e-ṣaḥīḥa mein yih bhī āyā hai ki Allāh ke firishton ko taṣwīr aur kutton se nafrat hai; jis ghar mein yih chīzeṅ hotī hain, us mein raḥmat ke firishte dākhil nahīn hote, jis ke sabab us ghar kī barkat aur nūrāniyyat miṭ jātī hai, aur us mein basne wālon ko ‘ibādat wa iṭā‘at kī tawfiq ghaṭ jātī hai. Aur sāth hī yih mashhūr maqūla bhī ghalaṭ nahīn ki "khāna-e-khālī rā dēv mī-gīrad" — ya‘nī khālī ghar par bhūt qabṣa kar letī hai; aur jab koī ghar raḥmat ke firishton se khālī hogā to us ko shayāṭīn ghēr leṅ ge, aur us mein basne wālon ke dilon mein gunāhoṅ ke waswase, aur phir irāde, paidā karte raheṅ ge.

PDF PAGE 272 · [Q 34:13] · Another reason in some ḥadīths: pictures are an unnecessary worldly adornment; and as many benefits are drawn from them today, thousands of crimes and fawāḥish also arise from them. In short, Islam forbade making and using images of living things for many reasons, not one — so if in some individual case those reasons happen to be absent, that chance case does not change the shar‘ī law. · Ḥadīths: "ashaddu-n-nāsi ‘azāban yauma-l-qiyāmati-l-muṣawwirūn" (Bukhārī, Muslim, from Ibn Mas‘ūd raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu — the harshest punished on qiyāmat are the image-makers); the Prophet ﷺ cursed image-makers in some reports; "kullu muṣawwirin fi-n-nār" (Ṣaḥīḥain, from Ibn ‘Abbās raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu). The author has collected the ḥadīths and the salaf's practice, with answers to objections, in his risāla "al-Taṣwīr li-Aḥkām al-Taṣwīr". · Boxed: a photograph is also a picture. It is quite wrong to say a photo is outside "taṣwīr" because it is a reflection (zill/‘aks) like an image in a mirror or water — a reflection is a reflection only while not fixed and made permanent by some means; fix and stabilise it (as a mirror-image fixed by some chemical or instrument) and it becomes exactly the picture whose prohibition is established by mutawātir ḥadīths. Detailed discussion of photography is also in that risāla. · Boxed: "jifān" pl. of "jafna" — large water-vessels (like a big basin/tub); "al-jawāb" pl. of "jābiya" — a small pool; the point: water-vessels so large they held water like small pools. "qudūr" pl. of "qidr" (kasr of qāf) — cooking-pots (handiyā).

Ek sabab ba‘ḥ aḥādīs mein yih bhī āyā hai ki taṣwīreṅ dunyā kī zā'id az-ẓarūrat zīnat hain; aur is zamāne mein jis ṭarah taṣāwīr se bahut se fā'id e ḥāsil kiye jāte hain, hazāroṅ jarā'im aur fawāḥish [aur] fujjār bhī inhī taṣāwīr se janm lete hain.

Ġharāḥ, sharī'at-e-Islām ne širf ek wajh se nahīn, bahut se asbāb par naẓar kar ke jāndār kī taṣāwīr banāne aur us ke ista'māl karne ko ḥarām qarār de diyā hai. Ab agar kisī khāṣ fard mein farḥ kar leṅ ki woh asbāb ittifāq se maujūd na hoṅ, to us ittifāqī wāqī'e se qānūn-e-sharī' nahīn badal saktā.

Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī o Muslim mein ba-riwāyat 'Abdullāh bin Mas'ūd (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) yih ḥadīṣ ā'ī hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā: "ashaddu-n-nāsi 'aẓāban yauma-l-qiyāmati-l-muṣawwirūn" — ya'nī sab se ziyāda sakht 'aẓāb mein qiyāmat ke roz taṣwīr banāne wāle hoṅ ge.

Aur ba‘ḥ riwāyāt-e-ḥadīṣ mein taṣwīr banāne wāloṅ par Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne la'nat farmā'ī hai. Aur Ṣaḥīḥain mein Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se riwāyat hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā: "kullu muṣawwirin fī-n-nār" — al-ḥadīṣ — ya'nī har muṣawwir jahannam mein jā'e gā.

Is mas'ale ke muta'alliq riwāyāt-e-ḥadīṣ aur ta'āmul-e-salaf ke shawāhid tafṣīl ke sāth aḥqar ne apne risāla "al-Taṣwīr li-Aḥkām al-Taṣwīr" mein jam' kar diye hain, aur logoṅ ke shubḥāt ke jawābāt bhī is mein mufaṣṣal hain; ẓarūrat ho to us ko dekhā jā saktā hai.

Ba'ḥ logoṅ kā yih kahnā qaṭ'an ghalat hai ki foṭo taṣwīr se khārij hai — kyūnki woh to ẓill aur 'aks hai, jaise ā'īna aur pānī waghaira mein ā jātā hai; to jis ṭarah ā'īne mein apnī šūrat dekhnā jā'iz hai, aise hī foṭo kī taṣwīr bhī jā'iz hai.

Jawāb wāḥiḥ hai ki 'aks aur ẓill us waqt tak 'aks hai jab tak woh kisī ẓarī'e se qā'im aur pā'idār na banā liyā jā'e — jaise ā'īna yā pānī mein apnā 'aks, jis waqt pānī ke muqābla se āp haṭ jā'eṅ ge, khatm ho jā'e gā. Agar ā'īne ke ūpar kisī masāla yā āla ke ẓarī'e se šūrat ke 'aks ko pā'idār banā diyā jā'e to yihī taṣwīr ho jā'e gā, jis kī ḥurmat wa mumāna'at aḥādīs-e-mutawātira se sābit hī hai. Foṭo kī mufaṣṣal baḥṣ bhī risāla mazkūra "al-Taṣwīr" mein likhī ga'ī hai.

"jifān" — "jafna" kī jam' hai, jo pānī ke baṛe bartan — jaise tashla yā ṭab waghaira — ko kahā jātā hai. "al-jawāb" — "jābiya" kī jam' hai; chhoṭe hauṛ ko "jābiya" kahte hain. Murād yih hai ki pānī bharne ke baṛe bartan aise banāte the jis mein chhoṭe hauṛ ke barābar pānī ātā hai. "qudūr" — "qidr" bi-kasr al-qāf kī jam' hai; hanḍiyā ko kahā jātā hai.

PDF PAGE 273 · [Q 34:13-14] · "rāsiyāt" — fixed in place: cauldrons so heavy and large they could not be moved, perhaps carved from stone on stone hearths, immovable (al-Ḍaḥḥāk's tafsīr of "qudūr rāsiyāt"). · "i' malū āla Dāwūda shukrā; wa qalīlun min 'ibādiya-sh-shakūr" — Dāwūd and Sulaimān ('alaihimā-s-salām) were favoured with Allāh's special faḍl and gifts; after mentioning them, they and their households are commanded to give shukr. · Boxed: the reality and aḥkām of shukr. Qurtubī: shukr is to acknowledge that the ni'ma is from such-and-such a benefactor, and then to use it according to his obedience and pleasure and aḥkām; using a gift against the giver's wish is ingratitude and kufrān-e-ni'ma. So shukr is by the tongue and also by deeds, and practical shukr is using the ni'ma in accordance with the giver's ṭā'a. Abū 'Abd al-Raḥmān al-Sulamī: ṣalāt is shukr, ṣawm is shukr, every good deed is shukr. Muḥammad bin Ka'b al-Qurṣī: shukr is taqwā and 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ (Ibn Kaṣīr). · The Qur'ān uses "i' malū... shukrā" rather than the shorter "ushkurū lī", perhaps hinting that practical shukr is wanted from āl-e-Dāwūd. So they carried it out by word and deed such that no hour passed in their house without some member engaged in Allāh's worship — the hours were divided among the household; Dāwūd's 'alaihi-s-salām muṣallā was never empty of someone praying (Ibn Kaṣīr). · Bukhārī, Muslim: the ṣalāt dearest to Allāh is Dāwūd's 'alaihi-s-salām — he slept half the night, prayed a third, slept the last sixth; and the fasts dearest to Allāh are Dāwūd's 'alaihi-s-salām — fasting one day, breaking the next (Ibn Kaṣīr).

"rāsiyāt" — apnī jagah ṭaharrī hu'ī. Murād yih hai ki itnī waznī aur baṛī degeṅ banāte the ki jo hilā'e na hileṅ; aur mumkin hai ki yih degeṅ paṭhar se tarāsh kar, paṭhar hī ke chūlhoṅ par lagī hu'ī banāte hoṅ, jo nā-qābil-e-ḥaml wa naql hoṅ. Imām-e-Tafsīr Ḍaḥḥāk ne "qudūr rāsiyāt" kī yihī tafsīr kī hai.

"i' malū āla Dāwūda shukrā; wa qalīlun min 'ibādiya-sh-shakūr" — Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd wa Sulaimān ('alaihimā-s-salām) ko Allāh ta'ālā ne apne khāṣ faḍl se nawāzā, aur makhṣūṣ in'āmāt 'aṭā farmā'e; un kā bayān farmāne ke ba'd un ko ma' un ke ahl o 'iyāl ke shukr-guzārī kā ḥukm is āyat mein diyā gayā hai.

Qurṭubī ne farmāyā ki shukr kī ḥaqīqat yih hai ki yih us kā i'tirāf kare ki yih ni'mat falān mun'im ne dī hai, aur phir us ko us kī ṭā'at wa marzī ke muṭābiq — aur us ke aḥkām aur us kī marzī ke muṭābiq — ista'māl kare. Aur kisī kī dī hu'ī ni'mat ko us kī marzī ke khilāf ista'māl karnā nā-shukrī, aur kufrān-e-ni'mat hai. Is se ma'lūm hu'ā ki shukr jaise zabān se hotā hai, isī ṭaraḥ 'amal se bhī shukr hotā hai — aur 'amalī shukr is ni'mat kā mun'im kī ṭā'at wa marzī ke muṭābiq ista'māl hai. Aur Abū 'Abd al-Raḥmān Sulamī ne farmāyā ki namāz shukr hai, roza shukr hai, aur har nek kām shukr hai. Aur Muḥammad bin Ka'b Qurzī ne farmāyā ki shukr taqwā aur 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ kā nām hai (Ibn Kaṣīr).

Āyat-e-mazkūra mein Qur'ān-e-Ḥakīm ne ḥukm-e-shukr ke li'e mukhtaṣar lafz "ushkurū lī" ke bajā'e "i'malū āla Dāwūd shukrā" ista'māl farmā kar shāyad is ṭaraf bhī ishāra farmāyā ki āl-e-Dāwūd se maṭlūb shukr-e-'amalī hai. Chunānche is ḥukm kī ta'mīl Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd wa Sulaimān ('alaihimā-s-salām) aur un ke khāndān ne qaul wa 'amal donoṅ se is ṭaraḥ kī ki un ke ghar mein koī waqt aisā na guzartā thā jis mein ghar kā koī fard Allāh kī 'ibādat mein na lagā hu'ā ho. Afrād-e-khāndān par auqāt taqṣīm kar diye ga'e the; is ṭaraḥ Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) kā muṣallā kisī waqt namāz paṛhne wāle se khālī na rahtā thā (Ibn Kaṣīr).

Bukhārī o Muslim mein ḥadīṣ hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki namāzoṅ mein Allāh ke nazdīk maḥbūb-tar namāz Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) kī hai; woh niṣf rāt sote the, phir ek tiḥā'ī rāt 'ibādat mein khaṛe rahte the, phir ākhirī chhaṭe ḥiṣṣe mein sote the. Aur sab rozoṅ mein maḥbūb-tar Allāh ke nazdīk ṣiyām-e-Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) hain, ki woh ek din roza rakhte, aur ek din ifṭār karte the (Ibn Kaṣīr).

PDF PAGE 274 · [Q 34:13-14] · From al-Fuḍayl: when the shukr command came to Dāwūd 'alaihi-s-salām, he asked Allāh: "how can I fully give You shukr, when my shukr — spoken or practical — is itself Your bestowed ni'ma, for which more shukr is due?" Allāh said: "al-āna shakartanī yā Dāwūd" — "now you have given shukr, O Dāwūd" — for by discharging its ḥaqq he grasped and confessed his own incapacity. · Ḥakīm al-Tirmizī and Imām Abū Bakr al-Jaṣṣāṣ, from 'Aṭā' bin Yasār raḍiyallāhu 'anhu: when "i'malū āla Dāwūd shukrā" came down, the Prophet ﷺ came to the minbar, recited it, and said: "three things — whoever fulfils them gets the faḍīla that was given to āl-e-Dāwūd." Asked what they were, he said: keeping to justice in both pleasure and anger; keeping moderation in both wealth and poverty; and fearing Allāh in secret and in open (Qurṭubī; Aḥkām al-Qur'ān, al-Jaṣṣāṣ). · "wa qalīlun min 'ibādiya-sh-shakūr" — after the command and stress on shukr, He also states the fact: "grateful ones among My servants are few" — itself a warning and an incitement to the believer to give shukr. · "falammā qaḍainā 'alaihi-l-

mauta..." — "minsa'ah" = staff/stick; some say it is Abyssinian for 'aşā, some that it is Arabic — from "nas'a" (to remove, defer): with a staff one wards off harmful things, hence "minsa'ah" (an instrument of removing). · The āyah relates the strange event of Sulaimān's 'alaihi-s-salām death, opening a door of many lessons. · Boxed: the strange event of his death holds many hidāyāt — e.g. that Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām, with rule unmatched (over the whole world, and over jinn, birds and the wind), still had no escape from death.

Ḥaḍrat Fuḡail se manqūl hai ki jab Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) par yih ḥukm-e-shukr nāzil hu'a to unhoṅ ne Allāh ta'ālā se 'arḡ kiyā ki "ai mere Parwardgār! main āp kā shukr kis ṭaraḥ pūrā kar saktā hūn, jab ki merā shukr — qaulī ho yā 'amalī — woh bhī āp hī kī 'aṭā-karda nī'mat hī hai, is par bhī mustaqil shukr wājib hai." Ḥaqq ta'ālā ne irshād farmāyā: "al-āna shakartanī yā Dāwūd" — ya'nī "ai Dāwūd! ab āp ne shukr adā kar diyā", kyūnki ḥaqq-e-shukr adā karne se āp ne apne 'ajz o quṣūr ko samajh liyā, aur is kā i'tirāf kar liyā.

Ḥakīm Tirmizī aur Imām Abū Bakr Jaṣṣāṣ ne Ḥaḍrat 'Aṭā' bin Yasār (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se riwāyat kiyā hai ki jab yih āyat nāzil hu'ī "i'malū āla Dāwūda shukrā" to Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam minbar par tashrīf lā'e aur is āyat ko tilāwat farmāyā, phir irshād farmāyā ki "tīn kām aise hain ki jo shakhṣ un ko pūrā kar le to jo faḡīlat āl-e-Dāwūd ko 'aṭā kī ga'ī thī woh us ko bhī mil jā'e gī." Ṣaḥāba-e-kirām ne 'arḡ kiyā ki "woh tīn kām kyā hain?" Āp ne farmāyā ki: riḡā aur ghaḡab kī donoṅ ḥāltoṅ mein inṣāf par qā'im rahnā; aur ghinā' aur faqr kī donoṅ ḥāltoṅ mein i'tidāl aur miyāna-rawī ikhtiyār karnā; aur khafīya aur 'alāniya donoṅ ḥāltoṅ mein Allāh se ḡarnā (Qurṭubī; Aḥkām al-Qur'ān, Jaṣṣāṣ).

"wa qalīlun min 'ibādiya-sh-shakūr" — shukr ke ḥukm aur tākīd ke ba'd is wāqī'e kā bhī iḡhār farmā diyā ki "mere bandoṅ mein shukr-guḡār kam hī hoṅ ge." Is mein bhī mu'min ke li'e tanbīh aur taḡrīḡ hai shukr par.

"falammā qaḡainā 'alaihi-l-mauta ... al-āyah" — āyat mein lafḡ "minsa'ah" 'aşā aur lāṭhī ke ma'nī mein hai. Ba'ḡ ḥaḡrāt ne farmāyā ki yih Ḥabashī zabān kā lafḡ hai ba-ma'nī 'aşā; aur ba'ḡ ne farmāyā ki 'Arabī lafḡ hai — "nas'a" ke ma'nī ḥaṡāne aur mu'akhhkar karne ke hain; lāṭhī ke zarī'e insān muḡir chīzoṅ ko ḥaṡātā hai, is li'e is ko "minsa'ah" kahā gayā — ya'nī ḥaṡāne kā āla.

PDF PAGE 275 · [Q 34:14] · ...and that death comes at its appointed time. The building of Bait al-Muqaddas begun by Dāwūd ‘alaihi-s-salām was completed by Sulaimān ‘alaihi-s-salām; some construction remained, entrusted to the jinn, whose nature was rebellious — they worked only from fear of Sulaimān ‘alaihi-s-salām, and would have dropped the work at once if they knew of his death, leaving it unfinished. By Allāh's leave he arranged that, when death came, he prepared for it, entered his miḥrāb (built of clear glass, its interior visible from outside), and stood leaning on a support for worship as usual, so that after his soul departed the body would stay fixed on the staff. His soul was taken at the appointed time, yet he stayed fixed on his staff, appearing from outside to be at worship; the jinn dared not approach to look, and kept working, thinking him alive — until a year passed and the remaining construction was completed. Then Allāh set a wood-worm (Persian "dēv", Urdu "dīmāk", called "dābbatu-l-arḍ" in the Qur’ān) over the staff; it hollowed out the wood, the support failed, Sulaimān ‘alaihi-s-salām fell, and the jinn and all learned of his death. · The jinn, given power to cross vast distances in moments, knew of events people did not; when they reported these, people thought this was ghaib and the jinn had ‘ilm-e-ghaib — and even the jinn might claim it. This strange death exposed the truth: neither the jinn nor anyone realised the jinn are not ‘ālim al-ghaib — had they known the ghaib they would have known a year before his death and spared themselves a year's toil endured thinking him alive. That is the sense of the āyah's last clause: "falam mā kharra tabayyanati-l-jinnu an lau kānū ya‘lamūna-l-ghaiba mā labiṣū fī-l-‘azābi-l-muhīn" — "‘azāb-e-muhīn" here = the toilsome labour of completing Bait al-Muqaddas that Sulaimān ‘alaihi-s-salām had set them.

... to muqarrara waqt par ānī thī. Bait al-Muqaddas kī ta‘mīr jo Ḥaḍrat Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) ne shurū‘ kī, phir Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) ne us kī takmīl farmā’ī; is mein kuchh kām ta‘mīr kā bāqī thā, aur yih ta‘mīr kā kām jinnāt ke supurd thā, jin kī ṭabī‘at mein sar-kashī ghālib thī. Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) ke khauf se kām karte the; un kī wafāt kā jinnāt ko ‘ilm ho jā’e to fauran kām chhoṛ baiṭheñ, aur ta‘mīr rah jā’e.

Is kā intizām Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) ne bi-izn Rabbānī yih kiyā ki jab maut kā waqt āyā to maut kī taiyārī kar ke apnī miḥrāb mein dākhil ho ga’e, jo shaffāf shīshe se banī huī thī — bāhar se andar kī sab chīzeñ naẓar ātī thīñ — aur apne ma‘mūl ke muṭābiq ‘ibādat ke li’e ek saḥārā le kar khare ho ga’e, ki rūḥ parwāz karne ke ba’d bhī jism is ‘aṣā ke saḥāre apnī jagah jamā rahe.

Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī rūḥ waqt-e-muqarrar par qabḥ kar lī ga’ī, magar woh apne ‘aṣā ke saḥāre apnī jagah jame hu’e bāhar se aise naẓar āte the ki ‘ibādat mein mashghūl hain; jinnāt kī yih majāl na thī ki pās ā kar dekh sakeñ. Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) ko zinda samajh kar kām mein mashghūl rahe, yahān tak ki sāl bhar guḥar gayā, aur ta‘mīr-e-Bait al-Muqaddas kā baqiya kām pūrā ho gayā.

To Allāh ta‘ālā ne ghun ke kīre ko — jis ko Fārsī mein "dēv" aur Urdū mein "dīmak" kahā jātā hai, aur Qur’ān-e-Karīm ne is ko "dābbatu-l-arḥ" ke nām se mausūm kiya hai — ‘aṣā-e-Sulaimānī par musallaḥ kar diya. Dīmak ne ‘aṣā kī lakṛī ko andar se khā kar kamzor kar diya; ‘aṣā kā saḥārā khatm hu’ā to Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) gir ga’e, us waqt jinnāt ko aur un ko maut kī khabar hu’ī.

Jinnāt ko Allāh ta‘ālā ne dūr-darāz kī masāfat chand lamḥāt mein qaṭa’ kar lene kī quwwat ‘aṭā farmā’ī hai; woh bahut se ḥālāt o wāqī‘āt se wāqif hote the, jin ko insān nahīn jānte; jab woh insānoñ ko un wāqī‘āt kī khabar dete to insān yih samajhte the ki yih ghaib kī khabar hai, aur jinnāt ko bhī ‘ilm-e-ghaib ḥāsil hai. Khud jinnāt ko bhī ‘ilm-e-ghaib kā da‘wā ho to ba‘īd nahīn. Maut ke is ‘ajīb wāqī‘e ne is kī bhī ḥaqīqat khol dī: khud jinnāt ko bhī pata chal gayā, aur sab insānoñ ko bhī, ki jinnāt ‘ālim al-ghaib nahīn hain — kyūnki un ko ghaib kā ‘ilm hotā to Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī maut se ek sāl pahle hī bā-khabar ho jāte, aur yih ek sāl bhar kī miḥnat wa mashaqqat, jo Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī maut se hu’ī — jo un ko zinda samajh kar bardāsh tarte rahe — us se bach jāte.

PDF PAGE 276 · [Q 34:14] · This strange death is in the Qur’ān itself; the rest of the detail is from Ibn ‘Abbās raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu and other mufasssīrīn, in Ibn Kaṣīr and all the tafsīrs. · Lessons: no one escapes death; Allāh, when He would have a work done, arranges it as He wills (keeping Sulaimān ‘alaihi-s-salām fixed a whole year to have the jinn finish); the world's means and instruments serve only while it is Allāh's will — otherwise they fail (the staff's support ended by the worm); and after Sulaimān's ‘alaihi-s-salām death there was a danger that people, seeing the jinn's astonishing feats and their knowledge of seemingly hidden things, might take them as objects of worship — this death ended that danger, showing all the jinn's ignorance and helplessness. · From this it also appears Sulaimān ‘alaihi-s-salām chose this way for two reasons: (1) so the remaining building of Bait al-Muqaddas would be completed; (2) so the jinn's ignorance and helplessness would be plain to people, removing the danger of their worship (Qurṭubī). · Imām al-Nasā'ī, with a ṣaḥīḥ isnād from 'Abdullāh bin 'Amr raḍiyallāhu 'anhumā: the Prophet ﷺ said that when Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām finished building Bait al-Muqaddas he made several du'ās, which were granted — one being that whoever enters this masjid only intending ṣalāt with no worldly aim, Allāh would cleanse of all sins before he leaves, as on the day his mother bore him. · Al-Suddī's report: on completion he sacrificed 12,000 cattle and 20,000 goats in thanks, held a public feast and celebration, and standing on the ṣakhra prayed: "O Allāh, You gave me the strength and means by which Bait al-Muqaddas was completed — so, O Allāh, grant me..."

... maut kā yih 'ajīb wāqī'a to khud Qur'ān kī is āyat mein mazkūr hī hai; bāqī tafṣīl Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) waghaira A'imma-e-tafsīr se manqūl hai, jo Ibn Kaṣīr waghaira sab tafāsīr mein naql kī ga'ī hai.

Is 'ajīb wāqī'e se yih 'ibrat bhī ḥāṣil hu'ī ki maut se kisī ko chhuṭkāṛā nahīn; aur yih bhī ki Allāh ta'ālā ko jo kām lenā hotā hai us kā jis ṭaraḥ chāheñ intizām kar sakte hain — jaisā is wāqī'e mein hu'ā ki maut ke bāwujūd Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) ko sāl bhar tak apnī jagah qā'im rakh kar jinnāt se kām pūrā karā liyā.

Aur yih bhī ki dunyā ke sāre asbāb wa ālāt usī waqt tak apnā kām karte hain jab tak manzūr-e-Ḥaqq hotā hai; jab manzūr nahīn hotā to ālāt wa asbāb jawāb de dete hain — jaise yahān 'aṣā kā sahārā dīmak ke zarī'e khatm kar diyā gayā.

Aur yih bhī ki Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) kī wafāt ke ba'd yih khaṭra thā ki log jinnāt ke ḥairat-angez 'amal aur kārnāmoñ, aur ba-ẓāhir ghaib kī chīzoñ se un ke bā-khabar hone waghaira ke a'māl-e-'ajība ko dekh kar kahīn inhīn ko apnā ma'būd na banā baiṭheñ; is khaṭra ko bhī is wāqī'a-e-maut ne khatm kar diyā, aur sab ko jinnāt kī be-khabarī aur be-basī ma'lūm ho ga'ī.

Taqrīr-e-mazkūra se yih bhī ma'lūm ho gayā ki Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) ne maut ke waqt is khāṣ ṭarīqe ko do wajh se ikhtiyār kiyā thā: awwal yih ki ta'mīr-e-Bait al-Muqaddas kā bāqī māndah kām pūrā ho jā'e; dūsre yih ki in logoñ par jinnāt kī be-khabarī aur be-basī wāḍiḥ ho jā'e, tāki un kī 'ibādat kā khaṭra na rahe (Qurṭubī).

Imām Nasā'ī (raḥimahullāh) ne ba-isnād-e-ṣaḥīḥ Ḥaḍrat 'Abdullāh bin 'Amr (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se yih riwāyat kī hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki jab Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) Bait al-Muqaddas kī ta'mīr se fāriḡ hu'e to Allāh ta'ālā se chand du'ā'ēñ kīñ, jo maqbūl hu'īñ. In mein se ek du'ā yih hai ki jo shakhṣ is masjid mein ṣīrf namāz kī niyyat se dākḥil ho, aur koī dunyāwī gharāz na ho, is masjid se nikalne se pahle us ko tamām gunāhoñ se aisā pāk kar de jaisā ki us waqt thā jab mān ke peṭ se paidā hu'ā thā.

Aur Suddī kī riwāyat mein yih bhī hai ki Bait al-Muqaddas kī ta'mīr se fāriḡh hone par Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) ne ba-ṭaur shukrāna ke bārah hazār gā'e, bail aur bīs hazār bakriyōn kī qurbānī kar ke logōn ko da'wat-e-'ām dī, aur us dīn kī khushī manā'ī; aur ṣakhra-e-Bait al-Muqaddas par khare ho kar Allāh ta'ālā se yih du'ā'en māngīn ki "yā Allāh! āp ne mujhe hī yih quwwat aur wasā'il 'aṭā farmā'e jin se ta'mīr-e-Bait al-Muqaddas mukammal huī — to yā Allāh mujhe [yih in 'ām 'aṭā farmā'en] ki ... PDF PAGE 277 · [Q 34:14 → 34:15] · Sulaimān's 'alaihi-s-salām du'ās: grant me tawfīq to give shukr for this ni'ma, let me die on Your dīn, and after guidance put no zaigh or crookedness in my heart. And for this masjid, five requests: (1) accept the repentance and forgive the sins of any sinner who enters it to repent; (2) give safety and deliverance from dangers to anyone who enters it fleeing a fear; (3) heal any sick person who enters it; (4) enrich any poor person who enters it; (5) keep Your gaze of mercy and favour on whoever enters it while he stays — except one engaged in zulm or irreligion (Qurṭubī). · The ḥadīth shows Bait al-Muqaddas was completed in Sulaimān's 'alaihi-s-salām lifetime; no conflict with the earlier account, since in great buildings small work remains after the main structure is done, and it was for that that he adopted the described plan. · Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu: after death he stood leaning on the staff for a year (Qurṭubī); in some reports, when the jinn learned much time had passed, they set a termite on a piece of wood and reckoned from a day-and-night's consumption that a year had passed on the staff. · Fā'ida: al-Baghawī, from the historians: Sulaimān's 'alaihi-s-salām total age was 53 years; his rule lasted 40 years; he took charge of the kingdom at age 13, and began building Bait al-Muqaddas in the 4th year of his rule (Maẓharī, Qurṭubī). · Then [Q 34:15] — the people of Saba' had a sign in their dwelling-place: two gardens, on the right and the left...

... bhī tawfīq dījiye ki main terī is ni'mat kā shukr adā karūn, aur mujhe apne dīn par wafāt dījiye, aur hidāyat ke ba'd mere qalb mein koī zaigh aur kajī na ḍāleñ. Aur 'arṣ kiyā ki "ai mere Parwardgār! jo shakhṣ is masjid mein dākhil ho, us ke li'e āp se pāñch chīzeñ māngtā hūn:

Ek yih ki jo gunāhgār tauba karne ke li'e is masjid mein dākhil ho, to āp us kī tauba qabūl farmāleñ, aur us ke gunāhoñ ko mu'āf farmādeñ.

Dūsre yih ki jo ādmī kisī khauf wa khaṭra se bachne ke li'e is masjid mein dākhil ho, to āp us ko amn dedeñ, aur khaṭarāt se najāt 'aṭā farmādeñ.

Tīsre yih ki jo bīmār ādmī is mein dākhil ho, us ko āp shifā 'aṭā farmādeñ.

Chauthe yih ki jo faqīr ādmī is mein dākhil ho, us ko āp ghanī kar deñ.

Pāñchwen yih ki jo shakhṣ is mein dākhil ho, jab tak woh is mein rahe, āp apnī naẓar-e-‘ināyat wa raḥmat us par rakheñ — ba-juz us shakhṣ ke jo kisī zulm yā be-dīnī ke kām mein mashghūl ho" (Qurṭubī).

Is ḥadīṣ se ma‘lūm hotā hai ki Bait al-Muqaddas kī ta‘mīr kā kām Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī ḥayāt mein mukammal ho chukā thā; magar jo wāqī‘a ūpar mazkūr hu‘ā, woh kuchh is ke munāfi nahīñ — ki aṣl ta‘mīr mukammal hone ke ba‘d baṛī baṛī ta‘mīrāt mein kuchh kām rah jāyā karte hain, woh bāqī hoñ, un ke li‘e Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) ne mazkūra tadbīr ikhtiyār kī ho.

Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) se yih bhī manqūl hai ki maut ke ba‘d ‘aṣā’ ke sahāre Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) ek sāl khare rahe (Qurṭubī). Aur ba‘z riwāyāt mein hai ki jab jinnāt ko yih ma‘lūm hu‘ā ki Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī maut ko ‘araṣa ho gayā aur "ham yūn hī be-khabar rahe", to muddat-e-maut ma‘lūm karne ke li‘e yih tadbīr kī ki ek lakṛī par dīmak chhoṛ dī; ek dīn rāt mein jītnī lakṛī dīmak ne khāṭī, us se ḥisāb lagā liyā ki ‘aṣā-e-Sulaimānī par ek sāl is tarah guzar āyā.

Fā’ida: Baghawī ne ‘ulamā’-e-tārīkh ke ḥawāle se naql kiyā hai ki Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī ‘umr kull tirpan sāl kī huṭī, aur un kī salṭanat wa ḥukūmat chālīs sāl rahī; terḥwēñ sāl kī ‘umr mein salṭanat kā kām sambhāl liyā thā, aur Bait al-Muqaddas kī ta‘mīr apnī salṭanat ke chauthe sāl mein shurū‘ kī thī (Maẓharī, Qurṭubī).

(a forgiving Lord if, with īmān and obedience, some shortfall occurs). But they rebelled against this command (perhaps these people were also sun-worshippers — cf. Sūrat an-Naml "wa jadtuḥā wa qaumahā yasjudūna li-sh-shams"), so We loosed on them the dam's flood — the dam broke and the pent-up water rose and destroyed their gardens on both sides — and gave them in exchange two gardens of bitter fruit, tamarisk, and a little wild (not cultivated) lote-tree, thorny with poor fruit. That was Our repayment for their ingratitude; and We repay thus only the grossly ungrateful — ordinary lapses We overlook; and what greater ingratitude than the kufr they were in.

· Besides that general ni‘ma, a special travel-ni‘ma: between them and the blessed towns We had settled many villages visible from the road (so a traveller had no dread and could stop without difficulty), and measured the distances so that at the customary rest-time some village was always at hand for food, drink and rest — travel by night and by day in safety, with no fear of highwaymen (villages close together) or of running out of provisions (supplies everywhere). But as they gave no real shukr (obedience), so they gave no outward shukr (valuing the ni‘ma) either; and they said, "our Lord, there is no pleasure in travel with villages so close — the pleasure is in provisions running out, thirst with no water, longing, waiting, fear of thieves, servants standing guard armed..."

... rizq khā'o aur (rakh kar) us kā shukr karo — ya'nī iṭā'at karo, ki do qism kī ni'mateñ muqtaẓī-e-iṭā'at hain: ek dunyawī, ki tum 'umda shahr mein rah rahe ho; aur dūsrā ukhrawī, ki dar-ṣūrat-e-īmān wa iṭā'at ke agar kuchh kotāhī ho jā'e to gunāh bakhshne wālā Parwardgār hai. Pas dono aise muqtaẓī par aise muqtaẓā kā tarattub zarūr honā chāhi'e.

So (us par bhī) unhoñ ne (is ḥukm se) sar-tābī kī (aur shāyad yih log āftāb-parast bhī hoñ, jaise ba'ẓ kī nisbat Sūrat an-Naml mein hai "wa wajadtuḥā wa qaumahā yasjudūna li-sh-shams") — to ham ne (un par apnā qahr is ṭaraḥ nāzil kiyā) ki un par band kā sailāb chhoṛ diyā (ya'nī jo sailāb band se rukā rahtā thā, band tūṭ kar us sailāb kā pānī chaḥ āyā, jis se un ke woh dono ṭaraf ke bāghāt sab ghārat ho ga'e), aur ham ne un ke un dono ṭaraf ke bāghoñ ke badle aur do bāgh de diye (jin mein yih chīzeñ rah ga'īñ:) bad-maza phal aur jhā'ū, aur qadr-e-qalīl berī (aur woh bhī shahrī nahīñ, jangalī — khud-rau — jis mein kāñte bahut, aur phal mein laṭāfat nā-dārad). Un ko yih sazā ham ne un kī nā-sipāsī ke sabab dī. Aur ham aisī sazā baṛe nā-sipās hī ko diyā karte hain — dūsrā, nā-ma'mulī khaṭā'ōñ par to ham dar-guẓar hī kiyā karte hain — aur ẓāhir hai ki kufr se baḥ kar kyā nā-sipāsī hogī, jis mein woh mubtalā the.

ho, aur kahīn ṭhaharnā chāhe to wahān jāne mein takalluf o taraddud bhī na ho). Aur ham ne in diḥāt ke darmiyān un ke chalne kā ek khāṣ andāza rakhā thā — ya 'nī ek gā' on se dūse gā' on tak chāl ke ḥisāb se aisā munāsib fāṣla rakhā thā ki dauran-e-safar mein 'ādat ke muṭābiq ārām kare; waqt par koī na koī gā' on mil jātā jahān khā pī se ārām kar sake — ki be-khauf o khaṭra un mein (rātoṅ ko aur dinoṅ ko) chalo: na khaṭra rah-zan kā, ki pās pās gā' on the; na khaṭra āb o dāna wa zād-e-rāh ke maisir na hone kā, ki har jagah har sāmān miltā thā.

So un nī 'matoṅ kī unhoṅ ne jaise aṣlī shukr-guzārī — ya 'nī iṭā'at-e-ilāhiya — nahīn kī, aise hī ṣāhirī shukr-guzārī — ya 'nī nī 'mat-e-ilāhiya ko ghanīmat samajhnā aur us kī qadr karnā — woh bhī nahīn kī. Chunānche woh kahne lage ki "ai hamāre Parwardgār! aise pās pās diḥāt hone se safar kā luṭf nahīn ātā — luṭf to usī mein hai ki kahīn zād-e-rāh khatm ho gayā ho, kahīn pyās hai aur pānī nahīn miltā, ishtiyāq hai, intizār hai, kahīn choroṅ kā andesha ho, nau-kar pahra de rahe hoṅ, hathiyār-band se ho'e hoṅ" — jaise ... "Also, in this state we get no chance to show our wealth — rich and poor travel alike; so we want distances put between our journeys" (i.e. the intervening villages laid waste). Besides this ingratitude they committed other disobedience and wronged themselves, so We scattered them utterly — some destroyed, left as mere tales; others dispersed; their state of ease all became a story, its comforts gone; the family's dwellings and gardens and the connected villages all left desolate. In this account are great lessons for every patient, grateful person (i.e. believer). · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: to alert the deniers of prophethood and qiyāmat to Allāh's power, and in the series of astonishing events and miracles by the earlier prophets' hands, first the events of Dāwūd and Sulaimān ('alaihimā-s-salām) were mentioned; now, in the same series, Allāh's countless favours on the people of Saba', then the punishment that came upon them for their ingratitude. · Boxed: the people of Saba' and Allāh's special favours on them. Ibn Kaṣīr: "Saba'" is the title of the kings of Yemen and of that land's inhabitants; the Tabābi'a who ruled it were of this same people, and Queen Bilqīs (Sūrat an-Naml, with Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām) was of it. Allāh opened His provision to them, supplied every comfort in their city, and through His prophets commanded them to give shukr for the nī 'mats by His tauḥīd and obedience. For a time they held to this; then in their indulgence they slid from ghaflat to outright denial, so Allāh sent them thirteen prophets 'alaihimu-s-salām as a warning...

He saīd it is a man's name, who had ten sons — six settled in Yemen, four went to Shām. The Yemen names: Mazḥij, Kinda, Azd, Ash‘arī, Anmār, Ḥimyar (six tribes known by these names). The Shām names: Lakhm, Juzām, ‘Āmila, Ghassān (tribes known by these names). Also reported by Ibn ‘Abd al-Barr in "al-Qaṣd wa-l-Umam bi-Ma‘rifati Ansāb al-‘Arab wa-l-‘Ajam". · Ibn Kaṣīr, from the genealogists: these ten were not Saba’'s direct sons but in his 2nd/3rd/4th generation; their descendants spread through Shām and Yemen, and the tribes were named after them. "Saba’"’s real name was "‘Abd Shams"; the lineage: Saba’ (‘Abd Shams) bin Yashjub bin Ya‘rub bin Qaḥṭān. · Historians: "Saba’, ‘Abd Shams" gave glad tidings of the final Prophet Muḥammad Muṣṭafā ﷺ in his time — perhaps from the old scriptures (Tawrāt, Injīl) or through astrologers and diviners; he composed Arabic verses about the Prophet's ﷺ mission, wishing he had lived in his time to help him, and urging his people to believe in and help him. · The six-in-Yemen, four-to-Shām split was after the flood punishment, when they scattered in various directions (Ibn Kaṣīr). · Qurtūbī, from al-Qushairī: the age of Saba’ was after ‘Īsā ‘alaihi-s-salām, in the fatra before the Prophet's ﷺ mission.

Imām Aḥmad Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) se yih riwāyat naql karte hain ki ek shakhṣ ne Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam se daryāft kiyā ki "Saba’", jis kā Qur’ān mein zikr hai — yih kisī mard yā ‘aurat kā nām hai, yā zamīn ke kisī ḥiṣṣe kā? Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki yih ek mard kā nām hai, jis kī aulād mein das laṛke hu’e, jin mein se chhe Yaman mein ābād rahe, aur chār Shām mein chale ga’e. Yaman mein rahne wāloñ ke nām yih hain: Mazḥij, Kinda, Azd, Ash‘arī, Anmār, Ḥimyar (in chhe laṛkoñ kī aulād se chhe qabīle paidā hu’e, jo unhī mazkūra nāmoñ se ma‘rūf hain).

Ibn Kaṣīr kī taḥqīq ba-ḥawāla-e-‘ulamā’-e-nasab yih hai ki yih das laṛke Saba’ ke ṣulbī aur bilā wāsiṭa beṭe nahīn the, balki Saba’ kī dūsarī, tīsarī yā chauthī nasl mein yih log hu’e; phir in kī aulād mein phailā, unhī ke nāmoñ se qabīle mashhūr hu’e, aur woh Shām o Yaman mein phaile. Aur "Saba’" kā aṣl nām "‘Abd Shams" thā; "Saba’, ‘Abd Shams, bin Yashjub bin Ya‘rub bin Qaḥṭān" se un kā nasab-nāma wāẓiḥ ho jātā hai.

Aur ahl-e-tārīkh ne likhā hai ki "Saba", 'Abd Shams" ne apne zamāne mein Nabī ākhir al-zamān Muḥammad Muṣṭafā ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī bishārat sunā'ī thī. Mumkin hai ki un ko is kā 'ilm kutub-e-qadīma Taurāt o Injīl se hu'ā ho, yā nujūmiyōn, kāhinoṅ ke zarī'e. PDF PAGE 282 · [Q 34:19] · Boxed: sayl al-'arim and the dam of Ma'ārib. "fa-arsalnā 'alaihim sayla-l-'arim" — "'arim" has several lexical meanings and the mufasssīrīn have interpreted the āyah by each; but the sense fitting the Qur'ānic context, per al-Qāmūs, al-Ṣiḥāḥ and al-Jauharī, is "'arim" = "sadd" (a dam built to hold back water, today's "dam") — also Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu (Qurṭubī). · The dam's story (Ibn Kaṣīr): in Yemen, three stages from its capital Ṣan'ā', was a city Ma'ārib where the people of Saba' lived, between two mountains; the rain-flood came down between and over them, and the city was always exposed to these floods. Its kings (Queen Bilqīs specially named) built a very strong dam between the two mountains, impervious to the water, which held back the floods and made a great reservoir; the mountains' rain-water also collected in it. The dam had three sluice-gates at different heights to release the water in an orderly way for the people and for irrigating their land and gardens. · First the top gate was opened; when the upper water was spent, the middle, then the lowest third gate — until the next year's rains filled it again to the top. Below the dam was a very large basin, from which twelve channels carried water to twelve canals reaching the city's various parts, all flowing evenly and serving the city's needs (Maḥzarī). · On the flanks of the two mountains, right and left of the city, were gardens fed by these canals — continuous, adjoining, on both mountain sides. Though many, the Qur'ān calls them "jannatān" (two gardens) because all the gardens of one side, being joined, count as one garden, and all of the other side as the second. In them every kind of tree and fruit grew so abundantly that...

"fa-arsalnā ‘alaihim sayla-l-‘arim" — lafẓ "'arim" ke ‘arabī lughat ke i‘tibār se ka‘ī ma‘nī ma‘rūf hain, aur ‘ulamā'-e-tafsīr ne har ma‘nī ke i‘tibār se is āyat kī tafsīr farmā‘ī hai; magar in mein siyāq-e-Qur‘ān ke munāsib woh ma‘nī hain jo Qāmūs aur Ṣiḥāḥ aur Jauharī waghaira kutub-e-lughat mein hain, ki "'arim" ke ma‘nī "sadd" — ya‘nī band — ke hain, jo pānī rokne ke li‘e banāyā jātā hai, jo āj-kal "ḍem" ke nām se ma‘rūf hai. Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ne bhī "'arim" ke ma‘nī "sadd" — ya‘nī band — ke bayān farmā‘e hain (Qurṭubī).

Wāqī‘a is band (ḍem) kā ḥasb-e-bayān Ibn Kaṣīr yih hai ki mulk-e-Yaman mein, is ke dār al-ḥukūmat Ṣan‘ā‘ se tīn manzil ke fāṣla par ek shahr Ma‘arib thā, jis mein qaum-e-Saba‘ ābād thī. Is shahr ke bādshāhoḥ ne (jin mein malka Bilqīs kā nām khuṣūṣiyyat se zikr kiyā jātā hai) in donoḥ pahāron ke darmiyān ek band (ḍem) nihāyat mustahkam, maẓbūt ta‘mīr kiyā, jis mein pānī aṣar-andāz na kar sake. Is band ne pahāron ke darmiyān se āne wāle sailābon ko rok kar pānī kā ek ‘aẓīm al-shān zakhīra banā diyā; pahāron kī bārish kā pānī bhī is mein jam‘ hone lagā. Is band ke andar, ūpar nīche, pānī nikālne ke li‘e tīn darwāze rakhe ga‘e, tāki pānī kā yih zakhīra intizām ke sāth shahr ke logon ke, aur un kī zamīn wa bāgh kī āb-pāshī ke ... kām ā‘e.

Pahle ūpar kā darwāza khol kar is se pānī liyā jātā thā; jab ūpar kā pānī khatm ho jātā to us se nīche kā, aur us ke ba‘d sab se nīche kā tīsrā darwāza khola jātā thā — yahān tak ki dūsre sāl kī bārishon kā zamāna ā kar phir pānī ūpar tak bhar jātā.  written in these people's books that the dam's ruin would come by rats; when rats were seen near it, alarm arose, and cats were kept below the dam to keep the rats away — but when the divine decree came due, the rats overcame the cats and got into the dam's foundation (Ibn Kaṣīr). · Historical reports:
 some prudent, far-sighted people, seeing the rats, resolved to move elsewhere and gradually made arrangements and left; the rest stayed, and when the flood began they too moved, and many perished in it. · So the whole city was destroyed. Some inhabitants who went to other lands are detailed in the Musnad Aḥmad ḥaḍīth above — six tribes spread in Yemen, four in Shām; the settlement of Madīna Ṭayyiba also began with some of these tribes (detailed in the histories). · The state of the two rows of gardens after the flood:
 "wa baddalnāhum bi-jannataihim jannataini zawāṭay ukulin khamṭin wa aṣlin wa shai'in min sidrin qalīl" — Allāh grew there, in place of the trees of costly fruit, trees whose fruit was bad-tasting and poor. "khamṭ" — most mufasssīrīn:
 the arāk tree; al-Jauharī: a kind of arāk bears some edible fruit, but this tree's fruit too was bad. Abū 'Ubaida: "khamṭ" is any tree both thorny and bitter. "aṣl" — jamhūr: a kind of tamarisk ("jhā'ū" in Urdu), bearing no edible fruit; some: "aṣl" = samr, i.e. babūl / kīkar, thorny, whose fruit is fed to goats. "sidr" = the lote-tree (berī), of two kinds — the cultivated garden kind, sweet and pleasant, few thorns, plentiful fruit; and the wild kind, self-grown thorny bushes in the jungle, many thorns, little fruit, and that sour.

Wahb bin Munabbih kī riwāyat mein hai ki in logoñ kī kitāboñ mein yih bāt likhī chalī ātī thī ki is band kī kharābī o tabāhī chūhoñ ke zarī'e hogī. Jab logoñ ne is band

ke qarīb chūhoñ ko dekhā to khaṭra paidā ho gayā. Is kī tadbīr yih kī ga'ī ki band ke nīche bahut sī billiyāñ pālī ga'īñ, jo chūhoñ ko band ke qarīb na āne deñ; magar jab taqdīr-e-ilāhī nāfiz honī ā'ī to yih chūhe billiyon par ghālib ā ga'e, aur band kī bunyād mein dākhil ho ga'e (Ibn Kaṣīr).

Aur tārikhī riwāyāt mein yih bhī hai ki kuchh hoshiyār dūr-andesh logoñ ne chūhoñ ko dekh kar yih maqṣad kar liyā ki yih jagah chhoṛ kar kisī dūsrī ṭaraf muntaqil ho jāne kā, aur tadrījan intizām kar ke nikal ga'e; bāqī log wahāñ rahe. Magar jab sailāb shurū' hu'ā, us waqt [woh bhī] muntaqil ho ga'e, aur bahut se wahīñ sailāb kī nazr ho ga'e.

Gharaz yih pūrā shahr tabāh o barbād ho gayā. Shahr ke kuchh bāshinde jo dūstre mulkoñ, shahroñ kī ṭaraf chale ga'e, un kī kuchh tafṣīl Musnad Aḥmad kī ḥadīṣ mein jo ūpar guzar chukī hai mazkūr hai — chhe qabīle un ke Yaman mein phaile, aur chār Shām mein. Madīna Ṭayyiba kī ābādī bhī inhī qabā'il mein se ba'z se shurū' hu'ī, jis kī tafṣīl kutub-e-tārikh mein mazkūr hai. Sailāb āne aur shahr tabāh hone ke ba'd yih do rūya bāghāt kā jo ḥāl hu'ā, woh āge is ṭarah zikr farmāyā ki:

"wa baddalnāhum bi-jannataihim jannataini zawāṭay ukulin khamṭin wa aṣlin wa shai'in min sidrin qalīl" — ya'nī Allāh ta'ālā ne un ke qīmatī phaloñ aur mewoñ ke darakhtoñ ke badle us mein aise darakht ugā diye, jin ke phal bad-maza kharāb the.

Lafz "khamṭ" ke ma'nī akṣar ḥaḍrāt mufasssīrīn darakht-e-arāk ke kiye hain. Aur Jauharī lughawī ne likhā hai ki darakht-e-arāk kī ek qism aisī bhī hai jis par kuchh phal hotā aur khāyā jātā hai — magar is darakht ke phal bhī bad-maza the. Aur Abū 'Ubaida (raḥimahullāh) ne farmāyā ki "khamṭ" har aisā darakht ko kahā jātā hai jo khār-dār bhī ho, karvā bhī.

Aur lafz "aṣl" jamhūr mufasssīrīn ke nazdīk ek qism ṭarfā' kī hai, jis ko urdū mein "jhā'ū" kahā jātā hai; is par koī phal khāne ke qābil nahīñ hotā. Aur ba'z ḥaḍrāt ne kahā ki "aṣl" ba-ma'nī samr — ya'nī babūl aur kīkar — kā darakht jo khār-dār hotā hai, jis kā phal bakriyon ko khilāyā jātā hai.

"sidr" ke ma'nī berī ke hain. Yih do qism kī hotī hai: ek woh jo bāghāt mein ihtimām se lagā'ī jātī hai, is kā phal shīrīñ, khush-zā'iqa hotā hai; is ke darakht mein kāñṭe kam, aur phal ziyāda hotā hai. Dūsrī qism jangalī berī kī hai, jo jangaloñ mein khud-rau aur khār-dār jhāriyāñ hotī hain; in mein kāñṭe ziyāda aur phal kam hotā hai, aur phal bhī tursh hotā hai. Āyat-e-mazkūra mein ... PDF PAGE 285 · [Q 34:17-19] · "sidr" with "qalīl" perhaps hints the lote-tree too was wild, self-grown, with little sour fruit (Wallāhu a'lam). · "zālika jazaināhum bimā kafarū" — We punished them thus for their kufr; "kufr" means both ingratitude and denial of the true dīn — both apply here, since they were ungrateful and also denied the thirteen prophets sent to them. · Fā'ida: it is said thirteen prophets were sent to the people of Saba', and that the Saba' / sayl al-'arim event was after 'Īsā 'alaihi-s-salām and before the Prophet's ﷺ mission — the fatra period, in which, per the jamhūr, no prophet was sent. How then can thirteen prophets' mission be correct? Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī's answer: the flood being in the fatra period does not require the prophets to have been in that period too — their mission to this people may have been before the fatra, and their rebellion and kufr grew in the fatra, so the sayl al-'arim punishment came upon them in the fatra (Wallāhu a'lam). · "wa hal nujāzī illa-l-kafūr" — "kafūr" is the intensive of kufr = one who disbelieves greatly; the āyah = "We punish none but the grossly ungrateful". Apparently this contradicts the āyāt and ṣaḥīḥ ḥadīths that sinful Muslims too will be punished in Hell per their deeds, though finally, by their īmān, taken out to Jannat. Answer (some): what is meant here is not punishment absolutely, but a general punishment like that on Saba', which is special to disbelievers; such a punishment does not come on sinful Muslims (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī). Supported by the tābi'ī Ibn Khairā: "jazā'u l-ma'ṣiyati l-wahnu fī l-'ibādati wa-ḍ-ḍīqu fī l-ma'īshati wa-t-ta'assuru fī l-lazzah" — the penalty of sin is sloth in worship, straitness in livelihood, difficulty in pleasure...

"zālika jazaināhum bimā kafarū" — ya'nī yih sazā ham ne un ko is li'e dī ki unhoṅ ne kufr kiya. "Kufr" ke ma'nī nā-shukrī ke bhī āte hain, aur dīn-e-ḥaqq se inkār ke bhī āte hain; yahāñ donoṅ ma'nī ho sakte hain, kyūnki unhoṅ ne nā-shukrī bhī kī, aur jo terah Anbiyā un kī ṭaraf bheje ga'e the un kī takzīb bhī kī.

Fā'ida: Is wāqi'a mein jo yih bayān hu'ā hai ki qaum-e-Saba' kī ṭaraf Allāh ta'ālā ne apne terah paighambar bheje the, aur is ke sāth yih bhī ūpar guẓar gayā hai ki is qaum aur sayl-e-'arim kā wāqi'a Ḥaḍrat 'Īsā 'alaihi-s-salām ke ba'd, Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī bi'ṣat se pahle darmiyānī zamāne mein thā — jis ko zamāna-e-fatrat kā kahā jātā hai; aur jamhūr 'ulamā' ke nazdīk us zamāne mein koī nabī mab'ūṣ hī nahīn hu'ā, isī li'e is ko fatrat ke zamāne se ta'bīr karte hain. To yih terah Anbiyā kī bi'ṣat kaise ṣaḥīḥ ho saktī hai?

Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī mein is kā jawāb yih diyā hai ki wāqi'a-e-sayl-e-'arim ke zamāna-e-fatrat mein hone se yih lāzīm nahīn ātā ki yih Anbiyā bhī isī zamāne mein ā'e hoñ; ho saktā hai ki Anbiyā kī bi'ṣat is qaum kī ṭaraf zamāna-e-fatrat se pahle hu'ī ho, aur un kī sar-kashī aur kufr zamāna-e-fatrat mein baḥhī ho, jis par sayl-e-'arim kā 'aẓāb zamāna-e-fatrat mein un par bhejā gayā ho (Wallāhu a'lam).

"wa hal nujāzī illa-l-kafūr" — "kafūr", kufr kā ṣīgha-e-mubāligha hai, jis ke ma'nī

hain bahut bahut kufr karne wālā; aur āyat ke ma‘nī yih hu'e ki "ham bahut bahut kufr karne wāle ke siwā kisī ko sazā nahīn dete."

Yih ba-zāhir un tamām āyāt-e-Qur‘ān aur aḥādīṣ-e-ṣaḥīḥa ke khilāf hai, jin se ṣābit hai ki Musalmān gunāhgāroṅ ko bhī jahannam kī sazā un ke ‘amal ke muṭābiq dī jā‘e gī, agarcheh ākhir-kār sazā bhugatne ke ba‘d woh īmān kī wajh se jahannam se nikāl kar jannat mein dākhil kar diye jā‘en ge.

Is ishkāl ke jawāb mein ba‘ṣ ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā ki murād yahān muṭlaq ‘aẓāb nahīn, balki aisā ‘aẓāb-e-‘ām jaisā qaum-e-Saba’ par bhejā gayā, yih kāfiroṅ ke sāth makhṣūṣ hai; Musalmān gunāhgāroṅ par aisā ‘aẓāb nahīn ātā (Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī).

Is kī ta‘īd ek Tābi‘ī Ibn Khairā ke qaul se bhī hotī hai. Unhoṅ ne farmāyā:

PDF PAGE 286 · [Q 34:17-19] · ...difficulty arises in pleasure — Ibn Khairā: whenever he gets a lawful pleasure, some cause arises that spoils it (Ibn Kaṣīr). So a sinful believer's punishments in this world are of this kind; no open punishment comes on him from sky or earth — that is special to disbelievers. · Ḥasan al-Baṣrī: "ṣadaqa-llāhu-l-‘aẓīm; lā yu‘āqab bi-miṣli fī ‘lihī illa-l-kafūr" — Allāh spoke truly that none but the kafūr is punished to the full measure of his evil deed (Ibn Kaṣīr); a non-kafūr (a believer) is given some relief even in his sins. · Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī, from al-Kashshāf: in Allāh's speech punishment as punishment is only for the disbeliever; the affliction of fire etc. given to a sinful believer is only in the form of punishment — in reality it is meant to purify him of sin, as gold is put in the furnace and heated to remove its dross. So when a believer is cast into Hell for some sin, it is so that the parts of his body formed from ḥarām should burn away; when that is done, he becomes fit for Jannat, and is then taken out of Hell and admitted to Jannat. · "wa ja‘alnā bainahum wa baina-l-qura-llatī bāraknā fīhā quran zāhiratan wa qaddarnā fīhā-s-sair" — another ni‘ma on the people of Saba’, and their ingratitude and folly in themselves praying and longing for this ni‘ma to be changed. "al-qura-llatī bāraknā" apparently = the villages of Shām, the land the Qur‘ān repeatedly names for the descent of raḥma. The point: between the towns Allāh had blessed (Shām) and these people, who often had to travel to Shām for trade — a long distance from Ma‘ārib over rough country — Allāh set villages at short intervals all the way, on the roadside; hence "quran zāhira" (towns in view). Their benefit: a traveller wanting to rest or eat at midday could easily reach some village and...

... dushwārī paidā ho jā' e. Jis kā maṭlab Ibn Khaira ne yih bayān farmāyā ki jab is ko koī ḥalāl lazzat naṣīb hotī hai to koī na koī aisā sabab paidā ho jātā hai jo us lazzat ko mukaddar kar detā hai (Ibn Kaṣīr). Ma' lūm hu'a ki mu' min gunāhgār kī sazā' en dunyā mein is qism kī hotī hain; is par āsmān yā zamīn se koī khulā ' azāb nahīn ātā — yih kuffār hī ke sāth makhṣūṣ hai.

Aur Ḥaḍrat Ḥasan Baṣrī ne farmāyā: "ṣadaqa-llāhu-l- ' aẓīm; lā yu' āqab bi-misli fi' lihī illa-l-kafūr" — ya' nī Allāh ta' ālā ne sach farmāyā ki bure ' amal kī sazā us ke barābar ba-juz kafūr ke kisī ko nahīn dī jātī (Ibn Kaṣīr); kyūnki ghair-kafūr — ya' nī mu' min — ko us ke gunāhoṅ mein bhī kuchh chhūṭ dī jātī hai.

Aur Rūḥ al-Ma' ānī mein ba-ḥawāla-e-Kashshāf is āyat ke mafhūm kī taujīh yih kī hai ki Ḥaqq ta' ālā kī kalām mein yih hai ki sazā ba-ṭaur sazā ke to ṣirf kāfir ko dī jātī hai; aur mu' min gunāhgār ko jo taklīf āg waghaira kī dī jātī hai, woh ṣirf ṣūrat sazā kī hotī hai, dar-ḥaqīqat us ko gunāh se pāk karnā maqṣūd hotā hai — jaise sone ko bhaṭṭī mein ḍāl kar tapāne se us kā mail dūr karnā maqṣūd hotā hai. Isī tarāḥ mu' min ko bhī jab kisī gunāh kī pādāsh mein jahannam mein ḍāl diyā gayā to is li'e ki us ke badan ke woh ajzā jal jā' en jo ḥarām se paidā hu'e hain; aur jab yih ho chukā hai to woh jannat mein jāne ke qābil ho jātā hai, us waqt jahannam se nikāl kar jannat mein dākhil kar diyā jātā hai.

"wa ja' alnā bainahum wa baina-l-qura-llatī bāraknā fihā quran ṣāhiratan wa qaddarnā fihā-s-sair ... al-āyah" — is āyat mein ahl-e-Saba' par Allāh ta' ālā kī ek aur ni' mat kā, aur is par ahl-e-Saba' kī nā-shukrī aur nā-dānī kā zikr hai ki unhoṅ ne khud is ni' mat ko badal kar shiddat kī du' ā aur tamannā kī.

"al-qura-llatī bāraknā" se murād ba-ṣāhir mulk-e-Shām ke diḥāt hain, kyūnki Allāh ta' ālā kī ṭaraf se nuzūl-e-raḥmat kā zikr muta' addid āyāt mein mulk-e-Shām hī ke li'e āyā hai. Aur maṭlab āyat kā yih hai ki jin bastiyōṅ ko Allāh ta' ālā ne ṣāhib-e-barkat banāyā thā — ya' nī mulk-e-Shām kī bastiyān — aur in logoṅ ko apnī tijārat waghaira ke li'e mulk-e-Shām kā safar akṣar karnā paṛtā thā. ' Ām dunyā ke ḥālāt ke muṭābiq shahr Ma' ārib se mulk-e-Shām kā ṭawīl fāṣla hai, rāste hamwār nahīn; Allāh ta' ālā ne qaum-e-Saba' par yih in' ām farmāyā ki un ke shahr Ma' ārib se le kar mulk-e-Shām tak thoṛe thoṛe fāṣle par bastiyān banā dī thīn; yih bastiyān lab-e-sarāk thīn. Is li'e in ko "quran ṣāhira" farmāyā. In musalsal bastiyōṅ kā fā'ida yih thā ki un kā musāfir ghar se nikal kar do pahar mein ārām karnā yā khānā khānā chāhtā to āsānī se kisī bastī mein pahuñch kar ma' mūl ke muṭābiq ... PDF PAGE 287 · [Q 34:18-19] · Ma' ārif (cont.): "qaddarnā fihā-s-sair" — the villages were set at balanced, equal distances so one was reached from the next within a fixed time. "sīrū fihā layāliya wa ayyāman āminīn" — a third ni' ma: no variation in the stretch to cover, all roads safe (no robber passed there), travel possible any hour, night or day, free of care. · v.19: "fa-qālū rabbanā bā'id baina asfārinā" — the wrongdoers, un-valuing and ungrateful for the ni'ma of effortless travel, themselves prayed for distances between their journeys — like the Banī Isrā'īl who tired of mann wa salwā and asked for herbs. So the sayl-e-'arim punishment was set on them; its final result — they were so ruined that only tales of their 'aish and wealth remained, and they became a legend. · "mazzaqnāhum" (from tamzīq, to tear to shreds): the people of Ma'ārib — some perished, some scattered so their fragments spread through various lands; "tafarraqū aidī Sabā" became an Arab proverb. · Ibn Kaṣīr etc. relate a long story of a kāhin who foreknew the flood.

"sīrū fiḥa layāliya wa ayyāman āminīn" — yih ek tīsri ni'mat kā zikr hai jo qaum-e-Saba' par mabzūl hotī thī: ki us kī bastiyān aisī musāwī aur mutawāzin fāṣloñ par thīn ki qaṭa'-e-masāfat mein kamī beshī nah hotī thī, aur rāste sab ma'mūn the, kisī chor ḍākū kā wahān guzar nah thā — rāt din mein har waqt be-fikr safar kiyā jā saktā thā.

"fa-qālū rabbanā bā'id baina asfārinā wa ṣalamū anfusahum fa-ja'alnāhum aḥādīṣa wa mazzaqnāhum kulla mumazzaq" — ya'nī un ṣālimoñ ne Allāh ta'ālā kī is ni'mat kī — ki safar kī taklīf hī nah rahe — nā-qadrī aur nā-shukrī kar ke khud yih du'ā māngī ki hamāre safar mein bu'd paidā kar de, qarīb qarīb ke gā'oñ nah raheñ, jangal bayābān āteñ jin mein kuchh miḥnat mashaqqat bhī uṭhānī paṛe. Un kī miṣāl wuhī hai jo Banī Isrā'īl kī thī ki be-miḥnat bahtarīn rizq "mann wa salwā" un ko miltā thā, is se uktā kar Allāh se yih māngā ki us ke bajā'e hameñ sabzī tarkārī de dījiye; Ḥaqq ta'ālā ne un kī nā-shukrī aur ni'mat kī be-qadrī par woh sazā jāri farmā'ī jo āge "sayl-e-'arim" ke 'unwān se mazkūr ho'ī.

Isī kā ākhirī natīja is āyat mein yih bayān farmāyā ki un ko aisā tabāh o barbād kiyā ki dunyā mein un ke 'aish o 'ishrat aur daulat wa ni'mat ke qīṣṣe hī rah ga'e, aur yih log afsāna bin ga'e.

"mazzaqnāhum" — "tamzīq" se mushtaq hai, jis ke ma'nī ṭukre ṭukre aur pāra pāra karne ke hain. Murād yih hai ki us maqām — shahr Ma'ārib — ke basne wāle kuchh halāk ho ga'e, kuchh aise muntashir ho'e ki un ke ṭukre mukhtalif mulkoñ mein phail ga'e. 'Arab mein qaum-e-Saba' kī tabāhī aur muntashir honā ek ṣarb al-miṣl ban gayā; aise mawāqī' mein 'Arab kā muḥāwara hai "tafarraqū aidī Sabā" — ya'nī yih log aise

So Azd went to ‘Umān; Ghassān to Buṣrā; Aws, Khazraj and Banū ‘Uṣmān set out for Yaṣrib Zāt al-Nakhl — Banū ‘Uṣmān stopped at Baṭn-e-Murr (near Makka) and stayed, whence their name "Khuzā‘a"; Aws and Khazraj settled at Yaṣrib. (Ibn Kaṣīr, bi-sanad Sa‘īd ‘an Qatāda ‘an al-Sha‘bī.) · "inna fī zālīka la-āyātīn li-kulli ṣabbārin shakūr" — in Saba's rise and fall is a great sign for one who is very patient and very grateful: patient in affliction, thankful in ni‘ma — so he profits in every state, as in the Ṣaḥīḥain ḥadīth of Abū Huraira raḍiyallāhu ‘anhū ("the believer's affair is wonderful..."). Some read "ṣabbār" in the general sense of ṣabr (steadfastness in ṭā‘a, abstaining from ma‘āṣī) — on which the believer always joins ṣabr and shukr, each being the other. Wallāhu a‘lam.

... ikhtiyār kar ke maḥfūz maqām kā irāda karen, woh ‘Umān chale jā‘en; aur jo log sharāb aur khamīrī roṭī aur phal waghaira chāheñ woh mulk-e-Shām ke maqām Buṣrā mein chale jā‘en; aur jo log aisī sawāriyāñ chāheñ jo kīchaṛ mein ṣābit-qadam raheñ, aur qaḥṭ ke zamāne mein kām ā‘en, aur jaldī safar kī zarūrat ke waqt sāth deñ, to woh Yaṣrib (Madīna Munawwara) chale jā‘en jis mein khajūr kaṣrat se hai.

Ibn Kaṣīr mein ṭawīl qīṣṣa ke ba‘d logoñ ke mutafarriq maqāmāt mein muntashir ho jāne kī yihī tafṣīl bi-sanad Sa‘īd ‘an Qatāda ‘an al-Sha‘bī naql kar ke farmāyā ki is ṭarah yih qaum-e-Saba’ ṭukṛe ṭukṛe ho ga‘ī, jis kā zikr "wa mazzaqnāhum kulla mumazzaq" mein āyā hai.

"inna fī zālika la-āyātīn li-kulli šabbārin shakūr" — ya'nī qaum-e-Saba' ke 'urūj o nuzūl, aur un ke aḥwāl ke inqilāb mein baṭī nishānī aur 'ibrat hai — us shakhṣ ke li'e jo bahut ṣabr karne wālā aur bahut shukr karne wālā ho. Ya'nī koī muṣībat o taklīf pesh ā'e to us par ṣabr kare, aur koī ni'mat o rāḥat ḥāṣil ho to us par Allāh kā shukr kare; is ṭarāḥ woh zindagī ke har ḥāl mein naf' hī naf' kamātā hai — jaisā ki Ṣaḥīḥain mein Ḥaḍrat Abū Huraira (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) kī ḥadīṣ hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki mu'min kā ḥāl 'ajīb hai, ki us ke muta'alliq Allāh ta'ālā jo kuchh bhī taqḍīrī ḥukm nāfiz farmāte haiñ sab khair hī khair aur naf' hī naf' hotā hai: ki agar us ko koī ni'mat o rāḥat, aur us kī khushī kī chīz ḥāṣil hotī hai to yih Allāh kā shukr adā kartā hai — woh us kī ākhirat ke li'e khair aur naf' ban jātā hai; aur agar koī taklīf o muṣībat pesh ā jā'e to woh us par ṣabr kartā hai — jis kā us ko bahut baṭā ajr o ṣawāb miltā hai; is ṭarāḥ yih muṣībat bhī us ke li'e khair aur naf' ban jātī hai (Dar Ibn Kaṣīr).

Aur ba'z ḥaḍrāt mufasssīrīn ne lafz "ṣabbār" ko ṣabr ke 'ām ma'nī mein liyā hai, jis mein ṭā'at par ṣābit-qadam rahnā aur ma'āṣī se parhez karnā bhī dākhil hai. Is tafsīr par mu'min har ḥāl mein ṣabr o shukr kā jāmi' rahtā hai, aur har ṣabr shukr hai aur har shukr ṣabr bhī hai. Wallāhu a'lam.

Iblīs's hold over them is nothing but the ighwā allowed so that, outwardly, the believers in the ākhira are distinguished from those in doubt — i.e. a test, so that mu'min and kāfir are told apart and reward and punishment run by justice and ḥikma. And since your Lord watches over everything (including people's īmān and kufr), each gets his fitting requital.

Even those with real capacity AND acceptance (the angels) do not intercede at will, only for one Allāh permits, and even then only with difficulty — overwhelmed by His haiba and jalāl. When a general command or an order to intercede reaches them they are stunned by awe; when it lifts they consider it, verify among themselves what was said, then carry it out. How then can self-carved stone idols, with neither capacity nor acceptance, intercede for anyone? · This is the state described in the next āyah — "ḥattā izā fuzzi'a 'an qulūbihim...".

PDF PAGE 293 · [Q 34:24-27] · Ma‘ārif (cont.): when the awe leaves the angels' hearts they ask "what did your Lord say?" — "such-and-such a true command" (al-ḥadīṡ). And Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim (Ibn ‘Abbās raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu, from a ṣaḥābī): when Allāh gives a command the bearers of the ‘Arsh begin tasbīḥ; the angels of the nearest heaven hear and take it up, then the next heaven, down to the samā‘-e-dunyā; then those near the ‘Arsh are asked "what did your Lord say?" and it passes down, heaven asking heaven, to the samā‘-e-dunyā (Maḏharī). · Boxed: "wa innā aw iyyākum la-‘alā ḥudan aw fī ḍalālin mubīn" — addressed to the mushrik kuffār; the clear proofs of Allāh's being Creator, Owner and absolutely Powerful, and the idols' helplessness, have been shown. · The wise wording here (not calling them plainly "astray", but "one of us is on truth, the other in error — judge for yourselves") is an important hidāyat-nāma for da‘wat, tabliḡh and debate: it avoids provoking the opponent and adopts a kindly frame that compels even the hard-hearted to reflect — the method of "muḡādala bi’llatī hiya aḥsan" (Qurṭubī, Bayān al-Qur’ān). Neglecting it makes da‘wat and debate ineffective, even harmful — opponents dig in and their error hardens.

... jab un ke dilon se ghabrāḥaṭ aur haibat wa jalāl kā woh aṣar dūr hotā jātā hai to woh kahte haiñ: tumhāre Rab ne kyā farmāyā? Dūsre kahte haiñ ki falān ḥukm-e-ḥaqq irshād farmāyā hai — al-ḥadīṡ.

Aur Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim meñ hai ki Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) kisī ṣaḥābī se yih riwāyat karte haiñ ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki hamārā Rab, tabāraka ismuhū, jab koī ḥukm detā hai to ‘arsh ke uṭḥāne wāle firishte tasbīḥ karne lagte haiñ; un kī tasbīḥ ko sun kar un ke qarīb wāle āsmān ke firishte tasbīḥ parḥne lagte haiñ; phir un kī tasbīḥ ko sun kar us se nīche wāle āsmān ke firishte tasbīḥ parḥne lagte haiñ; yahān tak ki yih naubat samā‘-e-dunyā (nīche ke āsmān) tak pahunch jātī hai — aur sab āsmānon ke firishte tasbīḥ meñ mashghūl ho jāte haiñ.

Phir woh firishte jo ḥamla-e-‘arsh ke qarīb haiñ, un se pūchhte haiñ ki āp ke Rab ne kyā farmāyā? Woh batlā dete haiñ; phir isī ṭarah un se nīche ke āsmān wāle ūpar wālon se yih sawāl karte haiñ, yahān tak ki yih sawāl o jawāb kā silsila samā‘-e-dunyā tak pahunch jātā hai — al-ḥadīṡ (Dar Maḏharī).

Dalā’ il-e-wāḍiḥa se Allāh ta‘ālā kā khāliq wa mālik honā, aur qādir o muṭlaq honā wāḍiḥ kar diyā gayā; buton aur ghair-Allāh kī be-basī aur kamzorī kā mushāhada karā diyā gayā.

In sab bāton ke ba‘d mauqī‘ is kā thā ki mushrikīn ko khiṭāb kar ke kahā jātā ki tum jāhil aur gumrāh ho, jo Khudā ta‘ālā ko chhoṛ kar buton aur shayāṭīn kī parastish karte ho. Magar Qur‘ān-e-Ḥakīm ne is jagah jo ḥikmāna ‘unwān ikhtiyār farmāyā hai woh da‘wat wa tablīgh, aur mukhālīfīn-e-Islām aur ahl-e-bāṭil se baḥs wa munāzara karne wālon ke li‘e ek aham hidāyat-nāma hai: ki is āyat meṁ un ko ṣarīḥ "gumrāh" kahne ke bajā‘e yih ‘unwān rakhā ki in dalā’ il-e-wāḍiḥa kī roshnī meṁ yih to koī samajh-dār ādmī kah nahīn saktā ki tauḥīd wa shirk donoṁ bāteṁ ḥaqq haiṁ, aur ahl-e-tauḥīd aur mushrik donoṁ ḥaqq-parast haiṁ; balki yaqīnī hai ki in donoṁ meṁ se ek ḥaqq par, dūsrā gumrāhī par hai. "kāffatan li-n-nās": "kāffatan" (all-inclusive, none excepted) is grammatically a ḥāl of "nās" and would ordinarily follow it, but is placed first to stress the generality of the mission. Prophets before the Prophet ﷺ were sent to a particular people and land; his special faẓīla is that his nubūwwa is for the whole world — not only humans but jinn too — and not only his contemporaries but every human generation to qiyāmat. Its lasting and continuous force to qiyāmat itself requires that he be Khātam al-Nabiyyīn.

These kuffār talk big in the world: "we will never believe in this Qurʾān nor the earlier scriptures — all this long talk will be over." If you could see them standing before their Lord — a horrifying scene — each casting the blame on the other, as happens when a matter goes wrong. The lowly ones (the followers) say to the great ones (the leaders): "we were ruined because of you; but for you we would have believed." The great ones reply: "did we forcibly bar you from acting on the guidance after it reached you? No — you yourselves are at fault, refusing the truth after it was clear; now you blame us." The lowly ones: "we do not say you forced us — rather your scheming night and day, when you kept demanding that we disbelieve in Allāh and set up rivals" (scheming = both enticement and intimidation). Each blames the other, yet each knows his own fault inwardly; they hide the regret from one another as they see the punishment — lest loss be joined by a neighbour's gloating — but in the end the severity strips away even that restraint. And the shared punishment: We put shackles on the disbelievers' necks (and chains on hands and feet, then bound and flung into Jahannam) — recompense only for what they did.

Do not grieve; refute them: the measure of ample provision is not acceptance with Allāh but sheer mashiyya — He gives more to whom He wills and less to whom He wills, with ḡikma; most do not know it rests on other maṣlaḡats, not on qabūliyyat. Your wealth and children are not what bring you near to Us in station — neither an effective means nor a cause of nearness; nearness does not rest on wealth/children, nor they on nearness. The coastal partner left his trade, came to Makka, went to the Prophet ﷺ, asked what he called to, and on hearing the da'wat-e-Islām said "ashhadu annaka rasūlu-llāh". Asked how he knew, he said: reason grasped the truth of the da'wa, and its sign — that all earlier prophets' first followers were the poor, weak, low-status of the people. On this v.34 came down. · "mutrafūhā" from "taraf" (abundance of ease and blessing); "mutrafīn" = the rich, wealthy, chiefs of a people. v.34: every rasūl was met with kufr and denial by those reared in wealth's intoxication. v.35: "naḥnu akṣaru amwālan wa awlādan wa mā naḥnu bi-mu'azzabīn" — "we have more wealth and children, so we cannot be punished" (implying: if we deserved punishment with Allāh, why would He give us such wealth and honour?). vv.36-37 answer: excess or lack of wealth/honour is no proof of acceptance or rejection with Allāh; by takwīnī maṣāliḥ He gives more to whom He wills and less to whom He wills.

... phir in meñ se ek yih jagah chhoṛ kar kisī sāhilī 'alāqe meñ chalā gayā. Is par Makkī sāthī ne jawāb likhā ki Quraysh meñ se koī bhī un kā tābi' nahīn hu'ā, širf gharīb miskīn be-ḥaiṣiyyat log un ke pīchhe lag ga'e haiñ. Sāhilī sāthī wahāñ kī apnī tijārat chhoṛ kar Makka Mukarrama āyā, aur apne sāthī se kahā ki mujhe un kā pata batlā'o jo nubuwwat kā da'wā karte haiñ. Yih sāhilī sāthī kuchh kutub-e-qadīma Taurāt wa Injīl waghaira kā muṭāla'a kiyā kartā thā; Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī khidmat meñ ḥāẓir hu'ā, aur daryāft kiyā ki āp kis kis chīz kī ṭaraf da'wat dete haiñ? Āp ne apnī da'wat-e-Islām ke aham ajzā' kā zikr farmāyā. Da'wat-e-Islām ko āp kī zabān-e-mubārak se sunte hī us ne kahā "ashhadu annaka rasūlu-llāh" — ya'nī main shahādat detā hūñ ki āp be-shakk Allāh ke rasūl haiñ.

Āp ne us se pūchhā ki āp ko yih kaise ma'lūm hu'ā? Us ne 'arṣ kiyā ki āp kī da'wat kā ḥaqq honā to 'aql se samjhā, aur us kī 'alāmat yih dekhī ki jitne Anbiyā 'alaihimu-s-salām pahle ā'e haiñ, sab ke mānne wāle ibtidā meñ qaum ke gharīb wa faqīr, dunyā meñ kam-ḥaiṣiyyat log hu'e haiñ. Is par yih mazkūra āyat nāzil hu'ī: "mā arsalnā fī qaryatin min naẓīrin illā qāla mutrafūhā" — al-āyah (Dar Ibn Kaṣīr wa Mazḥarī).

Qur'ān-e-Karīm ne madhkūra āyāt meñ se pahlī āyat meñ farmāyā hai ki jab kabhī ham ne koī rasūl bhejā to har māl o daulat ke nashe, aur nāz o ni' mat meñ pale hu'e logoñ ne is kā muqābla kufr wa inkār hī se kiyā hai.

PDF PAGE 301 · [Q 34:34-38] · Ma'ārif (cont.): taking abundance of wealth and children as proof of acceptance with Allāh is jahālat — acceptance rests only on īmān and 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ. The same theme in other āyāt: "yaḥsabūna annamā numidduhum bihī min mālin wa banīna nusāri' u lahum fi-l-khairāt; bal lā yash' urūn" — do they think the wealth and sons We extend to them are good for their end? No — they are heedless of the reality (such wealth/children that turn a man from Allāh are a wabāl for him). And "fa-lā tu' jibka amwālukum wa lā awlādukum innamā yurīdu-llāhu li-yu' azzibahum bihā fi-l-ḥayāti-d-dunyā wa tazhaqa anfusuhum wa hum kāfirūn" — He wills to punish them through the very wealth and children in this life, and that their souls leave in kufr, ending in the eternal punishment; punishment through wealth = they sink so deep in love of it that they never turn to their end, or to Allāh and the ākhira. Many wealth-and-children people bear a thousand griefs for that very wealth and children — their punishment begins in this world. · Abū Huraira raḍiyallāhu ' anhu: "Allāh does not look at your forms or your wealth; He looks at your hearts and your deeds" (Aḥmad, Ibn Kaṣīr). · "jazā' u-ḍ-ḍi' fi" — the believers' recompense multiplied: as the wealthy keep multiplying their wealth, Allāh multiplies the reward of their deeds — tenfold, and by ikhlāṣ and other causes up to seven-hundredfold.

... ko wuhī jāntā hai; magar māl o aulād kī bahutāt ko Allāh ke nazdīk maqbūliyyat kī dalīl samajhnā jahālat hai, kyūnki us ke nazdīk maqbūliyyat kā madār širf īmān aur ‘amal-e-šālīḥ par hai; jab kuchh yih ḥāṣil nahīn, to māl wa aulād kitnā hī ziyāda ho, woh us ko Allāh ke nazdīk maqbūl nahīn banā saktā.

Isī mazmūn ko Qur’ān-e-Karīm ne muta‘addid āyāt meṁ bayān farmāyā hai. Ek jagah irshād hai — "yaḥsabūna annamā numidduhum bihī min mālin wa banīna nusārī‘u lahum fi-l-khairāt; bal lā yash‘urūn" — ya‘nī kyā yih log samajhte haiṁ ki ham jo māl aur aulād kī bahutāt se un kī imdād karte haiṁ, yih kuchh un ke li‘e anjām wa ākhirat ke i‘tibār se khair hai? Hargiz nahīn, balki yih log ḥaqīqat se be-khabar haiṁ (balki yih māl wa aulād jo insān ko Allāh se ghāfil kare, woh us ke li‘e wabāl hai).

Māl wa aulād ke zarī‘e dunyā meṁ ‘azāb dene kā maṭlab yih hai ki woh dunyā meṁ māl o daulat kī muḥabbat meṁ aise mubtalā ho jā‘eṁ ki apne anjām, aur Khudā aur ākhirat kī ṭaraf kabhī iltifāt na ho — jis kā anjām dā‘imī ‘azāb hai. Aur bahut se māl wa aulād wāloṁ ko is dunyā meṁ bhī māl wa aulād hī kī khāṭir, balki apnī hazāron maṣā‘ib wa takālīf jhelte paṭṭī haiṁ; un kī sazā o ‘azāb to isī ‘ālam se shurū‘ ho jātā hai.

"ghurfā" — the part of a house held higher / more distinguished than the rest (al-Munzirī). · v.39: "qul inna rabbī yabsuṭu-r-rizqa li-man yashā'u min 'ibādihī wa yaqdiru lah; wa mā anfaqtum min shay'in fa-huwa yukhlifuh; wa huwa khairu-r-rāziqīn" — say: my Lord expands provision for whom He wills of His servants and restricts it; and whatever you spend, He replaces it; and He is the best of providers. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: withholding does not increase rizq, nor does spending per the sharī'a decrease it; so do not fix your heart on wealth — spend freely wherever Allāh's rights and your dependants' and the poor's are due; the appointed rizq will not diminish, and the ākhira profit is sure, and often in this world too. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: this āyah repeats the earlier "qul inna rabbī yabsuṭu-r-rizqa..." but with two additions — "min 'ibādihī" after "man yashā'u", and "lah" after "yaqdiru". "Min 'ibādihī" shows the command is for His special servants — the believers: no believer should be so lost in love of wealth as to hold back Allāh's stated rights.

PDF PAGE 303 · [Q 34:39] · Ma'ārif (cont.): the earlier āyah of the same theme addressed the mushrik kuffār boasting of wealth and children as proof of their success; here the addressees and aim differ, so it is not mere repetition — the Khulāṣa flagged this by adding "mu'minīn". · Another view of the difference: the earlier āyah spoke of the distribution of rizq among different people (Allāh by His ḥikma gives one more, another less); this āyah, of the varying states of one person (sometimes given abundance, sometimes straitness) — the added "lah" after "yaqdiru" points to this. · "wa mā anfaqtum min shay'in fa-huwa yukhlifuh" — whatever you spend, Allāh replaces from His unseen treasury, sometimes in this world, sometimes in the ākhira, sometimes both. Seen throughout creation: rain descends and is spent freely, yet more comes; well-water drawn is replenished; food is consumed and replaced; body parts spent in motion and labour are renewed (badal-mā-taḥallal). His general way is to give the like in place of what is spent — an occasional exception for punishment or another takwīnī maṣlaḥa does not contradict this rule. · Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim (Abū Huraira raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): each morning two angels descend, one praying "Allāhumma a'ṭi munfiqan khalaḥā", the other "wa a'ṭi mumsikan talafā" — grant the spender a replacement, and lay waste the withholder's wealth.

Lafz "lah" jo is āyat meñ "yaqdiru" ke ba'd āyā hai, us meñ isī taraf ishāra hai. Is taqrīr ke muṭābiq bhī takrār na rahā, balki pahlī āyat mukhtalif afrād ke muta'alliq, aur yih āyat ek hī fard ke mukhtalif aḥwāl ke muta'alliq ho ga'ī.

"wa mā anfaqtum min shay'in fa-huwa yukhlifuh" — is āyat ke lafzī ma'nī yih haiñ ki tum jo chīz bhī kharch karte ho, Allāh ta'ālā apne khazāna-e-ghaib se tumheñ us kā badal de dete haiñ — kabhī dunyā meñ, kabhī ākhirat meñ, aur kabhī donoñ meñ.

Kā'ināt-e-ālam kī tamām chīzoñ meñ is kā mushāhada hotā hai ki āsmān se pānī nāzil hotā hai, insān aur jānwar us ko be-dhaṛak kharch karte rahte haiñ, khetiyōñ aur darakhtoñ ko sīrāb karte haiñ — woh pānī khatm nahīn hotā, taa ki dūsrā us kī jagah aur nāzil ho jātā hai. PDF PAGE 304 · [Q 34:39] · Ḥaḍīth (cont.): Allāh said, "spend, and I will spend on you." ·

Jābir raḍiyallāhu 'anhu (al-Dāraqutnī): every good deed is ṣadaqa; spending on oneself or one's family counts as ṣadaqa and earns reward; spending to guard one's honour is ṣadaqa; and for spending per Allāh's command, He has taken on Himself to give a replacement — but there is no promise of replacement for wasteful, over-needed building, or spending on sin. Ibn al-Munkadir asked Jābir raḍiyallāhu 'anhu what "spending to guard honour" meant: giving to one feared to be about to fault-find, defame or backbite you, to protect your honour (Qurṭubī). · Boxed: no promise of replacement for un-shar'ī spending. · From the āyah's ishāra: the things Allāh created only for man and animals — their replacement keeps being produced by Allāh as they are consumed; the more a thing is used, the more Allāh increases its yield; the less used, the less produced. Among animals goats and cattle are consumed most (slaughtered for meat, and in qurbānī, kaffārāt, jināyāt) — and their yield is increased most: despite always being under the knife their numbers exceed those of cats and dogs, though cats/dogs breed more (4–5 per litter vs 1–2 for cattle/goats) and are never slaughtered. Since India restricted cow-slaughter, cow-yield there fell in the same proportion — otherwise every home would be full of the cattle spared. Since the Arabs reduced using camels for riding and transport...

... ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki Allāh ta‘ālā ne mujh se irshād farmāyā hai ki "āp log kharch karen, main āp par kharch karūn gā."

Ḥaḍrat Jābir (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) kī ḥadīṣ hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki nek kām ṣadaqa hai; aur koī ādmī jo apne nafs yā apne ‘iyāl par kharch kartā hai woh bhī ṣadaqa ke ḥukm meñ hai, mūjib-e-ṣawāb hai; aur jo shakhṣ kuchh kharch kar ke apnī ābrū bachā‘e woh bhī ṣadaqa hai. Aur jo shakhṣ Allāh ke ḥukm ke muṭābiq kuchh kharch kartā hai to Allāh ta‘ālā ne apne zimme liyā hai ki us kā badal us ko de gā; magar woh kharch jo faḍūl, zā‘id az-ḡarūrat ta‘mīr meñ yā kisī gunāh ke kām meñ kiyā hu‘ā ho — us ke badal kā wa‘da nahīn.

Ḥaḍrat Jābir ke shāgird Ibn al-Munkadir ne yih ḥadīṣ sun kar un se pūchhā ki ābrū bachāne ke li‘e kharch kā kyā maṭlab hai? Unhon ne farmāyā ki jis shakhṣ ke muta‘alliq yih khayāl ho ki woh koī ‘aib-jo‘ī kare gā, burā kahtā phire gā yā bad-go‘ī kare gā — us ko apnī ābrū bachāne ke li‘e denā murād hai (rawāhu al-Dāraqutnī, Qurṭubī).

———— Jo kharch sharī‘at ke muṭābiq na ho, Rasūlullāh ﷺ us ke badal kā wa‘da nahīn ————

Us āyat ke ishāra se yih bhī ma‘lūm hu‘ā ki Allāh ta‘ālā ne jo ashyā‘ šīrf insān aur ḥaiwānāt ke li‘e paidā farmā‘ī haiñ, jab tak woh kharch hotī rahtī haiñ un kā badal min-jānib Allāh paidā hotā rahtā hai; jis chīz kā kharch ziyāda hotā hai, Allāh ta‘ālā us kī paidāwār bhī baṛhā dete haiñ; jis chīz kā kharch ghaṭ jātā hai, us kī paidāwār bhī ghaṭ jātī hai.

Jānwaron meñ bakre aur gā‘e kā sab se ziyāda kharch hai — ki un ko ḡibḡ kar ke gosht khāyā jātā hai, aur sharī‘at qurbāniyon aur kaffārāt wa jināyāt meñ un ko ḡibḡ kiyā jātā hai; woh jitne ziyāda kām āte haiñ Allāh ta‘ālā utnī hī ziyāda un kī paidāwār baṛhā dete haiñ. Jis kā har jagah mushāhada hotā hai ki bakron kī ta‘dād, har waqt chhurī ke nīche rahne ke bāwujūd, dunyā meñ ziyāda hī hai; kutte billī kī ta‘dād itnī nahīn — ḥālāñki kutte billī kī nasl bi-ḡāhir har ziyāda honī chāhiye, ki woh ek hī peṭ se chār pāñch bachche tak paidā karte haiñ, gā‘e bakrī se ziyāda dū dū bachche detī hai; gā‘e bakrī har waqt ḡibḡ hotī rahtī hai, kutte, billī ko koī chhurī hāth nahīn lagātā — magar phir yih mushāhada nā-qābil-e-inkār hai ki dunyā meñ gā‘e aur bakron kī ta‘dād ba-nisbat kutte billī ke ziyāda hai. The meaning: did they worship you with your consent? PDF PAGE 306 · [Q 34:42-44] · Khulāṣa (end): both command and consent are denied — "we never told them, nor were we pleased with their act; we are Your obedient servants, displeased at what displeases You, like shirk. So in this shirk there is neither our command nor our consent — they were not really worshipping us, but the shayāṭīn, who prompted it and were pleased with it; so the shayāṭīn are their real ma‘būd." Because ‘ibāda entails absolute obedience (obeying none else before Him), and such obedience entails ‘ibāda: since our command/consent is absent, they did not obey us; and since they gave the shayāṭīn absolute obedience, the ‘ibāda was really theirs — call it worship of the angels or of idols, in reality it is worship of the shayāṭīn. Also many worshipped the jinn deliberately (Sūrat al-Jinn: "wa annahū kāna rijālun mina l-insi ya‘ūzūna bi-rijālīn mina l-jinn"). · So the disbelievers are told: today, contrary to your hopes, the very disavowal and helplessness of these show that none of you — worshippers or worshipped — holds power to benefit or harm another; "ba‘ḍukum li-ba‘ḍīn" is by way of emphasis, so their equality in incapacity is established. And We say to the wrongdoers: taste the punishment of the Fire you used to deny. · v.43: when Our clear āyāt are recited they say, "this is only a man who wants to turn you from what your forefathers worshipped"; and they say, "this is nothing but..."

And of the Qur'ān they say, "it is only an invented lie" — ascribing it to God is mere fabrication. And answering the objection — if it is an invented lie, why do so many reasonable people follow it, why is it so effective? — they say, "it is only plain magic; hearing it, people are overpowered in mind and captivated." · Yet they should have valued the Qur'ān and the Prophet ﷺ greatly, for both were unexpected ni'mats: (i) never before had they been given a scripture to study (unlike the Banī Isrā'īl) — the Qur'ān was wholly new to them; (ii) never before you had a warner been sent to them — the Prophet ﷺ too was a new blessing they had themselves wished for ("wa aqsamū bi-llāhī jahda aymānihim la'in jā'ahum nazīrun la-yakūnunna ahdā min iḥḍa-l-umam"). Still they were ungrateful ("fālam mā jā'ahum nazīrun mā zādahum illā nufūrā") and denied. PDF PAGE 309 · [Q 34:45-46] · Khulāṣa (cont.): the Arabs have not reached a tenth of what earlier peoples had — not their strength, ages or wealth, the capital of pride ("kānū ashadda minkum quwwatan wa akṣara amwālan wa awlādā"). Those earlier people denied My messenger — see how My punishment fell, disgracing them before the world. So how will these, with far less, escape? Their crime is greater (less to be proud of, yet the same denial). · Then a method of verifying prophethood (v.46): "say — I exhort you to one small thing: stand for Allāh (without ego or bias), ready — in twos here, singly there — for the aim is reflection. The rule of fikr: for some temperaments and times, meeting others strengthens one's thought; for others, thought ranges best alone; and a very large crowd usually confuses the thinking faculty — hence He confined it to this." · Then reflect as one weighs a claim: e.g. my claim that no like of the Qur'ān is possible (as in several Makkī sūrahs). Such a claim can only be made by one whose mind is deranged, ignorant of consequences — or by a prophet with full trust in the claim's truth and its being from Allāh; for a sane non-prophet would fear disgrace, since if a like were produced his claim would fall. Then, weighing all My states together, ask: have I any junūn? — observation of your companion, ever before you, whose whole life you witness, settles it: I have no junūn. One horn of the disjunction being false, the other stands: your companion is a true prophet, warning you before a severe punishment. This way, proof and verification of prophethood are very easy. (Cf. "lam ya'rifū rasūlahum".) · Next: the answer to the kuffār doubt that "he seeks only rule and power" — "say, O Muḥammad ﷺ..."

Ġharaz, in [aglī] logoñ ne mere rasūl kī takzīb kī, so dekho merā (un par) kaisā ‘azāb hu‘ā — rusvā-e-‘ālam kar diyā.

To kyā chīzeñ haiñ ki in ke pās to itnā sāmān bhī nahīn; jab is qadr ṣarwat o daulat kām na ā‘ī to yih kis dhoke meñ haiñ. Niz, jab in ke pās sāmān kam hai jo sabab-e-ghurūr hotā hai, to in kā jurm bhī ashadd hī — phir yih kaise bach jā‘eñ ge?

Yahān tak inkār-e-nubuwwat par kuffār ko tahdīd farmā kar, āge un ko taṣdīq-e-nubuwwat kā ek ṭarīqa batlāte haiñ ki "ai Muḥammad ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam! āp un se yih kah dījiye ki main tum ko ṣīrf ek bāt (muḥaqqar sī) samajhtā hūñ; jis se wāḥiḥ ho jā‘e gā — bas is ko kar lo. Is tardīd-e-ḥāṣir ke ba‘d mere majmū‘ī aḥwāl meñ ghaur kar ke yih socho ki āyā mujh ko junūn hai yā nahīn — so yih amr mushāhada se ma‘lūm ho jā‘e gā ki tumhāre is sāthī ko, jo har waqt tumhāre sāmne rahtā hai aur jis ke tamām ḥālāt tum mushāhada kiyā karte ho, junūn nahīn hai. Pas is ṭarīq se nubuwwat kā ṣubūt aur is kī taṣdīq bahut āsān hai.

upon Allāh (by His promise and faḍl), the Knower of all things — He alone will reward me as befits my state; "reward" covers both wealth and rank (riyāsat), for both substances and accidents can serve as reward. The point: I seek no worldly aim from you, no ground for the suspicion of seeking leadership. As for my reforming people's affairs, punishing wrongdoers, judging disputes — that is no ground for suspicion, since I have no aim in it; your livelihood and way of life plainly show I have gained no personal profit — the benefit is the people's own (their lives, wealth, honour kept safe). A father who, out of pure goodwill, protects and disciplines his small children has nothing to do with self-interest or seeking rule. · Prophethood proven and the local doubt removed, He builds on it (v.48): "say, O Muḥammad ﷺ — my Lord makes the truth (īmān and the establishment of the īmānī truths) prevail over falsehood (kufr and denial)" — in every debate too; He is 'allām al-ghuyūb, who knew the truth would prevail before others learned it by its occurrence, and knows its future ascendancy will grow (the Prophet ﷺ recited the next āyah at faṭḥ-e-Makka — Ibn Kaṣīr 'an al-Shaykhain). · v.49! "say — the truth has come, and falsehood originates not, nor restores" — not that the ahl-e-bāṭil will never have power, but that, as falsehood was once thought to be truth, it is now utterly exposed as void, and will stay so till near qiyāmat. · Then: salvation lies only in following [the truth] once proven — "say, O Muḥammad ﷺ — since the truth of this dīn is established..."

The real aim is to tell the listeners: with the truth so clear, if you do not follow it you stray — what do I lose? — and if you come to the path, it is by following this very dīn. So take up this dīn to be guided. And no straying or guidance passes unwatched, leaving room for carelessness — Allāh knows every state, for He is Hearing and very Near, and will requite each fittingly. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: "wa mā balaghū mi‘shāra mā ātaināhum" — "mi‘shār": some = "‘ushr" (a tenth); some = "‘ushr al-‘ushr" (a hundredth); some = a thousandth; the word carries emphasis over "‘ushr". The people of Makka had not a tenth — indeed not a thousandth — of the wealth, rule, long life, health and strength given to earlier ummats; so they should take ‘ibrat from those peoples' fate — who denied the messengers, fell into Allāh's punishment, and whose strength, wealth and strong forts availed them nothing. · Boxed: an invitation to the kuffār of Makka. "innamā a‘izukum bi-wāḥidah" — a short route to verifying the truth: do just one thing — stand for Allāh, in twos and singly. "Standing for Allāh" is not physically rising but, idiomatically, giving the matter full care; adding "li-llāh" means: to please Allāh purely, empty your mind of prior notions and creeds and seek the truth, so old ideas and deeds do not block acceptance of the truth. "Twos" or "singly" name no fixed number — reflection has two ways: alone in solitude, or after consulting friends and elders and mutual discussion. Adopt both, or whichever you prefer.

PDF PAGE 312 · [Q 34:46] · Ma'ārif (cont.): "summa tatafakkarū" is 'atf on "an taqūmū li-llāh" — the aim of the "standing" being clarified: empty your mind of all notions, ready yourself purely for Allāh, to reflect on the Prophet's ﷺ da'wa — is it truth or not — alone, or with others after consultation and sifting. ·

A clear line of reflection: a single man, with no strong band, no wealth, proclaims to his whole people — indeed the whole world — a creed rooted in them for centuries, on which they all agree. Such a proclamation is possible only two ways: (1) the speaker is utterly mad, heedless of his own gain or loss, making his whole people his enemy and inviting hardship; or (2) his claim is true — that he is a messenger sent by Allāh, caring for no one in carrying out His command. Now reflect, mind clear, which is the case: you will have no escape from the certainty that these cannot be madmen — all Makka and all Quraysh know his intellect and his character. His forty years passed among this people; from childhood to youth all his states are before them; no one ever found any word or act of his against reason, gravity, or dignity. He calls to one word — "lā ilāha illa-llāh" — and to this day no one can suppose any word or act of his contrary to reason. So it is plain he cannot be mad — stated in the next clause: "mā bi-ṣāhibikum min jinnah" — the word "ṣāhibikum" hints that of a stranger from outside, whose circumstances are unknown, one might say "he is mad"; but he is of your city, your kin, your companion day and night, whose every state is known to you, and whom you never suspected of this before. · The first option ruled out, the second stands: "in huwa illā nāzīrun lakum baina yadai 'azābin shadīd" — he is only a warner to you before a severe punishment.

"summa tatafakkarū" — is jumla kā 'atf "an taqūmū li-llāh" par hai, jis meñ qiyām ke maqṣad ko wāḥiḥ kiyā gayā hai ki sab khayālāt se khālī-al-dhihn ho kar khālīṣ Allāh ke li'e is kām ke wāṣṭe taiyār ho jā'o ki Muḥammad Muṣṭafā ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī da'wat meñ ghaur o fikr se kām lo ki yih ḥaqq hai yā nahīn — yih ghaur o fikr tanhā tanhā kar diyā, yā dūsroñ ke sāth mashwara aur baḥs o tamḥiṣ ke sāth.

Āge is ghaur o fikr kī ek wāḥiḥ rāh batlā'ī ga'ī. Woh yih ki ek akelā ādmī, jis ke sāth na koī ṭāqat-war jattā aur jamā'at hai, na māl o daulat kī bahutāt hai, woh apnī pūrī qaum — balki pūrī dunyā ke khilāf — kisī aise 'aqīde kā i'lān kare jo ṣadiyōñ se un meñ rāsikh ho chukā hai, aur woh sab is par muttafiq haiñ — aisā i'lān sirf do ṣūratōñ meñ ho saktā hai:

Ek to yih ki kahne wālā bilkul majnūn dīwāna ho, jo apne naf' nuqṣān ko na soche, aur pūrī qaum ko apnā dushman banā kar maṣā'ib ko da'wat de.

Dūsre yih ki us kī woh bāt sachchī ho — ki woh Allāh kī ṭaraf se bhejā hu'ā rasūl hai, us ke ḥukm kī ta'mīl meñ kisī kī parwā nahīn kartā.

Ab tum khālī-al-dhihn ho kar is meñ ghaur karo ki in donoñ bātoñ meñ kaun-sī bāt wāqī‘ meñ hai. Is tarīqe se ghaur karo ge to tumheñ is yaqīn ke siwā koī chāra na rahe gā ki yih dīwāne aur majnūn nahīn ho sakte — un kī ‘aql o dānish, aur kirdār o ‘amal se sārā Makka aur sab Quraysh wāqif haiñ.

In kī ‘umr ke chālīs sāl isī qaum ke darmiyān guzre; bachpan se jawānī tak ke sāre ḥālāt in ke sāmne haiñ; kabhī kisī ne in ke kisī qaul o fi‘l ko ‘aql o dānish, aur sanjīdagī o mutānat ke khilāf nahīn pāyā. Aur širf ek kalima "lā ilāha illa-llāh" ke wujūb kī yih da‘wat dete haiñ; is ke siwā āj bhī kisī ko in ke kisī qaul o fi‘l par yih gumān nahīn ho saktā ki yih ‘aql o dānish ke khilāf hai.

In ḥālāt meñ yih to zāhir ho gayā ki yih majnūn nahīn ho sakte. Isī kā iẓhār āyat ke agle jumle meñ is ṭaraḥ farmāyā: "mā bi-ṣāhibikum min jinnah" — is meñ lafz "ṣāhibikum" se is ṭaraḥ ishāra hai ki koī ajnabī musāfir bāhar se ā jā‘e, jis ke ḥālāt ma‘lūm na hoñ, us kī koī bāt pūrī qaum ke khilāf suneñ to koī kah saktā hai ki "yih dīwāna hai"; lekin yih to tumhāre shahr ke rahne wāle, tumhārī birādarī se, aur dīn rāt ke tumhāre sāthī haiñ, jin kī koī ḥālāt o kaifiyyat tum se makhfī nahīn; aur tum ne bhī kabhī is se pahle in par is ṭaraḥ kā koī shubha nahīn kiyā.

Aur jab pahlī šurat kā na honā wāziḥ ho gayā, to dūsarī šurat muta‘ayyin ho ga‘ī, jis kā zīkr āyat meñ is ṭaraḥ bayān farmāyā hai: "in huwa illā nazīrun lakum baina yadai ‘azābin shadīd" — ya‘nī āp kā ḥāl is ke siwā nahīn ki woh logon ko qiyāmat ke āne wāle ‘azāb-e-shadīd se bachā‘e.

PDF PAGE 314 · [Q 34:51-54] · Khulāṣa: when these kuffār are terrified at qiyāmat by dread and awe, there will be no way to flee, and they will be seized from close by — at once. Then they say, "we believe in this truth" — but their repentance cannot now be accepted, whether by being sent back to the world or otherwise, or from a far place: the place for īmān, being the dār al-‘amal, was the world, which is now far off; the ākhira is the realm of requital, not action. And any īmān now is not īmān bi-l-ghaib but after witnessing — assenting after witnessing is a natural act, with no aspect of obeying a command. Whereas before, in the world, they kept denying this truth — a denial with no sound basis, flinging un-verified words "from afar" (i.e. keeping far from verifying it). Now īmān has occurred to them and they wish it accepted; but since the ākhira is not the dār al-‘amal, a barrier is set between them and their wish — as with our mushrik contemporaries and those who disbelieved before. They were all in great doubt that kept them wavering. · Ma‘ārif o Masā'il: "wa ukhizū min makānin qarīb" — most: this is the state on the Day of Ḥashr — the kuffār and fujjār, terrified, wish to flee but cannot; and unlike the world, where a fugitive criminal must be searched for, all are seized right where they stand, none given a chance to escape. Some: it is the state at death — when death comes and dread overtakes them, they cannot escape the angels' hands, and their souls are seized right where they are. · "wa qālū āmannā bih; wa annā lahumu-t-tanāwushu min makānin ba‘īd" — "tanāwush" = to reach out a hand and take something; only what is not far can be so taken. The point: on that Day, the reality plain before them, the kuffār and deniers of qiyāmat will say "we believe in the Qur‘ān / in the Messenger" — not knowing the station of īmān is now far beyond them, for īmān belongs only to the world's...

Aur yahān "min makānin ba' id" ke alfāz se murād yih hai ki woh jo kuchh kahte haiṅ, woh un ke diloṅ se dūr hotā hai — dil meṅ is kā 'aqīda nahīn rakhte.

"wa ḥīla bainahum wa baina mā yashtahūn" — ya' nī in logoṅ ko jo chīz maḥbūb aur maqṣūd thī, un ke aur us chīz ke darmiyān parda ḥā' il kar ke un ko maḥrūm kar diyā gayā. Yih maẓmūn qiyāmat ke ḥāl par bhī ṣādiq hai ki qiyāmat meṅ yih log najāt aur jannat ke ṭālīb hoṅ ge, wahān tak na pahuṅch sakeṅ ge; aur dunyā meṅ waqt-e-maut par bhī ṣādiq hai ki dunyā meṅ in ko yahān kī daulat wa sāmān maqṣūd thā, maut ne un ke aur is maṭlūb ke darmiyān ḥā' il ho kar un ko is se judā kar diyā.

"kamā fu' ila bi-ashyā' ihim min qabl" — "ashyā' " "shī' a" kī jam' hai; kisī shakhs ke tābi' aur ham-khayāl ko us kā "shī' a" kahā jātā hai. Maṭlab yih hai ki jo 'azāb in ko diyā gayā — ki apne maṭlūb wa maḥbūb se maḥrūm kar diye ga' e — yihī 'azāb is se pahle inhī jaise a' māl-e-kufr karne wāloṅ ko diyā jā chukā hai; kyūṅki yih sab log shakk meṅ paṛe hu' e the — ya' nī Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kī nubuwwat, aur Qur' ān ke kalām-e-ilāhī hone par, in ko yaqīn wa īmān nahīn thā. Wallāhu subḥānahū wa ta' ālā a' lam.

PDF PAGE 317 · [Q 35:1-3] · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: all praise befits Allāh, Originator of the heavens and earth, who makes the angels message-bearers with two, three and four wings ("message" = bringing waḥy to the Anbiyā ‘alaihimu-s-salām, whether of the sharā‘i‘-e-aḥkām or mere glad tidings; the wings are not confined to four — He adds to the creation what He wills; some angels were made with six hundred wings, as in the ḥadīth about Jibra‘īl ‘alaihi-s-salām). Allāh is over all things Powerful — Powerful with none to resist Him. The mercy He opens for people (rain, plants, general rizq) none can withhold; what He withholds none can release after Him — only He can bind and loose. He is the Ghālib (qādir) and Ḥakīm (His binding and loosing are always with ḥikma). O people: as His power is complete, so His ni‘ma is complete — His favours beyond count; so remember Allāh's favours and give shukr — and that shukr is to take up tauḥīd and leave shirk. Reflect on at least His two great ni‘mats — creating the creatures, then sustaining and maintaining them: is there any creator other than Allāh who provides for you from the sky and the earth? None but He can create, nor sustain a creature with rizq. He is complete in every way — so surely none but He is worthy of worship; He alone has the right to be Ma‘būd — so how, in your shirk, are you turned away? · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: "jā‘ili-l-malā‘ikati rusulan" — the apparent sense is that the angels are sent as Allāh's envoys and messengers to the Anbiyā ‘alaihimu-s-salām, conveying His waḥy and aḥkām to them; possibly "rasūl" here means an intermediary between Allāh and His general creation...

Tamām tar ḥamd o ṣanā usī Allāh ko lā'iq hai, jo āsmānoḥ aur zamīn kā paidā karne wālā hai, jo firishtoḥ ko paighām-rasān banāne wālā hai, jin ke do do, aur tīn tīn, aur chār chār par (bāzū-dār) haiṅ. (Paighām se murād Anbiyā 'alaihimu-s-salām kī ṭaraf waḥī lānā hai — khwāh woh sharā'ī -e-aḥkām se muta'alliq ho, yā maḥẓ bishārat waghaira se. Aur bāzū'oh kī ta'dād kuchh chār hī chār meṅ munḥaṣir nahīṅ, balki) woh paidā'ish meṅ jo chāhtā hai ziyāda kar detā hai — yahān tak ki ba'ẓ firishtoḥ ke chha sau bāzū paidā kiye ga'e haiṅ, jaisā ḥadīṣ meṅ Ḥaḍrat Jibra'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) ke muta'alliq āyā hai. Be-shakk Allāh ta'ālā har chīz par qādir hai — aur qādir bhī aisā jis kā koī muzāḥim nahīṅ.

(Ai logo!) dekh lo ki jaise us kī qudrat kāmīl hai, isī ṭarah us kī ni'mat bhī kāmīl hai — us kī ni'matoḥ kā koī shumār nahīṅ; is li'e tum par jo Allāh ke aḥsānāt haiṅ, un ko yād karo, aur un kā shukr adā karo. Aur woh shukriya yih hai ki tauḥīd ikhtiyār kar ke shirk chhoṛ do — kam-az-kam us kī do baṭī ni'matoḥ meṅ ghaur kar ke, jo makhlūqāt kī tījād, phir un ko bāqī aur qā'im rakhnā hai: kyā Allāh ta'ālā ke siwā koī khāliq hai jo tum ko āsmān o zamīn se rizq pahuñchātā ho? Ya'nī us ke siwā na koī takhlīq wa tījād kar saktā hai, aur na koī tījād-karda ko bāqī aur qā'im rakhne ke li'e rizq pahuñchāne kā kām kar saktā hai. Is se ma'lūm hu'ā ki woh har ṭarah kāmīl hai — to yaqīnan us ke siwā koī lā'iq-e-'ibādat (bhī) nahīṅ. To jab ma'būd honā usī kā ḥaqq hai, to (tum shirk kar ke) kahān ultē jā rahe ho?

"jā'ili-l-malā'ikati rusulan" — firishtoḥ ko rasūl, ya'nī Allāh ta'ālā kā paighām aur aḥkām pahuñchāne wālā banāne kā maṭlab zāhir yih hai ki un ko Anbiyā 'alaihimu-s-salām kī ṭaraf Allāh kā qāṣid aur rasūl banā kar bhejā jātā hai — woh Allāh kī waḥī aur aḥkām un ko pahuñchāte haiṅ. Aur yih bhī mumkin hai ki rasūl se murād is jagah wāsiṭa ho, Allāh ta'ālā aur us kī 'ām makhlūqāt ke darmiyān ... (continues on PDF p.318)

them and Allāh, and also the medium by which Allāh's raḥma or 'azāb reaches the general creation. · "ulī ajniḥatin maṣnā wa ṣulāṣa wa rubā'" — Allāh gave the angels winged limbs to fly with; the ḥikma is plain, since they repeatedly traverse the distance from heaven to earth — only possible if given the power of swift travel, which takes the form of flying. · "maṣnā wa ṣulāṣa wa rubā'" apparently describes "ajniḥa": some angels have two wings each, some three, some four — with no ḥaṣr, as Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim proves Jibra'īl 'alaihi-s-salām has six hundred; up to four is mentioned by way of tamṣīl (Qurṭubī, Ibn Kaṣīr). It could also describe "rusulan" — these angels who bring Allāh's messages to the world come sometimes in twos, threes or fours; here too "four" is not a ḥaṣr but tamṣīl, since the Qur'ān itself proves angels descend in far greater numbers (Abū Ḥayyān, al-Baḥr al-Muḥīṭ). · "yazīdu fī-l-khalqī mā yashā'u" — Allāh has full liberty to add as much and of whatever kind He wills to His creatures' making. Apparently this concerns the wings (not confined to two–four; He can make far more) — the view of most mufasssīrīn. al-Zuhrī, Qatāda etc.: the general sense — including added wings for angels and added special qualities in the making of different humans (ḥusn-e-ṣūrat, ḥusn-e-sīrat, ḥusn-e-ṣaut etc.). Abū Ḥayyān (al-Baḥr al-Muḥīṭ) takes this: it includes ḥusn-e-khilqat, ḥusn-e-ṣaut, ḥusn-e-khaṭ, ḥusn-e-ṣūrat, perfection of 'aql and 'ilm, sweet speech etc. So any beauty or perfection a person is given is Allāh's bestowal and ni'ma, for which one should give shukr. · "mā yaftaḥi-llāhu li-n-nāsi min raḥmatin fa-lā mumsika lahā" — "raḥma" here is general, including dīnī and otherworldly ni'mats — like īmān, 'ilm, 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ, and nubuwwa...

... jin meṇ Anbiyā 'alaihimu-s-salām sab se afṣal wa a'lā haiṇ; un ke aur Allāh ta'ālā ke darmiyān waḥī kā wāsiṭa bante haiṇ; aur 'ām makhluqāt tak Allāh ta'ālā kī raḥmat yā 'azāb pahuñchāne kā bhī wāsiṭa firishte hī hote haiṇ.

"ulī ajniḥatin maṣnā wa ṣulāṣa wa rubā'" — ya'nī Allāh ta'ālā ne firishton ko paron wāle bāzū 'aṭā farmā'e haiṇ, jin se woh uṛ sakte haiṇ. Ḥikmat is kī zāhir hai ki woh āsmān se zamīn tak kī masāfat bār bār ṭay karte haiṇ; yih jab hī ho saktā hai ki un ko sur'at-e-sair kī quwwat 'aṭā kī jā'e, aur woh uṛne hī kī ṣūrat meṇ hotī hai.

Aur lafẓ "maṣnā wa ṣulāṣa wa rubā'" — zāhir yih hai ki "ajniḥa" kī ṣifat hai ki firishton ke par mukhtalif ta'dād par mushtamil haiṇ: ba'ẓ ke ṣirf do do par haiṇ, ba'ẓ ke tīn tīn, ba'ẓ ke chār chār — aur is meṇ koī ḥaṣr nahīn, jaisā ki Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim kī ḥadīṣ se Jibra'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) ke chha sau par honā ṣābit hotā hai; ba-ṭaur-e-tamṣīl ke chār tak zikr kar diyā gayā hai (Dar Qurṭubī, Ibn Kaṣīr).

Aur yih bhī ho saktā hai ki lafẓ "maṣnā wa ṣulāṣa wa rubā'" "rusulan" kī ṣifat ho — ya'nī yih firishte, jo Allāh ta'ālā kī ṭaraf se risālāt dunyā meṇ pahuñchāte haiṇ, kabhī do do āte haiṇ, kabhī tīn tīn yā chār chār; aur yih bhī zāhir hai ki is ṣūrat meñ bhī chār kā ‘adad ḥaṣr ke li’e nahīn, maḥẓ tamṣīl ke ṭaur par hai — kyūnki is se bhī bahut ziyāda miqdār meñ firishton kā nuzūl khud Qur’ān-e-Karīm se ṣābit hai (Dar Abū Ḥayyān fī al-Baḥr al-Muḥīṭ).

"yazīdu fī-l-khalqī mā yashā’u" — ya’nī Allāh ta’ālā ko sab ikhtiyār hai ki apnī makhlūqāt kī takhlīq meñ jitnī chāhe, aur jis qism kī chāhe, ziyādatī kare. Is kā ta’alluq bi-zāhir to ajniḥa hī ke sāth hai ki firishton ke par do chār meñ munḥaṣir nahīn; Allāh ta’ālā chāhe to is se bahut ziyāda bhī ho sakte haiñ. Akṣar mufasssīrīn kā qaul yihī hai. Aur Zuhūrī, Qatāda waghaira A’imma-e-tafsīr ne farmāyā ki is ziyādat-e-khalq se ‘ām ma’nī murād haiñ, jis meñ firishton ke par o bāzū kī ziyādatī bhī shāmil hai, aur mukhtalif insānoñ kī takhlīq meñ khāṣ khāṣ ṣifāt kī ziyādatī bhī — jis meñ ḥusn-e-ṣūrat, ḥusn-e-sīrat, ḥusn-e-ṣaut waghaira sab dākhil haiñ.

Abū Ḥayyān ne Baḥr al-Muḥīṭ meñ isī ko ikhtiyār kar ke farmāyā hai ki is ziyādat-e-khalq meñ ḥusn-e-khilqat, ḥusn-e-ṣaut, aur ḥusn-e-khaṭ, aur ḥusn-e-ṣūrat, kamāl-e-‘aql o ‘ilm, shīrīn-kalāmī waghaira sab dākhil haiñ.

"mā yaftaḥi-llāhu li-n-nāsi min raḥmatin fa-lā mumsika lahā" — yahān lafẓ raḥmat ‘ām hai, is meñ dīnī aur ukhrawī ni’mateñ dākhil haiñ — jaise īmān aur ‘ilm aur ‘amal-e-ṣāliḥ, aur nubuwwat ... (continues on PDF p.319)

PDF PAGE 319 · [Q 35:2-3] · Ma’ārif (cont.): "raḥma" also covers worldly ni’mats — rizq and its means, comfort, health, wealth, honour. The plain sense: whomever Allāh wills to open His mercy for, none can withhold it. Likewise "wa mā yumsik" is general: what Allāh withholds, none can open — this includes the world's afflictions and pains (when Allāh would ward them off a servant, none can bring the misfortune on him), and also mercy (if by some ḥikma He would deny a person a mercy, none can grant it) (Abū Ḥayyān). · A ḥadīth on this theme: Mu’āwiya raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu wrote to his governor of Kūfa, al-Mughīra bin Shu’ba raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu, asking for a ḥadīth he had heard from the Prophet ﷺ. Al-Mughīra raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu dictated: "I heard the Messenger ﷺ having finished the prayer, say: 'Allāhumma lā māni’a li-mā a’ṭaita, wa lā mu’ṭī li-mā mana’ta, wa lā yanfa’u za-l-jaddi minka-l-jadd' — O Allāh, none can withhold what You give, none can give what You withhold, and no striver's striving avails against Your will" (Ibn Kaṣīr, from Musnad Aḥmad). · Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim (Abū Sa’īd al-Khudrī raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): he said it on raising his head from rukū’, preceded by "aḥaqqu mā qāla-l-‘abdu, wa kullunā laka" — of all words a servant can say, this is the trumost and foremost. · Boxed: the āyah's lesson — to place no hope or fear of benefit or harm in other-than-Allāh, looking only to Allāh — is the elixir for the soundness of dīn and dunyā and for lasting ease, and delivers a person from a thousand griefs and cares (Rūḥ). · ‘Āmir bin ‘Abd al-Qais raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu: when I recite these four Qur’ānic āyāt in the morning I have no worry over what the morning or evening will bring — one is this āyah; another, like it in meaning: "in yamsaska-llāhu bi-ḍurrin fa-lā kāshifa lahū..."

... wilāyat waghaira, aur dunyawī ni‘mateñ bhī — jaise rizq aur us ke asbāb, aur ārām o rāḥat, aur ṣiḥḥat o tan-durustī, aur māl o ‘izzat waghaira. Ma‘nī āyat ke zāhir haiñ ki Allāh ta‘ālā jis shakhṣ ke li‘e apnī raḥmat kholne kā irāda kare, us ko koī rok nahīñ saktā.

Isī ṭarah dūsra jumla "wa mā yumsik" ‘ām hai ki jis chīz ko Allāh ta‘ālā roktā hai, us ko koī khol nahīñ saktā. Is meñ dunyā ke maṣā’ib wa ālām bhī dākhil haiñ, ki jab Allāh ta‘ālā un ko apne kisī bande se rokna chāheñ to kisī kī majāl nahīñ ki un ko hargiz nadar-e-muṣṭab pahuñchā sake. Aur is meñ raḥmat bhī dākhil hai ki agar Allāh ta‘ālā apnī kisī ḥikmat se kisī shakhṣ ko kisī raḥmat se maḥrūm karnā chāheñ, to kisī kī majāl nahīñ ki us ko de sake (Dar Abū Ḥayyān).

Isī maẓmūn-e-āyat ke muta‘alliq ek ḥadīṣ is ṭarah āyī hai ki Ḥaḍrat Mu‘āwiya (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ne apne ‘āmil (governor)-e-Kūfa Ḥaḍrat Mughīra bin Shu‘ba (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ko khaṭ likhā ki "mujhe koī ḥadīṣ likh kar bhejo jo tum ne Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam se sunī ho." Ḥaḍrat Mughīra (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ne apne mīr-munshī ko bulā kar rū-dād likhwāyā ki "maiñ ne Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam se, us waqt jabki āp namāz se fāriḡ hu’e the, yih kalimāt paṛhte hu’e sunā: 'Allāhumma lā mānī ‘a li-mā a‘ṭaita, wa lā mu‘ṭī li-mā mana‘ta, wa lā yanfa‘u ẓa-l-jaddi minka-l-jadd' — ya ‘nī yā Allāh! āp jo kisī ko ‘aṭā farmā deñ, us kā koī rokne wālā nahīñ; aur jis ko āp rokeñ, us ko koī dene wālā nahīñ; aur āp ke irāde ke khilāf kisī koshish karne wāle ko kuchh nahīñ chaltī" (Ibn Kaṣīr az Musnad Aḥmad).

Aur Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim meñ Ḥaḍrat Abū Sa‘īd Khudrī (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) kī riwāyat yih hai ki yih kalima āp ne rukū‘ se sar uṭhāne ke waqt farmāyā; aur is kalima se pahle farmāyā: "aḥaqqu mā qāla-l-‘abdu, wa kullunā laka" — ya ‘nī in tamām kalimāt meñ, jo koī bhī banda kah saktā hai, sab se ziyāda [ḥaqq] aur muqaddam wa a‘lā yih hai.

Āyat-e-maẓkūra ne insān ko jo sabaq diyā hai ki ghair-Allāh se naf‘ wa ẓarr kī ummīd o khauf na rakhe, ṣirf Allāh ta‘ālā kī ṭaraf naẓar rakhe — [woh] dīn o dunyā kī durustī, aur dā‘imī rāḥat kā nuskha-e-akṣīr hai, aur insān ko hazāroñ ghamoñ aur fikroñ se najāt dene wālā hai (Rūḥ).

Karīm kī yih chār āyateñ paṛh lūn to mujhe yih fikr nahīn rahtī ki ṣubḥ ko kyā hogā, shām ko kyā. Woh āyateñ yih haiñ: ek to yihī āyat "mā yaftaḥi-llāhu li-n-nāsi min raḥmatin fa-lā mumsika laḥā wa mā yumsik fa-lā mursila laḥū min ba‘dih"; dūsarī āyat isī ke ham-ma‘nī yih hai: "in yamsaska-llāhu bi-ḍurrin fa-lā kāshifa laḥū ..."

PDF PAGE 320 · [Q 35:2-3 Ma‘ārif → 35:4-8] · Ma‘ārif (end): ‘Āmir bin ‘Abd al-Qais's four āyāt — "mā yaftaḥi-llāhu...", "in yamsaska-llāhu bi-ḍurrin fa-lā kāshifa laḥū... wa in yuridka bi-khairin fa-lā rādda li-faḍlih", "sa-yaj‘alu-llāhu ba‘da ‘usrin yusrā", "wa mā min dābbatin fi-l-arḍi illā ‘ala-llāhi rizquhā" (Ibn al-Munzir — Rūḥ). · Abū Huraira raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu, seeing rain, would say "muṭirnā bi-nau‘i-l-faṭḥ" and recite "mā yaftaḥi-llāhu li-n-nāsi min raḥmatin" — a refutation of the Arabs' false notion of ascribing rain to particular stars ("we got this rain from the setting of such-and-such a star"); he said "we got this rain from the āyat-e-faṭḥ" — meaning this very āyah, which he would recite at such times (Mālik, al-Muwatṭā). · v.4: if they deny you, messengers before you were also denied; and to Allāh all matters return. v.5: O people, Allāh's promise is true; so let not the life of this world deceive you, nor let the great deceiver (Shaitān) deceive you about Allāh. v.6: Shaitān is your enemy, so take him as an enemy; he only calls his party to be among the companions of the blaze. v.7: those who disbelieve — for them a severe punishment; and those who believe and do righteous deeds — for them forgiveness and a great reward. v.8: is one whose evil deed is made fair to him so that he sees it as good [like one rightly guided]? Allāh lets stray whom He wills and guides whom He wills; so let not your soul waste away...

... "in yamsaska-llāhu bi-ḍurrin fa-lā kāshifa laḥū illā huwa, wa in yuridka bi-khairin fa-lā rādda li-faḍlih"; tīsarī āyat: "sa-yaj‘alu-llāhu ba‘da ‘usrin yusrā"; chauthī: "wa mā min dābbatin fi-l-arḍi illā ‘ala-llāhi rizquhā" (rawāhu Ibn al-Munzir — Rūḥ).

Aur Ḥaḍrat Abū Huraira (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) jab bārish hote dekhte to farmāyā karte the: "muṭirnā bi-nau‘i-l-faṭḥ" — aur phir āyat "mā yaftaḥi-llāhu li-n-nāsi min raḥmatin" paṛhte the. Yih ‘Arab ke bāṭil khayālāt kī tardīd hai, jo bārish ko khāṣ khāṣ sitāroñ kī ṭaraf mansūb kar ke kahā karte the ki "hameñ yih bārish falāñ falāñ sitāre kī daraja se milī hai." Ḥaḍrat Abū Huraira (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) farmāte haiñ ki "hameñ yih bārish āyat-e-faṭḥ se milī hai" — murād āyat-e-faṭḥ se yihī mazkūra āyat hai, jis ko woh aise waqt tilawat farmāyā karte the (rawāhu Mālik fī al-Muwatṭā).

PDF PAGE 321 · [Q 35:8 → 4-8 Khulāṣa] · v.8 tail: "...in regrets over them; Allāh knows what they do." · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: O Prophet ﷺ, if they deny you (about tauḥīd, risāla etc.) do not grieve — many messengers before you were denied (take comfort in that); and all matters are laid before Allāh, who Himself will settle with everyone — why should you worry? · Then a call to people: O people, hearing Allāh's promise (of qiyāmat), do not marvel or reckon it far-fetched — His promise is surely true; so let not the life of this world deceive you into absorption that makes you heedless of the promised Day; and let not the deceiver (Shaiṭān) deceive you about Allāh into his enticement that "Allāh will not punish you" (as they used to say: "wa la'in ruji'tu ilā rabbī inna lī 'indahū la-l-ḥusnā"). This Shaiṭān is your enemy — so take him as an enemy, always regarding him so; he calls his party (his followers) to falsehood only that they become of the people of Hell. · Those who disbelieved — caught in his call and delusion — have a severe punishment; and those who believed and did righteous deeds — not caught in it — have forgiveness and a great reward. · Since the disbeliever's end is severe and the believer's is maghfira and ajr-e-kabīr, can the two be equal? — one whose evil deed was made fair to him so he sees it as good, and one who sees evil as evil. The first = the kāfir faction, who by Shaiṭān's ighwā take falsehood for truth and the harmful for the beneficial; the second = the mu'min, who by following the Anbiyā and opposing Shaiṭān knows falsehood as falsehood, truth as truth, harm as harm, benefit as benefit. They can never be equal — one is of Hell, the other of Jannat. So there is this difference between one who falls for Shaiṭān's deception and one who treats him as an enemy — hence "lā yaghurrannakum" and "inna-sh-shaiṭāna lakum 'aduww". If you marvel that a reasonable man takes evil for good, the reason...

Aur (ai peḡhambar ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam!) agar yih log (dar-bāra-e-tauḥīd o risālat waghaira) āp ko jhuṭlā'ēñ to āp ḡham na karen, kyūñki āp se pahle bhī bahut se peḡhambar jhuṭlā'e jā chuke haiñ (ek to āp is se tasallī ḥāṣil kījiye). Aur (dūsri bāt yih ki) sab umūr Allāh hī ke rū-ba-rū pesh kiye jā'ēñ ge, woh khud sab se samjhe gā — āp kyon fikr meñ pareñ.

Āge 'ām logoñ ko khiṭāb hai ki: ai logo! Allāh kā wa'da (jis meñ qiyāmat kī khabar hai) us ko sun kar ta'ajjub o istib'ād mat karnā — Allāh ta'ālā kā yih wa'da ṣarūr sachchā hai; so aisā na ho ki yih dunyawī zindagī tum ko dhoke meñ ḍāle rakhe, ki is meñ munhamak ho kar us yaum-e-mau'ūd se ḡhāfil raho; aur aisā na ho ki tum ko dhoke-bāz — ya'nī shaiṭān — Allāh se dhoke meñ ḍāl de, ki tum us ke is bahkāne meñ na ā jā'o ki "Allāh ta'ālā tum ko 'azāb na de gā", jaisā woh kahā karte the: "wa la'in ruji'tu ilā rabbī inna lī 'indahū la-l-ḥusnā".

Jo log kāfir ho ga'e — us kī da'wat wa ghurūr meñ phans ga'e — un ke li'e sakht 'azāb hai; aur jo log īmān lā'e aur achhe kām kiye — us kī da'wat wa ghurūr meñ nahīñ phanse — un ke li'e (ma'āsī kī bakhshish, aur īmān wa 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ par) barā ajr hai.

(Aur jab kāfir kā anjām shadīd, aur mu'min kā anjām maghfirat wa ajr-e-kabīr hai, to kyā yih donoñ musāwī ho sakte haiñ? Ya'nī aisā) shakhṣ jis ko us kā 'amal-e-bad achhā kar dikhāyā gayā, phir woh us ko achhā samajhne lagā — aur (dūsra) aisā shakhṣ jo bure ko burā samajhtā hai — kaheñ barābar ho sakte haiñ?

Pahle shakhṣ se murād kāfir kā farīq hai, jo iḡhwā-e-shaiṭān se bāṭil ko ḥaqq aur

muzir ko nāfi‘ samajhtā hai; aur dūsre shakhṣ se murād mu‘min hai, jo ittibā‘-e-Anbiyā, aur mukhālifat-e-shaiṭān se, bāṭil ko bāṭil, ḥaqq ko ḥaqq, ṣarr ko ṣarr, nāfi‘ ko nāfi‘ jāntā hai. Since the basis of guidance and misguidance is mashiyya, do not let your soul waste away in grief over them — grieve not, sit patient; Allāh knows their deeds (and will settle with them in time). · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: "wa lā yaghurrannakum bi-llāhi-l-gharūr" — "gharūr" (faṭḥ of ghain) is the intensive = the great deceiver, i.e. Shaiṭān, whose work is to deceive people into kufr and ma‘ṣiya. "lā yaghurrannakum bi-llāh" = let him not deceive you in the matter of Allāh — proving evil deeds to be good so you fall into them, keeping on sinning while thinking "we are accepted with Allāh, we will not be punished" (Qurṭubī). · "fa-inna-llāha yuḍillu man yashā‘u wa yahdī man yashā‘u" — al-Baghawī, from Ibn ‘Abbās raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu: this āyah came down when the Prophet ﷺ prayed, "O Allāh, give Islam might and strength through ‘Umar bin al-Khaṭṭāb or through Abū Jahl" — Allāh guided ‘Umar bin al-Khaṭṭāb raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu and made him a cause of Islam's might, while Abū Jahl stayed in his misguidance (Maṣḥarī). · v.9: it is Allāh who sends the winds, and they raise a cloud, and We drive it to a dead land and revive the earth with it after its death — thus is the Resurrection. v.10: whoever desires might — then to Allāh belongs all might; to Him ascends the pure word, and the righteous deed raises it; and those who...

Aur "lā yaghurrannakum bi-llāh" — ya' nī woh tumheñ Allāh ke mu'āmala meñ dhoke meñ na de de. Is dhoke se maṭlab yih hai ki shaiṭān bure kāmoñ ko achhā sābit kar ke tumheñ us meñ mubtalā na kare, aur tumhārā ḥāl yih ho jā'e ki gunāh karte raho aur sāth hī yih samjhte raho ki "ham Allāh ke nazdīk maqbūl haiñ, hamen 'azāb nahīñ hogā" (Qurṭubī).

"fa-inna-llāha yuḍillu man yashā'u wa yahdī man yashā'u" — Imām Baghawī ne Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se naql kiyā hai ki yih āyat us waqt nāzil hu'ī thī jabki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne yih du'ā kī thī ki "yā Allāh! As the earth is given the life befitting it, so is people's rising at qiyāmat — the life befitting them will be given to them. The tashbīh: in both there is the origination and restoration of a lost attribute — though in the earth it is an accidental matter (growth) and in the limbs a substantial one (the rūḥ); this comes up incidentally within the proofs of tauḥīd for ḥashr o nashr. · A further theme with nushūr: since one must rise at qiyāmat, one must strive to avoid the disgrace and humiliation there. On this the mushrikīn, deceived by Shaiṭān, made their self-carved ma' būd̥s a means of gaining 'izza, saying "hā'ulā' i shufa'ā' unā 'inda-llāh" — "these are our absolute intercessors, for worldly needs and, if there is a qiyāmat, for otherworldly salvation too" (cf. Sūrat Maryam: "wa-ttakhaẓū min dūni-llāhi ālihātan li-yakūnū lahum 'izzā"). On this it is said: "whoever would gain 'izza..."

Phir ham us ke zarī'e se — ya'nī is bādāl ke pānī ke zarī'e se — zamīn ko nabātāt se zinda karte haiñ, us ke khushk hone ke ba'd. Aur jis ṭarah (zamīn ko us ke munāsib ḥayāt-e-nabātī 'aṭā farmā'ī) isī ṭarah (qiyāmat meñ ādmiyon kā) jī uṭhnā hai — ki un ke munāsib ḥayāt un ko 'aṭā hogī.

belongs to the Rabb bi-l-zāt (Allāh); anyone else's is only bi-l-‘araḍ, and the bi-l-‘araḍ is always dependent on the bi-l-zāt — so all are dependent on Allāh. The way to gain it from Him is to take up obedience and submission in word and deed, for these are what is pleasing with Allāh. The pure word rises to Him (He accepts it), and the good deed raises it — "good word" includes the kalima-e-tauḥīd and all the azkār; "good deed" includes inner taṣḍīq and all righteous deeds, outward and inward. So the good deed is the means of making the kalima and all azkār accepted. Acceptance is general — both basic and complete acceptance; other proofs detail it: inner taṣḍīq is a condition of the very acceptance of the "kalim ṭayyib" (without it no zikr is accepted), and righteous deeds are a condition of its completeness, not of the very acceptance (a kalima-e-ṭayyiba from a fāsiq is still accepted, but not completely). Whoever takes up these will be honoured; and those who take the opposite way, opposing you — which is really opposing Allāh — and scheming against you, will have a severe punishment that brings their disgrace; their self-carved ma‘būds will give them no ‘izza at all — rather they will turn against them ("sa-yakfurūna bi-‘ibādatihim wa yakūnūna ‘alaihim ḍiddā"). That is their loss in the ākhira; and in the world too — their scheming will come to nothing (they wished to wipe out Islam, and were themselves wiped out). · This was a jumla mu‘tarīza; the tauḥīd theme resumes: one maḥzar of Allāh's power was mentioned ("Allāhu-llazī arsala"); another is: He created you (in creating Ādam) from clay, then independently from a drop, then made you pairs — male and female. And His knowledge is such that no woman conceives or delivers but with His prior awareness.

Aur Khudā se is ke ḥāṣil karne kā ṭarīqa yih hai ki qaulan wa ‘amalan us kī iṭā‘at wa inqiyād ikhtiyār kare — ki Khudā ke nazḍīk yihī chīzeñ pasandīda haiñ. Chunāñche (achhā kalām usī tak pahunchtā hai — ya‘nī woh us ko qabūl kartā hī hai — aur achhā kām us ko pahunchtā hai. To ma‘nī yih hu'e ki kalima-e-tauḥīd aur tamām azkār ke maqbūl banāne kā zarī‘a ‘amal-e-ṣāliḥ hai.)

Aur maqbūliyyat ‘ām hai — aṣl qabūliyyat aur mukammal qabūliyyat donoñ ko; aur is ijmāl ko dūsre dalā‘il ne is ṭarah mufaṣṣal kar diyā ki taṣḍīq-e-qalbī jamī‘ "kalim ṭayyib" ke li'e nafs-e-qabūl kī shart hai, us ke baḡhair koī zikr maqbūl nahīñ; aur dūsra, zikr-e-a‘māl-e-ṣāliḥa jamī‘ "kalim ṭayyib" ke li'e mukammal [hone] kī shart

PDF PAGE 326 · [Q 35:11-14] · Khulāṣa (end): no one's life is set longer or shorter but it is all kept in the Lauḥ-e-Maḥfūẓ, recorded there by Allāh in accord with His eternal knowledge. Though these data are countless and infinite, marvel not how He decreed all events before they occurred — it is easy for Allāh, whose knowledge is zātī, to which all data before and after their occurrence are alike. · More proofs of power: water is one substance, yet, capable though it is of oneness, He made from it two kinds by a difference of action — the two seas are not equal: one sweet, thirst-quenching, easily drunk; the other salt, bitter — a wonder of power. · Proofs that also point to His ni‘ma: from each sea you take fish (eating their fresh meat) and bring out ornaments — pearls — that you wear; and you see the ships cleaving the water, that you may travel and seek His provision, and give shukr for it. · Further ni‘mats: He merges parts of the night into the day and parts of the day into the night (benefits from the lengthening and shortening); and He set the sun and moon to work — each running till an appointed time (the Day of Qiyāmat). · That Allāh, of such majesty, is your Lord; His is the dominion; and those you call on besides Him own not even the membrane of a date-stone. Of the inanimate this is plain; of the animate, in the sense that they own no authority bi-l-zāt, and their state is: if you call them they do not hear (the inanimate have no capacity to hear; the dead do not necessarily or permanently hear — Allāh makes them hear when He wills); and if — supposing — they heard, they would not obey you; and on the Day of Qiyāmat they will themselves oppose your shirk ("mā kānū iyyānā ya'budūn" etc.). · And there is no doubt in the truth of what We have said, for We know the realities of things...

Aur gō yih ma'lūmāt be-shumār aur lā-mutanāhī haiṁ, magar yih ta'ajjub na kiyā jā'e ki qabl az-wuqū' sab wāqi'āt ko kaise muqaddar wa muqarrar farmāyā — kyūnki yih sab Allāh ko āsān hai, kyūnki us kā 'ilm zātī hai, jis kī nisbat jamī' ma'lūmāt ke sāth qabl az-wuqū' wa ba'd az-wuqū' yaksān hai.

PDF PAGE 327 · [Q 35:14 Khulāṣa end → 35:10 Ma‘ārif] · Khulāṣa (end): We fully know the realities; and, O listener, none will inform you like One All-Aware — so Our telling is the most correct. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il on "ilaihi yaṣ‘adu-l-kalimu-ṭ-ṭayyibu wa-l-‘amalu-ṣ-ṣālīḥu yarfa‘uh": the previous āyah taught that whoever seeks ‘izza and strength should know it is in none's power but Allāh's — the things they made ma‘būd, or from whom they hoped for ‘izza, can give none. This āyah gives the way to gain ‘izza and strength from Allāh, in two parts: (1) "kalim ṭayyib" — the kalima-e-tauḥīd, and knowledge of Allāh's zāt and ṣifāt; (2) "‘amal-e-ṣālīḥ" — believing from the heart, then acting according to its requirement in submission to the sharī‘a. Shāh ‘Abd al-Qādir raḥmatullāh (Mūḡiḡ al-Qur‘ān): this prescription for ‘izza is quite sound and tried; the condition is perseverance (mudāwama) in zikr-Allāh and ‘amal-e-ṣālīḥ; when the perseverance reaches a fixed limit, Allāh grants the doer an unfading ‘izza, in this world and the next, without parallel. · "al-‘amalu-ṣ-ṣālīḥu yarfa‘uh" has several grammatical possibilities, each giving a different sense; the mufasssīrīn read it per their judgment. The first (adopted in the Khulāṣa translation): the fā‘il pronoun of "yarfa‘uh" refers to ‘amal-e-ṣālīḥ, the maf‘ūl pronoun to "kalim ṭayyib" — the pure words rise to Allāh, but the means of raising them is ‘amal-e-ṣālīḥ (Ibn ‘Abbās, Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, Ibn Jubair, Mujāhid, al-Ḍaḡḡāk, Shahr bin Ḥaushab — jamhūr; "rising to Allāh" = being accepted with Allāh). So the upshot: a "kalim ṭayyib" — the kalima-e-tauḥīd or other azkār (tasbīḡ, taḥmīd etc.) — is not accepted with Allāh without ‘amal-e-ṣālīḥ; and the essential part of ‘amal-e-ṣālīḥ is inner taṣdīq — believing from the heart in Allāh and His tauḥīd — which is the absolute lāzim condition of the acceptance of deeds; without it neither "lā ilāha illa-llāh" nor any other zikr is accepted.

... kī pūrī khabar rakhne wāle haiḡ; aur (ai mukhāṭab! tujh ko khabar rakhne wāle kī barābar koī nahīn batlā‘e gā — pas hamārā batlānā sab se ziyāda ṣaḡīḡ hai).

"ilaihi yaṣ‘adu-l-kalimu-ṭ-ṭayyibu wa-l-‘amalu-ṣ-ṣālīḥu yarfa‘uh" — is se pahlī āyat meḡ yih batlāyā gayā hai ki jo shakhṣ ‘izzat wa quwwat kā ṭalab-gār ho, to us ko samajh lenā chāhiye ki woh Allāh ke siwā kisī ke bas meḡ nahīn. Jin chīzoḡ ko unhoḡ

ne ma'bud banā rakhā hai, yā jin se 'izzat kī tawaquq' dostī kar rakhī hai, woh kisī ko 'izzat nahīn de sakte. Is āyat meñ Allāh ta'ālā se 'izzat wa quwwat ḥāṣil karne kā tarīqa batlāyā gayā hai, jis ke do ajzā' haiñ: ek "kalim ṭayyib" — ya'nī kalima-e-tauḥīd, aur Allāh kī zāt wa ṣifāt kā 'ilm; dūsre "'amal-e-ṣāliḥ" — ya'nī dil se īmān lānā, phir us ke muqtaẓī ke muwāfiq tābi'-e-sharī'at 'amal karnā.

Ḥaḍrat Shāh 'Abd al-Qādir (raḥmatullāh) ne Mūẓiḥ al-Qur'ān meñ farmāyā ki ḥuṣūl-e-'izzat kā yih nuskha bilkul ṣaḥīḥ wa mujarrab hai; sharṭ yih hai ki zikr-Allāh aur 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ par mudāwamat ho; jab yih mudāwamat ek ḥadd-e-muqarrar par pahuñch jātī hai to Allāh ta'ālā us ke karne wāle ko woh lā-zawāl 'izzat, dunyā wa ākhirat meñ, naṣīb farmāte haiñ, jis kī naẓīr nahīn.

Āyat-e-mazkūra meñ in donoñ ajzā' kī ta'bīr in alfāz se kī gā'ī hai ki "achhā kalām Allāh kī ṭaraf chaḥtā aur pahuñchtā hai, aur 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ us ko uṭhātā hai aur pahuñchātā hai."

"al-'amalu-ṣ-ṣāliḥu yarfa'uh" kī tarkīb-e-naḥwī meñ chand iḥtimāl haiñ; har iḥtimāl ke i'tibār se jumle se alag alag ma'nī ho jāte haiñ. A'imma-e-tafsīr ne in iḥtimālōñ ke muṭābiq, apnī apnī ṣawāb-dīd ke muṭābiq, tafsīr kī hai.

Pahlā iḥtimāl to yihī hai, jis ke muṭābiq Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr meñ tarjuma kiyā gayā hai — ki "yarfa'uh" kī ṣamīr fā'il 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ kī ṭaraf rāji' ho, aur ṣamīr maf'ūl kalim ṭayyib kī ṭaraf; aur ma'nī yih hoñ ki kalim ṭayyib Allāh ta'ālā kī ṭaraf chaḥte haiñ, magar in ke chaḥḥane kā zarī'a 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ hotā hai. Jamhūr A'imma-e-tafsīr — Ibn 'Abbās, Ḥasan Baṣrī, Ibn Jubair, Mujāhid, Ḍaḥḥāk, Shahr bin Ḥaushab waghaira — ne isī ko ikhtiyār kiyā hai. Aur Allāh kī ṭaraf chaḥne aur chaḥḥane se murād Allāh ke nazdīk maqbūl honā hai.

Is li'e khulāṣa is jumle kā yih hogā ki kalim ṭayyib — khwāh kalima-e-tauḥīd ho yā dūsre azkār: tasbīḥ o taḥmīd waghaira — in meñ se koī chīz baḥḥair 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ ke 'inda-llāh maqbūl nahīn hotī. Is meñ 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ kā aḥam juz' taṣdīq-e-qalbī hī hai — ya'nī dil se Allāh par aur us kī tauḥīd par īmān lānā; yih to muṭlaqan qabūliyyat-e-a'māl kī sharṭ-e-lāzim hai, us ke baḥḥair na kalima "lā ilāha illa-llāh" maqbūl hai, na koī dūsarā zikr. PDF PAGE 328 · [Q 35:14] · Ma'ārif (cont.): the other parts of 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ — ṣalāt, ṣawm etc., and abstaining from ḥarām and makrūh things — though not conditions of acceptance absolutely, are conditions of complete acceptance. So if one has no īmān or taṣdīq in the heart, however much he recites the kalima-e-tauḥīd and does tasbīḥ o taḥmīd, no share of acceptance is his with Allāh; and one who has taṣdīq and īmān but does not do the other righteous deeds, or is deficient in them — his zikr-Allāh and kalima-e-tauḥīd are not wholly wasted; they serve only so far as to save him from eternal punishment, but complete acceptance is not his — the effect being that he suffers punishment in proportion to his abandonment of deeds and deficiency. · Ḥadīth: Allāh does not accept a saying without a deed, nor a saying and deed without an intention, nor a saying, deed and intention without conformity to the Sunnah (Qurṭubī). So complete acceptance is conditioned on conformity to the Sunnah: even if word, deed and intention are all correct, if the manner of the deed is not per the Sunnah, complete acceptance is not attained. · Some mufasssīrīn: the fā' il pronoun of "yarfa'uh" refers to "kalim ṭayyib" and the maf'ūl to "'amal-e-ṣāliḥ" — a quite different sense: the pure word (ẓikr-Allāh) raises and lifts the righteous deed, i.e. makes it fit for acceptance. Upshot: one who, along with righteous deeds, does much ẓikr-Allāh — that ẓikr adorns his deed and makes it acceptable. The truth: as the kalima-e-tauḥīd and tasbīḥāt alone, without 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ, do not suffice, so 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ — keeping the awāmīr and nawāḥī — stays lustreless without abundant ẓikr-Allāh; abundant ẓikr-Allāh adorns righteous deeds and makes them acceptable. · "wa mā yu'ammāru min mu'ammārin wa lā yunqāṣu min 'umurihī illā fī kitāb" — per the jamhūr: whoever Allāh grants long life, it is already written in the Lauḥ-e-Maḥfūz; likewise whoever's life is made short — all recorded beforehand. So here the length and shortening of life is not about an individual but about the human species: to one member long life is given...

... aur 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ ke dūsre ajzā' — namāz, roza waghaira a' māl-e-ṣāliḥa, aur muḥarrāmāt wa makrūhāt se parhez hai. Yih agarcheh muṭlaqan qabūliyyat kī shart nahīn, magar qabūliyyat-e-tāmma kī shart yih a' māl bhī hai. To agar ek shakhṣ dil meṁ īmān wa taṣdīq hī nahīn rakhtā, to woh kitnā bhī zabān se kalima-e-tauḥīd parhe, aur tasbīḥ o taḥmīd kare, Allāh ke nazdīk us ko kōī ḥiṣṣa qabūliyyat kā ḥāṣil na hogā. Aur jo taṣdīq wa īmān to rakhtā hai, magar dūsre a' māl-e-ṣāliḥa nahīn kartā, yā un meṁ kotāhī kartā hai — us kā ẓikr-Allāh aur kalima-e-tauḥīd bilkul ṣā' i' to nahīn hogā, ṣirf itnā kām de gā ki hameshā ke 'azāb se us ko najāt mil jā'e gī, magar mukammal qabūliyyat us ko ḥāṣil nahīn hogī — jis kā yih aṣar hogā ki ba-qadr apne tark-e-'amal aur kotāhī ke 'azāb bhugte gā.

Ek ḥadīṣ meṁ Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kā irshād hai ki Allāh ta'ālā kisī qaul ko baḡhair 'amal ke, aur kisī qaul wa 'amal ko baḡhair niyyat ke, aur kisī qaul aur 'amal aur niyyat ko baḡhair muṭābiqat-e-sunnat ke, qabūl nahīn kartā (Dar Qurṭubī).

Is se ma'lūm hu'ā ki mukammal qabūliyyat kī shart sunnat ke muṭābiq honā hai — agar qaul bhī, 'amal bhī, aur niyyat bhī, yih sab durust bhī hoñ, magar ṭarīqa-e-'amal sunnat ke muṭābiq na ho, to qabūliyyat-e-tāmma ḥāṣil nahīn hogī.

Aur ba'z mufasssīrīn ne is jumle kī tarkīb-e-naḥwī yih qarār dī hai ki "yarfa'uh" kī zamīr fā' il kalim ṭayyib kī ṭaraf, aur zamīr maf'ūl 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ kī ṭaraf rāji' hai.

Is sūrat mein ma'nī jumle ke pahle se bilkul mukhtalif yih ho jā'ēn ge ki "kalim tayyib — ya'nī zikr-Allāh — 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ ko chaḥḥātā aur uṭḥātā hai, ya'nī qābil-e-qabūl banātā hai." Is kā ḥāṣil yih hogā ki jo shakḥṣ 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ ke sāth zikr-Allāh bhī kaṣrat se kartā hai, to yih zikr-Allāh us ke 'amal ko muzayyan aur qābil-e-qabūl banā detā hai.

Aur ḥaqīqat yihī hai ki jis ṭarah ṣirf kalima-e-tauḥīd aur tasbīḥāt baḡhair 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ ke kāfī nahīn, isī ṭarah 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ — awāmir o nawāhī kī pābandī — bhī baḡhair kaṣrat-e-zikr-Allāh ke be-raunaq rahtī hai; zikr-Allāh kī kaṣrat hī a'māl-e-ṣāliḥa ko muzayyan kar ke qābil-e-qabūl banātī hai.

———— "wa mā yu'ammāru min mu'ammārin wa lā yunqaṣu min 'umurihī illā fī kitāb" —————

Is āyat kā mafhūm jamhūr mufasssīrīn ke nazdīk yih hai ki Allāh ta'ālā jis shakḥṣ ko 'umr-e-ṭawīl 'aṭā farmāte haiñ, woh pahle hī Lauḥ-e-Maḥfūẓ mein likhā hu'ā hai; isī ṭarah jis kī 'umr kam rakhī jāti hai, woh bhī sab Lauḥ-e-Maḥfūẓ mein pahle hī darj hai. PDF PAGE 329 · [Q 35:14] · Ma'ārif (cont.): ...to another, less. This tafsīr is from Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu (Ibn Kaṣīr); al-Jaṣṣāṣ reports the same from Ḥasan al-Baṣrī and al-Ḍaḥḥāk; Ibn Jarīr, Ibn Kaṣīr, Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī etc. make it the jamhūr view. · Some: if the lengthening/shortening is of one person — "shorten his life" means every person's life as written by Allāh is certain, and each day that passes cuts one day from the fixed span; two days pass, two days gone; likewise every day, indeed every breath, diminishes his life (al-Sha'bī, Ibn Jubair, Abū Mālik, Ibn 'Aṭīyya, al-Suddī — Rūḥ). Expressed in the verse: "ḥayātuka anfāsun tu'addu, fa-kullamā / maḍā nafasun minhā-nqaḍat bihī juz'u" — "your life is a counted number of breaths; whenever a breath passes, a part of your life is spent." · Al-Nasā'ī, in the tafsīr of this āyah, from Anas bin Mālik raḍiyallāhu 'anhu: the Prophet ﷺ said, "man sarrahū an yubsaṭa lahū fī rizqihī, wa yunsa'a lahū fī aṣarihī, fa-l-yaṣīl raḥimah" (Bukhārī, Muslim, Abū Dāwūd, from Yūnus bin Yazīd al-Ailī) — "whoever would have his provision widened and his life extended, let him keep the ties of kinship (ṣila-raḥmī)." Apparently ṣila-raḥmī lengthens life; but another ḥadīth clarifies it: Ibn Abī Ḥātim, from Abū al-Dardā' raḍiyallāhu 'anhu — they mentioned this before the Prophet ﷺ and he said, "life with Allāh is one fixed and decreed span; when it ends, no one is given the least respite. Rather, extension of life means Allāh grants him righteous offspring who keep praying good for him — and their du'ās reach him in the grave; i.e. after death the good and benefit still reaches him that would have come from his living — so it is as if his life were lengthened." · Both are reported by Ibn

... kisī ko is se kam. Yih tafsīr Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) se Ibn Kaṣīr ne naql kī hai. Jaṣṣāṣ ne Ḥasan Baṣrī aur Ḍaḥḥāk kā yihī qaul naql kiyā hai. Isī li’e Ibn Jarīr, Ibn Kaṣīr, Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī waghaira ‘ām tafāsīr meṅ isī ko jamhūr kī tafsīr qarār diyā hai.

Aur ba‘ḏ ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā ki agar ‘umr kī kamī ziyādatī ko ek hī shakhṣ ke muta‘alliq kahā jā’e, to ‘umr meṅ kamī karne kā yih maṭlab hai ki har shakhṣ kī, jo ‘umr Allāh ta‘ālā ne likh dī hai woh yaqīnī hai; aur jo dīn guzartā hai, us muqarrara muddat-e-‘umr meṅ se ek dīn kī kamī kar detā hai; do dīn guzarte haiṅ to do dīn kam ho jāte haiṅ. Isī ṭarāḥ har dīn, balki har sāns, us kī ‘umr ko ghaṭātā rahtā hai. Yih tafsīr Sha‘bī, Ibn Jubair, Abū Mālīk, Ibn ‘Aṭīyya aur Suddī se manqūl hai (Rūḥ).

Imām Nasā’ī ne is āyat kī tafsīr meṅ Ḥaḍrat Anas bin Mālīk (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) se yih riwāyat kiyā hai ki unhoṅ ne Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam se sunā hai ki āp ne farmāyā: "man sarrahū an yubsaṭa lahū fī rizqihī, wa yunsa’a lahū fī aṣarihī, fa-l-yaṣil raḥimah" — Bukhārī, Muslim, Abū Dāwūd ne bhī yih ḥadīṣ Yūnus bin Yazīd Ailī kī riwāyat se naql kī hai. Ma‘nī ḥadīṣ ke yih haiṅ ki "jo shakhṣ chāhtā hai ki us ke rizq meṅ wus‘at aur ‘umr meṅ ziyādatī ho, to us ko chāhiye ki ṣila-raḥmī kare — ya‘nī apne zī-raḥm rishta-dāroṅ se achhā sulūk kare."

Bi-zāhir is se ma‘lūm hotā hai ki ṣila-raḥmī se ‘umr baḥh jātī hai. Magar is kā maṭlab ek dūsarī ḥadīṣ ne khud wāḏiḥ kar diyā hai, woh yih hai: Ibn Abī Ḥātim ne Ḥaḍrat Abū al-Dardā’ (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) se riwāyat kiyā hai — woh farmāte haiṅ ki ham ne (is maḥmūn kā zikr) Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ke sāmnē kiyā to āp ne farmāyā ki "'umr to Allāh ke nazdīk ek hī muqarrar aur muqaddar hai; jab muqarrara muddat pūrī ho jātī hai to kisī shakhṣ ko zarā bhī mohlat nahīn dī jātī. Balki ziyādat-e-‘umr se murād yih hai ki Allāh ta‘ālā us ko aulād-e-ṣāliḥ ‘aṭā farmā detā hai, jo us ke li’e du‘ā-e-khair karte rahte haiṅ, aur un logoṅ kī du‘ā’ēn us ko qabr meṅ miltī rahtī haiṅ — ya‘nī marne ke ba’d bhī un kā woh khair wa fā’ida pahunchtā rahtā hai jo khud zinda rahne se ḥāṣil hotā hai; isī ṭarāḥ gōyā us kī ‘umr baḥh ga’ī."

PDF PAGE 330 · [Q 35:12-15] · Ma‘ārif: "wa min kullin ta‘kulūna laḥman ṭariyyan wa tastakhrijūna ḥilyatan talbasūnahā" — from both the salt and the fresh sea you get fresh meat (= fish). Calling fish "gosht" hints that fish is ḥalāl meat of itself, without slaughter — unlike other large animals, which are not ḥalāl until slaughtered in Allāh's name; fish has no such condition, so it is ready-made meat. "ḥilya" = ornament, i.e. pearls. The āyah shows pearls form in fresh seas as in salt — contrary to common repute, since it is famously held that pearls form only in the salt sea. The reality is as the Qur’ān's wording shows — both bear pearls; but far fewer in fresh seas and far more in the ocean, and from this abundance arose the repute that pearls come only from the salt sea. The masculine form in "talbasūnahā" hints that pearls are lawful for men to use — unlike gold and silver, which men may not use as ornament (Rūḥ). · "in tad‘ūhum lā yasma‘ū du‘ā’akum wa lau sami‘ū ma-stajābū lakum" — the idols, or certain Anbiyā, or angels whom you worship as gods: if you call them in distress, first they cannot hear you — idols have no capacity to hear; the Anbiyā and angels do, but they are not present everywhere, nor do they hear everyone's speech. And even if — supposing — they heard (as the Anbiyā and angels), they would still not fulfil your request, for they have no power of their own, and cannot intercede for anyone without Allāh's leave. · The question of samā‘-e-mautā already discussed is neither proved nor denied by this āyah; its proofs are elsewhere (detailed in Sūrat al-Rūm). · v.15: "yā ayyuha-n-nāsu antumu-l-fuqarā’u ila-llāh; wa-llāhu huwa-l-ghaniyyu-l-ḥamīd" — O people, you are the ones in need of Allāh; and Allāh is the Free-of-need, the Praiseworthy.

"wa min kullin ta‘kulūna laḥman ṭariyyan wa tastakhrijūna ḥilyatan talbasūnahā" — ya‘nī daryā-e-shor aur shīrīn, donoṅ se tumheṅ tāza gosht khāne ko miltā hai; murād is se machhlī hai. Is āyat meṅ machhlī ko "gosht" ke lafẓ se ta‘bīr karne meṅ is ṭaraf ishāra pāyā jāṭā hai ki machhlī khud-ba-khud zabḥ ke baḡhair bhī ḥalāl gosht hai, us ko zabḥ karne kī ẓarūrat nahīn — bi-khilāf dūsre baḡe jānwaron ke, ki jab tak un ko Allāh ke nām par zabḥ na kar diyā jā’e woh ḥalāl nahīn; machhlī meṅ yih shart nahīn, is li’e woh banā-banāyā gosht hai.

Aur "ḥilya" ke ma‘nī zewar ke haiṅ, murād is se motī haiṅ. Āyat se ma‘lūm hu’ā ki motī jis ṭarah daryā-e-shor meṅ paidā hote haiṅ, shīrīn daryā’oṅ meṅ bhī hote haiṅ, jo ‘ām shuhrat ke khilāf hai; kyūnki ma‘rūf o mashhūr yihī bāt hai ki motī daryā-e-shor (samundar) meṅ paidā hote haiṅ. Aur ḥaqīqat yihī hai jo Qur’ān ke alfāẓ se ẓāhir hai ki donoṅ meṅ motī paidā hote haiṅ. Al-batta shīrīn daryā’oṅ meṅ bahut kam, aur samundar meṅ bahut ziyāda paidā hote haiṅ; ziyādatī kī wajh se yih shuhrat ho

Aur "talbasūnahā" meñ šīgha muzakkar ista'māl karne se is taraf ishāra ho gayā ki motiyon kā ista'māl mardoñ ke li'e bhī jā'iz hai — bi-khilāf sone chāndī ke, ki un kā ba-ṭaur zewar ista'māl karnā mardoñ ke li'e jā'iz nahīñ (Rūḥ).

"in tad'ūhum lā yasma'ū du'ā'akum wa lau sami'ū ma-stajābū lakum" — ya'nī yā but, yā ba'ṣ Anbiyā, yā firishte — jin ko tum Khudā samajh kar parastish karte ho — agar un ko (mušibat ke waqt) pukāro to (awwal to) yih tumhārī bāt sun hī na sakeñ ge, kyūñki buton meñ to sunane kī ṣalāḥiyyat hai hī nahīñ; Anbiyā aur firishton meñ agarcheh ṣalāḥiyyat hai, magar na woh har jagah maujūd haiñ, na har ek ke kalām ko sunte haiñ.

Āge farmāyā ki agar bi-l-farṣ woh sun bhī leñ, jaise Anbiyā aur firishte, to phir bhī woh tumhārī darkhwāst pūrī na kareñ ge — kyūñki un ko khud qudrat nahīñ; aur Allāh ta'ālā kī ijāzat ke baḡhair us se kisī kī sifārish nahīñ kar sakte.

Samā'-e-mautā kā mas'ala jo pahle guṣar chukā hai, is āyat se na is kā isbāt ṣābit hotā hai, na naḑī; is baḡs ke dalā'il dūsre haiñ, jin kā zikr Sūrat al-Rūm meñ mufaṣṣal ā chukā hai.

wa bi-l-kitābi-l-munīr; ṣumma akhaztu-llazīna kafarū" (with the scriptures and the illuminating Book; then I seized those who disbelieved), v.26 "fa-kaifa kāna nakīr" (how then was My rejection [of them]!). · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr begins (vv.15–26): O people, it is you who are needy of Allāh, while Allāh is Free-of-need and perfect in Himself. The teaching of tauḥīd etc. was given for your benefit, seeing your need; if you refuse, you only harm yourselves — Allāh, being self-sufficient in His essence, has no need of you or your deeds, such that any harm could touch Him. As for the harm that falls on kufr: Allāh is able to bring it about even now — if He willed, He could destroy you as punishment for your kufr and raise a new creation (that would not disbelieve as you do), and that is no difficulty for Him; but out of wisdom He has granted respite. So here the harm is only possible-of-occurrence, but on Qiyāmah it will certainly befall. And on that Day no one will bear another's burden of sin, nor show anyone the least favour; even if a burden-laden sinner calls another to carry his load, nothing of it will be lifted — though the one called be his close kin. Then comes the consolation of the Prophet ﷺ: why do you grieve so at their denial (whose punishment they will surely bear one day)? A warning that brings benefit — you can give it only to those who fear their Lord unseen and keep up the ṣalāh (i.e. the believers); only they profit from your call. The seeker of truth is always benefited; these people are not seekers of truth at all...

Ai logo! tum hī (Khudā ke) muḥtāj ho, aur Allāh (to) be-niyāz aur khud dar-tamām khūbiyon wālā hai. Us ne tumhārī iḥtiyāj dekh kar tumhāre li'e tauḥīd waghaira kī ta'īm kī hai; agar tum nahīn mānoge to tum apnā hī zarar karoge. Bāqī Ḥaqq Ta'ālā ko to ba-wajh ḡhanā'-e-zātī wa kamāl-e-zātī tumhārī yā tumhāre 'amal kī koī ḥājat hī nahīn, ki us ke zarar kā iḥtimāl ho.

Aur kufr par jo zarar hone wālā hai, Khudā Ta'ālā us ke fī-l-ḥāl iqā' par bhī qādir hī rahe; chunāñchi agar woh chāhe to tumhāre kufr kī sazā meñ tum ko fanā kar de, aur ek na'ī makhluq paidā kar de (jo tumhārī ṭaraḥ kufr wa inkār na kare), aur yih bāt Khudā ko kuchh mushkil nahīn; lekin maṣlaḥatan mohlat de rakhī hai. Ḡharaz yahān to woh zarar maḥẓ muḥtamal al-wuqū' hai, lekin qiyāmat meñ woh zarūr wāqī' ho jā'e gā.

Aur us waqt yih ḥālat hogī ki koī dūsre kā bojh (gunāh kā) na uṭhā'e gā, aur na khud koī kisī kī kuchh ri'āyat kare gā. Yih ḥālat hogī ki agar koī bojh kā ladā hu'ā — ya'nī koī gunahgār — kisī ko apnā bojh uṭhāne ke li'e bulā'e gā bhī, tab bhī us meñ se kuchh bhī bojh na haṭāyā jā'e gā, agarcheh woh shakhṣ (jis ko us ne bulāyā thā) us kā qarābat-dār hī kyon na ho. Us waqt pūrā ṣarar us kufr wa bad-'amalī kā khud hī bhugatnā paṛe gā. Yih to tanzīr-e-munkirīn kī bāt ho ga'ī.

Āge Ḥuḍūr ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam kā tasliyah hai, ki ai Muḥammad ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam! āp un ke inkār par (jis kī sazā woh ek din ṣarūr bhugteṅge) is qadr ḡham o afsos kyon karte haiñ? Aur (āp un ke īmān na lāne se is qadr fikr kyon karte haiñ?) jo shakhṣ (īmān lā kar shirk wa kufr se) pāk hotā hai, woh apne ... (continues on PDF p.333)

PDF PAGE 333 · [Q 35:19-26 Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr, cont.] · The similitudes: the believer in his perception of truth is like a seeing man; the disbeliever in his failure to perceive it is like a blind man. The path of guidance the believer takes is like light; the path the disbeliever takes is like darkness — as Allāh said, "wa ja'alnā lahū nūran yamshī bihī fī-n-nās kaman maṣaluhū fī-ṣ-ṣ-zulumātī laisa bi-khārijin minhā". The fruit (Jannah etc.) of the true path is like cool shade; the fruit (Jahannam etc.) of the false path is like scorching heat — "ṣ-zillīn mamdūd" ... and "fī samūm". Plainly the blind and the sighted are not equal, nor darkness and light, nor shade and heat; so neither is the knowledge of these people equal to the believers', nor their way, nor its fruit. The comparison of believer vs. disbeliever to sighted vs. blind is meant to negate a deficiency [in the disbeliever], not to grant him any excess — for the gap between them is that of dead and living; hence one may also say: the living and the dead can never be equal. And since these are [as] the dead, giving life to the dead is in Allāh's power, not the servant's — so if Allāh Himself guides them, that is another matter. By your effort they will not accept the truth: their likeness is the dead you have heard of, and you cannot make hear those buried in graves. So if they do not believe, do not grieve — you are only a warner to the disbelievers (it is not upon you that they heed and believe). And this warning is not from yourself, as the deniers of prophethood said, but from Us — We sent you with the true dīn, a bearer of glad tidings to the Muslims and a warner to the disbelievers; and this sending is nothing strange: no nation passed without a warner (a prophet) among it. And if they belie you, console your heart by recalling what the past prophets faced from their disbelievers — mentioned here in brief, and in detail in other āyāt — for those before them also, in their time, [belied] the prophets...

... (naf' ke li'e) pāk hotā hai; aur (jo īmān na lā' en, woh dūr hī bhāgte haiñ) — kyonki (sab ko) Allāh kī ṭaraf lauṭ kar jānā hai. Pas in logoñ se kyā tawaquq' rakhī jā'e ki un kā 'ilm wa idrāk miṣl mu' minīn ke ho, aur mu' minīn kī ṭarah yih bhī ḥaqq ko qabūl kar leñ, aur qabūl-e-ḥaqq ke ṣamarāt-e-dīnī meñ bhī sharīk ho jā' en — kyonki mu' minīn kī miṣāl ḥaqq-bīnī meñ bīnā ādmī kī sī hai, aur un kī miṣāl 'adam-e-idrāk-e-ḥaqq meñ andhe ādmī kī sī hai.

Aur isī ṭarah mu' min ne idrāk-e-ḥaqq ke zarī'e se jis ṭarīq-e-hidāyat ko ikhtiyār kiyā hai, us ṭarīq-e-ḥaqq kī miṣāl nūr kī sī hai; aur kāfir ne 'adam-e-idrāk-e-ḥaqq se jis ṭarīqe ko ikhtiyār kiyā hai, us kī miṣāl ḡulmat kī sī hai — kamā qāla Ta'ālā "wa ja'alnā lahū nūran yamshī bihī fi-n-nāsi kaman maṣaluhū fi-ḡ-ḡulumāti laisa bi-khārijin minhā". Aur isī ṭarah jo ṣamara jannat waghaira is ṭarīq par murattab hogā, us kī miṣāl ḡill-e-bārid (ṭhañḡī chhāñw) kī sī hai; aur jo ṣamara jahannam waghaira ṭarīq-e-bāṭil par murattab hogā, us kī miṣāl jalṭī dhūp kī sī hai — kamā qāla Ta'ālā "ḡillīn mamdūd" ... wa dāllīn fī qaulihī "fī samūm".

Aur ḡāhir hai ki andhā aur āñkhoñ wālā barābar nahīñ, aur na tārikī aur roshnī, aur na chhāñw aur dhūp barābar hai; na un kā aur mu' minīn kā 'ilm wa idrāk barābar hogā, aur na un kā ṭarīqa, aur na un ke ṭarīqe kī ṣamara.

Aur mu' min aur kāfir meñ jo tafāwut bīnā wa nā-bīnā kā sā kahā gayā hai, us se maqṣūd nafī kamī kī hai, na ki ziyādtī kī — kyonki un meñ tafāwut murda aur zinda kā sā hai; pas un kī barābarī kī nafī ke li'e yoñ bhī kahnā ṣaḡīṭ hai ki zinde aur murde barābar nahīñ ho sakte. Aur jab yih murde haiñ, to murdoñ ko zinda karnā to Khudā kī qudrat meñ hī hai, banda kī qudrat meñ nahīñ. Pas agar Khudā hī un ko hidāyat kar de, tab to aur bāt hai; kyonki Allāh jis ko chāhtā hai sunwā detā hai. Bāqī āp kī koshish se yih log ḥaqq ko qabūl nahīñ karen ge, kyonki un kī miṣāl to murdoñ kī āp ne sun lī, aur āp un logoñ ko nahīñ sunā sakte jo qabroñ meñ (madfūn) haiñ.

Lekin agar yih na māneñ to āp ḡham meñ na paṛiye; kyonki (āp to kāfiroñ ke ḥaqq meñ) ṣirf ḡarāne wāle haiñ — āp ke ḡimme yih nahīñ ki woh ḡar kar mān bhī jā' en. Aur yih ḡarānā āp kā apnī ṭaraf se nahīñ, jaisā munkirīn-e-nubuwwat kahte the, balki hamārī ṭaraf se hai; kyonki ham hī ne āp ko (dīn-e-)ḥaqq de kar (musalmānoñ ko) khush-khabrī sunāne wālā, aur (kāfiroñ ko) ḡarsanāne wālā ... banā kar bhejā hai. Aur yih bhejnā koī anokhī bāt nahīñ, jaisā kāfir kahte the; balki (koī aisī ummat nahīñ hoī jis meñ koī ḡarsanāne wālā ya'nī paighambar) na guzrā ho.

Aur agar yih log āp ko jhuṭlā' en, to āp un guzashta paighambaroñ kā — jin kā abhī ijmālan ḡikr hu'a hai, aur tafṣīlan dūsri āyāt meñ ḡikr hai — kāfiroñ ke sāth mu'āmala yād kar ke apne dil ko samjhā lījiye; kyonki jo log un se pahle ho guzre haiñ, unhoñ to them with miracles, scriptures and illuminating Books — some with ṣaḥīfas, some with larger Books, some with only miracles to confirm prophethood, and carrying the rulings of the earlier prophets; then when they belied, "I seized those who disbelieved — see how was My rejection!" — likewise I shall punish these in their turn. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il on "wa lā taziru wāziratun wizra ukhrā": on Qiyāmah no one bears another's burden of sins; each must carry his own. The Sūrah al-ʿAnkabūt āyah "wa la-yaḥmilunna aṣqālahum wa aṣqālan ma'a aṣqālihim" — the misguiders will bear the load of their own straying and an equal second load for misguiding others — does not mean they lighten the load of those they misled; that stays full upon them, while the misguiders' crime being double, their load too becomes double (one for straying, one for making others stray); so there is no contradiction between the two āyāt (Rūḥ). · ʿIkrimah's tafsīr: on that Day a father will ask his son, "you know what a kind, affectionate father I was?" — the son affirms his countless favours and the hardships he bore for him in the world. The father says, "son, today I am in need of you; give me a little of your good deeds so I may be saved." The son replies, "dear father, you ask a very small thing, but if I give it you my own state will become like yours — I am helpless." He then says the same to his wife: "I sacrificed everything for you in the world; today I need a little of your good deeds." The wife gives the same answer the son gave. ʿIkrimah said: this is the meaning of "lā taziru wāziratun wizra ukhrā". The Qur'ān states this theme in several āyāt; in one place "lā yajzī wālidun ʿan waladihī wa lā maulūdun huwa jāzin ʿan wālidihī shai'ā" — that Day no father can redeem his son from the punishment, nor son his father; i.e. none will take another's sin on himself to save him. Aur Sūrah al-ʿAnkabūt meñ jo āyā hai — "wa la-yaḥmilunna aṣqālahum wa aṣqālan ma'a aṣqālihim" — ya'nī gumrah karne wāle log apne gumrah hone kā bojh bhī uṭhā'eñ ge, aur itnā hī dūsra bojh us kā uṭhā' en ge ki unhoñ ne dūsroñ ko gumrāh kiya thā — is kā yih maṭlab nahīn ki jin ko gumrāh kiya thā un kā bojh yih log kuchh halkā kar deñ ge; balki un kā bojh apnī jagah pūrā rahe gā, aur gumrāh karne wāloñ kā jurm dohrā hone kī wajh se un kā bojh bhī dohrā ho jā'e gā — ek gumrāh hone kā, dūsra dūsroñ ko gumrāh karne kā. Is li'e in donoñ āyatoñ meñ koī ta'āruṣ nahīn (Rūḥ).

Aur Ḥaḍrat 'Ikrimah raḥmatullāh 'alaihi ne āyat-e-mazkūra kī tafsīr meñ farmāyā ki is roz ek bāp apne beṭe se kahe gā ki "tum jānte ho ki main tumhārā kaisā shafīq aur mihrbān bāp thā?" Woh iqrār kare gā ki "beshak āp ke iḥsānāt be-shumār haiñ, aur mere li'e āp ne dunyā meñ bahut kulfateñ uṭhā'ī haiñ." Ḥaḍrat 'Ikrimah ne farmāyā ki yihī murād hai is āyat "lā taziru wāziratun wizrā ukhrā" kī. The āyah itself makes clear that "making hear" here means beneficial, effective hearing; mere audible conveyance always reached the kuffār — the Prophet ﷺ preached and they heard. The meaning: you cannot, by reciting the true word, bring onto the path of truth those who have moved from the abode of action (dunyā) to the abode of recompense (ākhirah) — where even a confession of faith is not accepted; such is the disbelievers' case. So the "hearing" negated for the dead here is the specific beneficial hearing by which the hearer leaves falsehood for truth. Hence this āyah has nothing to do with the samā'-e-mautā question — whether the dead hear the speech of the living is a separate, independent issue, discussed in detail in Sūrat al-Rūm and Sūrat al-Naml. · Verse table (new rukū'): v.27

Is se ṣābit hu'ā ki murdoñ ke sunāne kī jo nafī is āyat meñ kī gā'ī hai, us se murād khāṣ samā'-e-nāfi' hai, jis ke darje se sunne wālā bāṭil ko chhoṛ kar ḥaqq par ā jā'e. closes: "inna-llāha ‘azīzun ghafūr" (indeed Allāh is Mighty, Forgiving). ·
Khulāṣa (vv.27–28): Have you not observed that Allāh sent water from the sky and by it produced fruits of varied colours — whether the kinds themselves differ, or one and the same kind comes in different colours; likewise the mountains have varied tracts (some white, some red), and the whites and reds themselves vary (deep white and deep red, pale white and pale red), and some are intensely black; and among people, animals and cattle too some have varied colours — sometimes the colour-difference goes with a difference of kind and species, sometimes within one kind. Those who ponder the proofs of [Allāh's] power gain knowledge of His greatness; and only they who know His greatness fear Him. (If the knowledge of His greatness is merely creedal and rational, this fear too stays creedal-rational; if the knowledge reaches the level of ḥāl [experienced state], the fear too becomes a ḥāl, so that one feels a natural aversion and pain at anything against it.) Truly, fearing Allāh is necessary in itself, for He is Mighty and can bring benefit or harm; and it is necessary for one's own end too, for He greatly forgives the sins of those who fear Him. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il — Rabṭ-e-āyāt: some say these āyāt return to the theme of tauḥīd, established by the proofs of [Allāh's] power. Others say the preceding āyāt stated the varying conditions of people and their similitudes — "wa mā yastawī-l-a‘mā wa-l-baṣīr, wa lā-ẓ-ẓulumātu wa lā-n-nūr, wa lā-ẓ-ẓillu wa lā-l-ḥarūr" — and this is a further exposition: that mutual disparity among created things is an innate, natural matter, present even in plants and minerals, and this difference is not only of form and colour but of nature and temperaments too.

(Urdu) Taḥqīq Allāh zabardast hai, bahut bakhshne wālā.

————— Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr —————

(Ai mukhāṭab!) kyā tū ne is bāt par naẓar nahīn kī ki Allāh Ta‘ālā ne āsmān se pānī utārā, phir ham ne (us pānī) ke zarī‘e mukhtalif rangaton ke phal lagā’e — khwāh is ẓarah ki un kī anwā‘ wa aqsām hī alag alag hoñ, yā ek hī nau‘ aur ek hī qism ke phal mukhtalif rangaton ke hoñ. Aur (isī ẓarah) pahāron ke bhī mukhtalif ḥiṣṣe haiñ — ba‘ẓe safed aur ba‘ẓe surkh; phir khud un (safed o surkh) kī bhī rangateñ mukhtalif haiñ — ba‘ẓ bahut safed aur bahut surkh, ba‘ẓ halke safed aur halke surkh; aur ba‘ẓ (na safeda na surkh, balki) bahut gahre siyāh. Aur isī ẓarah ādmiyon, jānwaron aur chaupā’on meñ bhī ba‘ẓ aise haiñ ki un kī rangateñ mukhtalif haiñ — ba‘ẓ auqāt ikhtilāf-e-aqsām o aṣnāf ke sāth yih ikhtilāf-e-rang hotā hai, aur ba‘ẓ auqāt ek hī qism meñ mukhtalif rang hote haiñ. To jo log dalā’il-e-qudrat meñ ghaur karte haiñ, un ko Khudā Ta‘ālā kī ‘aẓmat kā ‘ilm hotā hai. Aur Khudā se wuhī bande ẓarte haiñ jo us kī ‘aẓmat kā ‘ilm rakhte haiñ.

Ba‘ẓ ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā hai ki in āyāt meñ ‘aud (rujū‘) hai maẓmūn-e-tauḥīd kī ṭaraf, jis ko dalā‘il-e-qudrat se mudallal kiyā gayā hai. Aur ba‘ẓ ne farmāyā hai ki sābiqa āyāt meñ logon ke aḥwāl kā mukhtalif honā, aur us kī tamṣīlāt bayān farmā‘ī haiñ — "wa mā yastawi-l-a‘mā wa-l-baṣīr; wa lā-ẓ-ẓulumātu wa lā-n-nūr; wa lā-ẓ-ẓillu wa lā-l-ḥarūr" — yih usī kā mazīd bayān o tauẓīḥ hai ki makhluqāt-e-āṣmāniyya meñ bāham tafāwut ek khilqī aur ṭab‘ī amr hai, aur nabātāt wa jamādāt tak meñ maujūd hai; aur yih ikhtilāf shīr ṣūrat aur laun (rang) hī meñ nahīñ, balki ṭab‘ aur ṭabā‘ī meñ bhī hai. PDF PAGE 337 · [Q 35:27-28 Ma‘ārif o Masā’il, cont.] · Grammar/points: in "ṣamarātīn mukhtalifan alwānuḥā" the colour-difference of fruits is put as a ḥāl (accusative "mukhtalifan"); but for the mountains and for humans/animals the difference is stated as a ṣifat (nominative "mukhtalifun") — hinting that the colour-variation of fruits is not fixed to one state, it keeps changing at intervals, whereas the colours of mountains, humans and animals generally stay put and do not change. · "judah" (in the mountains) is the plural of "juddah" — its well-known sense being the small track also called "jādah"; some take "juddah" to mean a portion or tract. Either way the point is the mountains' parts being of varied colours; white is mentioned first and black last, with red ("ḥumr") in between along with "mukhtalifun alwānuḥā" — a hint that there are really only two base colours in the world, white and black, and all other colours are compounded of varying degrees of that whiteness and blackness. · On "kazālika; innamā yakhsha-llāha min ‘ibādihi-l-‘ulamā’": the jamhūr place the waqf (pause) at "kazālik", marking that the word connects with the preceding theme — that Allāh's making creation in varied kinds and colours with great wisdom is a special sign of His power and wisdom. Some narrations, though, take the word to connect with the next clause: just as fruits, mountains, animals and humans are distributed over varied colours, so in khashiyyat-Allāh too people's ranks differ — some attain its highest degree, some less; and it hinges on knowledge — the degree of knowledge is the degree of fear (Rūḥ). · The earlier āyah "innamā tunziru-llazīna yakhshauna rabbahum bi-l-ghaib" consoled the Prophet ﷺ that only those who fear their Lord unseen profit from his warning and preaching; hence "innamā yakhsha-llāha min 'ibādihi-l-'ulamā'" mentions those who possess the fear of Allāh... "innamā" in Arabic conveys restriction (ḥaṣr), so on the face of it the clause means: only the 'ulamā fear Allāh...

"ṣamarātin mukhtalifan alwānuhā" — ṣamarāt meñ ikhtilāf-e-alwān ko tarkīb-e-naḥwī ke i'tibār se ḥāl banā kar "mukhtalifan" manṣūb zikr farmāyā hai. Aur āge pahāron meñ rangaton kā ikhtilāf, isī ṭarah insānon aur chaupā' on waghaira meñ yih ikhtilāf, ba-ṣurat-e-ṣifat bayān farmāyā hai — isī li'e "mukhtalifun" marfū' lāyā gayā. Is meñ yih ishāra ho saktā hai ki ṣamarāt kā ikhtilāf-e-alwān to ek ḥāl par nahīn, woh thore thore waqfe se badaltā rahtā hai; bi-khilāf pahāron ke, aur insānon aur jānwaron ke, ki un ke jo rang haiñ woh 'umūman qā'im rahne wāle haiñ, badalte nahīn.

Aur pahāron meñ "judah" farmāyā — yih "juddah" kī jam' hai, jis ke ma'rūf ma'nī us chhoṭe se raste ke haiñ jis ko "jādah" bhī kahā jātā hai. Aur ba'z ḥaḍrāt ne "juddah" ke ma'nē qit'a wa ḥiṣṣa qarār diye. Maṭlab donoñ ṣuratoñ meñ pahāron ke ajzā' kā mukhtalif alwān honā hai, jin meñ sab se pahle safed kā, aur ākhir meñ siyāh kā zikr farmāyā; darmiyān meñ "aḥmar" ya 'nī surkh ke zikr ke sāth "mukhtalifun alwānuhā" farmāyā. Is meñ is ṭaraf ishāra nikal saktā hai ki aṣl rang dunyā meñ do hī haiñ — safed aur siyāh; aur bāqī rang isī safedī aur siyāhī ke mukhtalif darjoñ se murakkab ho kar bante haiñ.

"kazālika; innamā yakhsha-llāha min 'ibādihi-l-'ulamā'" — is jagah lafz "kazālik" par jamhūr ke nazdīk waqf hai, jo is kī 'alāmat hai ki yih lafz pichhle mazmūn ke sāth muta'alliq hai — ya 'nī makhluqāt ko mukhtalif anwā' wa aqsām aur mukhtalif alwān par baṭī ḥikmat ke sāth banānā, yih Allāh Ta'ālā kī qudrat wa ḥikmat kī khāṣ nishānī hai.

Aur ba'z riwāyāt se mustafād hotā hai ki is lafz kā ta'alluq agle jumle se hai — ya 'nī jis ṭarah ṣamarāt, pahār, ḥaywānāt aur insān mukhtalif rangoñ par munqasim haiñ, isī ṭarah khashiyyat-Allāh meñ bhī logon ke darajāt mukhtalif haiñ; kisī ko us kā a'lā darja ḥāṣil hai, kisī ko kam. Aur madār is kā 'ilm par hai — jis darje kā 'ilm ho, usī darje kī khashiyyat bhī hai (Rūḥ).

Sābiqa āyāt meñ irshād farmāyā thā "innamā tunziru-llazīna yakhshauna rabbahum bi-l-ghaib", jis meñ Nabī Karīm ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ko tasallī dene ke li'e farmāyā thā ki āp ke inzār wa tablīgh kā fā'ida to ṣirf woh log uṭhāte haiñ jo ḡhā'ibāna Allāh Ta'ālā se khauf wa khashiyyat rakhte haiñ. Us kī munāsabat se āyat "innamā yakhsha-llāha min 'ibādihi-l-'ulamā'" meñ un logon kā zikr hai jin ko Allāh Ta'ālā kī khashiyyat ḥāṣil hai. Aur jaisā pahle kuffār o munkirīn kā aur un ke aḥwāl kā zikr āyā hai, is meñ ... khāṣ Auliya-Allāh kā zikr hai. Lafz "innamā" 'arabī zabān meñ ḥaṣr bayān karne ke li'e ātā hai; is li'e is jumle ke ma'nī bi-zāhir yih haiñ ki

PDF PAGE 338 · [Q 35:28 Ma‘ārif o Masā’il, cont.: ‘ilm and khashiyyah] · Ibn ‘Aṭīyya and other imāms of tafsīr: just as "innamā" is used for restriction (ḥaṣr), it is also used to state a special quality; and here the meaning is that khashiyyat-Allāh is the distinctive, inseparable trait of the ‘ulamā — it is not necessary that a non-scholar has no fear at all (Baḥr al-Muḥīṭ, Abū Ḥayyān). · "'ulamā'" here = those who have verified knowledge of Allāh's essence and attributes, and who keep in view His workings in the created world and His favours and bounties. Merely knowing Arabic, or its morphology, syntax and rhetoric, does not make one an "‘ālim" in the Qur’ān's usage unless he has attained ma‘rifat of Allāh in the manner described. · Ḥasan al-Baṣrī: the "‘ālim" is one who fears Allāh in private and in public, loves what Allāh has encouraged, and hates what is hateful to Allāh. · ‘Abdullāh bin Mas‘ūd (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): "laisa-l-‘ilmu bi-kaṣrati-l-ḥadīṣ; wa lākinna-l-‘ilma ‘an (khashiyati-llāh) kaṣrati-l-khashyah" — memorising many aḥādīṣ or talking much is not knowledge; knowledge is that which carries the fear of Allāh with it. · Aḥmad bin Ṣāliḥ al-Miṣrī: khashiyyat-Allāh is not recognised by abundance of narration or information, but by following the Kitāb and Sunnah (Ibn Kaṣīr). · Shihāb al-Dīn al-Suhrawardī: the āyah hints that one in whom there is no khashiyyah is no ‘ālim — confirmed also by the sayings of the great Salaf: · Rabī‘ bin Anas (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): "man lam yakhsha-llāha fa-laisa bi-‘ālim" — one who does not fear Allāh is not a scholar. · Mujaḥid: "innama-l-‘ālimu man khashiya-llāh" — the scholar is only he who fears Allāh. · Sa‘d bin Ibrāhīm, asked who in Madīnah was the most "afqah", said: "atqāhum li-rabbih" — the one most fearing of his Lord. · And ‘Alī al-Murtaḍā (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) defined the faqīh thus: "inna-l-faqīha ḥaqqa-l-faqīhi man ..." — the complete faqīh is he who [makes people despair not of Allāh's mercy]...

Magar Ibn ‘Aṭīyya waghaira A'imma-e-tafsīr ne farmāyā ki ḥarf "innamā" jaise ḥaṣr ke li'e ātā hai, aise hī kiṣī khuṣūṣiyyat ke bayān karne ke li'e bhī musta‘mal hotā hai; aur yahān yihī murād hai ki khashiyyat-Allāh ‘ulamā kā waṣf-e-khāṣ aur lāzim hai. Yih zarūrī nahīn ki ḡhair-e-‘ālim meñ khashiyyat na ho (Baḥr al-Muḥīṭ, Abū Ḥayyān).

Aur āyat meñ lafẓ "'ulamā'" se murād woh log haiñ jo Allāh Ta‘ālā jalla shānuhū kī zāt wa ṣifāt kā muḥaqqaq ‘ilm rakhte haiñ, aur makhluqāt-e-‘ālam meñ us ke taṣarrufāt par, aur us ke iḥsānāt wa in‘āmāt par naẓar rakhte haiñ. Şîrf ‘arabī zabān, yā us ke şarf o naḥw aur funūn-e-balāghat jānne wāloñ ko Qur’ān kī iṣṭilāḥ meñ "'ālim" nahīn kahā jātā, jab tak us ko Allāh Ta‘ālā kī ma‘rifat mazkūra ṭarīq par ḥāṣil na ho.

Ḥasan Baṣrī ne is āyat kī tafsīr meñ farmāyā ki "'ālim" woh shakhṣ hai jo khalwat wa

jalwat meñ Allāh se ɗare, aur jis chīz kī Allāh Ta‘ālā ne tarǧhīb dī hai woh us ko marghūb ho, aur jo chīz Allāh ke nazdīk mabǧhūz hai us ko us se nafrat ho.

Aur Ḥaḍrat ‘Abdullāh bin Mas‘ūd raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu ne farmāyā:

(Urdu) Ya‘nī bahut sī aḥādīṣ yād kar lenā, yā bahut bāteñ kar lenā, koī ‘ilm nahīñ;
balki ‘ilm woh hai jis ke sāth Allāh kā khauf ho.

Ḥāṣil yihī hai ki jis qadr kisī meñ Khudā Ta‘ālā kā khauf ho, woh usī darje kā ‘ālim hai.

Aur Aḥmad bin Ṣāliḥ Miṣrī ne farmāyā ki khashiyyat-Allāh ko kaṣrat-e-riwāyat aur kaṣrat-e-ma‘lūmāt se nahīñ pahchānā jā saktā; balki us ko Kitāb wa Sunnat ke ittibā‘ se pahchānā jātā hai (Ibn Kaṣīr).

Shaikh Shihāb al-Dīn Suhrawardī ne farmāyā ki is āyat meñ ishāra pāyā jātā hai ki jis shakhṣ meñ khashiyyat na ho woh ‘ālim nahīñ — is kī taṣdīq akābir-e-Salaf ke aqwāl se bhī hotī hai.

Ḥaḍrat Rabī‘ bin Anas raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu ne farmāyā:

"man lam yakhsha-llāha fa-laisa bi-‘ālim"
(Urdu) Ya‘nī jo Allāh se nahīñ ɗartā woh ‘ālim nahīñ.

Aur Mujāhid ne farmāyā:

"inna-l-‘ālimu man khashiya-llāh"
(Urdu) Ya‘nī ‘ālim to ṣirf wuhī hai jo Allāh se ɗare.

Sa‘d bin Ibrāhīm se kisī ne pūchhā ki Madīna meñ sab se ziyāda "afqah" kaun hai? To farmāyā:

"atqāhum li-rabbih"
(Urdu) Ya‘nī jo apne Rab se sab se ziyāda ɗarne wālā ho.

Aur Ḥaḍrat ‘Alī Murtaḍā raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu ne faqīh kī ta‘rīf is ɗarāḥ farmā‘ī:

them in disobedience of Allāh, nor make them feel safe from Allāh's punishment, nor abandon the Qur'ān out of preference for something else. "Alā lā khaira fī 'ibādatin lā 'ilma fihā, wa lā 'ilmin lā fiqha fihī, wa lā qirā'atin lā tadabbura fihā" — no good in worship without knowledge, nor in knowledge without understanding, nor in recitation without pondering (Qurṭubī). · One might object that many 'ulamā are seen to lack the fear of Allāh — since it was shown that mere knowing of Arabic is not "'ilm" in Allāh's sight, and one without khashiyyah is no "'ālim" in the Qur'ān's idiom. Answer: khashiyyah is sometimes only creedal and rational, whereby one keeps the sharī'ah's rulings with [conscious] effort; and sometimes it reaches the level of ḥāl and a firmly-rooted disposition (malaka rāsikha), in which following the sharī'ah becomes a demand of one's very nature. The first degree of khashiyyah is what is required and necessary for an "'ālim"; the second is the more excellent, higher degree — not obligatory (from Bayān al-Qur'ān). · Verse table (vv.29–30): those who recite Allāh's Book, keep up the ṣalāh, and spend of what We have provided them, secretly and openly, hope for a trade that will never fail — that He may pay them their wages in full and increase them from His bounty; indeed He is Forgiving, Appreciative. · v.31 begins: and what We have revealed to you of the Book — it is the truth, confirming what came before it...

... ('Alī raḍiyallāhu 'anhu kā qaul, jāri:) ... logon ko Allāh kī raḥmat se māyūs bhī na kare, aur un ko gunāhoñ kī ruḵṣat bhī na de, aur un ko Allāh ke 'aẓāb se muṭma'inn bhī na kare, aur Qur'ān ko chhoṛ kar kisī dūsri chīz kī ṭaraf raḡibat na kare. Aur farmāyā: "Alā lā khaira fī 'ibādatin lā 'ilma fihā, wa lā 'ilmin lā fiqha fihī, wa lā qirā'atin lā tadabbura fihā" — us 'ibādat meñ koī khair nahīñ jo be-'ilm ke ho; aur us 'ilm meñ koī khair nahīñ jo be-faqāhat (samajh-būjh) ke ho; aur us qirā'at meñ koī khair nahīñ jo baḡhair tadabbur ke ho (Qurṭubī).

Mazkūra taṣrīḥāt se yih shubha ho saktā hai ki bahut se 'ulamā ko dekhā jātā hai ki un meñ Khudā kā khauf wa khashiyyat nahīñ — kyonki taṣrīḥāt-e-bālā se ma'lūm hu'ā ki Allāh ke nazdīk ṣirf 'arabī jāñne kā nām "'ilm", aur jāñne wāle kā nām "'ālim" nahīñ; jis meñ khashiyyat na ho woh Qur'ān kī iṣṭilāḥ meñ 'ālim hī nahīñ.

PDF PAGE 341 · [Q 35:37 end → Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (vv.29-38)] · v.37 closes: "a-wa lam
nu'ammirkum mā yatazakkaru fihī man tazakkara; wa jā'akumu-n-naẓīr; fa-zūqū fa-mā li-z-ẓālimīna min naṣīr" — did We not give you life long enough for anyone who would take heed to take heed? And the warner came to you; so taste — there is no helper for the wrongdoers. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (vv.29–38): those who recite Allāh's Book (Qur'ān) — acting on it — keep up the ṣalāh diligently, and spend of what We have given them secretly and openly, hope (by Allāh's promise) for an ever-profitable trade that will never slump; because the buyer of this bargain is no creature — who values a deal sometimes and not at other times — but Allāh Himself, who will surely pay by His promise, not for His own end but purely to benefit them: He will pay their wages in full ("jannātu 'adn...", as follows), and beyond the wage give more from His bounty — e.g. rewarding one good deed as ten days' worth, per "man jā'a bi-l-ḥasanati fa-lahū 'ashru amṣālihā". Indeed He is greatly Forgiving, Appreciative — so even if some shortfall remains in their deeds, He will value them so as to add bounty beyond the wage. · And truly the Qur'ān is such a thing [worth acting on]; for this Book We sent you by waḥy is entirely correct — it confirms the earlier Books in the sense of declaring them "munazzal min Allāh" (as originally sent, even if later corrupted); in every way this Book is complete. And since Allāh fully knows His servants' state and sees their interests best, sending down such a complete Book at that time was in accord with wisdom. One who acts on the complete Book deserves a complete recompense — the sum of the base wage and the added bounty. So to bestow this wage and bounty We sent this Book first upon you, then placed it in the hands of those We chose, by their faith, from among all Our servants in the world...

PDF PAGE 342 · [Q 35:32-38 Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr, cont. and end] · "those We chose" = the people of Islam, who by their faith are accepted with Allāh among all the world's people, even if some are otherwise blameworthy through bad deeds. So We placed the Book in the Muslims' hands. These chosen, favoured people are of three classes: some wrong themselves (by committing some sin or other); some neither sin much nor exceed the necessary bounds in obedience — a middle rank; and some, by Allāh's tawfīq, keep advancing in good — avoiding sins and undertaking the supererogatory along with the obligatory. We placed the Book in the hands of all three classes of Muslims. And this — the delivery of such a complete Book — is Allāh's great bounty, for by acting on it they became deserving of such reward. · Then follows the account of that reward and bounty: they are everlasting gardens which these people (of v.29, "inna-llazīna yatlūna...") enter; they are adorned with bracelets of gold and pearl, their garment there silk; and entering, they say: endless thanks to Allāh who removed grief from us forever; indeed our Lord is greatly Forgiving, Appreciative, who by His bounty settled us in the abode of permanent stay, where no toil and no weariness reaches us. — Such is the state of those who act on Allāh's Book and rulings. · And those who, contrary to them, disbelieve — for them is the fire of Jahannam: death will not come to them that they might die (and escape by dying), nor will its punishment be lightened for them. Thus do We requite every disbeliever. And they will cry out therein: our Lord, take us out — we will now do good deeds, unlike what we did before. The reply will be: did We not give you life long enough for anyone who would understand to understand? — and We did not stop at giving life; a warner (a prophet) also reached you, directly or indirectly. But you did not listen. So taste [the consequence]; for such wrongdoers there is no helper — We will not help, out of displeasure, and others cannot, being powerless. · [End of Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr.]

PDF PAGE 343 · [Q 35:29-30 Ma‘ārif o Masā’il] · The earlier āyah mentioned an inward quality of the ‘ulamā/‘arifīn — khashiyyat-Allāh; this āyah mentions their bodily-limb qualities. The first is tilāwat of the Qur’ān; the intent is those who persevere in reciting Allāh’s Book — the muḍārī’ form "yatlūna" indicates continuity. Some take "yatlūna" in its literal sense ("they follow the Qur’ān in practice"), but the first tafsīr is preferred — though the context also establishes that only recitation joined with acting on the Qur’ān counts, while the word "tilāwat" keeps its known meaning. Muṭarrif bin ‘Abdillāh bin al-Shikhhīr said: "hāzihī āyatu-l-qurrā'" — this āyah is for the reciters who make Qur’ān-recitation their life’s occupation. · Their second quality is establishing ṣalāh, the third spending in Allāh’s way. "sirran wa ‘alāniyatan" hints that in most acts of worship secrecy is better (to avoid riyā’), yet at times religious interests require openness — as with jamā‘ah prayer (azān from the minarets, performed openly with the largest possible gathering), and at times the open display of spending is needed to encourage others. The fuqahā’ detail: a farḍ/wājib or mu’akkad sunnah [act] is better done openly; nafl prayer is better done secretly. Likewise where spending wealth is farḍ or wājib — zakāt-e-farḍ, ṣadaqat al-fiṭr, qurbānī — doing it openly is better and more excellent; other voluntary ṣadaqāt are more excellent given secretly. · Those bearing all three qualities — perseverance in tilāwat, establishing ṣalāh, and cheerful spending in Allāh's way beyond just the farḍ/wājib into nafl ṣadaqāt — of them a further quality is stated: "yarjūna tijāratān lan tabūr"; "lan tabūr" is from "bawār" (to be lost/come to ruin). Meaning: these believers who keep to the said qualities hope for a trade that never suffers loss...

In āyāt se pahlī āyat mein 'ulamā-e-Ḥaqq — jo 'ārif billāh hon — un kī ek aisī ṣifāt kā zikr thā jis kā ta'alluq qalb se hai, ya'nī khashiyyat-Allāh mazkūra al-ṣadr. Pahlī āyat mein inhī Auliya-Allāh kī chand aisī ṣifāt kā zikr hai jo a'dā wa jawāriḥ se adā hotī hain. In mein pahlī ṣifāt tilāwat-e-Qur'ān hī hai; aur murād is se woh log hain jo tilāwat-e-kitāb-Allāh par mudāwamat karte hain — "yatlūna" ba-ṣīgha-e-muḍāri' us kī ṭaraf mushīr hai.

Aur ba'ẓ ḥaḍrāt ne is jagah "yatlūna" us ke luḡhawī ma'nē mein liyā hai, ya'nī "woh 'amal mein ittibā' karte hain Qur'ān kā"; magar pahlī tafsīr rājiḥ hai, agarcheh siyāq wa sibāq se yih bhī muta'ayyin hai ki tilāwat wuhī mu'tabar hai jis ke sāth Qur'ān par 'amal bhī ho; magar lafẓ "tilāwat" apne ma'rūf ma'nē mein hai.

In kī dūsarī ṣifāt iqāmat-e-ṣalāt, aur tīsarī Allāh kī rāh mein māl kharch karnā hai. "kharch karne ke sāth sirrān wa 'alāniyatan" farmā kar is ṭaraf ishāra kar diyā gayā ki akṣar 'ibādāt mein riyā se bachne ke li'e khufya karnā behtar hotā hai; magar ba'ẓ auqāt maṣāliḥ-e-dīniya is ko bhī muqtaḍī hotī hain ki i'lān ke sāth kiyā jā'e — jaise namāz-e-jamā'at, ki mīnāron par azān de kar, aur ziyāda se ziyāda ijtīmā' ke sāth 'alāniya ṭaur par adā karne kā ḥukm hai. Isī ṭarah ba'ẓ auqāt Allāh kī rāh mein kharch karne kā iẓhār bhī dūsron kī tarḡhīb ke li'e ṣarūrī hotā hai.

Ḥaḍrāt Fuqahā' ne namāz aur infāq fī sabīl-Allāh donoḥ mein yih tafṣīl farmā'ī hai ki jo farḍ o wājib yā sunnat-e-mu'akkada hai, us ko to 'alāniya karnā behtar hai; us ke siwā nafl namāz kā khufya adā karnā behtar hai. PDF PAGE 344 · [Q 35:29-30 Ma'ārif, cont.: "yarjūna" and the trade-similitude] · The word "yarjūna" (they hope) indicates that a believer, in this world, has no room to be certain of any of his good deeds — that Allāh will surely reward and forgive him for it — because complete forgiveness cannot come to anyone by his deed alone; however much righteous action a person does, he cannot fulfil the due of Allāh's greatness and worship. So everyone's forgiveness comes only by Allāh's bounty — a ḥadīth states this theme explicitly. Moreover, with every good deed one must stay alert to the danger that many good deeds carry a hidden satanic or selfish trick that voids acceptance, or a bad deed accompanies the good deed that blocks its acceptance. Hence the word "yarjūna" hints that even after keeping all the righteous deeds, no one has the right to be certain of his salvation and high ranks — at most he can hope (Rūḥ). · The similitude of righteous deeds as trade: this āyah casts the mentioned righteous deeds, by way of comparison, as a "trade" — as another āyah casts īmān and jihād fī sabīl-Allāh as trade: "hal adullukum 'alā tijāratin tunjīkum min 'azābin alīm; tu'minūna bi-llāhi wa rasūlihī wa tujāhidūna fī sabīli-llāhi bi-amwālikum wa anfusikum". Trade is like this: a merchant invests his capital and time in some work when it will grow his capital and bring profit. But every worldly trade carries, alongside profit, the risk of loss; the added phrase "lan tabūr" signals that in this trade-of-the-hereafter there is no possibility of loss. Allāh's righteous servants who bear the toil of good deeds do not trade like ordinary traders — they hope for a trade that never suffers loss. Mentioning their hope subtly hints that Allāh, the most Generous, will not cut off the hope of the hopeful heart but fulfil it completely; indeed the next clause states their hope is limited only to receiving the full recompense of their deed, while Allāh of His grace will give more than they hope: "li-yuwaffīyahum ujūrahum wa yazīdahum min faḍlih". "li-yuwaffīyahum" connects to "lan tabūr" — their trade being [not] liable to loss...

... "yarjūna" ke lafz se is ṭaraf ishāra hai ki mu'min ko dunyā meñ apne kisī bhī nek 'amal par yaqīn karne kī gunjā'ish nahīn, ki yih ham ko zārūr ajr wa bakhshish de gā, aur is kā ajr wa ṣawāb ham ko yaqīnī mile gā; kyoñki mukammal maḡfirat aur bakhshish to kisī insān kī bhī ṣirf us ke 'amal se nahīn ho saktī — kyoñki insān kitnā bhī

Is āyat meṅ in a‘māl-e-ṣāliḥa-e-maḡkūra ko ba-ṭaur tashbīḥ wa miṣāl ek tijārat se ta‘bīr kiyā gayā, jaisā ki ek dūsri āyat meṅ īmān aur jihād fī sabīl-Allāh ko tijārat se ta‘bīr farmāyā hai: "hal adullukum ‘alā tijāratin tunjīkum min ‘azābin alīm; tu‘minūna bi-llāhi wa rasūlihī wa tujāhidūna fī sabīli-llāhi bi-amwālikum wa anfusikum".

Tijārat kī miṣāl is waṣf meṅ hai ki tājir apnā sarmāya aur waqt kisī kām meṅ us waqt lagātā hai jab us se us kā sarmāya baḥḥ jā‘e gā, aur naf‘ pahuṅche gā. PDF PAGE 345 · [Q 35:29-30 Ma‘ārif, cont.: faḍl/shafā‘ah → "ṣumma auratna-l-kitāb"] · ...their wages will be paid in full, and by His bounty and grace Allāh will give far more than the reward they hoped for. · This "faḍl and increase" includes Allāh's promise to multiply a believer's reward manifold — the least being tenfold for one deed, up to seven hundredfold, indeed even more; and it includes accepting their intercession for other, lesser sinners — as in a ḥadīth of ‘Abdullāh bin Mas‘ūd (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) from the Prophet ﷺ, in tafsīr of this faḍl: those to whom these people had done kindness in the world, they will intercede for them, and despite deserving the punishment of Jahannam they will be saved by that intercession (Tafsīr Mazḥarī, via Ibn Abī Ḥātim). (Plainly intercession is only for the people of faith; none is permitted to intercede for a disbeliever. Likewise, in the state of Jannah, seeing the Real (dīdār) is the greatest part of this bounty.) · "ṣumma auratna-l-kitāba-llazīna-ṣṭafainā min ‘ibādinā": the particle "ṣumma" is for conjunction and indicates that the two things it joins, though sharing the essential quality, stand in an order of precedence — the first prior, the second later. This precedence is sometimes by time, sometimes by rank and degree. Here "ṣumma" joins to "auḥainā" of the prior āyah; the meaning: We first sent this Book — the Qur’ān, which is pure truth and confirms all earlier heavenly Books — to you as revelation; then We made those We chose from among Our servants heirs to it. By rank it is clear: sending the Qur’ān to the Prophet ﷺ by waḥy is prior in rank, and its bestowal on the ummah of Muḥammad ﷺ later. And if "making the ummah heir to the Qur’ān" means that, instead of leaving gold and land as inheritance for those after him, he left Allāh's Book as inheritance — as a ḥadīth attests, "the prophets do not leave dirham and dīnār as inheritance; they leave knowledge", and another, "the ‘ulamā are the heirs of the prophets" — then this precedence can also be temporal: We granted you this Book, then you left it for the ummah... [marginal note: "made heir" means "granted"; expressing this gift as "inheritance" hints that, as an heir gets his share without any act of his...]

heir gets his share without effort, this wealth of the Qur'ān has likewise been given to these chosen servants without toil. · "allazīna-ṣṭafainā min 'ibādīnā" — those We chose and favoured from among Our servants. Per the jamhūr this means the ummah of Muḥammad ﷺ — its 'ulamā directly, and others through the 'ulamā. 'Alī bin Abī Ṭalḥa from Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): "allazīna-ṣṭafainā" = the ummah of Muḥammad ﷺ; Allāh made them heirs to the Book He sent down — the Qur'ān, which, as confirmer and preserver of the earlier Books, comprehends the contents of all heavenly Books, so making them its heir is as if making them heir to all heavenly Books. Then He said "fa-minhum ṣālimun li-nafsiḥ; wa minhum muqtaṣid; wa minhum sābiqun bi-l-khairāti bi-izni-llāh" — this ummah's wrongdoer too will be forgiven; the moderate will get an easy reckoning; and the foremost will enter Jannah without reckoning (Ibn Kaṣīr). · The word "iṣṭafā" shows the ummah's greatest distinction, for in the Qur'ān it is mostly used of the prophets: "Allāhu yaṣṭafī mina-l-malā'ikati rusulan wa mina-n-nās" (al-Ḥajj), and "inna-llāha-ṣṭafā Ādama wa Nūḥan wa āla Ibrāhīma wa āla 'Imrāna 'ala-l-'ālamīn" (Āl 'Imrān). Here Allāh joined the ummah of Muḥammad ﷺ with the prophets and angels in "iṣṭafā" — though its degrees differ: the prophets' and angels' iṣṭafā is of the highest degree, the ummah's of a later degree. · "fa-minhum ḡālimun li-nafsih; wa minhum muqtaṣid; wa minhum sābiqun bi-l-khairāt" — this clause explains the first: those We chose and made heirs to the Qur'ān are of three classes: ḡālim, muqtaṣid, sābiq. Ibn Kaṣīr defines them: "ḡālim" — one who is deficient in some obligations and also commits some forbidden things; "muqtaṣid" (the middle-course one) — one who performs all the shar'ī obligations and avoids all the forbidden, but sometimes omits some recommended acts and falls into some disliked ones; "sābiq bi-l-khairāt" — one who performs all obligations and recommended acts, avoids all forbidden and disliked things, and [even abstains from] some permissible things...

... koshish ke [baḡhair] mil jāṭā hai, Qur'ān-e-Karīm kī yih daulat bhī in muntakhab bandoṅ ko isī ṭaraḡ baḡhair kisī meḡnat wa mashaqqat ke de dī ga'ī hai.

"allazīna-ṣṭafainā min 'ibādinā" — ya'nī jin ko ham ne muntakhab aur pasandīda qarār diyā apne bandoṅ meṅ se. Jamḡūr mufasssīrīn ke nazdīk is se murād ummat-e-Muḥammadiya hai — is ke 'ulamā bilā-wāsiṭa, aur dūsre log ba-wāsiṭa-e-'ulamā.

'Alī bin Abī Ṭalḡa ne Ḥaḡrat Ibn 'Abbās raḡiyallāhu 'anhu se is āyat kī tafsīr meṅ naql kiyā hai ki "allazīna-ṣṭafainā" se murād ummat-e-Muḥammadiya hai. Allāh Ta'ālā ne in ko us kitāb kā wāriṣ banāyā hai jo us ne utārī hai — ya'nī Qur'ān, jo sab kutub-e-sābiqa kī taṣḡīq wa ḡifāḡat karne wālī kitāb hone kī ḡaiṣiyyat se tamām āsmānī kitāboṅ ke maḡāmīn kā jāmi' hai; is kā wāriṣ banānā go'ī sab āsmānī kitāboṅ kā wāriṣ banānā hai.

Phir farmāyā: "fa-minhum ḡālimun li-nafsih; wa minhum muqtaṣid; wa minhum sābiqun bi-l-khairāti bi-izni-llāh" — ya'nī us ummat kā ḡālim bhī bakhshā jā'e gā, aur miyāna-rawī karne wāle ke li'e āsān ḡisāb liyā jā'e gā, aur sābiq baḡhair-e-ḡisāb ke jannat meṅ dākḡil hogā (Ibn Kaṣīr).

Is āyat meṅ lafḡ "aṣṭafainā" se ummat-e-Muḥammadiya kī sab se baḡī 'aḡīm faḡīlat ḡāḡir hoī. Kyoṅki lafḡ "aṣṭafā" Qur'ān-e-Karīm meṅ akṣar Anbiyā 'alaihimu-s-salām ke li'e āyā hai: "Allāhu yaṣṭafī mina-l-malā'ikati rusulan wa mina-n-nās" (al-Ḥajj), aur ek āyat meṅ hai "inna-llāha-ṣṭafā Ādama wa Nūḥan wa āla Ibrāhīma wa āla 'Imrāna 'ala-l-'ālamīn" (Āl 'Imrān). Āyat-e-mazkūra meṅ Ḥaqq Ta'ālā ne ummat-e-Muḥammadiya ko "aṣṭafā" — ya'nī intikhāb — meñ Anbiyā aur Malā'ika ke sāth sharīk farmā diyā; agarcheh aṣṭafā ke darajāt mukhtalif haiñ: Anbiyā wa Malā'ika kā aṣṭafā a'lā darje meñ hai, aur ummat-e-Muḥammadiya kā ba'd ke darje meñ hai.

In tīnoñ qismon kī tafsīr Imām Ibn Kaṣīr raḥmatullāh ne is ṭaraḥ bayān farmā'ī hai ki "ḡālim" se murād woh ādmī hai jo ba'ḡ wājibāt meñ kotāhī kartā hai, aur ba'ḡ muḥarramāt kā bhī irtikāb kar letā hai. PDF PAGE 347 · [Q 35:32 Ma'ārif, cont.: the three classes — an objection and its answer] · ...he abstains from [some permissible things] out of devotion to worship or fear of a doubtful prohibition. This is Ibn Kaṣīr's account. Other mufasssīrīn report widely differing views on these three classes — Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī, citing al-Taḥrīr, mentions 43 sayings; but on reflection most amount to what was stated above from Ibn Kaṣīr. · An objection and its answer: the above tafsīr establishes that "allazīna-ṣṭafainā" = the ummah of Muḥammad ﷺ, in its three classes — so its first class, the "ḡālim", is also included among Allāh's chosen servants. Some, finding this far-fetched on the face of it, said the "ḡālim" is excluded from the ummah of Muḥammad ﷺ and from "iṣṭafā". But many sound, reliable aḥādīṣ establish that all three classes belong to the ummah of Muḥammad ﷺ and are not excluded from the description "iṣṭafā". It is the utmost distinction of the believing servants of this ummah that even those deficient in practice are included in this honour. Ḥāfiṣ Ibn Kaṣīr gathered here all the narrations; among them: · Abū Sa'īd al-Khudrī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): the Prophet ﷺ said of the three classes of "allazīna-ṣṭafainā", "they are all in one rank, and all in Jannah" (Aḥmad; Ibn Kaṣīr). "One rank" means all will be forgiven and all will enter Jannah — not that there is no disparity of degrees among them. · Abū al-Dardā' (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): several chains carry a ḥadīth, all reported by Ibn Kaṣīr; one, via Ibn Jarīr from Abū Ṣābit: he came to the maṣjid one day and Abū al-Dardā' was already seated; Abū Ṣābit sat beside him, and Abū al-Dardā' was praying: "Allāhumma ānis wahshatī, wa-rḥam ḡhurbatī, wa yassir lī jalīsan ṣāliḥā" — O Allāh, relieve my [inner] desolation, have mercy on my state of travel, and grant me a righteous companion. (Note the value the righteous Salaf placed on seeking a righteous companion — treating it as a major aim and the cure for all distress, and asking Allāh for it.) Abū al-Dardā', hearing this, said: "if you are sincere in this prayer and request, then in this matter I am more fortunate than you" — meaning Allāh gave me a righteous companion like you unasked. And he said...

Yih Ibn Kaṣīr kā bayān hai. Dūsre mufasssīrīn ne in tīn qismoṅ kī tafsīr meṅ bahut mukhtalif aqwāl naql kiye haiṅ. Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī meṅ ba-ḥawāla-e-Taḥrīr, taintālīs (43) aqwāl kā zikr kiya hai; magar ghaur kiya jā'e to un meṅ se akṣar kā ḥāṣil wuhī hai jo ūpar Ibn Kaṣīr ke ḥawāle se bayān kiya gayā hai.

Mazkūra tafsīr se yih ṣābit hu'ā ki "allazīna-ṣṭafainā" se murād ummat-e-Muḥammadiya hai, aur us kī yih tīn qismoṅ haiṅ. Jis se ma'lūm hu'ā ki us kī pahlī qism ya'nī "ṣālim" bhī "allazīna-ṣṭafainā" — ya'nī Allāh ke muntakhab bandoṅ — meṅ shāmil hai. Is ko bi-zāhir mustab'ad samajh kar ba'ḥ logoṅ ne kahā ki yih ummat-e-Muḥammadiya aur "aṣṭafainā" se khārij hai.

Magar bahut sī aḥādīs-e-ṣaḥīḥa mu'tabara se ṣābit hai ki yih tīnoṅ qismoṅ ummat-e-Muḥammadiya kī haiṅ, aur "aṣṭafainā" ke waṣf se khārij nahīṅ. Yih ummat-e-Muḥammadiya ke mu'min bandoṅ kī intihā'ī khuṣūṣiyyat aur faḍīlat hai ki in meṅ jo 'amalī ṭaur par nāqīṣ bhī haiṅ, woh bhī is sharaf meṅ dākhil haiṅ. Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr ne is jagah woh sab riwāyāt-e-ḥadīṣ jam' kar dī haiṅ. Un meṅ se ba'ḥ yih haiṅ:

is clear that the direct heirs of Allāh's Book and the sciences of prophethood are the 'ulamā — as the ḥadīth says, "al-'ulamā' u waraṣatu-l-anbiyā'" (the scholars are the heirs of the prophets). The upshot: whomever Allāh grants the sincere occupation of the Qur'ān and its sciences — this is a sign that he is among Allāh's favoured awliyā'. · Ṣa'labā bin al-Ḥakam (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): the Prophet ﷺ said that on the Day of Judgement Allāh will address the 'ulamā of the ummah and say: "I placed My knowledge and wisdom in your breasts only because I intended to forgive you, whatever your deeds." And as shown above, one without khashiyyah and fear of Allāh is excluded from the list of the 'ulamā, so this address is for those steeped in khashiyyat-Allāh — from whom it is impossible to remain heedlessly mired in sins, though by the demands of human nature a slip occurs from them too; this is what the ḥadīth means by "whatever your deeds, forgiveness is decreed for you." · These narrations are all from Tafsīr Ibn Kaṣīr. The last, from Ṣa'labā, is also reported by Ṭabarānī with a chain whose narrators are all trustworthy (from Tafsīr Maḥzarī); Tafsīr Maḥzarī also cites the same content via Ibn 'Asākir from Abū 'Umar al-Ṣan'ānī. Likewise Abū Mūsā al-Ash'arī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): the Prophet ﷺ said Allāh will gather all His servants at the Maḥshar, then gather the 'ulamā at a distinguished place and say: "innī lam aḍā 'ilmī fikum illā li-'ilmī bikum ...; qad ghafartu lakum" — I placed My knowledge in your hearts only because I knew you would fulfil the trust of knowledge; I did not place it in your breasts to punish you. Go, I have forgiven you (Maḥzarī). · Fā'ida: the āyah mentions the "ẓālim" first, then the "muqtaṣid", and the "sābiq bi-l-khairāt" last. A reason for this order may be numerical: the "ẓālim li-nafsihī" are the most numerous, the "muqtaṣid" fewer, and the "sābiq bi-l-khairāt" fewest — the more numerous being placed first.

... apnī kitāb kā wāriṣ un logon ko banāyā jo hamāre bandoṅ meṅ muntakhab aur bar-guzīda haiṅ. Aur yih bhī ẓāhir hai ki kitāb-Allāh aur 'ulūm-e-nubuwwat ke bilā-wāsiṭa wāriṣ ḥaḍrat 'ulamā hī haiṅ, jaisā ki ḥadīṣ meṅ bhī irshād hai: "al-'ulamā' u waraṣatu-l-anbiyā'". Ḥāṣil is kā yih hai ki jin logon ko Allāh Ta'ālā ne Qur'ān wa 'ulūm kā mashghala ikhlāṣ ke sāth naṣīb farmāyā, yih us kī 'alāmat hai ki woh Allāh ke bar-guzīda Auliyā haiṅ.

Jaisā ki Ḥaḍrat Ṣa'labā bin al-Ḥakam raḍiyallāhu 'anhu ne riwāyat kiyā hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki Allāh Ta'ālā qiyāmat ke roz 'ulamā-e-ummat se khiṭāb farmā kar kaheṅ ge ki "maiṅ ne tumhāre sīnon meṅ apnā 'ilm wa ḥikmat ṣirf isī li'e rakhā thā ki merā irāda yih thā ki tumhārī maḡhfirat kar dūn, 'amal tumhāre kaise bhī hoṅ." Aur ūpar ma'lūm ho chukā hai ki jis shakhṣ meṅ khashiyyat aur khauf-e-Khudā na ho, woh 'ulamā kī fahrist hī se khārij hai. Is li'e yih khiṭāb un hī logon ko hogā jo khashiyyat-Allāh meṅ raṅge hote hoṅ. Un se yih mumkin hī nahīn hogā ki be-fikrī se gunāhoṅ meṅ malawwaṣ raheṅ; hān, ṭabī'at-e-

Isī taraḥ Ḥaḍrat Abū Mūsā Ash'arī raḍiyallāhu 'anhu kī riwāyat hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki maḡshar meñ Allāh apne sab bandoñ ko jam' farmā deñ ge; phir un meñ se 'ulamā ko ek mumtāz maqām par jam' kar ke farmā deñ ge:

PDF PAGE 350 · [Q 35:32-33 Ma'ārif: the jannat ornaments; silk & gold forbidden to men in dunyā] · At the start Allāh named the three classes of His chosen servants, then said "ḡālika huwa-l-faḍlu-l-kabīr" — counting all three among the favoured servants is Allāh's very great bounty. Then their recompense: they enter Jannah; adorned there with bracelets and ornaments of gold and pearl, their garment silk. In the world, gold ornaments and silk garments are forbidden to men; in exchange they are given all these in Jannah. And do not object that wearing ornaments is for women, unbefitting men — for measuring the states of the hereafter and Jannah by the states of this world is foolish. · Abū Sa'īd al-Khudrī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): the Prophet ﷺ said the people of Jannah will have crowns on their heads studded with pearls; the light of their least pearl will illuminate the whole world from east to west (Tirmizī, Ḥākim; Baiḡaqī graded it ṣaḡīḥ — from Maḡharī). · Imām Qurṭubī: the mufasssīrīn say every dweller of Jannah will be given bracelets in his hand — one of gold, one of silver, one of pearls. Of the Jannah bracelet one āyah mentions silver, another gold; this tafsīr reconciles the two āyāt. · [Box:] Ḥuzaifa (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): I heard the Prophet ﷺ say, "do not wear silk garments, nor drink water from gold and silver vessels, nor eat from their plates; for these things are for the disbelievers in this world, and for you in the hereafter" (Bukhārī, Muslim) — whoever uses gold/silver vessels and silk garments in this world will be deprived of them in Jannah. · ‘Umar (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): the Prophet ﷺ said, "when a man wears silk cloth in this world, he will not wear it in the hereafter" (Bukhārī, Muslim). And in a narration of Abū Sa‘īd al-Khudrī (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): "the man who wears silk in this world will be deprived of it in the hereafter, even if he does enter Jannah" (from Maḥzarī). · Verse table (v.34): "wa qālu-l-ḥamdu li-llāhi-llazī aḏhaba ‘anna-l-ḥazan" — the people of Jannah, on entering, will say: praise be to Allāh who removed grief from us. What is meant by this "grief"...

Shurū’ meñ Allāh Ta‘ālā ne apne bar-guzīda muntakhab logoñ kī tīn qismeñ batlā’ī haiñ; phir farmāyā "zālīka huwa-l-faḍlu-l-kabīr" — ya’nī in tīnoñ ko bar-guzīda bandoñ meñ shumār kar lenā Allāh kā bahut baḥī faḍl hai. Āge in kī jazā’ kā bayān hai ki yih jannat meñ jā’ēñ ge; in ko sone aur motiyōñ ke kaṅgan aur zewar pahnā’e jā’ēñ ge, aur libās in kā reshmī hogā.

Dunyā meñ mardoñ ke li’e sone kā zewar pahannā bhī ḥarām hai, aur reshmī libās bhī. Us ke ‘iwaḍ meñ un ko jannat meñ yih sab chīzeñ dī jā’ēñ gī. Aur is par yih shubha na kiyā jā’e ki zewar pahannā to ‘aurtoñ kā kām hai, mardoñ ke shāyān-e-shān nahīñ — kyōñki ākhirat aur jannat ke ḥālāt ko dunyā ke ḥālāt par qiyās karnā be-‘aqlī hai.

Imām Qurṭubī ne farmāyā ki ḥaḍrāt mufasssīrīn ne farmāyā hai ki har jannatī ke hāth meñ kaṅgan pahnā’e jā’ēñ ge — ek sone kā, ek chāndī kā, ek motiyōñ kā. Jannatī kaṅgan ke muta‘alliq ek āyat meñ chāndī ke, aur dūsarī meñ sone ke mazkūr haiñ. Is tafsīr se in donoñ āyatoñ meñ taṭbīq bhī ho ga’ī.

Ḥaḍrat Ḥuzāifa raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu farmāte haiñ ki main ne Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam se sunā hai ki āp ne farmāyā ki "reshmī libās na pahno, aur sone chāndī ke bartanoñ meñ pāñī na piyo, aur na un kī plaet khāne meñ ista’ māl karo;

kyonki yih chizen dunya mein kuffar ke li'e haiin, aur tumhare li'e akhirat mein" (Bukhari wa Muslim). Jo shakhsh dunya mein sone chandi ke bartan aur reshami libas ista' mal kare ga, woh jannat mein in se mahrum hoga.

Aur Hadrat Umar radiyallahu anhu ne farmaya ki Rasulallah sallallahu alaihi wa sallam ne farmaya hai ki "jab mard ne dunya mein reshami kapra pahnā, woh akhirat mein na pahan sake ga" (Bukhari wa Muslim). Aur Hadrat Abu Sa'id Khudri radiyallahu anhu ki ek riwayat mein hai ki "dunya mein reshami libas pahanne wala mard akhirat mein us se mahrum rahe ga, agar cheh jannat mein chala bhi ja'e" (az Mazhari).

PDF PAGE 351 · [Q 35:34-35 Ma'arif: the "hazan" removed; qualities of Jannah] · The imams of tafsir differ on which "grief" is meant; the sound view is that all griefs are included. However great a king a man becomes in this world — or a prophet
— no one escapes worldly sorrow and grief. · Persian couplet: "darin dunya kase be-gham na-bashad / wa gar bashad bani Adam na-bashad" — in this world no one is without grief; and if he is, he is not a son of Adam. · No good or bad person is freed of griefs and worries in this world; hence the people of wisdom call the world "dar al-ahzan". The grief this ayah speaks of removing includes: all these worldly griefs; second, the grief and dread of Qiyamah, the Gathering and Resurrection; third, of the reckoning; fourth, of the punishment of Jahannam — Allah will remove all these griefs from the people of Jannah. · Abdullah bin Umar (radiyallahu anhumā): the Prophet ﷺ said, the people of "la ilaha illa-Allah" feel no terror at death, nor in the grave, nor at the Gathering. It is as if I see them, when they rise from their graves, saying: "al-hamdu li-llahi-llazi aghaba 'anna-l-hazan" (Tabarani, Mazhari). · Abu al-Darda's hadith above, saying this speech will be of the "zalim li-nafsihi" — because at the Gathering they first face severe grief and agitation, then, on being ordered into Jannah, this grief is removed — is not in conflict with Ibn Umar's hadith; for the "zalim li-nafsihi" faces, at the Gathering, one extra grief beyond that of other hearts, which is removed on entering Jannah. Upshot: all the people of Jannah will say this — whether of the foremost, the moderate, or the "zalim li-nafsihi" — though each may have a different list of griefs. · Imam al-Jassas: it is the very nature of a believer not to be free of worry and grief in this world. The Prophet ﷺ said, "the world is a prison for the believer." This is why the accounts of the Prophet ﷺ and the great Ṣaḥābah show them mostly appearing grieved and sorrowful. Verse table (v.35): "allazī aḥallanā dāra-l-muqāmati min faḍlih; lā yamassunā fihā naṣab; wa lā yamassunā fihā luḡhūb" — some qualities of Jannah: (1) it is the "dār al-muqāma" — no fear ever of its ceasing or of being expelled; (2) no grief will befall anyone there; (3) no one will feel fatigue there — unlike in the world, where a person tires and, leaving off work, feels the need for sleep; in Jannah...

Ḥaḍrat 'Abdullāh bin 'Umar raḍiyallāhu 'anhumā kī riwāyat hai ki Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki kalima "lā ilāha illa-llāh" wāloñ ko na maut ke waqt koī waḥshat hoṭī hai, na qabr meñ, aur na maḥshar meñ. Aur Ḥaḍrat Abū al-Dardā' kī ḥadīṣ jo ūpar guzrī hai, us meñ jo yih farmāyā hai ki yih qaul "ẓālim li-nafsihī" logoñ kā hogā — kyonki maḥshar meñ un ko ibtidā'an sakht ranj wa ḡham aur izṭirāb pesh ā'e gā, ākhir meñ dukhūl-e-jannat kā ḥukm mil kar yih ranj wa ḡham dūr ho jā'e gā — yih ḥadīṣ Ibn 'Umar raḍiyallāhu 'anhumā ke munāfi nahīñ; kyonki "ẓālim li-nafsihī" ko dūse diloñ ke ḡhamoñ se ziyāda ek ḡham maḥshar meñ bhī pesh ā'e gā, jo dukhūl-e-jannat ke waqt dūr ho jā'e gā.

PDF PAGE 352 · [Q 35:37 Ma'ārif: "a-wa lam nu'ammirkum..." — the age of accountability] · ...[in Jannah one] will also be purified [of the need for sleep etc.]. Some ḥadīth narrations also mention this theme (Maḥzarī). · "a-wa lam nu'ammirkum mā yatazakkaru fīhi man tazakkara; wa jā'akumu-n-nazīr" — when in Jahannam they cry, "our Lord, take us out of this punishment; we will now do good deeds and abandon our past misdeeds", the reply will be: "did We not give you a lifespan long enough for one who would reflect to reflect and come onto the right path?" · 'Alī bin al-Ḥusain Zain al-Ābidīn (raḍiyallāhu 'anhumā): this means the age of seventeen. Qatāda said eighteen; the intent is the age of bulūgh (puberty). The seventeen/eighteen difference is because one may reach bulūgh at seventeen, another at eighteen. The age of bulūgh is the first threshold in the sharī'ah, on entering which a person is granted enough reason from Allāh to grasp his own good and ill. So this address is to disbelievers generally, whether long-lived or short-lived. However, one given a long life who still did not come to his senses — not recognising the truth despite seeing the proofs of [Allāh's] power and hearing the prophets' words — is the more deserving of blame. · Upshot: one given only the age of bulūgh was still given the means by [Allāh's] power to distinguish truth from falsehood; when he did not, he too deserves blame and punishment. But one given a longer life had Allāh's proof completed against him more fully; if he did not desist from his kufr and disobedience, he is the more deserving of punishment and blame. · 'Alī al-Murtaḍā (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): the age at which Allāh reproaches the sinful servants is sixty years. Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhumā) said in one narration forty, in another sixty — the age at which Allāh's proof is completed against a person and no room for excuse remains. Ibn Kaṣīr preferred Ibn 'Abbās's latter ḥadīth. · So the seventeen/eighteen narrations and the sixty-year narrations are not in conflict: at seventeen/eighteen a person becomes capable of reflection and of distinguishing truth from falsehood — hence made accountable to the sharī'ī rulings from that age of bulūgh — but sixty is so long a life that if even then one did not recognise the truth, no room for excuse remains; Allāh's proof against him is fully complete. Hence the common lifespans of this ummah of mercy are fixed between

sittīna ila-s-sab'īn; wa aqalluhum man yajūzu zālik" (Tirmizī, Ibn Mājah; Ibn Kaṣīr) — the lifespans of my ummah are between sixty and seventy; few will exceed that. · On "wa jā'akumu-n-naẓīr": from the age of bulūgh, a person is given enough reason and discernment from Allāh to at least recognise his Creator and Owner and make seeking His pleasure the aim of his life. Human reason alone would have sufficed for this much, but Allāh did not leave it at that — He also sent a "naẓīr" (warner) to aid this reason. "Naẓīr" in Urdu is rendered "one who warns"; in reality the naẓīr is one who, out of mercy and compassion, guides his people away from things that would destroy or harm them, and warns them of those things. In its known sense this means the prophets ﷺ and, as their deputies, the 'ulamā. The upshot: We gave you reason to recognise truth from falsehood, and with it also sent Our prophets to guide toward the truth and keep [you] from falsehood. · From Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu), 'Ikrimah, and Imām Ja'far al-Bāqir (raḥmatullāh): the "naẓīr" means the white hair of old age — when it appears it warns a person that the time of departure is near. This view too does not contradict the first, since white hair is also a naẓīr from Allāh — as are the prophets and 'ulamā. · The reality: after a person reaches bulūgh, all the conditions that befall him, and all the changes and upheavals that come upon his own being and around it, are all a naẓīr from Allāh, alerting the person. · Verse table (v.38): "inna-llāha 'ālimu ghaibi-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍ; innahū 'alīmun bi-zāti-ṣ-ṣudūr" — indeed Allāh knows the unseen of the heavens and the earth; He fully knows what is in the breasts. v.39 begins: "huwa-llazī ja'alakum khalā'ifa fi-l-arḍ; fa-man..." — He it is who made you successors in the earth; so whoever...

Ākhir āyat meñ farmāyā "wa jā'akumu-n-naẓīr" — is meñ ishāra hai ki insān ko 'umr-e-bulūgh ke waqt se itnī 'aql wa tamīz min-jānib Allāh 'aṭā ho jātī hai ki kam az kam apne Khāliq wa Mālik ko pahchāne, aur us kī raḍā-jū'ī ko apnī zindagī kā maqṣad banā'e. Itne kām ke li'e khud insānī 'aql bhī kāfī thī, magar Allāh jalla shānuhū ne širf isī par iktifā nahīn kiyā, balki is 'aql kī imdād ke li'e naẓīr bhī bheje.

Ḥāṣil āyat kā yih hai ki "ham ne ḥaqq wa bāṭil ko pahchāne ke li'e 'aql bhī dī, aur us ke sāth apne paighambar bhī bheje, jo ḥaqq kī ṭaraf hidāyat karen, bāṭil se bachā'en."

Aur Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu, 'Ikrimah, aur Imām Ja'far Bāqir raḥmatullāh se manqūl hai ki "nazīr" se murād burhāpe ke safed bāl haiñ, ki jab woh ṣāhir ho jā'en to woh insān ko us kī hidāyat karte haiñ ki ab rukhṣat kā waqt qarīb ā gayā hai. Yih qaul bhī pahle qaul se muta'arīḍ nahīñ, ki safed bāl bhī Allāh Ta'ālā kī ṭaraf se nazīr hai — aur Anbiyā wa 'ulamā bhī.

Aur ḥaqīqat yih hai ki insān ko bāligh hone ke ba'd se jitne bhī ḥālāt pesh āte haiñ, us ke aur us ke ird-gird wujūd meñ pesh āne wāle jo taḡhayyurāt wa inqilābāt āte haiñ, woh sab hī Allāh Ta'ālā kī ṭaraf se nazīr aur insān ko mutanabbih karne wāle haiñ.

(Such is His perfection in knowledge; and His perfection in act — pointing to both power and favour — is this:) He it is who settled you in the earth. The plain implication of these favours was that you should, by inference and out of gratitude, adopt tauḥīd and obedience; but some persist against it in kufr and enmity. kufr falls on him alone. This burden, in detail: for these individuals their kufr only increases the odium against them before their Lord — realised in this very world; and it only increases the disbelievers' loss in the hereafter — that they are dazed/deprived of Jannah and made abject fuel of Jahannam. · And to those persisting in kufr and shirk, say by way of argument: tell me the state of your alleged "partners" whom you worship besides Allāh — show me what part of the earth they created, or do they have a share in making the heavens? (so that their entitlement to worship be proven by rational proof). Or have We given those disbelievers a Book (in which the belief in shirk is written as correct, so they stand on its proof and establish their claim by that transmitted proof)? The fact is there is no rational proof and no transmitted proof; these wrongdoers merely pass on promises of deception to one another — their elders told them without evidence, "hā'ulā'i shufa'ā'unā 'inda-llāh", whereas in reality they are utterly powerless and cannot deserve worship. Only Allāh is the absolute Free Agent (mukhtār muṭlaq), so He alone is worthy of worship. · As a sample of the proofs that Allāh is the Free Agent and others are not, one brief point: it is certain that Allāh, by His power, holds [the heavens and earth] so they do not depart their present state; and if — supposing — they did leave it, none but Allāh could hold them. (If the preservation of the world produced from them is beyond these [idols], what can be hoped of them in bringing things into being? So how can they deserve worship? And though shirk is false — which required that they be punished at once — since He is Forbearing (ḥalīm), He has granted respite. And if in this respite these people come to the truth, since He is also Forgiving (ghafūr), all their past mischief will be pardoned.) · Ma'ārif o Masā'il — "huwa-llazī ja'alakum khalā'ifa fi-l-arḍ": "khalā'if" is the plural of "khalīfa" (deputy, successor). The meaning: We made humans, one after another, owners of the land, dwellings etc.; when one goes, another takes his place — in this is great admonition to turn back to Allāh. It may also mean that this address is to the ummah of

PDF PAGE 357 · [Q 35:45 (end of Sūrah Fāṭir) → Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (vv.42-45)] · v.45: "wa lau yu'ākhizu-llāhu-n-nāsa bimā kasabū mā taraka 'alā ṣāhrihā min dābbah; wa lākin yu'akhhiruhum ilā ajalīn musammā; fa-izā jā'a ajaluhum fa-inna-llāha kāna bi-'ibādihī baṣīrā" — if Allāh took people to task for what they have earned, He would not leave a single moving creature on the face of the earth; but He defers them to a fixed term; then when their term comes — indeed Allāh is ever Seeing of His servants. [End of Sūrah Fāṭir.] · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (vv.42–45): These disbelievers of Quraysh, before the mission of the Prophet ﷺ, swore most solemn oaths that if a warner (a prophet) came to them, they would surely accept guidance more than any other nation (i.e. they would not belie him like the Jews, Christians etc.) — so beforehand they used to swear these oaths. Then when a prophet — the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ — came to them, their aversion only grew, out of thinking themselves great in the world; and not only aversion — their evil schemes also grew: out of arrogance they were bound to disdain following him, but they did not even stop at that (neither following nor harming); rather they set about seeking to injure him. Their constancy in this is well known. And in doing evil schemes against Our Messenger, they only harm themselves — for the recoil of an evil scheme falls (in reality) on the schemers themselves. Even if outwardly harm sometimes reaches the one it was aimed at, that harm is worldly; whereas the wrongdoing harm-doer bears an otherworldly harm and burden — and worldly harm is nothing beside otherworldly harm. So by that real harm, the restriction ("recoils only on its own people") is entirely factual. · So — in their persistence in enmity and injury against you — are they, with their scheming, awaiting the same way of Allāh that befell the earlier [disbelieving] peoples: punishment and destruction? Indeed the same befalls them, for you will never find Allāh's way changed (that favour should come to them instead of punishment), and likewise you will never find Allāh's way transferred (that punishment should fall on others in their place who are not like them)...

Aur in (kuffār-e-Quraish) ne (qabl az bi‘ṣat-e-Rasūl-e-Akram ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) baṛī zor-dār qism khā‘ī thī ki agar in ke pās koī ḍarāne wālā (ya‘nī paighambar) āyā, to woh yaqīnī ham har har ummat se ziyāda hidāyat qabūl karne wāle hoñ ge (ya‘nī Yahūd wa Naṣārā waghaira kī ṭarah ham takzīb na karen ge — so ham pahle se to yih qismeñ khāyā karte the). Phir jab un ke pās ek paighambar ya‘nī Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam āye, to bas un kī nafrat hī ko taraqqī hoī, dunyā meñ apne ko baṛā samajhne kī wajh se; aur ṣirf nafrat hī par iktifā nahīn hu‘ā, balki un kī burī tadbīroñ ko bhī taraqqī hoī — ya‘nī takabbur kī wajh se āp ke ittibā‘ se ‘ār to honī hī thī, magar yih bhī na kiyā ki na ittibā‘ hotā aur na dar-pai-āzār hote, balki āp kī īzā-rasānī kī fikr meñ lag gaye. Chunāñchi har waqt un kā isī meñ lagā rahnā ma‘lūm wa mashhūr hai.

Aur yih jo kuchh hamāre Rasūl ke li‘e burī burī tadbīreñ kar rahe haiñ, khud apnā hī zarar kar rahe haiñ — kyonki burī tadbīroñ kā dā‘o (ḥaqīqī) in tadbīr-wāloñ hī par paṛtā hai. Pas is zarar-e-ḥaqīqī ke i‘tibār se ḥaṣr bilkul wāqī‘ī hai.

PDF PAGE 358 · [Q 35:42-45 Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr end → Ma‘ārif o Masā’il] · The point: Allāh’s promise is that the disbelievers will be punished — whether in this world too or only in the hereafter — and His promise is always true. So there is no possibility that they escape punishment, nor that other innocents be punished instead. (This exposition is to emphasise the certainty of the punishment’s occurrence.) · Their thinking that kufr does not warrant punishment is a grave error. Have these people not travelled the land — e.g. on journeys to Syria and Yemen, through the settlements of ‘Ād, Ṣamūd and the people of Lūṭ (‘alaihi-s-salām) — and seen what final end befell the deniers before them for this very belying: they were punished, though stronger than these in power. However great anyone’s power, Allāh is not such that any powerful thing can overcome Him, in the heaven or the earth — for He is of vast knowledge and vast power; He knows the way to carry out every intention and can carry it out by His power, and no other is like that. (Then what can overcome Him? And if they are deluded into thinking that if punishment were coming it would already have come — inferring from this that their shirk and kufr are good — this too is their error; for by wisdom immediate punishment was not decreed for them. Had Allāh seized these people at once for their acts of kufr, He would not have left a single breathing creature on the face of the earth — the disbelievers destroyed by their kufr, and the believers, being few, not kept in the world, since the order of the world by wisdom is bound to the whole; nor is it necessary that they be destroyed by that very punishment; and other creatures too, since the aim of their creation is the benefit of the children of Adam, would not remain when these did not.) But Allāh is giving them respite to a fixed term (i.e. Qiyāmah); so when their term arrives, Allāh will see to His servants Himself — punishing the disbelievers among them. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il — "wa lā yaḥīqu-l-makru-s-sayyi'u illā bi-ahlih": "lā yaḥīqu" means "lā yuḥītu" or "lā yuṣību" — the recoil of an evil scheme falls on no one but the schemer himself; one who wishes ill on others himself falls prey to the ill. · An objection: in this world it is often observed that an evil...

Aur kisī meñ khwāh kaisī hī quwwat ho, lekin Khudā aisā nahīñ hai ki koī chīz quwwat wālī us ko hārā de, na āsmān meñ, aur na zamīn meñ. Dekho, kuffār to kufr se halāk ho jāte, aur Ahl-e-īmān ba-wajh qillat ke dunyā meñ na rakhe jāte, kyonki niẓām-e-'ālam ba-muqtaḍā-e-ḥikmat majmū'a ke sāth wābasta hai. Muḥammad bin Ka'b al-Qurẓī: there are three acts whose doer does not escape recoil and punishment even in this world — (1) scheming against an innocent to injure him; (2) general oppression; (3) breaking a covenant (Ibn Kaṣīr). Especially when done against one who is helpless and powerless, unable to take revenge, or who, though able, forbears — no one has been seen to escape the recoil of such wrong even in this world. · Persian couplet: "bas tajruba kardīm darīn dair-e-mukāfāt / bā dard-kashān har ki dar-uftād, bar-uftād" — we have well tested it in this house of requital: whoever fell upon the afflicted, was himself brought down. · Upshot: the restriction ("recoils only on its own people") is by the predominant rule, not universal. Wa-llāhu a'lam. · [Tatimmat: Sūrat al-Fāṭir completed, by the praise of Allāh, on the 9th of Ṣafar 1392 AH, a Saturday.]

PDF PAGE 362 · [Q 36:6-12 Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr, cont.] · ...[some contents] had been transmitted too, as in "am dam jā'ahum mā lam ya'ti ābā'ahumu-l-awwālīn" — has the Qur'ān brought them something that did not come to their forefathers? The call to tauḥīd is nothing new; it always ran among their forefathers too. But the alerting that comes from a prophet's coming is not matched by the mere transmission of some of his rulings and reports — especially when these have become incomplete and altered. · At first the warning was to Quraysh, so they are mentioned here; then the Prophet ﷺ called people generally, for his mission is universal. Despite the soundness of his messengership and the truth of the Qur'ān, do not grieve that these people do not believe — for the decree has come true against most of them: that they will not come onto the path of guidance. So they will never believe (this was the state of most of them; some had faith in their portion and did come to faith). Their likeness in being far from faith is as if We have put heavy shackles on their necks, reaching to the chins, so their heads are forced up and cannot bend down — whether because at the point of the shackle under the chin there is a peg that jams into the chin-hollow, or the ring's disc is such that its rim jams into the chin-hollow. Either way they are deprived of seeing the path. · And their likeness in being far "from faith" is as if We placed a barrier before them and a barrier behind them, enclosing them (in veils) on every side — so, by this encompassing of veils, they cannot see anything. · From both these similitudes: whether you warn them or not is the same to them; they will not believe in any state, so take rest by despairing of them. You can give a beneficial warning only to one who follows counsel and fears Allāh unseen (for fear brings the seeking of truth, and seeking brings attainment; and these people simply do not fear). So (whoever is such a person) give him glad tidings of forgiveness for his sins and an excellent reward for obedience. (This also indicates that whoever persists in misguidance and turning away is deprived of forgiveness and reward and deserves punishment; and though its manifestation is not necessary in this world,) indeed We will one day raise the dead, and then all this will be made manifest. And the deeds for which there is reward and punishment — We keep recording them, those deeds...

people send ahead, and the deeds they leave behind. "mā qaddamū" = what one did with his own hand; "āṣārahum" = the trace produced by that act which also remained after his death — e.g. someone did a good deed which became a cause of others' guidance too, or someone did an evil deed which became a cause of others' misguidance. All of this is being recorded, and there the reward and punishment will fall upon it all. (Our knowledge is so vast that We do not even need this recording done after the event, because) We had already recorded everything that will happen up to the end of the world, before its occurrence, in a clear register (the Lauḥ-e-Maḥfūz). This recording of deeds is merely for certain wisdoms. So when We know all things before they occur, how would We not after? Hence there is no room to defer any deed or keep it hidden; there will certainly be reward and punishment. The Lauḥ-e-Maḥfūz is called "clear" (mubīn) in respect of the detailing of things. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il — Faḍā'il-e-Sūrah Yā-Sīn: Ma'qil bin Yasār (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): the Prophet ﷺ said "Yā-Sīn qalbu-l-Qur'ān" — Sūrah Yā-Sīn is the heart of the Qur'ān. Some wordings of this ḥadīth add: whoever recites Sūrah Yā-Sīn purely for Allāh and the hereafter is forgiven; recite it over your dead (Aḥmad, Abū Dāwūd, Nasā'ī, Ibn Ḥibbān, Ḥākim and others — per Rūḥ and Maḥzarī). · Imām al-Ghazālī: a reason for calling Sūrah Yā-Sīn the heart of the Qur'ān may be that its themes of Qiyāmah and the Gathering and Resurrection come with special detail and eloquence; and among the principles of faith, belief in the hereafter is the thing on which the soundness of a person's deeds depends. The fear of the hereafter is what readies a person for righteous action and restrains him from unlawful desires and the ḥarām. So just as the body's health depends on the heart's health, the soundness of faith depends on the soundness of concern for the hereafter (this is its "rūḥ"). · As this Sūrah is well known as "Yā-Sīn", a ḥadīth also names it "aẓīmah" (Abū Naṣr al-Sijzī from 'Ā'ishah, raḍiyallāhu 'anhā); and one ḥadīth says its name in the Torah is "mu'immaḥ" — that which makes general to its reciter the goods and blessings of this world and the next; and its reciter is called "sharīf". And it is said that on the Day of Qiyāmah its...

Ibn al-‘Arabī in Aḥkām al-Qur’ān: Imām Mālik said "Yā-Sīn" is one of the names of Allāh; a narration from Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhumā) is likewise that it is among the divine names. Another narration: it is a word of the Abyssinian tongue meaning "O man" — and the "man" meant is the Prophet ﷺ. From the words of Ibn Jubair it is understood that "Yā-Sīn" is a name of the Prophet ﷺ. Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī: to name the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ by those two august letters — "yā" and "sīn" — holds a great secret. · [Box: naming a person "Yā-Sīn"] — Imām Mālik (raḥmatullāh) disliked it because he held it to be among the divine names and its true meaning is unknown, so it may carry meanings exclusive to Allāh (like Khālīq, Rāziq, etc.). However, if the word is written in the spelling "Yā-Sīn", naming a person that is permissible, for the Qur’ān has "salāmun ‘alā āl Yāsīn" (Ibn al-‘Arabī). The well-known reading of that āyah is "īlyāsīn", though some readings have "āl Yāsīn". · "li-tunzira qauman mā unzira ābā’uhum" — the people meant are the Arabs. The āyah "in min ummatin illā khalā fihā nazīr" likewise requires that Allāh's mercy did not deprive any nation, in any age or region, of the call and warning. But plainly, the reaching of the prophets' teachings through their deputies does not carry the effect of the call and teaching of the Prophet himself. Hence this āyah says of the Arabs that no warner had come among them. An effect of this was that the Arabs had no firm system of general reading, teaching and learning; hence their title "ummiyyīn". · "laqad ḥaqqa-l-qaulu ‘alā akṣarihim fa-hum lā yu‘minūn; innā ja‘alnā fī a‘nāqihim aghlālān...": Allāh set both roads — kufr and īmān, Jannah and Jahannam — before man, sent prophets to call to faith and sent Books, and gave man enough choice to recognise his own good and ill and take a road. The unfortunate one who uses no reflection, does not ponder the proofs of [Allāh's] power, lends no ear to the prophets' call, and does not reflect on any Book of Allāh — the road he then takes of his own choice, Allāh gathers its means for him: one who takes to kufr, the means of kufr keep coming to him. This is expressed as "laqad ḥaqqā-l-qaulu 'alā akṣarihim fa-hum lā yu'minūn" — against most of them, by their own bad choice, the true word has come true that they will not believe. · Then a similitude of their state: their likeness is like one on whose neck are put shackles so that his face and eyes are forced up and he cannot see the road below — plainly he is not saved from falling into a pit. · A second similitude: like one around whom a wall is raised on all sides; enclosed within it, he is cut off from everything outside. These disbelievers too have been besieged by their own ignorance and, upon it, their stubbornness and obstinacy — so that the truths outside do not reach them at all. · Imām al-Rāzī: obstacles to sight are of two kinds — one obstacle is such that...

one [obstacle] is such that a person cannot even see his own being; the other is such that he cannot see his surroundings. For these disbelievers both kinds of obstacle to seeing the truth were present; hence the first similitude is of the first obstacle — one whose neck cannot bend down cannot see even his own being; and the second similitude is of the second obstacle — he cannot see his surroundings (Rūḥ). · The jamhūr mufasssīrīn treat this āyah as a similitude of their kufr and obstinacy. Some mufasssīrīn, on the basis of certain narrations, treat it as the account of an incident: Abū Jahl and some others firmly resolved to injure or kill the Prophet ﷺ and advanced toward him, but Allāh put a veil over their eyes and they returned helpless. Several such incidents are reported in the tafsīr books — Ibn Kaṣīr, Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī, Qurṭubī, Maẓharī etc. — but most of those narrations are weak; the tafsīr of the āyah cannot be made to rest on them. · "wa naktubu mā qaddamū wa āṣārahum": We will record the deeds they have sent ahead. Expressing "doing a deed" as "sending it ahead" shows that the good or evil deeds done in this world do not end here; they have gone ahead as one's provision, to be met in the next life. Good deeds become the garden and bloom of Jannah; evil deeds, the embers of Jahannam. · [Box on "wa āṣārahum"]: just as their done deeds are recorded, so are their "āṣār" (traces) — meaning the fruits and results of deeds that appear afterward and persist. E.g. someone taught people the dīn, told them the religious rulings, or authored a book for it by which people benefited in dīn; or made a waqf that benefited people afterward; or did some other act that benefited the Muslims — as far as, and as long as, the traces of that good deed reach [people], they keep being recorded in his book of deeds. · Likewise evil deeds whose evil fruits and traces remained in the world — e.g. enacted tyrannical laws, established institutions that corrupt people's deeds and character, or set people on some wrong and evil road — as far as and as long as the evil results and corruptions of that act keep coming into being, they keep being recorded in his book of deeds; as the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ himself, in the tafsīr of this āyah...

PDF PAGE 367 · [Q 36:12 Ma‘ārif, cont.: "wa āsārahum" — ḥadīth of Jarīr; footsteps to the mosque] · Jarīr bin ‘Abdullāh al-Bajalī (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ said: "man sanna sunnatan ḥasanatan fa-lahū ajruhā wa ajru man ‘amila bihā min ba‘dih, min ghairi an yanquṣa min ujūrihim shai’un; wa man sanna sunnatan sayyi’atan kāna ‘alaihi wizruhā wa wizru man ‘amila bihā min ba‘dih, min ghairi an yanquṣa min auzārihim shai’an." Then he recited: "wa naktubu mā qaddamū wa āsārahum" (Ibn Kaṣīr, from Ibn Abī Ḥātim). — Whoever starts a good practice has its reward and the reward of all who act on it after him, without any decrease in their rewards; and whoever starts an evil practice has its sin and the sin of all who act on it after him, as long as they do, without any decrease in their sins. · "āsār" also carries the sense of footprints. A ḥadīth: when a person walks toward the mosque for ṣalāh, a good deed is recorded for each of his steps. Some narrations show that "āsār" in this āyah means these footprints; as the reward of the prayer is recorded, so for every step taken in going to the prayer a good deed is recorded. · Ibn Kaṣīr gathered here the narrations mentioning that in Madīnah Ṭayyibah, those whose houses were far from the Masjid-e-Nabawī intended to build houses near the Masjid; the Prophet ﷺ forbade it, saying: stay where you live — do not count the time of walking from afar as wasted; the more steps, the more your reward. · An objection: this Sūrah is Makkī, while the incident in these aḥādīṡ is of Madīnah Ṭayyibah. Answer: the āyah is in its general sense — that the traces of deeds too are recorded — and this āyah was revealed in Makkah; then when the incident occurred in Madīnah Ṭayyibah, the Prophet ﷺ cited this āyah as evidence, and counted footprints too among the lasting traces whose recording is mentioned in this āyah. Thus the apparent conflict of the two tafsīrs is removed (as Ibn Kaṣīr stated and chose).

PDF PAGE 370 · [Q 36:13-32 Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr — the parable of the town] · Present before these disbelievers — to support the message and to warn them for their denial of tauḥīd and risālah — the tale of a town, of the time when messengers came to it: We sent them, at first, two; the people belied both; then We reinforced with a third, to support the two's proof. All three said to the townsfolk: "we are sent to you [by Allāh] to guide you to adopt tauḥīd and abandon idol-worship" — for they were idolaters, as shown by "wa mā liya lā a'budu-llazī faṭaranī" and "a-attakhizu min dūnihī ālihah..." · The townsfolk said: "you are only ordinary men like us; you have no distinction of being messengers, and what makes you special? — the very matter of messengership is baseless; and the Most Merciful has sent down nothing [of Book or rulings]; you are outright lying." · The messengers said: "our Lord, the forbearing, the All-Knowing, [knows] that we are indeed sent to you as messengers." (This oath was not meant to prove messengership by itself; rather, after establishing proofs and being still rejected, they took the oath as a final answer, driven to it — as shown by their next words:) "upon us is only the clear conveyance [of the command]" — clarity depending on the claim being established by clear proofs. So they first set up proofs, and at the end took an oath. In short: we have done our part; if you do not accept, we are constrained. · The people said: "we regard you as ill-omened" (said either because a drought had struck them — as in al-Ma'ālīm; or because, when something new is heard, even if people reject it, it is talked about, and among the general people that talk brings disagreement and sometimes strife — so the point is that a discord and quarrel was cast among all the people, from which harms are spreading; this is the ill omen). "And you are the cause of this ill omen; and if you do not desist from this call and claim, know that we will finish you off with stones, and even before stoning a severe affliction from us will reach you" — i.e. we will torment you religiously and otherwise. If you do not accept, in the end stoning...

Aur āp in (kuffār) ke sāmne — is gharaṣ se ki risālat kī ta'yīd, aur in ko in ke inkār-e-tauḥīd wa risālat par tahdīd ho — ek qīṣṣa, ya'nī ek bastī wāloñ kā qīṣṣa, us waqt kā bayān kījiye jab ki us bastī meñ kuchh rasūl āye — ya'nī jab ki ham ne un ke

PDF PAGE 371 · [Q 36:18-25 Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr, cont.] · ...[in the end we will finish] you off. The messengers said: "your ill omen is bound up with you yourselves — what you call misfortune and calamity is caused by your not accepting the truth; had you agreed to accept the truth, there would be no quarrels and discord, and you would not fall into the punishment of drought. As for your first agreement upon idol-worship: either such agreement is itself upon falsehood — which is itself corruption and ruin, and must be abandoned; and the absence of drought in that time was a respite from Allāh by way of istidrāj, or because the truth had not yet been made clear to these people. Allāh's law is that He does not punish anyone before making the truth clear — 'ḥattā yubayyina lahum mā yattaqūn'. And this respite, or the non-clarity of the truth, was also due to your own heedlessness, ignorance and the ill fruits of your deeds. So in every case the cause of this ill omen was your own act. (Do you count it an ill omen that you are counselled, which is the very foundation of felicity? Then it is really no ill omen at all; rather you are people gone outside the bounds of reason and shar'.) So through opposing the shar' this ill omen came upon you, and through opposing reason you misjudged its cause." · When word of this exchange spread, a man — a Muslim — who was coming here from some far part of the city, hearing the news, ran here out of goodwill for his people (whether because the affair was against the people's nature, or out of goodwill for the messengers, lest these people kill them). He said: "O my people, follow the messengers. Do follow such people who ask you no recompense, and who are themselves on the right path — i.e. there is no self-interest barring following them, and they are on the right way; the cause that calls for following is present, and no obstruction to following exists; so why not follow?" · "And what excuse have I not to worship Him who created me — which is among the proofs of the entitlement to worship? (He spoke by way of argument upon himself, so that the addressee would not be distracted from pondering; the real point: what excuse have you not to worship the one Allāh?) To Him you will all be returned; so wisdom demands that you follow His messengers." · Thus far the entitlement of the true Object of worship was stated; next comes the theme of the false objects' non-entitlement to worship — "shall I take, besides Allāh, objects of worship whose state of helplessness is such that if the Most Merciful should intend to bring me some harm, neither would their intercession avail me anything, nor could they — when Allāh, by His power and might, [wishes to bring] this harm..."

... (ākhir meñ saṅgsār) kar deñ ge. (Un rasūloñ ne kahā ki) tumhārī naḥūsāt to tumhāre sāth hī lagī hoī hai — ya 'nī jis ko tum maṣarrat wa muṣībat kahte ho, us kā sabab tumhārā ḥaqq ko qabūl na karnā hai; agar ḥaqq ko qabūl karne par muttafiq ho jāte, na yih jhagre aur fitne hote, na qaḥṭ ke 'azāb meñ mubtalā hote.

Rahā pahlā ittifaq but-parastī par, to yā to aisā ittifaq par-khud bāṭil par ho — jo khud fasād wa wabāl hai, jis ko chhoṛnā lāzim hai; aur is zamāne meñ qaḥṭa na honā, woh ba-ṭaur-e-istidrāj ke Allāh kī ṭaraf se ḍhīl dī hoī thī, yā is wajh se thā ki us waqt tak in logoñ par ḥaqq wāḍiḥ nahīn hu'ā thā. Aur Allāh kā qānūn hai ki ḥaqq ko wāḍiḥ karne se pahle kisī ko 'azāb nahīn dete, jaisā ki irshād hai "ḥattā yubayyina lahum mā yattaqūn". Aur yih ḍhīl, yā ḥaqq kā na-wāḍiḥ honā, bhī tumhārī hī ḡhaflat, jahālat aur shāmat-e-a'māl se thī. Is se ma'lūm hu'ā ki har ḥāl meñ is naḥūsāt kā sabab khud tumhārā fi'l thā.

Aur us guftagū kī khabar jab shā'ī' hoī, to ek shakhṣ — jo musalmān thā — us shahr ke kisī dūr maqām se rū' kar ke yahān ā rahā thā; yih khabar sun kar apnī qaum kī khair-khwāhī ke li'e (yā rasūlōñ kī khair-khwāhī ke li'e ki kahīn yih log un ko qatl na kar deñ) dauṛtā huā yahān ā gayā, aur in logoñ se kahne lagā ki ai merī qaum! in rasūlōñ kī rāh par chalo. Aur mere pās kaunsā 'uzr hai ki main us (ma'būd) kī 'ibādat na karūñ jis ne mujh ko paidā kiyā — jo ki manjumla dalā'il-e-istiḥqāq-e-'ibādat ke hai; (aur dalīl-āwarī apne ūpar rakh kar is li'e kahā ki mukhāṭab ko ishtighāl na ho jo mānī' -e-tadabbur ho jātā hai; aur aṣl maṭlab yihī hai ki tum ko ek Allāh kī 'ibādat karne meñ kaunsā 'uzr hai?) PDF PAGE 372 · [Q 36:23-32 Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr, cont. and end] · ...[Allāh, when He wills] this harm, cannot be stopped [by them]; they are neither able themselves, nor can they be a means of intercession to the One who is able — for first, they have no fitness for intercession at all, and second, only those permitted by Allāh can intercede. And if I were to take such objects of worship, I would fall into clear misguidance. — Having argued upon himself, he then said, to make the people hear: "I have believed in your Lord; so hear my word, and believe." · But it had no effect on these people; rather they martyred him — by stones, or casting him into fire, or strangling him. As soon as he was martyred it was said to him from Allāh: "go, enter Paradise." Even then he was concerned for his people; he said, "would that my people knew that my Lord has forgiven me (by the blessing of faith and following the messengers) and placed me among the honoured" — so that, knowing it, they too would come to faith and thus become forgiven and honoured likewise. · And when the townsfolk treated the messengers and the follower of the messengers thus, We took vengeance on them; and to take vengeance We sent down no army of angels from heaven upon [that martyr's] people after his martyrdom, nor did We need to — for their destruction did not depend on any great host being brought — as Ibn Mas'ūd explained it, per Ibn Kaṣīr from Ibn Ishāq: "mā katharnā 'alaihim bi-l-jumū'; fa-inna-l-amra kāna aisar 'alainā min zālik". Rather that punishment was a single severe cry — a shriek — which Jibrā'il ('alaihi-s-salām) gave (as in al-Ma'ālīm), or some other angel; or by "ṣaiḥa" is meant punishment in general, unspecified — as in the tafsīr of "fa-akhaznāhumu-ṣ-ṣaiḥah" in Sūrah al-Mu'minūn. And at that very moment they were all extinguished — i.e. dead. Then, to state the tale's outcome, He states the disgrace of the beliers: (O sorrow for such servants — no messenger ever came to them but they mocked him.) Have these people not observed that We have destroyed many nations before them (for this very belying and mockery), so that they do not return to [the world]? Had they reflected on this they would have desisted from belying and mockery. This punishment was given to the beliers in this world; and (then in the hereafter) there is none among them all who will not be brought, gathered, before Us — where there will again be punishment, and that punishment everlasting.

... (Allāh jab is taklīf ko chāhe to) woh use chhoṛ na sakeṅ; ya'nī na woh khud qādir haiṅ, na qādir tak wāṣṭa-e-sifārish ban sakte haiṅ — kyonki awwal to un meṅ shafā'at kī ahliyyat hī nahīṅ, aur dūsre shafā'at wuhī kar sakte haiṅ jin ko Allāh kī ṭaraf se ijāzat ho. Aur agar maiṅ aise ma'būdōṅ ko ikhtiyār kar lūṅ, to ṣarīḥ gumrāhī meṅ jā paṛā. (Dalīl apne ūpar rakh kar, aur is ūpar rakh kar in logoṅ ko sunāne ke li'e is ne kahā —) maiṅ to tumhāre Parwardigār par īmān lā chukā; so tum bhī merī bāt sun lo, aur īmān le ā'o.

Magar in logoṅ par kuchh aṣar na hu'ā; balki us ko patthron se, yā āg meṅ ḍāl kar, yā galā ghoṅṭ kar shahīd kar ḍālā. Shahīd hote hī us ko Khudā kī ṭaraf se irshād hu'ā ki jā, jannat meṅ dākhil ho jā. Us waqt bhī us ko apnī qaum kī fikr hoī; kahne lagā ki kāsh! merī qaum ko yih bāt ma'lūm ho jātī ki mere Parwardigār ne (īmān aur ittibā'-e-rusul kī barkat se) mujh ko bakhsh diyā, aur mujh ko 'izzat-dāron meṅ shāmil kar diyā — to woh ma'lūm kar ke woh bhī īmān le āte, aur isī ṭarah woh bhī maḡhfūr aur mukarram ho jāte.

Aur jab un bastī wāloṅ ne rasūl aur muttabi'-e-rusul ke sāth yih mu'āmala kiyā, to ham ne un se intiqām liyā; aur intiqām lene ke li'e ham ne (us shakhṣ-e-shahīd kī qaum par, is kī shahādāt ke ba'd) koī lashkar-dar-firishtoṅ kā āsmān se nahīṅ utārā, aur na ham ko utārne kī ṣarūrāt thī — kyonki un kā halāk karnā is par mauqūf na thā ki us ke li'e koī baṛī jam'iyyat lā'ī jātī. Kazā fassarahū Ibn Mas'ūd fīmā naqalahū Ibn Kaṣīr 'an Ibn Ishāq, ḥaiṣu qāla: "mā katharnā 'alaihim bi-l-jumū'; fa-inna-l-amra kāna aisar 'alainā min zālik". PDF PAGE 373 · [Q 36:13 Ma‘ārif o Masā’il — the identity of the town (Anṭākiya)] · "wa-ḡrib lahum maṣalan aṣḥāba-l-qaryah" — "ḡarb-e-miṣāl" means citing the example of a like event to establish some matter. To alert the deniers of prophethood and messengership mentioned above, the Qur’ān relates, by way of example, an old tale that occurred in a town. · [Box:] The Qur’ān does not name this town. In the historical narrations, Muḥammad bin Ishāq reported from Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu), Ka‘b al-Aḥbār, and Wahb bin Munabbih that this town was Anṭākiya (Antioch), and the jamhūr mufasssīrīn adopted this. Abū Ḥayyān and Ibn Kaṣīr said no contrary view is reported among the mufasssīrīn. · Per Mu‘jam al-Buldān: Anṭākiya is a famous, magnificent city of Syria, known for its verdure and fortification — its citadel and city wall are reckoned exemplary. The city has countless grand Christian churches, adorned with gold and silver work. It is an old city; in the Islamic era it was conquered by the conqueror of Syria, Amīn al-Ummah Abū ‘Ubaidah bin al-Jarrāḥ. · In Mu‘jam al-Buldān, Yāqūt al-Ḥamawī also wrote that the grave of Ḥabīb the Carpenter (Ḥabīb al-Najjār) — whose story comes further on in this āyah — is well known in Anṭākiya; people come from afar to visit it. From his statement too it appears the town in this āyah is this city of Anṭākiya. · Ibn Kaṣīr wrote that Anṭākiya is one of the four famous cities reckoned centres of Christianity — i.e. Jerusalem, Rome, Alexandria and Anṭākiya. And he said Anṭākiya was the first city to accept the religion of the Masīḥ (‘alaihi-s-salām). On this basis Ibn Kaṣīr has hesitation about the town of this āyah being the famous city Anṭākiya — because per the Qur’ān's own statement this town was a settlement of deniers of messengership and prophethood, and per the historical narrations it was of idol-worshipping polytheists; so how can Anṭākiya, which has priority in accepting the religion of the Masīḥ and Christianity, be its referent? · Moreover, from the same Qur’ānic āyāt it is established that in this event such a punishment came upon the whole town that none of them remained alive. Concerning the city of Anṭākiya, history has no such [record]...

So in Ibn Kaṣīr's view, either the town of this āyah is some settlement other than Anṭākiya, or it is another town also named Anṭākiya, not the famous city. · The author of Fath al-Mannān gives answers to Ibn Kaṣīr's difficulties, but the easy, clean position is the one Sayyidī Ḥakīm al-Ummat (raḥmatullāh) adopted in Bayān al-Qur'ān: to grasp the sense of the Qur'ānic āyāt, specifying the town is not necessary, and the Qur'ān left it vague — so what need is there to expend so much effort on specifying it? The Salaf's dictum is "abhimū mā abhamahu-llāh" — leave vague what Allāh left vague; that is what this too requires. · "iz jā'aha-l-mursalūn; iz arsalnā ilaihimu-ṣnain fa-kazzabūhumā fa-'azzaznā bi-ṣāliḥ; fa-qālū innā ilaikum mursalūn": three messengers were sent to this town; first a general statement in "iz jā'aha-l-mursalūn", then the detail — first two messengers were sent; the townsfolk belied them and would not accept their word; so Allāh sent a third to support and reinforce them. Then all three addressed the townsfolk: "innā ilaikum mursalūn" — we are sent for your guidance. · [Box: what does Allāh mean by the messengers sent to this town, and to whom are they attributed?] The words "rasūl" and "mursal" in the Qur'ān are generally used for a prophet, one sent by Allāh. In this āyah Allāh attributes their sending to Himself — this too is a sign that the intent is the prophets, the messengers. · Ibn Ishāq reported from Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu), Ka'b al-Aḥbār and Wahb bin Munabbih that these three elders — whose being sent to this town is mentioned — were prophets of Allāh. Their names in this narration are "Ṣādiq", "Ṣadūq" and "Shalūm"; and in one narration the third is named "Sham'ūn" (Ibn Kaṣīr). · From Qatāda (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) it is reported that here "mursalūn" is not in its technical sense but means "messengers/envoys" [qāṣid]; these three, sent to the town, were not themselves prophets but were of the Ḥawāriyyīn of 'Īsā ('alaihi-s-salām), sent by his command to guide that town (Ibn Kaṣīr). And since the one who sent them, 'Īsā ('alaihi-s-salām), was a messenger of Allāh, their sending was, indirectly, Allāh's own sending; hence in the āyah...

Among the mufassirīn Ibn Kaṣīr adopted the first view, Qurṭubī and others the second; the apparent sense of the Qur'ān is that these were prophets and messengers of Allāh. Wa-llāhu a'lam. · "qālū innā taṭayyarnā bikum": "taṭayyur" means to take an ill omen, to regard someone as unlucky. The people of that city did not accept the word of these messengers of Allāh and began saying, "you are unlucky." Some narrations: because of their disobedience and rejection of the messengers, a drought struck the town, so the townsfolk called them ill-omened. Or some other affliction reached them — and as is the common habit of disbelievers, when a calamity comes they attribute it to the prophets and righteous who guide them; so they attributed it to these [messengers] — as in the Qur'ān about the people of Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām): "fa-izā jā' athumu-l-ḥasanatu qālū lanā hāzih; wa in tuṣibhum sayyi'atun yaṭṭayyarū bi-Mūsā wa man ma'ah"; likewise the people of Ṣāliḥ ('alaihi-s-salām) said, "iṭṭayyarnā bika wa bi-man ma'ak". · "qālū ṭā'irukum ma'akum": your ill omen is with you yourselves — it is the result of your own deeds. "ṭā'ir" is originally used for an ill omen, and sometimes for the effect of an ill omen — misfortune — which is the meaning here (Ibn Kaṣīr, Qurṭubī). · "wa jā'a min aqṣa-l-madīnati rajulun yas'ā": the earlier āyah called the place where the story occurred "qarya", which in Arabic is not only a small village but any settlement — small settlement or large city. Here it is called "madīna", which is used only for a large city. This shows the town of this event was some large city — which also supports the view identifying it as Anṭākiya. "aqṣa-l-madīnah" means coming from some corner of the city. · "rajulun yas'ā" — "yas'ā" is from "sa'y", whose literal sense is "to move running"; so the meaning: a man was coming, running, from some far corner of the city. Sometimes "sa'y" also means to walk with earnestness — even without running — as in Sūrah al-Jumu'a's "fa-s'au ilā zikri-llāh". · [Box: the name and circumstances of the man who came from the corner of the city:] The Qur'ān left this too vague — it does not mention his name or state. Of his trade there are differing views; the well-known is that he was a najjār — a carpenter (Ibn Kaṣīr and historical narrations). From what the mufasssīrīn cite here, it appears this man too was at first an idolater; when the first two messengers came to the city, he met them, and through their teaching — and per some narrations, on seeing some miracle or karāmah of theirs — faith arose in his heart. He repented from idolatry, became a Muslim, and withdrew into a cave or the like to devote himself to worship. · When he heard that the city's people had belied the messengers' teaching of guidance and set about harming them and threatening to kill them, he — out of a mixed feeling of goodwill for his people and sympathy for the messengers — hurried to his people and counselled them to follow the messengers. He then announced his own belief: "innī āmantu bi-rabbikum fa-sma' ūn" — I have believed in your Lord, so hear me. The addressee could be his people (calling Allāh "your Lord" to state the reality, though they did not accept it); or the address could be to the messengers, "fa-sma' ūn" meaning: hear, and bear witness before Allāh to my faith. · "qīla-dkhuli-ljannah; qāla yā laita qaumī ya ‘lamūn" al-āyah: to this man, who had come from the corner of the city to urge belief in the messengers, it was said, "enter Paradise." Apparently this address was through an angel: enter Paradise; and "entering Paradise" here is the glad tiding that your place in Jannah is fixed, to be attained in its time after the Gathering and Resurrection (Qurṭubī). · Nor is it far-fetched that his place in Jannah was shown him at that moment; besides, in barzakh too the people of Jannah receive the fruits, flowers and comforts of Jannah — so his reaching the world of barzakh is, in one sense, entering Jannah itself. · The Qur’ān's wording — that he was told "enter Paradise" — points to this man having been martyred; for entering Paradise, or witnessing its traces, can only be after death. · In the historical narrations it is reported from Ibn ‘Abbās, Muqātil and Mujāhid, the imāms of tafsīr, that this man was Ḥabīb bin Iṣmā‘īl the carpenter, and he is among those [of whom] our Messenger ﷺ...

believed in [the Prophet ﷺ] six hundred years before his mission — as reported of Tubba‘ al-Akbar, who read the glad tidings of the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ in the earlier Books and believed in him long before his birth. This third elder who believed before the Prophet's ﷺ birth and call is Waraqah bin Naufal, mentioned in the events of the beginning-of-revelation ḥadīth in Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī. It is a distinction of the Messenger ﷺ that three men believed in him before his birth and mission — which did not happen with any other prophet or messenger. · Wahb bin Munabbih's narration: this man was a leper, and his house was by the very last gate of the city. He used to pray to his supposed gods to make him well. These messengers happened to enter the city of Antākiya through this same gate, over which seventy years had passed [i.e. he had been praying seventy years]. He met them first; they invited him to leave idolatry and to the worship of the one God. He said, "have you any proof or sign confirming your claim?" They said yes. He named his leprosy and asked, "can you remove this disease?" They said, "we will pray to our Lord, and He will make you well." · He said, "what strange thing you say — for seventy years I have prayed to my gods with no benefit; how will your Lord change my condition in one day?" They said, "yes — our Lord is able over all things, and those you have made gods have no reality; they can bring no one benefit or harm." · Hearing this the man believed; those elders prayed for him, and Allāh healed him so completely that no trace of the disease remained. His faith then grew firmer, and he pledged that of whatever he earned in a day he would spend half in Allāh's way. · When he heard of the townspeople's assault on the messengers, he ran and counselled his people and announced his faith. The whole people turned against him and fell upon him together. In Ibn Mas‘ūd's (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) narration, they all martyred him with kicks and blows; in some narrations they pelted him with stones. And even then, under the frenzied beating of them all, he kept saying, "rabbi-hdi qaumī" — O my Lord, guide my people. · Some narrations say the people also martyred the three messengers; but no sound narration mentions what became of them — the apparent case is that they were not killed (Qurṭubī).

PDF PAGE 378 · [Q 36:26-27 Ma'ārif → box: the prophetic method of da'wah and iṣlāḥ] · "yā laita qaumī ya'lamū bimā ghafara lī rabbī wa ja'alanī mina-l-mukramīn" — this elder, who was martyred in Allāh's way with great courage, was treated by Allāh with special honour and dignity, and ordered into Jannah. Witnessing that reward, honour, and the bounties of Jannah, he remembered his people, and wished: "would that my people knew my state — what honour, dignity and everlasting bounties I received as the reward of believing in the messengers" — so that perhaps they too would be granted the tawfīq of faith. This wish is stated in the āyah. · [Box: the prophetic method of da'wah and iṣlāḥ — an important directive for the propagators of Islam:] Look again carefully at how the three messengers sent to this town addressed the polytheists and disbelievers, how they answered their harsh, bitter words and threats; and likewise how Ḥabīb the Carpenter, who accepted Islam through their call, addressed his own people — in all this there are great lessons for those who serve in conveying the dīn and reforming people. · In answer to the messengers' sincere, advising conveyance, the polytheists said three things: (1) "you are only humans like us — why should we accept your word?" (2) "the Most Merciful has sent down no message or Book upon anyone." (3) "you are outright lying." · Consider: to disinterested, advising speech, this inflammatory talk called for [an angry retort]; but what answer did the messengers give — only "rabbunā ya'lamu innā ilaikum la-mursalūn" (our Lord knows we are sent to you), and "mā 'alainā illa-l-balāghu-l-mubīn" (our task is only to convey Allāh's message clearly to you; you may accept or reject). See — is there any trace of retaliation to their provocation in any word of theirs? How compassionate an answer! · Then these people went further and said, "you are ill-omened; because of you we have fallen into calamity." The fitting answer would have been: "you yourselves are ill-omened; the ill fruit of your own deeds is coming upon you." But the messengers put it in vague words, without explicitly declaring them ill-omened — they said only "ṭā'irukum ma'akum" (your ill omen is with you). And they addressed them compassionately again: "a-in zukkirtum" — consider: what harm have we done you? We only counselled you out of goodwill...

messengers' dialogue. Now see the dialogue of the new Muslim who believed in the messengers' call. First he called his people to accept the messengers' word by telling them two things: (1) just consider — these people have walked from afar to counsel you, bearing the hardship of travel, and ask nothing from you; this itself invites a person to reflect. They are disinterested; at least reflect on their word. (2) what they say is a matter of reason, fairness and guidance. Then he was to alert the people to their error and misguidance: that, abandoning your Almighty Creator, you have taken as your refuge idols you carved yourselves — whereas their state is that they can neither do any work for you themselves, nor have any station or rank with Allāh to intercede and get your work done. · But Ḥabīb the Carpenter, instead of attributing all this to them, took the style of attributing it to himself — that in such acts there would be great misguidance: "wa mā liya lā a'budu-llazī faṭaranī" al-āyah — all this so that the opponent is not provoked, and reflects on the matter with a cool heart. · Then when his people took no effect even from his tenderness and mercy, and fell upon him to kill him, even then no word of curse came to his tongue; rather he gave up his life saying, "rabbi-hdi qaumī" — O my Lord, guide my people. · Stranger still: when the one martyred by his people's cruelty witnessed Allāh's reward, honour and the bounties of Jannah, even then he remembered his own oppressive people, and out of goodwill and sympathy wished: "would that my people knew of my condition, my reward and honour — so that perhaps they too would desist from their misguidance and share in these bounties." Subḥāna-llāh! how goodwill toward Allāh's creation, despite their cruelties, is woven into the very veins and skin of these people — this is the very thing that has transformed nations, drawn them out of kufr and misguidance and granted them a station the angels envy. · Today's propagators and those who serve da'wah and iṣlāḥ have generally abandoned this prophetic model; that is why their call and conveyance has become ineffective. Showing anger in a speech, taunting the opponent, landing sharp phrases, is considered a great feat...

Bas sab se bhārī jumla jo bolā, to yih ki "bal antum qaumun musrifūn" — ya'nī tum log ḥudūd se tajāwuz karne wāle ho, bāt ko kahīn se kahīn le jāte ho.

Yih to un rasūloṅ kā mukālama thā. Ab woh mukālama dekhiye jo un rasūloṅ kī da'wat par īmān lāne wāle nau-Muslim ne kiyā. Us ne pahle to apnī qaum ko do do bāteṅ batlā kar rasūloṅ kī bāt mānne kī da'wat dī — awwal yih ki zarā yih to soch chuke ki yih log dūr se chal kar tumheṅ naṣīḥat karne āye haiṅ, safar kī taklīf uṭhā rahe haiṅ, aur tum se kuchh māṅte nahīn; yih bāt khud insān ko ghaur kī da'wat detī hai. Woh be-gharaḥ log haiṅ, un kī bāt meṅ ghaur to kar leṅ. Dūsre yih ki jo bāt woh kah rahe haiṅ woh 'aql wa inṣāf aur hidāyat kī bāt hai. Is ke ba'd qaum ko un kī ghalatī aur gumrāhī par mutanabbih karnā thā ki apne paidā karne wāle Qādir-e-Muṭlaq ko chhoṛ kar tum khud tarāshīda butoṅ ko apnā ḥājat-samajh baiṭhe ho — jab ki un kā ḥāl yih hai ki

Magar Ḥabīb Najjār ne yih sārī bāteñ un kī ṭaraf mansūb karne ke bajā'e apnī ṭaraf mansūb karne kā 'unwān ikhtiyār kiya ki aise kāmōñ meñ to baṛī gumrahī kī bāt hogī — "wa mā liya lā a 'budu-llazī faṭaranī" al-āyah — yih sab is li'e ki mukhālīf ko ishti'āl na ho, bāt meñ ṭhanḍe dil se ghaur kare.

Phir jab us kī qaum ne us kī shafqat wa raḥmat kā bhī kuchh aṣar na liyā, aur us ko qatl karne ke li'e us par pil paṛī, to us waqt bhī us kī zabān par koī bad-du'ā kā kalima na āyā; balki yihī kahte hu'e jān de dī ki "rabbi-hdī qaumī" — ya 'nī mere Parwardigār! merī qaum ko hidāyat farmā de.

Is se ziyāda 'ajīb bāt yih hai ki qaum ke us ḡulm wa sitam se shahīd hone wāle ko jab Allāh kī ṭaraf se in'ām wa ikrām aur jannat kī nī'matoñ kā mushāhada hu'ā, to us waqt bhī usī apnī ḡālim qaum yād āī, aur us kī khair-khwāhī wa ham-dardī se yih tamannā kī ki kāsh! merī qaum mere ḥālāt in'ām wa ikrām se wāqif ho jātī, to shāyad woh bhī apnī gumrahī se bāz ā kar in nī'matoñ kī sharīk ban jātī. Subḥāna-llāh! khalq-Allāh kī khair-khwāhī, un ke maḡālim ke bā-wujūd, jo kis ṭarah in ḥaḍrāt kī rag-o-post meñ paiwast hotī hai — yihī woh chīz hai jis ne qaumoñ kī kāyā palṭī hai; kufr wa ḡalālat se nikāl kar woh maqām bakhshā hai ki firishte bhī un par rashk karte haiñ.

Āj-kal ke muballighīn aur khidmat-e-da'wat wa iṣlāḥ ke anjām dene wāloñ ne 'umūman is paighambarāna uswa ko chhoṛ diyā hai; isī li'e un kī da'wat wa tablīgh be-aṣar ho kar rah ga'ī hai. "Allāhumma-j'alnā muttabi'īna li-sunani-l-Anbiyā', wa waffiqnā limā tuḥibbu wa tarḡāh." · "wa mā anzalnā 'alā qaumihī min ba'dihī min jundin mina-s-samā'i wa mā kunnā munzilīn; in kānat illā ṣaiḡatan wāḡidatan fa-izā hum khāmidūn": this mentions the heavenly punishment on the people who belied the messengers and beat Ḥabīb the Carpenter to death. In introducing the punishment it says: We did not need to send down any army of angels from heaven to seize this people, nor was it Our practice to send such an army — for a single angel of Allāh is enough to destroy great, mighty, brave nations; what need of an army of angels? · Then the punishment is stated: it was only that an angel raised one mighty cry, and they were all extinguished. Narrations: Jibrā'il al-Amīn seized the two leaves of the city's gate and raised one severe, terrifying cry, whose shock no soul could bear; they all died. The Qur'ān expresses their dying with "khāmidūn". "khumūd" means the going-out of a fire; an animal's life depends on its innate heat (ḡarārat-e-ḡharīzī) — when that heat ends, that is death. "khāmidūn" means extinguished, gone cold. · Verse table (vv.33–36): v.33 — "wa āyatun lahumu-l-arḍu-l-maitah; aḥyaināhā wa akhrajnā minhā ḥabban fa-minhu ya'kulūn" — a sign for them is the dead earth, which We revived and brought forth from it grain, so from it they eat. v.34 — "wa ja'alnā fihā jannātin min nakhīlin wa a'nābin wa fajjarnā fihā mina-l-'uyūn" — We made in it gardens of date-palms and grapes, and caused springs to gush in it. v.35 — "li-ya'kulū min ṣamarihī wa mā 'amilat-hu aidihim; a-fa-lā yashkurūn" — that they may eat of its fruit, though their hands did not make it; will they not then give thanks? v.36 begins — "subḥāna-llazī khalaqa-l-azwāja kullahā mim mā tunbitu-l-arḍu..." — glory be to Him who created all the pairs of what the earth grows...

... (ghuṣṣe kā izhār) jo mukhālīf ko aur ziyāda zidd wa 'inād kī ṭaraf dhakel detā hai. Allāhumma-j'alnā muttabi'īna li-sunani-l-Anbiyā', wa waffiqnā limā tuḥibbu wa tarḍāh.

———— "wa mā anzalnā 'alā qaumiḥī min ba'dihī min jundin mina-s-samā' i wa mā kunnā munzilīn; in kānat illā ṣaiḥatan wāḥidatan fa-izā hum khāmidūn" —————

Yih us qaum par āsmānī 'azāb kā zikr hai, jis ne rasūlon kī takzīb kī, aur Ḥabīb Najjār ko mār mār kar shahīd kar diyā thā. Aur 'azāb kī tamhīd meṅ yih farmāyā ki is qaum ko 'azāb meṅ pakarṇe ke li'e hameṅ āsmān se koī firishton kā lashkar bhejnā nahīn paṛā, aur na aisā lashkar bhejnā hamārā dastūr rahā — kyonki Allāh kā to ek hī firishta baṛī baṛī qawī bahādur qaumon ko tabāh kar dene ke li'e kāfī hai; is ko firishton kā lashkar bhejne kī kya ṣarūrat.

Phir un par āne wāle 'azāb ko bayān farmāyā ki bas itnā hu'ā ki firishte ne ek zor kī āwāz lagā'ī, jis se yih sab ke sab ṭhanḍe ho kar rah gaye.

Riwāyāt meṅ hai ki Jibrā'il Amīn ne shahr ke darwāze ke donoṅ bāzū pakar kar ek sakht haibatnāk āwāz lagā'ī, jis ke ṣadme ko kisī kī rūḥ bardāshṭ na kar sakī; sab ke sab mare rah gaye. Un ke mar jāne ko Qur'ān ne "khāmidūn" ke lafz se ta'bīr kiyā hai. "khumūd" āg bujh jāne ke ma'nī meṅ ātā hai; jāndār kī ḥayāt ḥarārat-e-gharīzī par mauqūf hai — jab yih ḥarārat khatm ho jā'e to usī kā nām maut hai. "khāmidūn" ya'nī bujhne wāle, ṭhanḍe ho jāne wāle.

PDF PAGE 382 · [Q 36:33-40 Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr, cont.] · ...so people eat of them; and We also made in this earth gardens of date-palms and grapes, and set flowing in it springs and streams (to water the gardens) — that people may eat of the gardens' fruits (as of grain); and their hands did not make this (fruit and grain). Though the sowing and watering apparently are done by every man's hands, they have no part in producing the tree from the seed, or fruit from the tree — that is Allāh's work alone. So, seeing such proofs, will they not give thanks — whose first degree is affirming Allāh's existence and tauḥīd? · That inference was from particular earthly and cosmic signs; next comes inference from general earthly and psychological signs: He is the pure Being who created all the opposing kinds — of the earth's plants (whether the opposition is of likeness — grains from one, fruit from another; or of contrariety and difference — wheat and barley, sour fruit and sweet fruit) — and of the people themselves (as man and woman) — and of things ordinary people do not know. No hidden thing is free of an opposite either; and from this it is known that Allāh alone is without an opposite. This also explains the āyah "wa min kulli shai' in khalaqnā zaujain". · Next, inference from certain cosmic, heavenly āyāt and their effects: one sign is the night — since darkness is the original, as if the true time was the night and the sun's light was incidental; as if the day covered this darkness, as a goat's hide covers its flesh. So We (removing this incidental cover) strip the day from it, and at once (the night) appears, and they are left in darkness. · Another sign is the sun, which keeps moving to its resting-place — general both to the point from which it makes its annual round and returns to that same point, and to the horizon-point at which, in its daily motion, it sets. This is the ordaining of God, who is Mighty (supreme in power) and Knowing — knowing by His knowledge the wisdom and interest in these arrangements, and enforcing these arrangements by His power. · Another sign is the moon, for whose course We fixed phases — it traverses one phase daily, until in its last round it becomes thin, thin, so as to be like an old date-stalk, which is thin and curved; and possibly, from the weakness of its light, the comparison also takes in its yellowness. The courses of the sun and moon, and the coming and going of night and day, are set with such measure and order that the sun cannot [overtake the moon at the time of the moon's shining of light]...

... so un meñ se log khāte haiñ; aur (nīz) ham ne is zamīn meñ khajūron aur angūron ke bāgh lagā'e, aur is meñ (bāgh kī āb-pāshī ke li'e) chashme aur nāle jāri kiye — tāki (miṣl-e-ghalle ke) log bāgh ke phaloñ meñ se bhī khā'eñ, aur is (phal aur ghalle) ko un ke hāthoñ ne nahīñ banāyā. Gō tukhm-rezī aur āb-pāshī bi-zāhir har ādmī ke hāthoñ hoī hoī hī hai, magar (bīj se) darakht, aur darakht se phal paidā karne meñ un kā koī dakhī nahīñ — khāṣ Khudā hī kā kām hai. So (aise dalā'il dekh kar) kya shukr nahīñ karte, jis kā awwal darja Allāh ke wujūd aur tauḥīd kā iqrār hai.

Yih istidlāl to zamīnī aur āfāqī khāṣ nishāniyoñ se thā; āge 'ām zamīnī aur nafsiyātī nishāniyoñ se istidlāl hai. And likewise the night cannot come before the day's fixed period ends, as the day cannot come before the night's fixed period ends. And the moon and the sun both run, by reckoning, each in an orbit, as if floating, and cannot go outside the reckoning such that a disorder should occur in the reckoning of night and day. · Next, from the cosmic-earthly āyāt, a particular sign concerning travel and mounts: one sign for them is that We carried their offspring in the laden ship (people often sent their children on journeys for trade). This expression points to three bounties: (1) making the laden ship — a thing that, being heavy, is liable to sink in water — float on the surface; (2) granting these people offspring; (3) giving them provision and goods, so that they stay home and send their children as agents. · And for the journey over land, We created for them things like that ship, on which they ride — meaning camels etc.; the comparison to a ship is by the particular quality that on it too one rides, carries loads, and covers distances. The beauty of this comparison is heightened by the current Arab idiom of calling the camel "safīna-t al-barr" — the ship of the land. · Next, connected with the ship, a warning of punishment to the disbelievers: if We willed We could drown them; then neither would any of the things they rely on come to answer their cry and save them from drowning, nor would they be delivered (from death after drowning) — none can escape death. But it is Our mercy, and it is willed that they benefit from worldly life to a fixed time, so respite is granted. ·

Ma'ārif o Masā'il: In Sūrah Yā-Sīn most themes relate to stating the āyāt of [Allāh's] power and His favours, then inferring the hereafter and confirming the belief in the Gathering and Resurrection. In the āyāt above, such signs of divine power are stated as [on one hand...]

establishing of Allāh's special favours and kindnesses to man and creatures at large, and the wondrous wisdoms in them. · The first āyah presents a parable of the earth, ever before every man: rain falls from the sky on the dry earth, and a kind of life arises in the earth, whose effects appear in the plants and trees that grow in it and their fruits. And, mentioning the flowing of springs beneath and on the surface of the earth to grow and sustain those trees, He said "li-ya’kulū min ṣamarihī" — the purpose of setting the winds, clouds and all the earth's forces to work is that people may eat their fruit. · All these things are witnessed with the eyes, which every man sees. Next man is alerted to that for which this whole workshop was established. He said "wa mā ‘amilat-hu aidīhim" — the jamhūr mufasssīrīn take "mā" here as negative: their hands did not make these fruits. This clause alerts the heedless man: just reflect on your work and toil — what part have you had in this garden and bloom beyond casting the seed into the earth, watering it, and softening the earth so the tender shoot meets no obstacle in emerging? But growing a tree from that seed, bringing leaves and branches on the tree, then producing such fruit on it — what part have you in all this? · This can be the act only of the Almighty, the Wise, the All-Knowing. So it is your duty, when benefiting from these things, not to forget their Creator and Owner. · Its parallel is the āyah of Sūrah al-Wāqī‘ah, "a-fa-ra’aytum mā taḥruṣūn; a-antum tazra‘ūnahū am naḥnu-z-zāri‘ūn" — consider what you sow: is it you who made it grow into a tree, or We? Upshot: though man has no part in making these fruits, We of Our bounty created them and made man their owner, and also taught him the manner of eating and benefiting from them. · [Box: "wa mā ‘amilat-hu aidīhim":] Ibn Jarīr and some mufasssīrīn take "mā" here not as negative but as the relative noun (in the sense of "allazī"), rendering: We created all these things so that people may eat their fruit, and may also eat what man himself prepares by the effort and work of his hands from the young plants and fruits — e.g. ...[box title: "the special difference

fruits that [Allāh's] power made are made fit to eat even without any effort, work or human handling; and Allāh has also given man the skill to prepare from each single fruit various tasty and beneficial things. · In this case, the producing of the fruits, and giving man the skill to compound one fruit with other things to prepare various tasty and beneficial foods, is a second bounty. Ibn Kaṣīr, citing Ibn Jarīr's tafsīr, said it is supported by the reading of ‘Abdullāh bin Mas‘ūd (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu), whose reading has "mimmā" instead of "mā" — "mimmā ‘amilat-hu aidīhim". · Its detail: all the world's animals also eat plants and fruit — some eat flesh, some eat clay; but the food of all these animals is of these simple substances — the grass-eater eats pure grass, the flesh-eater pure flesh. Compounding these with other things to prepare various dishes — compounded with salt, pepper, sugar, sourness etc. so that ten kinds of one dish are made — this compound food belongs to man alone. He has been given the skill to prepare one compound food from various things. This blending of flesh with salt, pepper, spices, and of fruits with sugar etc. is man's craft, which Allāh taught him. · After mentioning these magnificent bounties of [Allāh's] power, and the peerless āyāt of its craftsmanship in them, He said at the end "a-fa-lā yashkurūn" — do these people of reason not become grateful after seeing all these things? · Next, after mentioning the earth's produce and the water and air, man and animals are also included in alerting to another sign of absolute power: "subḥāna-llazī khalaqa-l-azwāja kullahā mimmā tunbitu-l-arḍu wa min anfusihi wa mimmā lā ya‘lamūn" — "azwāj" is the plural of "zauj" (pair). A pair has two opposite things, each of which is called the "zauj" of the other — as man and woman: man is the woman's "zauj" and the woman is the man's "zauj". · Likewise the male and female of animals are each other's "zauj". In many plants and trees too a male and female are recognised — in date-palm and papaya trees it is well known, and it is not far-fetched if it is so in other fruits too. As modern science's research shows, in all fruit-bearing and flower-bearing [plants...]

Is kā ḥāṣil yih hogā ki yih phal jo qudrat ne banā‘e haiñ, baḡhair kisī kasb wa ‘amal aur insānī taṣarruf ke bhī khāne ke qābil banā‘e gaye haiñ; aur insān ko Allāh Ta‘ālā ne yih salīqa bhī de diyā hai ki ek ek phal se ṭaraḥ ṭaraḥ kī khush-zā‘iqa aur muḥīd chīzeñ taiyār kare.

Is ṣūrat meñ phaloñ kā paidā karnā, aur insān ko us kā salīqa denā ki ek phal ko dūsarī chīzoñ se murakkab kar ke ṭaraḥ ṭaraḥ kī ashyā-e-khwardanī khush-zā‘iqa aur muḥīd taiyār kare — yih dūsarī ni‘mat hai. Tafṣīl is kī yih hai ki duniyā ke tamām ḥaywānāt bhī nabātāt aur phal khāte haiñ; kuchh jānwar gōsht khāte haiñ, kuchh miṭṭī khāte haiñ; lekin in sab jānwaroñ kī khurāk in mufradāt hī meñ se hai — ghās khāne wālā khālīṣ ghās, gōsht khāne wālā khālīṣ gōsht khātā hai. In chīzoñ ko dūsarī chīzoñ se murakkab kar ke ṭarah ṭarah ke khāne taiyār karnā — namak, mirch, shakar, turshī waghaira se murakkab ho kar ek khāne kī das qismeñ ban jātī haiñ — yih murakkab khurāk ṣirf insān hī kī hai. Isī ko mukhtalif chīzoñ se ek murakkab ghizā taiyār karne kā salīqa diyā gayā hai. Yih gōsht ke sāth namak, mirch, masāle, aur phaloñ ke sāth shakar waghaira kā imtizāj insān kī ṣan‘at-kārī hī hai, jo Allāh Ta‘ālā ne is ko sikhā dī hai.

Āge us zamīnī paidā-wār aur āb wa hawā ke zikr ke ba‘d insān aur ḥaywānāt ko bhī shāmil kar ke qudrat-e-muṭlaqa kī ek aur nishānī se āgāh kiyā jātā hai: "subḥāna-llaẓī khalaqa-l-azwāja kullahā mimmā tunbitu-l-arḍu wa min anfusihi wa mimmā lā ya‘lamūn" — is meñ lafẓ "azwāj" "zauj" kī jam‘ hai, jo jōre ke ma‘nī meñ ātā hai. PDF PAGE 386 · [Q 36:36-38 Ma‘ārif: "azwāj" = kinds; "wa āyatun lahumu-l-lail"; "wa-sh-shamsu tajrī"] · ...in [fruit-bearing] trees there are male and female, and generation takes place among them. Likewise, if this hidden system also exists in minerals and other creatures, it is not far-fetched — hinted at in "wa mimmā lā ya‘lamūn". · Generally the mufasssīrīn take "azwāj" to mean kinds and species; for just as male and female are called each other's "zaujain", so are two opposite things — heat and cold, dryness and wetness, sorrow and joy, sickness and health. Within each of these, by high, low and middling degrees, many ranks and kinds arise. Likewise humans and animals, by colour and form, language and way of life, are of many kinds. The word "azwāj" comprehends all these kinds. In this āyah, first "mimmā tunbitu-l-arḍu" — the kinds of plants; then "min anfusihi" — the kinds of human souls themselves; then "wa mimmā lā ya‘lamūn" — the thousands of creatures not yet discovered by people; Allāh alone knows how many kinds of animals, plants and minerals are in the depths of the earth, in the seas and the mountains. · "wa āyatun lahumu-l-lail; naslakhu minhu-n-nahār": after stating the signs of divine power in earthly creatures, the heavenly and cosmic creatures are mentioned. "salkh" literally means to flay a skin; when a skin is stripped from an animal, or a cover from other things, the thing inside appears. Allāh in this parable hints that in this world darkness is the original and light is incidental — light that spreads over the earth through the planets and stars. In the decreed order, at the fixed time this light, spread over the darkness of the world, is lifted off from above, and darkness remains — this is commonly called night. · "wa-sh-shamsu tajrī li-mustaqarrin lahā; zālika taqdīru-l-‘azīzi-l-‘alīm": the sense is that the sun keeps moving toward its "mustaqarr". "mustaqarr" is used for a place of rest and also for a time of rest — so it may be temporal or spatial. And "mustaqarr" also carries the sense of the end-point of a journey — even if, right with it, another round of travel begins without any pause or halt (Ibn Kaṣīr). · Some mufasssīrīn take "mustaqarr" there to mean the temporal rest — the time when the sun completes and ends its fixed motion; and that time is the Day of Qiyāmah.

Aur ‘ām ṭaur par ḥaḍrāt mufasssīrīn ne "azwāj" ko ba-ma‘nē anwā‘ wa aqsām likhā hai; kyonki jis ṭaraḥ nar-mādā ko bāham "zaujain" kahā jātā hai, isī ṭaraḥ do muqābil chīzoñ ko bhī "zaujain" kahte haiñ — jaise sardī garmī, khushkī tarī, ranj khushī, bīmārī tandurustī. Isī ṭaraḥ insānoñ aur jānwaroñ meñ rang wa hai‘at, aur zabān aur ṭarz-e-ma‘īshat ke i‘tibār se bahut sī anwā‘ wa aqsām haiñ. Lafẓ "azwāj" in tamām anwā‘ wa aqsām ko shāmil hai. Āyat-e-mazkūra meñ pahle to "mimmā tunbitu-l-arḍu" — ya‘nī nabātāt kī anwā‘ wa aqsām kā bayān farmāyā hai; is ke ba‘d "min anfusihi" — ya‘nī khud insānī nufūs ke anwā‘ wa aqsām kā zikr hai; aur is ke ba‘d "mimmā lā ya‘lamūn" meñ woh hazāroñ makhluqāt shāmil haiñ jin kā āj tak logoñ ko inkishāf nahīn hu‘ā — Allāh Ta‘ālā hī jāntā hai ki zamīn kī tah meñ, aur daryā‘oñ aur pahāroñ meñ, kitnī anwā‘ wa aqsām ḥaywānāt, nabātāt aur jamādāt kī haiñ.

Āyat kā mafhūm yih hai ki āftāb chaltā rahtā hai, apne mustaqarr kī ṭaraf. "mustaqarr" jā‘e-e-qarār ko bhī kahā jātā hai, aur waqt-e-qarār ko bhī — ya‘nī mustaqarr-e-zamānī bhī ho saktā hai, makānī bhī. Ba‘ẓ ḥaḍrāt mufasssīrīn ne to us jagah "mustaqarr" se "mustaqarr-e-zamānī" murād liyā hai — ya‘nī woh waqt jab ki āftāb apnī ḥarakat-e-muqarrara pūrī kar ke khatm kar de gā; aur woh waqt qiyāmat kā din hai. (continues on PDF p.387)

this tafsīr the meaning is that the sun moves in its orbit with such a firm, solid system that not a minute or a second's difference ever occurs. Thousands of years have passed on this bright road, but none of this is permanent; it has a particular "mustaqarr" on reaching which this solar system and motion will stop and end — and that is the Day of Qiyāmah. This tafsīr is from Qatāda (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) (Ibn Kaṣīr). · A Sūrah al-Zumar āyah also supports "mustaqarr" meaning the temporal rest, i.e. the Day of Qiyāmah: "khalaqa-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍa bi-l-ḥaqq; yukawwiru-l-laila ‘ala-n-nahāri wa yukawwiru-n-nahāra ‘ala-l-lail; wa sakhkhara-sh-shamsa wa-l-qamar; kullun yajrī li-ajalin musammā". This āyah too states almost what the Sūrah Yā-Sīn āyah states — the alternation of night and day is stated, per common perception, by a parable: Allāh wraps the night over the day and the day over the night — as if night and day are likened to two covers. The night's cover is drawn over the day and it becomes night; the day's cover is drawn over the night and it becomes day. · Then it says the sun and moon are both subjected to Allāh and obedient to His command; each moves for a fixed term. Here the words "ajal musammā" (fixed term) mean an appointed time-limit. The sense: the motion of the sun and moon is not permanent; on reaching an appointed time — the Day of Qiyāmah — it will end and be cut off. In the Sūrah Yā-Sīn āyah too the apparent meaning is that "mustaqarr" is this same appointed time-limit, the temporal rest. On this tafsīr there is no difficulty in the āyah's meaning and intent, and no objection against the rules of astronomy and mathematics. · Some mufasssīrīn take it to mean the spatial rest, basing it on a ḥaḍīth reported in the Ṣaḥīḥain (Bukhārī and Muslim) and elsewhere from several Ṣaḥābah with several chains. · Abū Zarr al-Ghifārī (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) narrated that one day he was with the Prophet ﷺ in the mosque at sunset; the Prophet ﷺ addressed him and asked, "Abū Zarr, do you know where the sun sets?" He said, "Allāh and His Messenger know best." The Prophet ﷺ said: the sun keeps moving until it reaches beneath the ‘Arsh and makes sajdah. Then he said: this is what "mustaqarr" means in this āyah — "wa-sh-shamsu tajrī li-mustaqarrin lahā". · In another narration of Abū Zarr are the words: I asked the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ the tafsīr of "wa-sh-shamsu tajrī li-mustaqarrin lahā", and he said...

Is tafsīr par ma' nē āyat ke yih haiñ ki āftāb apne madār par aise muḥkam aur mazbūt nizām ke sāth ḥarakat kar rahā hai, jis meñ kabhī ek mināṭ ek second kā farq nahīñ ātā. Hazārḥā sāl is roshan raste par guẓar chuke haiñ, magar yih sab dā'imī nahīñ; is kā ek khāṣ mustaqarr hai, jahāñ pahuñch kar yih nizām-e-shamsī aur ḥarakat band aur khatm ho jā'e gī, aur woh qiyāmat kā din hai. Yih tafsīr Ḥaḍrat Qatāda raḍiyallāhu 'anhu se manqūl hai (Ibn Kaṣīr).

Aur Qur'ān-e-Karīm kī Sūrah al-Zumar kī ek āyat se bhī is kī ta'yīd hotī hai ki mustaqarr se murād mustaqarr-e-zamānī, ya'nī roz-e-qiyāmat hai. Āyat Sūrah al-Zumar kī yih hai: "khalaqa-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍa bi-l-ḥaqq; yukawwiru-l-laila 'ala-n-nahāri wa yukawwiru-n-nahāra 'ala-l-lail; wa sakhkhara-sh-shamsa wa-l-qamar; kullun yajrī li-ajalin musammā". Is āyat meñ bhī taqrībān wuhī bayān hai jo Sūrah Yā-Sīn kī āyat-e-mazkūra kā hai, ki tabaddul-e-lail wa nahār ke inqilāb ko 'awāmī naẓar ke muṭābiq ek tamṣīl se bayān farmāyā hai ki Allāh Ta'ālā rāt ko din par lapet detā hai, aur din ko rāt par — gō'i rāt aur din ko do ḡhilāfōñ se tashbīḥ dī ga'ī hai. Rāt kā ḡhilāf din par chaḥḥā diyā jātā hai to rāt ho jātī hai, aur din kā ḡhilāf rāt par chaḥḥā diyā jātā hai to din ho jātā hai.

Is ke ba'd farmāyā ki shams wa qamar donoñ Allāh Ta'ālā ke musakhkhar aur tābi'-e-farmān haiñ; in meñ se har ek, ek khāṣ mī'ād ke li'e chal rahā hai. Yahāñ "ajal musammā" ke alfāẓ haiñ, jin ke ma'nī mī'ād-e-mu'ayyan ke haiñ. Aur ma'nī āyat ke yih haiñ ki shams wa qamar donoñ kī ḥarakat dā'imī nahīñ; ek mī'ād-e-mu'ayyan, ya'nī roz-e-qiyāmat par pahuñch kar khatm aur munqaṭi' ho jā'e gī. Sūrah Yā-Sīn kī āyat-e-mazkūra meñ bhī zāḥir yihī hai ki lafẓ "mustaqarr" se yihī mī'ād-e-mu'ayyan, ya'nī mustaqarr-e-zamānī murād hai.

Ḥaḍrat Abū Zarr Ghifārī raḍiyallāhu 'anhu kī riwāyat hai ki woh ek roz Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ke sāth ḡhurūb-e-āftāb ke waqt masjid meñ ḥāẓir the; āp ne un ko khiṭāb kar ke sawāl kiyā ki "Abū Zarr! tum jānte ho ki āftāb kahāñ ḡhurūb hotā hai?" Farmāte haiñ ki main ne 'arẓ kiyā ki Allāh aur us kā Rasūl hī ziyāda jānte haiñ. Is par āp ne farmāyā ki āftāb chaltā rahtā hai yahāñ tak ki woh 'Arsh ke nīche

PDF PAGE 388 · [Q 36:38 Ma‘ārif, cont.: the Abū Zarr / Ibn ‘Umar ḥadīths; three difficulties] · ...he said "mustaqarruhā taḥta-l-‘Arsh". Bukhārī reports this narration in several places, and it is present in all the Kutub-e-Sitta except Ibn Mājah. · A ḥadīth of the same theme is also reported from ‘Abdullāh bin ‘Umar (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu), with an addition whose sense is: daily the sun, reaching beneath the ‘Arsh, makes sajdah and asks permission for the next round; on being permitted it starts a new round — until a day will come when it will not be given permission for a new round; rather it will be ordered, "return the way you came" — i.e. go beneath the earth from the west, then return from the west and rise from the west. The day this happens will be a sign of Qiyāmah being very near; at that time the door of repentance and coming to faith will be shut — no repentance will then be accepted from a sinner for his sin, nor from one mired in shirk and kufr for his kufr (Ibn Kaṣīr, via ‘Abd al-Razzāq). · [Box: the investigation of the "sujūd of the sun" — its making sajdah beneath the ‘Arsh:] From these ḥadīth narrations it appears that "mustaqarr" means the spatial rest — the place where one round of the sun's motion is completed; and that this place is beneath the ‘Arsh. On this view the meaning of the āyah would be: daily the sun moves toward a particular resting-place; reaching it, it makes sajdah before Allāh and asks permission for the next round; on being permitted, it starts another round. · But on the basis of facts and observations, and the principles stated by astronomy, there are several strong difficulties in this: · First: the nature of the ‘Arsh of the Most Merciful, as understood from the Qur’ān and Sunnah, is that it encompasses above all the earths and heavens. This earth and all the heavens, with the planets and stars, are all enclosed within the ‘Arsh; the ‘Arsh of the Most Merciful holds all this heavenly universe within it. In this respect the sun is always, in every state and at every time, beneath the ‘Arsh; so what would "going beneath the ‘Arsh after sunset" mean? · Second: it is a common observation that when the sun sets in one place it rises in another; so its rising and setting are going on at every time and in every state; then what is the meaning of going beneath the ‘Arsh and making sajdah after sunset? · Third: the apparent sense of this ḥadīth is that the sun, reaching its resting-place, pauses, in which it makes sajdah before Allāh and takes permission for the next round — whereas...

... ("mustaqarruhā taḥta-l-‘Arsh"). Bukhārī ne is riwāyat ko muta‘addid maqāmāt par naql kiya hai; aur Ibn Mājah ke ‘alāwa tamām Kutub-e-Sitta mein yih riwāyat maujūd hai.

Aur Ḥaḍrat ‘Abdullāh bin ‘Umar raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu se bhī isī maẓmūn kī ḥadīṣ manqūl hai; is mein kuchh ziyādtī hai, jis kā mafhūm yih hai ki roz-āna āftāb taḥt al-‘Arsh pahuñch kar sajda kartā hai, aur agle daure kī ijāzat ṭalab kartā hai. Ijāzat pā kar nayā daura shurū‘ kartā hai; yahān tak ki ek din aisā ā‘e gā jab is ko nayā daura karne kī ijāzat nahīn mile gī, balki yih ḥukm hogā ki jis ṭaraf se āyā hai usī ṭaraf laut jā — ya‘nī maghrib kī ṭaraf se zamīn ke niche jā, phir maghrib hī kī ṭaraf se laut kar maghrib se ṭulū‘ ho jā. Jis roz aisā hogā to yih qiyāmat ke bilkul qarīb hone kī ‘alāmat hogī; aur is waqt tauba karne aur īmān lāne kā darwāza band kar diyā jā‘e gā; is waqt kisī mubtalā-e-gunāh kī gunāh se, aur mubtalā-e-shirk wa kufr kī kufr se, tauba qabūl na hogī (Ibn Kaṣīr ba-ḥawāla-e-‘Abd al-Razzāq).

In riwāyāt-e-ḥadīṣ se ma‘lūm hotā hai ki "mustaqarr" se murād makānī mustaqarr hī hai — ya‘nī woh jagah jahān āftāb kī ḥarakat kā ek daura pūrā ho jā‘e. Aur yih bhī ma‘lūm hu‘ā ki woh jagah taḥt al-‘Arsh hī hai. Is ṣūrat mein maṭlab āyat kā yih hogā ki har roz āftāb ek khāṣ mustaqarr kī ṭaraf chaltā hai; phir wahān pahuñch kar Allāh Ta‘ālā ke sāmnē sajda kar ke, agle daure kī ijāzat māngtā hai; ijāzat milne par dūsra daura shurū‘ kartā hai.

Lekin wāqi‘āt wa mushāhadāt, aur hai‘at wa falakiyāt ke bayān-karda uṣūl kī binā par, is mein muta‘addid qawī ishkālāt haiñ:

sun's motion never being cut off at any time is a plain observation. And since the sun's rising and setting, in respect of different places, is going on at every time, this pause and stillness would also have to be at every time — with the result that the sun would have no motion at any time. · These difficulties are not only of mathematics and astronomy; they are of observation and fact, which cannot be waved away. And technically: the daily motion of the sun subject to the outermost sphere, and the sun's being at the earth's centre in the fourth heaven — the Ptolemaic theory, which Pythagoras had opposed even before this, and which modern research has rendered near-certainly wrong, while establishing Pythagoras's theory as near-certain; recent space travel and man's reaching the moon have made it certain that all the planets are in the spaces below the heaven, not at the earth's centre inside the heavens. · The Qur'ānic āyah coming shortly, "wa kullun fī falakin yasbahūn", also confirms this theory; and part of this theory is that this daily rising and setting is not from the sun's motion but from the earth's motion. By this technical theory, one more difficulty is added to the ḥadīth. · Before grasping its answer, keep in view that as far as the āyah's explicit statement goes, none of the mentioned doubts and difficulties applies to it. Its meaning is only that Allāh has set the sun on such an orderly, firm motion that it keeps moving toward its "mustaqarr" evenly, in one state. · If "mustaqarr" is taken, per Qatāda's tafsīr, as the temporal rest — the Day of Qiyāmah — the meaning is that this motion of the sun keeps running perpetually in one state, then ends on that Day. · And if the spatial rest is meant, its "mustaqarr" can be called that point of the solar orbit from which the sun began its motion at the beginning of creation. Reaching this same point, its day-and-night round is completed; for this is the end-point of its journey. Reaching it, the next round begins. · As for where and which is that point of this vast marked circle from which the sun's motion began at the start of creation — the Qur'ān does not entangle man in such useless debates that have no bearing on any religious or worldly benefit of his. This is such a debate; so leaving it, the Qur'ān turned attention to the real aim — which is stating the special manifestations of the matter of Allāh's power and wisdom: that in this world the largest and most brilliant orb is the sun's...

PDF PAGE 390 · [Q 36:38 Ma'ārif, cont.: answering the ḥadīth difficulty] · ...it did not come into being by itself, nor does any motion of it arise or persist by itself; in its day-and-night motion it moves at every moment subject to Allāh's leave and will. · None of the difficulties written above is any doubt or objection against the statement of the āyāt. However, the ḥadīths mentioned — in which it comes that after sunset it reaches beneath the 'Arsh, makes sajdah, and asks permission for the next round — all these difficulties relate to that.

This discussion was raised here because some wordings of the ḥadīth also cite this āyah. · The muḥaddiṣīn and mufasssīrīn have given various answers. On the face of the words, it is understood that this sajdah of the sun happens only once in a day and night, after sunset — those who take the ḥadīth on this apparent sense have stated three possibilities regarding "sunset": (1) the sunset of the great inhabited region — i.e. the place whose sunset coincides with sunset in most of the world's population; or the sunset at the equator; or the sunset at the horizon of Madīnah. This removes the difficulty that the sun's setting and rising is going on at every time — because this ḥadīth speaks of the sunset at a particular horizon. · But the clean, clear answer seems to be the one Ustāz ‘Allāma Shabbīr Aḥmad ‘Uṣmānī (raḥmatullāh ‘alaihi) adopted in his article "Sujūd-e-Shams", supported by the words of several imāms of tafsīr. · Before grasping it, one must understand a principle concerning prophetic teachings and expressions: the heavenly Books, and the prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām) who bring them, continually call Allāh's creatures to reflection and pondering over the creatures of heaven and earth, and infer from them Allāh's existence, oneness, knowledge and power; but pondering these things is a shar‘ī aim only to the extent that it bears on man's worldly and social need, or his religious and otherworldly need. Beyond that, common people are not put into mere philosophical inquiry and the pursuit of the realities of things — for first, complete real knowledge of the realities of things is not attainable even by the philosophers despite spending lifetimes; what account are the poor common people? Then, even if it were attained, and no religious need of theirs were met by it, and no sound worldly aim gained — what is entering into that useless, futile debate but a waste of world, of life, and of wealth? · The inference of the Qur‘ān and the prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām) [is] from the creatures of heaven and earth and their changes and upheavals...

The technical inquiries of philosophy and mathematics, which only the learned can do — inference is not made to rest on them, nor is delving into them encouraged; because faith in Allāh and acting on His message is the duty of every person, learned or unlearned, man or woman, townsman or villager, whether living on a mountain or an island or in a civilised city. So prophetic teachings are according to the sight and understanding of the common people, needing no technical skill. · Recognising the prayer times, determining the direction of the qiblah, grasping months, years and dates — knowledge of all this can also be had by mathematical calculation, but the sharī‘ah of Islam, instead of resting any of it on technical mathematical research, rested it on common observation. It kept the months and years and their dates by the lunar reckoning, and rested the existence or non-existence of the moon only on seeing the crescent (ru‘yat-e-hilāl) and observation. The days of fasting and

Ḥajj were fixed on this same basis. · Some people asked the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ the secret of the moon's waxing, waning, hiding, and rising again; the Qur'ān answered: "qul hiya mawāqītu li-n-nāsi wa-l-ḥajj" — say: all these changes of the moon are for the purpose that you may know from them the beginning and end of the month and its dates, and fix the days of Ḥajj etc. · This answer alerted them that your question is useless and futile; knowing its reality holds up no work of yours in religion or the world; so ask about something that bears on your religious or worldly need. · After this preface, consider the real matter: in these āyāt Allāh, mentioning some manifestations of His complete power and far-reaching wisdom, calls man to believe in Allāh's oneness and complete knowledge and power. First the earth is mentioned, ever before us — "wa āyatun lahumu-l-arḍ" — then rain falling on it and growing trees and plants, which every man sees and knows — "aḥyaināhā" al-āyah. Then, beginning the mention of things pertaining to the heaven and the heavenly space, first the daily alternation of night and day — "wa āyatun lahumu-l-lail" al-āyah. Then the sun and the moon, the greatest of the planets and stars. Of these, first, regarding the sun: "wa-sh-shamsu tajrī li-mustaqarrin lahā; zālīka taqdīru-l-‘azīzi-l-‘alīm". PDF PAGE 392 · [Q 36:38 Ma‘ārif: conclusion of the sujūd-e-shams discussion] · ...the sun is not moving of itself, by its own will and power; rather it moves subject to a system fixed by an "'azīz wa ‘alīm" — one of power and knowledge. Near sunset the Prophet ﷺ, by a question and answer, guided Abū Zarr al-Ghifārī (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) to be alerted to this very reality, telling him that after sunset the sun makes sajdah to Allāh beneath the ‘Arsh, then asks permission to begin the next round; when permitted, it goes on as usual and rises from the east in the morning. · This amounts to no more than that, at the sun's rising and setting, a new upheaval comes over the world, hinged on the sun. The Messenger of Allāh ﷺ, treating that revolutionary moment as apt for human admonition, urged: do not regard the sun as a free agent moving by its own power; it moves only subject to Allāh's leave and will. Its every rising and setting is by Allāh's permission; it is subject to His permission; its very moving subject to His command was called its sajdah — for every thing's sajdah befits its own state, as the Qur‘ān itself states, "kullun qad ‘alima ṣalātahū wa tasbīḥah" — all creation is engaged in Allāh's worship and glorification, but each one's manner of worship and glorification is different; and every creature is taught the manner of its worship and glorification, as man was taught the manner of his prayer and tasbīḥ. So it is not correct to take the sun's sajdah to mean placing its forehead on the ground like man's sajdah. · And since, per the statements of Qur‘ān and Sunnah, the ‘Arsh of God encompasses all the heavens, planets and earths, it is plain that the sun is beneath the ‘Arsh at every time and place. And since experience testifies that when the sun is setting in one place it is also rising in another, so no moment of it is free of rising and setting — thus the sun's being beneath the ‘Arsh is also perpetual, in every state, and its setting and rising is also in every state. So the upshot of the ḥadīth's content is that the sun, throughout its entire round, stays prostrate before Allāh beneath the 'Arsh — i.e. moves subject to His permission and command. This chain will keep on thus until near Qiyāmah; until the time comes to manifest the sign of Qiyāmah being very near, when the sun will be ordered to turn back instead of beginning its next round on its orbit, and it will then rise from the west. At that time the door of repentance will be shut; no one's faith and repentance will be accepted then.

Āḥḍrat ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne ḡhurūb-e-āftāb ke qarīb Ḥaḍrat Abū Zarr Ghifārī raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu ko ek sawāl wa jawāb ke zarī‘e isī ḥaqīqat par mutanabbih hone kī hidāyat farmā‘ī, jis meṁ batlāyā ki āftāb ḡhurūb hone ke ba‘d ‘Arsh ke nīche Allāh ko sajda kartā hai, aur phir aglā daura shurū‘ karne kī ijāzat māṅgtā hai; jab ijāzat mil jātī hai to ḥasb-e-dastūr āge chaltā hai, aur ṣubḥ ko jānīb-e-mashriq se ṭulū‘ ho jātā hai.

Is kā ḥāṣil is se zā‘id nahīn ki āftāb ke ṭulū‘ wa ḡhurūb ke waqt ‘ālam-e-dunyā meṁ ek nayā inqilāb ātā hai, jis kā madār āftāb par hī hai. Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne us inqilābī waqt ko insānī tanbīh ke li‘e mauzūn samajh kar yih talqīn farmā‘ī ki āftāb ko khud-mukhtār, apnī qudrat se chalne wālā na samjho; yih sirf Allāh Ta‘ālā ke iẓn wa mashiyyat ke tābi‘ chal rahā hai. Is kā har ṭulū‘ wa ḡhurūb Allāh Ta‘ālā kī ijāzat se hotā hai; yih us kī ijāzat ke tābi‘ hai; is ke tābi‘-e-farmān ḥarakat karne hī ko is kā sajda qarār diyā gayā — kyonki har chīz kā sajda har ḥālat ke munāsib hotā hai, jaisā ki khud Qur‘ān ne taṣrīḥ farmā‘ī hai "kullun qad ‘alima ṣalātahū wa tasbīḥah" — ya‘nī sārī makhlūq Allāh kī ‘ibādat aur tasbīḥ meṁ mashghūl hai, magar har ek kī ‘ibādat wa tasbīḥ kā ṭarīqa alag alag hai; aur har makhlūq ko us kī ‘ibādat wa tasbīḥ kā ṭarīqa sikhā diyā jātā hai. Jaise insān ko us kī namāz wa tasbīḥ kā ṭarīqa batlā diyā gayā hai. Is li‘e āftāb ke sajda ke yih ma‘nī samajhnā ki woh insān ke sajda kī ṭarah zamīn par māthā ṭikāne hī se hogā — ṣaḥīḥ nahīn.

Aur jab ki Qur‘ān wa Sunnat kī taṣrīḥāt ke muṭābiq ‘Arsh-e-Khudāwandī tamām āsmānoṁ, sayyāroṁ, zamīnoṁ par muḥīṭ hai, to yih zāhir hai ki āftāb har waqt har jagah zer-e-‘Arsh hī hai. Aur jab ki tajruba shāhid hai ki āftāb jis waqt ek jagah ḡhurūb ho rahā hotā hai to dūsarī jagah ṭulū‘ bhī ho rahā hotā hai, is li‘e us kā har lamḥa ṭulū‘ wa ḡhurūb se khālī nahīn; to āftāb kā zer-e-‘Arsh rahnā bhī dā‘imī har ḥāl meṁ hai, aur ḡhurūb wa ṭulū‘ honā bhī har ḥāl meṁ hai. Is li‘e ḥāṣil-e-maẓmūn-e-ḥadīṣ kā yih hu‘a ki āftāb apne pūre daure meṁ zer-e-‘Arsh Allāh ke sāmne sajda-rez rahtā hai — ya‘nī us kī ijāzat aur farmān ke tābi‘ ḥarakat kartā hai. Aur yih silsila isī ṭarah qarīb-e-qiyyāmat tak chaltā rahe gā; yahān tak ki qiyyāmat kī bilkul qarībī ‘alāmat zāhir karne kā waqt ā jā‘e gā, to āftāb ko apne madār par aglā daura shurū‘ karne ke bajā‘e pīchhe laṭ jāne kā ḥukm ho jā‘e gā, aur woh phir maghrib kī ṭaraf se ṭulū‘ ho

PDF PAGE 393 · [Q 36:38 Ma'ārif: conclusion — the tamthīl reading; the sun's life/consciousness] · Upshot: the singling out of sunset, and the events related in this narration of the sun then going beneath the 'Arsh, making sajdah there, and asking permission for the next round — are a parable, in accordance with effective prophetic teaching and entirely in terms of common perception. It does not follow that the sun makes sajdah on the ground like man, nor that its motion must pause at the time of sajdah; nor is it meant that it makes only one sajdah in a day and night at a particular place; nor that it goes beneath the 'Arsh only after sunset. · But at this revolutionary moment — when the common people are seeing the sun disappear from them — they were alerted, by way of parable, to the reality that all this is happening by the sun's moving beneath the 'Arsh, subject to command. The sun has no power or strength of its own; so just as the people of Madīnah were then feeling that the sun would now make sajdah and ask permission for the next round — so, wherever it sets, it is for all to draw this same lesson. · And the reality of the matter turned out to be that the sun, amid its motion on its orbit, at every moment makes sajdah to Allāh and keeps asking permission to move on; and for this sajdah and permission no stillness or pause is needed. · On this exposition the ḥadīth raises no doubt by way of observation, nor by the rules of astronomy and mathematics; and whether the Ptolemaic view of the solar system and the motion of the planets is correct, or the Pythagorean view now supported by modern research — in both cases no doubt or difficulty remains against the ḥadīth. · As for the question that the sun's making sajdah and asking permission for the next round, mentioned in the ḥadīth, is the work of life, knowledge and reason — while the sun and moon are lifeless, unconscious creatures, so how do these acts issue from them? — its answer has come under the āyah "wa in min shai' in illā yusabbiḥu bi-ḥamdih": the things we regard as lifeless and without reason and consciousness in fact possess a particular share of spirit and life and reason and consciousness. Their life and reason and consciousness are, however, less than that of man and animal — so much less that ordinary senses cannot perceive it; but there is no shar'ī or rational proof for denying it either. And the Qur'ān in this āyah has established their being alive and possessing reason and consciousness, and modern research has also accepted this. Wa-llāhu subḥānahū wa Ta'ālā a'lam.

Khulāṣa yih hai ki ḡhurūb-e-āftāb kī takhṣīṣ, aur is ke ba'd zer-e-'Arsh jāne, aur wahān sajda karne, aur agle daure kī ijāzat māngne ke jo wāqi'āt is riwāyat mein batlā'e gaye hain — woh paighambarāna mu'aṣṣir ta'līm ke munāsib, bilkul 'awāmī naẓar ke i'tibār se ek tamṣīl hain. Na is se yih lāzim ātā hai ki woh insān kī ṭaraḥ zamīn par sajda kare, aur na sajda karne ke waqt āftāb kī ḥarakat meñ kuchh waqfa honā lāzim ātā hai; aur na yih murād hai ki woh dīn rāt meñ ṣirf ek hī sajda kisī khāṣ jagah jā kar kartā hai; aur na yih ki woh ṣirf ḡhurūb ke ba‘d taḥt al-‘Arsh jātā hai.

Magar is inqilābī waqt — jab ki ‘awām yih dekh rahe haiñ ki āftāb ham se ḡhā‘ib ho rahā hai — is waqt ba-ṭaur tamsīl un ko is ḥaqīqat se āgāh kar diyā gayā ki yih jo kuchh ho rahā hai, woh dar-ḥaqīqat āftāb ke zer-e-‘Arsh, tābi‘-e-farmān chalte rahne se ho rahā hai. Āftāb khud ko koī qudrat wa ṭāqat nahīn rakhtā; to jis ṭarah us waqt Ahl-e-Madīna apnī jagah yih maḥsūs kar rahe the ki ab āftāb sajda kar ke agle daure kī ijāzat māñge gā — isī ṭarah jahān jahān woh ḡhurūb hotā jā‘e gā, sab ke li‘e yihī sabaq ḥāṣil karne ke li‘e hai.

Aur ḥaqīqat-e-mu‘āmalā yih niklī ki āftāb apne madār par ḥarakat ke darmiyān har lamḥa Allāh Ta‘ālā ko sajda bhī kartā hai, aur āge chalne kī ijāzat bhī māñgtā rahtā hai; aur is sajda aur ijāzat ke li‘e kisī sukūn aur waqfa kī zarūrat nahīn hotī.

Is taqrīr par ḥadīṣ-e-mazkūra meñ na mushāhadāt kī rū se koī shubha hotā hai, na qawā‘id-e-hai‘at wa riyāḍī ke i‘tibār se; aur niẓām-e-shamsī, aur ḥarakat-e-sayyārāt meñ Baṭlīmūsī taḥqīq ṣaḥīḥ ho yā Fīṣāghorath wālī taḥqīq jo āj-kal na‘ī taḥqīqāt se mu‘ayyad ho ga‘ī hai — donoñ ṣūratoñ meñ ḥadīṣ-e-mazkūra par koī shubha aur ishkāl bāqī nahīn rahtā.

Rahā yih sawāl ki ḥadīṣ-e-mazkūr meñ jo āftāb kā sajda karnā, aur agle daure kī ijāzat kā ṭalab karnā mazkūr hai — yih kām to ḥayāt, aur ‘ilm wa ‘aql kā hai; āftāb wa māhtāb be-jān be-shu‘ūr makhlūqāt haiñ, un se yih af‘āl kaise ṣādir hu‘e? To is kā jawāb Qur‘ān kī āyat "wa in min shai‘in illā yusabbiḥu bi-ḥamdih" ke taḥt meñ ā chukā hai ki ham jin chīzoñ ko be-jān aur be-‘aql wa be-shu‘ūr samajhte haiñ, woh bhī dar-ḥaqīqat rūḥ aur jān, aur ‘aql wa shu‘ūr kā ek khāṣ ḥiṣṣa rakhte haiñ. Al-batta un kī ḥayāt aur ‘aql wa shu‘ūr insān wa ḥaywān ke muqābla meñ kam hai, aur itnī kam hai ki ‘ām aḥsāsāt is kā idrāk nahīn kar sakte; magar is kī nafī par bhī koī shar‘ī yā ‘aqlī dalīl maujūd nahīn. Aur Qur‘ān-e-Karīm ne āyat-e-mazkūra meñ in kā zī-ḥayāt aur zī-‘aql wa shu‘ūr honā gābit kar diyā hai, aur na‘ī taḥqīqāt ne bhī is ko taslīm kiyā hai. Wa-llāhu subḥānahū wa Ta‘ālā a‘lam. PDF PAGE 394 · [Q 36:38-40 Ma‘ārif: fā‘ida; manāzil-e-qamar; "wa kullun fī falakin yasbaḥūn"] · Fā‘ida:

from the Qur‘ān's and ḥadīth's statements it is clearly established that the sun and moon are both moving, running for a fixed term. This negates the new theory that does not accept the sun's motion — and the very latest research has itself proven that [theory] wrong. · "wa-l-qamara qaddarnāhu manāzila ḥattā ‘āda ka-l-‘urjūni-l-qadīm": [box on manāzil-e-qamar:] "‘urjūn" is the dry branch of the date-palm, which curves like a bow. "manāzil" is the plural of "manzil" (a place of alighting). Allāh has set particular fixed limits for the courses of the moon and the sun, each of which is called a "manzil". Since the moon completes its round in one month, its stations are thirty or twenty-nine; but since the moon is absent at least one day each month, its stations are commonly said to be twenty-eight. The astronomers and mathematicians gave these stations particular names after the stars found in line with them; in the Jāhiliyyah of the Arabs too the stations were determined by these same names. The Qur'ān is above these technical names; by it are meant only the distances the moon traverses on particular days. · Its detail has passed in Sūrah Yūnus, stated in Ma'ārif al-Qur'ān vol. 4, pp.505–506; refer there. The Sūrah Yūnus āyah mentions the stations of both sun and moon — "ja'ala-sh-shamsa ḍiḡā'an wa-l-qamara nūran wa qaddarahū manāzila" al-āyah. The only difference is that the moon's stations are known by observation, and the sun's by mathematical calculation. · "ḥattā 'āda ka-l-'urjūni-l-qadīm" describes the moon's state at the month's end, when, after becoming a full moon, it wanes and wanes and takes the shape of an arc. In keeping with the Arabs' environment its likeness is given as the dry date-branch, which takes a crescent shape. · "wa kullun fī falakin yasbaḥūn": the sun and moon both keep floating in their own orbits. "falak" literally means not "heaven" but the circle in which a whirling planet moves. This āyah has passed in Sūrah al-Anbiyā', where it was stated that from it we learn the moon is not fixed within any heaven, as in the Ptolemaic astronomical theory; rather it moves in a particular orbit below the heaven. And modern research and man's reaching the moon have made this entirely certain. · Verse table (vv.41–42): "wa āyatun lahum annā ḥamalnā zurriyyatahum fī-l-fulki-l-mashḥūn; wa khalaqnā lahum..."

PDF PAGE 395 · [Q 36:41-42 Ma‘ārif: air travel; → 36:45-46] · "min miṣlihī mā yarkabūn": first the earthly creatures, then the heavenly, and the manifestations of Allāh's wisdom and power in them, have been stated. This āyah mentions the manifestations of power in the sea and things connected with it — that Allāh made the ships able to move on the surface of the water despite being laden with heavy weight, so that the water, instead of drowning them, carries them to distant lands. · The āyah says We carried their offspring in the ships, though it was these people themselves who rode. Mentioning offspring is perhaps because a person's greatest burden is his children and offspring, especially when unable to walk about themselves. · The meaning is not merely that you yourselves can ride in these ships, but small children, weak people, and all their goods — these ships carry. · "khalaqnā lahum min miṣlihī mā yarkabūn" means that for man's riding and load-carrying not only the ship, but the like of the ship has also been made as a mount. The Arabs took this to mean the camel-mount, by their custom; for the camel exceeds all animals in load-bearing, travelling countries with piles of great loads — hence the Arabs used to call the camel "safīnat al-barr", the ship of the land. · [Box: mention of the aircraft in the Qur'ān:] But plainly the Qur'ān here named neither the camel nor any particular mount, but left it vague, comprehending every mount that carries man and his belongings, in the greatest quantity, to the destination. The newly invented aircraft of this age have made clear that the greatest referent of "min miṣliḥī" is the aircraft. The comparison with the ship supports this all the more: as a ship floats on water and the water does not drown it, an aircraft floats on air and the air does not drop it down. And it is no wonder that the Wise Qur'ān kept "min miṣliḥī mā yarkabūn" vague for this very reason — so that all mounts to be invented up to Qiyāmah be included in it. Wa-llāhu a'lam. · Verse table (vv.45–46): v.45 — "wa izā qīla lahumu-ttaqū mā baina aidīkum wa mā khalfakum la'allakum turḥamūn" — and when it is said to them, "fear what is before you and what is behind you, that you may receive mercy" [they turn away]. v.46 — "wa mā ta'tihim min āyatīn min āyātī rabbiḥim illā kānū 'anhā mu'riḍīn" — and no sign of their Lord's signs comes to them but they turn away from it.

'anhā mu'riḡīn" — but they turn away from it. v.47: "wa izā qīla lahum anfiqū mim mā razaqakumu-llāhu qāla-llazīna kafarū li-llazīna āmanū a-nuṭ'imu man lau yashā'u-llāhu aṭ'amah; in antum illā fī ḡalālīn mubīn" — and when it is said to them, "spend of what Allāh has provided you", those who disbelieve say to those who believe, "shall we feed one whom, if Allāh had willed, He would have fed? You are only in clear error." · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (vv.45–47): When it is said to these people — after telling them the proofs of tauḡīd and the warning of punishment for not accepting it — "fear the punishment that may come before you (i.e. in the world)", as stated in the above āyah "wa in nasha' nughriqhum" that carrying the sound, whole ship to its destination is by Allāh's power and will; if He willed He could drown it — so the punishment of drowning can come in the world, and other punishments too. "And [fear] what is behind you (i.e. what will certainly come in the hereafter)." The meaning: the punishment coming upon you for denying tauḡīd — whether only in the hereafter, or in the world too — fear it and come to faith, that you may be shown mercy. · But they do not care in the least to fear that warning and punishment. And in this manner of not accepting, they have become so hard-hearted that no sign of their Lord's signs comes to them but they turn away from it. And just as the warning of punishment does not affect them, so the encouragement of reward and Jannah does not benefit them: when they are reminded of Allāh's bounties and told, "spend of what Allāh has given you, on the poor and needy in Allāh's way", they (out of mischief and mockery) — that is, the disbelievers to the Muslims who had said to spend in Allāh's way — say: "shall we feed such people whom, if God had willed, He would have given plenty to eat? You are plainly in error."

knowledge of God and tauhīd, promising the everlasting bounties and comforts of Jannah for accepting it, and warning of severe punishment for not accepting. These āyāt, and those that follow, state the crookedness of the disbelievers of Makkah — the direct addressees — that neither the encouragement of reward affects them nor the warning of punishment. · In this connection two dialogues of the Muslims with the disbelievers are mentioned: when the Muslims say to them, "fear Allāh's punishment, which can come upon you in the world too, and after your death is bound to come in the hereafter; if you fear this punishment and accept faith it is better for you" — but even hearing this they turn away. · The Qur'ān's words here do not explicitly mention their turning away in this āyah, because the next āyah's mention of turning away establishes it here too. And by grammatical rule: in "wa iza qila lahum" the apodosis of the condition is elided, and the next āyah's words attest to it — "whatever sign of their Lord's signs comes to them, they only turn away from it." · [Box: the wisdom of Allāh, the Provider, giving to some without an intermediary:] The second dialogue: when the Muslims tell the disbelievers to aid the poor and needy and feed the hungry — "give of what Allāh has given you to the needy" — they say mockingly: "when you say the Provider of all creation is Allāh, and He has not given them, why should we give? Your counsel that we should provide for them is your misguidance — you want to make us providers." · Though these disbelievers acknowledged that Allāh is the Provider — as the Qur'ān says, "wa la-in sa'altahum man nazzala mina-s-samā'i mā'an fa-ahyā bihi-l-arḍa min ba'di mautihā la-yaqūlunna-llāh" — if you ask them who sent water from the sky by which plant life arose in the earth and such fruits and flowers came forth, they would admit that Allāh sent this water — so it is known these people too held Allāh to be the Provider; but in answer to the Muslims they said mockingly: "when Allāh is the Provider, He alone will provide for the poor too."

Sābiqa āyāt meñ Allāh Ta'ālā ke mazāhir-e-qudrat wa ḥikmat — zamīn, āsmān waghaira meñ — bayān kar ke Khudā-shināsī aur tauhīd kī da'wat dī ga'ī thī, aur us ke qabūl karne par jannat kī dā'imī ni'matoñ aur rāḥatoñ kā wa'da thā, aur na mānne par 'azāb-e-shadīd kī wa'id thī. Āyāt-e-mazkūra, aur un ke ba'd āne wālī āyāt meñ kuffār-e-Ahl-e-Makka — jo bilā-wāṣṭa mukhāṭab the — un kī kaj-rawī kā bayān hai, ki na un par tarḥīb-e-ṣawāb kā aṣar hotā hai, na tarḥīb-e-'azāb kā.

Is silsile meñ kuffār ke sāth musalmānoñ ke do mukālame zikr kiye gaye hain ki jab musalmān un se yih kahte hain ki tum Allāh ke 'azāb se ḍaro jo tumhāre sāmne dunyā meñ bhī ā saktā hai, aur tumhāre marne ke ba'd ākhirat meñ to ānā hī hai; agar tum ne is 'azāb se ḍar kar īmān qabūl kar liyā to tumhāre li'e behtar hai — magar yih sun kar bhī i' rāḡ karte haiñ.

Alfāḡ-e-Qur'ān meñ is jagah un ke i' rāḡ kā ḡikr ṡarāḡatan is āyat meñ nahīñ kiyā, kyonki aglī āyat meñ jo i' rāḡ kā ḡikr hai us se yahāñ bhī i' rāḡ karnā ṡābit ho jātā hai. Aur naḡwī qā'ide se: "wa iḡā qīla lahum" meñ ṡarṡ kī jazā maḡḡūf hai, jis ke maḡḡūf hone par aglī āyat ke alfāḡ ṡāhid haiñ ki "un ke pās un ke Rab kī jo bhī āyat ātī hai, woh us se i' rāḡ hī karte haiñ".

Yih kuffār agarcheh Allāh Ta'ālā ke rāḡiq hone kā iqrār karte the — jaisā ki Qur'ān-e-Karīm meñ hai "wa la-in sa'altahum man nazzala minā-s-samā'i mā'an fa-aḡyā bihi-l-arḡa min ba'di mautihā la-yaḡūlunna-llāh" — ya'nī agar āp in logoñ se pūchheñ ki āsmān se pāñī kis ne nāzil kiyā, jis se zamīn meñ ḡayāt-e-nabātī paidā hoī, aur is ṡaraḡ ke phal phūl nikle? To woh iqrār karen ge ki yih pāñī Allāh hī ne nāzil kiyā hai.

Is se ma'lūm hu'ā ki yih log bhī rāḡiq Allāh Ta'ālā hī ko mānte the, magar musalmānoñ ke jawāb meñ ba-ṡaur-e-istihḡā' yih kahā ki jab Khudā Ta'ālā rāḡiq hai to wuhī ḡharīboñ ko bhī rizḡ de ḡā. (continues on PDF p.398)

PDF PAGE 398 · [Q 36:47 Ma'ārif, cont.: the wisdom of the rizq-system → 36:48-52] · "why should we give?" — as if these fools thought that spending in Allāh's way and giving to the poor is contrary to Allāh's being the Provider. They did not understand that the Absolute Provider's wise law is precisely this: He gives something to one person and makes him a means for others, and also gives directly to others — though He is certainly able to convey provision to all directly, as in the animals every insect and beast and bird generally gets its provision directly. Among them there is no rich and no poor; none gives to another — all eat from the table of [Allāh's] power. But among humans, to establish the economic order and the spirit of mutual cooperation and support, in conveying provision He makes some a means for others — so that the giver may gain reward and the one given to may be grateful. For the whole order of the world rests on humans' mutual cooperation and support; it can only continue when each needs the other: the poor need the rich person's money, and the rich need the poor person's labour; none is independent of another. And on reflection, no one really does another a favour; whatever anyone gives, he gives for his own purpose. · As for the question: on what basis did the Muslims order the disbelievers to spend in Allāh's way, when they do not even believe in Allāh, and per the fuqahā's statement are not even addressed by the subsidiary rulings — the answer is clear: the Muslims' saying this was not by way of enforcing a shar'ī ruling, but on the basis of the accepted principles of human sympathy and decency. · Verse table (vv.48–51): v.48 — "wa yaqūlūna matā hāza-l-wa'du in kuntum ṣādiqīn" — and they say, "when is this promise, if you are truthful?" v.49 — "mā yanẓurūna illā ṣaiḥatan wāḥidatan ta'khuzuhum wa hum yakhiṣṣimūn" — they await but one cry which will seize them while they are disputing. v.50 — "fa-lā yastaṭī'ūna tauṣiyatan wa lā ilā ahlihim yarji'ūn" — then they will not be able to make a bequest, nor return to their families. v.51 — "wa nufikha fi-ṣ-ṣūri fa-izā hum mina-l-ajdāsi ilā rabbihim yansilūn" — and the Trumpet will be blown, and at once they will hasten from the graves to their Lord. v.52 begins — "qālū yā wailanā man ba'aṣanā..." — they will say, "O our woe! who raised us..."

... ham kyon den — gō'i yih aḥmaq log yih samajhte the ki Allāh kī rāh meṇ kharch karne, aur ḡharībōn ko dene ko, Allāh kī rāziqiyyat ke munāfi samajhte the. Aur yih na samjhā ki rāziq-e-muṭlaq kā qānūn-e-ḥakīmāna yih hī hai ki ek insān ko kuchh de kar us ko dūsroṇ ke li'e wāṣṭa banātā hai, aur bilā-wāṣṭa dūsroṇ ko bhī de detā hai — agarcheh woh us par yaqīnan qādir hai ki sab ko khud bilā-wāṣṭa rizq pahuñchā'e, jaisā ki ḥaywānāt meṇ 'umūman isī ṭarah har kīre makeṛe aur darinde parinde ko bilā-wāṣṭa rizq miltā hai.

In meṇ koī māldār koī ḡharīb nahīn; koī kisī ko nahīn detā, sab ke sab qudratī dastar-khwān se khāte haiṇ. Magar insānoṇ meṇ niẓām-e-ma'īshat, aur bāham ta'āwun wa tanāṣur kī rūḥ paidā karne ke li'e, rizq pahuñchāne meṇ ba'z ko ba'z ke li'e wāṣṭa banātā hai, tāki kharch karne wāle ko ṣawāb mile, aur jis ko diyā jā'e woh us kā iḥsān-mand ho. Kyonki insānoṇ kā bāham ta'āwun wa tanāṣur hī par sārā niẓām-e-'ālam qā'im hai — yih tabhī bāqī rah saktā hai jab ki har ek ko dūsre kī ḥājat ho: ḡharīb ko māldār ke paise kī ḥājat hai, aur māldār ko ḡharīb kī meḥnat kī ẓarūrat; in meṇ se koī kisī se be-niyāz nahīn.

Rahā yih sawāl ki musalmānoṇ ne kuffār ko Allāh kī rāh meṇ kharch karne kā ḥukm kis bunyād par diyā, jab ki un kā īmān hī Allāh par nahīn, aur bi-taṣrīḥ-e-fuqahā woh aḥkā-m-e-far'īyya ke mukhāṭab bhī nahīn — so is kā jawāb wāẓiḥ hai ki musalmānoṇ kā yih kahnā kisī shar'ī ḥukm kī ta'mīl karāne kī ḥaiṣiyyat se nahīn, balki insānī ham-dardī aur sharāfat ke murawwaja uṣūl kī binā par thā.

PDF PAGE 400 · [Q 36:65-68 → Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr] · (interlinear verse table) v.65: "al-yauma nakhtimu ‘alā afwāhihim wa tukallimunā aidīhim wa tashhadu arjuluhum bimā kānū yaksibūn" — this Day We seal over their mouths, and their hands speak to Us, and their feet testify to what they used to earn. v.66: "wa lau nashā’u la-ṭamasnā ‘alā a’yunihi fa-stabaqu-ṣ-ṣirāṭa fa-annā yubṣirūn" — if We willed We could obliterate their eyes, then they would race to the path — but how would they see? v.67: "wa lau nashā’u la-masakhnāhum ‘alā makānatihim fa-mā-staṭā’ū muḍiyyan wa lā yarji’ūn" — if We willed We could transform them in their place, so they could neither go forward nor turn back. v.68: "wa man nu‘ammirhu nunakkis-hu fī-l-khalq; a-fa-lā ya‘qilūn" — and whom We grant long life, We reverse him in creation; will they not then use reason? · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr begins: And these disbelievers say (denyingly, to the Prophet ﷺ and his followers): "this promise of Qiyāmah, mentioned in āyah after āyah — and you people often give news of it — when will it be, if you are truthful? Tell us." · Allāh says: this that they keep asking about — as if these people are just awaiting one severe cry (the first blast) which will seize them (the disbelievers at large), while they are quarrelling among themselves over their affairs, as usual. So with that cry they will perish at once, so that there will be no time to make a bequest, nor can they return to their families — rather each will die where he is, in whatever state. · And (then the Trumpet will be blown again) and all at once (coming out of the graves) they will hasten toward their Lord — i.e. where the reckoning will be. And (seeing the terror and dread there) they will say: "O our misfortune! who raised us from our graves — for compared to here, we were at rest there?" The angels will answer: "this is the Qiyāmah the Most Merciful promised, and the messengers spoke truly — but you did not believe." · Then Allāh says: that (second blast of the Trumpet) will be but one mighty cry — as the first blast too was a single cry, as Allāh said...

Aur yih (kāfir) log — paighambar ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam aur āp ke muttabi'īn se ba-ṭaur-e-inkār — kahte haiñ ki yih wa'da (qiyāmat kā), jo āye dīn āyat meñ mazkūr hai — aur tum aise bhī akṣar is kī khabar diyā karte ho — woh kab hogā, agar tum (is da'we meñ) sacce ho, to batlā'o?

Allāh Ta'ālā kā irshād hai ki yih jo bār bār pūchh rahe haiñ, gō'i yih log bas ek āwāz-e-sakht — ya'nī nafkha-e-ūlā — ke muntaṣir haiñ, jo un ko (ya'nī muṭlaq kuffār ko) ā pakṛe gī, aur woh sab (us waqt) bāham (dar-'ām ma'mūl ke muṭābiq) apne mu'āmalāt meñ laṛ jhagaṛ rahe hoñ ge. So woh us āwāz ke sāth ma'ān is ṭarah fanā ho jā'eñ ge ki na to wasiyyat karne kī fursat hogī, aur na apne ghar wāloñ ke pās laut kar jā sakeñ ge (balki jo jahān jis ḥāl meñ hogā, wahīñ mar kar rah jā'e gā).

Aur (phir dubāra šūr phūñkā jā'e gā) to woh sab yak-a-yak (qabroñ se nikal kar) apne Rab kī ṭaraf — ya'nī jahān ḥisāb hogā — jaldī jaldī chalne lageñ ge. Aur (wahān kī haul o haibat dekh kar) kaheñ ge ki hā'e hamārī kam-bakhtī! ham ko hamārī qabroñ se kis ne uṭhāyā, ki yahān kī nisbat to ham wahān hī rāḥat meñ the? Firishte jawāb deñ ge ki (yih wuh) qiyāmat hai, jis kā Raḥmān ne wa'da kiyā thā, aur paighambar sac kahte the — magar tum ne na mānā thā.

PDF PAGE 401 · [Q 36:53-67 Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr, cont.] · "mā yanẓurūna illā ṣaiḥatan wāḥidatan" — likewise this too will be one cry, by which all at once will be gathered and brought present before Us (first moving toward the station was required, and reaching here; and this moving will be by force and compulsion — as the Qur'ān's words "muḥḍarūn" and "jā'at kullu nafsin ma'ahā sā'iq" show). · Then on that Day no one will be wronged in the least, and you will be recompensed only for the deeds you did (kufr etc. in the world). — Such is the state of the people of Jahannam; and the state of the people of Jannah is that on that Day they will be joyful in their occupations — they and their wives, reclining on couches in shade; for them there will be fruits of every kind, and whatever they call for they will get; and they will be greeted with "Peace" from a Merciful Lord — Allāh will say "as-salāmu ‘alaikum yā ahla-l-jannah" (Ibn Mājah). · Then comes the sequel of the tale of the people of Jahannam: at the station they will be commanded, "O criminals, you who committed kufr — this Day stand apart [from the believers]" — for the believers are to go to Jannah and you to Jahannam. · And then, by way of reproach, it will be said, "O children of Adam" — likewise the jinn will be addressed, per "yā ma‘shara-l-jinni wa-l-ins" — "did I not enjoin upon you not to worship Satan — he is your clear enemy — and that you worship Me? That is the straight path." (Here "worship" means obedience in general, as in "lā tattabi‘ū khuṭuwāti-sh-shaiṭān" and "lā yaftinannakumu-sh-shaiṭān".) · And I also made known to you about Satan that he has led astray a great multitude of your own kind — whose downfall from misguidance was also stated in the accounts of the punishment of the earlier peoples. So had you no reason by which to understand that if you are misled by his misguidance, you too will likewise deserve punishment? · (And the reward of this lack of reason is) this Jahannam which you were promised (by the decree of kufr). This Day enter it in return for your kufr. · This Day We will seal their mouths (so they cannot offer false excuses — as at first they will say "wa-llāhi rabbinā mā kunnā mushrikīn"), and their hands will speak to Us, and their feet will testify to what they did. · (This punishment is in the hereafter; and if We willed, in the world itself, as punishment for their kufr, We could obliterate their eyes — the sight, or the very organ — then they would race about toward the path; how then would they see? — as such a punishment came upon the people of Lūṭ, "fa-ṭamasnā a‘yunahum". And beyond that, if We willed, in their punishment for kufr...)

"mā yanzurūna illā ṣaiḥatan wāḥidatan" — isī ṭaraḥ yih bhī ek āwāz hogī, jis se yak-a-yak sab jam‘ ho kar hamāre pās ḥāẓir kar diye jā‘en ge (pahle mauqif kī ṭaraḥ chalnā lāzim rahā thā, aur yahān pahuñch jānā; aur yih chalnā jabran wa qahran hogā — Qur‘ān-e-Karīm ke alfāẓ "muḥḍarūn" aur "jā‘at kullu nafsīn ma‘ahā sā‘iq" se ma‘lūm hotā hai).

Phir us dīn kisī shakhṣ par zarā ḡulm na hogā, aur tum ko bas unhī kāmoñ kā badla mile gā jo tum (dunyā meñ kufr waghaira) kiyā karte the. Yih to Ahl-e-jahannam kā ḥāl hu‘ā; aur Ahl-e-jannat kā ḥāl yih hai ki woh beshak us roz apne mashghaloñ meñ khush-dil hoñ ge — woh, aur un kī bībīyāñ, sāyoñ meñ masahriyoñ (chārpā‘iyoñ) par ṭekiye lagā‘e baiṭhe hoñ ge; un ke li‘e wahāñ (har ṭaraḥ ke) mewe hoñ ge, aur jo kuchh māñgeñ ge un ko mile gā; aur un ko Parwardigār-e-mihrbān kī ṭaraḥ se salām farmāyā jā‘e gā — ya‘nī Ḥaqq Ta‘ālā farmā‘en ge "as-salāmu ‘alaikum yā ahla-l-jannah" (rawāh Ibn Mājah).

Aur āge tatimma hai qīṣṣa-e-Aṣḥāb-e-jahannam kā, ki un ko mauqif meñ ḥukm hogā ki "ai kufr ke irtikāb karne wālo, mujrimo! āj tum (Ahl-e-īmān se) alag ho jā'o" — kyonki un ko to jannat meñ bhejnā hai, aur tum ko dozakh meñ.

Aur us waqt un se malāmat ke ṭaur par yih farmāyā jā'e gā ki "ai aulād-e-Ādam" — aur isī ṭarah Jinnāt se bhī khiṭāb hogā, dalīl us par qauluhū Ta'ālā "yā ma'shara-l-jinni wa-l-ins" al-āyah — kya main ne tum ko ta'kid nahīn kar dī thī ki tum shaiṭān kī 'ibādat na karnā — woh tumhārā ṣarīḥ dushman hai — aur yih ki merī ('ibādat) karnā, yihī sīdhā rāsta hai? (Yahān 'ibādat se murād iṭā'at-e-muṭlaqa hai, wa hāzā ka-qauluhū Ta'ālā "lā tattabi'ū khuṭuwāti-sh-shaiṭān", wa "lā yaftinannakumu-sh-shaiṭān".)

Aur nīz tum ko shaiṭān kī nisbat yih bāt bhī ma'lūm karā'ī thī ki woh (tumhārī banī-nau' meñ se) ek kaṣīr makhluq ko gumrāh kar chukā hai, jin kī gumrāhī kā wabāl bhī picchhlī qaumoñ ke 'azāb ke wāqī'āt ke silsile meñ batlā diyā gayā thā. So kya tum ko itnā 'aql na thā, jis se tum samajh sakte, ki agar ham is ke gumrāh karne se gumrāh ho jā'en ge to ham bhī isī ṭarah mustahiq-e-'azāb hon ge?

Āj ham un ke muñhoñ par muhr lagā deñ ge (jis se yih jhūṭe 'uzr pesh na kar sakeñ, jaisā ki shurū' meñ kaheñ ge "wa-llāhi rabbīnā mā kunnā mushrikīn"), aur un ke hāth ham se kalām kareñ ge, aur un ke pā'oñ shahādat deñ ge jo kuchh yih log kiyā karte the.

(Yih 'azāb to ākhirat meñ hogā; aur agar ham chāheñ to dunyā hī meñ un ke kufr kī sazā' eñ [de kar] un kī āñkhoñ ko miṭāmiṭ kar deñ — khwāh āñkh kī bīnā'ī ko, yā khud āñkh ke 'uẓw hī ko — phir yih raste kī ṭaraf [chalne ke li'e] dauṛte phirte; phir un ko kahān naẓar ātā? Jaisā ki qaum-e-Lūṭ par aisā hī 'azāb āyā thā, kamā qāla Ta'ālā "fa-ṭamasnā a'yunahum". Aur is se baḥ kar, agar ham chāheñ to un kī sazā-e-kufr meñ ...) (continues on PDF p.402)

PDF PAGE 402 · [Q 36:66-68 Khulāṣa end → Ma'ārif o Masā'il] · ... We could transform their forms — as before, some people were turned into apes and swine — so that they remain where they are. Along with such transformation this also happens: We could make them into animals, and even those animals could not stir from their place, so these people could neither go forward nor turn back. · And do not wonder how the obliteration of eyes and the transforming of forms would come about; see, one parallel of it our power attests: whom We grant long life — i.e. make very old — We reverse in his natural state. (By "natural state" is meant the faculties of reason and consciousness, of hearing and seeing etc., and the digestive, growth faculties etc., and colour and the lustre of beauty; and by "reversing" is meant their turning and change of state from higher to lower, from good to bad. So obliteration and transformation too are a kind of change — from complete to defective.) · So, seeing this state, do these people not understand that if one change is within [Allāh's] power, so is another — indeed His power is equal with respect to all possibilities, even where there is no proportion or resemblance among them? So these people should reflect on this, fear, and abandon kufr. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: "mā yanẓurūna illā ẓaiḥatan wāḥidatan" — this is the answer to the disbelievers who, in mockery and denial, used to ask the Muslims: "this Qiyāmah you affirm — when, in what year and on what date, will it come?" "yaqūlūna matā hāza-l-wa‘d" — their question was in reality not to verify a fact, but by way of mockery and derision; and even had it been to verify, the wisdom of the Lord of the worlds requires that no one be given the full, certain knowledge of the year and date of Qiyāmah — not even His prophets and messengers. · Even had these fools' question been a genuine request for verification, it would still be idle and futile. So in answer, instead of telling the date of Qiyāmah, they were alerted that a thing certainly coming — the wise person's task is to prepare for it, not to waste time verifying its time and date. · Reason required that on hearing news of Qiyāmah they should believe and do the deeds that bring success in that world; but these people are so mired in their heedlessness, as if awaiting it — that they will think when Qiyāmah comes. So it is said: they are awaiting Qiyāmah; and the state of Qiyāmah will be that of one mighty blast of the Trumpet, which will seize all suddenly, so that people [will be caught up in] their business...

... un kī ẓurateñ badal dālte — jaise pahle ba‘ẓe log bandar aur khinzīr ho gaye — is ḥālat se ki yih jahān (haiñ) wahīn rah jā‘eñ. Rā‘e-e-masakh ke sāth yih bhī hotā hai ki un ko jānwar banā dete, aur jānwar bhī apnī jagah se na hil sakeñ, jis se yih log na āge chal sakte haiñ, aur na pīchhe ko laut sakte haiñ.

Aur is se kuchh ta‘ajjub na karnā chāhiye ki āñkhoñ kā ṭams aur ẓuratoñ kā masakh kaise ho jātā? Dekho, is kī ek naẓīr hamārī qudrat shāhid hai ki ham jis kī ziyāda ‘umr kar dete haiñ — ya‘nī bahut baṛā sā kar dete haiñ — to us ko ṭab‘ī ḥālat meñ ultā kar dete haiñ. (ṭab‘ī ḥālat se murād ‘aql wa shu‘ūr aur sunane dekhne waghaira kī quwwateñ, aur quwwat-e-ḥāḍima, nāmiya waghaira, aur rang aur rūghan-e-ḥusn wa jamāl haiñ; aur ultā kar dene se murād hai in kā inqilāb aur taḡhayyur-e-ḥālāt a‘lā se adnā kī ṭaraf, acche se bure kī ṭaraf. Pas ṭams wa masakh bhī ek qism kā taḡhayyur hai — kāmil se nāqīṣ kī ṭaraf.)

So kya yih log is ḥālat ko dekh kar bhī nahīn samajhte ki jab ek taḡhayyur bar-qudrat hai, to dūsarī bhī bar-qudrat hai; balki qudrat kī nisbat to jamī‘ mumkināt ke sāth masāwī hai, go‘i un meñ tanāsub wa tamāṣul bhī na ho? So in logoñ ko is par naẓar kar

This describes the first blast of Qiyāmah, by which the whole world, heaven and earth, will be ruined. · Then: "wa nufikha fī-ṣ-ṣūri fa-izā hum mina-l-ajdāsi ilā rabbihim yansilūn" — "ajdās" is the plural of "jadas" (grave); "yansilūna" is from "nasalān", meaning to move fast — as another āyah has "yakhrujūna mina-l-ajdāsi sirā‘ā": they will come out of their graves hastening. · And the āyah "fa-izā hum qiyāmun yanzurūn" — at the Gathering people will rise from their graves and stand looking — does not conflict with this; at first, in bewilderment, they stand and look, and afterward run swiftly toward the Maḥshar — no contradiction. And as the

Qur'ānic āyāt establish that the angels will call them all and bring them to the field of the Gathering, it is known that the disbelievers' presence at the Maḥshar will not be of their own will but by compulsion; and by the angels' calling they will come to the Maḥshar running. · "qālū yā wailanā man ba'asanā min marqadinā" — though the disbelievers were also afflicted with the punishment of the grave, with no ease there, yet compared to the punishment of Qiyāmah that first punishment will seem as nothing, so they will cry, "who raised us from our graves? It would have been better to stay there." To this the angels, or the believers at large, will answer: · "hāzā mā wa'ada-r-rahmānu wa ṣadaqa-l-mursalūn" — this is that very Qiyāmah the Most Merciful promised, and His messengers gave you its true news, but you did not heed. "fākihūn" is the plural of "fākih", used for one glad-hearted and in good state. · "fī shughul" may also mean that they will be entirely free of grief over the distresses befalling the people of Jahannam (as per some mufasssīrīn). It is also possible the phrase "fī shughul" was added here to remove the thought that in Jannah, where there is no worship — no farḡ or wājib — nor any work of earning a livelihood, a person's heart might weary in that idleness; so it is said that their very recreations will be their great occupation — the question of weariness does not even arise. · "hum wa azwājuhum" — "azwāj" includes both the ḡurs of Jannah and the wives of the world. · "wa lahum mā yadda‘ūn" — "yadda‘ūna" is from "da‘wat" (to call). Whatever thing the people of Jannah call for, they get. The Qur‘ān did not use the word "yas‘alūn" here, because to obtain a thing by asking is also a toil and hardship, from which Jannah is free; rather, there every needed thing will be present ready. · "wa-mtāzu-l-yauma ayyuha-l-mujrimūn" — in the field of the Gathering, when people first rise from their graves, all will be jumbled and scattered, as the Qur‘ān says "ka-annahum jarādun muntashir" — scattered like locusts spread about. But afterward they will be separated, group by group, according to their deeds: disbelievers in one place, believers in another; the wicked and transgressors apart, the righteous apart, and the accepted servants apart — as elsewhere it says "wa iza-n-nufūsu zuwwijāt" (when the souls are paired off) — this āyah too states this same distinguishing. · "a-lam a‘had ilaikum yā banī Ādama an lā ta‘budu-sh-shaitān" — all the children of Adam (indeed the jinn too) will be addressed on Qiyāmah: "did I not guide you in the world not to worship Satan?" Here the question arises: the disbelievers generally did not worship Satan; they worshipped idols or other things; so how does the charge of worshipping Satan attach to them? The answer: giving anyone absolute obedience — obeying him in everything, in every state — is itself called "worship"; since these people always followed the satanic teaching, they were called worshippers of Satan. As in a ḥadīth, one who, out of love of wealth or a wife, does whatever increases wealth...

"inna aṣḥāba-l-jannati-l-yauma fī shughulin fākihūn" — Aṣḥāb-e-jahannam kī parishāniyon kā zikr karne ke ba'd qiyāmat meñ Aṣḥāb-e-jannat kā ḥāl zikr farmāyā ki woh apnī tafriḥāt meñ mashghūl hon ge. "fākihūn" "fākih" kī jam' hai; khush-dil khush-ḥāl ko kahā jātā hai.

Aur is se pahle "fī shughulin" kā yih mafhūm bhī ho saktā hai ki woh Aṣḥāb-e-jahannam ko pesh āne wālī parishāniyon se bilkul be-gham hon ge (kamā li-ba'd al-mufasssīrīn). Aur yih bhī mumkin hai ki is jagah yih lafz "fī shughulin" is khiyāl ke daf' karne ke li'e baḥāyā ho ki jannat meñ jabki na koī 'ibādat hogī — na koī farz wa wājib — aur na kasb-e-mā'āsh kā koī kām, to kya us bekār meñ admī kā jī na ghabrā'e gā? Is li'e farmāyā ki un ko apnī tafriḥāt hī kā baḥā shughul hogā; jī ghabrāne kā sawāl hī paidā nahīn hotā.

"wa lahum mā yadda'ūn" — "yadda'ūna" "da'wat" se mushtaq hai, jis ke mā'nī bulāne ke hain. Ya'nī Ahl-e-jannat jis chīz ko bulā den ge, woh un ko mil jā'e gī. Qur'ān-e-Karīm ne is jagah "yas'alūn" kā lafz nahīn farmāyā, kyonki kisī chīz kā sawāl kar ke ḥāsil karnā bhī ek mehnat wa mashaqqat hai, jis se jannat pāk hī hai; balki wahāñ har zarūrat kī chīz ḥāzīr maujūd hogī.

"wa-mtāzu-l-yauma ayyuha-l-mujrimūn" — maidān-e-ḥashr meñ awwal jab log apnī qabron se uṭhen ge to sab guḍ-muḍ muntashir hon ge, jaisā ki Qur'ān meñ farmāyā gayā "ka-annahum jarādun muntashir" — ya'nī woh muntashir ṭiddiyon kī ṭarah muntashir ho jā'en ge. Magar ba'd meñ un ke giroh giroh, woh apne a'māl ke i'tibār se alag kar diye jā'en ge; kuffār ek jagah, mu'min dūsri jagah, fujjār fussāq alag, ṣulāḥā alag — aur maqbūl bande alag. Jaisā ki dūsri jagah farmāyā hai "wa iza-n-nufūsu zuwwijāt" — ya'nī jab ki nufūs joṛ joṛ kar (jam') kar diye jā'en ge — yih āyat-e-mazkūra meñ bhī isī imtiyāz kā bayān hai.

"a-lam a'had ilaikum yā banī Ādama an lā ta'budu-sh-shaiṭān" — ya'nī tamām banī Ādam ko (balki jannāt ko bhī) mukhāṭab kar ke qiyāmat meñ kahā jā'e gā ki kya main ne tum ko dunyā meñ yih hidāyat na kī thī ki tum shaiṭān kī 'ibādat na karnā? As one said: "sūda gasht az sajda-e-rāh-e-butān peshānīm / chand bar khwud tuḥmat-e-dīn-e-musalmānī nihem" (my forehead is worn from prostrating on the way of the idols; how long shall I lay upon myself the accusation of a Muslim's dīn?). · "al-yauma nakhtimu 'alā afwāhihim" — at the Maḥshar, brought forward for the reckoning, at first everyone will be free to offer whatever excuse he wishes; but the polytheists will there swear oaths and deny their shirk and kufr — "wa-llāhi rabbinā mā kunnā mushrikīn". And some will also say, "whatever the angels wrote in our record, we are free of it." At that time Allāh will seal their mouths so they cannot speak; and against them He will make their own hands, feet and limbs official witnesses, giving them the faculty of speech — they will testify to all their deeds. · This āyah mentions the speaking of the hands and feet; another āyah mentions the speaking of a person's hearing, sight and skin — "shahida 'alaihim sam'uhum wa abṣāruhum wa julūduhum"; and "ḥattā izā mā jā'ūhā shahida 'alaihim sam'uhum wa abṣāruhum wa julūduhum bimā kānū ya'malūn"; and one āyah has "tashhadu 'alaihim alsinatuhum" — their own tongues will testify against them. This does not conflict with the sealing of their mouths: sealing means they will not be able to speak of their own will; their tongues will move against their wish and testify. · As for the difficulty of how speech will arise in these limbs — the Qur'ān itself answered: "anṭaqana-llāhu-llazī anṭaqa kulla shai'in" — these limbs will say: when Allāh has made every speaking thing speak, He gave us speech too. · "wa man nu'ammirhu nunakkis-hu fi-l-khalq; a-fa-lā ya'qilūn" — "nu'ammiru" is from "ta'mīr" (to give long life); "nunakkis-hu" from "tankīs" (to turn upside down, reverse). This āyah states another manifestation of Allāh's far-reaching power: that every human and animal is at every moment under Allāh's disposal; the working of [His] power runs continuously in him. His existence began from a filthy, lifeless drop; in the three darknesses of the mother's womb the epitome of the universe and the microcosm ('ālam-e-aṣghar) was created — with what delicate...

"al-yauma nakhtimu 'alā afwāhihim" — maḥshar meñ ḥisāb-e-kitāb ke li'e peshī meñ awwal to har shakhṣ ko āzādī hogī jo chāhe 'uzr pesh kare; magar mushrikīn wahāñ qismeñ khā kar apne shirk wa kufr se mukir jā' en ge — "wa-llāhi rabbīnā mā kunnā mushrikīn". Aur ba' ẓ yih bhī kaheñ ge ki firishtoñ ne hamāre nāma-e-a'māl meñ jo kuchh likh diyā hai, ham to us se barī haiñ. "wa man nu'ammirhu nunakkis-hu fi-l-khalq; a-fa-lā ya'qilūn" — "nu'ammiru" "ta'mīr" se mushtaq hai, jis ke ma'nī haiñ 'umr darāz dene ke; aur "nunakkis-hu" "tankīs" se mushtaq hai, jis ke ma'nī haiñ ondhā, ultā kar dene ke. In nine months he was nurtured and grew in the mother's womb, became a complete human, and came into the world. Yet, despite being complete, everything of his remained weak and feeble. [Allāh's] power created, in the breasts, all the foods suited to his constitution, by which he gained gradual strength; and from that time until youth he passed through countless stages until all his faculties grew strong; claims of power and might arose, and the courage to defeat every rival. · Then, when the Creator and Owner willed, a decline began in all those strengths and powers; the decline too passed through countless stages until it reached the very last age of old age — reaching which, on reflection, he has returned to the stage he passed through in childhood. All habits and traits begin to change; the things most beloved now seem hateful; what gave comfort now becomes a cause of distress. This is what the Qur'ān called "tankīs" — turning upside down and reversing. And well was it said: "man 'āsha akhlaqati-l-ayyāmu jiddatāhū / wa khānahū ṣiqatāhu-s-sam' u wa-l-baṣaru" — whoever lives on, time wears out his freshness and vigour; and his two most trusted friends — the powers of hearing and sight — betray him and part from him. · A person relies most in the world on what he has seen with his own eye or heard with his own ear; in the last age of old age even this is not reliable — through deafness it is hard to grasp a matter fully, through weak sight hard to see correctly. Al-Mutanabbī expressed the same theme: "wa man ṣaḥība-d-dunyā ṭawīlan taqallabat / 'alā 'aynihī ḥattā yarā ṣidqahā kaẓībā" — whoever keeps company with the world a long time, it will turn over before his very eyes, until what he once knew as truth begins to seem false. · These revolutions in the human being are a wondrous manifestation of the power of Allāh, exalted be His Majesty; and in them is also a great favour to man: that all the powers the Creator of the universe deposited in the human being are in reality official machines given to him; and it has also been made known that these are not your property, nor permanent — in the end they will be taken back from you. The apparent demand of this was that when the appointed time came, all the powers should be taken back at once...

that the proof [of punishment] be established against the disbelievers. Have these polytheists not observed that We created for them, of the things Our hand made, cattle — and by Our making them owners, these people are their owners? And here is some detail of this benefit: We made these cattle subject to them, so they serve them by being put to use — some of them are their mounts, and some they eat; and in them there are other benefits for these people (hair, hide, bone etc. put to various uses), and in them are their drinks too (i.e. milk). So do these people not give thanks (and the foremost and most important degree of thanks is belief in tauḥīd)? And they have, instead of thanks and tauḥīd, adopted kufr and shirk; they have set up objects of worship besides Allāh, hoping for help from these objects of worship; but those cannot help them at all, and — far from helping, indeed — those objects of worship will become a party opposed to these people, who will without doubt be brought forward at the station of the reckoning; and there, present, they will declare their opposition — as Allāh said in Sūrah Maryam, "wa yakūnūna 'alaihim ḍiddā", and in Sūrah Yūnus, "mā kuntum iyyānā ta'budūn", and other āyāt. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: "wa mā 'allamnāhu-sh-shi'ra wa mā yanbaghī lah" — since the deniers of prophethood and messengership could not deny the wondrous effects of the Qur'ān and its manner of affecting hearts, which was in common observation, they sometimes called this heavenly speech magic and the Prophet ﷺ a magician, and sometimes called this speech poetry and him a poet, trying to establish that these wondrous effects were not because it was heavenly speech, but either magic words that affect hearts, or poetic speech, which also generally affects common hearts. · Allāh said in this āyah that We did not teach the Prophet poetry, nor was it befitting his rank; calling him a poet is false and wrong. · Here the question arises: the Arabs are a people in whose nature poetry is ingrained; women and children compose poetry spontaneously; they are fully acquainted with the reality of poetry. In what respect did they call the Qur'ān poetry and the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ a poet? For neither is the Qur'ān...

Their aim in calling the Qur’ān "poetry" and the Prophet ﷺ a "poet" was that the speech he brought is mere imaginary tales; or, taking "shi'r" in its known sense, they called him a poet in the respect that, as verse and poetry have a particular effect, this speech's effect is likewise. · Imām al-Jaṣṣāṣ with his chain narrated: someone asked ‘Ā’isha (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) whether the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ ever recited any poetry. She said no; however, he had recited a line of Ibn ʿArāfa's poem: "satubdī laka-l-ayyāmu mā kunta jāhilan / wa ya’tīka bi-l-akhbāri man lam tuzawwid" — which he recited breaking the metre, saying "bi-l-akhbāri man lam tuzawwid" instead of "man lam tuzawwid". Abū Bakr (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhū) said, "O Messenger of Allāh, this verse is not like that"; and he said, "I am not a poet, nor is poetry befitting me." · Ibn Kaṣīr also cites this in his tafsīr; Tirmizī, Nasā’ī and Imām Aḥmad also report it. From it we learn that — let alone composing a poem himself — he did not consider it befitting himself even to recite the verses of poets and chiefs. · The few utterances reported from the Prophet himself that happen to fall into a poetic metre are not deliberate poetry but accidental; and no one is called a poet because one or two verses happen to come out metrical by chance. Nor does this natural state of the Prophet — based on great wisdoms — entail that poetry-composition is absolutely blameworthy; the detail of the rulings on poetry has passed in the last rukū’ of Sūrah al-Shu’arā’ — refer there. · "a-wa lam yarau annā khalaqnā lahum mimma’ amilat aidīnā an’āman fa-hum lahā mālikūn": in mentioning the human benefits in the creation of cattle, and the wondrous craftsmanship of [Allāh's] power in them, another great favour of Allāh is stated: these cattle, in whose creation no human has any part, are the pure handiwork of the hand of power. Allāh did not merely give man the opportunity and permission to benefit from these cattle, but made him their owner, so that he can exercise every kind of ownership-disposal over them — benefit from them himself...

The adherents of the capitalist economic order make wealth and capital the basis; the socialists and communists make labour the true cause of creation and ownership. This Qur'ānic ruling shows that neither has any part in the creation of things and their ownership; the creation of a thing is not in man's grasp — it is directly Allāh's act. And reason requires that whoever creates a thing is also its owner. Likewise the true, real ownership of the things of the world is Allāh's. Man's ownership of any thing can only be by Allāh's granting. Allāh has, through His prophets, sent down the law for establishing ownership of things and transferring ownership. Against this law no one can be the owner of any thing. · "wa zallalnāhā lahum" — this hints at another favour: most animals — camel, horse, elephant, ox etc. — are, if observed, far greater than man in strength; man is weaker beside them. The effect of this should have been that these animals do not let man control them; but Allāh — as He bestowed on man the favour of these animals' creation — also so shaped nature that these mighty animals become subdued and obedient before man. A young boy's child puts a bridle into a strong horse's mouth, then mounts its back and takes it wherever he wishes — this too is no accomplishment of man's own, only Allāh's grant and bounty. · "wa hum lahum jundun muḥḍarūn" — one meaning is the one in the Khulāṣa: "jund" means the opposing party, and the sense is that the things these people made objects of worship in the world will on Qiyāmah become their opponents and testify against them. · From Ḥasan and Qatāda (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhumā) this tafsīr is reported: these people made these idols gods so that they would help them; and what is happening is that those [idols] are incapable of helping them — rather these people themselves guard them, have become their servants and soldiers; if anyone acts against them, these people fight on their behalf (Qurṭubī). · [End of Sūrah Yā-Sīn.]

Sarmāya-dārāna niẓām-e-ma'īshat ke qā'il daulat wa sarmāya ko aṣl qarār dete haiñ, aur socialism aur communism wāle meḥnat ko aṣl 'illat-e-takhlīq wa malkiyyat kī qarār dete haiñ. tauḥīd and risālah) should not be a cause of grief for you; for grief comes only from hope, and hope comes from the addressee's reason and fairness — and these people have neither reason nor fairness, so no hope of anything can be had from them; then why grieve? · Then, in another way, consolation of the Prophet ﷺ: indeed We know all that they keep in their hearts and all they declare with their tongues; so at the appointed time they will get the punishment of their deeds. · Does this man — who denies Qiyāmah — not know that We created him from a lowly drop, which required that, recalling his first state and seeing his own lowliness and the Creator's greatness, he should feel ashamed and not dare insolence? And from his own conditions he should have inferred that reviving him again after death is nothing far-fetched for His power. But he did not do so; rather, against these requirements, he began raising objections. And that objection: he stated a strange claim about Us (strange because it entails denial of [Allāh's] power), and forgot his own origin (that We made him from that lowly drop into a complete human); he says, "who will give life to the bones when they are decayed?" · Answer: He who created them the first time will give them life — for at the first creation those bones had no connection with life at all, and now they have once had life and a kind of connection with life; so what is hard in creating life in them again? And He knows every kind of creating — bringing a thing into being at first, or destroying a created thing and creating it again — He is such an absolute Power that He produces fire for you from the green tree, and then you kindle fire from it; as in Arabia there were trees "markh" and "afār" from which they took the work of a fire-striker — rubbing the two together produced fire. So He who can produce fire in the water of the green tree — what is hard for Him in producing life in other inanimate things? · And He who created the heavens and the earth — is He not able to create the like of these people again? Certainly able; and He is the great Creator, the All-Knowing. And His power is such that when He intends to create a thing, His way is to say to it "Be", and at once it is. So (from all these points it is established) that pure is His Being, in whose hand is the full disposal of everything, and (this matter stands free of all doubts) that you will all be returned to Him — i.e. on the Day of Qiyāmah.

... Āge dūsre ṭarīqe se Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu ʿalaihi wa sallam kī tasallī hai: beshak ham sab jānte haiñ jo kuchh yih dil meñ rakhte haiñ, aur jo kuchh zabān se zāhir karte haiñ; is li'e waqt-e-muqarrar par in ko in ke ʿamal kī sazā mil jā'e gī.

Āp jawāb dījiye ki un ko woh zinda kare gā jis ne pahlī martaba un ko paidā kiyā — ki pahlī takhlīq ke waqt un ḥaḍḍiyon kā zindagī se koī ta‘alluq hī na thā, aur ab to ek martaba un meñ ḥayāt paidā ho kar ek qism kā ta‘alluq-e-ḥayāt se ho chukā hai; ab in meñ ḥayāt paidā karnā kya mushkil hai? Aur woh har ṭarāḥ kā paidā karnā jāntā hai — ya‘nī ibtidā‘an kisī chīz ko paidā kar denā, yā paidā-shuda ko fanā kar ke dubāra paidā kar denā — woh aisā qādir-e-muṭṭlaq hai ki (ba‘z) hare darakht se — tumhāre li‘e — āg paidā kar detā hai, phir tum us se āg sulgā lete ho; jaisā ki ‘Arab meñ ek darakht thā "markh", dūsra "‘afār"; in do darakhton se chaqmāq kā kām lete the — donoñ ke milāne se āg paidā ho jātī thī. To jo qādir hare darakht ke pānī meñ āg paidā farmā dī, to dūsre jamādāt meñ ḥayāt paidā kar dena us ke li‘e kya mushkil hai?

Aur jis ne āsmān aur zamīn paidā kiye haiñ, kya woh is par qādir nahīn ki in jaise ādmiyon ko dubāra paidā kar de? Zarūr qādir hai; aur woh baṛā paidā karne wālā, sab kuchh jānne wālā hai. Aur us kī qudrat aisī hai ki jab woh kisī chīz ke paidā karne kā irāda kartā hai, to us kā ma‘mūl to yih hai ki us chīz ko kah detā hai ki "ho jā", bas woh ho jātī hai. To (in sab maqāmāt se sābit ho gayā ki) us kī pāk zāt hai, jis ke hāth meñ har chīz kā pūrā ikhtiyār rahā; aur (yih bāt sab shubḥāt se sālim rah ga‘ī ki) tum sab ko usī ke pās lauṭ kar jānā hai — ya‘nī qiyāmat ke roz.

PDF PAGE 413 · [Q 36:77-80 Ma‘ārif o Masā’il] · "a-wa lam yara-l-insānu annā khalaqnāhu min nuṭṭah" — the last five āyāt of Sūrah Yā-Sīn were revealed concerning a particular incident, attributed in some narrations to Ubayy bin Khalaf and in some to ‘Āṣ bin Wā’il. It is not far-fetched that such an incident occurred from both — the first narration Baihaqī has in Shu‘ab al-Īmān, and the second Ibn Abī Ḥātim reports from Ibn ‘Abbās. The second, from Ibn ‘Abbās: ‘Āṣ bin Wā’il picked up a decayed bone from the Baṭḥā’ of Makkah, broke it into pieces with his own hands, then said to the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ "will Allāh revive this bone, in the state you see it?" The Messenger of Allāh ﷺ said, "yes — Allāh will give you death, then revive you, then admit you into Jahannam" (Ibn Kaṣīr). · "khaṣīmun mubīn" — how openly this human, produced from a lowly drop, came to dispute — denying Allāh's power. · "wa ḍaraba lanā maṣalan" — here "ḍarb-e-miṣāl" means this incident: breaking the decayed bone to pieces with his hand and considering its being revived again impossible or far-fetched. Then it says: · "wa nasiya khalqah" — at the time of stating this comparison he forgot his own creation: that He put life into a lowly, impure, lifeless drop and produced him. Had he not forgotten this origin, he would not have dared, by presenting such comparisons, to deny divine power. · "ja'ala lakum mina-sh-shajari-l-akhḍari nārā" — in Arabia two trees were known, "markh" and "afār". The Arabs would cut two twigs of these trees, like a miswāk, entirely green and full of fresh water; rubbing one on the other produced fire. Producing fire from a green tree points to this (Qurtubī). And if the trees' final end is looked at, every tree — after being green and lush at first — in the end dries out and becomes a means of fire. In this sense every tree too can be its referent — as apparently intended in the Qur'ānic āyah "a-fa-ra'aytumun-nāra-lfatī tūrūn; a-antum ansha'tum shajaratihā am naḥnu-l-munshi'ūn" — do you not see the fire you put to use? Did you produce the tree that becomes its flame, or did We? · But since in this āyah the quality "akhḍar" (green) is also stated with "shajar"...

"a-wa lam yara-l-insānu annā khalaqnāhu min nuṭfah" — Sūrah Yā-Sīn kī yih ākhiri pānch āyateñ ek khāṣ wāqī'e meñ nāzil hoī haiñ, jo ba'z riwāyāt meñ Ubayy bin Khalaf kī ṭaraf mansūb kiyā gayā hai, aur ba'z meñ 'Āṣ bin Wā'il kī ṭaraf. Aur is meñ bhī koī ba'id nahīñ ki donoñ se aisā wāqī'a pesh āyā ho — pahlī riwāyat Baihaqī ne Shu'ab al-Imān meñ, aur dūsri riwāyat Ibn Abī Ḥatīm ne Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās se naql kī hai. Ibn 'Abbās se naql kī huī dūsri riwāyat yih hai ki 'Āṣ bin Wā'il ne Baṭḥā'-e-Makka se ek bosīda haḍḍī uṭhā'ī, aur us ko apne hāthoñ se toṛ kar rezā-rezā kiyā; phir Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam se kahā ki kya Allāh is haḍḍī ko zinda kare gā, jis kā ḥāl yih dekh rahe haiñ? Rasūlullāh ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne farmāyā ki hāñ, Allāh Ta'ālā tujhe maut de gā, phir zinda kare gā, phir tujhe jahannam meñ dākhil kare gā (Dar Ibn Kaṣīr).

"khaṣīmun mubīn" — ya'nī yih nuṭfa-e-ḥaqīra se paidā kiyā hu'ā insān kaisā khul kar muqābla par āne lagā, ki Allāh kī qudrat kā inkār kar rahā hai.

"wa ḍaraba lanā maṣalan" — yahāñ ḍarb-e-miṣāl se murād yih wāqī'a hai ki bosīda haḍḍī ko hāth se rezā-rezā karte hu'e us ke dubāra zinda hone ko muḥāl yā mustab'ad samjhā. Is ke ba'd farmāyā:

"wa nasiya khalqah" — ya'nī is miṣāl ke bayān karne ke waqt woh khud apnī paidā'ish ko bhūl gayā ki ek ḥaqīr aur nā-pāk qaṭra-e-be-jān meñ jān ḍāl kar us ko paidā kiyā hai. Agar woh apnī is aṣl ko na bhūltā, to aisī miṣāleñ pesh kar ke qudrat-e-ilāhiyya ke inkār kī jur'at na kartā.

"ja'ala lakum mina-sh-shajari-l-akhḍari nārā" — 'Arab meñ do darakht ma'rūf the — ek "markh", dūsra "afār". 'Arab log in donoñ darakhton kī do shākhēñ miṣl miswāk ke kāt lete the, jo bilkul harī, tāza pānī se bharī hoī thīñ; ek ko dūsarī par ragaṛne se āg paidā ho jātī thī. Hare darakht se āg paidā karne meñ isī ṭaraf ishāra hai (Qurṭubī). Aur agar darakhton ke ākhirī anjām ko dekhā jā'e, to har darakht — shurū' meñ harā bharā hone ke ba'd, ākhir meñ khushk ho kar āg kā zarī'a bantā hai. Is ṭarah har darakht bhī is kā miṣdāq ho saktā hai. Jaisā ki Qur'ān-e-Karīm kī is āyat meñ bi-zāhir yihī murād hai — "a-fa-ra'aytumu-n-nāra-llatī tūrūn; a-antum ansha'tum shajaratāhā am naḥnu-l-munshi'ūn" — ya'nī kya tum us āg ko nahīñ dekhte, jis ko tum apne kām meñ lete ho? Us āg se shu'la banne wāle darakht ko tum ne paidā kiyā, yā ham ne?

those angels who, by the piercing flame, block the devils from bringing heavenly news — as comes shortly in this Sūrah. (And by) those angels who recite the remembrance (Allāh's tasbīḥ and taqdīs) — as in "wa innā la-naḥnu-l-musabbiḥūn". So, swearing by all these, they say: your true God is One; and the proof of this tauḥīd is that He is Lord of the heavens and the earth and what is between them (i.e. their Owner and Disposer), and Lord of the risings (of all the stars). And We alone have adorned the nearest heaven with a wondrous adornment — the stars; and (by those same stars) We have also guarded this heaven — its news — against every mischievous devil (the manner stated further on). · And (by this guarding arrangement) the devils cannot even lend an ear to the words of the exalted world (the angels) — mostly they stay far off for fear of being struck. And if ever they attempt it by chance, they are driven off from every side (struck, whichever way any devil goes); this punishment and disgrace they get now; and (in the hereafter) for them is the lasting punishment (of Jahannam). So they are struck and driven away before they can hear any heavenly news; they come intending to listen but remain unsuccessful. But whichever devil snatches some news and flees, a blazing flame follows him and burns and scorches him; so he fails to convey what he heard to others. · All these arrangements and dispositions point to the tauḥīd of God. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: [themes of the Sūrah] This Sūrah is Makkī; like other Makkī Sūrahs its basic subject is matters of faith, and in it the beliefs of tauḥīd, risālah and the hereafter are argued in various ways. In this connection there is also refutation of the polytheists' beliefs, and a portrayal of the states of Jannah and Jahannam in the hereafter. After establishing the beliefs that were part of the call of all the prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām), and removing the disbelievers' doubts and objections, it is then stated that in the past...

PDF PAGE 417 · [Sūrah aṣ-Ṣāffāt Ma‘ārif, cont.: themes; "wa-ṣ-ṣāffāti ṣaffā"] · ...what was Allāh's dealing with those who accepted these beliefs? And what was the end of those who took the new road of kufr and shirk? Accordingly, in this connection the events of Nūḥ, Ibrāhīm and his sons, Mūsā and Hārūn, Ilyās, Lūṭ and Yūnus (‘alaihimu-s-salām) are mentioned, sometimes in brief and sometimes in detail. · The polytheists of Makkah used to call the angels the daughters of God; at the end there is a detailed refutation of this belief. From the Sūrah's overall style it appears that the refutation of this particular kind of shirk — declaring the angels God's daughters — was specially in view. Hence the Sūrah begins with an oath by the angels and a mention of their qualities of servitude. Wa-llāhu subḥānahū a‘lam. · [First theme: tauḥīd] The Sūrah begins with the statement of the belief in tauḥīd; the real aim of the first four āyāt is to state "inna ilāhakum la-wāḥid" — without doubt your God is One. But before stating this, three oaths are taken. Their bare literal translation: "By those who stand ranged in ranks, then by those who block/drive, then by those who recite the remembrance." · Who are these "ranged in ranks", "those who block", and "those who recite the remembrance"? The Qur'ān's words do not specify, so various things are said in its tafsīr. Some say the intent is the ghāzīs fighting in Allāh's way, who stand ranged in ranks to put a block on the forces of falsehood, and who, while forming ranks, are also engaged in "zīkr", tasbīḥ and recitation of the Qur'ān. Some say the intent is the worshippers who, standing in ranks in the mosque, put a "block" on satanic thoughts and deeds and focus their full attention on "zīkr and recitation" (Tafsīr Kabīr, Qurṭubī). Other tafsīrs too are given that do not fit the Qur'ān's words well. · But the tafsīr that gained the widest acceptance among the jamhūr mufasssīrīn is that the intent is the angels, and here three of their qualities are stated: · First quality: "aṣ-ṣāffāti ṣaffā". This word is from "ṣaff", meaning "to set a body [of people] firmly in a line" (Qurṭubī). So it means "those who stand ranged in ranks".

... jin logoñ ne in ‘aqā’id ko taslīm kiyā un ke sāth Allāh Ta‘ālā kā mu‘āmalā kya rahā? Aur jinhoñ ne kufr o shirk kī na’ī rāh ikhtiyār kī, un kā kya anjām hu’ā? Chunāñchi is ḡimn meñ Ḥaḍrat Nūḥ, Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm aur un ke ṣāḥibzādagān, Ḥaḍrat Mūsā wa Hārūn, Ḥaḍrat Ilyās, Ḥaḍrat Lūṭ, aur Ḥaḍrat Yūnus ‘alaihimu-s-salām ke wāqī‘āt kahīñ ijmalān aur kahīñ tafṣīl se zīkr kiye gaye haiñ.

Mushrikīn-e-Makka firishtoñ ko Khudā kī beṭiyāñ kahā karte the; ākhir meñ is ‘aqīde kī mufaṣṣal tardīd kī ga’ī hai. Aur Sūrat ke majmū‘ī ṭarṣ se yih ma‘lūm hotā hai ki is Sūrat meñ shirk kī is khāṣ qism — ya’nī firishtoñ ko Khudā kī beṭiyāñ qarār dene — kī tardīd ba-ṭaur-e-khāṣ pesh-e-naẓar rahī hai. Isī li’e Sūrat ko firishtoñ kī qism khā kar, aur un ke auṣāf-e-bandagī ko zīkr kar ke shurū‘ kiyā gayā hai. Wa-llāhu subḥānahū a‘lam.

Sūrat ko ‘aqīda-e-tauḥīd ke bayān se shurū‘ kiyā gayā hai; aur pahlī chār āyatoñ kā aṣl maqṣad yih bayān karnā hai ki "inna ilāhakum la-wāḥid" — ya’nī bilā-shubḥa tumhārā ma‘būd ek hī hai. Lekin is bāt ko bayān karne se pahle tīn qismoñ khā’ī ga’ī haiñ. In qasamoñ kā ṭheṭ lafẓī tarjuma yih hai:

"Qasam ṣaf bāndh kar khāṣ hone wāloñ kī, phir qasam bandish karne wāloñ kī, phir qasam zīkr kī tilāwat karne wāloñ kī."

Yih "ṣaf bāndh kar khāṣ hone wāle", "bandish karne wāle", aur "zīkr kī tilāwat karne wāle", kaun haiñ? Qur’ān-e-Karīm ke alfāẓ meñ is kī ṣarāḥat nahīñ hai; is li’e is kī tafsīr meñ mukhtalif bāteñ kahī ga’ī haiñ. Ba‘ḏ ḥaḍrāt kā kahnā hai ki in se murād Allāh ke rāste meñ jihād karne wāle woh ghāzī haiñ, jo ṣaf bāndh kar khāṣ hote haiñ, tāki bāṭil kī quwwatoñ par bandish lagā’ēñ; aur ṣaf-ārā hote waqt "zīkr" o tasbīḥ aur tilāwat-e-Qur’ān meñ bhī mashghūl rahte haiñ.

Ba'ḥ ne kahā ki in se murād woh namāzī haiñ jo masjid meñ ṣaf bāndh kar shaiṭānī afkār o a'māl par "bandish" 'ā'id karte haiñ, aur apnā pūrā dhyān "zīkr o tilāwat" par markūz kar dete haiñ (Tafsīr Kabīr, Qurṭubī). Aur is ke 'alāwa bhī ba'ḥ tafsīreñ bayān kī ga'ī haiñ, jo alfāz-e-Qur'ān ke sāth ziyāda munāsibat nahīn rakhtīñ.

Lekin jamhūr mufasssīrīn ke yahān jis tafsīr ko sab se ziyāda qabūl-e-'ām ḥāsil hu'ā, woh yih hai ki in se murād firishte haiñ, aur yahān un kī tīn ṣifāt bayān kī ga'ī haiñ:

Pahlī ṣifāt "aṣ-ṣāffātī ṣaffā" hai. Yih lafẓ "ṣaff" se niklā hai, aur us ke ma'nī haiñ "kisī jam'īyyat ko ek khaṭṭ par ustuwār karnā" (Qurṭubī). Lihāzā is ke ma'nī hon ge "ṣaf bāndh kar khare hone wāle". (continues on PDF p.418)

PDF PAGE 418 · [Q 37:1-2 Ma'ārif: angels' ranks; straightening prayer rows; "fa-z-zājirāti zājirā"] · The angels' forming of ranks is also mentioned later in this Sūrah. The angels say of themselves "wa innā la-naḥnu-ṣ-ṣāffūn" — indeed we stand ranged in ranks. When does this ranking occur? Some mufasssīrīn — e.g. Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu), Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, Qatāda — said the angels always stand ranged in the atmospheres, attentive for Allāh's command, and carry it out when a command comes (Maẓharī). Some restricted it to the time of worship: when the angels are engaged in worship, zīkr and tasbīḥ, they form ranks (Tafsīr Kabīr). · [Box: order and discipline are required in the dīn:] From this āyah we learn that keeping order, discipline, arrangement and propriety in every task is required in the dīn and pleasing to Allāh. Plainly, whether it is worshipping Allāh or carrying out His commands, both aims could also be achieved by the angels gathering as a disordered crowd instead of forming ranks; but instead of that disorder they were granted the tawfīq of ranking, and in this āyah, among their good qualities, this very quality is mentioned first — showing that Allāh greatly likes this manner of theirs. · [Box: straightening the prayer rows and its importance:] Accordingly, humans too are urged and enjoined to keep this ranking during worship. Jābir bin Samura (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): the Prophet ﷺ said, "why do you not form ranks [in prayer] as the angels do before their Lord?" The Companions asked, "how do the angels form ranks before their Lord?" He said, "they complete the front rows first, and stand closely joined in the row (leaving no gap in between)" (Tafsīr Maẓharī). · So many aḥādīṣ have come on the emphasis of completing the rows and keeping them straight that a whole treatise could be made from them. Abū Mas'ūd al-Badrī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): the Prophet ﷺ used to touch our shoulders with his hand in prayer and say, "stand straight, dō not be forward or backward, lest disagreement arise in your hearts" (Jam' al-Fawā'id, via Muslim and Nasā'ī). · The angels' second quality is stated as "fa-z-zājirāti zājirā". This word is from "zajr", meaning "to restrain",

"to rebuke", "to drive off". Ḥaḍrat Thānwī (raḥmatullāh) translated it "those who block", comprehending every possible sense of the word. · On what do the angels put a block? In view of the Qur'ān's context, most mufasssīrīn take it [as blocking the devils]...

PDF PAGE 419 · [Q 37:2-4 Ma‘ārif: "fa-t-tāliyāti zikrā"; why the oath by angels; oaths in the Qur’ān] · ...the answer: here "putting a block" means the angels' act by which they stop the devils from reaching the exalted world — detailed later in the Qur’ān itself. · The third quality is "fa-t-tāliyāti zikrā" — these angels recite the "zikr". "zikr" carries the sense of "a word of admonition" and also "the remembrance of God". On the first, the meaning: they recite the admonitions Allāh sent down through the heavenly Books — a recitation that may be for the sake of blessing and worship; or the intent may be the revelation-bearing angels who recite these Books of admonition before the prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām) and convey Allāh's message. On the second, taking "zikr" as the remembrance of God: they are at every moment engaged in reciting the words that indicate Allāh's tasbīḥ and taqdīs. · Here the Qur’ān, stating these three qualities of the angels, has gathered all their qualities of servitude: standing in ranks for worship, stopping the ṭāghūtī forces from disobeying Allāh, and reciting Allāh's commands and admonitions themselves and conveying them to others. Plainly no act of servitude can be free of these three branches. So the sense of these four āyāt is: "by those angels who bear all the qualities of servitude — your one true God is One." · [Box: the oath by the angels:] The reason for the oath specifically by the angels in this Sūrah appears to be — as stated above — that its central subject is refuting the particular kind of shirk under which the people of Makkah called the angels Allāh's daughters. So at the very start of the Sūrah the angels are sworn by and their qualities of complete servitude are stated — as if to say: if you ponder these qualities of servitude of the angels, they will themselves testify before you that their relation to Allāh is not that of father and daughter, but of servant and master. · [Box: Allāh's taking oaths, and the rulings and questions concerning it:] In the Qur’ān Allāh has, to emphasise many fundamental matters of faith and belief, taken various kinds of oaths — sometimes by His own Being, sometimes by particular things of His creation. Many questions arise about this, so in Qur’ān-tafsīr it has become an independent methodological topic. Ḥāfiẓ Ibn al-Qayyim wrote a whole book on it, "al-Tibyān fī Aqsām al-Qur’ān". ‘Allāma al-Suyūṭī in his...

it in detail. Some necessary points are written here. · First question: on Allāh's taking an oath, this naturally arises: Allāh is the Free-of-need of the free — what need has He to swear oaths to make anyone believe? · In "al-Itqān", from Abū al-Qāsim al-Qushayrī (rahmatullāh), this answer is recorded: Allāh had no need to swear, but the compassion and mercy He has for His creation is His due — that somehow these people should accept the truth and be saved from punishment. · When a bedouin heard the āyah "wa fi-s-samā' i rizqum wa mā tū'adūn; fa-wa rabbi-s-samā' i wa-l-arḍi innahū la-ḥaqq", he said, "who has angered a being as august as Allāh, that He is compelled to swear?" · Upshot: compassion for the creation is what calls for it: as the known way of settling disputes and resolving disagreements in the world is to present testimony for a claim, and to swear an oath if there is no testimony — so Allāh adopted this familiar human way; in some places emphasising the theme with the language of testimony, like "shahida-llāhu annahū lā ilāha illā huwa" al-āyah; and in some with the language of oath, like "ī wa rabbī innahū la-ḥaqq" etc. · Second question: an oath is taken by something much greater than oneself; Allāh has sworn by His creation, which is lower in every respect. · Answer: since there is no being greater than Allāh, nor can there be, plainly Allāh's oath cannot be like the oath of ordinary creation. So Allāh has in some places sworn by His pure Being, like "ī wa rabbī" — and such oaths by the Being of the Real come in seven places in the Qur'ān. In some places He has sworn by His acts and attributes, and by the Qur'ān, like "wa-s-samā' i wa mā banāhā, wa-l-arḍi wa mā ṭaḥāhā, wa nafsī wa mā sawwāhā" etc. And most oaths are used by His object and creation, which — being a means of knowledge [of Him] — revert to His Being (as Ibn al-Qayyim stated). · Of the created things sworn by, in some places the aim is to state that thing's greatness and excellence; as in the Qur'ān there is an oath by the life of the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ — "la- 'amruka innahum la-fī sakratihim ya 'mahūn". Ibn Marduwayah cited from Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) that Allāh created no creature and made nothing in the world [dearer to Him than] the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ...

Pahlā sawāl: Allāh Ta'ālā kī qism khāne meñ fiṭrī ṭaur par yih sawāl paidā hotā hai ki Ḥaqq Ta'ālā aḡhnī al-aḡhniyā' haiñ; un ko kya ṣarūrat hai ki kisī ko yaqīn dilāne ke li'e qismen khā' en?

PDF PAGE 421 · [Q 37:1-5 Ma'ārif: third question — Allāh swearing by creation] · ...[Allāh created nothing] more honoured and dignified than the noble person of the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ. This is why in the whole Qur'ān there is no oath by the person of any prophet or messenger; only an oath by the life of the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ comes in this āyah. Likewise "wa-t-Ṭūr, wa kitābin masṭūr" — an oath by the Ṭūr and the Book — is to show the greatness of the Ṭūr and the Book. · And sometimes an oath by a creature is because it is greatly beneficial, like "wa-t-tīni wa-z-zaytūn". And in some places an oath by a creature is because its creation is a manifestation of Allāh's great power and an important means of knowing the Maker of the world. Generally, the thing sworn by has some bearing on establishing the theme for which the oath is taken — as pondering each place shows. · Third question: the well-known ruling of the sharī'ah for ordinary people is that it is not permitted to swear by anyone but Allāh; is not Allāh's own swearing by His creatures a proof that swearing by other than Allāh is permitted for others too? · Ḥasan al-Baṣrī (raḥmatullāh) answered: "Allāh has the right to swear by whatever of His creatures He wishes; but it is not permitted for anyone else to swear by other than Allāh" (Maḥḥarī). [Arabic:] "inna-llāha yuqsimu bimā shā'a min khalqih, wa laisa li-aḥadin an yuqsima illā bi-llāh" (Ibn Abī Ḥātim). · The point: measuring oneself against Allāh, exalted be His Majesty, is wrong and baseless; when in the divine sharī'ah swearing by other than Allāh was forbidden for ordinary people, inferring against it from Allāh's own (essential) act is invalid. · Now consider the tafsīr of these āyāt. · In the first four āyāt, by an oath by the angels it is stated that your one true God is One. Though during the oath the qualities of those angels are also mentioned — which, on the slightest reflection, are themselves a proof of the belief in tauḥīd — yet in the next six āyāt the proof of tauḥīd is stated independently. It says: · "rabbu-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍi wa mā bainahumā wa rabbu-l-mashāriq" — He is the Lord of the heavens and the earth and all the creatures between them; and Lord of the risings. So...

Being who is the Creator and Lord of such vast creation is alone deserving of worship; and all this universe is a proof of His existence and oneness. · Here "al-mashāriq" is the plural of "mashriq"; and since the sun rises from a new place each day of the year, its "risings" are many — hence the plural form here. · "innā zayyanna-s-samā‘a-d-dunyā bi-zīnatin-il-kawākib" — "al-samā‘ al-dunyā" means the nearest heaven. The sense: We adorned this nearest heaven with the stars. It is not necessary that these stars be exactly within the heaven; even if separate from it, seen from the earth they appear on the heaven and make it seem to glitter. The point is only that this star-filled heaven is proof that it did not come into being by itself, but was created by its Creator; and a Being who can bring such magnificent things into being — what need has He of any partner or associate? · Also, since it is settled even among the polytheists that the Creator of all these celestial bodies is Allāh, it is a great wrong that He is the Creator and Owner while worship is given to someone else. · As for whether, per the Qur‘ān, the stars are joined to the heaven or separate from it, and what connection the Qur‘ān has with astronomy — a detailed discussion of this has passed in Sūrah al-Ḥijr. · "wa ḥifẓan min kulli shaiṭānin mārid" ... "fa-atba‘ahū shihābun sāqib" — in these āyāt, besides adornment, another benefit of the stars is stated: through them the mischievous devils are stopped from listening to the words of the exalted world. They go near the heaven to eavesdrop on unseen news, but are given no chance to hear the angels' words; if a devil manages to snatch even half a word and flee, a blazing flame is thrown at him, so that he cannot reach the world and tell anything to his devotee soothsayers and astrologers. This blazing flame is called "shihāb sāqib". · Some detail on "shihāb sāqib" has passed in Sūrah al-Ḥijr. Here this much caution is necessary: the ancient Greek philosophers held that a "shihāb ṣāqib" is really some earthly matter that rises up with vapours and, reaching near the sphere of fire, catches fire; but from the apparent words of the Qur'ān it appears that "shihāb ṣāqib" is not some earthly matter...

it is something produced in the exalted world itself. The earlier mufasssīrīn on this point say that the Greek philosophers' notion that "shihāb ṣāqib" is earthly matter rests on mere conjecture and estimate, so no objection can be raised against the Qur'ān from it. Besides, if some earthly matter does rise up and catch fire, there is no conflict with the Qur'ān in that either. · But today's modern scientific research has ended this question. Present-day scientists hold that "shihāb ṣāqib" is small fragments of those countless stars, usually about the size of large bricks; these countless fragments stay in space. One group of them is called "asadiyya" (the Leonids), which circles the sun in the shape of a spiral, completing one round in 33 years. The light in these fragments arises from their high speed and friction with the bodies of space. These fragments fall more on the nights of 10 August and 27 November, and fewer on the nights of 20 April, 28 November, 18 October and 9 & 13 December (from Tafsīr al-Jawāhir of Ṭaṭṭāwī, p.15, vol.8). · This modern scientific finding is more in accord with the Qur'ānic manner of expression. As for those who think it far-fetched that devils are struck by "shihāb ṣāqib", the late Ṭaṭṭāwī wrote a fine point in al-Jawāhir: · "Our forefathers and sages too felt it hard that the Qur'ān said something against the astronomy of their time; but the mufasssīrīn did not take the view of accepting those philosophical theories and abandoning the Qur'ān — instead they abandoned those philosophical theories and stayed with the Qur'ān. After some time it was proven of itself that the ancient Greek philosophers' notion was entirely false and wrong. Now say: if we accept that these stars burn, strike and harm the devils, what obstacle is there in that? Accepting this statement of the Qur'ān, we await the future (when science too will accept this reality)" (al-Jawāhir, p.14, vol.8). · [Box: the real aim:] Mentioning here the heavens, the stars and the "shihāb ṣāqib" has one aim: to establish tauḥīd — that the Being who at one moment has made such tremendous cosmic arrangements is alone worthy of worship. Second, in the same argument, the thought of those people...

These āyāt hint that the Qur‘ān refutes the soothsayers; the greatest source of their information is the devils, and the Qur‘ān says the devils' access to the exalted world is impossible — they cannot bring true news of the unseen. When the Qur‘ān's stated belief about divination is this, how can it itself be divination? So these āyāt contain

The fact is that these very things are harder; for We created these people, at the creation of Adam, from that same ordinary sticky clay, which has no strength and no hardness; and man, made from it, is likewise not very strong or hard. · Now consider: when We are able to bring such strong, hard creatures from non-existence into being, why would We not be able, after giving death once, to revive again a weak creature like man? But despite such a clear proof, these people are not convinced of the possibility of the hereafter; more than that — you marvel (at their denial), while they mock (going beyond denial, ridiculing the belief in the hereafter). When they are reasoned with (by rational proofs) they do not take heed; and when they see a miracle (shown to establish your prophethood, by which the belief in the hereafter is proven), they (themselves) ridicule it and say, this is plain magic. (For if it is a miracle it would establish your prophethood, and after accepting you as a prophet they would have to accept the belief in the hereafter you state — whereas they cannot accept the belief in the hereafter; for when we have died and become dust and bones, shall we be revived, and will our forefathers of old also be revived?) Say: yes (they will certainly be revived), and you will also be humbled. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: After establishing the belief in tauḥīd, these eight āyāt state the belief in the hereafter and answer the polytheists' doubts about it. The very first āyah gives a rational proof for the possibility of humans being revived: the magnificent bodies of the universe mentioned in the previous āyāt — man is a far weaker creature beside them. When you accept that Allāh created by His power such creatures as the angels, the moon, the stars, the sun, and the "shihāb sāqib", what is hard for Him in reviving a weak creature like man after death? As at first He made you from sticky clay and breathed the spirit into you, so when you die and become dust again, at that time Allāh...

PDF PAGE 426 · [Q 37:11-15 Ma'ārif, cont.] · ...[Allāh] will grant you life. · And this that is said, "We created them from sticky clay" — it means that their great ancestor Ādam ('alaihi-s-salām) was created from clay; it can also mean man in general — for on reflection every man's origin is water mixed with clay. Thus: man arises from the drop (nuṭfa), the drop is made from blood, blood is produced from food, and food, in whatever form, has its origin in plants, and plants are produced from clay and water. · In any case, the first āyah contains the rational proof of the belief in the hereafter; and it begins by putting the question to them: are you a harder creature, or the creatures We have mentioned? The answer was obvious — those creatures are harder; so instead of stating it explicitly it hints at it by saying, "We created them from sticky clay." · The next five āyāt state the reaction that the denying polytheists show on hearing the proofs of the hereafter. The proofs of the belief in the hereafter presented to the polytheists were of two kinds: rational proofs, as in the first āyah; and transmitted proofs — showing them miracles and stating the prophethood and messengership of the Prophet ﷺ, and saying: you are a prophet of Allāh, a prophet never lies, heavenly news comes to him; when you give this news that Qiyāmah will come, there will be the Gathering and Resurrection, and humans will be called to account — this news is surely true and must be accepted. · As for the polytheists' reaction to the rational proofs, it says: · "bal 'ajibta wa yaskharūn; wa izā zukkirū lā yazkurūn" — you marvel at these people, how despite clear proofs they do not accept; but they, on the contrary, ridicule your proofs and beliefs, and however much you explain to them, they do not take heed. · As for the transmitted proofs, their reaction is: · "wa izā ra'au āyatan yastaskhirūn" ilkh — when they see a miracle that points to your prophethood and ultimately to the belief in the hereafter, they ridicule that too and say, this is plain magic. · And for all this mockery and ridicule they have but one argument, namely that:...

Imām al-Rāzī (rahmatullāh) in Tafsīr Kabīr, thus: it has been established above by the rational proof that human revival after death is not impossible; and it is a rule that what is rationally possible can be established as actually occurring by the report of a truthful reporter. When it is settled that revival is possible, then a truthful prophet's merely saying "yes, you will certainly be revived" is a decisive proof that this event will surely come to pass. · [Box: the establishment of the Prophet's ﷺ miracles:] In "wa izā ra'au āyatan" the literal sense of "āyat" is "sign", and here it means a miracle. So this āyah is proof that Allāh gave the Prophet ﷺ some miracles besides the Qur'ān; and by it the atheists are refuted who, making the Prophet's ﷺ miracles subject to sensory causes, claim that no miracle was manifested at his blessed hand except the Qur'ān. · In the fourth āyah Allāh plainly said "wa izā ra'au āyatan yastaskhirūn" (when they see a miracle they ridicule it). Some deniers of miracles say "āyat" here means not a miracle but rational proofs. But this is wrong because the next āyah says "wa qālū in hāzā illā siḥrun mubīn" — they say, this is nothing but clear magic. Plainly it makes no sense to call a proof clear magic; they can say this only after seeing a miracle. · Some deniers of miracles also say "āyat" means the āyāt of the Qur'ān, which they call magic. But the Qur'ān's word "ra'au" (they see) — its quality [of visual seeing]...

"a-izā mitnā wa kunnā turāban wa 'izāman a-innā la-mab'ūsūn; a-wa ābā'una-l-awwalūn" — ya'nī yih bāt hamāre taṣawwur meñ nahīñ ātī ki ham yā hamāre ābā wa ajdād khāk ho jāne aur haḍḍiyāñ ban jāne ke ba'd dubāra kaise zinda kar diye jā'en ge? Is li'e na ham koī 'aqlī dalīl mānte haiñ, aur na kisī mu'jize waghaira ko taslīm karte haiñ.

Bārī Ta'ālā ne is ke jawāb meñ širf ek jumla ākhir meñ irshād farmāyā: "qul na'am wa antum dākhirūn" — ya'nī āp kah dījiye ki hāñ, tum ẓarūr dubāra zinda hoge, aur ẓalīl wa khwār ho kar zinda hoge.

Dekhne meñ to yih ek ḥakīmāna jawāb hai, jaisā haṭ-dharmī karne wāloñ ko diyā jātā hai. Lekin thoṛā sā ghaur kiyā jā'e to yih ek pūrī dalīl bhī hai, jis kī tashrīḥ Imām Rāzī rahmatullāh ne Tafsīr Kabīr meñ kī hai. Aur woh is ẓarah ki ūpar dubāra zinda hone kī 'aqlī dalīl se ṣābit ho chukā hai ki insānoñ kā mar kar phir zinda honā koī nā-mumkin bāt nahīñ; aur yih qā'ida hai ki jo bāt 'aqlan mumkin ho us kā wāqī'a meñ ā jānā kisī sacce khabar dene wāle kī khabar se ṣābit ho saktā hai. Jab yih bāt ṭay ho ga'ī ki dubāra zinda honā mumkin hī hai, to us ke ba'd kisī sacce nabī kā širf itnā kah denā ki "hāñ, tum ẓarūr dubāra zinda hoge" is bāt kī qat'ī dalīl hai ki yih wāqī'a ẓarūr pesh ā kar rahe gā.

Accordingly, wherever the Qur’ān mentions the Qur’ānic āyāt, it uses words of hearing, not of seeing; and everywhere in the Qur’ān the word "āyat" comes in the sense of miracle. E.g. relating Fir‘awn’s demand from Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām): "in kunta ji’ta bi-āyatin fa-’ti bihā in kunta mina-ṣ-ṣādiqīn" — "if you have come with a miracle, bring it, if you are truthful." In answer to this, Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) showed the miracle of the staff becoming a snake. · As for the Qur’ānic āyāt mentioning that the Prophet ﷺ did not accept the demand to show a miracle — in reality miracles had been shown there again and again, but they demanded a new miracle of their own choosing each day; to that, showing a miracle was refused. Because Allāh’s prophet shows miracles by Allāh’s command; if someone still does not accept, then manifesting a new miracle each day is against the dignity of a prophet and against Allāh’s will too. · Moreover, Allāh’s practice has been that when a people were given the miracle they demanded, and still did not believe, they were destroyed by a general punishment. Since preserving the ummah of Muḥammad ﷺ and saving it from a general punishment was in view, it was not shown the demanded miracle. · Verse table (vv.19–22): v.19 "fa-innamā hiya zajratun wāḥidatun fa-izā hum yanḷurūn" — it is but a single shout, and at once they are looking on. v.20 "wa qālū yā wailanā ḥāzā yaumu-d-dīn" — and they say, "O our woe! this is the Day of Recompense." v.21 "ḥāzā yaumu-l-faṣli-l-lazī kuntum bihī tukazzibūn" — this is the Day of Judgement which you used to deny. v.22 "uḡshuru-l-lazīna ḷalamū wa azwājahum wa mā kānū ya’budūn" — gather those who wronged, and their kinds, and what they used to worship —

The great religious leaders of the disbelievers, whether human or devils — do you not help your followers, as you used to mislead them in the world?" But even after this question they will not be able to help; rather all of them that Day will stand head-hung/submissive. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: After [establishing] the possibility and proof of the hereafter, Allāh in these āyāt states some events of the Gathering and Resurrection, and mentions the conditions the disbelievers and the Muslims will face after being revived.

PDF PAGE 430 · [Q 37:19, 22 Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: "zajratun wāḥidatun"; "azwājahum"] · The first āyah states the manner of the dead being revived: "fa-innamā hiya zajratun wāḥidatun" — Qiyāmah will be but a single shout. "zajratun" is the noun-of-instance (ism-e-marra) of "zajr", which has several senses in Arabic; one is "the sounds made to drive cattle to get them to move, hearing which they rise and set off." Here it means the second blast which Isrāfīl (‘alaihi-s-salām) will blow to revive the dead; it is called "zajratun" because, as sounds are made to raise and drive cattle, so this Trumpet will be blown to revive the dead (Tafsīr Qurṭubī). · Though Allāh is able to revive the dead without blowing the Trumpet, this form will be blown to make the scene of the Gathering and Resurrection awe-inspiring (Tafsīr Kabīr). · The effect of this blowing on the disbelievers: "fa-izā hum yanẓurūn" — at once they will begin to look about (as they were able to see in the world, so there too they will be able to see). Some mufasssīrīn take it to mean that in a state of bewilderment they will begin to look at one another (Qurṭubī). · "uḥshuru-llazīna ḡalamū wa azwājahum" — [O angels of] Jahannam, gather those wrongdoers (who committed the great wrong of shirk) and their fellows-in-way. "azwāj" is used here for the fellows-in-way; its literal sense is "pair/partner", and the word is also much used for husband and wife. Hence some mufasssīrīn say it means the polytheists' wives who were themselves polytheists. But most mufasssīrīn take "azwāj" here to mean the fellows-in-way, supported by a saying of ‘Umar (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu). Imām Baihaqī and ‘Abd al-Razzāq etc. cite ‘Umar's (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) saying in tafsīr of this āyah that "azwājahum" means others of their like: usurers will be gathered with other usurers, fornicators with other fornicators, and wine-drinkers with other wine-drinkers (Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī, Maḥṣarī). · Besides, "wa mā kānū ya‘budūn" states that with the polytheists their false objects of worship — idols and devils — will also be gathered, whom they associated with Allāh in the world; so that at that time the helplessness of those false objects of worship may be well displayed.

Sab se pahlī āyat meṁ murdoṅ ke zinda hone kā ṭarīqa bayān farmāyā hai ki "fa-innamā hiya zajratun wāḥidatun" — ya‘nī qiyāmat to bas ek hallā-kār hogī. "zajratun" kā lafẓ "zajr" kā ism-e-marra hai, aur is ke ‘arabī zabān meṁ ka‘ī ma‘nī āte haiṁ. In meṁ se ek ma‘nī haiṁ "mawāshiyōn ko chalne par āmāda karne ke li‘e nikālṅā aisī āwāzeṁ jinheṁ sun kar woh uṭh khāḥe hoṅ." Yahān is se murād woh dūsra ṣūr hai jo Ḥaḍrat Isrāfīl ‘alaihi-s-salām murdoṅ ko zinda karne ke li‘e phūṅkeṅ ge, aur use "zajratun" se is li‘e ta‘bīr kiyā gayā hai ki jis ṭarah mawāshiyōn ko uṭhā kar chalāne ke li‘e kuchh āwāzeṁ nikālī jātī haiṁ, isī ṭarah murdoṅ ko zinda karne ke li‘e yih ṣūr phūṅkā jā‘e gā (Tafsīr Qurṭubī).

Agarcheh Bārī Ta‘ālā is par bhī qādir hai ki ṣūr phūṅke baḡhair murdoṅ ko zinda kar de, lekin yih ṣūrat ḥashr o nashr ke manẓar ko pur-haibat banāne ke li‘e phūṅkā jā‘e gā (Tafsīr Kabīr).

Is ṣūr phūṅkne kā aṣar kāfīroṅ par yih hogā ki "fa-izā hum yanẓurūn" — ya‘nī achānak woh dekhne bhālne lageṅ ge (jis ṭarah dunyā meṁ woh dekhne par qādir rahte the, isī ṭarah wahān bhī dekh sakeṅ ge). Aur ba‘ẓ mufasssīrīn ne is kā maṭlab yih bayān kiyā hai ki woh ḥairānī ke ‘ālam meṁ ek dūsre ko dekhne lageṅ ge (Qurṭubī).

"uḥshuru-llazīna ẓalamū wa azwājahum" — jahannam — ya‘nī un ẓālīmōṅ ko (jinhoṅ ne shirk ke ‘aẓīm ẓulm kā irtikāb kiyā), aur un ke ham-mashrabōṅ ko jama‘ kar do. Yahān ham-mashrabōṅ ke li‘e "azwāj" kā lafẓ ista‘māl kiyā gayā hai, jis ke lafẓī ma‘nī haiṁ "joṛ". Aur yih lafẓ shauhar aur bīwī ke ma‘nī meṁ bhī ba-kaṣrat ista‘māl hotā hai. Isī li‘e ba‘ẓ mufasssīrīn ne is ke ma‘nī bayān karte hu‘e yih kahā hai ki is se mushrikīn kī woh bīwiyān murād haiṁ jo khud bhī mushrik thīṁ. Lekin akṣar mufasssīrīn ke nazḍīk yahān "azwāj" se murād ham-mashrab hī hai, aur is kī ta‘yīd Ḥaḍrat ‘Umar raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu ke ek irshād se bhī hotī hai. Imām Baihaqī aur ‘Abd al-Razzāq waghaira ne is āyat kī tafsīr meṁ Ḥaḍrat ‘Umar raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu kā yih qaul naql kiyā hai ki yahān "azwājahum" se murād in jaise dūsre log haiṁ; chunāñchi sūd-khwār dūsre sūd-khwāroṅ ke sāth, zinā-kār dūsre zāniyōṅ ke sāth, aur sharāb pīne wāle dūsre sharāb pīne wāloṅ ke sāth jama‘ kiye jā‘eṅ ge (az Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī wa Maḥṣarī).

Is ke ‘alāwa "wa mā kānū ya‘budūn" ke alfāẓ se batā diyā gayā ki mushrikīn ke sāth un ke woh bāṭil ma‘būd — ya‘nī but aur shayāṭīn — bhī jama‘ kiye jā‘eṅ ge, jinheṁ yih log dunyā meṁ Allāh ke sāth sharīk ṭhahrāte the; tāki us waqt un bāṭil ma‘būdoṅ kī be-basī kā achhī ṭarah nazāra karāyā jā‘e. A quarrel will arise among them, and, turning to one another, they will begin recrimination (religious dispute). (The followers will say to their leaders:) "you misled us — for your coming upon us was always with great force" (i.e. you kept pressing hard on us to mislead us). The leaders will say: "no; rather you yourselves did not believe, and (now you lay an unjust charge on us; for) we had no power over you — rather you yourselves used to transgress. So since both we and you committed kufr, (it is clear that against all of us this word of our Lord) had come true: that we all must taste [the punishment]. So (its means became this:) we lured you, just as (you did us, and we — without either compelling or forcing the other, of our own choice going astray, this way) we ourselves were astray of our own choice. So your own choice too is a great cause of your misguidance. (Then why do you want to make your own case worse?)" · Then Allāh says: (once both parties' sharing in kufr is established, all of them) that Day will share in the punishment (too); and We deal with such criminals just so. (And then their kufr and crime is stated:) they were people who denied both tauḥīd and risālah. When it was said to them (through the Messenger ﷺ) "there is no true god but Allāh", they were arrogant about accepting it, and used to say, "shall we leave our gods for a mad poet?" (In this both tauḥīd and risālah were denied.) Allāh says: (this prophet is neither a poet nor mad) rather he is a prophet who came with a true dīn, and confirms (and agrees with) the other prophets (in the principles of tauḥīd etc.), stating principles on which all the messengers agree. So those principles are truth in the light of countless proofs, not fancy; and speaking the truth is not madness. (Other nations too treated their prophets thus. Here, since the disbelievers of Arabia are directly addressed, only this ummah's disbelievers are mentioned.) · Then it is stated that (they will be told to their faces of this shared punishment: you all — follower and followed — must taste the painful punishment, and in that decree there is no wrong upon you; for) you will be recompensed only for what you...

These āyāt sketch some of this dispute and state the evil end of both parties. The sense of the āyāt is clear from the Khulāṣa; only a few brief points are worth mentioning: · (1) In "innakum kuntum ta‘tūnanā ‘ani-l-yamīn", "yamīn" can have several senses. One is strength and power; on that sense the tafsīr is: "your coming upon us was with great force" — i.e. you pressed hard on us to mislead us. This tafsīr is the clearer and cleaner. "yamīn" also means an oath; so some render it: "you used to come to us with oaths" — swearing again and again to make us believe that our religion is right and the Messenger's teaching is (God forbid) false. By the Qur’ānic words both tafsīrs are readily possible. · (2) From "fa-innahum yauma’izin fi-l-‘azābi mushtarikūn" it is learned that if someone invites another to an impermissible act and uses his influence and standing to push him toward sin, he will certainly get the punishment of inviting to sin; but the one who accepted his invitation of his own choice is also not freed of the sin of his deed. He cannot escape in the hereafter by saying "so-and-so misled me."

Yes, if he did not commit the sin of his own choice but under compulsion and coercion to save his life, then, in-shā'a-llāh, there is hope of his pardon. · Verse table (vv.41–43): v.41 "ulā'ika lahum rizqun ma'lūm" — those — for them is a known provision, v.42 "fawākihu wa hum mukramūn" — fruits; and they are honoured, v.43 "fī jannāti-n-na'īm" — in Gardens of bliss —

In āyāt meñ isī baḥs o takrār kā kuchh naqsha khīnch kar farīqain kā anjām-e-bad bayān kiyā gayā hai. Āyāt kā mafhūm khulāṣa-e-tafsīr se wāẓih hai; širf chand mukhtaṣar bāteñ qābil-e-zikr haiñ:

(1) "innakum kuntum ta'tūnanā 'ani-l-yamīn" meñ "yamīn" ke ka'ī ma'nī ho sakte haiñ. In meñ se ek ma'nī quwwat wa ṭāqat bhī haiñ. Aur isī ma'nī ke liḥāẓ se tafsīr yih kī ga'ī hai ki "ham par tumhārī āmad baṛe zor kī hoā kartī thī" — ya'nī tum ham par khūb zor ḍāl kar hameñ gumrāh kiyā karte the. Aur yihī tafsīr ziyāda šāf aur be-ḡhubār hai. Is ke 'alāwa "yamīn" ke ma'nī qism ke bhī āte haiñ. Is li'e ba'ẓ ḥaḍrāt ne is kī tafsīr is tarāḥ kī hai ki "tum hamāre pās qismeñ le kar āyā karte the" — ya'nī qism khā khā kar ham par yih bāt bāwar karāte the ki hamārā mazhab durust hai, aur Rasūl kī ta'līm (ma'āza-llāh) bāṭil hai. Alfāẓ-e-Qur'ānī ke liḥāẓ se yih donoñ tafsīreñ be-takalluf mumkin haiñ.

(2) "fa-innahum yauma'izin fī-l-'aẓābi mushtarikūn" se ma'lūm hu'ā ki agar koī shakhs kisī dūsre ko nā-jā'iz kām kī da'wat de, aur use gunāh par āmāda karne ke li'e apnā aṣar wa rusūkh ista'māl kare, to use da'wat-e-gunāh kā 'aẓāb to be-shak hogā; lekin jab wuh shakhs jis ne us kī da'wat ko apne ikhtiyār se qabūl kar liyā, wuh bhī apne 'amal ke gunāh se barī nahīn ho saktā. Wuh ākhirat meñ yih kah kar chhuṭkārā nahīn pā saktā ki mujhe to fulān shakhs ne gumrāh kiyā thā. Hān, agar us ne is gunāh kā irtikāb apne ikhtiyār se na kiyā ho, balki jabr wa ikrāh kī ḥālat meñ apnī jān bachāne ke li'e kar liyā ho, to in-shā'a-llāh us kī mu'āfi kī umīd hai.

And those people, with great honour, will sit facing one another on couches in Gardens of comfort. A cup of wine will be brought to them (by the ghilmān) filled from flowing wine (showing the abundance and delicacy of the wine); white to look at, and delicious to the drinkers; in it there is no headache, as in the world's wine (called khumār), nor will it disorder their reason. And with them will be [ḥūrs] of restrained glance with large eyes, whose complexion is so pure as if they were eggs hidden under leaves (i.e. utterly protected from dust and blemish; the likeness is only in cleanness). · Then, when all are gathered in one assembly, they will turn to one another and converse; and during this conversation one speaker among them (the people of Jannah) will say to the gathering: "I had a companion in the world who used to say to me in astonishment: 'are you one of those who believe in the Resurrection — that when we die and become dust and bones we shall be revived and be recompensed and punished?'" (i.e. he denied the hereafter, so he must be in Jahannam.) · Allāh will say (O people of Jannah,) "would you look and see him? (You are permitted, if you wish.)" So the man (who told the story) looks and sees him lying in the midst of Jahannam; seeing him there he says: "by Allāh, you almost ruined me (you kept trying to make me a denier of the hereafter too); and but for my Lord's favour upon me, keeping me firm on the sound belief, I too would have been among those seized (like you)." · Then he says to the gathering of the people of Jannah: "shall we not, except for the first death (which we already died in the world), die now, and shall we not be punished?" (They will say all this in a rush of joy that Allāh has saved them from all calamities and troubles and made them carefree forever.) · Then Allāh says: all the physical and spiritual bounties of Jannah stated above — this is indeed the great success; for the like of this...

The first ten āyāt state the ease and comfort the common people of Jannah will have; the āyāt after that relate an instructive incident of a particular dweller of Jannah. In the first ten āyāt a few points are especially worth mentioning: · (1) The literal translation of "ulā'ika lahum rizqun ma'lūm" is "for those very people is a provision whose state is known." The mufasssīrīn give different meanings. Some say it points to the detailed qualities of the Jannah foods stated in various Sūrahs — this is the tafsīr Ḥakīm al-Ummat Ḥaḍrat Thānwī (rahmatullāh) adopted in the Khulāṣa. · Some said "rizq ma'lūm" means its times are fixed and known — it will be given regularly morning and evening, as another āyah explicitly has "bukratan wa 'ashiyyā" (morning and evening). · A third tafsīr: "rizq ma'lūm" means it will be a certain and everlasting provision — not like the world, where no one can say for certain what he will get tomorrow and how much provision is coming; nor does anyone know how long the provision he has will stay with him. Every man is at all times gripped by the fear that the bounties he now has may not be with him tomorrow. In Jannah this fear will not exist; rather its provision will be both certain and everlasting (Tafsīr Qurṭubī etc.). · (2) "fawākihu" — by this word the Qur'ān has itself explained the provision of Jannah: that it will consist of fruits. "Fawākihu" is the plural of "fākihah", and in Arabic "fākihah" is anything eaten not to relieve hunger's need but to gain pleasure. In Urdu it is rendered "mewa" (fruit) because fruit too is eaten for pleasure; but really "fākihah" is broader than "fruit". · Imām al-Rāzī drew from this word "fawākih" the point that all the foods given in Jannah will be given for tasting pleasure, not to relieve hunger's need. For in Jannah man will have need of nothing; there he will not [need food] to sustain his life or preserve his health...

Ahl-e-dozakh ke ḥālāt bayān karne ke ba'd in āyāt meñ Ahl-e-jannat ke aḥwāl kā tazkīrah kiyā gayā hai. Yih tazkīrah do ḥiṣṣoñ par mushtamil hai. Ibtidā'ī das āyatoñ meñ 'ām Ahl-e-jannat ko jo 'aish wa ārām ḥāṣil hogā, us kā bayān hai; aur us ke ba'd kī āyāt meñ ek khāṣ jannatī kā 'ibrat-āmoz wāqī'a bayān kiyā gayā hai. Ibtidā'ī das āyatoñ meñ chand bāteñ ba-ṭaur-e-khāṣ qābil-e-zikr haiñ:

Ba'ẓ ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā ki "rizq ma'lūm" se murād yih hai ki us ke auqāt muta'ayyin aur ma'lūm haiñ — ya'nī woh ṣubḥ o shām pābandī ke sāth 'aṭā kiya jā'e gā, jaisā ki dūsri āyat meñ "bukratan wa 'ashiyyā" (ṣubḥ o shām) ke alfāẓ ṣarāḥatan āye haiñ.

Ek tīsrī tafsīr aur bhī hai, aur woh yih ki "rizq ma'lūm" kā maṭlab yih hai ki woh yaqīnī aur dā'imī rizq hogā — dunyā kī ṭarah nahīn ki koī shakḥ yaqīn ke sāth nahīn batā saktā ki mujhe kal kya mile gā, aur kitnā rizq milne wālā hai? Aur na kisī ko yih 'ilm hai ki jitnā rizq mujhe ḥāṣil hai woh kab tak mere pās rahe gā? Har insān ko har waqt yih dhaṛkā lagā hoā hai ki jo nī'mateñ mujhe is waqt ḥāṣil haiñ woh shāyad kal mere pās na raheñ. Jannat meñ yih khaṭra nahīn hogā, balki wahān kā rizq yaqīnī bhī hogā aur dā'imī bhī (Tafsīr Qurṭubī waghaira).

Imām Rāzī ne isī "fawākīh" ke lafẓ se yih nukta nikālā hai ki jannat meñ jitnī ḡhīẓā' en dī jā' en gī woh sab lazzat chakhne ke li'e dī jā' en gī, bhūk kī ḥājat raf' karne ke li'e nahīn. Is li'e ki jannat meñ insān ko ḥājat kisī chīz kī nahīn hogī; wahān use apnī zindagī bar-qarār rakhne yā ḥifẓān-e-ṣiḥḥat ... (continues on PDF p.437)

PDF PAGE 437 · [Q 37:42-48 Ma'ārif points 3–7: "mukramūn"; "mutaqābilīn"; "lazzah"; "ghaul"; "qāṣirātu-ṭ-ṭarf"] · ...nor will he need any food to preserve his health. Yes, there will be desire, and pleasure will come from the fulfilment of that desire; and the purpose of all the bounties of Jannah will be to grant pleasure (Tafsīr Kabīr, p.98, vol.7). · (3) "wa hum mukramūn" states that the people of Jannah will be given this provision with full honour and respect; for without honour and respect even delicious food becomes tasteless. From this we also learn that a guest's due is not fulfilled merely by feeding him; his honour and respect are also part of his rights. · (4) "'alā sururin mutaqābilīn" is a picture of the assembly of the people of Jannah: "they will sit on couches facing one another." No one will have his back to another; what its practical form will be, Allāh alone truly knows. Some said the circle of the assembly will be so wide that no one will need to turn his back to another, and Allāh will grant the people of Jannah such powers of sight, hearing and speech that they can converse comfortably with people sitting far off. Some also said these couches will revolve, and whenever one has to speak with someone, they will turn toward that person. Wa-llāhu subḥānahū a'lam. · (5) "lazzatin li-sh-shāribīn" — "lazzah" is originally a verbal noun (maṣḍar) meaning "to be delicious." Hence some say a muḍāf is elided here, the original being "zāti lazzah" (possessing pleasure). But this straining is not needed. First, if "lazzah" is taken as a maṣḍar, a maṣḍar is often used in the sense of an active participle; then the meaning would be that it is for the drinkers "a concentration of pleasure." Besides, the adjective form of "lazzah" is not only "lazīz" but also "lazz"; "lazzah" here may be the feminine of this "lazz" (Tafsīr Qurṭubī). In that case the meaning is "delicious for the drinkers." · (6) "lā fihā ghaul" — some rendered "ghaul" as headache, some as stomach-ache, some as foul smell and impurity, and some as the reeling of reason. In reality the word "ghaul" is used in all these senses. Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Jarīr says "ghaul" here means calamity/harm; the point is that the wine of Jannah will have no such harm as is found in the wines of the world — no headache, no stomach-ache, no reek of foul smell, no reeling of reason (Tafsīr Ibn Jarīr). · (7) "qāṣirātu-ṭ-ṭarf" — this is a quality of the ḥūr of Jannah: they will be "of restrained glance." The meaning: those husbands with whom Allāh has established their marital bond, they [will look at no one else]...

... ke li'e bhī kisī ghizā kī zarūrat nahīn hogī. Hāñ, khwāhish hogī, aur us khwāhish ke pūre hone se lazzat ḥāṣil hogī. Aur jannat kī tamām ni'matoñ kā maqṣad lazzat 'aṭā karnā hogā (Tafsīr Kabīr, ṣ.98, j.7).

(3) "wa hum mukramūn" — kah kar batā diyā gayā ki Ahl-e-jannat ko yih rizq pūre a'zāz wa ikrām ke sāth diyā jā'e gā. Kyonki a'zāz wa ikrām na ho to lazīz ghizā bhī be-ḥalāwat ho jāti hai. Isī se yih bhī ma'lūm hu'ā ki mihmān kā ḥaqq ṣirf khānā khilāne se pūrā nahīn hotā, balki us kā a'zāz wa ikrām bhī us ke ḥuqūq meñ dākhil hai.

(4) "'alā sururin mutaḳābilīn" — yih Ahl-e-jannat kī majlis kā naqsha hai ki "woh taktoñ par āmne-sāmne baiṭhe hoñ ge". Kisī kī kisī kī ṭaraf pusht nahīn hogī; is kī 'amalī šūrat kya hogī? Is kā ṣaḥīḥ 'ilm to Allāh Ta'ālā hī ko hai. Ba'z ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā ki majlis kā dā'ira itnā wasī hogā ki kisī ko kisī kī ṭaraf pusht karne kī zarūrat na hogī, aur Allāh Ta'ālā Ahl-e-jannat ko aisī quwwat-e-bīnā'ī, samā'at aur goyā'ī 'aṭā farmā'e gā ki woh dūr dūr baiṭhe hu'e logoñ se ba're āram ke sāth bāteñ kar sakeñ. Aur ba'z ḥaḍrāt ne yih bhī farmāyā hai ki yih takht ghūmne wāle hoñ ge, aur jab jis se bāt karnī hogī usī kī ṭaraf ghūm jā'en ge. Wa-llāhu subḥānahū a'lam.

(5) "lazzatin li-sh-shāribīn" — "lazzah" aṣl meñ maṣdar hī hai, jis ke ma'nī haiñ lazīz honā. Isī li'e ba'z ḥaḍrāt ne kahā hai ki yahāñ muḍāf maḥzūf hai, aṣl meñ "zāti lazzah" thā — ya'nī "lazzat wālī". Lekin is takalluf kī zarūrat nahīn hai. Awwal to agar "lazzah" ko maṣdar hī samjhā jā'e, to maṣdar ism-e-fā'il ke ma'nī meñ ba-kaṣrat ista'māl hotā hai; is šūrat meñ ma'nī yih hoñ ge ki woh sharāb pīne wāloñ ke li'e "mujtama-e-lazzat" hogī. Is ke 'alāwa "lazzah" kā ṣiḡha-e-ṣifat lazīz ke 'alāwa "lazz" bhī ātā hai; ho saktā hai ki yahāñ "lazzah" isī "lazz" kā mu'annaṣ ho (Tafsīr Qurṭubī). Is šūrat meñ ma'nī hoñ ge "pīne wāloñ ke li'e lazīz".

(6) "lā fihā ghaul" — "ghaul" ke ma'nī kisī ne "dar-e-sar" bayān kiye haiñ, kisī ne

"peṭ kā dard", kisī ne "bad-bū aur gandagī", aur kisī ne "‘aql kā bahak jānā". Dar-ḥaqīqat lafẓ "ghaul" in sabhī ma‘noñ meñ ista‘māl hotā hai. Aur Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Jarīr farmāte hain ki yahān "ghaul" āfat ke ma‘nī meñ hai; aur maṭlab yih hai ki jannat kī sharāb meñ aisī koī āfat nahīn hogī jaisī dunyā kī sharāboñ meñ pā‘ī jāti hai — na dar-e-sar hogā, na dard-e-shikam, na bad-bū kā bhabkā, na ‘aql kā bahak jānā (Tafsīr Ibn Jarīr).

(7) "qāṣirātu-ṭ-ṭarf" — yih jannat kī ḥūroñ kī ṣifat hai ki woh "nigāheñ nīchī rakhne wālī" hoñ gī. Maṭlab yih hai ki jin shauhroñ ke sāth un kā azdawājī rishta Allāh Ta‘ālā ne qā‘im kar diyā, woh ... (continues on PDF p.438)

Ibn al-Jauzī reports that these women will say to their husbands: "by the honour of my Lord! in Jannah I see no one better than you. Praise be to the Allāh who made me your wife and you my husband!" · Ibn al-Jauzī also records another sense of "qāṣirātu-ṭ-ṭarf": that they will keep their glances lowered before their husbands — i.e. they will be so beautiful and faithful themselves that their husbands will have no desire to raise their eyes toward anyone else (Tafsīr Zād al-Masīr of Ibn al-Jauzī, p.58, vol.7). Wa-llāhu subḥānahū a‘lam. · (8) "ka-annahunna baiḍun maknūn" — in this āyah the ḥūrs of Jannah are likened to "hidden eggs." Among the Arabs this comparison was well known: an egg hidden among feathers is untouched by outside dust, so it is utterly clean; besides, its colour is a yellowish white, reckoned by the Arabs the most attractive colour for women — hence the comparison. · Some mufasssīrīn said the comparison is not to eggs [as a whole] but to the membrane inside the shell; the point being that these women will be as soft, delicate and tender as that membrane (Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī). Wa-llāhu subḥānahū a‘lam. · [Box: a dweller of Jannah and his disbeliever companion:] After stating the general conditions of the people of Jannah in the first ten āyāt, one dweller of Jannah is specially mentioned: on reaching the assembly of Jannah he will remember a companion of his in the world who denied the hereafter; then, by Allāh's leave, he will be given the chance to peer into Jahannam and speak with him. The Qur’ān gives no name or particulars of this man, so it cannot be said with certainty who he was. However, some mufasssīrīn have expressed the view that the believing man's name was Yahūdā and his disbelieving companion's name is Maṭrūs; and these are the same two companions mentioned in Sūrah al-Kahf's "wa-ḍrib lahum maṣalan rajulaini..." (Tafsīr Mazharī). · ‘Allāma al-Suyūṭī cites another incident from several tābi‘īn to identify this man, in brief: two men were partners in trade; they earned eight thousand dīnārs and each took four thousand. One partner spent a thousand of his share to buy a piece of land. The other companion was very righteous; he prayed: "O Allāh, so-and-so has bought a piece of land for a

... un ke 'alāwa kisī bhī mard ko ānkh uṭhā kar nahīn dekheñ gī. 'Allāma Ibn al-Jauzī ne yih naql kiyā hai ki yih 'aurateñ apne shauhron se kaheñ gī: "mere Parwardigār kī 'izzat kī qism! jannat meñ mujhe tum se behtar koī naẓar nahīn ātā. Jis Allāh ne mujhe tumhārī bīwī, aur tumheñ merā shauhar banāyā — tamām ta'rifēñ usī kī haiñ!"

"Nigāheñ nīchī rakhne wālī" kā ek aur maṭlab 'Allāma Ibn al-Jauzī ne yih bhī likhā hai ki woh apne shauhron se nigāheñ nīchī rakheñ gī — ya' nī woh khud itnī khubshūrāt aur wafā-shi'ār hoñ gī ki un ke shauhron ko kisī aur kī ṭaraf naẓar uṭhāne kī khwāhish hī na hogī (Tafsīr Zād al-Masīr li-Ibn al-Jauzī, §.58, j.7). Wa-llāhu subḥānahū a'lam.

(8) "ka-annahunna baiḍun maknūn" — is āyat meñ jannat kī ḥūron ko "chhipe hu'e anḍon" se tashbīh dī ga'ī hai. Ahl-e-'Arab ke yahān yih tashbīh mash-hūr wa ma'rūf thī: jo anḍā paroñ meñ chhipā hoā ho us par bairūnī gard o ḡhubār kā aṣar nahīn pahuñchtā; is li'e woh nihāyat ṣāf suṭhrā hotā hai. Is ke 'alāwa us kā rang zardī-mā'il safed hotā hai, jo Ahl-e-'Arab ke yahān 'aurtoñ ke li'e dilkash-tarīn rang shumār hotā thā; is li'e us se tashbīh dī ga'ī.

Aur ba'ẓ ḥaḍrāt mufasssīrīn ne farmāyā ki yahān anḍon se tashbīh nahīn hai, balki anḍon kī us jhillī se hai jo chhilke ke andar poshīda hotī hai; aur maṭlab yih hai ki woh 'aurateñ us jhillī kī ṭaraḥ naram wa nāzūk aur gudāz hoñ gī (Dar Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī). Wa-llāhu subḥānahū a'lam.

Ibtidā'ī das āyatoñ meñ Ahl-e-jannat ke 'umūmī ḥālāt bayān farmāne ke ba'd ek jannatī kā khāṣ ṭaur par tazkīrah kiyā gayā hai, ki woh jannat kī majlis meñ pahuñchne ke ba'd apne ek friend ko yād kare gā jo dunyā meñ ākhirat kā munkir thā; aur phir Allāh Ta'ālā kī ijāzat se use jahannam ke andar jhānk kar us se bāteñ karne kā mauqī' diyā jā'e gā. Qur'ān-e-Karīm meñ is shakhṣ kā kuchh nām o pata nahīn batāyā gayā; is li'e yaqīn ke sāth nahīn kahā jā saktā ki yih kaun hogā? Tāham ba'ẓ mufasssīrīn ne yih khiyāl zāhir kiyā hai ki is mu'min shakhṣ kā nām Yahūdā thā, aur us ke us kāfir mulāqātī kā nām Maṭrūs hai. Aur yih wahī do sāthī haiñ jin kā zikr Sūrah al-Kahf kī āyat "wa-ḍrib lahum maṣalan rajulaini" waghaira meñ guzar chukā hai (Tafsīr Maẓharī).

Aur 'Allāma Suyūṭī ne muta'addid tābī'in se is shakhṣ kī ta'yīn ke li'e ek aur wāqī'a naql kiyā hai, jis kā khulāṣa yih hai ki do ādmī kārobār meñ sharīk the; un ko āṭh hazār dīnār kī āmdanī hoī, aur donoñ ne chār chār hazār dīnār āpas meñ bānt liye. "I buy a piece of land in Jannah from You for a thousand dīnārs" — and he gave a thousand dīnārs in charity. Then his partner spent a thousand dīnārs building a house, so the man said, "O Allāh, so-and-so has built a house for a thousand dīnārs; I buy from You a house in Jannah for a thousand dīnārs" — and gave another thousand in charity. · Then his partner married a woman and spent a thousand dīnārs on her; so he said, "O Allāh, so-and-so has married and spent a thousand on her; I propose to one of the women of Jannah and vow this thousand" — and gave that thousand too in charity. · Then his partner bought some slaves and goods for a thousand dīnārs; so he gave a thousand in charity and asked Allāh for the slaves and goods of Jannah in exchange. · Later, this believing servant fell into some severe need; he thought to go to his former partner, that perhaps he might do a kindness. He mentioned his need to his companion. The companion asked, "what became of your wealth?" In reply he told his whole story. At this the companion said in astonishment, "do you really believe that when we die and become dust we shall get another life, and there be recompensed for our deeds? Go, I will give you nothing!" After this both died. · In these āyāt the dweller of Jannah means this servant who gave all his wealth in charity for the sake of the hereafter, and his companion in Jahannam is the same trading partner who mocked him for affirming the hereafter (Tafsīr al-Durr al-Manṣūr, via Ibn Jarīr etc., p.165, vol.5). · [Box: the lesson of avoiding bad company:] Whoever is meant, the Qur'ān's real aim in mentioning this incident here is to alert people to review their circle of friends with full care and see whether it contains anyone dragging them toward the end of Hell. The true measure of the ruin bad company can bring will only be known in the hereafter; and at that time there will be no way to escape that ruin. · So friendships and relationships should be formed in this world with much scrutiny. Often, after forming ties with a disbeliever or a disobedient person, one is imperceptibly influenced by his ideas, views and way of life; and this thing [affects] the end of the hereafter...

This does not mean he will lack certainty of Jannah's everlasting life; rather, when a person attains the utmost degree of joys, he often says such things as if he cannot believe these joys are really his. These sentences too are of that kind. · At the end the Qur'ān turns attention to the real lesson of this incident: "li-miṣli hāzā fa-l-ya'mali-l-āmilūn" — for such a success let the workers work. · Verse table (vv.62–72): v.62 "a-zālika khairun nuzulan am shajaratu-z-zaqqūm" — is that a better hospitality, or the tree of Zaqqūm? v.63 "innā ja'alnāhā fitnatan li-z-zālimīn" — We have made it a trial for the wrongdoers. v.64 "innahā shajaratun takhruju fī aṣli-l-jaḥīm" — it is a tree that grows in the root of Hellfire. v.65 "ṭal'uhā ka-annahū ru'ūs-sh-shayāṭīn" — its emerging fruit is like the heads of devils. v.66 "fa-innahum la-ākilūna minhā fa-māli'ūna minha-l-buṭūn" — they will eat of it and fill their bellies from it. v.67 "ṣumma inna lahum 'alaihā la-shauban min ḥamīm" — then upon it they have a mixture of boiling water. v.68 "ṣumma inna marjī'ahum la-ila-l-jaḥīm" — then their return is to the Blaze. v.69 "innahum alfau ābā'ahum ḍallīn" — they found their fathers astray, v.70 "fa-hum 'alā āsārihim yuhra'ūn" — so they rush [after them] in their footsteps. v.71 "wa laqad ḍalla qablahum akṣaru-l-awwalīn" — and before them most of the ancients went astray. v.72 "wa laqad arsalnā fīhim munzirīn" — and We had sent warners among them —

Besides making this tree a punishment of the hereafter, We have made it a trial for these wrongdoers in the world too — that they now, on hearing of it, either affirm it or belie and mock it. The disbelievers came with belying and mockery; they said "zaqqūm is [our word for] butter and dates — that is a delicious thing." And they said, "if zaqqūm is a tree, how can a tree be in Hell, which is all fire?" · (Allāh answered:) it is indeed a tree that grows in the depth of Hell — it is not butter and dates. And since it grows within the fire itself, its staying there is not far-fetched — as a certain animal in the sea is born in fire and stays in fire. This answers both objections. · Then a state of the zaqqūm is stated: its fruits are such (a scene) as if they were the hidden heads of snakes (so it will be an utterly hateful, evil sight). Such a tree will be the wrongdoers' entertainment. So those people (when, in the severity of Hell, nothing else is found, will eat from it; and, being frantic with hunger) will fill their bellies from it; then, when restless with thirst they ask for water, they will be given boiling water mixed with ghassāq (pus). And (this misery will not end; rather after it) their return will again be to Hell — i.e. after that too they will stay there forever. And they were given this punishment because (they did not follow the heavenly guidance, but) found their elders in a state of misguidance, then they too rushed in their footsteps — i.e. walked their wayward path eagerly and willingly. And before these (present disbelievers) most of the ancients too went astray; and We had sent warners (prophets) among them too — so see what an (evil) end befell those who were warned and did not accept — what punishments came upon them in this very world. Yes, except the chosen servants of Allāh (the people of religious faith), who were kept safe even from this worldly punishment.

Āge zaqqūm kī ek kaifiyyat mazkūr hai, ki is ke phal aise (pur-manẓar) haiñ jaise sāñp ke chhipe hu’e sar — is li’e woh nihāyat mabḡhūẓ aur burā manẓar hogā. PDF PAGE 442 · [Q 37:62-63 Ma'ārif o Masā'il: the reality of zaqqūm; "fitnatan li-ḡ-ḡālimīn"] · After stating some conditions of both Hell and Jannah, Allāh invites every man to weigh which of the two states is better. He said "a-ḡālika khairun nuzulan am shajaratu-z-zaqqūm" — are the bounties of Jannah mentioned better, or the tree of Zaqqūm that will be fed to the people of Hell? · [Box: the reality of zaqqūm:] A tree called zaqqūm is found in the Tihāma region of Arabia, and 'Allāma al-Ālūsī wrote it also grows in other barren deserts. Some said it is the tree called "thohar" in Urdu. Close to it is another tree known in India as "nāg phan"; some hold this to be the zaqqūm, which is nearer to reason. · The mufasssīrīn's views differ on whether the tree fed to the people of Hell is this same worldly zaqqūm or some other tree. Some said the worldly zaqqūm is meant; some said the zaqqūm of Hell is an entirely different thing with no connection to the worldly zaqqūm. Apparently it seems that, as snakes, scorpions etc. exist in the world, so they exist in Hell too — but the snakes and scorpions of Hell will be far more terrifying than those of the world; likewise the zaqqūm of Hell, by its kind, will be like the worldly zaqqūm, but far more [hideous] to behold and far more painful in appearance than the zaqqūm here. Wa-llāhu subḥānahū wa Ta'ālā a'lam. · "innā ja'alnāhā fitnatan li-ḡ-ḡālimīn" — We have made it (the zaqqūm tree) a fitnah for those wrongdoers. Some mufasssīrīn take "fitnah" here to mean punishment — i.e. the tree has been made a means of punishment. But most say that rendering "fitnah" here as "test" and "trial" is more apt. The meaning: by mentioning this tree We wish to test who believes in it and who mocks it. The disbelievers of Arabia failed this test; instead of fearing this punishment and believing, they took to derision and mockery. Narrations say that when the Qur'ānic āyāt were revealed mentioning the feeding of zaqqūm to the disbelievers, Abū Jahl said to his companions: "your friend (Muḥammad ﷺ) says there is a tree in the fire!"...

Dozakh aur jannat donoñ ke thoṛe thoṛe ḥālāt bayān farmāne ke ba‘d Bārī Ta‘ālā ne har insān ko muwāzana karne kī da‘wat dī hai ki ghaur kar donoñ meñ se kaunsi ḥālat behtar hai? Chunāñchi farmāyā: "a-zālīka khairun nuzulan am shajaratu-z-zaqqūm" — jannat kī jin ni‘matoñ kā tazkirah kiyā gayā, woh behtar haiñ, yā zaqqūm kā darakht jo dozakhioñ ko khilāyā jā‘e gā?

Zaqqūm nām kā ek darakht jazīra-e-‘Arab ke ‘ilāqe Tihāma meñ pāyā jātā hai, aur ‘Allāma Ālūsī ne likhā hai ki yih dūsre banjar ṣaḥrā‘oñ meñ bhī hotā hai. Ba‘z ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā hai ki yih wahī darakht hai jise urdū meñ "thohar" kahte haiñ. Isī ke qarīb qarīb ek aur darakht Hindūstān meñ "nāg phan" ke nām se ma‘rūf hai. Ba‘z ḥaḍrāt ne is ko zaqqūm qarār diyā hai; aur yih ziyāda qarīn-e-qiyās hai.

Ab ḥaḍrāt mufasssīrīn kī rā‘eñ is meñ mukhtalif haiñ, ki jahannamioñ ko jo darakht khilāyā jā‘e gā woh yihī dunyā kā zaqqūm hai, yā ko‘ī aur darakht hai? Ba‘z ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā ki yihī dunyā kā zaqqūm murād hai, aur ba‘z ne kahā ki dozakh kā zaqqūm bilkul alag chīz hai, dunyā ke zaqqūm se is kā ko‘ī ta‘alluq nahīñ. Bi-zāhir aisā ma‘lūm hotā hai ki jis ṭarah sāñp, bichchhū waghaira dunyā meñ bhī hote haiñ, isī ṭarah dozakh meñ bhī hote haiñ, lekin dozakh ke sāñp bichchhū dunyā ke sāñp bichchhū se kahīñ ziyāda khaufnāk hoñ ge; isī ṭarah dozakh kā zaqqūm bhī apnī jins ke liḥāz se to dunyā hī ke zaqqūm kī ṭarah hogā, lekin yahāñ ke zaqqūm se kahīñ ziyāda pur-manẓar aur dekhne meñ kahīñ ziyāda taklīf-deh hogā. Wa-llāhu subḥānahū wa Ta‘ālā a‘lam.

"innā ja‘alnāḥā fitnatan li-z-zālimīn" — ya‘nī ham ne is (zaqqūm ke darakht) ko un zālīmoñ ke li‘e fitna banāyā hai. Is meñ "fitna" se ba‘z mufasssīrīn ke nazdīk ‘azāb murād hai — ya‘nī is darakht ko ‘azāb kā zarī‘a banā diyā hai. Lekin akṣar ḥaḍrāt kā kahnā yih hai ki yahāñ "fitna" kā tarjuma "āzmā‘ish" aur "imtiḥān" karnā ziyāda mauzūñ hai. Maṭlab yih hai ki is darakht kā tazkirah kar ke ham yih imtiḥān lenā chāhte haiñ ki kaun is par īmān lātā hai, aur kaun is kā mazāq uṛātā hai? Chunāñchi kuffār-e-‘Arab is imtiḥān meñ nā-kām rahe; unhoñ ne is ke bajā‘e ki is ‘azāb se ḍar kar īmān lāte, tamaskhur wa istihzā‘ kā ṭarīqa ikhtiyār kiyā. Riwayāt meñ hai ki jab Qur‘ān-e-Karīm kī woh āyāt nāzil ho‘īñ jin meñ kāfiroñ ko zaqqūm khilāne kā tazkirah hai, to Abū Jahl ne apne sāthioñ se kahā: "tumhārā dost (Ḥaḍrat Muḥammad ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam) kahtā hai ki āg meñ ek darakht hai!" ... PDF PAGE 443 · [Q 37:64-65 Ma‘ārif ends → 37:75-81 (Nūḥ)] · ... "whereas fire consumes a tree; and by God, we know that 'zaqqūm' means dates and butter — so come and eat these dates and butter!" (al-Durr al-Mansūr, p.72, vol.5). In fact "zaqqūm" in the Berber tongue meant dates and butter, so he took this way of mockery. · Allāh answered both his points in a single clause: "innāḥā shajaratun takhruju fī aṣli-l-jahīm" — zaqqūm is a tree that grows in the depth of Jahannam; it does not mean dates and butter. Nor is the objection reasonable that a tree cannot be in fire — when the tree itself grows in fire, Allāh has placed in it such properties that, instead of being burned by the fire, it draws growth from it; as a sample, there are several animals that can live in fire itself — the fire, instead of burning them, grants them growth. · "ṭal'uhā ka-annahū ru'usu-sh-shayāṭīn" — the fruit of zaqqūm is likened to "the heads of devils." Some mufasssīrīn render "shayāṭīn" here as "snakes" — i.e. the fruit of zaqqūm is shaped like a snake's hood; that is why in Urdu it is called "nāg phan." But most mufasssīrīn say "shayāṭīn" here is in its known sense: the fruit of zaqqūm is, in its ugliness, like the heads of devils. · One should not object that no one has seen a devil, so why the comparison? Because it is an imaginative comparison (takhīlī tashbīh); idiomatically, ugly and misshapen things are likened to devils, jinn or ghosts, the aim being only to state extreme ugliness; the comparison here is of that kind (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī etc.). · The meaning of the remaining āyāt is clear from the Khulāṣa. · Verse table (vv.75–81): v.75 "wa laqad nādānā Nūḥun fa-la-ni'ma-l-mujībūn" — Nūḥ called upon Us, and how excellent are We in answering! v.76 "wa najjaināhu wa ahlāhu mina-l-karbi-l-'aẓīm" — We saved him and his family from the great distress. v.77 "wa ja'alnā zurriyyatahū humu-l-bāqīn" — and We made his offspring the ones who remained. v.78 "wa taraknā 'alaihi fī-l-ākhirīn" — and We left for him [good mention] among later generations. v.79 "salāmun 'alā Nūḥin fī-l-'ālamīn" — peace be upon Nūḥ among all the worlds. v.80 "innā kazālika najzi-l-muḥsinīn" — thus do We reward the doers of good. v.81 "innahū min 'ibādina-l-mu'minīn" — he was of Our believing servants.

... (Abū Jahl ne kahā:) ḥālānki āg to darakht ko khātī hai; aur Khudā kī qism! ham to yih jānte haiñ ki zaqqūm khajūr aur makkhan ko kahte haiñ; to ā'o aur yih khajūr makkhan khā'o! (Dar Mantūr, ṣ.72, j.5). Dar-aṣl zaqqūm barbarī zabān meñ khajūr aur makkhan ko kahte the, is li'e us ne istihzā' kā yih ṭarīqa ikhtiyār kiyā.

Bārī Ta'ālā ne ek hī jumle meñ us kī donoñ bātoñ kā jawāb de diyā ki "innahā shajaratun takhruju fī aṣli-l-jahīm" — ya'nī zaqqūm to jahannam kī tah meñ ugne wālā ek darakht hai, aur na is se murād khajūr aur makkhan hai. Aur na yih i'tirāz ma'qūl hai ki āg meñ darakht kaise ho saktā hai? Jab woh darakht paidā hī āg meñ hoā, to Allāh Ta'ālā ne is meñ aisī khuṣūṣiyāt rakh dī haiñ ki woh āg se jalne ke bajā'e us se nashw o namā pātā hai; is se namūne ke ṭaur par aise ka'ī ḥaywānāt maujūd haiñ jo āg hī meñ zinda rah sakte haiñ; āg unheñ jalāne ke bajā'e nashw o namā 'aṭā kartī hai.

"ṭal'uhā ka-annahū ru'usu-sh-shayāṭīn" — is āyat meñ zaqqūm ke phal ko "shayāṭīn ke saroñ" se tashbīh dī ga'ī hai. Ba'ḏ mufasssīrīn ne to yahāñ "shayāṭīn" kā tarjuma "sānpōñ" se kiyā hai — ya'nī zaqqūm kā phal aisī shakl kā hotā hai jaise sānp kā phan; urdū meñ bhī use "nāg phan" isī li'e kahte haiñ. Lekin akṣar mufasssīrīn ne farmāyā ki yahāñ "shayāṭīn" se is ke ma'rūf ma'nī hī murād haiñ. Aur maṭlab yih hai ki zaqqūm

kā phal apnī bad-ṣuratī meñ shaiṭānoñ ke sar kī ṭarah hotā hai.

Ab yahān yih shubha na honā chāhiye ki shaiṭān ko to kisī ne dekhā nahīn, phir us ke sāth tashbīh kyon dī ga'ī? Is li'e ki yih ek takhīlī tashbīh hai; muḥāwara meñ bad-ṣurat aur bad-hai'at ashyā' ko shaiṭān yā jin bhūt se tashbīh de dī jāti hai; is kā mansha maḥẓ intihā'ī darja kī bad-ṣuratī bayān karnā hotā hai; yahān bhī tashbīh isī nau'īyyat kī hai (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī waghaira).

And We kept his offspring alone as the survivors (no one else's line continued). And We left for him, among the people who came after him, this [mention], for a long age: that peace be upon Nūḥ among all the worlds (i.e. We made it a religious matter that all the people of the world — jinn, humans and angels — send salām upon him). Thus do We reward the sincere. Indeed he was of Our believing servants. Then We drowned the other (kind of) people — the individuals of the disbelievers. · Ma‘ārif o Masā'il: The previous āyah mentioned that We sent warning prophets to the earlier nations too, but most people did not accept their word, so their end was very evil. From here some detail of that brief statement is given, and in this connection the events of several prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām) are stated. First, these āyāt mention Nūḥ (‘alaihi-s-salām). His event has passed in detail in Sūrah Hūd; here a few points especially connected with the tafsīr of these āyāt are given: · In "wa laqad nādānā Nūḥun" it is said that Nūḥ (‘alaihi-s-salām) called out to Us. Per most mufasssīrīn this means the prayer of Nūḥ (‘alaihi-s-salām) mentioned in Sūrah Nūḥ — "rabbi lā tazār ‘ala-l-arḍi minā-l-kāfirīna dayyārā" (my Lord, leave not upon the earth a single dweller of the disbelievers) — or that mentioned in Sūrah al-Qamar — "annī maghlūbun fa-ntaṣir" (I am overcome, so help [me]). Nūḥ (‘alaihi-s-salām) made this prayer at the time after his people's continuous rebellion and disobedience...

One son's name was Sām, and from his offspring came the lineage of the Arabs, the Persians etc. The second son's name was Ḥām, and from him the populations of the African lands spread through the world; some also include the inhabitants of India in this lineage. The third son was Yāfith; from him came the lineages of the Turks, the Mongols, and Ya'jūj and Ma'jūj. Of those who boarded Nūḥ's ('alaihi-s-salām) ark and were saved from the Flood, no lineage continued except from these three sons of Nūḥ. · However, some 'ulamā — very few — held that the Flood of Nūḥ came not upon the whole world but only upon the land of Arabia. For them this āyah means that only the offspring of Nūḥ ('alaihi-s-salām) remained in the land of Arabia, and from them descended the lineage of the Arabs; this āyah does not negate the continuation of others' lineage in other regions of the world (Bayān al-Qur'ān). · A third group of mufasssīrīn, if they say the Flood of Nūḥ came upon the whole world but the world's lineage descended not only from Nūḥ's ('alaihi-s-salām) sons but from all those who boarded the ark with Nūḥ — this group takes the restriction in the āyah as a relative restriction (ḥaṣr-e-izāfī), saying the real aim here is to state that the lineage of the drowned did not continue (Qurṭubī). · By the Qur'ān's context the third view is very weak, and the first is the best; it is also supported by some aḥādīṣ which Imām Tirmizī and others report directly from the Prophet ﷺ in the tafsīr of this āyah. Samura bin Jundab: the Prophet ﷺ said, "Sām is the father of the Arabs, Ḥām the father of the Abyssinians, and Yāfith of the Romans." Tirmizī graded this ḥadīth ḥasan and Ḥākim graded it ṣaḥīḥ (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī, p.98, vol.23). · "wa taraknā 'alaihi fi-l-ākhirīn; salāmun 'alā Nūḥin fi-l-'ālamīn" (and We left among the people who came after him this: peace be upon Nūḥ among the worlds): this means that of the people born after Nūḥ ('alaihi-s-salām), in their sight Nūḥ...

Nūḥ — was Ibrāhīm too (his incident is worth remembering). When he turned to his Lord with a clean heart (a "sound heart" means his heart was free of wrong belief and the urge for show). When he said to his father and his people (who were idolaters): "what worthless thing do you worship? Do you wish to take false gods besides Allāh? Then what do you think of the Lord of the worlds — since you have abandoned His worship, is there any doubt about His being God? (First, there should be none; and if there is a doubt, remove it.)" So debate and discussion went on like this. · Once, a festival of theirs came, and the people asked him too to come to their fair. Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) cast a glance at the stars and said, "I am about to be sick (so I cannot go to the fair)." The people, hearing this excuse, left him and went, [thinking] that his needless sickness would trouble him and, through him, them. So he went into their idols and, in mockery, said to them, "do you not eat these offerings placed before you? What is with you, you do not even speak?" Then he set upon them and began striking, breaking them to pieces with an axe etc. When the people learned of this they came running to him (agitated, in anger), and a conversation began. Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) said, "do you worship these things which you carve with your own hands — whereas Allāh created you and these things you make; so worship should be of Him alone?" When the people were defeated in argument, they fumed and said to one another: "build a furnace for Ibrāhīm, kindle fire in it, and throw him into that blazing fire." So the people intended evil against Ibrāhīm (that he be destroyed), but We made them the lowest (whose story has passed in Sūrah al-Anbiyā’).

Aur Nūḥ (‘alaihi-s-salām) ke ṭarīqe wāloñ meñ se — ya‘nī un logoñ meñ se jo uṣūlī ‘aqā’id meñ Nūḥ (‘alaihi-s-salām) ke sāth muttafiq the — Ibrāhīm bhī the (in kā woh wāqī‘a yād rakhne ke qābil hai). Jab ki woh apne Rab kī ṭaraf ṣāf dil se mutawajjih hu'e (ṣāf dil kā maṭlab yih hai ki un kā dil bad-‘aqīdagī aur dikhlāwe ke jazbe se pāk thā). Jab ki unhoñ ne apne bāp se aur apnī qaum se (jo but-parast thī) farmāyā ki tum kis (wāhiyāt) chīz kī ‘ibādat karte ho? Kya jhūṭ-mūṭ ke ma‘būdōñ ko Allāh ke siwā ma‘būd banānā chāhte ho? To phir tumhārā Rabb al-‘ālamīn ke sāth kya khiyāl hai — ya‘nī tum ne jo us kī ‘ibādat tark kar rakhī hai, to kya us ke ma‘būd hone meñ koī shubha hai? (Ya‘nī awwal to aisā na honā chāhiye; aur agar koī shubha hai to use raf kar lo.) Ġharaz yūñ hī baḥṣ o mubāḥaṣa hotā rahtā thā.

Ek bār kā wāqī‘a hai ki in kā koī tehwār āyā, qaum ne un se bhī darkhwāst kī ki hamāre mele meñ chalo. So Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) ne sitāroñ ko ek nigāh bhar kar dekhā, aur kah diyā ki main bīmār hone ko hūñ (is li'e mele meñ nahīñ jā saktā). Ġharaz woh log un kā yih ‘uzr sun kar un ko chhoṛ kar chale gaye, ki nā-ḥaqq bīmārī meñ un ko, aur un kī wajh se hameñ, ko‘ī taklīf hogī. To yih (Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām) un ke butoñ meñ jā ghuse, aur istihzā' ke taur par un se kahne lage ki kya tum yih chaḥḥāwe, jo tumhāre sāmne rakhe hu'e haiñ, khāte nahīñ ho? Aur tum ko kya hoā, tum bolte bhī nahīñ? Phir un par pil paṛe aur mārne lage — aur kulhārī waghaira se un ko toṛ phoṛ diyā. So un logoñ ko jab is kī iṭṭilā' hoī to woh log un ke pās daurte hu'e (ghabrāte hu'e, ḡhuse meñ) āye, aur guftagū shurū' hoī. Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) ne farmāyā ki kya tum in chīzoñ ko pūjte ho jin ko khud apne hāth se tarāshte ho — ḥālāñki tum ko, aur jo tumhārī banā'ī hoī yih chīzeñ, in sab ko Allāh hī ne paidā kiyā hai; so 'ibādat usī kī karnā chāhiye? Woh log jab munāẓara meñ maghlūb hote to jhallā kar bāham kahne lage ki Ibrāhīm ke li'e ek ātish-khāna ta'mīr karo, aur us meñ āg dahkā kar us ko us dahaktī āg meñ ḍāl do. Ḡharaẓ un logoñ ne Ibrāhīm ke sāth burā'ī karnī chāhī thī (ki yih halāk ho jā'eñ ge), so ham ne unhī ko nīchā dikhāyā (jis kā qīṣṣa Sūrah Anbiyā' meñ guẓar chukā hai).

PDF PAGE 448 · [Q 37:83-89 Ma'ārif o Masā'il: "shī'ah"; "qalb salīm"; "naẓara fī-n-nujūm"] · After the event of Nūḥ ('alaihi-s-salām), the Qur'ān mentions two events of the blessed life of Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām); in both, Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) offered great sacrifices purely for Allāh's sake. The first, in these āyāt, is the event of Ibrāhīm being cast into the fire, whose details have passed in Sūrah al-Anbiyā'. But in the manner it is stated here, a few points need explanation. · "wa inna min shī'atihī la-Ibrāhīm" — "shī'ah" in Arabic means a group or party whose members are alike in fundamental views and ways. Here the pronoun of "shī'ah" apparently refers to Nūḥ ('alaihi-s-salām); so this means Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) was on the way of his predecessor prophet Nūḥ ('alaihi-s-salām), and the two were in complete agreement in the fundamental principles of religion. It is also possible their sharī'ahs were alike or similar. · Note that per some historical narrations there is a gap of about two thousand six hundred [and thirty-odd] years between Nūḥ and Ibrāhīm ('alaihima-s-salām); and between the two no prophet came except Hūd and Ṣāliḥ ('alaihima-s-salām) (Rūḥ al-Bayān, p.48, vol.24). · "iz jā'a rabbahū bi-qalbin salīm" — its bare literal sense: "when he came to his Lord with a clean heart." "Coming to the Lord" means turning to Allāh, being attentive to Him, and worshipping Him. By adding the condition "clean heart" it is hinted that no worship of Allāh is acceptable until the worshipper's heart is free of wrong beliefs and evil feelings. If worship is done with a wrong belief, however much effort the worshipper put into it, it is not acceptable. Likewise, if the worshipper's real aim, instead of gaining Allāh's pleasure, is show, or some material benefit, that worship is not praiseworthy. Ibrāhīm's ('alaihi-s-salām) turning to Allāh was free of all such admixtures. · "fa-naẓara naẓratan fī-n-nujūm; fa-qāla innī saqīm" — the background of these āyāt: Ibrāhīm's ('alaihi-s-salām) people used to celebrate a festival on a particular day; when that day came, they invited Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) to people's] aim was that if Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) stayed with them at this celebration, perhaps he would be influenced by their religion and abandon the call to his own (al-Durr al-Manşūr, Ibn Jarīr etc.). But Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) wished to take another benefit from this occasion. His intention was that when the whole people went off to celebrate, he would go among their idols and break them, so that on their return they would see with their own eyes the practical picture of the helplessness of their false gods; perhaps, seeing their idols helpless, faith would arise in someone's heart and he would repent of shirk. · With this aim Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) refused to go with them; but he took the manner of refusal that he first cast a long glance at the stars, then said, "I am sick." The people, holding him excused, left him and went off to celebrate. · [Box: the purpose of glancing at the stars:] Several exegetical and juristic discussions relate to this event; here is a summary. The first discussion: what was the purpose of the glance Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) cast at the stars before answering? Some said it was merely an accidental act; a person thinking of some important matter sometimes involuntarily looks toward the sky. When Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) was invited to join the celebration, he fell to thinking how to deflect the invitation, and in that thought involuntarily looked at the stars, then answered. · This explanation of glancing at the stars seems clean on the face of it, but in view of the Qur’ān's style it is hard to call it correct. First, because the Qur’ān's style is to state only the important, necessary parts of events and leave unnecessary details. In these very āyāt several parts of the event are elided; even its full background is not stated. So it cannot be believed that the Qur’ān left the background aside for brevity's sake and yet stated an entirely involuntary act, unrelated to the event, in a whole āyah. · Second, if there was no particular wisdom in view in looking at the stars, but it was an involuntary act, then by the rules of Arabic it should say "fa-naẓara naẓratan ila-n-nujūm", not "fi-n-nujūm". · From this it is known that some particular purpose in looking at the stars was before Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām); that is why the Qur’ān mentioned it with importance. Now that...

Is ḡharaz se Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ne un ke sāth jāne se inkār farmā diyā;

lekin inkār kā ṭarīqa yih ikhtiyār farmāyā ki pahle nigāh bhar kar sitāroṅ ko dekhā, aur phir kahā ki "main bīmār hūn". Qaum wāloṅ ne āp ko ma'zūr samajh kar chhoṛ diyā, aur jashn manāne chale gaye.

———— Sitāroṅ par nigāh ḍālne kā maqṣad ————

Is wāqī'e se muta'addid tafsīrī aur fiqhī mabāḥaṣ muta'alliq haiṅ; yahān in kā khulāṣa pesh-e-khidmat hai. Sab se pahlī baḥs to yih hai ki Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām ne jawāb dene se pahle jo sitāroṅ par naẓar ḍālī, us kā maqṣad kya thā? Ba'z ḥaḍrat ne to yih farmāyā hai ki yih maḥẓ ek ittifāqī 'amal thā; kisī aham bāt ko sochte hu'e insān ba'z auqāt be-ikhtiyār āsmān kī ṭaraf dekhne lagtā hai. Jab waqt Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām ko jashn meṅ shirkat kī da'wat dī ga'ī to āp is soch meṅ paṛ gaye ki is da'wat ko kis ṭarah ṭalā'ūn? Isī soch ke 'ālam meṅ āp ne be-ikhtiyār sitāroṅ kī ṭaraf dekhā, aur us ke ba'd jawāb diyā.

Sitāroṅ par naẓar ḍālne kī yih tashrīḥ bi-zāhir be-ghubār ma'lūm hotī hai, lekin Qur'ān-e-Karīm ke uslūb ke pesh-e-naẓar ise durust kahnā mushkil hai. Awwal to is li'e ki Qur'ān-e-Karīm kā uslūb yih hai ki woh wāqī'āt ke ṣirf aham aur ẓarūrī ajzā' ko bayān farmātā hai, aur ghair-ẓarūrī tafṣīlāt ko chhoṛ detā hai. Khud inhī āyāt meṅ wāqī'e ke ka'ī ajzā' maḥẓūf haiṅ; yahān tak ki is kā pūrā pas-manẓar bhī bayān nahīn kiyā gayā. Is li'e yih bāwar karnā mumkin nahīn ki Qur'ān-e-Karīm ne wāqī'e ke pas-manẓar ko to ṭūl ke khiyāl se chhoṛ diyā ho, aur ek qat'ī ghair-ikhtiyārī 'amal, jis kā wāqī'e se dūr darāz kā bhī ta'alluq na thā, use pūrī ek āyat meṅ bayān farmāyā ho.

Dūsre, agar sitāroṅ ko dekhne meṅ koī khāṣ ḥikmat pesh-e-naẓar nahīn thī, balki yih ek ghair-ikhtiyārī 'amal thā, to 'arabī zabān ke qawā'id kī rū se "fa-naẓara naẓratan ila-n-nujūm" kahnā chāhiye thā, "fī-n-nujūm" nahīn.

PDF PAGE 450 · [Q 37:88-89 Ma'ārif, cont.: why the glance at the stars; box on the shar'ī status of astrology] · ...what was the purpose? Most mufasssīrīn say that Ibrāhīm's ('alaihi-s-salām) people were greatly devoted to astronomy and used to determine their affairs by watching the stars. Ibrāhīm's ('alaihi-s-salām) answer after looking at the stars was meant so that his people would understand that what he says about his sickness is no idle claim but is said after considering the courses of the stars — even though Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) himself did not believe in astronomy; for freeing himself from joining the celebration he took this way, which in their eyes was more reliable. And since he did not verbally cite astronomy, nor say that his aim in looking at the stars was to take help from astronomy, but only cast a glance at the stars — so there is no aspect of lying in it. · One might object that Ibrāhīm's (‘alaihi-s-salām) act would have encouraged those disbelievers who not only believed in astronomy but held the stars to be real, effective agents in the world's events. But the answer is that encouragement would arise only if Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) had not later plainly alerted them to their errors; here all this scheme was being done precisely so that the call to tauḥīd could be made more effective. Indeed, after only a short interval Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) laid bare each of the people's errors one by one; so from this vague act no question of encouraging the disbelievers arises. The real aim here was to free himself from joining the celebration, so that a more effective atmosphere for the call to truth could be created; for this aim, this method of allusion (īhām) rests on wisdom itself, and no reasonable objection can be raised against it. · This explanation of looking at the stars is reported from most mufasssīrīn; and Ḥakīm al-Ummat Ḥaḍrat Thānwī (raḥmatullāh) also adopted it in Bayān al-Qur’ān. · [Box: the shar‘ī status of astrology (‘ilm-e-nujūm):] A second issue under this āyah: what is the shar‘ī status of astrology? Here the answer is given briefly. · It is a settled reality that Allāh has placed in the moon, sun and stars certain properties that affect human life; some of these properties every person can observe — e.g. the arising of heat and cold from the sun's nearness and distance, the tides in the sea from the moon's rising and setting, etc. Now some people...

... (sitāroṅ ko dekhne meṅ) maṣlaḥat kya thī? Is ke jawāb meṅ akṣar mufasssīrīn ne yih farmāyā hai ki dar-aṣl Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām kī qaum ‘ilm-e-nujūm kī baṛī shaidā’ī thī, aur sitāroṅ ko dekh dekh kar apne kāmoṅ kā ta’yīn kiyā kartī thī. Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ne sitāroṅ kī ṭaraf dekh kar jo jawāb diyā, us kā maqṣad yih thā ki qaum wāle yih samjheṅ ki Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām — apnī bīmārī ke bāre meṅ jo kuchh kah rahe haiṅ woh koī hawā’ī bāt nahīn hai, balki sitāroṅ ke chalan par ghaur kar ke kah rahe haiṅ; agarcheh Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām bi-zāt-e-khud ‘ilm-e-nujūm ke qā’il na hoṅ, lekin jashn kī shirkat se apnī gulū-khalāṣī ke li’e āp ne yih ṭarīqa ikhtiyār farmāyā, jo un kī naẓar meṅ ziyāda qābil-e-i’timād ho. Aur chūṅki āp ne zabān se ‘ilm-e-nujūm kā koī ḥawāla nahīn diyā, na yih batāyā ki sitāroṅ ko dekhne se merā maqṣad ‘ilm-e-nujūm se madad lenā hai, balki ṣirf naẓar bhar kar sitāroṅ ko dekhā — is li’e is meṅ jhūṭ kā bhī koī pahlū nahīn hoā.

Yahān yih shubha ho saktā hai ki Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ke is ‘amal se un kāfīroṅ kī himmat-afzā’ī hoī hogī, jo na ṣirf ‘ilm-e-nujūm ke qā’il the, balki sitāroṅ ko dunyā ke wāqī‘āt meṅ mu’aṣṣir ḥaqīqī mānte the. Lekin is kā jawāb yih hai ki himmat-afzā’ī to tab hotī jab ki Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ba’d meṅ unheṅ ṣarāḥat ke sāth un kī gumrāhiyoṅ par mutanabbih na farmāte; yahān to yih sārī tadbīr kī hī is li’e jā rahī thī ki unheṅ tauḥīd kī da‘wat ziyāda mu’aṣṣir banā kar dī

Chunānchi thoṛe hī waqfe ke ba'd Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām ne qaum kī ek ek gumrāhī ko khol khol kar bayān farmā diyā; is li'e maḥẓ is mubham 'amal se kāfīrōn kī himmat-afzā'ī kā koī sawāl paidā nahīn hotā. Yahān aṣl maqṣad jashn kī shirkat se apnī jān chuṛānā thā, tāki da'wat-e-ḥaqq ke li'e ziyāda mu'aṣṣir faẓā paidā kī jā'e; is maqṣad ke li'e īhām kā yih ṭarīqa 'ain ḥikmat par mabnī hai, aur is par koī ma'qūl i'tirāz nahīn kiyā jā saktā.

Sitāroṅ kī ṭaraf dekhne kī yih tashrīḥ akṣar mufasssīrīn se manqūl hai; aur Ḥakīm al-Ummat Ḥaḍrat Thānwī raḥmatullāh ne bhī Bayān al-Qur'ān meṅ isī ko ikhtiyār farmāyā hai.

PDF PAGE 451 · [Q 37:88-89 Ma'ārif: the three views on astrology; Ibn Mas'ūd ḥadīth] · ...one view is that the stars' properties are only what common observation shows; another view is that beyond these, the stars' revolution has certain properties that affect most matters of a person's life. For one person a star's entering a particular zodiacal house becomes a cause of joys and successes, and for another a cause of griefs and failures. Then some hold the stars themselves to be the real, effective agents in the matter of successes and failures; and some say the real effective agent is Allāh alone, but He has given the stars such properties that, like the world's other causes, they too become a cause of a person's successes and failures. · As for those who hold the stars to be the real effective agents — thinking that the world's upheavals and events are beholden to the stars, and the stars decide all the world's events — their notion is undoubtedly wrong and false, and this belief takes a person to the very brink of shirk. The Arabs held this belief about rain: that a particular star (called "nau'") brings the rain, and it has the status of the real effective agent for rain. The Prophet ﷺ strongly refuted this belief, as stated explicitly in the aḥādīs. · As for those who hold Allāh alone to be the real effective agent in worldly events, but also hold that Allāh has given the stars such properties that affect human life at the level of a cause — as the one who sends rain is Allāh alone, its outward cause being the clouds, so the real fountainhead of all successes and failures is Allāh's will, but these stars become a cause of those successes and failures — this notion is not shirk, and the Qur'ān and ḥadīth neither confirm nor refute it. So it is not far-fetched that Allāh has placed in the stars' revolution and their rising and setting certain effects; but to study astrology to seek out these effects, to rely on this science, and to make decisions about the future on its basis, is in any case forbidden and impermissible, and its prohibition has come in the aḥādīṣ. · ‘Abdullāh bin Mas‘ūd (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): the Prophet ﷺ said: · [Arabic] "izā zūkira-l-qadaru fa-amsikū, wa izā zūkirati-n-nujūmu fa-amsikū, wa izā zūkira aṣḥābī fa-amsikū" (takhrij) — (Urdu) when destiny (qadar) is mentioned, hold back — do not go deep into it in reflection and debate; and when the stars are mentioned, [hold back]; and when my Companions are mentioned, hold back...

... (ba‘ḍ logoñ kā) kahnā to yih hai ki in sitāroñ kī khuṣūṣiyāt sirf itnī hī haiñ jitnī ‘ām mushāhada se ma‘lūm hotī haiñ; aur ba‘ḍ logoñ kā kahnā yih hai ki in ke ‘alāwa bhī sitāroñ kī gardish ke kuchh aise khawāṣ hote haiñ jo insān kī zindagī ke akṣar mu‘āmalāt par aṣar ḍālte haiñ. Ek insān ke li'e kisī sitāre kā kisī khāṣ burj meñ chale jānā masarratoñ aur kāmyābiyoñ kā sabab bantā hai, aur kisī ke li'e ḡhamoñ aur nā-kāmiyoñ kā. Phir ba‘ḍ log to un sitāroñ hī ko kāmyābiyoñ aur nā-kāmiyoñ ke mu‘āmale meñ mu‘aṣṣir ḥaqīqī mānte haiñ; aur ba‘ḍ log yih kahte haiñ ki mu‘aṣṣir ḥaqīqī to Allāh Ta‘ālā hī hai, magar us ne sitāroñ ko aise khawāṣ ‘aṭā kar diye haiñ, is li'e dunyā ke dūsre asbāb kī ṭaraḥ woh bhī insān kī kāmyābiyoñ aur nā-kāmiyoñ kā ek sabab hote haiñ.

Jahān tak un logoñ kā ta‘alluq hai jo sitāroñ ko mu‘aṣṣir ḥaqīqī mānte haiñ — ya‘nī yih samajhte haiñ ki dunyā ke inqilābāt aur wāqī‘āt sitāroñ hī ke rahīn-e-minnat haiñ, sitāre hī dunyā ke tamām wāqī‘āt ke faiṣle karte haiñ — to bilā-shubha in kā khiyāl ghalat aur bāṭil hai, aur yih ‘aqīda insān ko shirk kī ḥadd tak pahuñchā detā hai. Ahl-e-‘Arab bārish ke bāre meñ yihī ‘aqīda rakhte the ki ek khāṣ sitāra (jise "nau'" kahā jātā thā) bārish le kar ātā hai, aur woh bārish ke li'e mu‘aṣṣir ḥaqīqī kī ḥaiṣiyyat rakhtā hai. Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam ne is ‘aqīde kī sakht tardīd farmā‘ī hai, jis kī taṣṭīḥ aḥādīṣ meñ maujūd hī hai.

Rahe woh log jo duniyāwī wāqī‘āt meñ mu‘aṣṣir ḥaqīqī to Allāh Ta‘ālā hī ko mānte haiñ, lekin sāth hī is bāt ke bhī qā‘il haiñ ki Allāh ne sitāroñ ko aise khawāṣ ‘aṭā farmā‘e haiñ jo sabab ke darje meñ insānī zindagī par aṣar-andāz hote haiñ — jis ṭaraḥ bārish barsāne wālā to Allāh Ta‘ālā hī hai, us kā zāhirī sabab bādāl haiñ, isī ṭaraḥ tamām kāmyābiyoñ aur nā-kāmiyoñ kā aṣl sar-chashma to Allāh Ta‘ālā kī mashiyyat hī hai, lekin yih sitāre un kāmyābiyoñ aur nā-kāmiyoñ kā sabab ban jāte haiñ — so yih khiyāl shirk nahīn hai, aur Qur'ān wa ḥadīṣ se is khiyāl kī na taṣḍīq hotī hai na tardīd. Lihāzā yih kuchh ba‘‘id nahīn hai ki Allāh Ta‘ālā ne sitāroñ kī gardish aur un ke ṭulū‘ wa ḡhurūb meñ kuchh aise aṣarāt rakhe hoñ, lekin in aṣarāt kī justajū karne ke li'e ‘ilm-e-nujūm kī taḥṣīl, is ‘ilm par i‘timād, aur us kī binā par mustaqbil ke

- The first wisdom of astrology being forbidden and blameworthy: when a person’s absorption in this science grows, experience shows he gradually comes to regard the stars themselves as everything, and this thing drags him toward the polytheistic belief that the stars are the real effective agents.
- The second wisdom: even if Allāh has placed some properties and effects in the stars, we have no way to certain knowledge of them except revelation. Of Idrīs (‘alaihi-s-salām) it comes in aḥādīs that Allāh gave him some knowledge of this kind, but now that knowledge — founded on divine revelation — has been erased from the world. Now what the experts of astrology have is mere conjectures, estimates and guesses, from which no certain knowledge can be had. That is why the astrologers’ countless predictions keep turning out wrong daily. Someone made an excellent remark about this science: · [Arabic] "mufīduhū ghair ma‘lūm, wa ma‘lūmuhū ghair mufīd" — (Urdu) the part of this science that could be useful, no one knows; and the part people know is not beneficial. · Allāma al-Ālūsī in Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī presents several examples of historical events in which, by the accepted rules of astrology, an event should have turned out one way but in reality turned out exactly the opposite. So the great men who spent their lives acquiring this science were at the end forced to say that this science comes to nothing beyond conjecture and guesswork. A famous astrologer...

(Urdu) Sitāron ke 'ilm se itnā 'ilm ḥāṣil karo jis ke zarī'e tum khushkī aur samandar mein rāsta jān sako; is ke ba'd ruk jā'o.

Is mamāna'at se sitāron ke khawāṣ wa āṣār kā inkār lāzim nahīn ātā; lekin in khawāṣ wa āṣār ke pīchhe paṛne — aur un kī justajū mein qīmatī auqāt barbād karne — ko man'kiyā gayā hai. Imām Ghazālī ne Iḥyā' al-'Ulūm mein is par mufaṣṣal baḥs karte hu'e is mamāna'at kī muta'addid ḥikmateñ batlā'ī haiñ.

'Ilm-e-nujūm ke mamnū' wa mazmūm hone kī pahlī ḥikmat to yih hai ki jab is 'ilm mein insān kā inhimāk baḥtā hai to tajruba yih batātā hai ki woh raftā raftā sitāron hī ko sab kuchh samajh baiḥtā hai, aur yih chīz use kashān kashān sitāron ke mu'aṣṣir ḥaqīqī hone ke mushrikāna 'aqīde kī ṭaraf le jātī hai.

Dūsri ḥikmat yih hai ki agar sitāron mein Allāh Ta'ālā ne kuchh khawāṣ wa āṣār rakhe bhī hoñ, to un ke yaqīnī 'ilm kā hamāre pās sivā-e-waḥī ke koī rāsta nahīn hai. Ḥaḍrat Idrīs 'alaihi-s-salām ke bāre mein aḥādīṣ mein āyā hai ki unheñ Allāh Ta'ālā ne is qism kā koī 'ilm 'aṭā farmāyā thā, lekin ab woh 'ilm — jis kī bunyād waḥī-e-ilāhī par thī — dunyā se miṭ chukā hai. Ab 'ilm-e-nujūm ke māhirīn ke pās jo kuchh hai woh maḥẓ qiyāsāt, andāze aur takhmīne haiñ, jin se koī yaqīnī 'ilm ḥāṣil nahīn kiyā jā saktā. Yihī wajh hai ki najūmiyon kī be-shumār peshīn-go'iyāñ āye din ghalaṭ ṣābit hotī rahtī haiñ. Kisī ne is 'ilm ke bāre mein behtarīn tabṣira kiyā hai ki:

al-Dailamī wrote in his book on astrology, "al-Mujmal fi-l-Aḥkām": "astrology is an unproven science, and in it there is much room for a person's misgivings and conjectures" (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī, p.116, vol.23). · 'Allāma al-Ālūsī cites several other statements of this kind from experts of astrology. In any case, it is settled that astrology is no certain science, and in it there are countless possibilities of error; but what happens is that those who take up its study give it the rank of an entirely decisive, certain science, on that basis make decisions about the future, and form good and bad opinions about others — and beyond that, the false conceit of this science sometimes brings a person to claims of knowledge of the unseen. Plainly each of these is a producer of countless harms. · The third reason for the prohibition of astrology is that it amounts to spending one's precious life on a useless task, when no certain result can be had from it. Plainly this science can be of little help in the affairs of the world. Now needlessly chasing after a useless thing is entirely against the spirit and temperament of the Islamic sharī'ah, so it has been forbidden. · [Box: the meaning of Ibrāhīm's ('alaihi-s-salām) "sickness":] A third issue under this āyah: when Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) said "innī saqīm" (I am sick) in answer to his people's invitation, was he really sick at that time? The Qur'ān has no explicit statement on this, but a ḥadīth of Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī shows he was not so sick that he could not go with the people. So the question arises: how did Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) say this? · Per the jamhūr mufasssīrīn the answer is that Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) in reality made a "tawriya" with these words. "Tawriya" means "saying something that is literally contrary to the fact, but the speaker intends by it some far-off meaning that accords with the fact." Here the apparent sense of Ibrāhīm's ('alaihi-s-salām) sentence is "I am sick now", but his real intent was not that. Now what was the real intent? The mufasssīrīn give different views. Some said he meant the natural inner contraction (ṭab' ī inqibāḍ) that arose in him on seeing his people's polytheistic acts...

... Kūshyār Dailamī ne 'ilm-e-nujūm par apnī kitāb "al-Mujmal fi-l-Aḥkām" meñ likhā hai: " 'Ilm-e-nujūm ek ḡhair-mudallāl 'ilm hai, aur is meñ insān ke waswasōñ aur ḡmānōñ ke li'e baṛī ḡunjā'ish hai" (Dar Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī, ṣ.116, j.23).

Ba-har-ḡāl, yih bāt ṭay-shuda hai ki 'ilm-e-nujūm koī yaqīnī 'ilm nahīñ hai, aur is meñ ḡhālātīyōñ ke be-ḡisāb iḡtimālāt hote haiñ; lekin hotā yih hai ki jo log is 'ilm kī ṭaḡṣīl meñ lag jāte haiñ woh use bilkul qat'ī aur yaqīnī 'ilm kā darja de baiṭhte haiñ, isī kī binā par mustaqbil ke faiṣle karte haiñ, isī kī wajh se dūsroñ ke bāre meñ acchī burī rā'eñ qā'im kar lete haiñ; aur sabab baḡh kar yih ki is 'ilm kā jhūṭā paidār ba'z auqāt insān ko 'ilm-e-ḡhaib ke da'woñ tak pahuñchā detā hai. Aur

Is āyat se muta‘alliq tīsra mas‘ala yih hai ki Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ne apnī qaum kī da‘wat ke jawāb meñ jo "innī saqīm" (main bīmār hūñ) farmāyā, to kya Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām us waqt wāqī‘ī bīmār the? Qur’ān-e-Karīm meñ is ke muta‘alliq koī šarāḥat nahīn hai, lekin Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī kī ek ḥadīṣ se ma‘lūm hotā hai ki āp us waqt aise bīmār nahīn the ki qaum ke sāth na jā sakeñ. Is li’e yih sawāl paidā hotā hai ki Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ne yih bāt kaise irshād farmā’ī?

Is kā jawāb jamhūr mufasssīrīn ke nazdīk yih hai ki dar-ḥaqīqat in alfāz ke zarī‘e Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ne "tauriya" kiyā thā. "Tauriya" kā maṭlab hai "koī aisi bāt kahnā jo lafẓan wāqī‘e ke khilāf ho, lekin kahne wāle ne us se koī aise dūr ke ma‘nī murād liye hoñ jo wāqī‘e ke muṭābiq hoñ". Yahāñ Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ne jo jumla irshād farmāyā, us kā zāhirī mafhūm to yihī hai ki "main is waqt bīmār hūñ", lekin āp kī aṣl murād yih nahīn thī. Ab aṣl murād kya thī? Is ke bāre meñ mufasssīrīn ne mukhtalif rā‘eñ zāhir kī haiñ. Ba‘z ne farmāyā ki is se āp kā maqṣad woh ṭab‘ī inqibāḍ thā jo āp ko apnī qaum kī mushrikāna ḥarakāt dekh kar paidā ... Its sense can be conveyed in Urdu as "my constitution is out of sorts"; plainly this sentence has full room for the sense of a natural inner contraction. · Some said Ibrāhīm's (‘alaihi-s-salām) intent by "innī saqīm" was "I am about to be sick"; for in Arabic the active-participle form is often used for the future tense. In the Qur’ān itself, addressing the Prophet ﷺ: "innaka mayyitun wa innahum mayyitūn". Its literal words could be rendered "you too are dead and they too are dead", but plainly the meaning is "you too will die and they too will die". Likewise Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) meant by "innī saqīm" that "I am about to be sick"; and he said this because before death every person's becoming sick is a certain matter — even if one has no apparent illness, a disturbance in the constitution just before death is inevitable. · And if someone's heart is not satisfied by these interpretations, the best explanation is that Ibrāhīm's (‘alaihi-s-salām) constitution was in fact a little out of sorts at that time, but the illness was not such as to prevent joining the celebration; he mentioned his slight indisposition in such a way that the hearers would understand he had some major illness making him truly unable to go with them. This explanation of Ibrāhīm's (‘alaihi-s-salām) tawriya is the most reasonable and satisfying. · From this explanation it also becomes clear that the word "kazba" (lie) used in a ḥadīth of Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī for Ibrāhīm's (‘alaihi-s-salām) saying "innī saqīm" means "tawriya" — whose outward form is a lie, but which, by the speaker's intent, is not a lie. In some narrations of this very ḥadīth come the words: · [Arabic] "mā minhā kazbatun illā mā ḥalla bihā ‘an dīni-llāh" — (Urdu) none of them is a lie except that it was spoken in defence and support of Allāh's dīn. · These words themselves make clear that "kazb" here has a sense distinct from its ordinary meaning. · A somewhat detailed discussion of this ḥadīth [is given] in Sūrah al-Anbiyā’ under the āyah "qāla bal fa‘alahū kabīruhum"...

... (ṭab‘ī inqibāḍ) ho rahā thā; is kī ta’yīd is se bhī hotī hai ki yahān "saqīm" kā lafz ista‘māl kiya gayā hai, jo "marīḍ" ke muqābla mein bahut halkā lafz hai. Aur is kā mafhūm urdū mein is ṭaraḥ adā kiya jā saktā hai ki "merī ṭabī‘at nā-sāz hai"; zāhir hai ki is jumle mein ṭab‘ī inqibāḍ ke mafhūm kī bhī pūrī gunjā’ish pā’ī jāti hai.

Aur ba‘ḍ ḥaḍrāt ne farmāyā ki "innī saqīm" se Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām kā maqṣad yih thā ki "main bīmār hone wālā hūn"; is li‘e ki ‘arabī zabān mein ism-e-fā‘il kā ṣīgha ba-kaṣrat zamāna-e-mustaqbil ke li‘e ista‘māl hotā hai. Qur‘ān-e-Karīm hī mein Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam se khiṭāb karte hu‘e irshād hai: "innaka mayyitun wa innahum mayyitūn". Is ke zāhirī alfāz kā tarjuma yūn bhī ho saktā hai ki "tum bhī murda ho aur woh bhī murda haiñ", lekin zāhir hai ki yahān murād yih ma‘nī haiñ ki "tum bhī marne wāle ho aur woh bhī marne wāle haiñ". Isī ṭaraḥ "innī saqīm" ke ma‘nī Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ne yih murād liye ki "main bīmār hone wālā hūn"; aur yih is li‘e farmāyā ki maut se pahle pahle har insān kā bīmār honā yaqīnī amr hai; agar kisī ko zāhirī bīmārī na ho tab bhī maut se zarā pahle insān ke mizāj mein khalal kā wāqi‘a honā nā-guzīr hai.

Aur agar kisī kā dil in ta‘wīlāt par muṭma‘inn na ho to sab se behtar taujīh yih hai ki Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām kī ṭabī‘at us waqt wāqi‘atan thoṛī bahut nā-sāz thī, lekin bīmārī aisī na thī jo jashn mein shirkat se mānī‘ hotī; āp ne apnī ma‘mūlī nā-sāzī-e-ṭaba‘ kā zikr kar ke aise māḥaul mein kiya jis se sunane wāle yih samjheñ ki āp ko koī baṛī bīmārī lāḥiq hai, jis kī wajh se āp wāqi‘ī hamāre sāth nahīñ jā sakte. Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ke tauriya kī yih tashrīḥ sab se ziyāda ma‘qūl aur iṭmi‘nān-bakhsh hai.

Is tashrīḥ se yih bhī wāzīḥ ho jātā hai ki Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī kī ek ḥadīṣ mein Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ke irshād "innī saqīm" ke li‘e jo "kazba" (jhūṭ) ke alfāz ista‘māl kiye gaye haiñ, un se murād "tauriya" hai, jis kī zāhirī shakl jhūṭ hotī hai, lekin mutakallim kī murād ke liḥāẓ se woh jhūṭ nahīn hotā. Khud isī ḥadīṣ kī ba‘ṣ riwāyatōn meṇ yih alfāẓ bhī āte haiṅ:

"mā minhā kazbatun illā mā ḥalla bihā ‘an dīni-llāh"

(Urdu) Un meṇ se koī jhūṭ aisā nahīn hai jo Allāh ke dīn kī mudāfa‘at aur ḥimāyat meṇ na bolā gayā ho.

In alfāẓ ne khud yih wāẓiḥ kar diyā hai ki yahān "kazb" apne ‘ām ma‘nī se juda mafhūm rakhtā hai.

Is ḥadīṣ se muta‘alliq qadre tafṣīlī baḥṣ Sūrah Anbiyā’ meṇ āyat "qāla bal fa‘alahū kabīruhum" ke taḥt ... (continues on PDF p.455)

ﷺ life → 37:99-100] · [Box: the shar‘ī ruling of tawriya:] From these āyāt the issue also arises that tawriya is permissible on occasions of need. One kind of tawriya is verbal — saying something whose apparent sense is contrary to fact, with an inner intent that accords with fact. The other is practical — doing an act whose purpose the onlooker takes to be one thing while its real purpose is something else; this is also called "ihām". Ibrāhīm's ('alaihi-s-salām) looking at the stars (per most mufasssīrīn) was ihām, and calling himself sick was verbal tawriya. · Both these kinds of tawriya on occasions of need are themselves established from the Master of the world ﷺ. When he was going for the Hijrah and the polytheists were hunting for him, a man on the way asked Abū Bakr al-Ṣiddīq (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) about the Prophet ﷺ, "who is this?" Ṣiddīq-e-Akbar answered: "huwa hādīn yahdīnī" — "he is my guide, he shows me the way"; the hearer understood he meant a guide who shows the ordinary road, so he left and went on, whereas Abū Bakr meant that he is a religious and spiritual guide (Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī). · Likewise Ka‘b bin Mālīk (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): whichever direction the Prophet ﷺ had to go for jihād, on leaving Madīnah Ṭayyibah, instead of setting out in that direction he would begin moving in some other direction, so that onlookers could not learn the true destination (Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim etc.). This was practical tawriya and ihām. · Tawriya from the Prophet ﷺ is established on occasions of humour and pleasantry too. In Shamā‘il al-Tirmizī: the Prophet ﷺ said jokingly to an old woman, "no old woman will enter Paradise." Hearing this she was greatly distressed, so he explained that the meaning of old women not entering Paradise is that they will not enter in a state of old age — rather they will enter having become young. · The sense of the āyāt after this is clear from the Khulāṣa, and the details of the event have passed in Sūrah al-Anbiyā’. · Verse table (vv.99–100): v.99 "wa qāla innī zāhibun ilā rabbī sa-yahdīnī" — and he said, "I am going to my Lord; He will guide me. v.100 rabbi hab lī mina-ṣ-

———— Tauriya kā shar'ī ḥukm ————

Inḥī āyāt se yih mas'ala bhī niklatā hai ki zarūrat ke mawāqī' par tauriya karnā jā'iz hai. Tauriya ek to qaulī hotā hai — ya'nī aisī bāt kahnā jis kā ṣāhirī mafhūm khilāf-e-wāqī'a ho, aur bāṭinī murād wāqī'a ke muṭābiq. Aur ek tauriya 'amalī hotā hai — ya'nī aisā 'amal karnā jis kā maqṣad dekhne wālā kuchh samjhe, aur dar-ḥaqīqat us kā maqṣad kuchh aur ho. Ise "īhām" bhī kahā jātā hai. Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām kā sitāroñ ko dekhñā (akṣar mufasssīrīn ke qaul ke muṭābiq) īhām thā, aur apne āp ko bīmār kahnā qaulī tauriya.

Zarūrat ke mawāqī' par tauriya kī yih donoñ qismeñ khud sar-kār-e-do-ālam ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam se ṣābit haiñ. Jis waqt āp hijrat ke li'e tashrīf le jā rahe the, aur mushrikīn āp kī talāsh meñ lage hu'e the, to rāste meñ ek shakhṣ ne Ḥaḍrat Abū Bakr Ṣiddīq raḍiyallāhu 'anhu se Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ke bāre meñ pūchhā ki "yih kaun haiñ?" Ḥaḍrat Ṣiddīq-e-Akbar ne jawāb diyā: "huwa hādīn yahdīnī" — "woh mere rahnumā haiñ, mujhe rāsta dikhāte haiñ"; sunane wālā yih samjhā ki 'ām rāsta batāne wāle rahnumā murād haiñ, is li'e chhoṛ kar chal diyā, ḥalāñki Ḥaḍrat Abū Bakr kā maqṣad yih thā ki āp dīnī aur rūḥānī rahnumā haiñ (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī).

Isī taraḥ Ḥaḍrat Ka'b bin Mālik raḍiyallāhu 'anhu farmāte haiñ ki Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ko jihād ke li'e jis simt meñ jānā hotā, Madīna Ṭayyiba se nikalte waqt us simt meñ rawāna hone ke bajā'e kisī dūsarī simt meñ chalnā shurū' farmāte the, tāki dekhne wāloñ ko ṣaḥīḥ manzil ma'lūm na ho sake (Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim waghaira). Yih 'amalī tauriya aur īhām thā.

Mazāḥ aur khush-ṭab'ī ke mawāqī' par bhī Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam se tauriya ṣābit hai. Shamā'il Tirmizī meñ riwāyat hai ki Ānḥaḍrat ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa sallam ne ek būṛhī 'aurat se mazāḥan farmāyā: "koī būṛhī 'aurat jannat meñ nahīn jā'e gī". Woh 'aurat yih sun kar bahut parishān hoī, to āp ne tashrīḥ farmā'ī ki būṛhiyon ke jannat meñ na jāne kā maṭlab yih hai ki woh baṛhāpe kī ḥālat meñ jannat meñ na jā'en gī, hāñ jawān ho kar jā'en gī.

Is ke ba'd kī āyāt kā mafhūm khulāṣa-e-tafsīr se wāḍiḥ hai, aur wāqī'a kī tafṣīlāt Sūrah Anbiyā' meñ guzar chukī haiñ.

PDF PAGE 457 · [Q 37:99-113 Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (the sacrifice of the son)] · (When Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām despaired of these people's faith he said: now, migrating from you,) I go toward my Lord (in His way, some direction); He will surely bring me (to a good place) — and he reached the land of Syria. And he prayed: "my Lord, grant me a righteous son." So We gave him glad tidings of a forbearing-natured son; the son was born and grew alert. When the boy reached the age at which he could walk about with Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām), Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) saw a dream that he was sacrificing this son by God's command — it is not established whether he saw the throat cut or not; when he woke he understood it as Allāh's command, for the dream of prophets is also revelation — and he made ready to carry it out. · Then, thinking that God knows what his son's view of the matter might be, he deemed it necessary to inform him; so he said, "O dear son, I see that I am sacrificing you [in a dream]; so consider — what is your view?" He said, "O father — (what is there to ask me? when you have been commanded by God, then) do what you have been commanded, without hesitation; in-shā'a-llāh Allāh will find me of those who endure with you." · When both submitted (to God's command), and (the father) laid (the son) down on his side (to sacrifice him) — and (at that hard moment) We called him, "O Ibrāhīm! (be pleased — you have well fulfilled the dream — i.e. you carried out fully, of your own accord, what was commanded in the dream). Now We abrogate this command — just release him." So he released him, his life was spared, and, high ranks being further bestowed — (thus do We reward the sincere, granting them the comfort of both worlds). · In truth it was a great trial, which none but a perfect sincere one could bear; so for passing such a trial We gave a great reward in proportion; and as the trial was Ibrāhīm's (‘alaihi-s-salām), so it was Ismā‘īl's (‘alaihi-s-salām) too, so he shares in the reward. And We gave a great sacrifice in his ransom, which was slaughtered (by Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām instead). And among those who came after him We left for him this: "peace be upon Ibrāhīm" — so with his name "‘alaihi-s-salām" is said to this day. Thus do We reward the sincere, making them a centre of people's prayers and glad tidings of peace. Indeed he was of Our believing servants. · And a favour We did him was that We gave him glad tidings of Ishāq, that he would be a prophet, of the righteous. And We sent blessings upon Ibrāhīm and Ishāq — among them that their lineage spread widely and many prophets arose in it. And further on (in the lineage of these two) some are good, and some do wrong beliefs and plainly harm themselves.

Phir yih soch kar ki Khudā jāne mere farzand kī is bāre meñ kya rā'e ho, us ko iṭṭilā' karnā zarūrī samjhā; is li'e us se farmāyā ki ai bar-khūrdār! main dekhtā hūñ ki tum ko (khwāb meñ) zabḥ kar rahā hūñ; so tum bhī soch lo, tumhārī kya rā'e hai? Woh bole: ai jān! (is meñ mujh se pūchhne kī kya bāt hai — jab āp ko Khudā kī ṭaraf se ḥukm kiyā gayā hai to) āp ko jo ḥukm hu'ā hai āp (bilā-ta'ammul) kījiye; in-shā'a-llāh Allāh Ta'ālā āp mujh ko sahārne wāloñ meñ se dekheñ ge.

Ġharaz jab donoñ ne (Khudā ke ḥukm ko) taslīm kar liyā, aur (bāp ne beṭe ko zabḥ karne ke li'e) karwaṭ par liṭāyā — aur (dar ḥaqīqat gala kāṭ ḍāleñ, aur is diqqat ke waqt) ham ne un ko āwāz dī ki ai Ibrāhīm! (rāḍī bāsh — tū ne khwāb ko khūb sac kar dikhāyā — ya'nī khwāb meñ jo ḥukm hu'ā thā apnī ṭaraf se us par pūrā 'amal kiyā). Ab ham is ḥukm ko mansūkh karte haiñ — bas in ko chhoṛ do. Ġharaz un ko chhoṛ diyā, jān kī bach ga'ī, aur buland darajāt mazīd bar-āñ 'aṭā hote hu'e (ham mukhliṣīñ ko aisā hī ṣila diyā karte haiñ, ki donoñ jahāñ kī rāḥat unheñ 'aṭā karte haiñ).

Ḥaqīqat meñ yih thā bhī baṛā imtiḥāñ, jis ko bajuz mukhliṣ-e-kāmil ke dūsrā bar-dāsht nahīñ kar saktā; to ham ne aise imtiḥāñ meñ pūrā utarne par ba-qadr-e-aṣar ne bhī baṛā bhārī ṣila diyā; aur us meñ jaisā imtiḥāñ Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām kā thā, isī ṭarah Ismā'īl 'alaihi-s-salām kā bhī thā, to woh ṣile meñ sharīk hoñ ge. Aur ham ne ek baṛā zabīḥa us ke 'iwaḍ meñ diyā, ki woh (Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām se) zabḥ karāyā gayā. Aur ham ne pīchhe āne wāloñ meñ yih bāt un ke li'e rahne dī ki "Ibrāhīm par salām ho" — chunāñchi un ke nām ke sāth ab tak "'alaihi-s-salām" kahā jā rahā hai. Ham mukhliṣīñ ko aisā hī ṣila diyā karte haiñ, ki unheñ logoñ kī du'a' oñ aur salāmatī kī bishāraton kā markaz banā dete haiñ. Beshak woh hamāre īmān-dār bandoñ meñ se the.

PDF PAGE 458 · [Q 37:99-102 Ma'ārif o Masā'il: Ibrāhīm's hijrah; the prayer; "ghulām ḥalīm"; birth of Ismā'īl] · [Box: the event of the son's sacrifice:] These āyāt state a second important event of Ibrāhīm's ('alaihi-s-salām) blessed life, in which he offered the sacrifice of his only son for Allāh's sake. The basic parts are clear from the Khulāṣa; some historical details will come in the tafsīr: · "wa qāla innī zāhibun ilā rabbī" — Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) said, "I go toward my Lord." He said this when he had utterly despaired of his compatriots, and none there believed in him except Lūṭ ('alaihi-s-salām). "Going toward the Lord" means: I shall leave the abode of kufr and go to a place where I can worship my Lord. So he set out on a journey taking his pure wife Sāra and his nephew Lūṭ ('alaihi-s-salām), and, passing through various parts of Iraq, finally came to Syria. · In all this time Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) had no offspring, so he made the prayer mentioned in the next āyah: · "rabbi hab lī mina-ṣ-ṣāliḥīn" — my Lord, grant me a righteous son. · His prayer was answered, and Allāh gave him glad tidings of the birth of a son: · "fa-bashsharnāhu bi-ghulāmin ḥalīm" — so We gave him glad tidings of a forbearing-natured son. By "forbearing-natured" it is hinted that this newborn would in his life become such a manifestation of patience, self-control and forbearance that the world could not present its like. · The event of this son's birth was: when Sāra saw that she was having no child, she thought she had become barren. Meanwhile Pharaoh of Egypt had given Sāra his daughter — named Hājar — for service. Sāra gave this same Hājar to Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām), and Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) married her. From Hājar's womb this son was born, and was named Ismā‘īl (‘alaihi-s-salām). · "fa-lammā balagha ma‘ahu-s-sa‘ya qāla yā bunayya innī arā fī-l-manāmi annī azbaḥuka" — when the son reached the age at which he could walk about with Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām), Ibrāhīm said, "O dear son, I see in a dream..."

In āyāt meṅ Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām kī ḥayāt-e-ṭayyiba kā ek dūsrā aham wāqī‘a bayān kiyā gayā hai, jis meṅ Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ne Allāh ke li‘e apne iklaute farzand kī qurbānī pesh kī. Wāqī‘e ke bunyādī ajzā’ khulāṣa-e-tafsīr se wāḍiḥ ho jāte haiṅ; ba‘ḏ tārīkhī tafṣīlāt kī tafsīr ke zail meṅ ā‘en gī:

"wa qāla innī zāhibun ilā rabbī" — Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām kahne lage ki main apne Rab kī ṭaraf chalā jātā hūn. Yih bāt Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ne us waqt irshād farmā‘ī jab ki āp apne Ahl-e-waṭan se bilkul māyūs ho gaye, aur wahān āp par Ḥaḍrat Lūṭ ‘alaihi-s-salām ke siwā koī īmān nahīn lāyā. "Rab kī ṭaraf chale jāne" se murād yih hai ki main dār al-kufr ko chhoṛ kar kisī aisī jagah chalā jā‘ūn gā jahān main apne Rab kī ‘ibādat kar sakūn; chunānchi āp apnī zauja-e-muṭaḥhara Ḥaḍrat Sāra aur apne bhānḗje Ḥaḍrat Lūṭ ‘alaihi-s-salām ko le kar safar par rawāna hu‘e, aur ‘Irāq ke mukhtalif ḥiṣṣon se hote hu‘e bil-ākhir Shām tashrīf le āye.

"rabbi hab lī mina-ṣ-ṣāliḥīn" — ai mere Parwardigār! mujhe ek nek farzand ‘aṭā farmā.

Chunānchi āp kī yih du‘ā qabūl hoī, aur Allāh Ta‘ālā ne āp ko ek farzand kī paidā‘ish kī khush-khabrī sunā‘ī:

"fa-bashsharnāhu bi-ghulāmin ḥalīm" — pas ham ne un ko ek ḥalīm al-mizāj farzand kī bishārat dī.

"ḥalīm al-mizāj" farmā kar ishāra kar diyā gayā ki yih nau-maulūd apnī zindagī meñ aise ṣabr o ṣabṭ aur bur-dbārī kā maẓhar ban kar rahe gā ki dunyā is kī miṣāl nahīn pesh kar sakegī.

Is farzand kī wilādat kā wāqīʿa yih hoā ki jab Ḥaḍrat Sāra ne yih dekhā ki mujh se koī aulād nahīn ho rahī, to woh samajh bī ki main bānjh ho chukī hūñ. PDF PAGE 459 · [Q 37:102 Maʿārif: the dream, the wisdom of it, "fa-nzur māzā tarā"] · ... (I see that I am sacrificing you) — some narrations show this dream was shown to Ibrāhīm (ʿalaihi-s-salām) three consecutive nights (Qurṭubī). And it is settled that the dream of prophets is revelation; so the meaning was that Allāh had commanded Ibrāhīm (ʿalaihi-s-salām) to sacrifice his only son. · This command could also have been sent down directly through an angel etc., but the wisdom of showing it in a dream was apparently that Ibrāhīm's (ʿalaihi-s-salām) devotion to obedience should appear in its perfection. In a command given through a dream there was much room for a human self to make interpretations, but Ibrāhīm (ʿalaihi-s-salām), instead of taking the road of interpretation, bowed his head in submission before Allāh's command (Tafsīr Kabīr). · Moreover, Allāh's real aim here was neither to slaughter Ismāʿīl (ʿalaihi-s-salām), nor to command Ibrāhīm (ʿalaihi-s-salām) to actually kill him; rather the intent was to command that he make all preparations for the slaughter and undertake the act of it. Now if this command had been given verbally there would have been no trial in it, so he was shown in a dream that he was slaughtering his son, from which Ibrāhīm (ʿalaihi-s-salām) understood that the command was to slaughter, and he made ready fully to carry it out. Thus the trial was completed, and the dream too came true. Had this come by a verbal command, either there would have been no trial, or the command would have had to be abrogated afterward. · [Box: how severe was this trial?] To point to it, Allāh here added the words "fa-lammā balagha maʿahu-s-saʿya" — i.e. the command to sacrifice this longed-for son was given at the time when he had become able to walk about with his father, and after bearing the toils of upbringing the time had come when he would prove a support to his father as strength of arm. The mufasssīrīn wrote that at that time Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) was thirteen years old; and some said he had reached puberty (Tafsīr Maẓharī). · "fa-nẓur māzā tarā" — (i.e. you too consider — what is your view?). Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) did not ask Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) this because he had any hesitation in carrying out the divine command; rather, first, he wished to test his son — how far he passes this trial; second, the way of the prophets has always been that, though ever ready to obey the divine commands, they always take the way of obedience based on wisdom and, as far as possible, ease. Had Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām), without saying anything beforehand...

... (main dekhtā hūn ki main tum ko zabḥ kar rahā hūn) — ba'ẓ riwāyāt se ma'lūm hotā hai ki yih khwāb Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām ko tīn roz mutawātir dikhāyā gayā (Qurṭubī). Aur yih bāt ṭay-shuda hai ki Anbiyā 'alaihimu-s-salām kā khwāb waḥī hotā hai; is li'e is khwāb kā maṭlab yih thā ki Allāh Ta'ālā kī ṭaraf se Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām ko ḥukm hu'ā hai ki apne iklaute beṭe ko zabḥ kar do.

Yon yih ḥukm barāh-e-rāst kisī firishte waghaira ke zarī'e bhī nāzil kiyā jā saktā thā, lekin khwāb meñ dikhāne kī ḥikmat bi-zāhir yih thī ki Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām kī aṭā'at-shi'ārī apne kamāl ke sāth zāhir ho. Khwāb ke zarī'e diye hu'e ḥukm meñ insānī nafs ke li'e ta'wīlāt kī baṭī gunjā'ish thī, lekin Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām ne ta'wīlāt kā rāsta ikhtiyār karne ke bajā'e Allāh ke ḥukm ke āge sar-e-taslīm khum kar diyā (Tafsīr Kabīr).

Is ke 'alāwa yahān Bārī Ta'ālā kā aṣl maqṣad na Ḥaḍrat Ismā'īl 'alaihi-s-salām ko zabḥ karnā thā, na Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām ko yih ḥukm denā ki unheñ zabḥ kar hī ḍālo; balki minshā yih ḥukm denā thā ki apnī ṭaraf se unheñ zabḥ karne ke sāre sāmān kar ke un ke zabḥ kā iqdām kar guzro. Ab yih ḥukm agar zabānī diyā jātā to us meñ āzmā'ish na hotī, is li'e unheñ khwāb meñ dikhāyā gayā ki woh beṭe ko zabḥ kar rahe haiñ; is se Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām yih samjhe ki zabḥ kā ḥukm hu'ā hai, aur woh pūrī ṭarah zabḥ karne par āmāda ho gaye. Is ṭarah āzmā'ish bhī pūrī ho ga'ī, aur khwāb bhī saccā ho gayā. Yih bāt zabānī ḥukm ke zarī'e ātī to yā āzmā'ish na hotī, yā ḥukm ko ba'd meñ mansūkh karnā partā.

Is kī ṭaraf ishāra karne ke li'e yahān Allāh Ta'ālā ne "fa-lammā balagha ma'ahu-s-sa'ya" ke alfāẓ barḥā'e haiñ — ya'nī armānoñ se māñge hu'e is beṭe ko qurbān karne kā ḥukm us waqt diyā gayā jab yih beṭā apne bāp ke sāth chalne phirne ke qābil ho gayā thā, aur parwarish kī mashaqqateñ bar-dāsht karne ke ba'd woh waqt āyā thā ki woh quwwat-e-bāzū ban kar bāp kā sahārā sābit ho. Mufasssīrīn ne likhā hai ki us waqt Ḥaḍrat Ismā'īl 'alaihi-s-salām kī 'umr tera sāl thī; aur ba'ẓ mufasssīrīn ne farmāyā ki bāligh ho chuke the (Tafsīr Mazharī).

"fa-nẓur māzā tarā" — (ya 'nī tum bhī soch lo ki tumhārī kya rā'e hai?). Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām ne yih bāt Ḥaḍrat Ismā'īl 'alaihi-s-salām se is li'e nahīn pūchhī ki āp ko ḥukm-e-ilāhī kī ta' mīl meṅ koī taraddud thā; balki ek to woh apne beṭe kā imtiḥān lenā chāhte the ki woh is āzmā'ish meṅ kis ḥadd tak pūrā utartā hai? PDF PAGE 460 · [Q 37:102 Ma'ārif: Ismā'īl's reply; proof of waḡy ḡhair matluww; his adab] · ...[had Ibrāhīm] begun to slaughter the son [without saying anything beforehand], it would have been a cause of difficulty for both. He mentioned it to the son in the form of consultation so that the son, knowing beforehand Allāh's command that he is to be sacrificed, could prepare in advance to bear the pain of being slaughtered; and if any hesitation arose in the son's heart it could be addressed (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī, Bayān al-Qur'ān). · But that son too was the son of Allāh's Khalīl, and was himself to hold the office of messengership; he replied: "yā abati-f'al mā tu'mar" — (do what you have been commanded). This testifies to Ismā'īl's ('alaihi-s-salām) peerless spirit of self-sacrifice; moreover it shows what intelligence and knowledge Allāh had given him, that at the first hearing of this command [he understood]. Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) had not cited any command of Allāh before him, only a dream; but Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) understood that the dream of prophets is revelation, and this dream too is in reality one form of the divine command; so in his reply he mentioned the divine command instead of the dream. · [Box: proof of waḡy ḡhair matluww (non-recited revelation):] From here the deniers of ḥadīth are clearly refuted who do not accept the existence of non-recited revelation and say that revelation is only what came down in a heavenly Book, no other kind existing. You have seen that Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) was given the command of the son's sacrifice through a dream, and Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) in explicit words declared it Allāh's command; if non-recited revelation is nothing, in which heavenly Book had this command come down? · Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) also assured his honoured father that: "sa-tajidunī in shā'a-llāhu minā-ṣ-ṣābirīn" — (in-shā'a-llāh you will find me of the patient). See in this sentence Ismā'īl's ('alaihi-s-salām) utmost adab and humility: first, saying "in shā'a-llāh" he entrusted the matter to Allāh and removed the apparent form of a claim in the promise. Second, he could have said "you will find me, in-shā'a-llāh, patient", but instead said "you will find me of the patient", hinting that this patience and self-control is not my accomplishment alone; there are many patient people in the world, and in-shā'a-llāh I too will be among them. Thus in this sentence he removed every aspect of pride, arrogance, self-conceit and self-importance — even in saying "in shā'a-llāh" — and showed the utmost degree of humility and lowliness (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī). From this the lesson is that man should...

... (agar Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām pahle se kuchh kahe baḡhair) beṭe ko zabḥ karne lagte, to yih donoḥ ke li'e mushkil kā sabab hotā. Yih bāt āp ne mashwara ke andāz meḥ is li'e beṭe se zikr kī ki beṭe ko pahle se ma'lūm ho jā'e gā ki Allāh kā yih ḥukm hai ki woh zabḥ hone wālā hai, to woh zabḥ hone kī aẓiyyat sahne ke li'e pahle se taiyār ho sakegā; nīz agar beṭe ke dil meḥ kuchh tazabzūb hu'ā to use bhī samjhāyā jā sakegā (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī wa Bayān al-Qur'ān).

"yā abati-f' al mā tu'mar" — (jis bāt kā āp ko ḥukm diyā gayā hai use kar guzariye).

Is se Ḥaḍrat Ismā'īl 'alaihi-s-salām ke be-miṣāl jazba-e-jān-sipārī kī to shahādat miltī hī hai; is ke 'alāwa yih bhī ma'lūm hotā hai ki is ḥukm ko sunī hī sunī meḥ Allāh ne unheḥ kaisī zahānat aur kaisā 'ilm aṭā farmāyā thā. Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām ne un ke sāmne Allāh ke kisī ḥukm kā ḥawāla nahīn diyā thā, balki maḥẓ ek khwāb kā tazkirah farmāyā thā; lekin Ḥaḍrat Ismā'īl 'alaihi-s-salām samajh gaye ki Anbiyā 'alaihimu-s-salām kā khwāb waḥī hotā hai, aur yih khwāb bhī dar-ḥaqīqat ḥukm-e-ilāhī kī hī ek shakl hai; chunānchi unhoḥ ne jawāb meḥ khwāb ke bajā'e ḥukm-e-ilāhī kā tazkirah farmāyā.

Yahīn se un munkirīn-e-ḥadīṣ kī wāẓiḥ tardīd ho jātī hai jo waḥy ḡhair matluww ke wujūd ko nahīn mānte, aur kahte haiḥ ki waḥy ṣīrf woh hai jo āsmānī kitāb meḥ nāzil ho ga'ī, is ke 'alāwa waḥy kī koī dūsarī qism maujūd nahīn hai. Ḥaḍrat Ismā'īl 'alaihi-s-salām ne apnī ṭaraf se apne wālīd-e-buzurg-wār ko yih yaqīn bhī dilāyā ki:

PDF PAGE 461 · [Q 37:103 Ma'ārif: "fa-lammā aslamā"; the stoning of Satan; Ismā'īl's words; "wa tallahū li-l-jabīn"] · ...however much confidence one has in oneself in any matter, one should not make such loud claims from which pride and arrogance drip; if there is ever need to say such a thing, the words should be so chosen that they also express reliance on Allāh instead of oneself, and, as far as possible, the skirt of humility is not let go. · "fa-lammā aslamā" — (when they both submitted). "aslama" means to bow, to become obedient, to become tame. The meaning: when they bowed before Allāh's command — the father resolving to slaughter the son, and the son resolving to be slaughtered. (Here the word "lammā" (when) is used, but its apodosis is not stated — i.e. it is not said what happened when these events had come to pass; hinting that the father's and son's act of self-sacrifice was so wondrous that words cannot state its full nature.) · Some historical and exegetical narrations show that Satan tried three times to mislead Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām); each time Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) drove him away by throwing seven pebbles. To this day, at the three Jamarāt of Minā, in memory of this beloved act, [the rite] is performed by throwing pebbles. · Finally, when the father and son reached the place of sacrifice to perform this unusual act of worship, Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) said to his father: "dear father, bind me well so that I cannot writhe too much; and keep your clothes clear of me, lest my blood splash on them and my reward be reduced. Besides, my mother, seeing the blood, would grieve more. Sharpen your knife, and pass it quickly over my throat so my life may go out easily, for death is a very hard thing. And when you go to my mother, convey my salām; and if you wish to take my shirt to my mother, take it — perhaps it will give her some comfort." · What must pass over a father's heart on hearing such words from an only son's tongue? But Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām), becoming a mountain of steadfastness, answers: "son, what a fine helper you are to me in carrying out Allāh's command!" — saying which he kissed the son and, with tearful eyes, bound him (Maẓharī). · "wa tallahū li-l-jabīn" — (and he laid him on the dust on his forehead) — from Ibn 'Abbās (raḏiyallāhu 'anhu) the meaning reported is that he laid him on his side such that one edge of the forehead touched the ground (Maẓharī). By lexicon this tafsīr is preferable, for "jabīn" in Arabic is [one side of] the forehead...

... (insān ko) kisī mu‘āmale meñ apne āp par khwāh kitnā hī i‘timād ho, lekin use aise buland-bāṅg dā‘we nahīn karne chāhiyeñ jin se ghurūr o takabbur ṭapaktā ho; agar kahīn aisī ko‘ī bāt kahne kī zarūrāt ho to alfāz meñ is kī ri‘āyat honī chāhiye ki un meñ apne bajā‘e Allāh par bharosa kā iẓhār bhī ho, aur jahān tak mumkin ho tawāzu‘ ke dāman ko na chhoṛā jā‘e.

"fa-lammā aslamā" — (jab woh donoñ jhuk gaye). "aslama" ke ma‘nī haiñ jhuk jānā, muṭī‘ ho jānā, rām ho jānā. Maṭlab yih hai ki jab woh Allāh ke ḥukm ke āge jhuk gaye — ya‘nī bāp ne beṭe ko zabḥ karne kā, aur beṭe ne zabḥ ho jāne kā irādā kar liyā. (Yahān "lammā" — jab — kā lafẓ ista‘māl kiyā gayā hai, lekin is kā jawāb mazkūr nahīn hai — ya‘nī āge yih nahīn batāyā gayā ki jab yih wāqī‘āt pesh ā chuke to kya hu‘ā? Is se is bāt kī ṭaraf ishāra hai ki bāp beṭe kā yih iqdām-e-fidākārī is qadr ‘ajīb wa ḡharīb thā ki alfāz is kī pūrī kaifiyyat ko bayān kar hī nahīn sakte.)

Ba‘ẓ tārīkhī aur tafsīrī riwāyāt se ma‘lūm hotā hai ki shaiṭān ne tīn martaba Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ko bahkāne kī koshish kī; har bār Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ne use sāt sāt kañkariyāñ mār kar bhagā diyā. Āj tak Minā ke tīn Jamarāt par isī maḥbūb-e-‘amal kī yād meñ kañkariyāñ mār kar manāyā jātā hai.

Bil-ākhir jab donoñ bāp beṭe yih anokhī ‘ibādat anjām dene ke li‘e qurbān-gāh par pahunche, to Ḥaḍrat Ismā‘īl ‘alaihi-s-salām ne apne wālīd se kahā ki abā-jān! mujhe khūb achhī ṭarah bāndh dījiye, tāki main ziyāda ṭarap na sakūñ, aur apne kapṛon ko bhī mujh se bachā‘iye, aisā na ho ki un par mere khūn kī chhīntēñ paṛēñ, to merā ṣawāb ghaṭ jā‘e. Is ke ‘alāwa woh merī wālīda khūn dekheñ gī to unheñ ḡham ziyāda hogā; aur apnī chhurī bhī tez kar lījiye, aur use mere ḥalq par zarā jaldī jaldī phīriye, tāki āsānī se merā dam nikal sake, kyonki maut baṛī sakht chīz hai. Aur jab āp merī wālīda ke pās jā‘ēñ to un ko merā salām kahiye gā; aur agar āp merā qamīṣ wālīda ke pās le jānā chāheñ to le jā‘ēñ, shāyad is se unheñ kuchh tasallī ho.

Iklaute beṭe kī zabān se yih alfāz sun kar ek bāp ke dil par kya kya guẓar saktī hai? "najzi-l-muḥsinīn"; "zibḥin 'aẓīm"] · ...[jabīn] is the two temples, while the middle of the forehead is called "jabha". Hence Ḥakīm al-Ummat Ḥaḍrat Thānwī (raḥmatullāh) rendered it "laying him on his side". But some other mufasssīrīn say it means laying him face-down on the ground. In any case, the historical narrations give this reason for laying him thus: at first Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) laid him straight, but when he began passing the knife, despite passing it repeatedly the throat would not cut — because Allāh, by His power, had placed a piece of brass across [it]. At this point the son himself asked: "dear father, lay me face-down, because when you see my face, fatherly tenderness surges and the throat does not cut fully; besides, when I see the knife I too become distressed." So Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) laid him thus and began passing the knife (Tafsīr Maẓharī etc.). Wa-llāhu a'lam. · "wa nādaināhu an yā Ibrāhīm qad ṣaddaḡta-r-ru'yā" — (and We called him, "O Ibrāhīm, you have fulfilled the dream") — i.e. in carrying out Allāh's command you left no shortcoming on your part. (In the dream too, probably, only this was shown — that Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) was passing the knife over him to slaughter him.) Now this trial is over, so release him. · "innā kaẓālika najzi-l-muḥsinīn" — (thus do We reward the sincere) — i.e. when a servant of Allāh bows in submission before Allāh's command and is ready to sacrifice all his feelings, We in the end save him from worldly hardship too, and record the reward of the hereafter in his book of deeds as well. · "wa fadaināhu bi-zibḥin 'aẓīm" — (and We ransomed him with a great sacrifice) — narrations say Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām), on hearing this heavenly voice, looked up and Jibrā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) was standing with a ram. Some narrations show this was the same ram whose sacrifice Ādam's ('alaihi-s-salām) son Hābīl (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) had offered. Wa-llāhu a'lam. · In any case, this heavenly ram was granted to Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām), and by Allāh's command he sacrificed it instead of his son. This sacrifice is called "'aẓīm" because it came from Allāh, and no one can doubt that its offering was accepted (Tafsīr Maẓharī etc.).

PDF PAGE 463 · [Q 37:101-113 Ma'ārif — box: was the zabīḥ Ismā'īl or Ishāq?] · [Box:] The tafsīr above was given accepting that the son Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) was commanded to sacrifice was Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām); but in reality there is severe disagreement among the mufasssīrīn and historians on this matter. · From 'Umar, 'Alī, 'Abdullāh bin Mas'ūd, 'Abbās, Ibn 'Abbās, Ka'b al-Aḡbār, Sa'īd bin Jubair, Qatāda, Masrūq, 'Ikrimah, 'Aṭā', Muqāṭil, al-Zuhrī and al-Suddī (raḡiyallāhu 'anhum) it is reported that the son was Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām). · Contrariwise, from 'Alī, Ibn 'Abbās, 'Abdullāh bin 'Umar, Abū Hurairah, Abū al-Ṭufail, Sa'īd bin al-Musayyab, Sa'īd bin Jubair, Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, Mujāhid, 'Umar bin 'Abd al-'Azīz, al-Sha'bī, Muḡammad bin Ka'b al-Qurṡī and many other tābi'īn it is reported that the son was Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām). · Among the later mufasssīrīn, Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Jarīr al-Ṭabarī preferred the first view; and Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr and others adopted the second and strongly refuted the first. A full review of both sides' proofs is not possible here, but by the Qur'ān's style of expression and the strength of the narrations, the preferable view is that the son Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) was commanded to sacrifice was Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām). Its proofs are as follows: · (1) After relating the whole event of the son's sacrifice, the Qur'ān said "wa bashsharnāhu bi-Ishāqa nabiyyan mina-ṣ-ṣāliḥīn" — (and We gave him glad tidings of Ishāq, that he would be a prophet, of the righteous) — from which it is plain that the son commanded to be sacrificed was someone other than Ishāq (‘alaihi-s-salām), and the glad tidings of Ishāq (‘alaihi-s-salām) were given after the event of his sacrifice. · (2) These glad tidings of Ishāq (‘alaihi-s-salām) also mention that Ishāq (‘alaihi-s-salām) would be a prophet; and another āyah mentions that with the birth of Ishāq (‘alaihi-s-salām) it was also foretold that from him would be born Ya‘qūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) — "fa-bashsharnāhā bi-Ishāqa wa min warā’i Ishāqa Ya‘qūb"; the plain meaning being that he would live to a great age, until he had offspring; so how could he be commanded to be sacrificed in childhood? And if he had been commanded to be sacrificed in childhood before prophethood, Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) would have understood that he was yet to hold the office of prophethood and that from his loins Ya‘qūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) was destined to be born — so the command to sacrifice...

PDF PAGE 464 · [Q 37:101-113 Ma‘ārif — the zabḥ discussion, proofs 3–4] · ...death could not come to him [i.e. Ishāq, if he were the zabḥ]. Plainly, in that case this would have been no great trial, nor would Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) have deserved any praise for carrying it out. A trial is possible only if Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) fully believed that this son of his would be ended by the slaughter, and then he undertook to slaughter him. In Ismā‘īl's (‘alaihi-s-salām) case this holds fully, because Allāh had made no prediction of his living on and becoming a guide and prophet. · (3) From the Qur‘ān's statement it appears that when the command to slaughter the son came, he was Ibrāhīm's (‘alaihi-s-salām) first child — for on migrating from his homeland he once prayed for a son, and in answer to that prayer he was given the glad tidings that a forbearing boy would be born to him; and then of that same boy it is said that when he became able to walk with his father, he was commanded to be slaughtered — this whole chain of events shows that the boy was Ibrāhīm's (‘alaihi-s-salām) first son. And it is agreed that Ibrāhīm's (‘alaihi-s-salām) first son is Ismā‘īl (‘alaihi-s-salām) and Ishāq (‘alaihi-s-salām) is his second; after this no doubt remains that the zabḥ was Ismā‘īl (‘alaihi-s-salām). · (4) It is also nearly settled that this event of the son's sacrifice occurred near Makkah Mukarramah; that is why the practice of sacrifice during Ḥajj has continued among the Arabs. Besides, the ram sent from Paradise as the ransom of Ibrāhīm's (‘alaihi-s-salām) son — its horns hung inside the noble Ka‘ba for many years. Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr cites several narrations in support, and also mentions ‘Āmir al-Sha‘bī's saying: "I myself have seen the horns of this ram in the Ka‘ba" (Ibn Kaṣīr, p.8, vol.4). And Sufyān says: "the horns of this ram kept hanging in the Ka‘ba, until, when (in al-Ḥajjāj bin Yūsuf's time) a fire occurred in the House of Allāh, these horns too burned" (ibid, p.1, vol.2). Now plainly Ismā‘īl (‘alaihi-s-salām) resides in Makkah Mukarramah, not Ishāq (‘alaihi-s-salām); so it is plain that the command to slaughter concerned Ismā‘īl (‘alaihi-s-salām), not Ishāq (‘alaihi-s-salām). · As for the narrations mentioning that various Ṣaḥābah and tābi‘īn held the zabīḥ to be Ishāq (‘alaihi-s-salām) — concerning these Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr (rahmatullāh ‘alaiḥ)...

... (Ishāq ‘alaihi-s-salām) se unheñ maut nahīn ā saktī. Zāhir hai ki is ṣūrat meñ na yih koī baṛā imtiḥān hotā, aur na Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām is ke anjām dahī meñ kisī ta‘rīf ke mustaḥiq hote. Imtiḥān to isī ṣūrat meñ mumkin hai ki Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām pūrī ṭarah yih samjhe hu'e hoñ ki merā yih beṭā zabḥ karne se khatm ho jā'e gā, aur us ke ba'd woh zabḥ karne kā iqḍām karen. Ḥaḍrat Ismā‘īl ‘alaihi-s-salām ke mu‘āmale meñ yih bāt pūrī ṭarah ṣādiq ātī hai, is li'e ki Allāh Ta‘ālā ne un ke zinda rahne aur rahnumā aur nabī banne kī koī peshīn-go'ī nahīn farmā'ī thī.

(3) Qur'ān-e-Karīm ke bayān se ma'lūm hotā hai ki jab beṭe ko zabḥ karne kā ḥukm hu'ā thā woh Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām kā pahlā baccha thā, is li'e ki unhoñ ne apne waṭan se hijrat karte hu'e ek waqt ek beṭe kī du'ā kī thī, aur usī du'ā ke jawāb meñ unheñ yih bishārat dī ga'ī thī ki un ke yahān ek ḥalīm laṛkā paidā hogā; aur phir usī laṛke ke bāre meñ yih kahā gayā hai ki jab woh bāp ke sāth chalne ke qābil ho gayā to use zabḥ karne kā ḥukm diyā gayā — yih sārā silsila-e-wāqi'āt yih batā rahā hai ki woh laṛkā Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm kā pahlā beṭā thā. Aur yih bāt muttāfiq ‘alaiḥ hai ki Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm ‘alaihi-s-salām ke pahle ṣāḥibzāde Ḥaḍrat Ismā‘īl ‘alaihi-s-salām haiñ, aur Ḥaḍrat Ishāq ‘alaihi-s-salām un ke dūsre ṣāḥibzāde haiñ; is ke ba'd is meñ koī shubha nahīn rahtā ki zabīḥ Ḥaḍrat Ismā‘īl ‘alaihi-s-salām hī the.

PDF PAGE 465 · [Q 37:101-113 Ma'ārif — the zabīḥ discussion, cont.: Ibn Kaṣīr's explanation; the Bible's "only son"] · ...[Ibn Kaṣīr] wrote: "Allāh knows best, but apparently all these views are derived from Ka'b al-Aḥbār, because when he embraced Islam in the time of 'Umar (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu), he began telling 'Umar (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) things from his old books; sometimes 'Umar (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) listened to him; from this others too found room, and they too began transmitting his narrations after hearing them. In these narrations every kind of sound and unsound matter was mixed together, and this ummah has no need of a single letter of these things. Wa-llāhu a'lam" (Tafsīr Ibn Kaṣīr, p.7, vol.4). · Ibn Kaṣīr's point seems very reasonable. For the basis of holding Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām) to be the zabīḥ rests only on Isrā'īlī narrations; that is why the Jews and Christians hold Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām), instead of Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām), to be the zabīḥ. In the present Bible this event is stated in these words: · "After these things it came to pass that God tested Abraham, and said to him, 'Abraham!' And he said, 'Here I am.' Then He said, 'Take now your son, your only son Isaac, whom you love, and go to the land of Moriah, and offer him there as a burnt offering on one of the mountains of which I shall tell you'" (Genesis 22:1–2). · In this, the event of slaughter is attributed to Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām); but if fairness and investigation are used, it becomes plain that here the Jews, by their traditional bias, have committed alteration in the wording of the Torah. For in the very quoted passage of Genesis the words "your only son" show that the son Ibrāhīm was commanded to sacrifice was his only son; and further on in the same chapter it is again written: · "You have not withheld your son, your only son, from Me" (Genesis 22:12). · This sentence too contains the statement that the son was Ibrāhīm's ('alaihi-s-salām) only son; and it is settled that Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām) was not his only son. If "only son" can apply to anyone, it is only Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām); several other passages of Genesis itself testify that the birth of Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) [was before] Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām)...

... (Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr ne) likhā hai ki: "Allāh hī behtar jāntā hai, lekin bi-zāhir yih sāre aqwāl Ka'b al-Aḥbār se mā'khūz haiñ, is li'e ki jab woh Ḥaḍrat 'Umar raḍiyallāhu 'anhu ke zamāne meñ Islām lā'e to Ḥaḍrat 'Umar raḍiyallāhu 'anhu ko apnī purānī kitāboñ kī bāteñ sunāne lage; ba'z auqāt Ḥaḍrat 'Umar raḍiyallāhu 'anhu un kī bāteñ sun lete the; is se aur logoñ ko bhī gunjā'ish milī, aur unhoñ ne bhī un kī riwāyāt sun kar unheñ naql karnā shurū' kar diyā. Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr kī yih bāt bahut qarīn-e-qiyās ma'lūm hotī hai. Is li'e ki Ḥaḍrat Ishāq 'alaihi-s-salām ko zabīḥ qarār dene kī bunyād Isrā'īlī riwāyāt hī par hai; isī

li'e Yahūd wa Naṣārā Ḥaḍrat Ismā'īl 'alaihi-s-salām ke bajā'e Ḥaḍrat Ishāq 'alaihi-s-salām ko zabīḥ qarār dete haiṅ. Maujūda Bā'ibil meṅ yih wāqī'a in alfāz meṅ bayān kiyā gayā hai:

"In bātoṅ ke ba'd yūn hu'ā ki Khudā ne Abrahām ko āzmāyā aur use kahā: ai Abrahām! Us ne kahā main ḥāẓir hūn; tab us ne kahā ki tū apne beṭe Ishāq ko, jo terā iklautā hai, aur jise tū pyār kartā hai, sāth le kar Moriah ke mulk meṅ jā, aur wahān use pahāron meṅ se ek pahār par, jo main tujhe batlā'ūn gā, sokhtnī qurbānī ke ṭaur par chaṛhā" (Paidā'ish 22:1 o 2).

Is meṅ zabḥ kā wāqī'a Ḥaḍrat Ishāq 'alaihi-s-salām kī ṭaraf mansūb kiyā gayā hai; lekin agar inṣāf se aur taḥqīq se kām liyā jā'e to ṣāf ma'lūm ho jātā hai ki yahān Yahūdīyon ne apne riwāyatī ta'aṣṣub se kām le kar Taurāt kī 'ibārat meṅ taḥrīf kā irtikāb kiyā hai. PDF PAGE 466 · [Q 37:101-113 Ma'ārif — the zabīḥ argument from Genesis passages] · ...[the birth of Ismā'īl] had occurred long before [that of Ishāq]. Observe: · "And Sarai, Abraham's wife, bore him no children; she had an Egyptian maidservant named Hagar; and he went in to Hagar, and she conceived... And the angel of the Lord said to her, 'you are with child, and shall bear a son; you shall call his name Ishmael.' And Abraham was eighty-six years old when Hagar bore Ishmael to Abraham" (Genesis 16:1, 4, 10, 16). · Also in the next chapter it is written: · "And God said to Abraham, 'as for Sarai your wife... I will give you a son by her also.' Then Abraham fell on his face and laughed, and said in his heart, 'shall a child be born to a man a hundred years old? And shall Sarah, who is ninety years old, bear a child?' And Abraham said to God, 'oh that Ishmael might live before You!' Then God said, 'indeed your wife Sarah shall bear you a son, and you shall call his name Isaac'" (Genesis 17:15–20). · Then the birth of Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām) is mentioned thus: · "And Abraham was a hundred years old when his son Isaac was born to him" (Genesis 21). · From these passages it is plain that Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām) was fourteen years younger than Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām), and in that fourteen-year period he [Ismā'īl] was Ibrāhīm's ('alaihi-s-salām) only son; whereas no time passed over Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām) in which he was his father's only son. Now when, after this, Genesis chapter 22 mentions the son's sacrifice, the word "only" plainly testifies that Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) is meant, and some Jew added the word "Isaac" beside it merely so that this excellence should go to the children of Ishāq instead of the children of Ismā'īl. · Besides, in the same book of Genesis, where Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) is given the glad tidings of Ishāq's ('alaihi-s-salām) birth, it is also mentioned that: · "Certainly I will bless him (i.e. Ishāq) — nations shall be of his line" (Genesis 17). · Now plainly, a son of whom, before his birth, it was already announced that he would have offspring and that "nations shall be of his line" — the command to sacrifice him...

... (Ḥaḍrat Ismā'īl 'alaihi-s-salām kī paidā'ish Ḥaḍrat Ishāq 'alaihi-s-salām) se bahut pahle ho chukī thī. Mulāḥaẓa farmā' iye:

"Aur Abrahām kī bīwī Sārā'ī kī koī aulād na hoī; us kī ek Miṣrī laundī thī, jis kā nām Hājra thā; aur woh Hājra ke pās gayā, aur woh ḥāmila hoī ... Aur Khudāwand ke firishte ne us se kahā ki tū to ḥāmila hai, aur tere beṭā hogā; us kā nām Ismā'īl rakhnā. Aur jab Abrahām se Hājra ke Ismā'īl paidā hu'ā tab Abrahām chhiyāsī baras kā thā" (Paidā'ish bāb 16, āyāt 1, 4, 10, 16).

Nīz agle bāb meñ likhā hai:

"Aur Khudā ne Abrahām se kahā ki Sārā'ī jo terī bīwī hai ... is se bhī tujhe ek beṭā bakhshūn gā ... Tab Abrahām sarnigūn hu'ā aur hañs kar dil meñ kahne lagā ki kya sau baras ke būṛhe se koī baccha hogā? Aur kya Sāra ke, jo nawwe baras kī hai, aulād hogī? Aur Abrahām ne Khudā se kahā ki kāsh! Ismā'īl hī terī ḥuḍūr jītā rahe. Tab Khudā ne farmāyā ki beshak terī bīwī Sāra ke tujh se beṭā hogā, tū us kā nām Ishāq rakhnā" (Paidā'ish 17, āyat 15 tā 20).

Is ke ba'd Ḥaḍrat Ishāq 'alaihi-s-salām kī paidā'ish kā tazkirah is ṭarah kiyā gayā hai:

"Aur jab us kā beṭā Ishāq us se paidā hu'ā to Abrahām sau baras kā thā" (Paidā'ish 21).

In 'ibāratoñ se šāf wāziḥ hai ki Ḥaḍrat Ishāq 'alaihi-s-salām Ḥaḍrat Ismā'īl 'alaihi-s-salām se chaudah sāl chhoṭe the, aur is chaudah sāl ke 'arṣe meñ woh Ḥaḍrat Ibrāhīm 'alaihi-s-salām ke iklaute beṭe the; is ke bar-'aks Ḥaḍrat Ishāq 'alaihi-s-salām par aisā koī waqt nahīn guzrā jis meñ woh apne wālid ke iklaute hoñ. Ab is ke ba'd jab kitāb-e-Paidā'ish ke bā'iswīn bāb meñ beṭe kī qurbānī kā zikr ātā hai, to us

"Yaḳīnan main use (ya'nī Ḥaḍrat Ishāq ko) barakat dūñ gā ki qaumeñ us kī nasl se hoñ gī" (Paidā'ish 17).

This too shows the command concerned not Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām) but Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām). · Seeing these passages of the Bible, one estimates how correct Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr's view is: · "The Jews' scriptures explicitly state that when Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) was born, Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) was eighty-six years old, and when Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām) was born he was a hundred; and their books also record that Allāh commanded Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) to slaughter his only son, and in another manuscript, instead of 'only', the word 'firstborn' appears. So the Jews here added the word 'Isaac' on their own, with no justification for calling it correct, since it contradicts the statements of their own books. They added this word because Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām) is their [supreme] ancestor and Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) is the Arabs'; so out of envy the Jews added this word. And now they interpret 'only' to mean the son who at that time had no other beside him with him (because Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām) and his mother were not there then, so Ishāq ('alaihi-s-salām) could be called 'only' in that sense). But this is an entirely wrong interpretation and a false alteration, for 'only' means a son whose father has no other son beside him" (Tafsīr Ibn Kaṣīr, p.14, vol.4). · Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr also cites that a Jewish scholar embraced Islam in the time of 'Umar bin 'Abd al-'Azīz; 'Umar bin 'Abd al-'Azīz asked him which of Ibrāhīm's ('alaihi-s-salām) sons was commanded to be slaughtered. He said: "by Allāh, O Commander of the Believers, it was Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām); the Jews know this well, but out of envy of you Arabs they say [it was Ishāq]" (p.18, vol.4). · In the light of these proofs it is nearly certain that the zabīḥ was Ismā'īl ('alaihi-s-salām). Wa-llāhu subḥānahū a'lam. · Verse lemma (vv.112–113): "wa min zurriyyatihimā muḥsinun wa ḡālimun li-nafsihī mubīn" — (and among the offspring of the two, some are good...)

Indeed the two were of Our perfect, believing servants (hence this perfect reward was given). · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: These āyāt state the third event, that of Mūsā and Hārūn ('alaihimā-s-salām). This event has passed in detail in several places; here it is only alluded to, and the real aim of mentioning it is to state how Allāh helps His sincere, obedient servants and with what favours He rewards them. So here the favours upon Mūsā and Hārūn ('alaihimā-s-salām) are mentioned. · Favours are of two kinds: positive favours — conferring benefit; "wa laqad manannā 'alā Mūsā wa Hārūn" points to this kind. "innahū min 'ibādina-l-mu'minīn" — he was of Our believing servants. ·
Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: And Ilyās ('alaihi-s-salām) too was among the prophets [of the Banī Isrā'īl]. Recall his event, when he said to his people (the Banī Isrā'īl), who were mired in idolatry: "do you not fear Allāh? Do you worship Ba'1 — the name of an idol — and forsake the worship of the One who is the greatest of creators? For (others have power over the analysis and compounding of only some things, and that too incidentally; whereas He has essential power to bring all things from non-existence into being — and no other can put life [into anything], while He puts in life; and He) is the true Object of worship — Allāh, your Lord and the Lord of your forefathers." So they belied him (in this claim of tauḥīd); so (in punishment for that belying) they will be seized (in the punishment of the hereafter); except Allāh's chosen servants — the people of religious faith — (who will be in reward). And for Ilyās, among the people who came after him, We left (for a long age) this: that peace be upon "Ilyāsīn" — which is also a name of Ilyās ('alaihi-s-salām). Thus do We reward the sincere, making them deserving of praise and prayer. Indeed he was of Our perfect, believing servants. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il:

In Sūrah al-An'ām his noble name is only counted in the list of prophets, with no event mentioned; here, however, in the utmost brevity, the event of his call and conveyance is stated. · Since the Qur'ān does not mention Ilyās's ('alaihi-s-salām) circumstances in detail...

drawn from Isrā'īlī narrations. A small group of mufasssīrīn hold that "Ilyās" is another name of Ḥaḍrat Idrīs ('alaihi-s-salām), the two being one person; and some have said there is no difference between Ilyās and Khiḍr ('alaihimā-s-salām) — but the muḥaqqiqīn have refuted these sayings; the Qur'ān itself mentions Idrīs and Ilyās separately, leaving no room to make them one, so Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr in al-Bidāya wa-n-Nihāya (j.1, p.339) declared it correct that both are distinct messengers. · [Box — era and place of his mission:] The Qur'ān and Ḥadīth do not state when or where Ilyās ('alaihi-s-salām) was raised; but historical and Isrā'īlī reports nearly agree that he was raised to the Banī Isrā'īl after Ḥizqīl (Ezekiel) and before al-Yasa' (Elisha) ('alaihimā-s-salām). That was the era when, through the misdeeds of Sulaimān's ('alaihi-s-salām) successors, the Banī Isrā'īl kingdom had split in two: one part called Yahūdāh / Yahūdiyya with its centre at Baīt al-Muqaddas, the other called Isrā'īl with its seat at Sāmara (present-day Nāblus). Ilyās ('alaihi-s-salām) was born in the Jal'ād (Gilead) region in the land of Urdun (Jordan). The king then ruling Isrā'īl was named — in the Bible and in Arabic histories and tafsīrs — Aḥ'ab (Ahab); his wife Īzabil (Jezebel) worshipped an idol called Ba'1, had built a great altar to Ba'1 in Isrā'īl, and had set all Banū Isrā'īl to idol-worship. Allāh commanded Ilyās ('alaihi-s-salām) to go into that region, teach tauḥīd, and turn the Isrā'īlīs back from idolatry. (Tafsīr Ibn Jarīr j.23 p.53; Ibn Kaṣīr j.4 p.19; Tafsīr Mazharī j.8 p.134; and the Bible, 1 Kings 16:29–33 and 17:1.) · [Box — the struggle with his people:] Like the other prophets, Ilyās ('alaihi-s-salām) had a severe struggle with his people; two of these struggles became grave. The Qur'ān, not being a book of history, states in place of the full detail only so much as serves for a lesson and admonition — namely that his people belied him, and none [followed] Ilyās save a few sincere servants...

Among the current tafsīrs the most extended account of Ilyās (‘alaihi-s-salām) is in Tafsīr Mazharī, on the authority of ‘Allāma Baghawī (rah.); the events it records are drawn almost entirely from the Bible. Other tafsīrs too relate parts of these events on the authority of Wahb ibn Munabbih (rah.), Ka‘b al-Aḥbār (rah.) and others, who mostly transmit Isrā’īlī reports. · The common thread that emerges as a summary of all these narrations is this: Ilyās (‘alaihi-s-salām) called the king of Isrā’īl, Aḥ‘ab (Ahab), and his subjects to tauḥīd, forbidding them the worship of the idol Ba‘l; but except for one or two truth-loving persons no one heeded him — rather they tried to harass him in various ways, until Aḥ‘ab and his wife Īzabil (Jezebel) laid schemes to kill him. He took refuge in a far-off cave and stayed there a long while. Then he prayed that the people of Isrā’īl be struck with famine, so that — to lift the famine — he might show them miracles and they might perhaps believe; and so they were afflicted with a severe drought. · After that, by Allāh's command, Ilyās (‘alaihi-s-salām) met Aḥ'ab and told him this punishment was for disobeying Allāh, and if even now they desisted it could be lifted; and that this was also the best occasion to test his truthfulness: "you say Ba‘l has four hundred and fifty prophets in Isrā‘īl — gather them all before me one day; let them offer a sacrifice in Ba‘l's name and I in Allāh's name, and whichever sacrifice a fire from heaven comes and consumes, his religion is the true one." All accepted this proposal gladly. · So the assembly was held at Mount Carmel (Koh-e-Karmil); Ba‘l's false prophets offered their sacrifice and kept imploring Ba‘l from morning till midday, but no answer came. Then Ilyās (‘alaihi-s-salām) offered his sacrifice; fire descended from the sky and consumed it. Seeing this, many people fell prostrate and the truth became plain to them; but Ba‘l's false prophets still would not accept, so Ilyās (‘alaihi-s-salām) had them put to death in the valley of Qīshon (Kishon). · After this incident continuous heavy rain also fell and the whole region was watered, but...

Hearing this, Ilyās (‘alaihi-s-salām) again went into hiding from Sāmara, and after a while began preaching in the other Banī-Isrā’īl land, Yahūdā, since the plague of Ba‘l-worship had gradually spread there too. Its king Yahūrām (Jehoram) also would not hear him — until, in line with Ilyās's (‘alaihi-s-salām) prophecy, he was destroyed and ruined. · Some years later he returned to Isrā’īl and again tried to bring Aḥ'ab and his son Akhazyāh (Ahaziah) to the straight path, but they persisted in their evil deeds, until they were made a prey to foreign attacks and deadly diseases. After that Allāh recalled His prophet. · [Box — Is Ilyās (‘alaihi-s-salām) alive?] Among historians and mufasssīrīn it has also been debated whether Ilyās (‘alaihi-s-salām) is living or has passed away. In the long report given in Tafsīr Mazharī on ‘Allāma Baghawī's (rah.) authority it is also stated that Ilyās (‘alaihi-s-salām) was taken up towards the sky, mounted on a horse of fire, and that he is alive like ‘Īsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) (Mazharī j.8 p.141). ‘Allāma Suyūfī (rah.) too, on the authority of Ibn ‘Asākir (rah.), Ḥākim (rah.) and others, has cited several reports indicating that he is alive. From Ka‘b al-Aḥbār (rah.) it is transmitted that four prophets are still living: two on the earth — Khiḍr and Ilyās; and two in the sky — ‘Īsā and Idrīs (‘alaihimu-s-salām) (Dur-e-Manṣūr j.5 pp.285, 286). Some have even said that Khiḍr and Ilyās (‘alaihimā-s-salām) gather every year in the month of Ramaḍān at Bait al-Muqaddas and keep the fasts (Tafsīr Qurṭubī j.15 p.116). · But investigating scholars like Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr (rah.) did not hold these reports sound; of these Isrā’īlī narrations he writes: "wa hiya mina-l-Isrā’īliyyāti-llatī lā tuṣaddaqu wa lā tukazzabu, bal ṣāhiruhā anna ṣiḥḥatahā ba‘īdatun" — "these are of the Isrā’īlī reports that are neither affirmed nor denied; rather it appears that their soundness is remote" (al-Bidāya wa-n-Nihāya j.1 p.338). He also says: "Ibn ‘Asākir has cited many reports from people who met Ilyās (‘alaihi-s-salām); but none of them is reliable, either because their...

In the Gospel of John: "And they asked him, 'what then? Are you Elijah?' He said, 'I am not'" (John 1:21). · It seems that scholars like Ka'b al-Aḥbār and Wahb ibn Munabbih (rah.), expert in the sciences of the People of the Book, related these same reports to the Muslims, through which the idea of Ilyās's ('alaihi-s-salām) [continued] life spread among some Muslims too; otherwise there is no proof in the Qur'ān or Ḥadīth establishing his being alive or his being raised to the sky. · Only one report is found, in the Mustadrak of Ḥākim, that the Messenger ﷺ met Ilyās ('alaihi-s-salām) on the road to Tabūk; but by the explicit statement of the muḥaddiṣīn this report is fabricated. Ḥāfiẓ Zāhabī (rah.) says: "bal huwa mauḍū'un, qabbaḥa-llāhu man waḍa'ahū; wa mā kuntu aḥsabu wa lā ujawwizu anna-l-jahla yablughu bi-l-Ḥākimi ilā an yuṣaḥḥiḥa hāzā" — "rather it is fabricated; may Allāh disgrace whoever forged it. I did not [before] think or suppose that carelessness could reach so far with Ḥākim that he would declare this ḥadīth sound" (Dur-e-Manṣūr j.5 p.286). · Upshot: Ilyās's ('alaihi-s-salām) being alive is not established by any reliable Islamic report. PDF PAGE 475 · [Q 37:125-127 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il / tafsīr — "Ba'l": "aḥsanu-l-khāliqīn"; ascribing "creation" to other than Allāh] · ...and the Messenger's ﷺ teaching about Isrā'īlī reports should be acted on — "neither affirm them nor deny them" — because the aim of tafsīr and of drawing a lesson and admonition from the Qur'ān is fully attained without them. Wa-llāhu subḥānahū wa ta'ālā a'lam. Now consider the tafsīr of the āyāt: · "a-taḍ'ūna Ba'lan" — (do you call upon Ba'l?): "Ba'l" literally means husband, master and the like; but here it was the name of the idol which Ilyās's ('alaihi-s-salām) people had made their object of worship. The worship of Ba'l is very ancient; in the Syrian region it was practised in the time of Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām), and it was their most popular deity. The famous Syrian city "Ba'lbak" is named after it. (Some hold that the well-known Ḥijāzī idol "Hubal" is this same Ba'l.) (Qaṣaṣ al-Qur'ān j.2 p.28) · "wa tazārūna aḥsana-l-khāliqīn" — (and forsake the best of creators): this means Allāh Ta'ālā. "Aḥsanu-l-khāliqīn" (the best of creators) does not mean that any other creator could exist (ma‘āzallāh); rather that He is loftier in rank than all the false objects of worship you have set up as "creators" (Qurṭubī). Some mufasssīrīn say "khāliq" is here used in the sense of "ṣāni‘" (fashioner) — i.e. He surpasses all fashioners, because other makers only join parts together to produce a thing; bringing a thing into existence from nothing is beyond their power, whereas Allāh has essential power to give existence to non-existent things (Bayān al-Qur‘ān). · [Box — ascribing the attribute of "creation" to other than Allāh is not permissible:] Bear in mind that "khalq" means to bring into being — i.e. to bring a thing into existence out of sheer non-existence by essential power. This attribute is therefore exclusive to Allāh, and it is not permissible to ascribe it to anyone else. Hence the fashion current in our time of calling writers' articles, poets' verses and painters' pictures their "takhlīqāt" (creations) is not at all permissible; nor is it correct to call a writer the "khāliq" of his articles — none but Allāh can be khāliq. Such products of the pen should be called "kāwish" (effort / endeavour) and the like, not "takhlīq." · "fa-kazzabūhu fa-innahum la-muḥḍarūn" — (so they belied him, so they will surely be brought [for punishment]): they must face the outcome of belying Allāh's true messengers — this can mean the punishment of the hereafter and also an evil end in the world. It has passed above that Ilyās's (‘alaihi-s-salām)...

The Arabs often add a yā-alif and nūn to non-Arabic names, e.g. "Sīnīn" from "Sīnā"; likewise here two letters have been added. · Verse table (vv.133–138, Lūṭ): v.133 "wa inna Lūṭan la-mina-l-mursalīn" — and indeed Lūṭ was among the messengers; v.134 "iz najjaināhu wa ahlahū ajma'īn" — when We saved him and all his household, v.135 "illā 'ajūzan fī-l-ghābirīn" — except an old woman among those who stayed behind; v.136 "ṣumma dammarna-l-ākharīn" — then We utterly destroyed the others; v.137 "wa innakum la-tamurrūna 'alaihim muṣbiḥīn" — and indeed you pass by them at morning; v.138 "wa bi-l-lail; a-fa-lā ta'qilūn" — and at night — do you then not use reason? · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: And indeed Lūṭ ('alaihi-s-salām) too was among the prophets; his story of that time deserves reflection and remembrance, when We saved him and all his dependants — except that old woman, namely his wife, who remained among those left in the punishment. Then We destroyed all the others (whose story has come in several places). And you, O people of Makka, pass by their [dwellings and ruins] on the journey to Syria, sometimes at morning and sometimes at night, and you see [the traces of that destruction] — do you then, even after seeing it, not understand what the end of disbelief was, and that the same fate threatens whoever disbelieves hereafter?

Morning and night are mentioned specifically because the Arabs generally passed that way at those times. Khulāṣa: (Recall) when he foretold to his people, by Allāh's command, the punishment for their not believing, and himself left them. When at the appointed time the signs of the punishment began to appear, the people sought Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) in order to believe; not finding him, they all together wept and implored Allāh and believed in a general way, and the punishment was lifted. When Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) somehow learned of this, he — out of shame, and by his own ijṭihād without Allāh's explicit leave — fled from his place, intending to go far off. On the way was a sea, with a ship crowded with travellers; as soon as he boarded, the ship sailed and a storm arose. The crew said, "there is some new offender among us who must be removed from the ship"; to fix on him they agreed to cast lots. Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) too took part, and the lot fell on him; so he cast himself into the sea. (Perhaps the shore was near, so he meant to swim to it; hence no charge of suicide follows.) Then, when he fell in, by Our command a large fish swallowed him — and at that time he was blameworthy, reproaching himself for that ijtihādī error, having repented from the heart and glorifying and seeking forgiveness with the tongue, tauḥīd and tasbīḥ, as in the other āyah: "lā ilāha illā anta subḥānaka innī kuntu mina-ẓ-ẓālimīn." · Had he then not been of those who glorify [Allāh] and seek forgiveness, he would have stayed in its belly till the Day of Resurrection — i.e. coming out would have been impossible and he would have been made its food; but because he glorified and repented, We kept him safe from that and had the fish cast him out onto an open plain (commanding it to disgorge him on the shore). At that time he was worn out, for he had aged / been chafed in the fish's belly and his nourishment was unwholesome; and We (to shield him from the sun) grew over him a gourd (creeper) plant, and a wild mountain-goat would come and give him milk to drink. And We had sent him as a prophet to a hundred thousand people or more — in the city of Nīnawā near Mūṣil — and they then believed: first, in a general way, on seeing the signs of the punishment, and in detail after the fish incident when Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) went back to them; so, by the blessing of [their] faith, We gave them enjoyment for a time (i.e. a lifetime of well-being). · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: The last event in this Sūrah is that of Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām). "abaqa"; the ruling on drawing lots (qur‘a-andāzī)] · ...the related details have passed at the end of Sūrah Yūnus (see Ma‘ārif al-Qur‘ān j.5 p.5) and their summary has come above in the Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr, so no repetition is needed here; only a few necessary points about these particular āyāt: · "wa inna Yūnusa la-mina-l-mursalīn": some mufasssīrīn and historians have debated whether Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) was made a messenger before the fish episode or afterwards. Some hold he was made a messenger after it; but from the apparent style of the Qur‘ān and most narrations the stronger view is that he had already been given the office of messengership, and the fish episode came later. · "iz abaqa ila-l-fulki-l-mashḥūn" — (when he fled to the laden ship): the word "abaqa" is from "ibāq," meaning a slave's fleeing from his master. Allāh used this word of Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) because he set out without waiting for revelation from his Lord. The prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām) are Allāh's near servants, and even a slight slip on their part becomes a cause of great reckoning; hence this severe word is used. · "fa-sāhama" — (so he took part in the drawing of lots): this lot-casting was done when the ship, having reached mid-sea, was caught in a storm and there was fear of its sinking from excess weight; it was decided to throw one person into the sea, and the lot was cast to determine who that person was. · [Box — the ruling on drawing lots:] Bear in mind that by drawing lots no one's right can be established, nor can anyone be declared a criminal — e.g. a person cannot be proven a thief by lot; likewise if two people dispute whose property a certain estate is, it cannot be decided by lot. · Drawing lots is, however, permissible — indeed preferable — where a person has full shar‘ī discretion to choose any of several lawful options: instead of choosing one by his own wish, he settles it by lot. For example, one who has more than one wife has the right, when travelling, to take whichever wife he wishes; rather than deciding by his own preference, it is better that he cast lots, so that no one is aggrieved. This was the practice of the Messenger ﷺ. In the Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) episode too, the aim of the lot was not to prove anyone a criminal; rather, to save the whole ship anyone could be thrown into the sea, and the lot...

No suspicion of suicide should arise, since the shore may have been near and he may have intended to reach it by swimming. · "fa-lau lā annahū kāna mina-l-musabbihīn" (etc.): it is wrong to understand from this āyah that had Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) not glorified [Allāh], the fish would have stayed alive till the Resurrection; rather it means that the fish's belly itself would have been made the grave of Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām). · [Box — glorification and seeking forgiveness avert calamities:] This āyah also shows that tasbīḥ and istighfār carry special importance in removing hardships and afflictions. It has passed in Sūrah al-Anbiyā’ that while Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) was in the fish's belly he recited especially the words "lā ilāha illā anta subḥānaka innī kuntu mina-ẓ-ẓālimīn"; by the blessing of these very words Allāh delivered him from that trial, and he came out of the fish's belly safe and sound. It is therefore transmitted from the pious that at a time of individual or communal distress they recite these words a hundred thousand times, and by their blessing Allāh removes the distress. · In Abū Dāwūd it is narrated from Sa‘d ibn Abī Waqqāṣ (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) that the Messenger ﷺ said: whichever Muslim recites, for any purpose, the supplication that Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) made in the fish's belly — "lā ilāha illā anta subḥānaka innī kuntu mina-ẓ-ẓālimīn" — his supplication will be answered (Tafsīr Qurṭubī). · "fa-nabaznāhu bi-l-‘arā’i wa huwa saqīm" — (so We cast him onto the open plain, and he was then worn out): "al-‘arā’" means open ground with no tree on it. Some reports indicate that at that time Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām), from having stayed in the fish's belly, had become extremely weak, with no hair left on his body. · "wa anbatnā ‘alaihi shajaratan min yaqṭīn" — (and We grew over him a gourd creeper): "yaqṭīn" is any plant with no trunk. Reports say it was a gourd vine. The purpose of growing it was to give Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) shade. The word "shajarah" here indicates that either Allāh miraculously gave that gourd vine a trunk...

"for a time"; a reply to the deception of Mirzā Qādiyānī] · ...or there was some other tree over which that vine was trained, so that it might give dense shade, a vine alone being unlikely to shade him. · "wa arsalnāhu ilā mi'ati alfin aw yazīdūn" — (and We sent him as a prophet to a hundred thousand people or more): an objection may arise here — Allāh is All-Knowing and All-Aware; what need has He to express the doubt "a hundred thousand or more"? The answer is that this phrase is stated with reference to ordinary people, i.e. an ordinary man seeing them would say their number is a hundred thousand or a little more (Mazharī). Ḥaḍrat Thānawī (rah.) said that no expression of doubt is intended here at all: they can be called a hundred thousand, and also more — thus, that if the fraction is disregarded their number was a hundred thousand, and if the fraction is counted, more than a hundred thousand (Bayān al-Qur'ān). · Since this phrase comes after the fish episode, some mufasssīrīn have concluded that Yūnus's ('alaihi-s-salām) prophetic mission was after that episode. 'Allāma Baghawī (rah.) went so far as to say that this āyah does not mention the mission to Nīnawā at all; rather, after the fish episode he was sent to another community numbering over a hundred thousand — but the Qur'ān and the narrations do not support this view. · The mention of his messengership at the very start of the Yūnus ('alaihi-s-salām) account plainly shows that the fish episode occurred after he became a messenger; the phrase is brought again here only because, after Yūnus's ('alaihi-s-salām) recovery, he was sent to preach to them a second time, and here it is made clear that they were not a mere handful but numbered above a hundred thousand. · "fa-āmanū fa-matta' nāhum ilā ḥīn" — (so they believed, and We gave them enjoyment for a time): "for a time" means that as long as they did not fall back into disbelief and shirk, no punishment came upon them. · [Box — a reply to the deception of Mirzā Qādiyānī:] This has been clarified in the tafsīr of Sūrah Yūnus, and it is clear from this āyah too, that the punishment was averted from Yūnus's ('alaihi-s-salām) people because his people believed in time. This ends the deception of the Punjab's false prophet Mirzā Ghulām Aḥmad Qādiyānī: when he challenged his opponents that if that party kept up its opposition, Allāh's decree was settled that divine punishment would come by such-and-such time — but when the opponents'...

PDF PAGE 483 · [Q 37:164-166 verse table (angels speak) → Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (vv.149-166) — the three defects in the belief that Allāh has offspring] · Verse table: v.164 "wa mā minnā illā lahū maqāmun ma'lūm" — (the angels say:) there is not one of us but has an appointed station; v.165 "wa innā la-naḥnu-ṣ-ṣāffūn" — and we, we are those who stand in ranks; v.166 "wa innā la-naḥnu-l-musabbihūn" — and we, we are those who glorify [Him]. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: (The proofs of tauḥīd have been given above; so now, after that,) ask those people who make the angels and the jinn partners of Allāh — in that they call the angels (na'ūzu billāh) Allāh's daughters and make the daughters of the jinn-chiefs the mothers of those angels, which entails that Allāh has a lineal relationship with the angels and a marital tie with the jinn — ask them all: are there daughters for Allāh and sons for you? That is, when you prefer sons for yourselves, how do you assign daughters to Allāh in the said belief? So one defect in this belief is this. And (ah, hear) this second point: did We make the angels female, and were they (present) watching (when they were made)? I.e. a second evil is that they lay on the angels, without proof, the slander of being female. Hear it well: these people have no proof at all; rather, out of sheer fabrication of speech they say that (naʿūzu billāh) Allāh has offspring — and they are certainly, utterly lying. · So a third evil in this belief is that it entails ascribing offspring to Allāh Taʿālā. Of these, the ugliness of the first is established by custom (ʿurf), of the second by transmission (naql), and of the third by reason (ʿaql). And since, for the ignorant, establishing an evil by custom is more effective, the first evil is repeated under another heading: has Allāh Taʿālā indeed preferred daughters over sons? What is with you — what an absurd judgement you pass, one that by custom you yourselves count as bad! Then, besides custom, do you not use reason and reflection (to see that this belief is also against reason)? Yes — [if there is no rational proof,] have you any clear proof for it (meaning a transmitted proof)? So if you are truthful (about there being a heavenly book), bring that book of yours. And (besides making the angels offspring in the said belief) these people have set up (also) a kinship between Allāh and the jinn — whose falsity is even more obvious; for that for which a wife exists, Allāh Taʿālā is far above it, and when the marital relation is impossible, the in-law relations that stem from it are impossible too. And as for the jinn whom these people make Allāh's partners, their state is that among them (the jinn who)...

theme — affirming tauḥīd and refuting shirk — is resumed, and here a special kind of shirk is discussed. The pagan Arabs believed that the angels are the daughters of Allāh, and that the daughters of the jinn-chiefs are the mothers of the angels. According to ‘Allāma Wāḥidī (rah.), besides Quraysh this belief was current among Juhayna, Banū Salima, Banū Khuzā‘a and Banū Mulaḥ (Tafsīr Kabīr j.7 p.112). · "fa-staftihim" (to the words) "in kuntum ṣādiqīn": in these āyāt proofs are advanced to refute this very belief of the pagan Arabs, summed up thus: first, this belief of yours is, by your own custom and usage, utterly wrong — for you count daughters a disgrace; how then can a thing that is shame and dishonour for yourselves be established for Allāh Ta‘ālā? Then, what proof have you for making the angels Allāh's daughters? A claim can be established by three kinds of proof: observation; transmitted proof (the statement of one whose truthfulness is accepted); and rational proof. As for observation, you obviously did not see Allāh Ta‘ālā creating the angels...

... un mein jo Khudā ke kāfir hain woh (‘azāb mein) giriftār hon ge. (Aur ‘azāb mein kyon giriftār na hon ge ki Ḥaqq Ta‘ālā kī nisbat burī burī bāteḥ bayān karte hain, ḥālānki Allāh in bāteḥ se pāk hai jo yih bayān karte hain.) Pas in ke farā‘iba bayānāt se woh giriftār-e-‘azāb hon ge, magar jo Allāh ke khāṣ (ya ‘nī dīnī īmān wāle) bande hain (woh is ‘azāb se bacheḥ ge). So tum aur tumhāre sāre ma‘būd (sab mil kar bhī) Khudā se kisī ko chhīr nahīn sakte (jaisī tum ko koshish kiyā karte ho), magar usī ko jo Khudā ke ‘ilm-e-ilāhī mein jahannam-rasīda hone wālā hai.

Aur āge malā‘ika kā zikr farmāte hain ki in mein jo malā‘ika hain un kā yih maqūla hai ki ham to banda-e-maḥẓ hain, chunānchi jo khidmat hamāre supurd hai us mein (ham mein se) har ek kā ek mu‘ayyan darja hai, ki usī kī bajā-āwarī mein lage rahte hain, apnī rāy se kuchh nahīn kar sakte. Aur ham (Khudā ke ḥudūr mein ḥukm sunne ke waqt yā ‘ibādat ke waqt adaban) ṣaf-basta khāṣ hote hain, aur ham (Khudā kī) pākī bayān karne mein bhī lage rahte hain. Ġharaḍ har ṭarah maḥkūm aur bande hain. So jab firishte khud apnī bandagī kā i‘tirāf kar rahe hain to phir un par ma‘būd hone kā shubha karnā baṭī bewuqūfī hai. Pas jinnāt aur malā‘ika ke ḥaqq mein khudā‘ī kā i‘tiqād bā-aḥsan wujūh bāṭil ho gayā.

PDF PAGE 485 · [Q 37:149-158 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il (cont.) — none of the three proofs supports the belief; the ad-hominem (ilzāmī) reply; "a kinship between Allāh and the jinn"] · ...you did not see [Allāh creating the angels], from which the angels' being female could be known; so you have no proof from observation ("am khalaqna-l-malā’ikata ināthan wa hum shāhidūn" means just this). As for transmitted proof, you have none of that either, for a transmitted proof is the statement of people whose truthfulness is accepted; whereas those who hold this belief are liars, and their word can be no evidence ("a-lā innahum min ifkihim la-yaqūlūn" etc. means just this). As for rational proof, that too does not support you, since by your own view daughters rank lower than sons; how then could the Being who is superior to all creation choose the lower-ranking thing for Himself? ("a-ṣṭafa-l-banāti ‘ala-l-banīn" means just this). One possibility alone remains: that a heavenly book came to you and by revelation you were taught this belief in it; if so, show where that revelation and that book are ("am lakum sulṭānun mubīn, fa’tū bi-kitābikum in kuntum ṣādiqīn" means just this). · [Box — for the obstinate, an ad-hominem reply is more fitting:] These āyāt show that for people bent on obstinacy an ilzāmī (ad-hominem) reply is more fitting. An ilzāmī reply means refuting their claim by means of some other view held by themselves. It is not required that this other view be accepted by us too; indeed the other view is often wrong itself, but it is used to make the opponent understand. · Here Allāh Ta‘ālā, to refute their belief, has used their own view that daughters (being a cause of shame and disgrace) are obviously so — this does not mean that with Allāh Ta‘ālā too daughters are a cause of shame, nor that it would be correct if they called the angels God's sons instead of God's daughters; rather it is an ilzāmī reply, aimed at refuting their belief from what they themselves suppose about God. Otherwise the real answer to beliefs of this kind is that which the Qur’ān states in several places: that Allāh Ta‘ālā is Self-Sufficient (be-niyāz), has no need of any offspring, and it does not befit the loftiness of His majesty that He have offspring. · "wa ja‘alū bainahū wa baina-l-jinnati nasabā" — (and they made a lineal relationship between Allāh and the jinn): one tafsīr of this phrase is that it states the very belief of the pagan Arabs that the daughters of the jinn-chiefs are the mothers of the angels — as if

Ab rahī naqlī dalīl, so woh bhī tumhāre pās nahīn, is li'e ki naqlī dalīl un logoñ kā qaul mu'tabar hotā hai jin kī sacchāī musallam ho; is ke bar-'aks jo log is 'aqīde ke qā'il haiñ woh jhūṭe log haiñ, un kī bāt koī ḥujjat nahīn ho saktī ("a-lā innahum min ifkihim la-yaqūlūn" ilakh kā yihī maṭlab hai). Rahī 'aqlī dalīl, so woh bhī tumhārī ta'yīd nahīn kartī, is li'e ki khud tumhāre khiyāl ke muṭābiq beṭiyāñ beṭon ke muqābale meñ kam martaba rakhtī haiñ; ab jo zāt tamām kā'ināt se afḍal hai woh apne li'e kam-martaba wālī chīz ko kaise pasand kar saktī hai? brother" belief refuted → 37:167-179 verse table] · ...came into being. In another tafsīr report, when the pagan Arabs made the angels Allāh's daughters, Abū Bakr (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) asked, "then who is their mother?" They answered, "the daughters of the jinn-chiefs" (Tafsīr Ibn Kaṣīr j.4 p.23) — but against this tafsīr stands the objection that the āyah speaks of a lineal (nasabī) relationship between Allāh and the jinn, and a marital tie is not a lineal one.

· So another tafsīr seems stronger here, transmitted from Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu), Ḥasan Baṣrī and Ḍaḥḥāk (rah.): that some Arabs also held (ma‘āzallāh) that Iblīs is Allāh Ta‘ālā's brother — Allāh being the creator of good and he the creator of evil; here that false belief is refuted (see Tafsīr Ibn Kaṣīr, Qurṭubī, and Tafsīr Kabīr).

· "wa laqad ‘alimati-l-jinnatu innahum la-muḥḍarūn" — (and the jinn know that they will surely be brought [for reckoning]): "they" may mean the polytheists who made the jinn and devils Allāh's equals, and the jinn themselves. On the second reading it means: the devils and jinn whom you have made Allāh's partners themselves know well that an evil end awaits them in the hereafter — e.g. Iblīs, who is fully aware of his own evil end. How great a folly, then, to make one who himself is certain that punishment awaits him an equal of Allāh! · Verse table (vv.167–179): v.167 "wa in kānū la-yaqūlūn" — and they used to say: v.168 "lau anna ‘indanā zikran mina-l-awwalīn" — if only we had a reminder from the ancients, v.169 "la-kunnā ‘ibāda-llāhi-l-mukhlaṣīn" — we would surely have been Allāh's chosen servants. v.170 "fa-kafarū bihī; fa-saufa ya‘lamūn" — but they disbelieved in it; so they will come to know. v.171 "wa laqad sabaqat kalimatunā li-‘ibādina-l-mursalīn" — and Our word has already gone forth for Our servants the messengers: v.172 "innahum lahumu-l-manṣūrūn" — that they will surely be the ones helped, v.173 "wa inna jundanā lahumu-l-ghālibūn" — and that Our host will surely be the victors. v.174 "fa-tawalla ‘anhum ḥattā ḥīn" — so turn away from them for a while, v.175 "wa abṣirhum; fa-saufa yubṣirūn" — and watch them; they too will soon see. v.176 "a-fa-bi-‘azābinā yasta‘jilūn" — do they then seek to hasten Our punishment? v.177 "fa-izā nazala ..." — then when it descends...

... wujūd meṅ ā‘e haiṅ. Chunāñchi ek dūsarī tafsīrī riwāyat meṅ hai ki jab mushrikīn-e-‘Arab ne firishton ko Allāh kī beṭiyān qarār diyā to Ḥaḍrat Abū Bakr (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) ne pūchhā ki phir in kī mān kaun hai? Unhoṅ ne jawāb meṅ kahā ki jinnāt kī sardār-zādiyān. (Tafsīr Ibn Kaṣīr, ṣ.23 j.4) — Lekin is tafsīr par yih ishkāl rahtā hai ki āyat meṅ Allāh Ta‘ālā aur jinnāt ke darmiyān nasabī ta‘alluq kā zikr hai, aur zaujiyyat kā ta‘alluq nasabī nahīn hotā.

Is li‘e ek dūsarī tafsīr yahān ziyāda rājiḥ ma‘lūm hotī hai, jo Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu), Ḥasan Baṣrī aur Ḍaḥḥāk (rah.) se manqūl hai, aur woh yih ki ba‘z ahl-e-‘Arab kā ‘aqīda yih bhī thā ki (ma‘āzallāh) Iblīs Allāh Ta‘ālā kā bhāī hai; Allāh Ta‘ālā khāliq-e-khair hai aur woh khāliq-e-sharr; yahān isī bāṭil ‘aqīde kī tardīd kī · Verse table: v.177 "fa-izā nazala bi-sāḥatīhim fa-sā'a ṣabāḥu-l-munzarīn" — then when it descends in their courtyard, evil will be the morning of those who were warned; v.178 "wa tawalla 'anhum ḥattā ḥīn" — and turn away from them for a while; v.179 "wa abṣir; fa-saufa yubṣirūn" — and watch; they too will soon see. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: And these people — the pagan Arabs — used to say before the Messenger's ﷺ mission that if only a book (of counsel) had come to us as it did to the earlier peoples — a religious book, as messengers and scriptures came to the Jews and Christians — if such had been given to us, we would have been Allāh's chosen servants (i.e. religious, affirming this book and acting on it, not belying and opposing it as they [the Jews and Christians] did). Then when that book of counsel reached them through a messenger, these people denied it and broke their pledge. Now the outcome of this is being made known to them: so, at death itself the outcome of disbelief came before them, and some punishments were received even before death. · Further, it consoles the Messenger ﷺ that although these opponents have some power at present, it is for a few days; because for Our special servants — the prophets — Our word has already been settled (in the Preserved Tablet) that they alone will be made victorious, and (it is Our general rule that) Our host prevails (this includes the followers of the messengers too). So since it is settled that you will be victorious, be at ease, and (bear patiently for a short time and) pay no heed to their opposition and harm, and watch them a while (i.e. await their state somewhat); soon they too will see. · ...this too means what "fa-saufa ya'lamūn" meant: that after death, and before death too, they will have to face punishment from Allāh. At this threat they used to say mockingly, and often asked, "when will this be?" — so in reply it is said: (are they seeking to hasten Our punishment?) When the punishment descends upon them, coming to their very doors, it will be most evil for those who were warned, for that punishment will not be turned back. And since punishment is bound to befall these people, you (be at ease, and) bear patiently for a short time, and pay no heed to their opposition and harm, and (watch) their state a while.

After this the Messenger ﷺ is consoled: do not grieve at these people's persecutions; soon the time will come when you will be dominant and victorious and they defeated and the target of punishment. In the hereafter this will be fully displayed; and in the world too Allāh showed it — from the Battle of Badr to the Conquest of Makka, in every jihād Allāh made His Messenger ﷺ triumphant, and his opponents were humbled and disgraced. · [Box — the meaning of the triumph of Allāh's people:] "wa laqad sabaqat kalimatunā" (to the words) "wa inna jundanā lahumu-l-ghālibūn": the sense of these āyāt is that We have settled beforehand that Our special servants — the prophets — are the ones who prevail. An objection may arise: some prophets did not gain victory [in their lifetimes]. The answer is that, of the known prophets, the majority are indeed those whose peoples belied them and so fell into punishment, while these prophets were kept safe from the punishment. · Only a few prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām) are such that they could not gain outward, material dominance in the world up to the last, yet in the field of argument and proof they always stood highest, and the victory of principle was always theirs. The material effects of that eminence were, for some special wisdom — such as trial and the like — deferred to the hereafter. Hence, in the words of Ḥaḍrat Thānawī (raḥmatullāh ‘alaihi), it is like a base highwayman who, travelling in the company of a great ruling officer, begins to plunder, while that officer, by his God-given loftiness of mind, will never flatter that base highwayman — indeed, when the officer reaches his seat of government he will arrest the highwayman and punish him. So, on account of that temporary upper hand, the highwayman cannot be called the ruler nor the officer the ruled; rather, in true reality the highwayman is the subjugated one even in this "victory," and the officer, even in this "defeat"...

PDF PAGE 489 · [Q 37:177 · Ma‘ārif (end) — the real triumph; "nazala bi-sāḥatihim" and the Khaibar ḥaḍīth → 37:180-182 verse table → Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr begins (close of Sūrah aş-Şaffāt)] · ...the officer is the ruler [in truth]. Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) put this same point in a brief, plain phrase: "in lam yunşar fī-d-dunyā yunşar fī-l-ākhirā" — if he is not helped in this world, he is helped in the hereafter (Bayān al-Qur‘ān, tafsīr of Sūrah al-Mā’ida). · But always keep in mind that this triumph — whether in the world or the hereafter — is not gained by a people through mere racial characteristics or a mere nominal connection to the religion; it comes when a person makes himself a member of "the army of Allāh" — which necessarily means making obedience to Allāh, in every sphere of life, the aim of his life. The word "jundunā" (Our army) here indicates that whoever accepts the surrender [to Allāh] must pledge to spend his whole life fighting the forces of the self and Satan; and his triumph — material or moral, in this world or the hereafter — depends on that condition. · "wa izā nazala bi-sāḥatihim fa-sā’a şabāḥu-l-munzarīn" — (so when the punishment descends in their courtyard, evil will be the morning of those who were warned): "sāḥa" literally means courtyard, and "nazala bi-sāḥatihī" (it descended in his courtyard) is an Arabic idiom for a calamity coming suddenly; morning is specified because among the Arabs an enemy's attack generally came at that time. The Messenger's ﷺ practice too was that if he reached an enemy region at night he would wait till morning to attack (Mazharī). · Reports say that when the Messenger ﷺ attacked the fort of Khaibar at dawn he said: "Allāhu akbar, kharibat Khaibar! Innā izā nazalnā bi-sāḥati qaumin fa-sā’a şabāḥu-l-munzarīn" — (Allāh is greatest, Khaibar is ruined! Truly when we descend in a people's courtyard, evil is the morning of those who were warned). · Verse table (vv.180–182): v.180 "subḥāna Rabbika Rabbi-l-‘izzati ‘ammā yaşifūn" — glory be to your Lord, the Lord of might, above what they ascribe; v.181 "wa salāmun

PDF PAGE 490 · [Q 37:180-182 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (conclusion) → Ma'ārif o Masā'il → tatimma — end of Sūrah aṣ-Ṣāffāt (4 Muḥarram 1392 AH)] · Khulāṣa (conclusion): ...so declare Allāh free of these things. And regard the messengers as ones who must be followed, for it is in their honour that We say: (peace be upon the messengers!) And (along with holding Allāh free of shirk and the like, hold Him also to be the possessor of all perfections, for) all the various excellences belong to Allāh alone, who is the Lord (and Master) of all the worlds. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: With these āyāt Sūrah aṣ-Ṣāffāt is closed; and in truth, to expound this beautiful ending would need volumes. Briefly: Allāh Ta'ālā has gathered all the themes of the Sūrah into these three short āyāt. The Sūrah opened with the statement of tauḥīd — the sum of which was that Allāh is far above whatever the polytheists ascribe to Him — and the first āyah points to that long theme. Then the Sūrah related the events of the prophets ('alaihimu-s-salām) — and the second āyah points to them. Then, laying open the disbelievers' beliefs, doubts and objections, it refuted them by reason and transmission and made clear that the final triumph will belong to the people of truth; whoever reads these matters with the eye of reason and insight will in the end be compelled to praise and glorify Allāh Ta'ālā — and so the Sūrah is closed on that very praise and glorification. · Also, these āyāt mention the basic beliefs of Islam — tauḥīd and risālah explicitly, the hereafter by implication — whose affirmation was the real aim of the Sūrah; and alongside, this teaching is given: that a believer's task is to end every discourse of his, every sermon and every gathering with declaring the greatness of Allāh Ta'ālā and His praise. Thus 'Allāma Qurṭubī (raḥ.) here relates, with his chain, the saying of Abū Sa'īd Khudrī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): "we heard the Messenger ﷺ several times reciting these āyāt after finishing the prayer: subḥāna Rabbika Rabbī-l-'izzati 'ammā yaṣīfun (etc.)" (Qurṭubī). · Also, several tafsīrs relate, on Imām Baghawī's (raḥ.) authority, the saying of 'Alī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): "one who wishes to be given reward in full measure on the Day of Resurrection should recite at the end of every gathering: subḥāna Rabbika Rabbī-l-'izzati (to the end of the Sūrah)." Ibn Abī Ḥātim has related this same saying, marfū'an, from Sha'bī (raḥ.) (Tafsīr Ibn Kaṣīr). · "subḥāna Rabbika Rabbī-l-'izzati 'ammā yaṣīfun, wa salāmun 'ala-l-mursalīn, wa-l-ḥamdu li-llāhi Rabbī-l-'ālamīn." · Bi-ḥamdillāhi Ta'ālā, today, dated 4 Muḥarram al-Ḥarām 1392 AH, the night of Sunday, at the time of 'ishā', the tafsīr of Sūrah aṣ-Ṣāffāt was completed.

 — Sūrah Ṣād was revealed in Makka; it has 88 āyāt and 5 rukū'. · Bismi-llāhi-r-Raḥmāni-r-Raḥīm — beginning with the name of Allāh, the exceedingly Merciful, the exceedingly Compassionate. · Verse table (vv.1–8): v.1 "Ṣād; wa-l-Qur'āni zi-z-zikr" — Ṣād. By the Qur'ān, full of admonition; v.2 "bali-llazīna kafarū fi 'izzatin wa shiqāq" — rather, those who disbelieve are in [false] pride and defiance. v.3 "kam ahlaknā min qablihim min qarnin fa-nādaw wa lāta hīna manāṣ" — how many a generation We destroyed before them; they cried out, but it was no longer a time of escape. v.4 "wa 'ajibū an jā'ahum munẓirun minhum; wa qāla-l-kāfirūna hāzā sāḥirun kazzāb" — and they marvelled that a warner had come to them from among themselves, and the disbelievers said, "this is a lying magician; v.5 a-ja'ala-l-ālihata ilāhan wāḥidā; inna hāzā la-shai'un 'ujāb" — has he made the gods one God? Indeed this is a strange thing." v.6 "wa-nṭalaqa-l-mala'u minhum ani-mshū wa-ṣbirū 'alā ālihatikum; inna hāzā la-shai'un yurād" — and the chiefs among them went off, [saying,] "walk away, and hold fast to your gods; indeed this is a thing designed. v.7 mā sami'nā bi-hāzā fi-l-millati-l-ākhirā; in hāzā illā-khtilāq" — we did not hear of this in the later religion; this is nothing but a fabrication. v.8 "a-unzila 'alaihi-z-zikru min baininā; bal hum fi shakkin min zikr" — has the reminder been sent down on him [alone] from among us?" Rather, they are in doubt about My reminder...

At the time of destruction they repented and cried out and raised a great clamour, but what use is clamour then? — for that was no time of escape, since once the punishment comes, even repentance is not accepted. · And these disbelievers (Quraysh) marvelled that a warning prophet

PDF PAGE 493 · [Q 38:4-11 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (cont.) — the pagans' objections to a human prophet and to tauḥīd; the reply about the treasures of mercy] · ...their marvelling was because in their ignorance they held a human being to be incompatible with prophethood, and on that basis went so far in rejecting messengership that (about your miracles and claim of prophethood) they said: (na'ūzu billāh) this man is a magician (in the matter of the extraordinary events), and a liar (in the matter of the claim of prophethood). And can (this man) be truthful when he has left only one object of worship in place of all these gods (and denied that the rest are objects of worship at all)! Truly this is a most strange thing (which is why the punishment is coming soon). · And (hearing the theme of tauḥīd) the chiefs of these disbelievers went off, rising from the assembly and saying to the people: walk away (from here) and hold fast to (the worship of) your gods; (for, first,) there is some [hidden] purpose in this (call to tauḥīd) — certainly by this pretext he seeks worldly leadership (ma'āzallāh). Secondly, this claim of tauḥīd is also false and strange, for we did not hear of this in our former religion; it is a fabrication of this man. (By "former religion" they mean: many ways of belief have existed in the world; we come last and are on the truth; so we never heard this from the elders of this way.) And this man who claims prophethood and calls tauḥīd a divine teaching — first, we never heard of it; secondly, leaving that aside, had this man any superiority or excellence among us all that prophethood should come to him and divine speech be sent down on him? (Had it come on some chief there would have been no objection.) · Then Allāh says: their saying "why was it sent down on him? Why not on some chief?" is not said because, if it had been so, they would have followed it; rather the real matter is that these people are (themselves) in doubt about — that is, in rejection of — My revelation; they reject the very issue of prophethood, and especially are not ready to accept a human being as a prophet. And this rejection too is not for any proof they have; the real reason is that they have not yet tasted My punishment (and when they do, all their reason will come back to its place). · Then, in another manner, this reply: do these people possess the treasures of the mercy of your Lord, the Mighty, the great Bestower — in which prophethood is also included — to give to whom they will and withhold from whom they will? (If all the treasures of mercy were in their grasp, then they might have room to say, "we did not give prophethood to a human, so how did he become a prophet?") Or (if all the treasures are not in their grasp) do they have authority over the heavens and the earth and what is between them? Then let them ascend to the sky by ladders (they cannot; that is plain). So when they have no knowledge of, nor authority over, the heavens and the earth, what authority could they have [to assign prophethood]? To utter such baseless things then...

... yihī thī ki woh apnī jahālat se bashariyyat ko nubuwwat ke munāfi samajhte the, aur is binā' par inkār-e-risālat meñ yahān tak pahunch ga'e ki (āp ke mu'jizāt aur da'wā-e-nubuwwat ke bāre meñ) kahne lage ki (na'ūzu billāh) yih shakhṣ (khwāriq-e-'ādat ke mu'āmale meñ) sāhir hai, aur (da'wā-e-nubuwwat ke mu'āmale meñ) kazzāb hai. Aur kya yih shakhṣ sacchā ho saktā hai jab ki us ne itne sāre ma'būdoñ kī jagah ek hī ma'būd rahne diyā (aur sab ke ma'būd hone kī nafī kar dī)! Wāqī'ī yih bahut hī 'ajīb bāt hai (jis kī wajh se yih ['azāb] 'anqarīb ā tī hai).

Aur (tauḥīd kā maḍmūn sun kar) in kuffār ke ru'asā (majlis se uṭh kar) logoñ se yih kahte hu'e chale ki (yahān se) chalo, aur apne ma'būdoñ (kī 'ibādat) par qā'im raho; (kyoñki awwal to) is (tauḥīd kī da'wat) kā koī maṭlab (ma'lūm hotā) hai (yaqīnan is bahāne se āp ma'āzallāh riyāsāt ke khwāhān haiñ). Dūsre tauḥīd kā da'wā bhī bātil aur 'ajīb hai; kyoñki ham ne to yih bāt (apne) pichhle mazhab meñ nahīn sunī; yih to (us shakhṣ kī) man-gharāt hai. (Pichhle mazhab kā maṭlab yih hai ki dunyā meñ bahut se ṭarīqoñ ke log hu'e haiñ, sab se pichhe ham ā'e haiñ aur ḥaqq par haiñ, so ham ne is ṭarīqe ke bazurgoñ se kabhī yih bāt nahīn sunī.) Aur yih shakhṣ jo nubuwwat kā mudda'ī hai aur tauḥīd ko ta'līm-e-ilāhī batlātā hai, so awwal to kabhī yih bāt nahīn sunī; dūsre agar is se qat'-e-naẓar kī jā'e to kya ham sab meñ isī shakhṣ (ko koī fauqīyyat wa faḍīlat bhī thī ki isī ko nubuwwat milī aur isī) par kalām-e-ilāhī nāzil kiyā gayā? (Balki kisī ra'īs par utartā to kuchh muḍāyaqa na thā.)

Āge Ḥaqq Ta'ālā kā irshād hai ki in kā yih kahnā ki "in par kyoñ nāzil hu'ā? Kisī ra'īs par kyoñ nāzil na hu'ā?" yih log is wajh se nahīn kahte ki agar aisā hotā to woh is kā ittibā' karte; (balki aṣl bāt yih hai ki) yih log (khud) merī wahī kī ṭaraf se shakk meñ (ya'nī inkār meñ) haiñ — ya'nī mas'ala-e-nubuwwat hī ke munkir haiñ, khuṣūṣan bashar ko nabī mānne ke li'e taiyār nahīn. Aur yih inkār bhī is li'e kuchh nahīn ki un ke pās koī dalīl hai, balki (is kī aṣl wajh yih hai ki) unhoñ ne abhī tak mere 'azāb kā maza nahīn chakhā (aur jab woh chakheñ ge to sab 'aql ṭhikāne ā jā'e gī).

Āge dūsre ṭarz par yih jawāb hai ki kya in logoñ ke pās āp ke Parwardigār zabardast fayyāḍ kī raḥmat ke khazāne haiñ, jin meñ nubuwwat bhī dākhil hai, ki jis ko chāheñ deñ, jis ko chāheñ na deñ? Ya'nī agar raḥmat ke sāre khazāne un ke qabḷe meñ hote tab to un ko yih kahne kī gunjā'ish thī ki "ham ne bashar ko nubuwwat nahīn dī, phir woh nabī kaise ho gayā?" Yā (agar sāre khazāne un ke qabḷe meñ nahīn haiñ to) kya un ko āsmān aur zamīn aur jo chīzeñ un ke darmiyān meñ haiñ un (sab) kā ikhtiyār ḥāṣil hai (ki agar itnā hī ikhtiyār un ko hotā tab bhī yih kahne kī gunjā'ish thī ki yih āsmān o zamīn ke maṣāliḥ se bā-khabar haiñ, is li'e jise chāheñ use nubuwwat milnī chāhiye)? PDF PAGE 494 · [Q 38:11-16 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (end) → Ma'ārif o Masā'il — Shān-e-Nuzūl: the Quraysh delegation to Abū Ṭālib] · Khulāṣa (end): ...what right have they to say [such things]? But (O Muḥammad ﷺ) do not be troubled by their opposition, for at this place (i.e. Makka) these people are just a small band — one of the houses of the opponents of the prophets — who will (soon) be defeated. (This prophecy was fulfilled at the Battle of Badr.) And before them too the people of Nūḥ, and 'Ād, and Fir'aun — whose kingdom's stakes were driven deep and firm — and Ṣamūd and the people of Lūṭ and the dwellers of the thicket (whose stories have come in several places) — all of them belied the messengers, and that faction (mentioned in "mina-l-aḥzāb") is these very people; all of them did nothing but belie the messengers (as these Quraysh disbelievers are belying you), so My punishment befell them. Now when the crime is shared, why are these people secure from sharing the punishment? And these people (who persist in belying) await only one mighty blast (the second trumpet-blast), in which there will be no room to draw breath (meaning the Resurrection). And these people (hearing the warning of the Resurrection, belying the Messenger, and by way of mockery) say: our Lord, give us our share (of the punishment the disbelievers will have in the hereafter) before the Day of Reckoning. (Meaning: there is no Resurrection, and if there is, we want the punishment now; when no punishment comes, it will be known that the Resurrection will not come. Na'ūzu billāh!) · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: [Shān-e-Nuzūl:] The background of the opening āyāt of this Sūrah is that the Messenger's ﷺ uncle Abū Ṭālib — despite not being a Muslim — was fully protecting him. When he fell ill, the great chiefs of Quraysh convened a council of consultation attended by Abū Jahl, 'Āṣ ibn Wā'il, Aswad ibn al-Muṭṭalib, Aswad ibn 'Abd al-Yaghūṣ and other chiefs. The counsel taken was: Abū Ṭālib is ill; if he passes away and then we take any harsh step to stop Muḥammad ﷺ from his new religion, the Arabs will taunt us that as long as Abū Ṭālib was alive these people could do nothing against Muḥammad ﷺ, and when he died they made him their target. So we should settle the matter of Muḥammad ﷺ with Abū Ṭālib while he is still alive, so that he [Muḥammad ﷺ] leaves off abusing our gods. · So these people went to Abū Ṭālib and told him: your nephew abuses our gods; act with fairness and tell him to worship whichever God he wishes, but to say nothing against our gods — though the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ himself said nothing against their idols except that [they are] senseless...

... kahne kā kyā ḥaqq hai? Magar (ai Muḥammad ﷺ!) āp in kī mukhālafat se fikr na karen,

kyoñki is maqām par (ya‘nī Makka meñ) in logoñ kī yūñhī ek chāoṭī sī bāṭī hai, mujmala (mukhālīfīn-e-Anbiyā ke) gharoñ meñ se jo (‘anqarīb) shikast diye jā‘en ge. (Chunāñchi ‘azwa-e-Badr meñ yih peshīn-goī pūrī hoī.) Aur in se pahle bhī qaum-e-Nūḥ ne, aur ‘ād ne, aur Fir‘aun ne — jis (kī saltānat) ke khūñṭe gaṛe hu'e aur mazbūt the — aur Ṣamūd ne aur qaum-e-Lūṭ ne aur aṣḥāb-e-aika ne (jin ke qīṣṣe kaī jagah ā chuke haiñ), un sab ne (rasūloñ kī) takzīb kī thī, aur woh giroh (jis kā zikr "mina-l-aḥzāb" meñ āyā hai) yihī log haiñ; in sab ne ṣīrf rasūloñ ko jhuṭlāyā thā (jaise yih kuffār-e-Quraish āp ko jhuṭlā rahe haiñ), so merā ‘azāb (un par) wāqī‘ ho gayā. Ab jab jurm mushtarak hai to ‘azāb ke ishtirāk se yih kyoñ muṭma‘inn haiñ? Aur yih log (jo takzīb par muṣīr haiñ) so ek zor kī chīnkḥ (ya‘nī nafkha-e-ṣāniya) ke muntaḥīr haiñ, jis meñ dam lene kī gunjā‘ish na hogī (is se murād qiyāmat hai). summoned the Messenger ﷺ to the gathering and said, "nephew, these people say you abuse their gods — leave them to their religion, and you keep worshipping your God"; and the Quraysh kept saying the same. · At last the Messenger ﷺ said: "uncle, shall I not call them to the thing in which lies their welfare?" Abū Ṭālib said, "what is that thing?" He said: "I want them to say a word by which all Arabia will bow before them, and they will become masters of the non-Arabs (‘ajam) besides." At this Abū Jahl said: "tell us, what is the word? By your father, we are ready to say not one word but ten." He said: "say lā ilāha illa-llāh." Hearing this they all sprang up and left, saying, "shall we leave all our gods and take just one? This is a most strange thing." On this occasion these āyāt of Sūrah Ṣād were revealed. (Tafsīr Ibn Kaṣīr j.4 pp.27, 28.) · "wa-nṭalaqa-l-mala'u minhum" (etc.) — (and the chiefs of these disbelievers went off saying ...): this points to the very incident mentioned — on hearing the call to tauḥīd they rose and left the gathering. · "Fir'aunu zu-l-awṭād": literally "Fir'aun of the stakes"; the mufasssīrīn have various views. Some say it points to the firmness of his kingdom — so Ḥaḍrat Thānawī (rah.) rendered it "whose [kingdom's] stakes were driven deep." Some say he would punish people by laying a person on his back and driving stakes into his four limbs and then letting snakes and scorpions loose on him. Some said he would play some particular game with rope and stakes. And some say "stakes" means buildings — he built very strong buildings (Tafsīr Qurṭubī). Wa-llāhu subḥānahū a‘lam. · "ulā'ika-l-aḥzāb": one tafsīr is that this phrase explains "[a host] of the factions" — the houses pointed to in the āyah are these. Ḥaḍrat Thānawī (rah.) followed this. But other mufasssīrīn take it to mean "the [real] factions were those" — the people of Nūḥ, ‘Ād, Ṣamūd and the rest were the possessors of real strength and power; the pagans of Makka have no standing beside them; when those people could not escape divine punishment, what is the being of these? (Qurṭubī) · "mā lahā min fawāq": "fawāq" in Arabic has several meanings — one, "fawāq" is the interval...

his fasting and prayer; the mountains' and birds' tasbīḥ] · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il:
 To remove the distress the disbelievers' belying and mockery caused the Messenger ﷺ, and to console him, Allāh Ta‘ālā has generally related the events of the earlier prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām). Here too, after enjoining patience on him, He relates the events of some prophets, the first of which is that of Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām). · "wa-zkur ‘abdanā Dāwūda za-l-aid" — (and remember Our servant Dāwūd, the man of strength): nearly all mufasssīrīn explain this to mean that he showed great strength and resolve in worship; hence the following phrase "innahū awwāb" (indeed he turned much to Allāh). · Thus in a ḥadīth in the Ṣaḥīḥain the Messenger ﷺ said: "the most beloved prayer to Allāh is the prayer of Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām), and the most beloved fasting to Allāh is the fasting of Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām): he would sleep half the night, worship a third of it, then sleep in the last part of the night; and he would fast one day and break the fast the next; and when he met the enemy he would not turn in flight. And indeed he turned much to Allāh." (Tafsīr Ibn Kaṣīr) · This manner of worship is declared the most beloved for two reasons: one, it has more effort — fasting one's whole life makes a person used to fasting, and after a while there is not much hardship in it, but fasting every other day keeps the difficulty continuous. Two, by this manner a person can, alongside worship, also fully discharge the rights of his own self, his family and his dependants. · "innā sakhkharna-l-jibāla ma‘ahū" (etc.): this āyah mentions the mountains' and birds' joining Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) in tasbīḥ. Its explanation has passed in Sūrah al-Anbiyā’ and Sūrah Saba’. It is worth noting here that Allāh Ta‘ālā mentions the tasbīḥ of the mountains and birds as a special favour to Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām). The question is: how was this a favour for him? What special benefit did the tasbīḥ of the mountains and birds bring? · One answer is that by it a miracle of Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) was manifested, and clearly this is a great favour. Besides, Ḥaḍrat Thānawī (rah.) gives a subtle explanation: that the tasbīḥ of the mountains and birds produced a special state of remembrance and absorption, by which a freshness and vigour in worship...

freshness and vigour in worship, and] resolve, is produced. A benefit of collective ẓikr is also that the blessings of ẓikr keep reflecting from one to another. Among the Ṣūfiyā there is a well-known method of ẓikr and absorption in which, while doing ẓikr, one pictures that the whole universe is doing ẓikr; this method has a remarkable effect on inward reform and love of worship. From this āyah the basis of that method of ẓikr is also derived.

(Masā'il as-Sulūk) · "bi-l-‘ashiyyi wa-l-ishrāq": "‘ashiyy" means the time from after ẓuhr until the next morning, and "ishrāq" means the time of morning when the sunlight has spread over the earth. From these āyāt Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) argued for the legislation of ṣalāt aḍ-ḍuḥā. Ṣalāt aḍ-ḍuḥā is also called ṣalāt al-awwābīn, and by some ṣalāt al-ishrāq — though later "ṣalāt al-awwābīn" became better known for the six nafl after maghrib and "ṣalāt al-ishrāq" for the two or four nafl just after sunrise. · In ṣalāt aḍ-ḍuḥā one may pray from two up to twelve rak‘āt as one wishes. Many merits of it are reported in ḥadīth. In Jāmi‘ Tirmizī it is narrated from Abū

Hurayra (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) that the Messenger ﷺ said: "whoever keeps up two rak‘āt of ṣalāt aḍ-ḍuḥā, his sins are forgiven, though they be as much as the foam of the sea." And from Anas (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): "whoever prays twelve rak‘āt of ṣalāt aḍ-ḍuḥā, Allāh will build for him a palace of gold in Paradise." (Qurṭubī) · The scholars have said that although any number from two up to twelve is fine, it is better to fix some particular routine for the number; and it is better still that this routine be at least four rak‘āt, since the Messenger's ﷺ usual practice was to pray four rak‘āt. · "ātaināhu-l-ḥikmata wa faṣḥa-l-khiṭāb" — (and We gave him wisdom and decisive speech): "ḥikmat" means wisdom — i.e. We gave him as much of the wealth of reason and understanding as was needed. Some say it means prophethood. And "faṣḥa-l-khiṭāb" has been variously explained. Some say it means eloquence and power of oratory — Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) was an orator of high rank, and he was the first to begin saying "ammā ba‘d" after the praise and blessings in sermons. Some say it means the best power of decision — i.e. Allāh gave him the power to settle disputes and decide cases. In truth these words hold both meanings fully at once, and both are intended. The rendering Ḥaḍrat Thānawī (rah.) gave can accommodate both meanings.

... [nashāt aur tāzagī wa] himmat paidā hotī hai. Ijtimā‘ī ẓikr kā ek fā‘ida yih bḥī hai ki ẓikr kī barakatoñ kā ek dūsre par in‘ikās hotā rahtā hai. Ṣūfiyā-e-kirām ke yahāñ ẓikr o shughl kā ek khāṣṣ ṭarīqa ma‘rūf hai jis meñ ẓikr karte hu'e yih taṣawwur kiyā jātā hai ki pūrī kā'ināt ẓikr kar rahī hai; iṣlāḥ-e-bāṭin aur shauq-e-‘ibādat meñ is ṭarīqe kī ‘ajīb ta‘ṣīr hai. Is āyat se is ṭarīqe-e-ẓikr kī bunyād bhī mustanbaṭ hotī hai. (Masā'il as-Sulūk)

Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) and its trial] · Khulāṣa (cont.): ...so he took fright at their coming in this irregular way (fearing they might be enemies who had stolen in, in this seclusion, meaning to kill him). They said to him: "do not fear; we are two parties to a case, one of whom has wronged the other, and we have come for its decision (since the guards would not let us in by the door, we came this way)"; so judge between us with fairness and do not be unjust, and show us the straight path (of the matter). (Then one of them said, the case is this:) "this man is my brother (i.e. a brother in religion, as transmitted from Ibn Mas‘ūd raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu in Dur-e-Manṣūr); he has ninety-nine ewes and I have only one ewe — yet he says give that too to me, and he overbears me in speech (and does not let my word carry, through sheer domineering)." · Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) said: "this asking of yours, to join your ewe to his ewes, is truly a wrong done to you. And most partners wrong one another — except those who believe and do righteous deeds, and such people are very few." This he said to console the wronged one. And Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) realised that, by presenting this case in this way, We had tried him; so he repented before his Lord and fell prostrate, turning (especially) to Allāh; so We forgave him (that act), and with Us he has (special) nearness and a good end of high rank
(i.e. the highest rank of Paradise). · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: In these āyāt Allāh Ta‘ālā mentions the event of Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām). From the way the Qur’ān relates it, all that is known is that Allāh Ta‘ālā made some trial of him by sending two parties, disputing, into his place of worship. Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām), becoming aware of this trial, sought forgiveness of Allāh Ta‘ālā and fell prostrate, and Allāh Ta‘ālā granted him forgiveness. · Since the real aim of the Qur’ān here is to state that Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) turned to Allāh Ta‘ālā in every matter of his, and whenever even a slight slip occurred he turned at once to seeking forgiveness — for this reason no detail is given here of what that trial was, what slip Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) made for which he sought forgiveness, and which Allāh Ta‘ālā pardoned. · Hence some investigating and careful mufasssīrīn have said, in explaining these āyāt, that Allāh Ta‘ālā, out of His special wisdom and purpose, did not lay open the detail of this slip and trial of His noble prophet...

PDF PAGE 501 · [Q 38:21-25 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il (cont.) — the trial left undisclosed; refutation of the Isrā'īlī "Uriah's wife" story] · ...[Allāh did not disclose it,] so we too should not go chasing after it. Only that much which the Qur'ān states should be believed. A careful investigator like Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr (rah.), acting on this in his tafsīr, kept silent about the details of the event; and no doubt this is the most cautious and safe course. Hence it is transmitted from the early scholars: "abhimū mā abhamahu-llāh" — leave vague what Allāh has left vague; therein is wisdom and purpose. Clearly this refers to leaving vague those matters that have no bearing on our practice and on ḥalāl and ḥarām; as for matters that do bear on the practice of the Muslims, the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ himself removed the vagueness by his word and deed. · Other mufasssīrīn, however, have tried, in the light of narrations and reports, to specify this trial and testing. In this connection a common story is well known: that Dāwūd's ('alaihi-s-salām) glance once fell on the wife of one of his army officers, Ūriyā (Uriah), and a desire arose in his heart to marry her; so he assigned Ūriyā the most dangerous mission with the aim of getting him killed, in which he was martyred, and afterwards he married his wife. To rebuke him for this act, these two angels were sent in human form. · But this narration is beyond doubt one of the fables that had spread among the Muslims too under the influence of the Jews and Christians. It is originally taken from the Bible, 2 Samuel ch.11. The only difference is that the Bible openly charges Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) with having (ma'āzallāh) committed adultery with the wife of Ūriyā before marrying her; and in these tafsīr narrations the adultery-part is dropped. It appears that someone saw this Isrā'īlī narration, removed the adultery-story from it, and stuck it onto the said āyāt of the Qur'ān — though the Book of Samuel itself is baseless from the outset, and this narration has the status of definite lie and slander. For this reason all the investigating mufasssīrīn have strongly refuted it. · Besides Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr (rah.), 'Allāma Ibn al-Jawzī (rah.), Qāḍī Abu-s-Sa'ūd (rah.), Qāḍī Bayḍāwī (rah.), Qāḍī 'Iyāḍ (rah.), Imām Rāzī (rah.), 'Allāma Abū Ḥayyān Andalusī (rah.), Khāzin (rah.), Zamakhsharī (rah.), Ibn Ḥazm (rah.), 'Allāma Khafājī (rah.), Aḥmad ibn Naṣr Abū Tammām (rah.), and 'Allāma Ālūsī (rah.) and others have also declared it a lie and slander. Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr (rahmatullāh 'alaihi) writes: "Some mufasssīrīn have here mentioned a story most of which is taken from the Isrā'īliyyāt...

PDF PAGE 502 · [Q 38:21-25 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il (cont.) — Ibn Kaṣīr's conclusion; the careful mufasssīrīn's explanations of Dāwūd's ('alaihi-s-salām) slip] · ...nothing is established from the Messenger ﷺ on this that would have to be followed; only Ibn Abī Ḥātim (rah.) narrates a ḥadīth here, but its chain is not sound." · In short, in the light of many proofs — some detail of which is in Imām Rāzī's (rah.) Tafsīr Kabīr and Ibn al-Jawzī's (rah.) Zād al-Masīr and elsewhere — this narration is entirely outside the discussion of the tafsīr of this āyah. · Ḥakīmu-l-Ummat Ḥaḍrat Thānawī (rah.) explains this test and slip thus: the two parties to the case entered by climbing over the wall, and adopted an extremely insolent manner of address, beginning at the outset by giving Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) admonitions to be just and not to wrong. On account of such insolence, any ordinary man would, instead of answering them, have punished them. Allāh Ta‘ālā tested Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) in this: whether he too, trapped in this knot, would punish them, or use a prophet's forbearance and pardon and hear their case. · Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) passed this test, but a slight lapse occurred: at the time of judgement, instead of addressing the wrongdoer, he addressed the wronged one, from which a kind of partiality also seemed to appear; but he at once became aware of this and fell prostrate, and Allāh Ta‘ālā forgave him. (Bayān al-Qur‘ān) · Some mufasssīrīn explain the slip thus: Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām), seeing the defendant silent, without hearing his statement, and having heard only the plaintiff, said in his admonition such things as in part supported the plaintiff — whereas he should first have asked the defendant what his position was. Though this saying of Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) was only in the manner of admonition, and the case had not yet reached the stage of judgement, it was still not befitting the dignity of so noble a prophet. It was on this that he later became aware and fell prostrate. (Rūḥu-l-Ma‘ānī) · Some have said: Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) had so arranged his schedule that at every hour of the twenty-four, some member of his household was occupied in worship, zikr and tasbīḥ; one day he submitted to Allāh, "O Lord, there is no moment of day or night in which someone of Dāwūd's household is not occupied in Your worship, prayer and tasbīḥ." Allāh Ta‘ālā said: "Dāwūd, all this is by My enabling grace; without My help it is not in your power; one day I shall leave you to your own state." After this the case came before him at a time appointed for Dāwūd's (‘alaihi-s-salām) worship. By this sudden demand the order of his hours was disturbed; Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) became busy settling the dispute, and no other member of the family of Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) was, at that time...

PDF PAGE 503 · [Q 38:21-25 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il (cont.) — the various explanations of the slip; the "angel litigants" view; conclusion] · ...occupied in worship and remembrance of Allāh. By this Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) was alerted that the boastful word which had slipped from his tongue was an error on his part; so he sought forgiveness and fell prostrate. This explanation is also supported by a saying of Ibn ‘Abbās (raḏiyallāhu ‘anhu), transmitted with a sound chain in the Mustadrak of Ḥākim. (Aḥkām al-Qur‘ān) · In all these explanations it is commonly accepted that the case was real, not hypothetical, and that its facts had no connection with any testing or slip of Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām). Against this, some mufasssīrīn have explained it thus: the two parties were not human beings but angels, whom Allāh Ta‘ālā sent to present such a hypothetical case that Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) might be alerted to his slip. · These scholars say: the story of getting Ūriyā killed and marrying his wife is false; the real matter is that among the Banī Isrā'īl it was not considered shameful to ask someone, "divorce your wife and marry her to me" — such a request was common in that time, and was not thought contrary to decency. On this basis Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) made this request to Ūriyā, for which Allāh Ta'ālā alerted him by sending these two angels. Some others say the matter was only that Ūriyā had sent a marriage proposal to a woman, and Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) sent his proposal to the same woman; this grieved Ūriyā greatly, and Allāh Ta'ālā sent these two angels to alert him to it. · And in a subtle manner He alerted him to that very slip. Qāḍī Abū Ya'lā (rah.) argued for this view from the Qur'ānic words "wa 'azzanī fi-l-khiṭāb": he says this phrase indicates that the matter arose only in connection with a proposal of marriage (khiṭba), and Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) had not yet married her. (Zād al-Masīr li-Ibn al-Jawzī j.7 p.116) · Most mufasssīrīn have preferred these last two explanations, and they are supported by some reports of the Ṣaḥāba (rah.). (See Rūḥu-l-Ma'ānī, Tafsīr Abu-s-Sa'ūd, Zād al-Masīr, Tafsīr Kabīr, etc.) · But the fact is that the detail of this test and slip is established neither from the Qur'ān nor from any sound ḥadīth. So this much is settled — that the well-known story of having Ūriyā killed is false; but as to the real event, all the above possibilities exist, and none of them can be called definite and certain. So the safe course is the one Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr (rah.) took: that what Allāh Ta'ālā has left vague...

PDF PAGE 504 · [Q 38:21-24 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il — conclusion; "iz tasawwaru-l-miḥrāb"; "fa-faẓī‘a minhum" (natural fear vs. khashyat); "qālū lā takhaf"] · ...we should not try, through our conjectures and estimates, to spell out its detail, when no practice of ours depends on it. In this vagueness too there is certainly some wisdom. So one should believe only that much of the event which the Qur’ān states, and leave the rest of the details to Allāh. Yet from this event many practical benefits are gained, to which more attention should be paid. So now consider the tafsīr of the āyāt, in which, inshā’ allāh, these benefits will also be mentioned. · "iz tasawwaru-l-miḥrāb" — (when they climbed over the wall and entered): "miḥrāb" originally means an upper room or the front part of a dwelling; then it came to be used specially for the front part of a mosque or place of worship. In the Qur’ān the word is used in the sense of place of worship. ‘Allāma Suyūṭī (rah.) wrote that the niches (maḥārīb) in the prayer-area of mosques, as known today, did not exist in the Prophetic era. (Rūḥu-l-Ma‘ānī) · "fa-faẓī‘a minhum" — (so Dāwūd ‘alaihi-s-salām took fright at them): the reason for the fright was plain — Dāwūd’s (‘alaihi-s-salām) [door] was kept guarded against untimely entry; to steal in like this generally springs from some evil intent. · [Box — natural fear is not contrary to prophethood or sainthood:] This shows that to be naturally alarmed by something frightening is not contrary to prophethood or wilāyah. To let this fear take over the heart and mind and abandon one’s duties, however, is certainly bad. An objection may arise: the Qur’ān states, of the prophets,

"allazīna yuballighūna risālāti-llāhi wa yakhshaunahū wa lā yakhshauna aḥadan illa-llāh" — (they fear none but Allāh); so why did Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) feel fear here? · The answer is that fearing is of two kinds: one, the fear of harm from injurious things — this is called "khauf" in Arabic; the other, the fear that comes from the majesty, awe and grandeur of some great being — this is called "khashyat" (Mufradāt Rāghib). "Khashyat" should be of none but Allāh, and it is of the standing of the prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām) that no one's khashyat comes over them but Allāh's. But khauf can naturally arise from injurious things. · [Box — "qālū lā takhaf": one should wait, until the truth of the matter comes to light, before rebuking those who act irregularly.] · "qālū lā takhaf" — (they said, do not fear): with this the comers began stating their case, and Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) kept silently hearing them until the truth of the matter came to light. This shows that if someone suddenly commits some irregularity, one should not at once begin blame and reproach and scolding, but should first hear him out, so as to learn whether he had a justification for that irregularity or not. Another man would have fallen at once upon the comers, but Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) waited for the truth to be disclosed, [thinking] these people might be excused.

PDF PAGE 505 · [Q 38:22-24 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il — patience with petitioners; Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) judged as muftī not qāḍī; when a "request" becomes wrongful demand] · ... (see "lā tushṭiṭ wa-hdinā ilā sawā'i-ṣ-ṣirāt" — do not be unjust): the comers' manner of address was, on the face of it, very insolent — first climbing over the wall and coming at an untimely hour, then, having come, giving so noble a prophet as Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) a lesson to be just and avoid wrong; these were all the most improper things, yet Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) bore all this patiently and said nothing harsh to them. · [Box — one should bear, as far as possible, the errors of those in need:] This shows that one whom Allāh has given a high rank, and to whom people's matters of need are referred, should bear as far as possible with the irregularities of the needy and the errors of their speech, for this is what his rank demands. A ruler, a judge and a muftī especially should keep this in view. (Rūḥu-l-Ma'ānī) · "qāla la-qad ḡalamaka bi-su'āli na'jatika ilā ni'ājihī" — (Dāwūd 'alaihi-s-salām said: in asking for your ewe [to add] to his ewes, he has truly wronged you): two points deserve notice here. One, that Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) said this having heard only the plaintiff, without hearing the defendant's statement. On this some have said this was the very slip for which he sought forgiveness. But other mufasssīrīn say that in reality the full details of the case are not being stated here; only the necessary points are given. Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) certainly must have heard the defendant's position; it is not mentioned here only because this is the well-known way of judgements — anyone can understand that the part about asking the defendant is elided here. · Also it is possible that although the comers sought a judicial decision from Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām), that was neither the time of the court nor a session for hearing claims; nor were the means of enforcing his decision assembled there. So Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) gave a fatwā in the capacity of a muftī, not of a qāḍī. And a muftī's task is not to investigate the facts, but to answer according to the question as put. · [Box:] The second point to notice: Dāwūd (‘alaihi-s-salām) called one man's mere asking for a ewe a wrong, though on the face of it merely asking someone for a thing is no crime. The reason is that the form was of a request, but with the verbal and practical pressure with which the request was being made, in its presence it had taken on the character of usurpation (ghaṣab). · From this it is learnt that if a man asks something of someone in such a way that the addressee, willing or unwilling...

So if the one asking is a person of authority or of high standing and pomp, and the addressee cannot refuse because of the pressure of his personality, then although the form there may be that of asking for a gift, in reality it is usurpation; hence it is not permissible to use a thing so obtained. · This matter deserves great attention especially from those who collect donations for madrasas and makhtabs, mosques, associations and groups. Only that donation is lawful and wholesome which the giver has given for himself with full free choice and gladness of heart. And if the collectors, applying the pressure of their personality, extracted a donation from a single person by eight or ten men at once scolding him, that is a plainly impermissible act. · In a ḥadīth the most explicit saying of the Messenger ﷺ is: "lā yaḥillu mālu-mri’ in muslimin illā bi-ṭībi nafsīn minhu" — the wealth of a Muslim is not lawful [for another] without his gladness of heart. · "wa inna kaşīran mina-l-khulaṭā’i la-yabghī ba‘ḍuhum ‘alā ba‘ḍ" — (and many partners wrong one another): great caution is needed in shared dealings. It is pointed out that when two people have a matter of partnership, often one violates the other's rights. Sometimes a man, thinking an act trivial, keeps regarding it as no sin, but in reality it becomes a cause of sin. So great caution is needed in this matter. · "wa ẓanna Dāwūdu annamā fatannāhu" — (and Dāwūd ‘alaihi-s-salām realised that We had tried him): if the form of the case is taken to be a parable of Dāwūd's (‘alaihi-s-salām) slip, then his realising this is obvious. And even if the case had no connection with that, the parties' whole state was enough to give rise to the thought that they had been sent as a test. On the one hand, the parties used such haste and boldness in [seeking] the decision of the case that they came climbing over the wall. On the other hand, when the case was presented, the defendant sat silent and, verbally or practically, accepted the plaintiff's statement without question. · If the defendant accepted the event as stated by the plaintiff, there was no need to come to Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) for a decision to settle the dispute; a man of ordinary sense could understand that Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) would in that case decide in the plaintiff's favour. The parties' whole conduct showed that this was some extraordinary event. Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) perceived that these were sent by Allāh...

Some reports say that after hearing the decision the two looked at each other and smiled, and in a moment went up to the sky. Wa-llāhu a'lam. · "fa-staghfara Rabbahū wa kharra rāki'an wa anāb" — (so he sought forgiveness of his Lord and fell down bowing and turned [to Him]): here the word "rukū'" is used, whose literal meaning is bending, and for most mufasssīrīn it means prostration (sajda). For the Aḥnāf, recitation of this āyah makes a sajda-e-tilāwat obligatory. · [Box — a sajda-e-tilāwat can be performed by way of rukū':] Imām Abū Ḥanīfa (rah.) argued from this āyah that if a sajda-verse is recited in prayer, then intending the sajda while in rukū' discharges it — because here Allāh Ta'ālā used the word "rukū'" for prostration, which shows that rukū' can stand in place of sajda. But a few necessary rulings should be kept in mind: · Ruling: The sajda can be discharged by the obligatory rukū' of prayer only when the sajda-verse was recited within the prayer; reciting outside prayer, the sajda is not discharged by rukū', since rukū' is worship only in prayer and is not legislated outside it. (Badā'i') · Ruling: The sajda in rukū' is discharged only when one goes into rukū' immediately after reciting the sajda-verse, or after at most two or three further verses. If, after the sajda-verse, one recited a lengthy portion while standing, the sajda is not discharged in rukū'. · Ruling: If one intends to perform the sajda-e-tilāwat in rukū', one should form the intention of the sajda-e-tilāwat while going into rukū'; otherwise it is not discharged by that rukū'. However, once one has begun going into the [regular] sajda, the sajda is discharged even without intention. · Ruling: The better course in any case is to perform the sajda-e-tilāwat as an independent sajda rather than in the obligatory rukū' of prayer; and, rising from the sajda, to recite one or two verses and then go into rukū'. begins — a foundational charter of governance] · ...He could have alerted him to it. But instead, why was this special method chosen — sending a case to give the alert? In reality, reflecting on this method, those who carry out amr bi-l-ma'rūf and nahī 'ani-l-munkar are guided that to alert someone to his mistake one must use wisdom; and it is better to adopt such a method that the person concerned feels his own mistake by himself and no verbal rebuke is needed at all. For this, using such parables is more effective — by which no one's feelings are hurt, yet the needed point is made clear. · Verse table (v.26): "yā Dāwūdu innā ja'alnāka khalīfatan fī-l-arḍi fa-ḥkum baina-n-nāsi bi-l-ḥaqqi wa lā tattabi'ī-l-hawā fa-yuḍillaka 'an sabīli-llāh; inna-llazīna yaḍillūna 'an sabīli-llāhi lahum 'azābun shadīdun bimā nasū yauma-l-ḥisāb" — O Dāwūd, We have made you a vicegerent on the earth, so judge between people with truth and do not follow desire, lest it lead you astray from the path of Allāh; those who go astray from the path of Allāh will have a severe punishment for having forgotten the Day of Reckoning. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: O Dāwūd, We have made you a ruler on the earth; so, as you have hitherto decided among people with justice, continue to decide among people with justice in the future too; and as you have never hitherto followed selfish desire, do not follow selfish desire in the future either — for if you do, it will lead you astray from the path of Allāh. And those who stray from the path of Allāh will have a severe punishment, because they are forgetting the Day of Reckoning. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: Allāh Ta'ālā had granted Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām), along with prophethood, also rule and kingship. So in this āyah he is given a foundational charter for governance and statecraft. In this charter three basic matters are stated:

PDF PAGE 509 · [Q 38:26 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il — the three fundamentals of Islamic governance; sovereignty is Allāh's; establishing truth; judiciary and executive] · (1) We have made you Our vicegerent on the earth. (2) In this capacity your basic task is to judge in accordance with truth. (3) And for this task, avoiding the pursuit of selfish desires is a necessary condition. · As for being made a vicegerent on the earth, its sense has passed in Sūrah al-Baqara (see Ma‘ārif al-Qur’ān vol.1 p.271). From this the foundational principle of Islamic statecraft becomes clear: that supreme sovereignty belongs to Allāh Ta‘ālā. The rulers of the earth are authorised only to proceed in accordance with His commands and may not go beyond them. So the ruler of the Muslims, or a shūrā or assembly, may interpret or codify Islamic law, but they are in reality not legislators; they are [only] presenting Allāh's law. · [Box — the basic task of the Islamic state is establishing truth:] The second point made clear here is that the basic task of the Islamic state is the establishment of truth. It is incumbent on the government to establish truth and justice in its administrative affairs and in the settlement of disputes. · Since Islam is an eternal religion, it has not fixed, for politics and governance, such administrative particulars as would become changeable with changing circumstances and times. Rather it has given certain basic guidances in whose light the administrative particulars can be settled according to each age. So here the foundational point given is that the real task of government is establishing truth, but its administrative details are left to the people of sound judgement among the Muslims of every era. · [Box — the relation of judiciary and executive:] Thus, as to whether the judiciary should be entirely separate from the executive or joined with it, no fixed ruling has been given that would be unalterable in every era. If in some age the trustworthiness and honesty of the rulers can be fully relied upon, the duality of judiciary and executive can be abolished. And if in some era the rulers' trustworthiness cannot be fully trusted, the judiciary can be kept entirely independent of the executive. · Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) was Allāh's chosen prophet — who could claim more trustworthiness and honesty than he? So he was made head of both the executive and the judiciary at once, and given the responsibility of deciding disputes as well. Besides the prophets ('alahimu-s-salām), among the Rightly-Guided Caliphs too the same way prevailed: the Amīr al-Mu'minīn was himself the judge as well. In later Islamic governments this method was changed, and the Amīr al-Mu'minīn was made head of the executive and the qāḍī al-quḍāt head of the judiciary. · The third guidance, which this āyah stresses most, is that...

- (1) Ham ne āp ko zamīn meñ apnā khalīfa banāyā hai.
- (2) Is ḥaiṣiyyat se āp kā bunyādī kām ḥaqq ke muṭābiq faiṣla karnā hai.
- (3) Aur is kām ke li'e khwāhishāt-e-nafsānī kī pairavī se bachnā ek lāzimī shart kī ḥaiṣiyyat rakhtā hai.

Aur isī se Islāmī siyāsāt kā yih aṣlu-l-uṣūl wāḍiḥ hotā hai ki "iqtidār-e-a'lā Allāh Ta'ālā ko ḥāṣil hai." Zamīn ke ḥukmrān usī ke aḥkām ke muṭābiq chalne ke mujāz haiñ, us se bāhar nahīñ jā sakte. Aur agar kisī daur meṅ ḥukmrānoṅ kī amānat o diyānat par pūrā bharosa na ho to ‘adliya ko intizāmiya se bilkul āzād bḥī rakhā jā saktā hai.

This guidance is stressed most because it is the foundation of establishing truth. Only that ruler or judge in whose heart there is fear of Allāh and concern for the hereafter can truly establish truth and justice. If this is not there, make the best possible law you like — the schemes of the human self contrive their own way everywhere, and in their presence no system, however excellent, and no law can establish truth and justice. World history and present-day conditions bear witness to this. · [Box — in offices of responsibility, the first thing to look at is a person's character:] From this it is also learnt that in appointing someone a ruler, a judge, or an officer of a department, the first thing to look at is whether he has fear of Allāh and concern for the hereafter, and what the state of his morals and character is. If it is felt that his heart is ruled by selfish desires rather than by fear of Allāh, then however high his degrees, and however expert and experienced in his field he may be, in the view of Islam he is not deserving of any high office. · Verse table (vv.27–29): v.27 "wa mā khalaqna-s-samā‘a wa-l-arḍa wa mā bainahumā baṭīlā; zālīka ṣannu-llazīna kafarū; fa-wailun li-llazīna kafarū mina-n-nār" — and We did not create the heaven and the earth and what is between them in vain; that is the assumption

...(To think them devoid of wisdom) is the notion of those who disbelieve — for (when they denied tauḥīd and the reward and punishment of the hereafter, they denied the greatest wisdom of the creation of the universe). So for the disbelievers there is great ruin (in the hereafter), i.e. Hell, because they denied tauḥīd. (Yes, one error of theirs is that they deny the Resurrection, though the wisdom in the Resurrection is that the good be rewarded and the corrupt punished. Now their denial of the Resurrection entails that this wisdom is not realised and all are equal.) So shall We make those who believe and do good deeds like those who (by disbelief and the like) go about spreading corruption in the world? Or (in other words) shall We make the God-fearing equal to the wicked? (This cannot be.) So the Resurrection must certainly come to pass, that the good be rewarded and the wicked punished. · Likewise, along with tauḥīd and the hereafter, believing in the past messengership is also necessary; for this (Qur'ān) is a blessed Book which We have sent down upon you so that people may reflect on its verses (both on its inimitability and on its highly beneficial contents), and so that people of understanding may take admonition from it (by carefully learning its reality) — that is, religious [admonition] — and act upon it. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: These āyāt, in which the basic beliefs of Islam, especially the affirmation of the hereafter, are stated — · [Box — the subtle ordering of the āyāt:] have come, with an extremely subtle arrangement, in the midst of the events of Dāwūd and Sulaimān ('alaihimā-s-salām). Imām Rāzī (rah.) says: if someone is not understanding out of obstinacy, the wise method is to leave the topic under discussion and start some unrelated matter; and when his mind has moved off that first point, he is then compelled to accept one of those earlier points. Here this very method is used to affirm the hereafter. Before the event of Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) the obstinacy of the disbelievers was being discussed, ending at the āyah "wa qālū Rabbanā 'ajjil lanā qittanā qabla yaumi-l-ḥisāb" — whose sum was that they denied the hereafter and mocked it. Immediately after this came "işbir 'alā mā yaqūlūna wa-zkur 'abdanā Dāwūd" (...remember) — thus a new matter was begun; but the event of Dāwūd ('alaihi-s-salām) was ended on the point: "O Dāwūd, We have made you a vicegerent on the earth, so keep deciding among people with justice." · Now from here, in an imperceptible way, the hereafter is proven:

when the earth's own [Master] is commanding His vicegerent to establish justice
— the sum of which is that the wicked be punished and the good be at ease — would that [same Master]...

PDF PAGE 512 · [Q 38:28 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il (cont.) — the believer / disbeliever distinction is in terms of the hereafter; the rights of non-Muslim minorities → 38:30-33 verse table (Sulaimān and the horses)] · ...would it not establish justice in this universe itself? Certainly its wisdom demands that, rather than driving good and bad people alike with one stick, it punish the wicked and reward the doers of good; this is the purpose of the creation of the universe, and for its fulfilment the existence of the Resurrection and the hereafter is exactly in accord with that wisdom. Those who deny the hereafter say, as it were by their state, that this universe was created purposeless and devoid of wisdom; that all people, good and bad, will pass their lives and die, and then no one will call them to account — whereas one who believes in Allāh’s wisdom can never accept this. · "am naj‘alu-llazīna āmanū" (to the words) "ka-l-fujjār" — (shall We make the believers and the doers of good equal to those who spread corruption on the earth, or the God-fearing equal to the wicked?) — i.e. this can never be; rather the end of the two will be entirely different. From this it is learnt that this difference between believer and disbeliever is in terms of the rulings of the hereafter. In the world it can happen that a disbeliever gets more material comforts than a believer. Nor can it be concluded from this that a disbeliever’s worldly rights cannot equal a believer’s; rather a disbeliever can be given human rights equal to a Muslim’s. Thus in an Islamic state the non-Muslim minorities who live under a pact and covenant are given all human rights equal to the Muslims. · Verse table (vv.30–33): v.30 "wa wahabnā li-Dāwūda Sulaimān; ni‘ma-l-‘abd; innahū awwāb" — and We bestowed on Dāwūd Sulaimān; an excellent servant, ever turning [to Allāh]; v.31 "iz ‘uriḍa ‘alaihi bi-l-‘ashiyyi-ṣ-ṣāfinātu-l-jiyād" — when there were displayed before him, in the evening, well-bred, swift-footed horses; v.32 "fa-qāla innī aḥbabtu ḥubba-l-khairi ‘an zikri Rabbī ḥattā tawārat bi-l-ḥijāb" — and he said, "I have loved the love of good things over the remembrance of my Lord" — until [the sun] disappeared behind the veil; v.33 "ruddūhā ‘alayya; fa-ṭafīqa maṣḥan bi-s-sūqi wa-l-a‘nāq" — [he said,] "bring them back to me," and he began to pass [his hand] over the shanks and necks.

(His story is worth remembering:) when, in the evening, well-bred, fine horses were displayed before him (kept for the purpose of jihād and the like), and inspecting them took so long that the day set and one of his customary [devotions] of the nature of prayer was missed — and, out of [his] awe and majesty, no servant dared to inform and alert him; then, when he himself became aware — he said: "(alas,) out of love for this wealth I have become heedless of the remembrance of my Lord (i.e. the prayer), until the sun has disappeared behind the veil (in the west)." (Then he ordered the servants:) "bring these horses back before me" — (so they were brought) — and he began to pass [the sword] over the shanks and necks of those horses

(i.e. he slaughtered them). · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: In these āyāt an event of Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) is related. The well-known tafsīr of this event is the one given above in the Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr, the sum of which is that Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) became so occupied in inspecting the horses that the ‘aṣr time, at which it was his custom to pray, passed; afterwards, becoming aware, he slaughtered all those horses, because through them a disturbance had occurred in the remembrance of Allāh. · This prayer could have been a nafl one — and in that case there is no difficulty, since the prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām) try to make up for even so slight a heedlessness. It could also be that it was an obligatory prayer, and, engrossed in the inspection, forgetfulness came over him; in the case of forgetting, there is no sin in the obligatory prayer becoming a missed (qaḍā) one, but Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām), in view of his lofty office, made amends for even this. · This tafsīr of these āyāt is transmitted from several imāms of tafsīr, and an investigating scholar like Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr (rah.) also preferred it; it is supported by a marfū‘ ḥadīth too, which ‘Allāma Suyūṭī (rah.) has related on the authority of the Mu‘jam of Ṭabarānī (rah.), Ismā‘īlī (rah.) and Ibn Mardawaih (rah.): · "‘an Ubayyi bni Ka‘bin ‘ani-n-Nabiyyi ṣalla-llāhu ‘alaihi wa sallama fī qaulihī ‘fa-ṭāfiqa maṣḥan bi-s-sūqi wa-l-a‘nāq’ qāla qaṭa‘a sūqahā wa a‘nāqahā bi-s-saif." · ‘Allāma Suyūṭī (rah.) declared its chain ḥasan (Dur-e-Mansūr j.5 p.309), and ‘Allāma Haythamī (rah.) in Majma‘ az-Zawā‘id...

PDF PAGE 514 · [Q 38:30-33 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il (cont.) — the marfū‘ ḥadīth's chain; the objection about destroying wealth answered; Ibn ‘Abbās's alternative tafsīr] · ...in Majma‘ az-Zawā‘id, relates this ḥadīth and writes: "Ṭabarānī (rah.) narrated it in al-Awsaṭ; in it is a narrator Sa‘īd ibn Bashīr, whom Shu‘ba and others called trustworthy and Ibn Ma‘īn (rah.) and others declared weak; and its remaining narrators are trustworthy." (Majma‘ az-Zawā‘id j.7 p.99, Kitāb at-Tafsīr) · Because of this marfū‘ ḥadīth this tafsīr becomes fairly strong; but an objection is generally raised: the horses were a favour bestowed by Allāh, and destroying one's wealth in this way does not seem befitting the dignity of a prophet. The mufasssīrīn answer that these horses were within Sulaimān's (‘alaihi-s-salām) transient property, and in his sharī‘ah, like cows, goats and camels, the sacrifice of horses was also permissible; so he did not waste the horses but sacrificed them in the name of Allāh Ta‘ālā. Just as sacrificing a cow or goat does not amount to wasting it, but is a branch of worship, so here too their sacrifice was offered as an act of worship. (Rūḥu-l-Ma‘ānī) · Most of the mufasssīrīn have given this same tafsīr of the āyah; but another tafsīr of these āyāt is transmitted from ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu), in which the event is stated in an entirely different way. The sum of that tafsīr is: horses that had been prepared for jihād were displayed before Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) for inspection. · Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām), seeing them, was delighted; and he said, as before: "the love and attachment I have for these horses is not because of love of the world, but only because of the remembrance of my Lord, since they have been prepared for jihād — and jihād is a lofty degree of worship." Meanwhile that group of horses passed out of his sight. He ordered that they be brought before him again. So when they came before him again, he began passing his hand fondly over their necks and shanks. · On this tafsīr, "'an" in "'an zikri Rabbī" is causal (sababiyya). And the pronoun in "tawārat" refers back to the horses. And "mash" means not cutting but passing the hand [over them] with affection. · Among the early mufasssīrīn, Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Jarīr Ṭabarī (rah.) and Imām Rāzī (rah.) and others preferred this tafsīr, since in it there is no suspicion of destroying wealth. · In terms of the words of the Qur'ān there is room for both tafsīrs; but since a marfū' ḥadīth, ḥasan in chain, has come in support of the first tafsīr, its strength is increased.

"Ise Ṭabarānī (rah.) ne Awsaṭ men riwāyat kiyā hai; is men ek rāwī Sa'īd bin Bashīr haiḥ, jinheḥ Shu'ba waḡhaira ne ṣiqa kahā hai, aur Ibn Ma'īn (rah.) waḡhaira ne ḍa'īf qarār diyā hai; aur is ke bāqī rijāl ṣiqa haiḥ." (Majma' az-Zawā'id, ṣ.99 j.7, Kitāb at-Tafsīr)

Is ḥadīṣ-e-marfū' kī wajh se yih tafsīr kāfī mazbūt ho jātī hai; lekin is par 'umūman yih shubha hotā hai ki ghoṛe to Allāh kā 'aṭā kiyā hu'ā ek in'ām the, aur apne māl ko is ṭarah ḍā'i' karnā ki dunyā, ek nabī kī shān ke shāyān nahīn ma'lūm hotā. Lekin mufasssīrīn ne is kā yih jawāb diyā hai ki yih ghoṛe Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām kī fānī milkiyyat men the, aur un kī sharī'at men gā'e, bakrī, ūṇṭ kī ṭarah ghoṛon kī qurbānī بھى jā'iz thī; lihāzā unhoḥ ne ghoṛon ko ḍā'i' nahīn kiyā, balki unheḥ Allāh Ta'ālā ke nām par qurbān kar diyā. Jis ṭarah gā'e, bakrī kī qurbānī se un ko ḍā'i' karnā lāzim nahīn ā tā, balki yih 'ibādat hī kā ek shu'ba hai, isī ṭarah yahān بھى 'ibādat hī ke ṭaur par un kī qurbānī pesh kī gaī. (Rūḥu-l-Ma'ānī)

Akṣar ḥaḍrāt-e-mufasssīrīn ne āyat kī yihī tafsīr kī hai; lekin in āyāt kī ek aur tafsīr Ḥaḍrat 'Abdullāh bin 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se manqūl hai, jis men wāqi'a bilkul mukhtalif ṭarīqe se bayān kiyā gayā hai. Is tafsīr kā khulāṣa yih hai ki Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām ke sāmne woh ghoṛe mu'āyane ke li'e pesh kiye ga'e jo jihād ke li'e taiyār kiye ga'e the.

Ḥaḍrat Sulaimān 'alaihi-s-salām unheḥ dekh kar masrūr hu'e; aur sābiqa hī yih irshād farmāyā ki mujhe in ghoṛon se jo muḥabbat aur ta'alluq-e-khāṭir hai woh dunyā kī muḥabbat kī wajh se nahīn, balki apne Parwardigār hī kī yād kī wajh se hai, kyonki yih jihād ke li'e taiyār kiye ga'e haiḥ. Aur jihād ek a'lā darje kī 'ibādat hai. Itne men ghoṛon kī woh jamā'at āp kī nigāhoḥ se rū-posh ho gaī. Āp ne ḥukm diyā ki unheḥ dobāra sāmne lāyā jā'e. Chunānchi jab woh dobāra sāmne ā'e to āp un kī gardanoḥ aur pinḍliyon par pyār se hāth پھیرنے lage.

Is tafsīr ke muṭābiq "'an zikri Rabbī" meñ "'an" sababiyya hai. Aur "tawārat" kī ṣamīr ghoṛon hī kī ṭaraf rāji' hai. Aur "maṣḥ" se murād kāṭnā nahīn, balki muḥabbat se hāth phernā hai.

Qur'ān-e-Karīm ke alfāẓ ke lihāẓ se donoñ tafsīron kī gunjā'ish hai; lekin pahlī tafsīr ke ḥaqq meñ chūnki ek marfū' ḥadīṣ ā gaī hai jo sanad ke i'tibār se ḥasan hai, is li'e us kī quwwat baḥḥ jāti hai.

PDF PAGE 515 · [Q 38:30-33 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il (cont.) — the "sun's return" story rejected; penalising oneself for heedlessness (ghairat); anecdotes of the Ṣaḥāba] · [Box — the story of the sun's return:] Some, taking the first tafsīr, have also said that after the 'aṣr prayer became a missed one, Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) asked Allāh Ta'ālā, or the angels, that the sun be brought back; so the sun was returned and he completed his devotion, after which the sun set again. These take the pronoun in "ruddūhā" to refer to the sun. · But investigating mufasssīrīn — e.g. 'Allāma Ālūsī (raḥ.) and others — have rejected this story, saying that the pronoun in "ruddūhā" refers to the horses, not to the sun — not because bringing the sun back is beyond Allāh's power (ma'āẓallāh), but because this story is not established by any proof from the Qur'ān or Ḥadīth. (Rūḥu-l-Ma'ānī) · [Box — in any case: if heedlessness of the remembrance of Allāh occurs, imposing a penalty on oneself is what religious zeal (ghairat) demands:] This event establishes that if heedlessness of the remembrance of Allāh occurs at some time, it is permissible, to punish the self, to deprive it of some permissible act. In the terminology of the Ṣūfiyā this is called "ghairat." (Bayān al-Qur'ān) · Imposing such penalties on one's self to instil the habit of some good deed is one prescription for reforming the self, and from this event its permissibility — indeed desirability — is learnt. It is also related from the Messenger ﷺ that once Abū Jahm (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) presented as a gift a Syrian cloak with some designs on its borders; the Messenger ﷺ prayed in it, and on returning said to 'Ā'isha (raḍiyallāhu 'anhā): return this cloak to Abū Jahm (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu), for in the prayer my glance fell on its designs and they nearly threw me into a trial. (Aḥkām al-Qur'ān, citing the Muwaṭṭā' of Mālik raḥ.) · Likewise Abū Ṭalḥa (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu), praying once in his garden, became absorbed in watching a bird, so that his attention was not on the prayer; afterwards he gave the whole garden away in charity. · But it should be borne in mind that for this purpose the penalty must be one whose [subject matter] — permissible things — is itself permissible; wasting some wealth without cause is not permissible. So no act is correct that entails the destruction of wealth. Among the Ṣūfiyā, Shiblī (rahmatullāh ‘alaih) once, as this kind of penalty, burned his clothes, but investigating Şūfiyā — e.g. Shaykh ‘Abd al-Wahhāb Sha‘rānī (rahmatullāh ‘alaih) — did not hold that act of his to be correct. (Rūḥu-l-Ma‘ānī) · [Box — the ruler should himself supervise the affairs of the state:] A second thing learnt from this event is that...

Masā'il begins — the trial of Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) and the "body" on his throne] · ...even a low-ranking officer responsible for the state should himself supervise the departments under him, and not sit back leaving them to his subordinates. This is why Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām), despite the multitude of his subordinates, personally inspected even these fine horses. The conduct of the Rightly-Guided Caliphs, and especially of ‘Umar al-Fārūq al-A‘ẓam (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu), also establishes this. · [Box — being occupied in one act of worship at the time of another is [itself] a mistake:] A third thing this event establishes is that being occupied in another act of worship at the time of one act of worship is simply a mistake. Clearly, inspecting the horses of jihād was also a great act of worship; but since that time was for prayer rather than that worship, Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) counted this too as a mistake and made amends for it. Hence our fuqahā have written that, just as engaging in buying and selling is not permissible after the Jum‘a aẓān, so too engaging in any other work besides preparing for the Jum‘a prayer is not correct — even were it the worship of reciting the Qur‘ān or praying nafl. · Verse table (v.34): "wa laqad fatannā Sulaimān; wa alqainā ‘alā kursiyyihī jasadān ṣumma anāb" — and indeed We tried Sulaimān, and cast upon his throne a body; then he turned [to Allāh]. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: And We put Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) to trial (in another way too), and cast a body upon his throne. Then he turned to Allāh. · Ma‘ārif o Masā'il: In this āyah Allāh Ta‘ālā mentions another trial of Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām), and in this connection only this much is stated: that during this trial some body was cast onto Sulaimān's (‘alaihi-s-salām) throne. Now what was that body? What does casting it on the throne mean? And how did the trial come about through it? These details are neither present in the Qur‘ān nor established by any sound ḥadīth. So the inclination of some investigating mufasssīrīn — e.g. Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr (rah.) — appears here too to be that there is no need to go into the details of what the Qur‘ān has left brief; one should only believe this much: that Allāh Ta‘ālā made some trial of Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām), after which Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām)...

PDF PAGE 517 · [Q 38:34 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il (cont.) — the Isrā'īlī "ring" story rejected; the authentic Bukhārī account (the "inshā' allāh" omission)] · ...turned to Allāh even more than before, and the real aim of the Qur'ān is fulfilled by just this much statement. · Some mufasssīrīn have tried to trace out the details of this trial and have stated several possibilities. Some of these possibilities are drawn from purely Isrā'īlī reports — e.g. that the secret of Sulaimān's ('alaihi-s-salām) rule lay in a ring of his; one day a devil seized this ring and, by it, sat ruling on Sulaimān's ('alaihi-s-salām) throne in his very form; after forty days Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) recovered the ring from the belly of a fish, after which he regained his rule. This narration has come, with several further tales, in many tafsīr books; but Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kaṣīr (rah.), after counting all reports of this kind among the Isrā'īliyyāt, writes: "Among the People of the Book there is a group that does not regard Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) as a prophet; it is plain that these false stories were forged by those very people." (Tafsīr Ibn Kaṣīr j.4 p.36) So it is in no way correct to call reports of this kind a tafsīr of this Qur'ānic āyah. · Another event of Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) is mentioned in Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī (rah.) and elsewhere; some mufasssīrīn, seeing some parts of that event resembling this āyah of the Qur'ān, have taken it as the tafsīr of this āyah. · The summary of that event is: once Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) said, "tonight I shall go around my wives, and from each wife a son will be born who will do jihād in the way of Allāh." But while saying this he forgot to say "inshā'allāh." Allāh Ta'ālā did not approve of this lapse of His noble prophet, and proved his statement wrong in this way: that of all the pure wives, only one wife bore a dead child, one side of which was incomplete. · Some mufasssīrīn, applying this event to the āyah, have said that "a body cast upon the throne" means that one of Sulaimān's ('alaihi-s-salām) servants brought this child and placed it on his throne. Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) was thereby alerted that this outcome was for his not saying "inshā'allāh." So he turned to Allāh Ta'ālā and sought forgiveness for that lapse of his. · This tafsīr has been adopted by several investigating mufasssīrīn — e.g. Qāḍī Abu-s-Sa'ūd (rah.) and 'Allāma Ālūsī (rah.). Ḥakīmu-l-Ummat Ḥaḍrat Thānawī (rah.) in Bayān al-Qur'ān has also given the tafsīr accordingly. But in truth this event too cannot be called a definitive tafsīr of the āyah; for, of the reports in which this event has come...

PDF PAGE 518 · [Q 38:34 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il — the Bukhārī ḥadīth is not stated as a tafsīr of this āyah; Rāzī's "illness" tafsīr; the safe position → 38:35 verse table] · ...there is nowhere any sign that the Messenger ﷺ mentioned it as a tafsīr of the āyah under discussion. Imām Bukhārī (raḥ.) too related this ḥadīth in Kitāb al-Jihād, Kitāb al-Anbiyā and Kitāb al-Aimān wa-n-Nuzūr by several routes; but in Kitāb at-Tafsīr, under the tafsīr of Sūrah Ṣād, he does not mention it anywhere; rather, under the āyah "wa dhahaba bī..." (etc.) he related a different report, and gave no reference to that ḥadīth at all. This shows that even for Imām Bukhārī (raḥ.) this event is not the tafsīr of the āyah under discussion; rather, just as the Messenger ﷺ related many other events of the prophets ('alaihimu-s-salām), this too is a separate event, which need not be a tafsīr of any āyah. · A third tafsīr was stated by Imām Rāzī (rah.) and others: that Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām) once fell severely ill, and his weakness grew to such a degree that when he was brought and seated on the throne he seemed a lifeless body. After this Allāh Ta‘ālā granted him health. At that time he turned to Allāh Ta‘ālā, offered thanks, sought forgiveness, and also prayed for an unparalleled kingdom for the future. · But this tafsīr too is mere conjecture; it does not have much correspondence with the words of the Qur’ān either, and there is no proof of it from any report. · The truth is that we have no means of knowing the definite details of the event indicated in the āyah under discussion, nor are we obliged to. So it is enough to believe this much: that Allāh Ta‘ālā made some trial of Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām), after which the impulse of turning to Allāh (anābat ilā-llāh) arose in him more than before. And the real aim of the Qur’ān in mentioning this event is to call all people to this: that if they are afflicted with some distress or trial, they should, like Sulaimān (‘alaihi-s-salām), show more turning to Allāh than before. As for the details of Sulaimān's (‘alaihi-s-salām) trial, they should be left to Allāh. Wa-llāhu a‘lam. · Verse table (v.35): "qāla Rabbi-ghfir lī wa hab lī mulkan lā yanbaghī li-aḥadīn min ba’dī; innaka anta-l-wahhāb" — he said: my Lord, forgive me and grant me a kingdom such as will not befit anyone after me; indeed You are the great Bestower.

"min ba'dī": some mufasssīrīn take this supplication to mean that in my time no one else attain a kingdom as great as mine — as if for them "after me" means "besides me." Ḥaḍrat Thānawī (rah.) also rendered it accordingly. But for most mufasssīrīn the sense is that no one after me either attain so great a kingdom. Indeed the fact too is this: Allāh Ta'ālā granted Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) such a kingdom as no one after him could obtain, for the subjection of the winds and such subordination of the jinn did not come to anyone afterwards. That some people, through incantations and the like, subdue some jinn is not contrary to this, for that bears no comparison to Sulaimān's ('alaihi-s-salām) subjection of the jinn. Experts in incantations bring one or two, or a few, jinn under control; but the all-encompassing rule that Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) had, no one in the world has had. · [Box — the supplication for rule and power:] It should also be kept in mind that no supplication of the prophets ('alaihimu-s-salām) is made without Allāh's leave. Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) too made this supplication only by Allāh's leave. And since its motive was not mere seeking of power, but behind it was the impulse of enforcing Allāh's commands and raising high the word of truth, and Allāh Ta'ālā knew that after receiving rule Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) would work only for these lofty aims — and the impulses of love of status would find no place in his heart — he was given leave for this supplication, and it was also accepted. · But for ordinary people, seeking power of one's own accord is forbidden in ḥadīth because it involves the impulses of love of status and wealth. Thus, wherever a person is certain of being free of such selfish impulses, and intends to seek power for no aim but establishing and proclaiming the word of truth, it is permissible for him to pray for government. (Rūḥu-l-Ma'ānī, etc.) · "muqarranīna fi-l-aṣḥād" — (bound in chains): the subjection of the jinn and the tasks they performed have been detailed in Sūrah Saba'. Here it is stated that Sulaimān ('alaihi-s-salām) had bound the rebellious jinn in chains. Now these chains need not be the iron chains we see; it may be that some other method of binding the jinn was adopted, which is here expressed as "chains" for ease of understanding. · Verse table (v.41): "wa-zkur 'abdanā Ayyūb; iz nādā Rabbahū annī massaniya-sh-shaiṭānu bi-nuṣbin wa 'azāb" — and remember Our servant Ayyūb, when he called upon his Lord, "the devil has afflicted me with...

Khulāṡa-e-Tafsīr: And remember Our servant Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām), when he called upon his Lord: "the devil has brought me distress and torment." (And this distress and torment, according to some mufasssīrīn, is that which Imām Aḡmad (raḡ.) related in Kitāb az-Zuhd from Ibn ‘Abbās (raḡiyallāhu ‘anhu): that during Ayyūb's (‘alaihi-s-salām) illness the devil once met Ayyūb's (‘alaihi-s-salām) wife in the guise of a physician. Taking him for a physician, she asked him for treatment; he said, on the condition that if he recovered she should say, "I healed him" — and he would ask no fee. She mentioned it to Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām), who said: "poor woman, that was the devil. I vow that if Allāh Ta‘ālā heals me I will strike you a hundred lashes." So great distress reached him from this: that through his illness the devil's boldness had grown so far that he wanted to have such words uttered by his own wife as would apparently amount to shirk — even if by interpretation it were not shirk — although Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) had also prayed before for the removal of the illness, yet from this incident he prayed with still greater humility and imploring. So We accepted his supplication and commanded: strike the ground with your foot. (He struck the ground with his foot and a spring gushed forth. Narrated by Aḡmad raḡ.) Then We said to him: this is cool water for (your) bathing and for drinking — (i.e. bathe in it and drink of it). So he bathed and drank, and became entirely well. And We gave him back his family...

And now Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) intended to fulfil his oath; but since his wife had served Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) much, and no new sin had issued from her — therefore Allāh Ta‘ālā, by His mercy, made an easing for him and said: O Ayyūb, take in your hand a bundle of grass-stalks (of seventy stalks) and strike (your wife) with it, and do not break (your) oath. (And so it was.) Then Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) is praised: indeed We found him (very) patient — a good servant who turned much to Allāh. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: The event of Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) is brought here to enjoin patience on the Messenger ﷺ. It has passed in detail in Sūrah al-Anbiyā; here a few points are worth mentioning. · "massaniya-sh-shaiṭānu bi-nuṣbin wa ‘azāb" — (the devil has brought me distress and torment): some have explained the devil's bringing distress and torment thus: that the illness Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) fell into came about through the devil's domination. And this happened: once the angels praised Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) greatly, at which the devil was severely envious and prayed to Allāh Ta‘ālā to be given such power over his body and wealth and children that he might do with them what he wished. Since Allāh Ta‘ālā willed a trial of Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām), this right was given to the devil, and he cast him into this illness. · But investigating mufasssīrīn have refuted this story, saying that by the explicit statement of the Qur’ān the devil cannot gain domination over the prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām). So it is not possible that he cast him into illness. · Some have explained the devil's bringing distress and torment thus: that in the state of illness the devil cast various whisperings into Ayyūb's (‘alaihi-s-salām) heart, from which he suffered even more; here he mentions that. But the best explanation of this āyah is the one Ḥaḍrat Thānawī (rah.) adopted in Bayān al-Qur’ān, and which is written above in the Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr.

"khuz bi-yadika ḍiḡṣan" — fulfilling an oath by a single bundle-blow; the standing of legal devices (ḥiyal)] · [Box — the nature of Ayyūb's ('alaihi-s-salām) illness:] The Qur'ān states only that Ayyūb ('alaihi-s-salām) contracted a severe illness, but does not state its nature. Nor is any detail of it transmitted from the Messenger ﷺ in the aḥādīth. Some reports do indicate that boils broke out over every part of his body, so much so that people, out of revulsion, cast him out onto a rubbish-heap. But some investigating mufasssīrīn (rah.) have refused to accept these reports as sound; they say that illnesses can come upon the prophets ('alaihimu-s-salām), but they are not afflicted with such illnesses as would make people revolted. Ayyūb's ('alaihi-s-salām) illness too cannot be such; it was some ordinary kind of illness. So those reports that ascribe broken-out boils and sores to Ayyūb ('alaihi-s-salām), or say that he was cast onto a rubbish-heap, are unreliable both in transmission (riwāyatan) and in scrutiny (dirāyatan). (Summarised from Rūḥu-l-Ma'ānī and Aḥkām al-Qur'ān) · "khuz bi-yadika ḍiḡṣan" — (take in your hand a bundle of grass-stalks): the background and summary of this event have been given in the tafsīr. Here a few rulings related to it are set down: · The first ruling: from this event it is learnt that if a person vows to strike someone seventy lashes, and afterwards, instead of striking seventy lashes separately, makes a bundle of all the lashes and strikes once, the oath is fulfilled by it. It was for this that Ayyūb ('alaihi-s-salām) was commanded to do so. This is the madhhab of Imām Abū Ḥanīfa (rah.). · But, as 'Allāma Ibn Humām (rah.) wrote, two conditions are necessary for this: one, that every stalk must touch the person's body, lengthwise or crosswise; the other, that some pain must certainly result from it — if the stalks were applied so lightly that there was no pain at all, the oath is not fulfilled. What Ḥaḍrat Thānawī (rah.) wrote in Bayān al-Qur'ān, that the oath is not fulfilled, probably means just this: that there be no pain at all, or that some stalk fail to touch the body; and the Ḥanafī fuqahā (rah.) have made explicit that if it is struck with the said two conditions, the oath is fulfilled. (See Faṭḥ al-Qadīr j.4 p.136) · [Box — the shar'ī standing of legal devices (ḥiyal):] From this āyah a second ruling is learnt: that if some shar'ī device is adopted to avoid an unsuitable or disliked matter, it is permissible. Clearly, in Ayyūb's ('alaihi-s-salām) case the real requirement of the oath was that he strike his pure wife the full seventy lashes; but since his pure wife was innocent, and had served Ayyūb ('alaihi-s-salām) greatly, therefore...

PDF PAGE 524 · [Q 38:44 · Ma‘ārif o Masā'il — legal devices (ḥiyal): when permissible, when not;

swearing an oath on an improper act; breaking it for the better → 38:45-49
verse table] · ...Allāh Ta‘ālā Himself taught Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) a device, and made explicit that his oath would not be broken this way. So this event indicates the permissibility of a device (ḥīla). · But it must be remembered that devices of this kind are permissible only when they are not made a means of nullifying the aims of the sharī‘ah. If the aim of the device is to nullify the right of a rightful claimant, or to make lawful for oneself a plainly unlawful act while keeping it unlawful in appearance, then such a device is entirely impermissible. For example, to escape zakāt some people use this device: shortly before the year ends they transfer their wealth into the wife's ownership, then after a while the wife transfers it into the husband's ownership, and every time the year nears its end the husband gifts it back to the wife. In this way zakāt becomes obligatory on no one. Such a device is impermissible, being an attempt to nullify the aims of the sharī‘ah, hence ḥarām — and perhaps its punishment is greater than the punishment of abandoning zakāt. (Rūḥu-l-Ma‘ānī, from Mabsūṭ of Sarakhsī) · [Box — swearing an oath upon an improper act:] A third ruling learnt: if a person swears an oath to do an improper, wrong or impermissible act, the oath is contracted, and expiation (kaffāra) is due even for breaking it. Clearly, if in this case no expiation were due, Ayyūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) would not have been taught this device; but along with this it must also be kept in mind that if an oath is sworn upon an improper act, the shar‘ī ruling is that it should be broken and the expiation paid. In a ḥadīth the Messenger ﷺ said: · "Whoever swears an oath, then afterwards is of the view that acting against that oath is better, should do the thing that is better and pay the expiation for his oath." ·

PDF PAGE 526 · [Q 38:45-64 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr — the excellence of the prophets named; the reward of the God-fearing; the punishment of the transgressors and their leaders] · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: And remember Our servants Ibrāhīm, Ishāq and Ya‘qūb (‘alaihimu-s-salām), who were men of "hands" (i.e. doers of deeds) and of "eyes" (i.e. seers) — that is, they had both practical power (quwwat-e-‘amaliyya) and knowledge-power (quwwat-e-‘ilmiyya). And We singled them out with a special quality: remembrance of the hereafter. (This quality is most complete and perfect in the prophets; perhaps this phrase is added so that it may reach the ears of the heedless — that when the prophets are not free of this concern, of what account are we?) And these [personages] are with Us among the chosen and the best of people (i.e. among the chosen too they are foremost, for the prophets are superior to other saints and righteous people). · And remember also Ismā‘īl, al-Yasa‘ and Zū-l-Kifl; and all these too are among the best of people. (Next comes a somewhat detailed statement of tauḥīd, the hereafter and messengership.) One theme — of admonition — has been given: by it are meant the events of the prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām), which convey to the disbelievers the belief in messengership, and teach the believers noble character and supererogatory deeds. And (the second theme, concerning the reward and punishment of the hereafter) now begins, detailed thus: (for the God-fearing, in the hereafter) there is a good place of return — the Gardens of everlasting stay, whose gates will be open for them (the apparent meaning being that they will already be open). They will sit in those Gardens reclining, and will call (upon the servants of Paradise) for much fruit and drink; and with them will be companions of modest gaze, of one age (meaning the ḥūrs — and, for Muslim women, corresponding [mates]). (This which is described) is the favour promised to you for the Day of Reckoning; indeed this is Our gift, with no end to it (a lasting, eternal favour). This much has been said (concerning the blessed God-fearing); and (next the theme concerning the disbelievers, that) for the transgressors (those who led others in disbelief) there is an evil place of return — Hell, into which they will enter, and a most evil place it is. Let them taste this (punishment) — boiling water and pus — and besides it other things of the same kind (of various disagreeable, tormenting sorts); and for those who were their followers there are the same things — so that, though there is difference in precedence and in severity, all share in the punishment itself. Thus when the leaders of the disbelievers enter Hell first, and then their followers come, the leaders will say to one another: this is a troop rushing into Hell with you (to share the punishment); may they find no place...

What hope from them, what joy at their coming, what "welcome, you cursed"? They (the followers) will say (to their leaders): rather, the curse of Allāh be upon you — for it was you who brought this (calamity) before us (you led us astray); so (Hell) is a most evil place (which came before us through you). After this, when each of them lays the blame on the other, the followers will leave off addressing the leaders and pray to Allāh Ta'ālā: our Lord, whoever brought this (calamity) before us, give him a doubled punishment in the Fire. And they (the followers, or all the people of the Fire, among themselves) will say: what is it that we do not see (in Hell) the men we used to count among the wicked (i.e. we used to regard the Muslims as misguided and contemptible) — why do they not appear? Did we (wrongly) hold them in mockery (though they did not deserve it), and they have not come into Hell; or are they present in Hell but our gaze misses (them) and our eyes spin (so that they do not fix on them)? The meaning is that (along with the punishment there will be this further regret: that the people we thought evil escaped the punishment); and (this thing), namely two people of the Fire quarrelling with each other, is entirely true (it will surely happen). · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: "ulī-l-aidī wa-l-abṣār" — literally "men of hands and of sight"; the sense is that they spent their mental and practical energies in the obedience of Allāh Ta'ālā. By this it is indicated that the real use of the human limbs is that they be spent in the obedience of Allāh; and the limbs not spent in it, their existence and non-existence are equal. · [Box — concern for the hereafter is a distinguishing trait of the prophets:] "zīkra-d-dār" — literally "remembrance of the Home"; and "Home" means the hereafter. This word is used instead of "hereafter" so that a person may be alerted to regard the hereafter as his real home, and to make concern for it the basis of his thoughts and deeds. From this it is also learnt that concern for the hereafter gives still greater lustre to a person's intellectual and practical power. The notion of some atheists, that concern for the hereafter blunts a person's powers, is entirely baseless. · [Box — al-Yasa' ('alaihi-s-salām):] "wa-l-Yasa'" — (and remember al-Yasa' 'alaihi-s-salām): al-Yasa' ('alaihi-s-salām) is among the prophets of the Banī Isrā'īl, and in the Qur'ān he is mentioned in only two places — one in Sūrah al-An'ām, the other here. In neither place are his circumstances given in detail...

History books say he was a paternal cousin of Ilyās (‘alaihi-s-salām) and his deputy and successor; he remained in his company, and after him prophethood was granted to him. In the Bible, 1 Kings ch.19 and 2 Kings ch.2 and elsewhere his circumstances are given in detail; there his noble name appears as "Elisha son of Shaphat" (Ilyasha‘ bin Sāfat). · "wa ‘indahum qāṣirātu-ṭ-ṭarfī atrāb" — (and with them will be companions of modest gaze, of like age; meaning the ḥūrs of Paradise). "atrāb" (of like age) may mean either that they will all be of one age among themselves, or that they will be equal in age to their husbands. On the first reading, the benefit of their being of one age is that between them there will be love, familiarity and friendship — and no envy or hatred; and clearly this brings the utmost comfort to the husbands. · [Box — matching the ages of spouses is better:] On the second reading, "atrāb" meaning that they will be of the same age as their husbands, the benefit is that through equality of age there will be greater compatibility and harmony of temperament, and each can better attend to the comfort and delight of the other. From this it is also learnt that proportionality in age between spouses should be observed, since mutual affection is thereby produced, and the bond of marriage becomes more pleasant and lasting. · Verse table (vv.65–70): v.65 "qul innamā ana munḡir; wa mā min ilāhin illa-llāhu-l-Wāḥidu-l-Qaḥḥār" — say: I am only a warner; and there is no god but Allāh, the One, the All-Subduing; v.66 "Rabbu-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍi wa mā bainahuma-l-‘Azīzu-l-Gḥaffār" — Lord of the heavens and the earth and what is between them, the Mighty, the Ever-Forgiving. v.67 "qul huwa naba‘un ‘aḡīm" — say: it is a great tidings, v.68 "antum ‘anhu mu‘riḡūn" — from which you turn away. v.69 "mā kāna liya min ‘ilmin bi-l-mala‘i-l-a‘lā iḡ yakḥtaṣīmūn" — I had no knowledge of the exalted assembly when they were disputing; v.70 "in yūḥā ilayya illā annamā ana naḡīrun mubīn" — it is revealed to me only that I am a

Iblīs's refusal] · Verse table: v.87 "in huwa illā zikrun li-l-‘ālamīn" — it is only a reminder for all the worlds; v.88 "wa la-ta‘lamunna naba’ahū ba‘da ḥīn" — and you will surely know its news after a while. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: Say: (your belying and denying in the matter of messengership and tauḥīd) is your own loss; it does me no harm, for I am only a prophet warning you of Allāh's punishment. And just as my being a messenger and a warner is a fact, so tauḥīd too is true — that is, none is worthy of worship but Allāh, the One, the All-Subduing; He is the Lord of the heavens and the earth and what is between them, the Mighty, the great Forgiver of sins. (Since these people did in some degree accept tauḥīd, but utterly denied messengership, so, to further establish the reality of messengership, it is said:) Say: this (Allāh Ta‘ālā's making me a messenger to teach tauḥīd and the rulings of the sharī‘ah) is a matter of great moment, to which you should have paid great heed; but alas, you are (entirely) heedless of it. And the reason it is a matter of great moment is that without holding this belief, the attainment of true felicity is impossible. · Next, a proof of the Messenger's ﷺ messengership: that I had no knowledge, by any means, of the debate and discussion of the exalted assembly (the angels) when they were discussing (about the creation of Ādam). (Now, when I relate to you the fact of that discussion, the thing to reflect on is: whence did I learn this event? I did not myself witness it from childhood; nor do I have such dealings and mixing with the People of the Book as to have learned it from them; certainly this knowledge came to me only by revelation. So it is established that revelation comes to me, by which the states of the exalted assembly too become known; and it comes only because I have been sent, from Allāh, as a plain warner — i.e. because I have been given prophethood, revelation descends.) So it is obligatory that you affirm my messengership. · And the discourse of the exalted assembly with Allāh Ta‘ālā, mentioned above, took place when your Lord said to the angels: I am about to make a human (i.e. his figure); so when I have completed him (his bodily limbs) and cast into him of My spirit, all of you fall down before him in prostration. So when Allāh Ta‘ālā made him, all the angels prostrated (to Ādam ‘alaihi-s-salām) — except Iblīs, who became arrogant and was of the disbelievers. Allāh Ta‘ālā said: O Iblīs...

Have you become arrogant? (though in fact you are not great;) or is it that you are (really) of those of high degree to whom the command of prostration is not even befitting? He said: (the second is true, i.e.) I am better than Ādam, for You created me from fire and created him from dust (so commanding me to prostrate before him is against wisdom). It was said: then get out of heaven, for you have surely become outcast (by this evil act), and My curse shall be upon you until the Day of Resurrection (and thereafter there is no possibility of mercy). He said: (if You have made me outcast because of Ādam) then give me respite (from death) until the Day of Resurrection (so that I may take full revenge on him and his offspring). It was said: (since you ask for respite,) then (go —) you are given respite until the appointed time. He said: (since I have obtained respite,) then, by Your own might, I will lead them all astray, except Your chosen servants among them (whom You have kept safe from my influence). It was said: I speak the truth, and I (always) speak only the truth: I will fill Hell with you and with those who follow you, all of them. ·

(The opening āyāt of the Sūrah make clear that its basic aim is to establish the messengership of the Messenger ﷺ. The proofs on this theme have been given; now, in the manner of an admonisher, the call to believe is made:) Say (by way of concluding the argument): I ask you no reward for (conveying this Qur'ān), nor am I of the pretenders (that I claimed prophethood by fabrication and called a non-Qur'ān "the Qur'ān" — i.e. if I were lying, there would be some motive or material benefit like a fee, or some natural habit like [avoiding] hardship; neither is the case; rather this is a fact). This Qur'ān is only (the speech of Allāh and) a reminder for all the worlds (for the conveying of which I was given prophethood, and in which is your own benefit entirely). And (if, despite the truth being clear, you still do not believe,) after a few days you will come to know its state (i.e. at death the reality will open up, that this was the truth and its denial was false — but knowing it then will be of no benefit).

PDF PAGE 532 · [Q 38 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il — a summary of the Sūrah's themes; "mā kāna liya min 'ilmin bi-l-malā'i-l-a'lā"; the meaning of "ikhtiṣām"; "iz qāla Rabbuka li-l-malā'ikati"] · [Box — summary of the Sūrah's themes:] "qul innamā ana munzir": at the start of the Sūrah you have seen that its real aim is to establish the messengership of the Messenger ﷺ and to refute the disbelievers. In this connection the events of the prophets (ʿalāihimu-s-salām) were mentioned for two reasons. One, that the Messenger ﷺ might be consoled, and, like the earlier prophets, bear patiently the vain things of the disbelievers. Two, that from these events the very people who are denying the messengership of a true prophet might themselves take a lesson. After this, the disbelievers were called to Islam by another method: a picture was drawn of the good end of the believers and the severe punishment of the disbelievers. And it was pointed out that the very people in whose following you today belie the best of messengers ﷺ will, on the Day of the hereafter, wash their hands of helping you — they will revile you, and We will send Our curse upon them. · After all these themes, at the end the main claim — the affirmation of messengership — is again stated, and, along with presenting proofs, the call [to believe] is also given in the manner of an admonisher. · "mā kāna liya min 'ilmin bi-l-malā'i-l-a'lā iz yakhtaṣimūn" — (I had no knowledge at all of the exalted assembly when they were discussing) — i.e. this is a clear proof of my messengership: that I relate to you such matters of the exalted assembly as cannot be known by any means other than revelation. By "these matters" is meant, first, the discourse that took place at the time of the creation of Ādam (ʿalaihi-s-salām) between Allāh Ta'ālā and the angels, mentioned in Sūrah al-Baqara. The angels had said, "a-taj'alu fihā man yufsidu fihā wa yasfiku-d-dimā'" — are you placing on the earth one who will spread corruption there and shed blood? This discourse is here expressed by the word "ikhtiṣām," which literally means "quarrel" or "debate and discussion." Whereas the fact is that this question of the angels was not by way of any objection or debate; they only wished to know the wisdom in the creation of Ādam. But since the outward form of question and answer resembled a debate, it was expressed by the word "ikhtiṣām." It is like when a junior puts a question to a senior, and the senior person, mentioning it, sometimes, playfully, expresses that exchange as a "quarrel." · "iz qāla Rabbuka li-l-malā'ikati" — (when your Lord said to the angels, etc.) — the event of the creation of Ādam mentioned here points to the said discourse between Allāh Ta'ālā and the angels, and along with it...

"li-mā khalaqtu bi-yadayy" (the meaning of "My hands"); the censure of affectation (takalluf)] · ...attention is also drawn to this: that just as Iblīs, out of sheer envy and arrogance, refused to prostrate to Ādam ('alaihi-s-salām), so too the pagans of Arabia, out of envy and arrogance, are not accepting your word; and the end that befell Iblīs is to befall them as well. (Tafsīr Kabīr) · "li-mā khalaqtu bi-yadayy": here Allāh Ta'ālā says of Ādam ('alaihi-s-salām) that "I created him with My hands." The mass of the Ummah agree that "hands" does not mean that Allāh Ta'ālā has hands like those of human beings, for Allāh Ta'ālā is free of need for limbs and organs. So what is meant is the power of Allāh Ta'ālā; and in the Arabic language the word "yad" is very often used in the sense of power — for instance, "bi-yadihī 'uqdatu-n-nikāḥ." So the meaning of the āyah is: "I created Ādam by My power." · Now, all things of the universe came into being by the power of Allāh; but when Allāh Ta'ālā wishes to display the special honour of a thing, He ascribes it specially to Himself — as the Ka'ba is called "Bait-Allāh," the she-camel of Šāliḥ ('alaihi-s-salām) "Nāqat-Allāh," and 'Īsā ('alaihi-s-salām) "Kalimat-Allāh" or "Rūḥ-Allāh." Here too this ascription is made to display the excellence of Ādam ('alaihi-s-salām). (Qurṭubī) · [Box — the censure of affectation and pretension (takalluf and tašannu'):] "wa mā ana mina-l-mutakallifīn" — (and I am not of the pretenders): the meaning is that I am not displaying my prophethood and messengership and knowledge and wisdom by affectation and pretension; rather I am conveying Allāh's commands exactly as they are. From this it is learnt that affectation and pretension are generally blameworthy in the sharī'ah. Some aḥādīth have come censuring it. In the Šaḥīḥain the saying of 'Abdullāh ibn Mas'ūd (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) is transmitted: "O people, whoever of you has knowledge of some matter, let him tell people; but whoever does not have knowledge, let him content himself with saying 'Allāhu a'lam'" — because Allāh Ta'ālā said of His Messenger ﷺ: "qul mā as'alukum 'alaihi min ajrin wa mā ana mina-l-mutakallifīn." PDF PAGE 536 · [Q 39:3-6 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (cont.) — Allāh does not guide the obstinate liar; refutation of ascribing offspring to Allāh; proofs of tauḥīd from the cosmos and from the self; the stages of human creation] · ...so do not grieve over the word of those people, whose judgement will be there [in the hereafter]; and do not marvel that, despite the proofs standing established, they do not come to the truth — because Allāh Ta'ālā does not guide one who is a liar in speech and a disbeliever in belief: who insists, with his mouth, on words of disbelief, and, with his heart, on beliefs of disbelief, and has no intention of desisting or of seeking the truth — so, because of this obstinacy, Allāh Ta'ālā too does not give him the enabling grace of guidance. · Since some polytheists ascribed offspring to Allāh — as they called the angels "banāt-Allāh" (the daughters of Allāh) — next is their refutation: that (if, hypothetically) Allāh Ta'ālā were to take offspring, then — since no act occurs without the will of Allāh — He would first will to take offspring; and if He willed to take offspring, then (since all besides Allāh are created) He would necessarily choose for this from among His own creation whomever He willed. And that consequence is false, for He is free of defect; (and to be free of defect is [precisely] not-defective, so choosing some creature to be [His] offspring is impossible, and to will the impossible is [itself] impossible) — so it is established that (He is such a One Allāh that no one actually shares [divinity] with Him, and He is Mighty; no one shares [it] with Him even potentially, for the capacity to be a partner exists only when there is another equally mighty, and there is none). · Next, proofs of tauḥīd: He created the earth and the heaven with wisdom; He wraps the night (its darkness) over the place of the day (its light) — so that the day disappears and the night appears — and wraps the day over the place of the night; and He has set the sun and the moon to work; each of them will run to an appointed time. Remember that, even after these proofs, denying tauḥīd carries the fear of punishment, and Allāh Ta‘ālā has power over it, for He is Mighty; but if anyone, even after denial, accepts (tauḥīd), He will not punish for the past denial, for He is also the Forgiver of faults. · (This gives an incitement to tauḥīd and a warning against shirk; next is an argument from the proofs of the self, in which some cosmic states also come in incidentally.) He created you people from a single soul (i.e. Ādam ‘alaihi-s-salām) — first the single body was created, then from it its mate was made (meaning Ḥawwā), then from them all people were spread. And (after [your] coming into being) He created for your benefit and sustenance eight [kinds of] male and female cattle (mentioned in the rukū‘ at the end of the 8th juz‘). They are specified because they are of more use. This is the part that came in, subordinately, among the cosmic matters — subordinately, because the aim is to state the continuance of the self, and this is among the causes of that continuance. · Next He describes the manner of the creation of the human race: He forms you in the wombs of your mothers, one state after another (and after the second state, a third, and so on), in various states — first there is the sperm-drop, then a clot, then a lump of flesh, and so on — and this forming is in three [layers of] darkness... (Creating in these various states and multiple darknesses is a proof of the perfection of [His] power, and creating in the three [layers of] darkness is a proof of the perfection of [His] knowledge.) That is Allāh, your Lord (whose attributes you have just heard); His is the dominion; there is none worthy of worship besides Him; so (after these proofs) where are you being turned away (from the truth)? (Rather it is obligatory to) accept tauhīd, and forsake shirk. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: "fa-'budi-llāha mukḡliṡan lahu-d-dīn" (to the words) "a-lā li-llāhi-d-dīnu-l-kḡālīṡ": the word "dīn" here means worship, or obedience, which covers observance of all religious rulings. In its first clause the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ is addressed and commanded to make worship and obedience purely for Allāh, with no taint of shirk with any other, or of ostentation and display. The second clause is to emphasise this: that sincere devotion (ikḡlāṡ-e-dīn) is due to Allāh alone; none besides Him deserves it. · It is narrated from Abū Hurayra (raḡiyallāhu 'anhu) that a man said to the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ: "O Messenger of Allāh, sometimes I give a charity, or do a favour to someone, in which my intention is both to seek the pleasure of Allāh Ta'ālā and [also] that people should praise and commend me." The Messenger of Allāh ﷺ said: "by the One in whose hand is the soul of Muḥammad, Allāh Ta‘ālā does not accept anything of the kind in which any other has been made a partner." Then he recited the said āyah as a proof: "a-lā li-llāhi-d-dīnu-l-khālīṣ." (Qurtubī) ·

[Box — the acceptance of deeds with Allāh is by weight, not by count:] Several Qur’ānic āyāt bear witness that with Allāh Ta‘ālā the reckoning of deeds and the acceptance of deeds is not by count but by weight — "wa naḍa‘u-l-mawāzīna-l-qīṣṭa li-yaumi-l-qiyāma." And the said āyāt have made clear that with Allāh the value and weight of deeds is in proportion to sincerity (ikhlāṣ). And it is plain that perfect sincerity is not attained without perfect faith — for perfect sincerity is that one regard none besides Allāh as the possessor of benefit or harm, not think any other than Allāh appointed [over affairs] in one's works, nor let any other than Allāh come, of one's own imagining, into one's mind in any obedience or worship. Involuntary whisperings Allāh Ta‘ālā pardons. · The Companions (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhum), who are in the front rank of the Muslims — the number of their deeds and devotions may not appear very great; but despite this, the reason a single lowly deed of theirs surpasses the greatest deeds of the rest of the Ummah is their... PDF PAGE 538 · [Q 39:3 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il — the pagan Arabs' belief about angels and idols; the false analogy with courtiers of kings; a comparison with today's materialist disbelievers] · ...[the reason is] their perfection of faith and perfection of sincerity. · "wa-llazīna-ttakhaẓū min dūniḥi auliyā‘a mā na‘budhum illā li-yuqarribūnā ila-llāhi zulfā" — this is the state of the pagan Arabs, and the general polytheists of this age too held nearly the same belief: that the Creator and Master and Disposer of all affairs is Allāh Ta‘ālā alone. Satan deluded them thus, and they carved idols in the forms they imagined for the angels; and, knowing that these idols were made by them and had no intellect or consciousness or power, their belief was that by honouring and venerating these idols the angels, whom the idols represented, would be pleased with them — since the angels are near [servants] with Allāh. They analogised the court of Allāh with the kings of the world: that when a royal favourite is pleased with someone, he intercedes for him before the king and makes him a favourite of the king too. They thought the angels, like royal courtiers, could intercede for whomever they wished; but all their notions were satanic deceit and utter falsehood. First, the idols do not in fact represent the angels; and even if they did, when will the near angels of Allāh be pleased with being worshipped? They have a natural aversion to everything disliked by Allāh. Besides, they cannot intercede with Allāh for anyone of their own accord, unless they are given leave to intercede for a particular person. · "wa kam min malakin fi-s-samāwāti lā tughnī shafā‘atuhum shai‘an illā min ba‘di an ya‘ẓana-llāhu li-man yashā‘u wa yardā" — this is exactly what it means. · [Box — the polytheists of that age were better than today's disbelievers:] Today's materialist disbelievers deny the very existence of Allāh Ta‘ālā, and utter insolence about His majesty directly. The disbelief imported from Europe — whatever its various shades, whether capitalist or communist — has this common factor: that (ma‘āzallāh) God is nothing, we are masters of our own will, and no one will call us to account for our deeds. It is the result of this very worst disbelief and ingratitude that peace, tranquillity, calm and comfort have vanished from the whole world: many new means of comfort, but comfort lost; abundant modern instruments and research for treatment and cure, yet such a prevalence of diseases as no former age heard of; guards and police, secret police at every step, yet the rate of crime rising by the day. These new instruments and new modes of ease and comfort — when one reflects — appear each a fresh burden on the soul, readying [people] for the punishment of God. The punishment of disbelief is, in the hereafter, eternal Hell for all disbelievers; but some of the punishment of this blind ingratitude has to be borne in this world too — that the very One whose gifts they use to climb up to the sky and grow bold — Him they deny. · [Footnote: "Darmiyān-e-khāna gum kah wa yam ṣāḥib-khāna rā" — a Persian hemistich: "lost within the house, while shouting for the master of the house."]

And offspring must be of the same kind as its parent, and a creature cannot be of the same kind as the Creator; so willing to make a creature [His] offspring is [itself] impossible. · "yukawwiru-l-laila 'ala-n-nahār" — "takwīr" means casting one thing over another and thereby covering it. The Qur'ān here expresses the alternation of day and night, in terms of ordinary observation, by the word "takwīr": that when night comes it is as if a veil is cast over the light of day, and when day comes a veil is cast over the darkness of night. · "kullun yajrī li-ajalin musammā" — this shows that both the sun and the moon are in motion. [Box — the sun and the moon are both in motion:] The material investigations of astronomy and of the earth's strata are not a subject of the Qur'ān or of any heavenly book. But whatever is said incidentally in this matter, it is obligatory to believe it. The old and new investigations of the philosophers are a nose of wax, changing by the day; the Qur'ānic facts are unchangeable. What the said āyah stated — that both the sun and the moon are moving — it is obligatory to believe. As to whether the sunrise and sunset before us are due to the earth's motion or to the motion of these bodies themselves, the Qur'ān neither affirms nor denies it. When something has become known by experience, there is no harm in accepting it. · "wa anzala lakum mina-l-an'āmi ṣamāniyata azwāj" — by expressing the creation of cattle with the word "inzāl" (sending down from the sky), it is indicated that their creation depends greatly on the water that descends from the sky; so it can be said that they too are, as it were, sent down from the sky. The Qur'ān uses this same word for human clothing: "anzalnā 'alaikum libāsā"; and for some minerals — e.g. iron — this word comes too: "wa anzalna-l-ḥadīd." The sum of all this is [Allāh's] creating these things by His power and bestowing them on man. (Qurṭubī) · "khalqan min ba'di khalqin fī ḡulumātīn ṣalās" — this indicates some of the mysteries and secrets of the power of Allāh that operate in the creation of man. First, it was within Allāh Ta'ālā's power to create the child complete all at once, but by the requirement of wisdom and benefit it is not so; rather "khalqan min ba'di khalq" — He adopted gradualness: that the microcosm forming in the woman's womb [grows] slowly, so that its burden... Second, this unparalleled, most beautiful creature — in which hundreds of delicate machines and hair-fine veins have been laid to convey blood and spirit — is formed not, like ordinary craftsmen, in some open place with the aid of lights, but in three [layers of] darkness, in such a place that not even a glance can reach it. "Fa-tabāraka-llāhu aḥsanu-l-khālīqīn." · Verse table (vv.7–9): v.7 "in takfurū fa-inna-llāha ghaniyyun 'ankum; wa lā yardā li-'ibādihi-l-kufr; wa in tashkurū yardahu lakum; wa lā taziru wāziratun wizra ukhrā; ṣumma ilā Rabbikum marji'ukum fa-yunabbi'ukum bimā kuntum ta'malūn; innahū 'alīmun bi-zāti-ṣ-ṣudūr" — if you disbelieve, then indeed Allāh is free of need of you; He does not approve disbelief for His servants; and if you are grateful, He approves it for you. And no bearer of burden will bear the burden of another; then to your Lord is your return, and He will inform you of what you used to do; indeed He knows what is within the breasts. v.8 "wa izā massa-l-insāna ḡurrun da'ā Rabbahū munīban ilaihi ṣumma izā khawwalahū ni'matan minhu nasiya mā kāna yad'ū ilaihi min qabl; wa ja'ala li-llāhi andādan li-yuḍilla 'an sabīlihī; qul tamatta' bi-kufrika qalīlan; innaka min aṣḥābi-n-nār" — and when harm touches man, he calls upon his Lord, turning to Him; then when He bestows on him a favour from Himself, he forgets what he was calling upon Him for before, and sets up rivals to Allāh to mislead [others] from His way. Say: enjoy your disbelief a little; you are of the people of the Fire. v.9 "amman huwa qānitun ānā'a-l-laili sājidān wa qā'iman yaḥzaru-l-ākhirata wa yarjū raḥmata Rabbih; another's burden; man's inconstancy in adversity and ease] · Verse table (v.10): "qul yā 'ibādi-llazīna āmanu-ttaqū Rabbakum; li-llazīna aḥsanū fī hāzīhi-d-dunyā ḥasana; wa arḍu-llāhi wāsi'a; innamā yuwaffa-ṣ-ṣābirūna ajrahum bi-ghairi ḥisāb" — say: O My servants who have believed, fear your Lord; for those who did good in this world there is good, and the earth of Allāh is spacious; only the patient will be given their reward without measure. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: (O people, you have heard the falsity of disbelief and shirk; after this,) if you disbelieve (which includes shirk), then Allāh Ta'ālā (suffers no loss, for He) has no need of you and your worship (that anything harmful should reach Him from your not adopting worship and tauḥīd); and (it is certain that) He does not approve disbelief for His servants, for disbelief certainly harms the servants; and if you are grateful (which includes the greatest constituent of faith), it brings Him no benefit; but since it is your benefit, He approves it for you. And (since with Us the rule is that) no one bears the burden of another's [sin] (so, disbelieving, do not think that our disbelief will somehow be entered on others' record of deeds and we shall be acquitted — whether because we follow others, contemporaries or forefathers and the ancients, or because others make a promise to bear it, as some disbelievers used to say, "wa-l-taḥmil khaṭāyākum"). It will not be so; rather your disbelief will be written among your crimes. Then to your Lord you must return, and He will inform you of all your deeds and punish you. And the notion that the time for the presentation of their deeds will not come is also false. And He knows what is in the hearts; so do not think that He is perhaps unaware of our disbelief — as in the ḥadīth that some people had a conversation, [wondering] whether Allāh Ta'ālā hears our words or not, and someone gave an answer, at which this āyah was revealed: "wa mā kuntum tastatirūna an yashhada 'alaikum" (etc.). · And the state of the polytheist is that when some hardship touches him he turns to his (real) Lord and begins calling upon Him — and forgets all [other] objects of worship — then, when Allāh Ta'ālā bestows on him a favour from Himself (of safety and ease), he forgets Him whom he was calling upon before to remove the hardship (and becomes heedless), and begins setting up partners to Allāh — the effect of which (besides his own being misguided) is that he misguides others too from the way of Allāh. (Had he kept that distress before his eyes, he would have kept sincerity in tauḥīd. This is the censure of the polytheist. Next, warning of the punishment:) You [Messenger] should... polytheist be equal? Never; rather this devoutly obedient one, who is constant in worship, fears Allāh, and hopes for His pardon and grace — is praiseworthy; and the polytheist, who abandons sincerity once he has got his purpose — is blameworthy. And since the disbelievers did not count abandoning these acts of worship as blameworthy, on the basis of this difference the ruling of praiseworthiness and blameworthiness could be obscure to them; so, further, this ruling is established by clearer and more accepted terms — namely (you, O Prophet ﷺ, say to them under this heading:) can the knowing and the ignorant be equal? (Since ignorance is blameworthy and everyone counts ignorance bad, the answer from them can only be that "the people of ignorance are blameworthy" — and it will be established that the possessor of [right] deeds is the possessor of knowledge, and the one who turns away from [right] deeds is a person of ignorance; this matter is established with a little reflection.) And although this statement establishes that disbelief and the disbelievers are blameworthy and faith and the believers praiseworthy, still only those take heed who possess sound reason. · And (since it is known that the people of obedience are praiseworthy with Allāh, then, to encourage obedience,) you say (to the believers, from Me): O My believing servants, keep fearing your Lord (i.e. be constant in obedience and abstain from sins, for these are all branches of taqwā). Next its fruit: those who do good in this world have a good reward — in the hereafter certainly, and in the world too at least inward comfort, and sometimes outward. And if in [your] homeland something prevents you from doing good, emigrate to another place — for the earth of Allāh is spacious. And if some hardship reaches you in leaving your homeland, keep steadfast (for those who remain firm in religion will be given their reward without count) — so this gives an encouragement to obedience. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: "in takfurū fa-inna-llāha ghaniyyun 'ankum" — i.e. Allāh Ta'ālā gains no benefit of His own from your faith, and suffers no loss from your disbelief. PDF PAGE 543 · [Q 39:7-9 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il — the Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim ḥadīth of self-sufficiency; "lā yardā li-'ibādihī-l-kufr"; the mas'ala of [Allāh's] riḍā vs. mashiyyat; "amman huwa qānitun ānā'a-l-lail"] · ...if your first and your last, and all of you — humans and jinn — all of you fell into the utmost transgression and depravity, it would not diminish My dominion and kingdom in the least. (Ibn Kaṣīr) · "wa lā yardā li-'ibādihī-l-kufr" — i.e. Allāh Ta'ālā is not pleased with the disbelief of His servants. By "riḍā" is meant love, or the willing of some matter without disapproval. Its opposite word is "sakhaṭ," which means to hold a thing in displeasure or to regard a thing as objectionable, even though the will for it may also be attached to it. · Ruling: The belief of the Ahl al-Sunnah wa-l-Jamā'ah is that no good or evil act in the world, faith or disbelief, can come into existence without the will (mashiyyat) or intention (irāda) of Allāh Ta'ālā. So for the coming into existence of everything, the will of Allāh (jalla shānuhū) is a condition. But [His] pleasure (riḍā) and approval attach only to faith and good deeds; disbelief, shirk and sins He does not approve. Shaykh al-Islām Nawawī (rah.) wrote in his book al-Uṣūl wa-

Say: are those who know equal to those who do not know? Only people of understanding take heed.

q-Ḍawābiṭ: "Maẓhabu ahli-l-ḥaqqi al-īmānu bi-l-qadari wa iṣbātuhū, wa anna jamī'a-l-kā'ināti khairahā wa sharrahā bi-qaḍā'i-llāhi wa qadarih. Wa huwa murīdun laḥā kullihā wa yukrihu-l-ma'āṣiya, ma'a annahū Ta'ālā murīdun laḥā li-ḥikmatin ba'da 'ilmihi biḥā ājilan wa ājilā." (Rūḥu-l-Ma'ānī) — i.e.: the way of the people of truth is to believe in the divine decree (qadar), and that all things — good and evil — come into existence by the command and decree of Allāh Ta'ālā, and Allāh Ta'ālā wills their creation too, though He holds sins to be disliked and displeasing. Though the will for their creation is for some wisdom and benefit which He alone knows. · "amman huwa qānitun ānā'a-l-lail" — the word "ammā" is composed of two words: "a" (the interrogative particle) and "man" (the relative noun). Before this clause the disbelievers were told, from Allāh Ta'ālā: enjoy the pleasures of your disbelief and depravity in the few days' life of the world; in the end you will be the fuel of Hell. After this, in this same clause, comes the description of the obedient believer, begun with the interrogative "ammā." The scholars of tafsīr say that before it a clause is elided: "is he (who is so) better, or the obedient believer mentioned next?" — the most comprehensive [reading] being the saying of Ibn Mas'ūd (raḍiyallāhu 'anhū). · The word "qānit" has been rendered variously. Its meaning is also "obedient"; and when this word is used specifically of prayer — as in "qūmū li-llāhi qānitīn" — it means the person who, in prayer, keeps his gaze lowered, does not look here and there, does not toy with his body or clothes, and does not deliberately bring any worldly thing to mind in the prayer. Forgetfulness and involuntary whispering are not part of its meaning. (Qurṭubī)

PDF PAGE 544 · [Q 39:9-10 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il — "ānā'a-l-lail"; "wa arḍu-llāhi wāsi'a" (hijrah from a place that impedes obedience); "innamā yuwaffa-ṣ-ṣābirūna ajrahum bi-ḡhairi ḥisāb"] · "ānā'a-l-lail" means the hours of the night — its beginning part, its middle, and its end. Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) said: whoever wishes that Allāh Ta'ālā ease things for him at the place of reckoning on the Day of Gathering should [live so that] Allāh Ta'ālā finds him, in the dark of night, in the state of prostration and standing — such that he has both concern for the hereafter and hope for mercy. Some have also called the time between maghrib and 'ishā' "ānā'a-l-lail." (Qurṭubī) · "wa arḍu-llāhi wāsi'a" — the previous clause has the command of righteous deeds. Someone could here plead: the city or country in which I live, or the environment I am caught in, its atmosphere keeps me from righteous deeds. The answer given in this clause: if, living in some particular country or city or environment, observing the shar'ī rulings appears difficult, then leave it; the earth of Allāh is very wide; go and live in some place and environment suited to obeying the divine rulings. In it is an encouragement to emigrate from a place in which, while living, a person cannot observe the rulings of religion. The detailed rulings of hijrah have come in Sūrah an-Nisā'. · "innamā yuwaffa-ṣ-ṣābirūna ajrahum bi-ḡhairi ḥisāb" — "bi-ḡhairi ḥisāb" means that the reward of the patient is not by any fixed measure or scale, but given without measure and without reckoning — as comes in the ḥadīth below. And some take "bi-ḡhairi ḥisāb" to mean "without request and demand": i.e. just as in the world, if someone has a right against another, he has to demand his right himself, but with Allāh the patient will be given their reward without any request or demand. · Qatāda (rah.) said: Anas (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) related this ḥadīth, that the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ said: on the Day of Resurrection the scale of justice will be set up. The people of charity will come, and their charities will be weighed and they will be given full reward accordingly. Likewise the acts of worship of those of prayer and ḥajj and other worship will be weighed and their reward given in full. Then, when those who were patient in trial and calamity come, there will be no weighing or scale for them — rather reward will be poured out upon them without reckoning or measure. Because Allāh Ta‘ālā said: "innamā yuwaffa-ṣ-ṣābirūna ajrahum bi-ghairi ḥisāb." So much so that those whose worldly life passed in ease will wish that in the world their bodies had been cut with shears, so that they too might get such a reward for patience. · Imām Mālik (rah.) took "ṣābirīn" in this āyah to mean those who are patient in the calamities and griefs and sorrows of the world; and some said "ṣābirīn" means those who [are patient in restraining themselves] from sins... And say (also): if (hypothetically) I did not obey my Lord's word, I fear the punishment of a mighty Day (i.e. the Resurrection). And say (also): I act only on what I have been commanded; so I worship Allāh alone in such a way that I keep it purely for Him, with not the least taint of shirk. So (its demand is that you too worship with such sincerity; but if you do not accept, then, leaving Allāh,) worship whatever your heart is told to worship (and taste its result on the Day of Resurrection); and say to them (also): the complete losers are those who will fall, on the Day of Resurrection, into loss of their own selves and of their dependants (i.e. they lost their own selves, gaining no benefit from them, nor from their dependants — for if those dependants were misguided like them, they too will be seized in punishment, and what benefit could they bring others; and if they are sincere believers in Paradise, even then they cannot benefit the disbelievers by any intercession). Remember, the manifest loss is this: that for them there will be flames of fire above them, and enveloping flames of fire below them too. This is that very [punishment] with which Allāh warns His servants (and He also teaches the means of escaping it). What is [to be done] is to act on the true religion; so, O My servants, fear Me (i.e. My punishment). (This was the state of the disbelievers and polytheists.) And... (continues on PDF p.547)

PDF PAGE 547 · [Q 39:17-20 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (conclusion) → Ma'ārif o Masā'il — those who shun the ṭaghūt and hear the word and follow the best of it] · Khulāṣa (conclusion): ...those who keep away from the worship of Satan (worship of Satan meaning obedience to him) and turn wholly to Allāh, they deserve to be given glad tidings; so give glad tidings to these servants of Mine who — alongside that quality — are also described thus: that they listen attentively to the (divine) speech and then follow its good [teachings] (and all of Allāh's rulings are good, as comes in the āyah "aḥsana-l-ḥadīṣ"). These are the ones Allāh has guided, and these are the people of understanding. (Give those people the glad tidings.) · The statement of what they are to be given glad tidings of comes next — in the āyah "lākini-llaḏīna-ttaqau." In between, to console the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ, it is stated that making the confirmed disbeliever a believer is outside your power; so do not grieve over it. (Is one against whom this word of punishment — by My eternal decree — has come true [saveable]? Can you rescue such a person, who is in Hell (in Allāh's knowledge) and among the causes of Hell — i.e. those bound for Hell will not turn back from misguidance even by [your] efforts, so grief and sorrow over them is useless.) But those in whose case "kalimatu-l-‘azāb" has not been confirmed, and who therefore, hearing the rulings from you, kept fearing their Lord — for them are the lofty chambers (of Paradise), above which further chambers are built, ready and prepared to sit in; and beneath them rivers flow. This Allāh has promised, and Allāh does not break His promise. (This is the substance of the glad tidings you have been commanded to give — "fa-bashshir ‘ibād.") · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: "fa-bashshir ‘ibādi-llazīna yastami‘ūna-l-qaula fa-yattabi‘ūna aḥsanah; ulā’ika-llazīna hadāhumu-llāh; wa ulā’ika hum ulu-l-albāb" — the mufasssīrīn have several views on this āyah. One view, which Ibn Kaṣīr took, and which is also adopted in the Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr, is that by "qaul" is meant the speech of Allāh, or the Qur’ān, or the Qur’ān together with the teachings of the Messenger, and it is entirely the best. So the apparent requirement of the context was that (just as it first said "yastami‘ūna-l-qaul," likewise) it should say "fa-yattabi‘ūnah"; but instead, by adding the word "aḥsanah," it is indicated that these people did not follow the Qur’ān and the teachings of the Messenger without insight — as the way of foolish people is, that whoever's word they hear, they follow it without any investigation or insight — rather these people [held] the speech of Allāh and His Messenger to be truth and... PDF PAGE 548 · [Q 39:18 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il — the interpretations of "yastami'ūna-l-qaula fa-yattabi'ūna aḥsanah": (a) the Qur'ān and its rulings; (b) degrees of good and better within the rulings; (c) the sayings of people generally; and its Shān-e-Nuzūl] · ...followed it after seeing it to be the best. As a result, at the end of the āyah they are addressed as "ulu-l-albāb" — people of understanding. Its parallel in the Qur'ān is what was said to Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām) concerning the Torah: "fa-khuzhā bi-quwwatin wa'-mur qaumaka ya'khuzū bi-aḥsanihā." There too "aḥsan" means the whole Torah and its rulings, and following it. Likewise in the said āyāt "istimā' -e-qaul" means listening to the Qur'ān, and "ittibā' -e-aḥsan" means following the whole Qur'ān, which the next āyah calls "aḥsana-l-ḥadiṡ." · [On this tafsīr "qaul" is taken to mean specifically the Qur'ān.] Some have also said that the Qur'ān has, in many rulings, degrees of good (ḥusn) and better (aḥsan) — e.g. retaliation and pardon are both permissible, but pardon is better and more excellent, as in "wa an ta'fū aqrabu li-t-taqwā." In many matters a dispensation (rukḥṣat) is given, but acting on the firmer course ('azīmat) is called better and more excellent. So the meaning of the āyah becomes: these people hear the rulings of the Qur'ān both of dispensation and of the firmer course — but they follow the firmer course; and where of two things one is good and the other better, they choose the better for their practice. · Many mufasssīrīn here take "qaul" to mean the sayings of people generally, which include tauḥīd and shirk, disbelief and Islam, truth and falsehood, then within truth the good and the better, and the preferred and the less preferred. The meaning of the āyah becomes: these people hear everyone's words — those of the disbelievers and of the believers; truth and falsehood; within truth, the good and the bad — but they follow only that which is best. Of tauḥīd and shirk, tauḥīd; of truth and falsehood, truth; and where truth has various degrees, they follow the one that is best and stronger. That is why they are described with two qualities: first, "hadāhumu-llāh" — these people are guided by Allāh, so hearing various kinds of words they do not go astray; second, "ulā'ika hum ulu-l-albāb" —

these people have understanding; the work of the intellect is precisely to distinguish good from bad and truth from falsehood, and, recognising the good and the better, to choose the better. · That is also why it is said that this āyah was revealed concerning Zaid ibn ‘Amr ibn Nufayl, Abū Zarr al-Ghifārī, and Salmān al-Fārsī (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhum). Zaid ibn ‘Amr ibn Nufayl even in the time of jāhiliyyah had an aversion to shirk and idol-worship. Abū Zarr al-Ghifārī and Salmān al-Fārsī (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhumā) came to faith after hearing the sayings of various religious groups — polytheists, then Jews and Christians — and observing their ways, and, finding the Qur’ānic teachings the best, preferred them. ... aḥsan dekhne ke ba’d is kā ittibā’ kiya hai. Is ke natīje mein ākhir-e-āyat mein un ko "ulu-l-albāb" — ya’nī ‘aql wāle hone kā khiṭāb diyā gayā hai. Is kī naẓīr Qur’ān hī mein woh irshād hai jo Ḥaḍrat Mūsā ‘alaihi-s-salām ko Taurāt ke muta’alīq hu’ā: "fa-khuzhā bi-quwwatin wa'-mur qaumaka ya'khuzū bi-aḥsanihā." Yahān bḥī "aḥsan" se murād pūrī Taurāt aur us ke aḥkām hain, aur us kā ittibā’. Isī ṭaraḥ mazkūra āyāt mein "istimā’-e-qaul" se murād istimā’-e-Qur’ān, aur "ittibā’-e-aḥsan" se murād ittibā’ pūrī Qur’ān kā hai, jis ko aglī āyat mein "aḥsana-l-ḥadīṣ" farmāyā gayā hai.

Isī tafsīr mein "qaul" se murād khāṣ Qur’ān liyā jā’e. Ba’z ḥaḍrāt ne yih bḥī farmāyā hai ki Qur’ān-e-Karīm ne bḥī bahut se aḥkām mein ḥusn aur aḥsan ke darajāt rakhe hain — maṣālan intiqām aur ‘afw donoṅ jā’iz hain, magar ‘afw aḥsan aur afḍal hai; "wa an ta’fū aqrabu li-t-taqwā" mein hai. Bahut sī chīzōn mein rukḥṣat dī gāī hai, magar ‘azīmat par ‘amal karnā aḥsan wa afḍal farmāyā. To murād āyat kī yih ho gāī ki yih log aḥkām-e-Qur’ān rukḥṣat ke bḥī sunte hain, ‘azīmat ke bḥī — magar ittibā’ ‘azīmat kā karte hain, aur jo do do chīzōn mein ek ḥusn ho dūsarī aḥsan, yih un mein se aḥsan hī ko ‘amal ke li’e ikhtiyār karte hain.

Aur bahut se ḥaḍrāt mufasssīrīn ne is jagah "qaul" se murād ‘ām logoṅ ke aqwāl liye hain, jin mein tauḥīd o shirk, kufr o islām, ḥaqq o bāṭil, phir ḥaqq mein ḥasan aur aḥsan, aur rājīḥ o marjūḥ sab dākhil hain. Maṭlab āyat kā yih ho gāī ki yih log bāteṅ to sab kī sunṭe hain — kuffār kī bḥī, mu’minīn kī bḥī; ḥaqq bḥī, bāṭil bḥī; ḥaqq mein achchhī bḥī, aur burī bḥī — lekin ittibā’ šīrf usī bāt kā karte hain jo aḥsan hai. Tauḥīd o shirk mein se tauḥīd kā, ḥaqq o bāṭil mein se ḥaqq kā; aur ḥaqq ke mukhtalif darajāt hon to un mein jo aḥsan aur rājīḥ ho us kā ittibā’ karte hain. Isī li’e un ko do šifatoṅ ke sāth mauṣūf kiya gayā: pahlī "hadāhumu-llāh" — ya’nī yih log Allāh kī ṭaraf se hidāyat-yāfta hain, is li’e mukhtalif qism kī bātoṅ ko sun kar bḥaṭakte nahīn. Dūsarī "ulā’ika hum ulu-l-albāb" — ya’nī yih log ‘aql wāle hain; ‘aql kā kām hī yih hai ki achchhe bure aur ḥaqq o bāṭil mein tamīz kare, aur ḥusn wa aḥsan ko pahchān kar aḥsan ko ikhtiyār kare.

Isī li’e yih bḥī kahā gayā hai ki yih āyat Zaid bin ‘Amr bin Nufail, Abū Zarr Ghifārī, aur Salmān Fārsī (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhum) ke bāre mein nāzil hu’ī. Zaid bin ‘Amr bin Nufail

Indeed in that is a reminder for people of understanding. v.22 "a-fa-man sharaḥa-llāhu ṣadrahū li-l-islāmi fa-huwa ‘alā nūrīn min Rabbih; fa-wailun li-l-qāsiyati qulūbuhum min zikri-llāh; ulā‘ika fī ḍalālīn mubīn" — is one whose breast Allāh has opened to Islam so that he is upon a light from his Lord [like one who is not]? So woe to those whose hearts are hardened against the remembrance of Allāh; those are in manifest error. v.23 "allāhu nazzala aḥsana-l-ḥadīṣi kitāban mutashābihan maṣāniya taqsha‘irru minhu julūdu-llazīna yakhshauna Rabbahum ṣumma talīnu julūduhum wa qulūbuhum ilā zikri-llāh; zālīka hudā-llāhi yahdī bihī man yashā‘; wa man yuḍlīli-llāhu fa-mā lahū min hād" — Allāh has sent down the best of speech — a Book, consistent [in its parts], oft-repeated, at which the skins of those who fear their Lord shiver; then their skins and their hearts soften at the remembrance of Allāh. That is the guidance of Allāh; He guides by it whom He wills; and whomever Allāh leaves astray, for him there is no guide. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: (O addressee,) have you not observed that Allāh Ta‘ālā sends down water from the sky, then makes it enter the springs of the earth (i.e. those tracts from which water gushes forth — coming out through wells and springs); then (when it gushes forth) He produces by it crops of various kinds; then that crop becomes entirely dry, so you see it looking yellow (withered); then Allāh Ta‘ālā makes it broken debris and... PDF PAGE 550 · [Q 39:21-23 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (conclusion) → Ma‘ārif o Masā’il — the parable of worldly life; the one whose breast is opened vs. the hard-hearted; "aḥsana-l-ḥadīṣ" / "maṣāniya"; "fa-salakahū yanābī‘a fī-l-arḍ" (water stored in the earth)] · Khulāṣa (conclusion): ...[He makes the crop] broken debris. In this [parable] is a great lesson for people of understanding; for this very state is exactly that of a person's worldly life — that in the end there is annihilation upon annihilation; so to be engrossed in it, to be deprived of eternal comfort and to take eternal calamity upon one's head, is the utmost folly. Our exposition is most eloquent, yet still all who hear it differ among themselves. So the one whose breast Allāh Ta‘ālā has opened for (accepting) Islam — i.e. he has become certain of the reality of Islam, and is [walking] upon the light (the requirement of guidance) bestowed by his Lord, acting in accord with certainty — is he equal to the hard-hearted whose account comes next? So those whose hearts are not moved by the remembrance of Allāh (which includes all the rulings and promises) — i.e. who do not believe — for them there is great ruin (in the Resurrection); and (in the world) these people are in manifest misguidance (and are held fast in it). · Next comes the statement of that light and that remembrance — i.e. Allāh Ta‘ālā has sent down the most excellent speech (the Qur'ān), which is such a Book that (by reason of the inimitability of its arrangement and the soundness of its meanings) its parts resemble one another, and in which some very necessary matters are repeated again and again (for making them understood); and its being "maṣānī" — repeated again and again — is a proof of its containing guidance, at which the bodies of those who fear their Lord shiver (this is a figure for fear, though it stays in the heart and does not show on the body; and though that fear is rational and faith-based, not merely natural or emotional); then their bodies and hearts soften and turn toward the remembrance of Allāh (i.e. acting on the Book of Allāh) — that is, out of fear they carry out the deeds of the limbs and of the heart with submission and attentiveness. And this (Qur'ān) is the guidance of Allāh, by which He guides whom He wills (as the state of the fearful has just been described). And whomever Allāh leaves astray has no guide (as the state of the hard-hearted disbelievers has just been described). · Ma'ārif o Mas'āl: "fa-salakahū yanābī'a fi-l-arḍ" — "yanābī'" is the plural of "yanbū'," meaning a spring gushing from the earth. The sense is that sending water down from the sky is itself a magnificent favour in the world; but if, along with it, the arrangement of storing it in the earth and dispensing it were not made, a person could benefit from it only at the time of rain or for the few days immediately after — whereas water, on which his life depends, is such a need that he cannot do without it for even a day. So Allāh Ta'ālā did not content Himself merely with sending down this favour... (continues on PDF p.551)

This gathered snow slowly melts and descends into the earth along the mountain veins, and gushes out of its own accord, without any artificial process, in the form of springs bubbling here and there, and flows through the earth in the form of rivers. And the water [given by] the Lord keeps moving through the depths of the whole earth, and can be drawn out everywhere by digging wells. · The full detail of this irrigation system is stated in the Qur‘ān in Sūrah al-Mu‘minūn under the āyah "fa-askannāhu fī-l-arḍi wa innā ‘alā ẓahābin bihī la-qādirūn." · "mukhtalifan alwānuhū" — at the time of the crop's sprouting and at the time of its ripening, various colours keep coming over it. And since the change and renewal of these colours is continuous, "mukhtalifan" is put in the accusative as a ḥāl (circumstantial qualifier), which indicates continuous renewal. · "inna fī zālīka la-zīkrā li-ulī-l-albāb" — i.e. in the sending down of water and its being stored and put to man's use, then the growing by it of various kinds of plants and trees, and various colours coming over these trees, and finally their turning yellow and dry so that the grain becomes separate and the chaff separate — in this is a great lesson for people of understanding: that these are proofs of Allāh Ta‘ālā's magnificent power and wisdom, from which a person can also recognise the reality of the matter of his own creation, which can be a means of recognising his Creator and Master. · "a-fa-man sharaḥa-llāhu ṣadrahū li-l-islāmi fa-huwa 'alā nūrīn min Rabbih" — "sharḥ" literally means to open, spread out, and widen. "Sharḥ-e-ṣadr" means expansion of the heart — that the heart has the capacity to reflect on the creative signs of Allāh (in the heavens and earth and in one's own creation, etc.) and take a lesson and benefit from them; and likewise to reflect on the signs of Allāh sent down in the form of the Book and its rulings, and benefit from them. Its opposite is constriction of the heart and hardness of the heart. A Qur'ānic āyah has "yaj'al ṣadrahū ḍayyiqan ḥarajan," and here in the next āyah "li-l-qāsiyati qulūbuhum" comes as the opposite of this sharḥ-e-ṣadr. · It is narrated from 'Abdullāh ibn Mas'ūd (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) that when the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ recited this āyah "a-fa-man sharaḥa-llāhu ṣadrahū," we asked him the meaning of sharḥ-e-ṣadr. He said: when the light of faith enters a person's heart, his heart becomes expansive (so that understanding and acting on the divine rulings becomes easy for him). We said, "O Messenger of Allāh, this sharḥ-e-ṣadr..." (continues on PDF p.552)

(Rūḥu-l-Ma'ānī) · The said āyah is begun with the interrogative particle "a-fa-man," whose meaning is: can such a person — whose heart has been opened for Islam, and who is upon a light come to him from his Lord, i.e. does all his work in that light — and the person who is narrow of heart and hard of heart, ever be equal? Against this, hardness of heart is mentioned in the next āyah along with the punishment of "wail." · "fa-wailun li-l-qāsiyati qulūbuhum" — "qāsiya" is derived from "qasāwat," meaning hardness of heart, which no mercy softens, and which accepts no effect from the remembrance of Allāh and His rulings. · "allāhu nazzala aḥsana-l-ḥadīṣi kitāban mutashābihan maṣāniya" — in the preceding āyah the state of Allāh's accepted servants was described as "yastami'ūna-l-qaula fa-yattabi'ūna aḥsanah." In this āyah it is made clear that the whole Qur'ān is aḥsana-l-ḥadīṣ. "Ḥadīṣ" literally means the speech or story that is related. Calling the Qur'ān aḥsana-l-ḥadīṣ amounts to: of all that a person says and utters, the best speech is the Qur'ān. · Next, some qualities of the Qur'ān are mentioned: one, "kitāban mutashābihan" — "mutashābih" here means that it is consistent throughout — i.e. the themes of the Qur'ān are interconnected and alike, so that the explanation, tafsīr and confirmation of one āyah comes from another. In this speech there is no contradiction or discrepancy at all. The second quality is "maṣānī," the plural of "maṣnā," meaning repeated. The sense is that in the Qur'ān a theme is repeated again and again to fix it in the mind. The third quality is stated thus: "taqsha' irru minhu julūdu-llazīna yakhshauna Rabbahum" — i.e. those who fear the majesty of Allāh, reciting the Qur'ān, reach such a state of awe and dread that the hair on their bodies stands on end. · The fourth quality is "ṣumma talīnu julūduhum wa qulūbuhum ilā zikri-llāh" — i.e. the effect of reciting the Qur'ān is that sometimes, hearing the warning of punishment, the body's hair stands on end, and sometimes, hearing the āyāt of mercy and forgiveness, the body and heart all soften in the remembrance of Allāh. Asmā' bint Abī Bakr (raḍiyallāhu 'anhā) says: the usual state of the Companions was that when the Qur'ān was recited before them, tears would come to their eyes and the hair on their bodies would stand on end. (Qurṭubī)

And it will be said to the wrongdoers: taste what you used to earn. v.25 "kazzaba-llazīna min qablihim fa-atāhumu-l- 'aẓābu min ḥaiṣu lā yash'urūn" — those before them belied, so the punishment came upon them from where they did not perceive. v.26 "fa-aẓāqahumu-llāhu-l-khizya fi-l-ḥayāti-d-dunyā; wa la- 'aẓābu-l-ākhirati akbar; lau kānū ya'lamūn" — so Allāh made them taste disgrace in the life of this world; and the punishment of the hereafter is far greater — if only they knew. v.27 "wa laqad ɗarabnā li-n-nāsi fī ḥāẓa-l-Qur'āni min kulli maṣālin la'allahum yatazzaḥḥarūn" — and We have set forth for the people in this Qur'ān every [kind of] parable, that they may take heed; v.28 "qur'ānan 'arabiyyan ghaira ẓī 'iwaj; la'allahum yattaqūn" — an Arabic Qur'ān, without any crookedness, that they may become God-fearing. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: Is one who, on the Day of Resurrection, will make his face a shield against the severe punishment (and he will do this because he will be flung headlong into Hell with his hands and feet bound, so that he can ward off the punishment only with his face) — and to such wrongdoers this will be the command: taste (now) what you used to do — (can such a person be equal to one who is in Paradise?). (In the earlier āyah "a-fa-man sharaḥa-llāhu ṣadrahū" it was stated that on hearing the Qur'ān some people are affected and some are not. In the following āyah it is stated that some people's not being affected by it is due to a deficiency in their own capacity and fitness; otherwise the Qur'ān in itself holds an equal effect for all — the sum being that this difference is on account of the receiver's capacity; there is no defect or deficiency in the agent.) And We have stated in this Qur'ān every kind of (necessary) excellent theme for the guidance of the people, that they may take heed. Its nature is that it is an Arabic Qur'ān, in which there is not the least crookedness (and these themes are presented) that these people, hearing these true and clear themes, may fear [Allāh]. (It is thus known that whatever qualities were needed for the Qur'ān to be a divine Book are all gathered in it: its themes are all true, clear and plain, and its language too is Arabic, which the present addressees can understand without an intermediary, and through them it is also easy to make others understand. In short, there is no deficiency in this Book of guidance; if someone has no capacity or fitness to accept it, what can be done?) · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: "a-fa-man yattaqī bi-wajhihī" — this states the severity and dreadfulness of Hell: a person's habit in the world is that if something harmful comes before him, he wards it off by making his hands and feet a shield to protect the face; but — God's refuge! — the people of Hell will not even be granted this defence with hands and feet; the punishment that comes upon them will fall directly on their faces. Even if they wish to defend themselves, they will be able to make only their face a shield — because in Hell they will be cast in with hands and feet bound. Na'ūzu billāhi minh. All praise is for Allāh; but most of them do not know. v.30 "innaka mayyitun wa innahum mayyitūn" — indeed you will die, and indeed they will die; v.31 "ṣumma innakum yauma-l-qiyāmati 'inda Rabbikum takhtaṣimūn" — then on the Day of Resurrection, before your Lord, you will dispute. v.32 "fa-man aḏlamu mimman kaḏaba 'ala-llāhi wa kazzaba bi-ṣ-ṣidqi iz jā'ahu; a-laisa fī jahannama maṣwan li-l-kāfirīn" — who then is more unjust than one who lies about Allāh and belies the truth when it comes to him? Is there not in Hell a dwelling for the disbelievers? v.33 "wa-llazī jā'a bi-ṣ-ṣidqi wa ṣaddaqa bihī; ulā'ika humu-l-muttaqūn" — and the one who brought the truth and [the one

Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: Allāh Ta'ālā has set forth a parable (concerning the monotheist and the polytheist): there is a man (a slave) in whom mutually quarrelsome partners share, among whom there is discord, and another man who belongs wholly to one man; can the likeness of the two be alike? (Clearly the two are not equal; the first man is in distress, ever perplexed as to whose word to obey and whose not to; the second is at ease, being connected to one man alone. So the first parable is that of the polytheist, who is ever wavering; sometimes he runs toward other than Allāh, sometimes toward Allāh; then, even among the others, he is never at peace with any one — sometimes he turns to one, sometimes to another...) So the argument is complete against them. On completing the argument He said: al-ḡamdu li-llāh — the truth is established. Yet still these people do not accept — rather (having accepted,) most of them do not even understand (because they have no intention of understanding). · Next comes the mention of the judgement of the Resurrection, which is the final judgement, from which none can flee; and before the judgement of the Resurrection the news of death is given, for death is the very preface and means of reaching the hereafter. So it is said: O Prophet ﷺ, if in the world these people do not accept any rational or transmitted proöf, do not grieve — for you too must die from the world, and they too must die. Then, on the Day of Resurrection, you (both parties) will present your cases before your Lord (and then the practical judgement will be given, whose manifestation is stated next). · "fa-man aḡlamu" — so (the judgement at the time of presenting the cases in that dispute and court will be that) the followers of falsehood will have the punishment of Hell, and the followers of truth will receive a great reward. And clearly, who is more unjust (and a follower of falsehood) than one who fabricates a lie against Allāh (i.e. [says] others are partners with Allāh Ta'ālā), and belies that true word (the Qur'ān) when it reaches him through a messenger? So such a person's being a great wrongdoer is plain, and a wrongdoer's deserving a great punishment is plain, and the greatest punishment is that of Hell. So will there not (on the Day of Resurrection) be a dwelling in Hell for such disbelievers? (That is the judgement of the followers of falsehood.) And (contrary to them) those who brought the true word — from Allāh or from a messenger — to the people, and (themselves) held it true (i.e.

they are both truthful and affirmers of truth — just as earlier people were both liars and beliers) — those people are the God-fearing. (Their judgement will be that) they will have with their Lord whatever they wish; that is the reward of the doers of good. And this reward is decreed for them so that Allāh Ta‘ālā may remove their evil deeds from them, and reward them for their good deeds. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: "innaka mayyitun wa innahum mayyitūn" — the word "mayyit" (with tashdīd on the yā’) is used of one who is going to die in the future, and "mayyit" (with sukūn on the yā’) of one who has already died. The aim of stating this is to turn everyone's attention to concern for the hereafter and to encourage working for it; and incidentally to make clear that, despite being the best of creation and the master of the messengers, the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ too is not excepted — so that after his passing no dispute over this may ariṣe among the people. (From Qurṭubī) · [Box — "ṣumma innakum yauma-l-qiyāmati 'inda Rabbikum takhtaṣimūn": how the wronged one's right is exacted from the wrongdoer in the court of the Gathering:] Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) says that here the word "innakum" includes the believer and the disbeliever, and the Muslim wrongdoer and the wronged — all. All these will present their cases in the court of their Lord, and Allāh Ta'ālā will have the wronged one's right exacted from the wrongdoer, whether he be a disbeliever or a believer. And the manner of discharging rights will be as comes in Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī from Abū Hurayra (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): the Messenger ﷺ said that when someone owes another's right, he should have it discharged or pardoned in the world itself so that it becomes lawful [for him]; for in the hereafter there will be no dirhams and dīnārs — if the wrongdoer has some good deeds, these deeds will be taken from him in proportion to the wrong and given to the wronged; and if he has no good deeds, the sins and misdeeds of the wronged will be taken from him and placed upon the wrongdoer. · And in Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim it is narrated from Abū Hurayra (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) that the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ one day asked the Companions: do you know who the bankrupt (muflis) is? The Companions said, "O Messenger of Allāh, we consider the bankrupt to be one who has no cash and no goods for [his] needs." He said: the real and true bankrupt in my Ummah is the person who will come on the Day of Resurrection with many good deeds — prayer, fasting, zakāt and the like; but his state will be that in the world he abused someone, slandered someone, wrongfully devoured someone's wealth, killed someone, harassed someone by beating — so all these wronged ones will come before Allāh demanding their wrongs, and his good deeds will be distributed among them. Then, when these good deeds are exhausted and the rights of the wronged still remain, the sins of the wronged will be placed upon him, and he will be cast into Hell. (So that person, despite having all [his] goods, remained bankrupt on the Day of Resurrection; this is the real bankrupt.) · And Ṭabarānī has narrated, with a reliable chain, from Abū Ayyūb al-Anṣārī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) that the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ said: the very first case to be presented in the court of Allāh Ta‘ālā will be that of a man and his wife, and by God the tongue will not speak there — rather the woman's hands and feet will bear witness to what faults she used to lay on her husband, and likewise the man's hands and feet will bear witness to how he used to cause his wife distress and harm. For all the wrongs are practical sins, not disbelief, and the punishment for practical sins will be limited — unlike the deed of faith, which is an unlimited and permanent deed. Its reward too is unlimited and permanent — namely, remaining forever in Paradise — even if that comes after he has borne the punishment of sins and stayed some time in Hell. The upshot is: when the wrongdoer's righteous deeds (apart from faith) are all given to the wronged, so that they are finished, and only faith remains, faith will not be taken from him; rather the sins of the wronged will be placed upon him and the rights discharged, as a result of which — after bearing the punishment of [these] sins — he will finally enter Paradise, and that state of his will then be permanent. The author of Tafsīr Mazharī said that Imām Bayhaqī also said the same. · In "kazzaba bi-ṣ-ṣidqi" and "wa-llazī jā'a bi-ṣ-ṣidqi," by "ṣidq" is meant the teachings that the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ brought — whether the Qur'ān or teachings and aḥādīth other than the Qur'ān; and in "muṣaddiq" all the believers are included who affirm it. · Verse table (vv.36–38): v.36 "a-laisa-llāhu bi-kāfin 'abdah; wa yukhawwifūnaka bi-llazīna min dūnih; wa man yuḍlilī-llāhu fa-mā lahū min hād" — is Allāh not sufficient for His servant? Thus, if you ask them who created the heavens and the earth, they will say "Allāh." (So) say to them: well, (since you hold Allāh to be alone in creating,) tell me — of the objects of worship you worship besides Allāh, if Allāh wished to bring me some harm, can these objects remove the harm He sent? Or if Allāh wished to bestow His favour on me, can these objects withhold His favour? (Next it is said: when Allāh Ta‘ālā's perfect power is established by this argument,) say: (it is thus established that) Allāh is sufficient for me; those who rely [on any] rely upon Him. (For this reason I too rely and trust upon Him, and care nothing for the enmity [directed] against you.) · And since these people, even hearing all this, stayed fixed on their false notion, you are taught the final answer: say to them — (if you do not accept even this,) keep acting in your way; I too am acting (in my way) — i.e. when you do not leave your false way, how should I leave the true way? — so you will soon come to know who is the one upon whom (in the world) such a punishment is about to come as will disgrace him, and upon whom (after death) a lasting punishment will descend (though in the world, at the Battle of Badr, they were punished at the hands of the Muslims, after which is the lasting punishment of the hereafter). Thus far the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ was consoled regarding fear of the opponents. Next, concerning the grief the Messenger ﷺ felt at the disbelievers' and the common people's disbelief and denial, out of his compassion, he is consoled: We sent down this Book upon you for the people's (benefit), sent down with truth — so your task is to convey it; then whoever comes to the straight path comes to it for his own benefit, and whoever stays off the path, his being off the path falls only upon himself, and you are not set over them (in such a way) that their being off the path be answered for by you; so why do you grieve over their misguidance? · Ma‘ārif o Masā'il: "a-laisa-llāhu bi-kāfin ‘abdah" — the Shān-e-Nuzūl of this āyah is an incident: the disbelievers frightened the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ and the Companions (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhum) with this — that if you disrespect our idols, the effect of these idols is very severe and you will not be able to escape it. In answer it was said: is Allāh not sufficient for His servant? For this reason some mufasssīrīn take "servant" here to mean the particular servant — i.e. the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ. The Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr adopts this. Other mufasssīrīn take "servant" to mean the servant in general; and... (continues on PDF p.561)

PDF PAGE 561 · [Q 39:36 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il — "wa yukhawwifūnaka bi-llazīna min dūnih": a lesson for anyone pressured to disobey Allāh in employment → 39:42-43 verse table] · The other qirā‘a of the āyah, "‘ibādah" [plural], supports this. And the theme in any case is general: that Allāh Ta‘ālā is sufficient for each and every one of His servants. · [Box — "wa yukhawwifūnaka bi-llazīna min dūnih": a lesson and admonition:] "wa yukhawwifūnaka bi-llazīna min dūnih" — i.e. the disbelievers frighten you with the wrath of their false objects of worship. Readers of this āyah generally pass over it thinking it mentions a particular incident concerning the disbelievers' threats and the sacred person of the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ; they do not pay attention to what guidance there is in it for us. Yet it is quite plain that whoever frightens a Muslim, [saying] "if you do not do such-and-such forbidden act or sin, then your rulers and officers — on whom you think yourself dependent — will become displeased, and cause you harm" — this too falls under it. Even if the one frightening is a Muslim, and the one frightened is also a Muslim. And this is such a common trial that comes upon people in most of the world's employments: that they are made ready, under the guise of [pleasing a superior's] will, to act against the commands of Allāh, or else become the target of their officers' rebuke and punishment. This āyah gives all these the guidance: is Allāh Ta‘ālā not sufficient for your protection? If you have resolved, purely for Allāh, to keep away from committing sins, and pay no heed to any ruler or officer against the commands of Allāh, then Allāh Ta‘ālā's help will be with you. At most, this employment too may be lost — then Allāh Ta‘ālā will make another arrangement for your sustenance. And it is the task of a believer to keep striving of his own accord to leave such an employment, so that when he finds another suitable place he may leave it at once. · Verse table (vv.42–43): v.42 "allāhu yatawaffa-l-anfusa ḥīna mautihā wa-llatī lam tamut fī manāmihā; fa-yumsiku-llatī qaḍā ‘alaiha-l-mauta wa yursilu-l-ukhrā ilā ajalīn musammā; inna fī zālīka la-āyātin li-qaumin yatafakkarūn" — Allāh takes the souls at the time of their death, and [also] those that have not died, in their sleep; then He retains those for which He has decreed death, and releases the others until an appointed term. Indeed in that are signs for a people who reflect. v.43 "am-ittakhazū min dūni-llāhi shufa‘ā; qul a-wa-lau kānū lā yamlikūna shai‘an wa lā ya‘qilūn" — or have they taken intercessors besides Allāh? and in sleep; intercession belongs wholly to Allāh] · Verse table (vv.44–45):
v.44 "qul li-llāhi-sh-shafā'atu jamī'ā; lahū mulku-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍ; summa ilaihi turja'ūn" — say: intercession belongs wholly to Allāh; His is the dominion of the heavens and the earth; then to Him you will be returned. v.45 "wa izā zukira-llāhu waḥdahu-shma'azzat qulūbu-llazīna lā yu'minūna bi-l-ākhirah; wa izā zukira-llazīna min dūnihī izā hum yastabshirūn" — and when Allāh alone is mentioned, the hearts of those who do not believe in the hereafter shrink; and when those besides Him are mentioned, at once they rejoice. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: Allāh alone takes (i.e. suspends) the souls whose time of death has come — at the time of their death (completely, so that life ends entirely) — and [takes] too the souls that have not died, at the time of their sleep (this suspension is not total; a kind of continuance of life remains, but no perception occurs; and in the case of death neither perception nor life remains). Then, (after this suspension,) He retains those souls (from returning to the body) for which He has decreed death, and releases the other souls (which had been suspended through sleep, and whose time of death has not yet come) until an appointed term — so that they return to the body and resume their former dispositions. In this (whole set of divine workings) there are signs for people who are given to reflection — (about Allāh Ta'ālā's power and His managing the affairs of the whole world without any partner) — signs by which they argue for the tauḥīd of Allāh. And yet, (with the proofs of tauḥīd standing established,) have these people set up others besides Allāh as objects of worship who will intercede for them (as the polytheists said of their idols, "hā'ulā'ī shufa'ā'unā 'inda-llāh")? Say: (consider also that) if these (intercessors you have set up) have no power at all and no knowledge at all (will you even so keep thinking they will intercede for you)? Do you not even understand this much, that for intercession knowledge and the power befitting it are certainly required, which are lacking in these? Here some polytheist could say that these stone-carved idols are not our intent; rather they are only [representations]; these forms are of the angels or the jinn, who are living beings and possess power and knowledge. So the teaching for answering this is given: say (also) that intercession... (continues on PDF p.563)

And for Allāh Ta' ālā's permission of intercession there are two conditions: one, that the intercessor be accepted with Allāh; the other, that the one interceded for be worthy of forgiveness. Now understand: of the idols whose stone forms the polytheists have adopted — if these are jinn and devils, both conditions are lacking: neither are the intercessors accepted with Allāh, nor is this polytheist worthy of forgiveness; and if these forms are held to be the forms of angels or prophets ('alaihimu-s-salām), then the condition of the intercessors' being accepted is present, but the other condition is lacking — that these polytheists have no fitness for forgiveness. · Next it is said: it is the majesty of Allāh Ta' ālā that all the dominion of the heavens and the earth is His. Then you will be returned to Him. (Therefore, leaving all else, fear Him and worship Him alone.) And (despite the proofs of tauḥīd standing established, the state of the disbelievers and polytheists is that) when Allāh alone is mentioned (that He, without any partner, is the absolute Owner and Disposer of the whole world of black and white), the hearts of those who do not believe in the hereafter shrink; and when others besides Him are mentioned (whether they alone are mentioned, or they are mentioned along with the mention of Allāh), at that very moment these people become glad. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: [Box — the taking of the soul at death and sleep, and the detail of the difference between the two:] "allāhu yatawaffa-l-anfusa ḥīna mautihā wa-llatī lam tamut fī manāmihā" — "tawaffī" literally means taking [something] in full and taking hold of it. In this āyah Allāh Ta‘ālā has made clear that the souls of living beings are, in every state and at every time, under the disposal of Allāh Ta‘ālā; He can take them whenever He wills, and return them. And one manifestation of this divine disposal every living being sees and feels daily: that during sleep its soul is, in one respect, taken, then after waking is returned; and in the end a time will come when it is entirely taken and not returned. · Tafsīr Mazharī says: the taking of the soul (qabḍ-e-rūḥ) means severing its connection with the human body; sometimes this is severed entirely, outwardly and inwardly — this is called death — and sometimes it is severed only outwardly, while it remains inwardly — the effect of which is that only sensation and voluntary movement, which is the outward sign of life, are severed... And the way of it is that the human soul is turned toward contemplating the 'ālam-e-miṣāl (world of similitudes) and made heedless of and suspended from this world, so that a person can rest fully. And sometimes this inward connection too is severed, by which the life of the body ends entirely. · In the said āyah the word "tawaffī" in the sense of "qabḍ" (taking) applies, by general figurative usage, to both meanings — death and sleep. The difference in the taking of the soul between death and sleep stated above is also supported by a saying of 'Alī (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): he said that during sleep the human soul leaves the body, but one ray of the soul stays in the body, by which it remains alive, and by that ray-connection it sees dreams. Then this dream, if seen while the soul is turned toward the 'ālam-e-miṣāl, is a true dream; and if seen while it is returning from there to the body, then satanic interferences occur in it and it is no longer a true vision (ru'yā ṣādiqa). And he said that the human soul which leaves the body during sleep returns to the body, on waking, in less time than the blink of an eye. · Verse table (vv.46–48): v.46 "quli-llāhumma fāṭira-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍi 'ālīma-l-ghaibi wa-sh-shahāda; anta taḥkumu baina 'ibādika fī mā kānū fihi yakhtalifūn" — say: O Allāh, Originator of the heavens and the earth, Knower of the unseen and the seen, You will judge between Your servants concerning that in which they used to differ. v.47 "wa lau anna li-llazīna ḡalamū mā fi-l-arḍi jamī'an wa miṣlahū ma'ahū la-ftadaw bihī min

 — and if the wrongdoers had all that is in the earth, and the like of it with it, they would offer it as ransom from the evil punishment on the Day of

Verse table (vv.49–52): v.49 "fa-izā massa-l-insāna ḍurrun da'ānā ṣumma izā khawwalnāhu ni'matan minnā qāla innamā ūtītuhū 'alā 'ilm; bal hiya fitnatun wa lākinna akṣarahum lā ya'lamūn" — so when harm touches man, he calls upon Us; then when We bestow on him a favour from Us, he says, "I was given this only because of [my] knowledge." Rather, it is a trial; but most of them do not know. v.50 "qad qālaha-llazīna min qablihim fa-mā aghnā 'anhum mā kānū yaksibūn" — those before them said it, and what they earned did not avail them. v.51 "fa-aṣābahum sayyi'ātu mā kasabū; wa-llazīna ḡalamū min hā'ulā'i sa-yuṣībuhum sayyi'ātu mā kasabū; wa mā hum bi-mu'jizīn" — so the evils of what they earned struck them; and those who do wrong among these — the evils of what they earn will strike them [too], and they cannot escape. v.52 "a-wa lam ya'lamū anna-llāha yabsuṭu-r-rizqa li-man yashā'u wa yaqdir; inna fī ḡālīka la-āyātīn li-qaumin yu'minūn" — do they not know that Allāh spreads wide provision for whom He wills and straitens it? Indeed in that are signs for a people who believe. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: You (should not grieve at their intense obstinacy, and in supplication to Allāh) say this: O Allāh, Originator of the heavens and the earth, Knower of every hidden and manifest thing! You alone (on the Day of Resurrection) will judge between Your servants in the matters in which they used to differ among themselves. (I.e. do not fall into worry over these obstinate people; rather leave their matter to Allāh; He will Himself give a practical decision.) And (at the time of that judgement the state will be that) if the wrongdoers (i.e. those who commit shirk and kufr) had all the things of the whole world, and along with these things as many things again, they would (unhesitatingly) give them up on the Day of Resurrection to be freed from the severe punishment (though it would not be accepted — as in Sūrah al-Mā'idā, "mā tuqubbila minhum"). And there will come upon them, from Allāh, a matter they had not even imagined (for they were deniers of the hereafter). ... (continues on PDF p.566)

PDF PAGE 566 · [Q 39:48-52 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (cont.) — man ascribes favour to his own planning; it is Allāh's trial; earlier peoples said the same and it did not avail them; provision is widened and straitened only by Allāh] · ...[the wrongdoers would give it all] without hesitation; and even if, along with it, they offered as much again against this punishment, it would never be accepted. And (at that time) their evil deeds will be laid open before them, and the thing they used to mock will encompass them. (I.e. the punishment they were mocking will surround them.) · So when a hardship touches a polytheist, he (leaving all those whose mention used to make him glad) calls upon Us alone; then when We bestow on him some favour from Us, he does not stay firm on that tauḥīd whose truth he had established by his own admission — for he does not ascribe this favour to Allāh, but says: "this which I have got, I got it by my own planning." (And since he does not ascribe it to Allāh, but regards it as the result of his own planning, he does not stay firm on tauḥīd, but returns to his old way of shirk and takes to worshipping other than Allāh.) Next Allāh Ta'ālā refutes his saying "innamā ūtītuhū": that the favour is never the result of his planning; rather that (favour, given by Allāh and from Him alone) is a trial of the human being, to see whether, on receiving it, We are forgotten and disbelief committed, or thanks are given. And for this very trial He has also placed, in some favours, the intermediary of causes and effort — by which the trial is still greater: to see whether he looks at the outward cause or at the true cause. But most people do not understand this (and so they say it is the result of their own planning, and remain caught in shirk). · Next its rebuke: this thing was said by (some of) those who passed before them too (as Qārūn said "innamā ūtītuhū 'alā 'ilmin 'indī," or those who passed as deniers of the Maker, like Namrūd and Fir'aun — clearly they too did not ascribe any favour to Allāh, but ascribed the unearned and involuntary to fortune and chance, and the earned and voluntary to skill and planning) — so their contrivance did not avail them at all (and did not ward off the punishment); then, after being unable to ward it off, they did not escape being subject to the punishment either. Rather all their evil deeds fell upon them (and they got their deserts); and (people of the present age) should not think that whatever was to happen has happened with the past sins of the earlier peoples; rather, among these too, the evil deeds of the wrongdoers are yet to fall upon them; and they cannot frustrate (Allāh Ta'ālā) — thus they were duly punished at Badr. · Next its proof: some fools ascribe favour and provision to their own planning — but do these people not know, from reflecting on circumstances, that Allāh alone gives more provision to whom He wills, and He too straitens (for whom He wills)? In this widening and straitening are signs (i.e. established proofs) for the believers — that the widening and straitening is His alone, [not the effort]; the true cause is not in it. So whoever understands these proofs will not ascribe [it] to his own planning, but will not be heedless of Allāh's being the Bestower — which had become the cause of [others'] falling into shirk; rather he will remain a monotheist, and...

She said that when he rose for the tahajjud prayer he would recite this supplication: · "Allāhumma Rabba Jibrīla wa Mīkā‘īla wa Isrāfīl, fāṭira-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍi, ‘ālima-l-ḡhaibi wa-sh-shahāda, anta taḡkumu baina ‘ibādika fīmā kānū fīhi yakhtalifūn, ihḡinī li-ma-khtulifa fīhi mina-l-ḡaḡqī bi-iznika, innaka taḡdī man tashā‘u ilā ṣīrāṭin mustaqīm." · [Box — a supplication of acceptance:] Sa‘īd ibn Jubair (raḡ.) says: I know of a Qur’ānic āyah such that whoever recites it and then makes a supplication to Allāh, his supplication is certainly answered. This āyah concerns those who in the world did good works to show people, and people too thought them righteous, and they themselves were also in the delusion that these deeds would become for them a means of salvation in the hereafter. But since there was no sincerity in them, therefore with Allāh such good deeds have no reward; so there, suddenly, contrary to their expectation, punishment and reproach will begin. (Qurṭubī) ·

[Box — an important guidance concerning the disputes among the Ṣaḥāba:] Someone asked Rabīʿ ibn Khuṣaim (raḥ.) about the martyrdom of Ḥusain (raḍiyallāhu ʿanhu); he heaved a sigh and recited this āyah: "quli-llāhumma fāṭira-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍi ʿālima-l-ghaibi wa-sh-shahāda, anta taḥkumu baina ʿibādika" (the āyah). And he said: when some doubt arises in your heart concerning the mutual disputes of the Ṣaḥāba, recite this āyah. mercy; turn to Allāh and submit before the punishment; the regrets of the soul]

· Verse table (v.61): "wa yunajji-llāhu-llazīna-ttaqaw bi-mafāzatihim; lā yamassuhumu-s-sū’u wa lā hum yaḥzanūn" — and Allāh will save those who feared [Him], with their triumph; no evil will touch them, nor will they grieve. ·

Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: Say (in answer to these questioners, from Me): O My servants who have (by disbelief and shirk) transgressed against themselves! Do not despair of the mercy of Allāh (and do not think that after coming to faith you will be taken to task for your past disbelief and shirk). It is not so;

certainly Allāh Ta‘ālā, by the blessing of Islam, will forgive all (past) sins (even were they disbelief and shirk); truly He is the great Forgiver, the great Bestower of mercy. And (since the condition and manner of this forgiveness is to repent of disbelief and to embrace Islam, so) turn to your Lord (to repent of disbelief) and obey Him (in accepting Islam), before the punishment of Allāh begins to befall you (in the case of not embracing Islam); and (then, at that time, from anyone) no help will be given you. That is, just as, by embracing Islam, all disbelief and shirk will be forgiven, so, by not embracing Islam, there will be punishment for this disbelief and shirk, which has no averting.

And (since this is the outcome of not embracing Islam, then) you should walk upon the good rulings that have come to you from your Lord, before the punishment falls on you suddenly and you have no notion of it (meaning the punishment of the world or the hereafter; and "suddenly," either because the punishment that befalls is such that before it happens its reality was not perceived, nor was such expected — a happening contrary to expectation coming before [one] is expressed as "suddenly"). · And this command of turning [to Allāh] and Islam and following is given because (one day — on the Day of Resurrection — some person may) begin to say: alas for the shortcoming of mine in the matter of Allāh — i.e. in His obedience — which occurred from me, while I did nothing but mock the commands of Allāh! Or someone may say: had Allāh Ta‘ālā guided me (in the world), I would surely have been of the God-fearing — but I was deprived of guidance itself, so all this shortcoming occurred, in which I am excused. Or someone, seeing the punishment, may say: would that I had a return (to the world), then I would be of the doers of good. (On the second reading, which said "had I been guided I too would have been God-fearing.") Next, in answer to it He says: yes, indeed My signs had reached you, and you belied them, and (the belying was from no doubt; rather) you were arrogant, and it was not even that at another time... Āp (in sawāl karne wāloñ ke jawāb meñ merī ṭaraf se) kah dījiye ki ai mere bando, jinhoñ ne (kufr o shirk kar ke) apne ūpar ziyādatiyāñ kī haiñ! of "qul yā 'ibādīya-llazīna asrafū"; the most hope-giving āyah; "aḥsana mā unzila"] · Khulāṣa (conclusion): ...[not that at another time] your mind came right; rather you were (always) counted among the (deniers), and so your saying "guidance did not reach me" is entirely wrong. Next, mentioning briefly the punishment and reward of the one who persists in disbelief and the one who repents of disbelief, it is said: O Prophet, on the Day of Resurrection you will see the faces of those blackened who lied against Allāh. (Two things are included here — saying that Allāh said the things He did not say, such as shirk; and saying that Allāh did not say the things He did say, such as the Qur'ān.) Is not the dwelling of those arrogant ones (who, out of obstinacy and pride, belie the āyāt) in Hell? And those who were saved (from shirk and disbelief), Allāh Ta'ālā will deliver them, with success, (from Hell); no harm will touch them at all, nor will they grieve (for in Paradise there is no grief). · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: "qul yā 'ibādīya-llazīna asrafū" (the āyah) — Sa'īd ibn Jubair (rah.) narrates from Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) that some people had committed many wrongful killings and much adultery and much [else]; they said to the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ, "the religion you call to is very good, but we think that since we have committed such great sins, if we now become Muslims, will our repentance be accepted?" At this Allāh Ta'ālā revealed this said āyah. (Bukhārī reported its like — Qurṭubī) · So the sum of the āyah's theme is: before death, whoever repents of even the greatest sin — even disbelief and shirk — that repentance is accepted. And by sincere repentance all sins are forgiven; therefore no one should despair of Allāh's mercy. ·

'Abdullāh ibn 'Umar (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) said this āyah is, for sinners, the most hope-giving of all the āyāt of the Qur'ān. But Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) said the most hope-giving āyah is: "inna Rabbaka la-zū maghfiratin lin-nāsi 'alā ḡulmihim." · "wa-ttabi'ū aḥsana mā unzila ilaikum" — by "aḥsana mā unzila" is meant the Qur'ān, and the whole Qur'ān is the best; the Qur'ān can also be called "aḥsana mā unzila" in the sense that of all the books — the Torah, the Injīl, the Zabūr — sent down by Allāh Ta'ālā, the best and most complete is the Qur'ān. (Qurṭubī) · "an taqūla nafsun yā ḥasratā 'alā mā farraṭtu" to "mina-l-muḥsinīn" — these three āyāt legislate and emphasise the same theme stated in the previous three āyāt: that a criminal's disbelief, however great... (continues on PDF p.571)

[Q 39:53] qul yā 'ibādiya-llazīna asrafū (al-āyah) — Ḥaḍrat Sa'īd bin Jubair (rah.) Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se riwāyat karte haiñ ki kuchh log aise the jinhoñ ne bahut se qatl nā-ḥaqq kiye, aur bahut se zinā kā irtikāb kiya, aur bahut kiya; unhoñ ne Rasūlullāh ṣalla-llāhu 'alaihi wa sallam se 'arṣ kiya ki jis dīn kī ṭaraf āp da'wat dete haiñ woh hai to bahut achchhā, lekin ham to yih samajhte haiñ ki jab ham itne baṛe baṛe gunāhoñ kā irtikāb kar chuke, ab agar musalmān b و ho ga'e to kya hamārī toba qabūl ho saktī gī? Is par Allāh Ta'ālā ne yih āyat-e-mazkūra nāzil farmā'ī. (Aḡhrajā-l-Buḡḡhārī bi-ma'nāh — Qurṭubī)

free choice] · ...even the transgressor should not despair of Allāh's mercy; if he repents, Allāh will forgive all his past sins. In the three āyāt from "an taqūla nafsun" it is stated that Allāh Ta'ālā forgives, through repentance, every sin — even disbelief and shirk. But let him remember that the time of repentance is before death; if after death, on the Day of Resurrection, someone repents or laments over what he did, it will be of no benefit. · Thus some transgressing disbelievers will make various wishes on the Day of Resurrection — one will express regret: "alas, why did I fall short in the obedience of Allāh Ta'ālā?" Another there too will want to escape by casting the blame on divine decree: "had Allāh Ta'ālā guided me, I too would have been of the God-fearing — but Allāh Himself did not guide me, so what could I do?" Another will wish: "would that I were sent back to the world, then I would become a true, firm Muslim and fully obey the commands of Allāh." But these regrets and wishes at that time will avail no one. · These three kinds of wishes may be those of different people, and it is also possible that all three wishes are made, one after another, by the disbelievers of a single group; because the last saying, which is the wish to return to the world, is mentioned in the āyah as coming after witnessing the punishment. From this it appears that the first two sayings are before the witnessing of the punishment: on the Day of Resurrection, first, remembering the shortcomings of their deeds, they will say — "yā ḥasratā 'alā mā farraṭtu fī janbi-llāh" — then, by way of [being punished and] disgraced, they will say: "we were excused — had Allāh Ta'ālā guided us, we too would have become obedient and God-fearing; when He Himself did not guide us, what fault was ours?" Then, when they witness the punishment, this wish will come: "would that we were sent back to the world again." · Allāh Ta'ālā has made clear in these three āyāt that Allāh's forgiveness and mercy are very wide, but they can be obtained only if you repent before death. So We tell you now, so that it may not be that after death you [have to] conceal [something], and in the hereafter you fall into such useless regret and wishes. · "balā qad jā' atka āyātī fa-kazzabta bihā" — this āyah answers the disbelievers' claim that "had Allāh guided [us], we would have become God-fearing." The sum of this āyah is that Allāh had given full guidance — He sent His Book and also [His] signs. So their saying that "Allāh did not guide us" is wrong and vain. Yes, after guiding, Allāh compelled no one to goodness and obedience — rather He gave the servant the choice to adopt whichever path, truth or falsehood, he wished; this was the very test of the servant, on which his success or failure depended. Whoever, by his own choice, adopted the path of misguidance is himself responsible for it.

... fājir ko bہی Allāh kī raḥmat se māyūs na honā chāhiye; agar woh toba kar le gā to Allāh us ke sab pichhle gunāh mu'āf farmā de gā. "An taqūla nafsun" se tīn āyatōn meñ yih batlāyā ki Allāh Ta'ālā har gunāh — yahān tak ki kufr o shirk ko bہی — toba se mu'āf farmā detā hai. Magar yih yād rakhe ki toba kā waqt marne se pahle pahle hai; marne ke

Yih tūn qism kī tamannā‘en ho saktī haiṁ ki muḥtalif logoṁ kī hoṁ, aur yih bḥī mumkin hai ki yih tīnoṁ tamannā‘en ek ke ba‘d dīgre ek hī jamā‘at ke kuffār kī ṭaraf se hoṁ; kyonki ākhirī qaul, jis meṁ dubāra dunyā meṁ āne kī tamannā hai, us ke sāth āyat meṁ mazkūr hai ki woh ‘azāb kā mushāhida karne ke ba‘d hogā. Is se yih ma‘lūm hotā hai ki pahle donoṁ qaul mushāhida-e-‘azāb se pahle ke haiṁ ki qiyāmat ke roz awwal hī apne a‘māl kī taqṣīrāt ko yād kar ke kaheṁ ge — "yā ḥasratā ‘alā mā farraṭtu fī janbi-llāh" — phir ‘azāb aur rusvā hone ke ṭaur par kaheṁ ge ki ham to ma‘zūr the — agar Allāh Ta‘ālā hidāyat kar detā to ham bḥī muṭī‘ o farmān-bardār aur muttaqī ban jāte; jab us ne hidāyat hī na kī to hamārā kya quṣūr rahā. Phir jab ‘azāb kā mushāhida karen ge to yih tamannā hogī ki kāsh dunyā meṁ dubāra bḥej diye jā‘en.

Ḥaqq Ta‘ālā ne in tīnoṁ āyatoṁ meṁ batlā diyā ki Allāh kī maghfīrat aur raḥmat bahut wasī‘ hai, magar woh jab bḥī ḥāṣil ho saktī hai ki marne se pahle toba kar lo. Is li‘e ham abhī batlā‘e dete haiṁ, tāki aisā na ho ki tum marne ke ba‘d kuchh chḥupāo, aur ākhirat meṁ is ṭarah fuḍūl ḥasrat wa tamannā meṁ mubtalā ho.

[Q 39:59] balā qad jā‘atka āyātī fa-kazzabta bihā — is āyat meṁ kuffār kī is bāt kā jawāb hai ki agar Allāh hidāyat kartā to ham muttaqī ho jāte. Is āyat kā ḥāṣil yih hai ki Allāh ne pūrī hidāyat kar dī thī, apnī kitāb bḥī aur āyateṁ bḥī bḥejī thīn. Is li‘e in kā yih kahnā ḡhalaṭ aur laghw hai ki Allāh ne hamēṁ hidāyat nahīn kī. signs of Allāh — those are the losers. v.64 "qul a-fa-ghaira-llāhi ta' murūnnī a'budu ayyuha-l-jāhilūn" — say: is it other than Allāh you order me to worship, O ignorant ones? v.65 "wa laqad ūhiya ilaika wa ila-llazīna min qablik; la-in ashrakta la-yaḥbaṭanna 'amaluka wa la-takūnanna mina-l-khāsirīn" — and it has been revealed to you and to those before you: if you associate [partners with Allāh], your deeds will surely become worthless, and you will surely be of the losers. v.66 "bali-llāha fa-'bud wa kun mina-sh-shākirīn" — rather, worship Allāh, and be of the grateful. v.67 "wa mā qadaru-llāha ḥaqqa qadriḥ; wa-l-arḍu jamī'an qabḍatuhū yauma-l-qiyāmati wa-s-samāwātu maṭwiyyātun bi-yamīnih; subḥānahū wa ta'ālā 'ammā yushrikūn" — and they did not esteem Allāh with the esteem due to Him; and the whole earth will be [in] His grip on the Day of Resurrection, and the heavens folded up in His right hand. Glory be to Him, and exalted is He above what they associate. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: Allāh alone is the Creator of every thing, and He alone is the Guardian of every thing; in His hand alone are the keys of the heavens and the earth — i.e. the sole Creator of all these things is He, and the One who keeps them in being and protects them is also He, which is the meaning of the word "wakīl." And in all these creatures, the dispositions and changes are also His work; this is the meaning of "lahū maqālīdu-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍ" — for the one in whose hand are the keys to the wealth of the treasures is, in the ordinary course, the one who has disposal over them. In short, the Creator of the whole universe, without any partner, is He; the Protector is He; the Owner of [all] disposal is He; so worship too is due to Him alone... (continues on PDF p.573)

And since these polytheists too conceded all these divinely-decreed matters, it was incumbent on them to concede the belief in tauḥīd too; so it is said that those who, even so, do not accept the signs of Allāh (which comprise the theme of tauḥīd and of reward and punishment) will remain in great loss. (And these people were themselves steeped in disbelief and shirk, and now their audacity had grown so far that they even said to you: come over to our way, and made this demand.) So say: O ignorant ones, (after tauḥīd has been fully proven by the said proofs and disbelief and shirk refuted,) do you still tell me to worship other than Allāh? (And how is disbelief and shirk possible from you, when) this revelation has already been sent to you and to the prophets who passed before you: that if you commit shirk, all your work, done and undone, will be brought to nothing, and you will fall into loss. (So never go near shirk.) Rather, worship Allāh alone and remain grateful to Him. (And when it has been established to the prophets ['alaihimu-s-salām] — among whom you too are included — by revelation that tauḥīd is true and disbelief and shirk are false, and they were charged to guide others to this same belief, then these polytheists' expecting disbelief and shirk from you can be nothing but the compulsion of folly.) · And (alas,) these people did not recognise the majesty and power of Allāh Ta'ālā as they ought to have; though the whole earth will be in His grip on the Day of Resurrection, and all the heavens folded up in His right hand; He is pure and exalted above their shirk. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: "lahū maqālīdu-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍ" — "maqālīd" is the plural of "miqlād" or "miqlīd," used for the key of a lock. Some have said it is originally a word Arabicised from Persian: in Persian a key is "kalīd"; Arabicised it became "iqḷīd," and its plural "maqālīd" was formed. Keys being in someone's hand is a sign of his being the owner and disposer; so the meaning of the āyah is that the keys of all the stored treasures of favours in the heavens and the earth are in the hand of Allāh Ta'ālā; He alone is their Protector and He alone the Disposer — that when He wills He gives whatever thing, in whatever measure He wills, and to whom He wills He does not give. · And in some ḥadīth reports, the words of glorification — namely "subḥāna-llāhi wa-l-ḥamdu li-llāhi wa lā ilāha illa-llāhu wa-llāhu akbar, wa lā ḥawla wa lā quwwata illā bi-llāhi-l-'aliyyi-l-'aẓīm" — are called "maqālīdu-s-samāwāti wa-l-arḍ."

PDF PAGE 574 · [Q 39:67 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il — "wa-l-arḍu jamī‘an qabḍatuh": the salaf's view and the later scholars' figurative reading → 39:68-70 verse table (the trumpet-blasts; the Reckoning)] · The upshot is: whoever recites these words at morning and evening, Allāh Ta‘ālā grants him the favours of the treasures of the heavens and earth. Ibn al-Jawzī declared these reports fabricated, but other muḥaddiṣīn classed them as weak aḥādīth, which may be relied on in the merits of deeds (faḍā’il-e-a‘māl). (Rūḥu-l-Ma‘ānī) · "wa-l-arḍu jamī‘an qabḍatuhū yauma-l-qiyāmati wa-s-samāwātu maṭwiyyātun bi-yamīnih" — the earth's being in the grip of Allāh Ta‘ālā on the Day of Resurrection, and the heavens being folded up in His right hand — for the early forebears (aṣṭāf-e-mutaqaddimīn) these are in their real meanings. But the theme of the āyah is among the mutashābihāt, whose reality none knows but Allāh Ta‘ālā. For ordinary people even the effort to learn its reality is forbidden; one is only to believe that whatever Allāh Ta‘ālā means by it is true and correct. And since from the apparent words of this āyah a "grip" and a "right hand" for Allāh Ta‘ālā appear, which are limbs and bodily organs, and Allāh Ta‘ālā is free of body and corporeality, this is indicated at the close of the āyah: do not analogise these words to your own limbs — Allāh Ta‘ālā is free of them: "subḥānahū wa ta‘ālā ‘ammā yushrikūn." · And the later scholars, taking this āyah as a parable and figure, gave these meanings: that "a thing's being in the grip" and "being in the right hand" is a metonym for [His] complete hold and power over it; this complete hold and power is what is meant. Wa-llāhu subḥānahū wa ta‘ālā a‘lam. · Verse table (vv.68–70): v.68 "wa nufikha fī-ṣ-ṣūri fa-ṣa‘iqā man fī-s-samāwāti wa man fī-l-arḍi illā man shā’a-llāh; ṣumma nufikha fīhi ukhrā fa-izā hum qiyāmun yanẓurūn" — and the trumpet will be blown, and whoever is in the heavens and whoever is in the earth will swoon, except whom Allāh wills; then it will be blown a second time, and at once they will be standing, looking on. v.69 "wa ashraqati-l-arḍu bi-nūri Rabbihā wa wuḍī‘a-l-kitābu wa jī‘a bi-n-nabiyyīna wa-sh-shuhadā’i wa quḍiya bainahum bi-l-ḥaqqi wa hum lā yuẓlamūn" — and the earth will shine with the light of its Lord, and the record will be laid open, and the prophets and the witnesses will be brought, and judgement will be given between them in truth, and they will not be wronged. v.70 "wa wuffiyat kullu nafsin mā ‘amilat wa huwa a‘lamu bimā yaf‘alūn" — and every soul will be paid in full for what it did, and He knows best what they do.

It is said: "enter the gates of Hell, to abide there — evil is the abode of the arrogant." And the God-fearing led to Paradise in throngs; when they reach it, its gates opened, its keepers say, "peace be upon you; you have done well, so enter it to abide." PDF PAGE 576 · [Q 39:68-72 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr — the two trumpet-blasts; the earth shining with the light of its Lord; the just Reckoning; the disbelievers driven to Hell] · And (regarding the mention of the Day of Resurrection): a blast will be blown by which the senses of all the dwellers of the heavens and the earth will fly away (the living will die, and the souls of the dead will swoon) — except whom Allāh wills (he will be kept safe from that swooning and death). Then the trumpet will be blown a second time, and at once all of them, having swooned, will have their souls connected to their bodies and will rise from their graves standing — (looking about in every direction, as is natural at the occurrence of a strange event). And (then Allāh Ta'ālā, for the Reckoning) will descend upon the earth and manifest [Himself] in a manner befitting His majesty, and the earth will shine with the light of its Lord (in a manner beyond comprehension), and (everyone's) record of deeds will be laid before each, and the prophets and the witnesses will be brought (the sense of "witnesses" is general, including the prophets, the angels, the Muslim Ummah, and the limbs and organs — the detail of which comes in the Ma'ārif); and among all the accountable ones judgement will be given exactly according to deeds, and they will not be wronged — that no good deed done should be nullified, nor any bad deed increased. And every person will be given the full requital of his deeds — (in good deeds the fullness means the negation of any deficiency, and in bad deeds the fullness means the negation of any increase). And He knows all their works well (so giving each requital or punishment accordingly is no difficulty for Him). · And (the requital which is the result of the judgement is this:) the disbelievers will be driven to Hell in throngs (with pushing and shoving, in disgrace and humiliation) — in throngs because the kinds and grades of disbelief are distinct; so for each kind of disbelievers there will be a throng — until, when they reach Hell, its gates will be opened, and its keepers (the angels, by way of reproach) will say: "did not messengers from among yourselves come to you (from whom it was not hard for you to benefit), who used to recite to you the āyāt of your Lord and warn you of the coming of this Day?" The disbelievers will say: "yes (messengers did come and warned us), but the punishment promised to the disbelievers has come true" (this is not an excuse but an admission: that despite the conveyance we disbelieved, and the punishment promised to the disbelievers has come before us; truly we are criminals). Then it will be said to them (i.e. the angels will say): "enter the

(After this they will be made to enter Hell and its gates closed on them — as Allāh Ta‘ālā said, "innahā ‘alaihim mu‘ṣadatun." That is the state of the disbelievers.) And those who feared the punishment of Allāh (whose first degree is faith, with various degrees above it), in throngs (each degree of piety gathered in one place befitting its rank) will be dispatched toward Paradise (swiftly, with eager hearts), until, when they reach it, its gates will (already) be open (so that there be no delay at all — and for people of honour it is as it is customary for a guest, that the door is opened beforehand — as Allāh Ta‘ālā said, "mufattaḥatan lahumu-l-abwāb"), and its keepers (the angels) will say to them (by way of honour and praise): "as-salāmu ‘alaikum, you are pleased, so enter it to abide forever" (then they will enter it), and (having entered) they will say: "praise (endless praise) be to Allāh, who fulfilled His promise to us and made us the owners of this land, that we may settle in Paradise wherever we wish" (i.e. each person has been given a place of ample ease; to move about freely, to sit and rise; by way of stay, circuit and wandering [they may go] even into another dweller's rank); in short, an excellent reward for the doers of (good) deeds. (This sentence may be the people of Paradise's own, or from Allāh Ta‘ālā; both are possible.) And (further, up to the final judgement from this assembly, the same theme is stated in brief, majestic words by way of summary:) you will see the angels (at the time of awaiting the assembly for the Reckoning) forming a circular ring around the Throne, glorifying and praising their Lord; and among all the servants judgement will be given exactly, and (at the rightness of this judgement, from every side, with fervour, this same cry will rise, and) it will be said: "all praise is due to Allāh, the Lord of all the worlds" (who gave so excellent a judgement). Then, upon this cry of acclamation, the court will be dismissed. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: "fa-ṣa‘īqa man fi-s-samāwāti wa man fi-l-arḍi illā man shā’a-llāh" — "ṣa‘īqa" literally means to swoon, and the meaning is that first they will swoon, then all will die; and those already dead, their souls will swoon. The meaning of their exemption is that they will not die from the effect of the trumpet-blast, but they too will die after it, and none but the Essence of Allāh (subḥānahū wa Ta‘ālā) will remain alive at that time. Ibn Kaṣīr also adopted this. And he said that the last of them all to die will be the Angel of Death. In Sūrah an-Naml too an āyah like this has passed; there, instead of "ṣa‘īqa," the word "faza‘" comes; some detail of it has passed there too. · "wa jī’a bi-n-nabiyyīna wa-sh-shuhadā’" — the meaning is that in the field of the Gathering, at the time of the Reckoning, all the prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām) will be present, and all the other witnesses will be present too. Among these witnesses the prophets themselves will be — as the Qur’ān says, "ji’ nā min kulli ummatin bi-shahīd." The angels too will be among the witnesses — as the Qur’ān says, "ma‘ahā sā’iqun wa shahīd" (that "sā’iq" and "shahīd" here mean angels is mentioned in Dur-e-Manṣūr, Sūrah Qāf). And among these witnesses will be the Muslim Ummah — as the Qur’ān says, "li-takūnū shuhadā’a ‘ala-n-nās." And among these witnesses will be a person's own limbs and organs — as the Qur’ān says, "takallamunā aidīhim wa tashhadu arjuluhum." · "natabawwa’u mina-l-jannati ḥaiṣu nashā’" — the meaning is that the people of Paradise will of course have their own dwellings and mansions and gardens; they will also be given the choice to go to other people of Paradise for visiting and enjoyment. (Ṭabarānī) · Abū Nu‘aim and Ḍiyā’ have, with a ḥasan chain, related from ‘Ā’isha (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhā) that a Companion came to the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ and said: "O Messenger of Allāh, I love you so much that even when I go home I keep remembering you; and until I am again in your presence I have no patience. But whenever I remember my death, and remember your passing, I realise that you will be in the lofty stations of the prophets (‘alaihimu-s-salām) in Paradise; and I, even if I reach Paradise, will be in some lower rank. My worry is: how will I see you?" The Messenger of Allāh ﷺ, hearing his words, gave no answer, until Jibrīl the Trustworthy descended with this āyah: · "wa man yuṭi ‘i-llāha wa-r-rasūla fa-ulā’ika ma ‘a-llazīna an ‘ama-llāhu ‘alaihim mina-n-nabiyyīna wa-ṣ-ṣiddīqīna wa-sh-shuhadā’i wa-ṣ-ṣāliḥīn; wa ḥasuna ulā’ika rafīqā" — this āyah made clear that the Muslims who obey Allāh and the Messenger will be with the prophets and the ṣiddīqīn and the rest. And in the said āyah [of az-Zumar] it is explained that they will also be permitted to go to the lofty stations. Alḥaqana-llāhu Ta‘ālā bi-him bi-mannihī wa karamih. · [End of Sūrah az-Zumar.]

...only those raise (baseless) disputes about it (the Qur'ān) who deny it (and the requirement of that denial is that they be punished; but the coming of a swift, hastened [punishment] would be istidrāj — i.e. giving a respite of a few days).
So let these people's going about in the cities (in peace and security for their worldly business) not throw you into doubt (that they will thus keep escaping punishment and stay at ease; and by this address of yours the aim is to make others hear). In short, seizure and punishment will certainly come upon them — whether both in the world and the hereafter, or only in the hereafter.
Thus before them the people of Nūḥ ('alaihi-s-salām), and other houses too which came after them — like 'Ād and Ṣamūd and the rest — belied Our true religion. And every community (those of it who did not believe) plotted to seize its prophet (to catch him and kill him), and raised baseless disputes to nullify the truth by that falsehood. So I (in the end) seized them. So (see) what a punishment came to them from Me! And (just as they were punished in the world, so) the word of your Lord has come true against all the disbelievers:
that they will be people of Hell (in the hereafter) — i.e. punishment came here too, and it will come there too; likewise, because of [their] disbelief, seizure and punishment are to come upon these present disbelievers as well, whether in both worlds, or in the hereafter. · This is the state of the deniers, that they deserve disgrace and punishment. And those who are monotheists and believers are so honoured that the near angels remain occupied in supplication and seeking forgiveness for them — which, by the rule "yaf'alūna mā yu'marūn," is a sign that they are charged by Allāh to seek forgiveness for the believers. From this the believers' being beloved to Allāh is established. Thus it is said: the angels who bear the divine Throne, and the angels around it, keep glorifying and praising their Lord, and believe in Him, and (supplicate for forgiveness for) the believers (thus): "our Lord, Your (general) mercy and knowledge encompass every thing; (so upon the people of faith the mercy will be a fortiori, and You also have knowledge of their faith;) so forgive those who have repented (of shirk and disbelief) and walk on Your way, and save them from the punishment of Hell. Our Lord, and (saving them from Hell) admit them to the Gardens of everlasting stay which You have promised them — and admit also their fathers and wives and offspring who are worthy (i.e. believers), even if not of the rank of those believers. Truly You are the Mighty, the Wise (You have power over forgiveness, and give each a rank befitting him). And (especially) this supplication is made to You, to save them from Hell, which is the greatest punishment. Likewise this too is a supplication: that You save them from (every kind of) hardship (on the Day of Resurrection) — for though they [may not enter] Hell... (continues on PDF p.582)

And this (which is mentioned — forgiveness, protection from the greater and lesser punishment, and entry into Paradise) is the great success. Do not deprive such believing servants of Yours of it. · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il: [Box — the special qualities and merits of Sūrah al-Mu‘min:] From here to Sūrah al-Aḥqāf, seven sūrahs beginning with "Ḥā Mīm" are called "Āl-Ḥā-Mīm" or "Ḥawāmīm." Ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) said: "Āl-Ḥā-Mīm is the brocade of the Qur’ān" ("dībāj" is silk cloth — meaning adornment). Mas‘ar ibn Kidām says they are called "'arā’is" — i.e. brides. And Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) said: everything has a kernel and a essence; the essence of the Qur’ān is Āl-Ḥā-Mīm — or he said "the Ḥawāmīm." All these reports the learned imām Abū ‘Ubaid Qāsim ibn Sallām (rah.) recorded in his book Faḍā’il al-Qur’ān. · And ‘Abdullāh (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) said: the likeness of the Qur’ān is that a man set out seeking a place for his family to live, and grew glad seeing some green plain. Then, moving further on, he found gardens and orchards (rauḍāt wa damiṣāt) — i.e. gardens whose soil has the greatest power to grow [things] — and, seeing them, he said: "so I was marvelling at the first greenness after rain? This is stranger still." He was told: the likeness of the first greenness and verdure is the likeness of the general Qur’ān, and the likeness of the gardens and orchards is the likeness of Āl-Ḥā-Mīm within the Qur’ān. For this reason Ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) said: when, reciting the Qur’ān, I reach Āl-Ḥā-Mīm, it is as if I take a great recreation in them. · [Box — protection from every calamity:] And in the Musnad of Bazzār, with its chain, it is narrated from Abū Hurayra (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) that the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ said: whoever recites, at the beginning of the day, Āyat al-Kursī and the (first three) āyāt of Sūrah al-Mu‘min, from "Ḥā Mīm" to "ilāhi-l-maṣīr," will be protected that day from every evil and harm. Tirmizī also narrated it, in whose chain there is one narrator spoken about. (Ibn Kaṣīr j.4 p.69) · [Box — protection from the enemy:] In Abū Dāwūd and Tirmizī, with a sound chain, it is narrated from Muhallab ibn Abī Ṣufra (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): he said that a person related to me who himself [heard] from the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ... The upshot is to make, with the word "Ḥā

Mīm," this supplication: that our enemy not succeed. In some reports it comes as "Ḥā Mīm lā yunṣarū" without the nūn, whose sense is: when you say "Ḥā Mīm," the enemy will not succeed. From this it is learnt that "Ḥā Mīm" is a fortress of protection from the enemy. (Ibn Kaṣīr) · [Box — a strange incident:] Ṣābit al-Bunānī (raḥ.) says: I was with Muṣ'ab ibn az-Zubair (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) in the region of Kūfa. I went into a garden to pray two rak'āt. First I recited the āyāt of Sūrah al-Mu'min from "Ḥā Mīm" to "ilaihi-l-maṣīr"; suddenly I saw a man standing behind me on a white mule, with woollen garments on his body. He said to me: when you say "ghāfiri-z-zanb," make this supplication with it: "yā ghāfira-z-zanbi-ghfir lī" — O Forgiver of sins, forgive me. And when you recite "qābili-t-tawb," say: "yā qābila-t-tawbi-qbal tawbatī" — O Acceptor of repentance, accept my repentance. Then when you recite "shadīdi-l-'iqāb," say: "yā shadīda-l-'iqābi lā tu'azzibnī" — O Severe in punishment, do not punish me. And when you recite "zī-ṭ-ṭawl," say: "yā zā-ṭ-ṭawli ṭul 'alayya bi-khair" — O Owner of bounty and favour, bestow favour on me. · Ṣābit al-Bunānī (raḥ.) says: after hearing this counsel from him, when I looked around there was no one there. I went in search of him to the garden gate. I asked people: has a man in woollen dress passed this way? All said: we have seen no such man. In one report of Ṣābit al-Bunānī (raḥ.) there is also this: that people think he was Ilyās ('alaihi-s-salām); another report does not mention it. (Ibn Kaṣīr) · [Box — the effect of these āyāt in reforming people, and a great guidance from 'Umar al-Fārūq al-A'zam for reformers:] Ibn Kaṣīr, with the chain of Ibn Abī Ḥātim, related that among the people of Syria there was a strong man who used to come to 'Umar al-Fārūq al-A'zam (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu); when for a while he did not come, 'Umar al-Fārūq al-A'zam (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) asked people about him. People said: O Commander of the Believers, do not ask about him; he has taken to being drunk on wine. 'Umar al-Fārūq al-A'zam (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) summoned his scribe and said: write this letter: · "min 'Umara bni-l-Khaṭṭābi ilā fulāni bni fulānin; salāmun 'alaik.  [The letter continues:] "...lā ilāha illā huwa; ilaihi-l-maṣīr" — Severe in punishment, Owner of great power; there is no god but He; to Him is the return.
 · Then [‘Umar] said to those present in the assembly: all of you together

supplicate for him, that Allāh Ta‘ālā turn his heart and accept his repentance. ‘Umar al-Fārūq al-A‘zam (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) had instructed the messenger by whose hand he sent this letter not to give the letter until [the man] had come to his senses from intoxication, and not to hand it to anyone else. When this letter of ‘Umar al-Fārūq al-A‘zam (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) reached him and he read it, he kept repeating these words again and again and reflecting: "in this I have been both warned of punishment and promised forgiveness." Then he began to weep and gave up wine-drinking; and he repented such a repentance that he never went back [to it]. · When ‘Umar al-Fārūq al-A‘zam (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) learned of this effect, he said to people: you should all do likewise — when a brother falls into some slip, strive to bring him to rectitude, and give him hope in the mercy of Allāh, and supplicate Allāh for him that he may repent. And do not become helpers of Satan against him — i.e. do not, by reviling him or shaming him, drive him away from the religion, for that would be helping Satan. (Ibn Kaṣīr) · [Box — a note:] For those who carry out the service of reforming people and of conveying and calling [to Islam], in this account is a magnificent guidance: that for the person whose reform is intended, supplicate for him yourself, then bring him toward rectitude by gentle means. Do not provoke [him], for it will bring him no benefit; rather it will help Satan, and he will make him fall into still greater misguidance. (See the tafsīr of the āyah below:) · "Ḥā Mīm" — some mufasssīrīn said it is a name of Allāh Ta‘ālā. But for the early imāms these disjoined letters (ḥurūf-e-muqatta‘āt) are all among the mutashābihāt, whose meaning only Allāh Ta‘ālā knows; or they are a secret between Allāh Ta‘ālā and the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ. · "ghāfiri-z-zanbi wa qābili-t-tawb" — "ghāfiri-z-zanb" literally means one who veils sin, and "qābili-t-tawb" means one who accepts repentance. These two expressions are brought separately, although the sense of both appears nearly the same. The reason is that "ghāfiri-z-zanb" indicates that Allāh Ta‘ālā has the power to forgive a servant's sin even without repentance; and forgiving those who repent is a second attribute. (Mazharī) · "zi-ṭ-ṭawl" — "ṭawl" literally means amplitude and richness (wus‘at wa ghanā), and it also comes in the sense of power; grace and... (continues on PDF p.585)

(Mazharī) · "mā yujādilu fī āyāti-llāhi illa-llazīna kafarū" — this āyah has declared disputing about the Qur’ān to be kufr. And the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ said: "inna jidālan fī-l-Qur’āni kufr" — i.e. some disputing about the Qur’ān is disbelief. (Narrated by al-Baghawī and al-Bayhaqī in Shu‘ab from Abū Hurayra raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu; and by Abū Dāwūd and al-Ḥākim, who declared it sound — Mazharī) · And in a ḥadīth: one day the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ heard the voices of two men disputing about some āyah of the Qur’ān; he came out angry, so that the signs of anger could be felt on his blessed face, and said: the communities before you were destroyed only by this — that they took to disputing about the Book of Allāh. (Narrated by Muslim from ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Amr ibn Shu‘aib — Mazharī) · The disputing which the Qur’ān and Ḥadīth declared kufr means: to attack the Qur’ānic āyāt and, raising useless kinds of doubts, to cast dispute into it; or to state such meanings of a Qur’ānic āyah as would be against other Qur’ānic āyāt and the texts of the Sunnah, which is in the degree of distorting the Qur’ān. Otherwise, investigating some obscure or brief speech, or seeking the resolution of a difficult passage, or engaging in mutual discussion and investigation in deriving rulings and issues from an āyah — this is not included in it; rather that is a great reward. (Qāḍī Bayḍāwī, Qurṭubī, Mazharī) · "fa-lā yaghrurka taqallubuhum fi-l-bilād" — the Quraysh disbelievers used to make trade journeys to Yemen in winter and to Syria in summer; and because of their service of the Sacred House of Allāh they were respected throughout Arabia. So they stayed safe on their journeys and gained trade profits. On this rested their wealth and leadership. And the continuance of their leadership was, for those chiefs, a cause of pride and conceit — [thinking] that if we were criminals with Allāh, these favours would be taken away. From this some Muslims too might have had doubts arise; so in this āyah it is said: Allāh Ta‘ālā, by His wisdom and purpose, has kept them this few days' respite; do not let you [Messenger] or the Muslims fall into any delusion by it. After the few days' respite, punishment is to come upon them; and this leadership is to perish — its onset was at the Battle of Badr, and by the Conquest of Makka, within six years, it was entirely finished. · "allazīna yaḥmilūna-l-‘arsha wa man ḥawlahū" — the bearers of the Throne are now four angels, and on the Day of Resurrection they will become eight; and the angels seen encircling the Throne, only Allāh knows their number. Some reports give the number of their ranks, reaching into the millions; they are called "karrūbī." All these are the near angels of Allāh Ta‘ālā. This āyah states that all these near angels make supplications for the believers (especially for those who repent of sins and become followers of the sharī‘ah) — either Allāh Ta‘ālā has charged them with this task, or their very nature and disposition is such that they keep supplicating for Allāh's righteous servants. For this reason Muṭarrif ibn ‘Abdillāh ibn ash-Shikḥkhīr said: of Allāh's servants, the greatest well-wishers of the believers are the angels of Allāh... (continues on PDF p.586) they also make this supplication: "wa man ṣalaḥa min ābā'ihim wa azwājihim wa zurriyyātihim" — i.e. those among their fathers and wives and offspring who have the fitness for forgiveness — i.e. whose end was upon faith — admit them too to Paradise together with these people. · From this it is learnt that faith is the condition of salvation; after faith come the other righteous deeds. If a believer's Muslim kin — fathers, wives or children — are of a lower rank in the honoured Ummah, Allāh Ta'ālā will place those kin too in Paradise with them, so that their joy and delight may be complete — as another āyah says, "alḥaqqā bihim zurriyyatahum." · Sa'īd ibn Jubair (rah.) said: when a believer enters Paradise, he wishes [to know] where his father, son, brother and the like are. He will be told that they did not do deeds like yours, so they could not reach here. He will say: the deed I did was not only for myself, but for myself and for them. Then the command will be: admit them too to Paradise. (Ibn Kaṣīr) · Tafsīr Mazharī, relating this report, says it is mawqūf with the ruling of marfū'. And in this it is explicit that the "ṣalāḥiyyat" made a condition in this āyah means faith itself (nafs-e-īmān). · Verse table (vv.10–12): v.10 "inna-llazīna kafarū yunādawna la-maqtu-llāhi akbaru min maqtikum anfusakum iz tud'awna ila-l-īmāni fa-takfurūn" — those who disbelieve will be called out to: "the loathing of Allāh [for you] was greater than your loathing of yourselves, when you were called to faith but disbelieved." v.11 "qālū Rabbanā amattana-thnataini wa aḥyaitana-thnataini fa-ṭarafnā bi-zunūbinā fa-hal ilā khurūjin min sabīl" — they will say: "our Lord, You caused us to die twice and gave us life twice; now we confess our sins — so is there any way out?" v.12 "zālikum bi-annahū izā du'īya-llāhu waḥdahū kafartum; wa in yushrak bihī tu'minū; fa-l-ḥukmu li-llāhi-l-ʿAliyyi-l-Kabīr" — that is because, when Allāh alone was invoked, you disbelieved; and when partners were associated with Him, you believed. So the judgement belongs to Allāh, the Most High, the Great.

PDF PAGE 587 · [Q 40:10-12 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr — the disbelievers' remorse in Hell; "two deaths and two lives"; the confession of sin and the refusal of any way out] · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: Those who disbelieved (when they enter Hell, they will grieve and lament over having adopted their shirk and disbelief, and will loathe themselves — such intense self-hatred that out of rage they will bite off and eat their own fingers; as in Dur-e-Manṣūr from Ḥasan). At that time they will be called out to: "as you now loathe yourselves, greater than that was Allāh's loathing of you when, (in the world,) you were called to faith and you would not accept" (the aim of this is to add to their remorse and regret). They will say: "our Lord! (we who used to deny being raised again — now we have realised our error, for You have seen that) You kept us dead twice (once before [our] creation, when we were in the form of dead matter, and a second time after coming into this world and living, dying the familiar death), and gave [us] life twice (once the life of the world, and once the life of the hereafter); these are four states, of which we denied only one — the life of the hereafter — but the other three states are mentioned because they were certain, and the aim of this confession is that, now that the fourth kind has become certain like the first three, we confess our errors — of which the root was denying being raised again after death, all the rest being branches of it. So is there any way out (from here — that we might return to the world and make good these errors)?" In answer it will be said: "there will be no way out for you; rather you must stay here forever. And the reason is that when Allāh alone was invoked (i.e. tauḥīd was mentioned) you would deny [it], and when partners were associated with Him you would accept; so the judgement is Allāh's, the Most High, the Great — i.e., since, in respect of the loftiness and majesty of Allāh Ta'ālā, this was an enormous crime, therefore in its judgement the punishment too was enormous, namely eternal Hell."

Jو log kāfir hu'e — woh jab dozakh meñ jā kar apne shirk wa kufr ikhtiyār karne par ḥasrat wa afsos karen ge, aur khud apne ūpar bezār hoñ ge — is ṭaraḥ ki apne se sakht nafrat hogī, yahāñ tak ki ḡhuṣṣe ke māre apnī ungliyāñ kāt kāt kar khā'eñ ge; jaisā ki Dur-e-Manṣūr meñ Ḥaḍrat Ḥasan se riwāyat hai. To kya (ab yahāñ se) nikalne kī koī ṣūrat hai (ki dunyā meñ phir jā kar ham in khaṭā'ōñ kā tadārūk kar leñ)? They were stronger than them in power and in the traces [they left] in the earth; then Allāh seized them for their sins, and they had no protector against Allāh. v.22 "zālika bi-annahum kānat ta'tīhim rusuluhum bi-l-bayyināti fa-kafarū fa-akhazahumu-llāh; innahū qawīyyun shadīdu-l-'iqāb" — that was because their messengers used to come to them with clear proofs, but they disbelieved, so Allāh seized them; indeed He is Strong, Severe in punishment. · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr: It is He who shows you His signs (of power), so that you may argue from them for tauḥīd; and it is He who sends down provision for you from the sky (i.e. sends rain, from which provision is produced; this too is among the said signs). And (from these signs) only that person accepts admonition who intends to turn to Allāh (for from the intention of turning [to Him] the [gift of] reflection and consideration is granted, by which one reaches the truth). So (since the wonderful proofs of tauḥīd stand established,) call upon Allāh with sincere belief (i.e. with tauḥīd), and become Muslims, even if it is displeasing to the disbelievers (do not heed that; and because) He is the Exalter of ranks (rafi' u-d-darajāt), He is the Owner of the Throne; He sends the revelation — i.e. His command — to whom He wills among His servants, so that he (the one given revelation) may warn people of the Day of Gathering (i.e. the Day of Resurrection), the Day when all people will be present before (Allāh), so that (their affair will not be hidden from Allāh). On that Day, whose will the dominion be? It will be Allāh's alone, the One, the All-Subduing. And on that Day every person will be requited for his (deeds); on that Day there will be no injustice (to anyone); Allāh Ta'ālā is swift in taking account. And (therefore) you [Messenger] warn [them] of a near-coming calamity — the Day of Resurrection — when the (hearts) will come up to the throats, choking (with grief); on that Day the wrongdoers (i.e. disbelievers) will have no intimate friend, and no intercessor whose word is heeded. Khulāṣa (end): ...are hidden in the breasts (which another does not know). The meaning is that He is aware of all the open and hidden deeds of the servants (on which punishment and reward depend). And Allāh Ta'ālā will judge exactly. And those whom these people invoke besides Allāh can make no judgement of any kind (for Allāh alone is the All-Knowing and the All-Seeing). Likewise Allāh Ta'ālā is described with all the attributes of perfection, and free of all [that belongs to] the false objects of worship; so judgement is in the power of none but Allāh Ta'ālā. And these people who, even after these clear proofs, deny — do they not travel about the earth and see what was the end of the (disbelieving) people who passed before them (because of that disbelief)? Those people were far greater than these [present ones] in power and in the traces they left on the earth (such as buildings and gardens); so Allāh seized them (i.e. sent punishment) for their sins; and they had none to save them from Allāh. (Next comes the detail of their sins:) this seizure came about because their messengers kept coming to them with clear proofs (i.e. miracles, which are proofs of prophethood), and they did not accept; so Allāh Ta‘ālā seized them; indeed He is of great strength, Severe in punishment (and when these present disbelievers too have gathered in themselves the same causes of punishment, how can they escape being seized?). · Ma‘ārif o Masā'il: "rafi‘u-d-darajāt" — by "darajāt" some have taken "attributes," so that "rafi‘u-d-darajāt" means "rafi‘u-ṣ-ṣifāt" — i.e. His attributes of perfection are the loftiest of all. Ibn Kaṣīr, keeping it on its apparent meaning, said it refers to the loftiness of the mighty Throne — that it encompasses all the earths and heavens, and is the highest, and elevated in respect of direction — as in the āyah of Sūrah al-Ma‘ārij: "mina-llāhi zi-l-ma‘ārij; ta‘ruju-l-malā’ikatu wa-r-rūḥu ilaihi fī yaumin kāna miqdāruhū khamsīna alfa sana." Ibn Kaṣīr's research on this āyah is also that this measure of fifty thousand years describes the distance from the seven earths to the Throne; and the majority of the salaf and khalaf hold this the stronger view. He also states that, for many scholars, the Throne of the Most Merciful is made of a red ruby whose diameter is so great that it is a distance of fifty thousand years; likewise its elevation from the seven earths is a distance of fifty thousand years. · And some mufasssīrīn said that "rafi‘u-d-darajāt" means "rāfi‘u-d-darajāt" — i.e. Allāh Ta‘ālā raises the ranks of the God-fearing believers — as the āyāt of the Qur‘ān bear witness: "narfa‘u darajātin man nashā’," and "hum darajātun ‘inda-llāh."

PDF PAGE 591 · [Q 40:16 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il — "yauma hum bārizūn"; "li-mani-l-mulku-l-yaum": who asks and who answers — after the first blast (when all creation has perished) or after the second (when all are raised)] · "yauma hum bārizūna lā yakhfā 'ala-llāhi minhum shai'un" — "bārizūn" means that since the ground of the field of Gathering will be made a level plain, in which there will be no mountain or cave or building or tree to serve as a screen, all will be before [Him] in the open plain. · "li-mani-l-mulku-l-yaum" — this phrase comes in the said āyāt after "yauma-t-talāq" and "yauma hum bārizūn"; and it is plain that "yauma-t-talāq" — the Day of meeting and gathering — will be after the second blast; likewise the event of "yauma hum bārizūn" will be at the time when, after the second blast, the new earth is made in the form of a level plain, on which there will be no screen or mountain. After this, bringing the phrase "li-mani-l-mulk" makes it appear that this saying of Allāh Ta'ālā will be after all creatures have been raised again by the second blast. Qurṭubī supports this by presenting, in [his] special work, a ḥadīth that Abū Wā'il narrated from 'Abdullāh ibn Mas'ūd (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu): that all people will be gathered on a clean ground on which no one has done any wrong to another. At that time a herald will proclaim, "li-mani-l-mulku-l-yaum" — whose is the dominion today? At this all creatures, believers and disbelievers, will answer: "li-llāhi-l-Wāḥidi-l-Qaḥḥār" — the believers, in accord with their belief, in a state of joy and pleasure, and the disbelievers, forced and helpless, with grief and sorrow. · But some other reports indicate that this saying will be uttered by Allāh Ta'ālā Himself at the time when, after the first blast, all creatures have perished, and then the special near angels too — Jibrīl, Mīkā'il, Isrāfīl and the Angel of Death — have died; and there will be none but the Essence of Allāh (subḥānahū wa Ta‘ālā). At that time Allāh Ta‘ālā will say "li-mani-l-mulku-l-yaum," and since there will be no one to answer, He Himself will answer "li-llāhi-l-Wāḥidi-l-Qaḥḥār." Ḥasan Baṣrī (rah.) said that in this both the questioner and the answerer are the one Allāh. Muḥammad ibn Ka‘b al-Quraṣī held the same. It is supported by the ḥadīth of Abū Hurayra (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) and Ibn ‘Umar (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): that on the Day of Resurrection Allāh Ta‘ālā will fold up all the earths in [His] left hand and the heavens in [His] right hand and say: "ana-l-Malik" (to the words) "aina-l-jabbārūn, aina-l-mutakabbirūn" — I alone am the King and the Owner; where are the tyrants and the arrogant today? · Dur-e-Manṣūr, relating both kinds of reports, says it may be that this phrase is repeated twice — once at the first blast and the emptying of the world, and once at the second blast and the raising of all creatures again. Bayān al-Qur’ān says the tafsīr of the Qur’ān does not depend on its being made twice; it may be that the said āyāt mention the event that occurred after the first blast — supposing it present at that time, this phrase was said. Wa-llāhu a‘lam.

people, yours is the dominion today, dominant in the land — but who will help us against Allāh's might if it comes upon us?" Fir'aun said, "I show you only what I see, and I guide you only to the path of right conduct." And the believer said, "O my people, I fear for you the like of the day of the [confederate] factions — the like of the case of the people of Nūḥ, and 'Ād, and Ṣamūd, and those after them; and Allāh does not wish injustice for [His] servants. And O my people, I fear for you the Day of Mutual Calling — the Day you will turn back fleeing, with none to protect you from Allāh; and whomever Allāh leaves astray has no guide. And Yūsuf came to you before with clear proofs, but you remained in doubt about what he brought you, until, when he died, you said, 'Allāh will never send a messenger after him.' PDF PAGE 596 · [Q 40:24-30 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (cont.) — "a lying magician" ascribed to all three;

the two decrees to kill the boys of the Banī Isrā‘īl; Fir‘aun's plan to kill Mūsā] · ...is ascribed to all three; but since Qārūn was of the Banī Isrā‘īl and apparently believed in Mūsā (‘alaihimā-s-salām), his calling him a magician seems, on the face of it, unlikely. But it may be that even then he was a hypocrite — outwardly claiming faith in Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) so that it might not be real — and it is also possible that this saying was of Fir‘aun and Hāmān alone, ascribed to all three by way of prevalence. · Then (after this), when he brought the true religion — which was from Us — to the (common) people, and some of these became Muslims, those (aforesaid) people said (by way of counsel): "kill the sons of those who have believed with him (i.e. with Mūsā), so that their numbers and strength may not grow, from which there is fear of the fall of the kingdom — and (since there is no such fear from women, and our households need them for service, so) let their daughters live." (In short, feeling the danger of Mūsā's ascendancy, those people made this plan to check it.) And this plan of the disbelievers was utterly without effect. (For in the end Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) prevailed.) The command to kill the newborn boys of the Banī Isrā‘īl was given once before the birth of Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām), as a result of which it became necessary to put Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) into the river, and [divine] power had this child reared in Fir‘aun's own house. This second decision, to kill those boys, is after the birth and prophethood of Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām), at the time when, seeing his miracles, the people of Fir‘aun felt the danger that as [their followers] grew, the kingdom would be in peril. · In no report has it come to notice whether the law of killing the boys was enforced at that time or not. Then, after this, discussion took place about killing Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) himself; and Fir‘aun said (to the courtiers): "leave me to kill Mūsā, and let him call upon his Lord (for his aid). I fear that he may change your religion or spread some corruption in the land" (one certainly of religion, the other certainly of the world). · Fir‘aun's saying "leave me" is either because the courtiers had perhaps not advised this killing, thinking it against the state's interest — that it would become a general talk that they took fright at a man with no means and no resources — or it is said by way of dissembling, so that the general listeners might think that the delay so far in his killing was due to the counsellors' objection, though in fact he himself did not dare the killing — for in his heart he had become certain from the miracles. So he feared that if he killed them they might fall into some heavenly punishment and calamity; but he said this to lay his fear on the courtiers. · Likewise "wa-l-yad'u Rabbah" (let him call upon his Lord) too would be to show off his courage (though the heart trembled within). And Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām), hearing this — obscurely, whether face to face or through an intermediary — said: "I take refuge in my Lord and yours (i.e. everyone's), from every arrogant person... PDF PAGE 597 · [Q 40:27-29 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (cont.) — the believer's reasoning against killing

Mūsā: if a liar, his lie is on him; if truthful, some of his threats will befall you; the rule that Allāh does not let the transgressing liar attain his aim] · ... (from the evil) of one who does not believe in the Day of Reckoning (and therefore contends against the truth). And in this same council of consultation a believing man, who was of Fir'aun's household and had (till then) kept his faith hidden, said (to the people, hearing this counsel): "do you kill a man merely for saying, 'my Lord is Allāh,' when he has also brought you proofs from your Lord (for this claim) — i.e. he also shows miracles, which are proof of the truth of the claim of prophethood; and to oppose one who has [such] proof, while the proof is present, and to oppose to such a degree that he be killed, is most unseemly. And if (hypothetically) he is a liar, his lie will fall upon him (and he will himself be disgraced from Allāh; what need to kill him?). And if he is truthful, then some of what he is foretelling (that if you do not believe such-and-such punishment will come) will (certainly) befall you (and killing him in that case would only make him more dominant). In short, killing is pointless if he is a liar, and harmful if he is truthful; so why do such a deed? And it is a universal rule that Allāh Ta'ālā does not let such a person attain his aim who is a transgressor beyond bounds and a great liar" — i.e. if (hypothetically) he were nominally a transgressor and liar, Allāh Ta'ālā would bring him to an evil end; but what have others to do with bringing him to an evil end? Victory in that case too would be his alone. · By this universal rule: if Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām) were hypothetically a liar, then, since a false claim of prophethood is a very great sin and a grave audacity, if such a lying fabricator were not overcome and destroyed, people would inevitably fall into doubt and confusion. And that cannot rationally proceed from Allāh Ta'ālā; so it is necessary that such a one be overcome and disgraced — then what need is there to kill him? And if he is truthful — then you people are steeped in falsehood, and transgressing in it too (for you claim Fir'aun's divinity), and the transgressing liar does not succeed. So you people will not succeed in the killing; either the power will not be there, or its final result will be [that you become] the criminal. In any case, the requirement of both alternatives is the same: that they not be killed. And it should not be objected that this entails that no corrupter should ever be killed. The answer is that this reasoning is for the case where there was doubt in [his] truthfulness and a real possibility of truthfulness from the miracles; where falsehood is certain by definitive proofs, it will not be so. And though this believer had full certainty of Mūsā's ('alaihi-s-salām) truthfulness, he spoke in this manner out of regard for the people's temperament, so that they might, on some pretext, be brought to desist from the killing. Further, [there is] more theme about restraining from this same killing: · "O my brothers, today the dominion is yours; you are rulers in this land — but who will help us against the punishment of Allāh if it comes upon us (as [it would] if they are truthful)?..." PDF PAGE 598 · [Q 40:29-34 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (cont.) — the believer's warning of the fate of earlier peoples and of the Day of Mutual Calling; the several kinds of "calling" on that Day; the mention of Yūsuf ('alaihi-s-salām)] · ... (it is possible that) Fir'aun said (hearing his speech, in reply): "I shall give you only the view I myself hold (that killing them is fitting), and I show you the very way of [wise] policy." And when the believer (saw that in admonition gentleness and regard for the listener's disposition did not avail) he now used threat and warning, and said: "O sir, I fear for you a day like that of other communities — the like of the case of the people of Nūḥ, and 'Ād, and Ṣamūd, and those after them (the people of Lūṭ and the rest); and Allāh Ta'ālā does not wish to wrong the servants in any way (but when you commit such acts, you will surely bear its punishment). And (this was warning of the punishment of the world; next comes warning of the punishment of the hereafter:) O sir, I fear for you the Day of Mutual Calling (yauma-t-tanād), the Day of many cries — for the multitude of cries, calling to one another, occurs in the world at great events." Thus, first of all will be the sound of the trumpet-blast, by which the dead will come alive. · Allāh Ta'ālā said: "yauma yunādi-l-munādi min makānin qarīb; yauma yasma'ūna-ṣ-ṣaiḥata bi-l-ḥaqq" — a call for the Reckoning. Allāh Ta'ālā said: "yauma nad'ū kulla unāsin bi-imāmihim" — a call by which each community will be summoned with its imām (its record of deeds, or its prophet). Another important call — calling one another — will be between the people of Paradise and the people of the Fire. Allāh Ta'ālā said in [Sūrah] al-A'rāf: "wa nādā aṣḥābu-l-jannati" (the āyah), "wa nādā aṣḥābu-l-a'rāf" (the āyah), "wa nādā aṣḥābu-n-nāri" (the āyah). One call will be at the end, when death is slaughtered in the form of a ram, as in the ḥadīth: "yā ahla-l-jannati khulūdun lā mauta, wa yā ahla-n-nāri khulūdun lā mauta." · And next a state of that Day is described: when, from the place of Reckoning, you turn your backs (toward Hell) — (thus the Baghawī explained it) — and at that time you will have none to save you from the punishment of Allāh (and this theme demands accepting guidance). But one whom Allāh Himself leaves astray has no guide. · And (next comes reproach and warning that they have already belied a messenger before Mūsā 'alaihi-s-salām, namely:) before this, Yūsuf ('alaihi-s-salām) came to you people with clear proofs (and teaching and prophethood) — in this same Coptic nation, of whom you too are, and the news of him has reached you by successive transmission from the ancient forebears. So you remained in doubt (and denial) about the matters he brought you, until, when he died, you said, "now Allāh will send no [more] messengers." This saying was by way of mischief (the meaning being: first, that they would not even acknowledge Yūsuf as a messenger, and if hypothetically they did, others would say "what use is [His] sending [messengers]," so this dispute would be endless; the real aim was to negate the issue of messengership — as appears from the next saying, that just as you have gone wrong on this issue, likewise Allāh Ta'ālā keeps in [such] doubts one who goes beyond bounds and stays caught in doubts... This (contriving a dispute) is greatly hateful to Allāh Ta'ālā, and to the believers too. And (just as [He has] set a seal upon your hearts,) likewise Allāh Ta'ālā sets a seal upon the whole heart of every arrogant tyrant (so that no room for understanding the truth remains in it at all). · This speech was that of the believing elder who was of Fir'aun's household and had until then not disclosed his faith, and by this speech that elder's word of faith came to light — whether by the first speech or by the later; and the apparent [reading] is the first alternative, by the words of Allāh Ta'ālā "wa qad jā'akum bi-l-bayyināt" (etc.). And Fir'aun (having heard this speech and being unable to give the believer any answer, to establish, in his own estimation, a proof for his old ignorance, said to Hāmān:) "O Hāmān, build me a lofty structure that I may climb it and look — perhaps I may reach the ways of ascent to the sky, then (go there and) look upon the God of Mūsā; and I think Mūsā a liar (in his claim)." · (Next comes mention of Fir'aun's further ill deeds:) and thus Fir'aun's (other) misdeeds too appeared good to him, and he was barred from the (straight) way; and (against Mūsā 'alaihi-s-salām) he made great contrivances, but every contrivance of Fir'aun came to nothing and was wasted (he succeeded in none). And the believer (seeing that no reasonable answer came from Fir'aun) said again: "O brothers, follow my way; I will show you the right road." (That is: Fir'aun's saying "I too guide to sabīlu-r-rashād" — the road he points to is by no means sabīlu-r-rashād, the road of guidance; rather sabīlu-r-rashād is the road I point to.) "O brothers, this worldly life is only for a few days, and the real place of settled stay is the hereafter (where the law of recompense is this): whoever does a sin is requited only with its equal, and whoever does a good deed — man or woman — provided he is a believer — such people will enter Paradise, (and) there they will be given provision without measure." (And at the time of this speech this believer of Fir'aun's people felt that these people were marvelling at his words, and, instead of accepting his word, wanted to call him toward their own way of disbelief; so he also said:) "O my brothers, what is this — that I call you to the way of salvation, and you call me to the way of Hell? — you call me to disbelieve in Allāh (ma'āzallāh) and to make a partner to Him something for which I have no proof; and I call you to the Mighty

God, the Forgiver. It is certain that what you call me to worship has no [valid] call, neither in this world for any worldly [thing]... (continues on PDF p.600)

PDF PAGE 600 · [Q 40:41-46 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (end) → Ma'ārif o Masā'il begins — "the believer of Fir'aun's people"] · Khulāṣa (end): ...[what you call me to worship] is not worthy of being called upon for any need, neither in the world nor in the hereafter (for averting punishment); and (it is certain that) we must all go to Allāh; and (it is certain that) those who have gone outside the sphere of servitude (like those who worship other than Allāh) will all be people of Hell. So now my word does not appeal to your hearts, but later on you will remember my word; and (since this believer had already the expectation that these people would turn against him for his admonition and cause him harm, and it is possible that at that time some signs and marks of a threat also appeared from them, so he also said:) "I commit my affair to Allāh; Allāh Ta'ālā is Himself the Guardian of all servants (and I do not fear you at all)." Then Allāh Ta'ālā protected this believer from their harmful contrivances (so he remained safe from their persecutions, and — according to the saying of Qatāda — he too was saved from drowning together with Mūsā 'alaihimā-s-salām; thus in Dur-e-Mansūr). And upon the people of Fir'aun (along with Fir'aun) a tormenting punishment descended, of which the statement is that they are brought before the Fire morning and evening (in the barzakh) — (and they are told that on the Day of Resurrection you will enter it). And on the Day the Hour comes (the command will be): admit the people of Fir'aun (along with Fir'aun) to the severest punishment. · Ma'ārif o Masā'il: [Box — the believer of Fir'aun's people:] Above, in various places, in the course of the warning and threat to the deniers of tauḥīd and messengership, the disbelievers' obstinate opposition has been mentioned, at which the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ was naturally grieved and distressed each time. For his consolation, the aforesaid discourse relates, in about two rukū', the story of Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām) and Fir'aun. In this story there is a long dialogue of that elder, who — despite being himself of Fir'aun's people — had come to faith after seeing the miracles of Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām), but had, out of prudence, kept his faith hidden until then, with Fir'aun and the people of Fir'aun. At the time of this dialogue his declaration of faith too was made [public]. · Among the imāms of tafsīr, Muqātil, Suddī and Ḥasan said he was a paternal cousin of Fir'aun, and that he was the very person who, at the time when the killing of Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām) was being discussed in Fir'aun's court by way of retaliation (qiṣāṣ) for the killing of the Copt, came running from the edge of the city and informed Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām) and advised him to leave Egypt — the event of which Allāh Ta'ālā has stated in Sūrah al-Qaṣaṣ... Ṣa'labī has related this same view from Ḥaḍrat Ibn 'Abbās (raḍ.). · In a ḥadīth it is [reported] that the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ said: the ṣiddīqūn (utterly truthful ones) are [but]

(Qurṭubī) · "ya' iktumu īmānahu" ("he was concealing his faith"): from this it is learnt that if a person does not disclose his faith before people, but holds the belief in his heart, he is a believer. But it is established by explicit texts that for faith to be accepted the heart's conviction alone is not enough — profession with the tongue is also a condition; until one professes with the tongue he will not be a believer. However, professing with the tongue before people, with [public] proclamation, is not required; that is needed only so that, until people know of his faith, they cannot deal with him as with a Muslim. (Qurṭubī) · The believer of Fir‘aun's people, in this dialogue, called Fir‘aun and the people of Fir‘aun to the truth and to faith under various headings, and restrained those who were bent on killing Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) from it. · "yā qaumi innī akhāfu ‘alaikum yauma-t-tanād": at-tanād, with kasra on the dāl and without tashdīd, is a lightened form of at-tanādī, meaning to call and cry out to one another. And in this [ḥadīth is]: "I understand that at the time of the [public] proclamation of every sin, your adversary will have to stand with you — because you gathered the sins of every kind." (akhrajahu Abū Nu‘aim — Maḏharī) · "yauma tuwallūna mudbirīn": i.e. when you will turn your backs. In the Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr, on the authority of Imām Baghawī, its meaning was given as the state when the criminals are led from the place of Reckoning toward Hell. Its upshot is that first these calls and proclamations — the mention of the tafsīr of yauma-t-tanād is still running — all these will take place; after that these people will be led from the place of Reckoning toward Hell. · And according to some of the mufasssīrīn, this state is described of the world at the time of the first Trumpet-blast (nafkha-e-ūlā) — that when the first blast is blown and the earth quakes, these people will flee here and there, but on every side there will be a cordon of angels; nowhere will there be a way out to escape. According to these authorities, "yauma-t-tanād" too means the time of the first blast — that in it a cry will rise from every side. The second reading (qirā’a) of the āyah corroborates this, which is related from Ḥaḍrat Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.) and Ḍaḥḥāk (raḥ.) — that they used to read "yauma-t-tanādd" with a doubled dāl, derived from "nadda," which means to flee. So "yauma-t-tanādd" too, by this tafsīr, means the Day of Fleeing. And "tuwallūna mudbirīn" too, on this reading, comes out as a corroboration of it. · In Tafsīr Maḏharī a long ḥadīth — on the authority of Ibn Jarīr, Musnad Abū Ya‘lā, Baihaqī, Musnad ‘Abd ibn Ḥumaid, and others — is related from Ḥaḍrat Abū Hurairah (raḍ.), in which there is mention of the three blasts at the first onset of the Day of Resurrection:

the first blast, nafkha-e-faza' (of terror); the second blast, nafkha-e-ṣa'q (of swooning); the third blast, nafkha-e-nashr (of resurrection). By the nafkha-e-faza' all creation will be thrown into panic and agitation; this is the long blast, until the blast turns into the nafkha-e-ṣa'q — when all will swoon senseless — then they will die. Commonly the pair of these two blasts together is called "nafkha-e-ūlā," of which the apparent [view] is that it is one and the same blast having two states — first faza', then ṣa'q. In this ḥadīth too the nafkha-e-faza', at the time of the people fleeing here and there, is mentioned, and He said: "wa huwa-lladhī yaqūlu-llāhu yauma-t-tanād" — from which it is known that "yauma-t-tanād" in the āyah means the time of the first blast, i.e. the fleeing of the panic-stricken people here and there. In one reading, "mutakabbir" and "jabbār" are made an attribute of the heart (qalb). The reason is that the heart is the source and fountainhead of all character and deeds; every deed, good or bad, is generated from the heart alone. For this reason it is said in the ḥadīth that in the human body there is a piece of flesh (i.e. the heart), such that when it is sound the whole body becomes sound, and when it is corrupt the whole body becomes corrupt. (Qurtubī) · "wa qāla Fir'aunu yā Hāmānu-bni lī ṣarḥan": ṣarḥ means a lofty structure. The apparent [sense] is that Fir'aun ordered his minister Hāmān to build such a lofty structure as would reach up near the sky, that he might climb it and take a look at [Mūsā's] God. This is a foolish notion that not even a man of the least understanding could hold. For Fir'aun, master of the kingdom of Egypt, [to say this] — either it was in earnest, which is proof of his utter folly and stupidity, and of the minister's [folly] if he carried it out — so the minister and the ruler would both be the very embodiment of madness upon madness; but from any ruler or realm such a foolish notion cannot be expected. Therefore some of the mufasssīrīn have said that he himself too knew that however lofty a structure he built, it could not reach the sky — but to make fools of his people and to show off, he did this. Then from no ṣaḥīḥ, strong report is it established that such a grand palace, a lofty structure, was actually built. Qurṭubī has related that this lofty [structure] was raised so high that, while it was still going up, it collapsed and was destroyed. · The first ṣadr-mudarris of Dār al-‘Ulūm Deoband, Maulānā Muḥammad Ya‘qūb Ṣāḥib (rah.)'s special pupil — my father, the respected Maulānā Muḥammad Yāsīn Ṣāḥib — relating from his said teacher, said that for that lofty palace to fall it is not necessary that some heavenly punishment came; rather, the height of every building depends on its foundations — however deep a foundation one lays, [it holds] only up to a limit; when the construction is carried higher than its foundations [can bear], it must collapse. From this, a second folly of Fir‘aun and Hāmān is established. The imām of tafsīr Muqātil said: as he had expected, the people of Fir'aun came after him, and he fled toward the mountains; and he did not fall into their grip — which is mentioned in the next āyah thus. · "fa-waqāhu-llāhu sayyi'āti mā makarū wa ḥāqa bi-āli Fir'auna sū'u-l-'adhāb": i.e. Allāh Ta'ālā saved him from the evil of the wicked contrivances of Fir'aun's people, while the people of Fir'aun themselves were seized in a severe punishment. The Generous Lord protected the believer of Fir'aun's people in the world too — the detail of which is not mentioned in the Qur'ān; but from the words of the Qur'ān this much is known, that the people of Fir'aun made many contrivances to kill him and to harm him, and when then the people of Fir'aun were drowned, this believing servant was granted deliverance along with Ḥaḍrat Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām). And the deliverance of the hereafter is evident [in any case]. · "an-nāru yu'raḍūna 'alaihā ghudūwwan wa 'ashiyyā, wa yauma taqūmu-s-sā'atu adkhlū āla Fir'auna ashadda-l-'adhāb": Ḥaḍrat 'Abdullāh ibn Mas'ūd (raḍ.) said, in the tafsīr of this āyah, that the souls of the people of Fir'aun, in the form of black birds, are brought before Hell twice every day, morning and evening, and, being shown Hell, are told: this is your abode. (akhrajahu 'Abd ar-Razzāq wa Ibn Abī Ḥātim — Maẓharī) · And in the Ṣaḥīḥain it is related from Ḥaḍrat 'Abdullāh ibn 'Umar (raḍ.) that the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ said: when one of you dies, in the world of barzakh he is shown, morning and evening, the place where, after the Reckoning of the Day of Resurrection, he is to arrive; and, being shown this place, he is told daily: this is where you must come in the end. If this person is of the people of Paradise, his place in Paradise is shown to him; and if he is of the people of Hell, his place in Hell is shown to him. · [Box — the punishment of the grave:] This āyah is a proof of the punishment of the grave; and the mutawātir reports of ḥadīth and the consensus of the Ummah [establish] that the punishment of the grave is a settled truth — which this humble one has gathered, together with the relevant āyāt, in a separate treatise entitled "as-Sair bi-‘adhāb al-qabr"; this treatise, as a part of Aḥkām al-Qur’ān, ḥizb six, has been published in the Arabic language.

"Yushabūna fi-l-ḥamīmi thumma fi-n-nāri yusjarūn": ḥamīm khawltā hu‘ā garm pānī hai. Is āyat se yih mafhūm hotā hai ki ahl-e-jahannam ko pahle ḥamīm meñ ḡalā jā‘e gā, us ke ba‘ḡ jaḥīm — ya‘nī jahannam — meñ; aur zāhir is se yih mafhūm hotā hai ki ḥamīm jahannam se bāhar kisī jagah hai. Sūrah aṣ-Ṣaffāt ke āyat "thumma inna marji‘ahum la-ila-l-jaḥīm" se bḥī yihī mafhūm hotā hai ki ḥamīm jahannam se bāhar kisī jagah hai — ahl-e-jahannam ko us kā pānī pilāne ke li‘e lāyā jā‘e gā, phir jahannam meñ lauṭā diyā jā‘e gā. Aur ba‘ḡ āyāt-e-qur‘ānī se ma‘lūm hotā hai ki ḥamīm bḥī jaḥīm hī meñ hai — jaise "hādhihī jahannamu-llatī yukadhdhibu bihā-l-mujrimūn, yaṭūfūna baynahā wa bayna ḥamīmīn ān" — is meñ taṣrīḥ hai ki ḥamīm bḥī jahannam ke andar hī hai.

... khāṣ khāṣ āyāt kā idāfa karnā chāhā, magar kisī kī bāt na chalī. Abū Ḥayyān ne Baḥr Muḥīṭ meṇ farmāyā ki lafẓ "bāṭil" apne alfāẓ ke i‘tibār se shayṭān ke sāth makḥṣūṣ nahīn; har bāṭil o mubṭil — shayṭān kī ṭaraf se ho, yā kisī dūsr kī ṭaraf se ho — Qur’ān meṇ woh nahīn chal saktā. Ṭabarī kī tafsīr is maqām se bahut ziyāda munāsib hai — kyonki Qur’ān meṇ ilḥād o taḥrīf kī do hī ṣūrateṇ ho saktī haiṇ: awwal yih ki koī ahl-e-bāṭil khul khul ṭaur par Qur’ān meṇ koī kamī o beshī karnā chāh — is ko "min bayni yadaihi" se ta‘bīr farmāyā. PDF PAGE 672 · [Q 42:5-9 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (Sūrah ash-Shūrā 42), continued — the angels seek forgiveness for the people of earth who fall short of His majesty and are sunk in shirk and kufr: their istighfār is a prayer that no sweeping worldly punishment destroy them (the ordinary punishments and that of the hereafter lie outside it), and Allāh has granted it in that measure — He is Forgiving, Merciful (for the disbelievers, a bounded forgiveness and a worldly, time-limited mercy). Those who take protectors besides Him — Allāh watches their deeds and will requite them in due time; the Prophet ﷺ has no authority to hasten their punishment or to guide them, his task is only to convey, so he must not grieve. Thus the Arabic Qur’ān was revealed to warn Makka and those around it of the Day of Gathering — no doubt in it — when the first and the last stand in one field and are parted: a group to the Garden, a group to the Fire. Their believing rests on the divine will — "wa law shi’ nā la-āṭaynā kulla nafsin hudāhā" — but for wise reasons He guides whom He wills into His mercy and leaves whom He wills in his kufr; the wrongdoers will have no protector or helper. For this great crime they deserved a punishment of extermination, and but for a word already gone forth from the Lord — respite "ilā ajalīn musammā", their promised punishment being kept for the hereafter — the matter would have been settled here in the world. That is the story of the past nations. Those given the Book after them = the mushrikīn of the Prophet's ﷺ time, to whom the Qur‘ān reached through him, and who are in disquieting doubt about it. MA'ĀRIF on "Shara'a lakum mina-d-dīni mā waṣṣā bihi Nūḥan...": the earlier verses spoke of Allāh's outward, physical favours; here begin the inward, spiritual favours — He granted you a firm, well-built dīn common to and agreed upon by all the prophets. The verse names five prophets: Nūḥ first, our Prophet ﷺ last, and Ibrāhīm in the middle (he is Abu-l-anbiyā', and the Arabs, despite their kufr and shirk, acknowledged his prophethood); Mūsā and 'Isā are named because their followers, the Jews and Christians, were present at the Qur'ān's revelation. Sūrah al-Aḥzāb names the same five in the covenant of the prophets — "wa iz akhaznā mina-n-nabiyyīna mīthāqahum wa minka wa min Nūḥin..." — but there the Seal of the Prophets is named first and Nūḥ after, while here Nūḥ is first and the Prophet ﷺ after: perhaps a hint that though he ﷺ is last in time of birth

 "I was first of the prophets in creation and last of them in being sent" (Ibn Mājah, Dārimī, from Bahz ibn Ḥakīm — ḥasan; Mishkāt p.584). As for why the mention of the prophets does not begin with Ādam (‘alaihi-s-salām), the first prophet: shirk and kufr did not yet exist among men in his time; the confrontation with kufr and shirk began with Nūḥ (‘alaihi-s-salām).] ·

On "an aqīmū-d-dīna wa lā tatafarraqū fīh": this explains the first clause — establish the dīn common to all the prophets, in which division and splitting are not permitted but bring destruction. [Box: establishing the dīn is farḍ, splitting in it is ḥarām — the verse states one command and its negative side.] By jumhūr of the mufasssīrīn "an" here is explanatory, so "dīn" means exactly what is shared among all prophets: the roots of belief (tawḥīd, risālah, faith in the hereafter), the roots of worship (ṣalāh, ṣawm, ḥajj, zakāh), and the prohibition of theft, robbery, zinā, lying, deceit, unwarranted harm and breach of covenant — all agreed on in every revealed religion; while in the branches the prophets' sharī‘ahs do differ in part — "li-kullin ja‘alnā minkum shir‘atan wa minhājā". Ḥadīth of Ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu): the Prophet ﷺ drew a straight line, then lines to its right and left, saying each of the side-paths has a devil upon it calling to it, then pointed to the straight line and recited "wa anna hādhā širāṭī mustaqīmān fa-ttabi‘ūh" (Aḥmad, Nasā’ī, Dārimī — Maḥzarī). As for their asking when the Hour is — the Prophet ﷺ not knowing its time does not negate the Day; its occurrence is certain, and it is enough to know in outline that it may be near. Those with no certainty demand it in mockery and denial ("why doesn't it come?"), while the believers fear it and hold it true; those who dispute about it are in far-flung error. MA‘ĀRIF: the earlier verses called the world to the ancient dīn on which all revealed Books and prophets agree, and urged steadfastness on it; but some disbelievers, unwilling even to hear or accept, began disputing with the Muslims. Per some reports, some Ahl-ul-Kitāb argued "our prophet and Book came before yours, so our dīn is superior"; per others this was said by the Quraysh, who claimed to follow the dīn of Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām). The Qur’ān warns them that the proof of Islam and the Qur’ān is complete, their own discerning, fair-minded people have accepted it, and their disputation is now void error on which Allāh's wrath will fall. begins (Sūrah ash-Shūrā 42) — "mīzān" literally means a balance/scale; being an instrument for establishing rights and giving each his due, Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.) glossed it as "‘adl wa inṣāf", while Mujāhid took it as the ordinary scale people use, meaning the full rendering of everyone's rights and justice — so "ḥaqq" points to all the rights of Allāh and "mīzān" to all the rights of His servants. The believers' fear of the Hour is a fear of belief, from the terrors of that Day and from looking at one's own shortcomings; yet at times a believer's longing to meet Allāh overwhelms that fear and does not contradict it — as some of the dead in the grave are reported to wish the Hour would come soon, once the angels bring them glad tidings of mercy and forgiveness. v.19: "Allāh is gentle with His servants, providing for whom He wills; He is the Strong, the Mighty." v.20: "Whoever desires the harvest of the hereafter, We increase it for him; whoever desires the harvest of this world, We give him of it, but he has no share in the hereafter." Khulāṣa: those who, drunk on the world's ease, forget the hereafter and say "if our deeds displeased Allāh, why would He give us this comfort?" — this is their error: worldly wealth is no proof of divine pleasure; it flows from Allāh's general mercy, by which He feeds and keeps all, in measures set by wisdom.] · rukū‘ 4, para 25 · Ma‘ārif, verse table, Khulāṣa begins

Khulāṣa: the true dīn Allāh Himself has ordained; but these people who reject it — have they partners who ordained for them a dīn Allāh did not permit? No being is fit for its ordinance to stand against Allāh's. But for the word already settled — that their punishment falls after death, not now — their case would have been decided in the world; in the hereafter the wrongdoers will surely have a painful punishment; that Day you will see them dreading the burden of their deeds, and it will certainly fall on them. The believers who did righteous deeds enter the gardens of the Paradises (plural, for its many levels and ranks — each way a Paradise, each level with many gardens, each at his own station); whatever they wish is theirs with their Lord as an owned gift — that is the great, general bounty, not the perishable comfort of this world; that is Allāh's glad tidings to His servants who believe and do good. Then, as an interjected clause before the theme closes, the Prophet ﷺ is told to say: I ask nothing of you but that you honour the rights of the kinship between us — do not rush into enmity with me...] · rukū‘ 4, para 25 · verse table ends, Khulāṣa begins close: hear the matter, weigh it on the scale of reason and sound proof — accept it if reasonable, state any doubt plainly, and if (supposing the impossible) it is wrong, explain it to me; let it all be from goodwill, not a flaring up. And for the believers: whoever does a good deed, We add to its goodness — more reward than it merits; Allāh greatly forgives the sins of His obedient servants and greatly appreciates their good. MA'ĀRIF: the Khulāṣa's reading is that of the jumhūr — my true right over you all is that I am Allāh's Messenger; acknowledge it and obey me for your own reform. If you will not accept my prophethood, at least there is my human and family right you cannot deny — I have kinship with most of your tribes — so heed the rights of kinship: I ask no wage for my teaching, conveying and reforming of you, only that you honour those ties; you may accept my word or not, but kinship should at least bar enmity. Honouring kinship was in fact the family's own duty, no wage for religious service — so the "exception" here is either a disconnected istiṣnā' (munqaṭi'), where the excepted thing is not part of the set, or is called a "wage" only figuratively. Parallels exist in Arabic and every tongue — al-Mutanabbī praised a people's valour saying their only "fault" is that their swords are notched from much fighting, which is no fault in the brave but a merit.] · rukū' 4, para 25 · Khulāṣa ends,

So: the honouring of kinship, which is no wage at all, is the only thing the Prophet ﷺ asks. This reading is in the Ṣaḥīḥain from Ibn 'Abbās (raḍ.), chosen by Mujaḥhid, Qatādah and a large body of mufasssīrīn; it is the message of every prophet — "we ask you no wage for our striving for your good; our reward is with Allāh alone", and the Chief of the Prophets ﷺ, highest of them all, would ask no people for payment. The Sha'bī narration (Sa'id ibn Manṣūr, Ibn Sa'd, 'Abd ibn Ḥumayd, Ḥākim — ṣaḥīḥ per Ḥākim, Baihaqī): people asked Sha'bī about this verse; he wrote to Ibn 'Abbās (raḍ.), who replied that the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ stood in the middle of the lineage of Quraysh, with no clan of theirs but that he had a birth-tie among them, so Allāh said "qul lā as'alukum 'alayhi ajran... illā-l-mawaddata fi-l-qurbā" — that you love me for

Jarīr wording: "...lest other Arabs, with whom I have no kinship, outstrip you in guarding and helping me" (Rūḥ). A weak-chained report from Ibn 'Abbās (raḍ.): when the verse came, some asked who "the near kin" are; the Prophet ﷺ said 'Alī, Fāṭimah (raḍ.) and their children — its chain was graded ḍa'īf by Suyūṭī (ad-Durr al-Manthūr) and Ḥāfīẓ Ibn Ḥajar (Takhrij Aḥādīth al-Kashshāf); it would make the Prophet ﷺ ask, as wage for his service, that they favour his offspring — unbefitting the prophets, still less the Chief of them — so the preferred reading of the jumhūr is the one given above; the Rawāfiḍ not only took this report but built great castles on it with no foundation. [Box — the matter of honouring and loving the Family of the Prophet ﷺ: that the Prophet ﷺ made no request for love and honour of his offspring as a wage does NOT mean, to anyone, that loving and honouring the blessed Family holds no importance.] Only a wretched, misguided person could think so. In truth: loving and revering the Messenger ﷺ above all creation is part of — rather the pivot of — faith; and honouring and loving each person by the measure of his nearness to him ﷺ is likewise binding — his own children being nearest, love of them is undoubtedly part of faith. But this does not mean forgetting the pure wives and the other Companions, who have many ties of nearness to him ﷺ. Summary: love of the Ahl al-Bayt and Āl of the Prophet ﷺ has never been disputed in the ummah — by consensus their love and honour is binding; disputes arise only when others' honours are attacked; otherwise the sādāt, however distant the lineage, are loved and revered as pure blessing and reward.] · 'ain 4, rukū' 4, para 25 · Ma'ārif continues

Their charge is itself the fabrication, for from his truth-telling tongue flows Allāh's miraculous speech, which can issue from none but a true prophet; were he not truthful in his claim, Allāh would not let this speech run upon him. Allāh has the power, if He willed, to seal his heart so the words could not descend upon it and the whole matter cease, and he forget it utterly — in which case it plainly could not come from his tongue. It is Allāh's way to blot out false claims of prophethood, giving no such claimant these miracles, and to confirm and prevail the true claim by His rulings — so he is truthful and his opponents are liars. And since Allāh knows what is in the breasts, even without the tongue's words and the limbs' acts, He knows all their beliefs, words and deeds and will punish them fully. Yet whoever repents of his kufr and evil deeds, Allāh pardons — for that is His law: He accepts His servants' repentance and by its blessing forgives all past sins, and He knows whether the repentance is sincere or not. When one turns from kufr and becomes Muslim, the worship formerly not accepted is now accepted, for Allāh accepts the worship — free of ostentation — of those who believe and do righteous deeds, "accepting" meaning He rewards them, and beyond the reward the act itself merits, He gives more of His bounty. verses answers those who call the Prophet's ﷺ prophethood and the Qur’ān false and an invention against Allāh, by a general rule: deeds beyond the ordinary power of man — "khāriq-e-‘ādat" or "mu‘jiza" — though some sorcerers too display such feats by their magic, neither can do anything without Allāh's will and decree. Allāh, of His grace, grants the prophets miracles to prove their prophethood, in which the prophet has no choice; and He lets the magic of sorcerers run, by His wisdom of testing. To distinguish miracle from magic and prophet from sorcerer, He has fixed this rule: no magic or feat succeeds at the hand of a false claimant to prophethood — magic runs while a man makes no such claim, but once he falsely claims prophethood Allāh does not let his magic run. To those He gives prophethood He also gives miracles, makes their occurrence plain, and thereby establishes their prophethood in the created order, and confirms them in the verses of His speech. Given this rule: the Qur’ān is a standing miracle that has left all jinn and men of the world unable to match even one of its verses — its i‘jāz proven in the time of prophethood and to this day. Such an open miracle cannot, by that rule, issue from a false claimant; so the Prophet's ﷺ claim of revelation and messengership is sound and true, and those who call it false and invented are misguided fabricators. The second verse counsels the deniers and opponents to turn even now from kufr and repent — Allāh is most Merciful and Generous, accepting the repentance of the repentant and

Yih har qism ke tawba ke li'e ḍarūrī hai ki gunāḥ kā tark maḥẓ Allāh ke li'e ho, kisī jismānī ḍa'f yā majbūrī ke bunā par na ho. Of His signs is the creation of the heavens and the earth and the creatures He has scattered through them, and He can gather them again on the Day whenever He wills. He is an avenger, yet also a pardoner: whatever affliction reaches you is from your own hands' deeds, and even so He does not seize for every sin but passes over much; and if He were to take all to account, you could not escape Him in any part of the earth, and none but Allāh could then help you. Of His signs are the ships moving in the sea like mountains — proof of His wondrous craft; if He willed He would still the wind and they would stand motionless on the surface; in this are signs for every steadfast, grateful believer (detailed under a like phrase in the last rukū` of Sūrah Luqmān). If He willed He would becalm the wind and halt the ships, or send a fierce wind and wreck their passengers for their deeds (kufr and the like), while passing over many — not drowning them now, so they be punished in the hereafter — and at that hour the disputers of Our signs would know there is no refuge for them, since in such times they too knew their supposed mushrik "protector" to be powerless.] · rukū` 5, para 25 · full-page Khulāṣa

Allāh has bound the universe into a firm order — a clear proof that a Wise, All-Aware Being runs it. The theme opens with His economic order in the world, and links to the earlier verses (that Allāh accepts the believers' worship, including the granting of their prayers): the objection that a Muslim often prays for some worldly aim which is not fulfilled is answered in the first of these verses — a person's every wish being granted is at times against his own individual or collective good, so when a prayer is seemingly unanswered, behind it lie the universe's great interests known only to the Wise, All-Knowing Creator; were every person given every kind of provision and blessing, the world's order could not run with wisdom (Tafsīr Kabīr). Some reports support this: the verse came about believers who, seeing the wealth of the disbelievers, wished the like — Baghawī reports Khabbāb ibn al-Aratt (raḍ.): seeing the wealth of Banū Qurayẓa, Banū Naḍīr and Banū Qaynuqā', a wish for riches arose in their hearts, and this verse came down; 'Amr ibn Ḥurayth (raḍ.): some of the Aṣḥāb al-Ṣuffah voiced to the Prophet ﷺ the wish that Allāh make them rich, and this verse came down (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī, etc.). [Box: a general abundance of wealth in the world is a cause of human corruption — had every person been given abundance of every provision and blessing, mutual transgression and strife would exceed all bounds, since with wealth abundant none needs another and none defers to another...] · rukū' 5, para 25 · Ma'ārif

PDF PAGE 700 · [Q 42:27 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il (Sūrah ash-Shūrā 42) — the more wealth grows, the more greed and craving grow, so that force is commonly used to seize others' property, and fighting, tyranny and other evils exceed all bounds. Hence Allāh, instead of giving every person every kind of provision and blessing, has distributed them so that one has more wealth, another more health and strength, another more beauty, another more knowledge and wisdom — so each depends on others in some things, and on this mutual need the edifice of civilization stands. "Wa lākin yunazzilu bi-qadarin mā yashā'" means He sends His blessings down upon the people of the world by a set measure. And "innahu bi-‘ibādihi khabīrun baṣīr" hints that Allāh knows well which blessing suits which person and which harms him; so He has given each fitting blessings, and any He has withheld He withheld for that person's good and the good of the wider world. It is not necessary that this wisdom be graspable by us, for each man thinks within the narrow circle of his limited knowledge, while before Allāh lie the interests of the whole universe — so reaching all His wisdoms is impossible. A tangible parallel: an upright head of state at times issues rulings that go against certain individuals, who suffer hardship thereby; one who thinks only within the narrow circle of his own interest may feel the ruler's act to be bad, but one who watches the condition of the whole nation, and knows the whole country cannot be sacrificed for one person's interest, does not think it bad. How then can the wisdoms of the One running the whole universe be encompassed? Keeping this point in mind dispels the doubts that arise in the world when one sees another struck by many afflictions. The verse also shows that equality of all mankind in wealth is neither possible nor desirable, nor do the created interests of the world's order call for it — fully detailed, in shā' Allāh, at Sūrah az-Zukhruf's verse "Naḥnu qasamnā baynahum ma'ishatahum..." (43:32).]

Daulat-mandī kī ek khāṣiyyat yih hai ki jitnī daulat baḥtī hai, itnā hī ḥirṣ wa hawas meñ bḥī idāfa hotā hai. Is kā lāzimī natīja yih hotā hai ki ek dūsre kī amlāk par qabḍa jamāne ke li'e zor wa zabardastī kā isti'māl 'ām ho jātā hai — laṛā'ī jhagrē, sar-kashī, aur dūsrī bad-a'māliyyān ḥadd se ziyāda baḥt jā'eñ.

Is li'e Allāh Ta'ālā ne har fard ko har qism kā rizq aur har qism kī ni'mat dene ke bajā'ē in ni'matoñ ko apnē bandoñ par is tarah taqṣīm kiya hai ki kisī ke pās māl wa daulat ziyāda hai, koī ṣiḥḥat wa quwwat meñ dūsre se baḥt huā hai, koī ḥusn wa jamāl se mālāmāl hai, kisī ke pās 'ilm wa ḥikmat kī daulat dūstroñ se ziyāda hai. Gharaḍ, har shakhṣ kisī na kisī chīz meñ, kisī na kisī chīz ke li'e, dūstroñ kā muḥtāj hai; aur isī bāhamī iḥtiyāj par tamaddun kī 'imārat qā'im hai.

"Wa lākin yunazzilu bi-qadarin mā yashā'" kā matlab yihī hai ki Allāh ne apnī ni'mateñ ek khāṣ andāze se dunyā ke logoñ par nāzil kī haiñ. Aur āge "innahu bi-'ibādihi khabīrun baṣīr" — bilā-shubha woh apnē bandoñ ko jānne wālā aur dekhne wālā hai — farmā kar is taraf bḥī ishāra kar diya ki Allāh Ta'ālā khūb jāntā hai ki kis shakhṣ ke li'e kaun sī ni'mat munāsib hai aur kaun sī nuqṣān-deh hai. Lihāzā us ne har shakhṣ ko munāsib ni'mateñ dī haiñ; aur agar kisī se koī ni'mat salb farmā'ī hai, to woh us kī aur dūsrē 'ālam kī maṣlaḥat hī kī bunā par salb kī hai.

Is kī ek maḥsūs naẓīr yih hai ki ek diyānat-dār sar-barāh-e-mamlakat ba'd auqāt aisē aḥkām jāri kartā hai jo ba'd afrād ke khilāf parṭe haiñ, aur woh un kī wajh se maṣā'ib kā shikār ho jāte haiñ. Jo shakhṣ is tarah maṣā'ib kā shikār huā hai, woh — chūnki ṣīrf apnē mafād ke maḥdūd dā'ire meñ rah kar sochtā rahtā hai — is li'e mumkin hai ki use sar-barāh-e-mamlakat kā yih iqdām burā maḥsūs ho. Lekin jo shakhṣ nigāh pūrē mulk wa qaum ke ḥālāt par rakhtā hai, aur jo yih samajhtā hai ki kisī ek shakhṣ ke mafād par pūrē mulk ko qurbān nahīn kiya jā saktā, woh is iqdām ko burā khyāl nahīn kartā.

Isī āyat se yih bḥ ma'lūm hotā hai ki dunyā ke tamām insānoñ kā māl wa daulat meñ musāwī honā na mumkin hai, na maṭlūb; aur na nizām-e-ālam kī takwīnī maṣlahateñ is kā taqāḍā kartī haiñ. Is mas'ale kī pūrī tafṣīl — inshā'allāh — Sūrah az-Zukhruf kī āyat "Naḥnu qasamnā baynahum ma'īshatahum..." (43:32) meñ ā rahī hai.

Answer: corruption in the world comes from the drives of greed and craving that generally grow alongside wealth; in Paradise the general "rain" of blessings will fall, but the drives of greed, craving and rebellion will be removed, so they will cause no corruption there — Ḥakīm-ul-Ummat Thānwī (rah.) added "bi-ḥālāt-e-maujūda" in the Khulāṣa to hint at this (Bayān al-Qur'ān). The further objection — why not end those drives in this world too — is idle, since the very purpose of creating the world is to make a realm compounded of the powers of both good and evil, without which the testing that is the real aim of creation is impossible; so ending those drives here would defeat that aim, whereas Paradise is pure good and so they are ended there.] "Huwa-l-ladhī yunazzilu-l-ghaytha min ba'di mā qanaṭū": Allāh's usual way is to send rain when the earth badly needs water, but "after they have despaired" hints that He sometimes delays it beyond the norm until people begin to despair — beyond testing, a warning that rain and its withholding are in His power; He withholds it for people's misdeeds, that they turn to His mercy in humble need — for if rain came at a fixed unvarying time, people would take it as bound to outward causes and heedless of His power. "Despair" here means despair of one's own devices; despair of Allāh's mercy itself is kufr. PDF PAGE 702 · [Q 42:29-30 · Ma’ārif o Masā’il (Sūrah ash-Shūrā 42) — "dābbah" in the heavens may mean the angels, or creatures still unknown to man; the point being that though Allāh has not given every person breadth of wealth but has distributed provision wisely, the universally beneficial blessings — rain, cloud, earth, sky, and their creatures — are made for the good of all men and all point to Allāh's oneness. Then: any hardship that reaches a person is by his own deeds, so instead of complaining of Allāh he should turn to confessing his own faults. On "Wa mā aṣābakum min muṣībatin fa-bimā kasabat aydikum wa yaʿfū ʿan kathīr": Ḥasan (raḍ.) reports that when this verse came the Prophet ﷺ swore, "By Him in whose hand is my soul, no scratch from a stick, no throb of a vein, no stumble of a foot befalls anyone but for his sins — and what Allāh pardons is far more than what He punishes." Ashraf al-Mashāʾikh (Thānwī, raḥ.): as bodily hurts come from sins, so inward diseases too are the fruit of some sin; one sin becomes the cause of falling into others — as Ibn al-Qayyim wrote in ad-Dāʾ wa-d-Dawāʾ, an immediate penalty of a sin is being drawn into further sins, just as an immediate reward of a good deed is that it draws another. Bayḍāwī and others: the verse is specific to those who can sin — the prophets (maʾṣūm), and children and the insane who commit no sin, are not covered by this ruling; their hardships have other causes and wisdoms, e.g. raising of ranks, whose reality man cannot encompass (wallāhu aʿlam). [Fāʾida: some ḥadīth reports establish that sins punished in this world are, for the believer, thereby pardoned in the hereafter — as Ḥākim (Mustadrak) and Baihaqī report marfūʿan from ʿAlī (karrama-llāhu wajhahu) (Maḥzarī).] · rukūʿ 5, para 25 · Maʿārif

PDF PAGE 704 · [Q 42:36-43 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (Sūrah ash-Shūrā 42) — you have heard that the seeker of the world does not have every worldly wish fulfilled and is deprived of the hereafter, while the seeker of the hereafter has his hereafter increased; and that much worldly enjoyment ends badly, often breeding harmful deeds. So the world is not fit to be the aim — the hereafter is; whatever of worldly things you have been given is only for the brief use of this life, ending with the end of your span. What is with Allāh is better in kind, greater in quantity, and lasting. So leave seeking the world and seek the hereafter: its minimum condition is faith and forsaking kufr; for its full ranks, all obligations must be taken up and all sins left; for the ranks of nearness, voluntary acts of obedience are taken up and even the sub-optimal permissible things are given up as unbeloved. This detail of reward and forbearance is for those who believe and rely on their Lord, who shun the major sins and indecencies in particular, and forgive when angered; who answered their Lord, keep up ṣalāh, decide every important matter with no fixed divine ruling by mutual consultation, and spend of what We gave them; and who, being just, take only an equal recompense when wronged — not more — though this does not mean they never pardon. The recompense of an injury is an injury like it, provided the recompense is not itself a sin; but whoever pardons and mends the mutual affair (so enmity ceases and friendship comes) — his reward is with Allāh by His promise; and whoever would take revenge, let him know Allāh does not love the wrongdoers. One who defends himself after being wronged with an equal recompense — no blame on him. Blame is only on those who wrong people (whether first, or in the name of revenge) and stalk the land in arrogant rebellion without right — this pride being itself the cause of wrongdoing, and rebellion and pride are always "without right"; for such there is a painful, appointed punishment. Khulāṣa close: one who bears the wrong patiently and forgives — that is indeed of the great matters of firm resolve, better and more excellent, what ūlū-l-‘azm calls for. MA‘ĀRIF: these verses state that the world's blessings are deficient and perishable, while the hereafter's are complete and lasting; the foremost condition for the hereafter's blessings is faith — without it none receives them there — but with faith, if righteous deeds are also fully seen to, those blessings come from the outset, else after the punishment of one's sins. So the first condition named is "alladhīna āmanū", then particular deeds are mentioned without which, by the (normal) rule, the blessings do not come from the start; "by the rule" because Allāh, bound by no law, could pardon all sins and give the hereafter's blessings from the outset to the greatest sinner. The qualities stressed here: (1) "‘alā rabbihim yatawakkalūn" — relying on their Lord in every matter and state, holding none but Him the true Guardian. (2) "alladhīna yajtanibūna kabā’ira-l-ithmi wa-l-fawāḥish" — shunning the major sins, and especially the shameful deeds, beforehand. (Kabīra is detailed in Sūrah an-Nisā’; the author has also listed all major and minor sins in a short treatise published as "Gunāh-e-be-Lazzat".) All sins were included in "kabā’ir"; singling out "fawāḥish" is because the sin of shameful deeds is graver than ordinary major sins, is a contagious disease affecting others, and covers acts involving indecency — zinā and its preliminaries — and evil deeds done openly and with display, whose harm is most severe and corrupts the whole of human society.] · rukū‘ 5, para 25 · Khulāṣa tail + Ma‘ārif hum yaghfirūn": when angered, they forgive — the highest model of good character, for love or anger, when they prevail, blind and deafen even the sensible and learned so that he loses the capacity to weigh lawful, unlawful, even falsehood, and the consequences of his acts; the object of the one angered becomes to vent his anger as far as he can. Allāh describes the believers and righteous as not merely keeping within the bounds of right in anger, but forgiving even when the right is theirs. (4) "alladhīna-stajābū li-rabbihim wa aqāmu-ṣ-ṣalāt": "istijābah" = to be ready to accept at once, without question or delay, whatever command comes from Allāh, and act on it whether it suits one's temperament or not — this includes discharging all the obligations of Islam and abstaining from all forbidden and disliked things; but since ṣalāh is the foremost obligation and acting on it brings the tawfīq to keep the other obligations and shun the forbidden, it is singled out: "wa aqāmu-ṣ-ṣalāt" — they perform ṣalāh correctly with all its wājibāt and ādāb. (5) "wa amruhum shūrā baynahum": their affairs are settled by mutual consultation ("shūrā", a maṣḍar; the phrase = "zū shūrā") — in the weighty matters where the sharī'ah has fixed no specific ruling; "weighty" is implied by "amr" itself, which in usage is used for matters of importance (detailed under "wa shāwirhum fi-l-amr", Āl 'Imrān). This covers affairs of state and government as well as important general matters. Ibn Kathīr: consultation in the state's weighty affairs is wājib; in Islam even the choice of the Amīr rests on consultation — it ended the personal monarchies of the age of ignorance in which rule passed by inheritance, laying the basis of a true republicanism; yet, unlike Western democracy, it does not leave the public every kind of power — some restrictions are placed on the Ahl al-Shūrā, so Islam's system of governance is a most balanced order distinct from both personal monarchy and Western democracy (detailed in Ma'ārif-ul-Qur'ān vol. 2, pp. 215–222)...] · rukū' 5, para 25 · Ma'ārif

42) — Imām Jaṣṣāṣ (Aḥkām al-Qur‘ān): this verse makes the importance of consultation clear, and we are ordered not to act with haste or self-opinion in such weighty matters, but to move after consulting people of reason and insight. [Box — the importance of consultation and its method:] Khaṭīb

Baghdādī reports from ‘Alī (raḍ.) that he asked the Messenger ﷺ how to act, after him, in a matter on which the Qur‘ān gave no ruling and no cōmmand from the Prophet ﷺ had reached them; he said: "Ijma‘ ū lahu-l-‘ābidīna min ummatī, wa-j‘alūhu baynakum shūrā, wa lā taqḍū bi-ra‘yi wāḥid" (Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī, from Khaṭīb) — gather the worshippers of my ummah for it, make it a

Some wordings say "fuqahā' wa 'ābidīn", so consultation should be with those who are fuqahā' — of religious understanding — and devout. The author of Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī: consultation not on this pattern, but among ignorant, irreligious people, will have its whims' corruption overcome its reform. Baihaqī (Shu'ab al-Īmān) from Ibn 'Umar (raḍ.): the Messenger ﷺ said that whoever intends a matter and acts on it after consultation, Allāh guides him to the soundest course. Likewise Bukhārī (al-Adab al-Mufrad) and 'Abd ibn Ḥumayd (Musnad) from Ḥasan (raḍ.), who recited this verse and said: "Mā tashāwara qawmun qaṭṭu illā huddū li-arshadi amrihim" — no people ever consult but that they are guided to the most upright of their affair. [Ḥadīth: so long as your rulers are the best of you, your rich are generous, and your affairs are settled by mutual consultation, remaining on the earth (alive) is better for you; but when your rulers become the worst of your people, your rich become misers, and your affairs are handed to women...] · rukū' 5, para 25 · Ma'ārif

(6) "mimmā razaqnāhum yunfiqūn": they spend of Allāh's provision on good works — covering zakāh and both obligatory and voluntary ṣadaqāt. In the Qur'ān's usual style, the mention of zakāh follows straight after ṣalāh; here the matter of consultation was placed between them — perhaps hinting that the five-times gathering in the masjids for ṣalāh can also serve for consulting on matters that need consultation (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī). (7) "wa-lladhīna izā aṣābahumu-l-baghyu hum yantaṣirūn": when wronged they take an equal revenge, not exceeding equality — this elaborates the third quality (forgiving one's opponent), since cases arise where pardon increases mischief and revenge is better; the rule being that where revenge is judged the wiser course, one must not go beyond equality, else one becomes the wrongdoer oneself. Hence "wa jazā'u sayyi'atin sayyi'atun mithluhā" — the recompense of an evil is an equal evil: inflict exactly the loss, financial or bodily, that was inflicted, of the same kind — provided the "evil" is not itself a sin: if someone forced wine on you, you may not force wine on him in return. Though equal recompense is permitted, it is further said "fa-man 'afā wa aṣlaḥa fa-ajruhu 'alā-llāh" — whoever pardons and takes the path of reconciliation, his reward is with Allāh — guiding that pardon is the more excellent (in this world); the next two verses give further detail. The other verse mentioning the blind is about the time of the Gathering, and this scene is after it. The believers, in gratitude for their own deliverance and to reproach them, will say: the utter losers are those who lost themselves and their kin this Day of Resurrection (explained in the second rukū‘ of Sūrah az-Zumar). Remember, the wrongdoers — the mushrik and kāfir — are in a lasting punishment, never ending; and there they have no helpers to aid them apart from Allāh; and whom Allāh sends astray has no way at all — no excuse, no one's help, nothing. Then the individuals among the disbelievers are addressed: O people, now that you have heard these dreadful conditions of Qiyāmah, accept your Lord's command (faith, etc.) before a Day comes there is no turning back of, from Allāh — for unlike the world where punishment is lifted, in the hereafter there will be no such possibility; you will find no refuge that Day, and none to intercede or object on your behalf. And O Prophet ﷺ, convey this to them; then if they turn away and do not believe, do not grieve — We did not send you as a keeper over them (accountable for why such things issued from them under your watch); your task is only to convey, which you are doing. The cause of their turning from the truth is a weak bond with Allāh, its sign being: when We let such a man taste something of Our favour he exults and rejoices in it (not thanking the Bestower), and when a calamity befalls him for the evil deeds his own hands sent ahead, he turns ungrateful.] · rukū‘ 6, para 25 · full-page Khulāṣa

Then tawḥīd again: to Allāh belongs all the dōminion of the heavens and the earth; He creates what He wills — grants daughters to whom He wills, sons to whom He wills, or couples both for whom He wills, and keeps whom He wills childless; He is All-Knowing, All-Powerful. MA'ĀRIF: the opening verses tell the end of those who, unlike the righteous believers, sought only the world's pleasure and ease rather than the hereafter; then "istajībū li-rabbikum" counsels them to repent and believe before the punishment of Qiyāmah; then the Prophet ﷺ is consoled that if, despite his repeated conveying and effort, they do not come to their senses, he should not grieve — the meaning of "fa-in a'raḍū fa-mā arsalnāka 'alayhim ḥafīẓā". The closing verses, from "li-llāhi mulku-s-samāwāt" onward, call to tawḥīd by the perfect power and far-reaching wisdom seen in the creation of the universe, in which none shares with Him; after the creation of the heavens and earth a rule of power is stated — "yakhluqu mā yashā'" — He has full power to make anything great or small, and creates what He wills when He wills. In this connection human procreation is mentioned: "yahabu li-man yashā'u ināthan..." — in man's creation no one's will, choice, even knowledge or awareness plays any part; the parents who are its outward cause have no say in it, their own wills and...] · rukū' 6, para 25 · Khulāṣa tail + Ma'ārif veil (as Mūsā ‘alaihi-s-salām heard), or by sending an angel who conveys by His leave what He wills; for He is Most High — none can converse with Him unless He grants the power — yet also Most Wise, so for His servants' good He has fixed these three modes. Thus by the same rule He revealed to the Prophet ﷺ His command and made him a prophet; a revelation such that before it he did not know what the Book was, nor what the fullest degree of faith is — but We gave him prophethood and the Qur’ān (though the essence of faith a prophet has even before prophethood), and made the Qur’ān a light — for him first, for others second — by which he attained great knowledge and lofty states, and by which We guide whom We will among Our servants. So there is no doubt of its greatness; whoever chooses to stay blind is deprived of its benefit, indeed denies it, like these objectors — and none is its like: by this Qur’ān and this revelation the Prophet ﷺ is guiding the people to a straight path, the path of the God to whom belongs all that is in the heavens and the earth; and (the reward and punishment of those who accept and reject these rulings) — remember all matters return to Him, and He will requite all. MA‘ĀRIF: the first of these verses came in answer to an obstinate demand of the Jews (Baghawī, Qurṭubī): they said to the Messenger ﷺ, how shall we believe in you when you neither see Allāh nor speak with Him face to face, as Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) spoke and saw Allāh? The Messenger ﷺ said it is wrong to say Mūsā saw Allāh; this verse came down, its upshot being that speaking with Allāh face to face is not possible for any human in this world — Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) himself did not speak with Allāh face to face...] · rukū‘ 7, para 25 · full-page Khulāṣa + Ma‘ārif

The verse states that Allāh's speaking to any human can be only in three ways: (1) "waḥyan" — casting a meaning into the heart; this can be while awake or in sleep as a dream — as many aḥādīth report the Prophet ﷺ saying "alqiya fī rū‘ī" ("this was cast into my heart"), and the dreams of prophēts are also revelation, into which no satanic interference can enter; here the words are generally not from Allāh, only a meaning enters the heart which the prophet expresses in his own words. (2) "min warā’i ḥijāb" — hearing speech while awake from behind a veil, as befell Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām), who heard Allāh's speech without seeing Him — hence to his request "rabbi arinī anẓur ilayk" the answer was "lan tarānī". This veil that bars a human in the world from the vision of the Truth is nothing that could conceal the Truth — for His all-encompassing light nothing can conceal — rather the weakness of man's very constitution is the veil; so in Paradise, when that constitution is strengthened, every dweller will be honoured with the vision, as is the madhhab of Ahl al-Sunnah wa-l-Jamā‘ah per authentic aḥādīth. This rule concerns the world — no human here can speak with Allāh face-to-face, i.e. without a veil; "human" is specified because the talk was about humans, though apparently even the angels do not have face-to-face speech with Allāh

— as Tirmidhī reports Jibrā'īl (‘alaihi-s-salām) saying, "I had drawn very near, yet still seventy thousand veils remained between me and Him." And if the Prophet's ﷺ face-to-face speech with the Truth on the Night of Mi‘rāj is established (as some scholars hold), it does not conflict, for that was not in this world but in the world of the heavens — wallāhu a‘lam. (3) "aw yursila rasūlan" — sending an angel, such as Jibrā'īl (‘alaihi-s-salām), with His speech to recite to the Messenger; this has been the general mode — the whole Qur‘ān came down thus, through the angels. In this detail "waḥy" is taken only in the sense of "casting into the heart".] · rukū‘ 7, para 25 · full-page Ma‘ārif

Ya‘nī jāgtē hue koī kalām pas-e-parda sunē — jaise Ḥaḍrat Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) ko woh pesh āyā ki woh Allāh Ta‘ālā kī kalām sunē, magar ziyārat nahīn huī. Isī li‘e (ziyārat) na hone se un kī ziyārat kī darkhwāst — "Rabbi arinī anḥur ilayk" — kī jawāb nafī meñ diyā gayā: "Lan tarānī".

Aur yih ḥijāb, jo insān ko dunyā meñ Ḥaqq Ta‘ālā kī ziyārat se mānī‘ hai, koī aisī chīz nahīn jo Ḥaqq Ta‘ālā ko ḥaīpā saktī ho — kyonki us ke nūr-e-muḥīṭ ko koī chīz nahīn ḥaīpā saktī. Isī li‘e Jannat meñ, jabki us kī buniyādī quwwat qawī kar dī jā‘ē gī, to wahān har jannatī Ḥaqq Ta‘ālā kī ziyārat se musharraf hogā — jaisā ki aḥādīṣ-e-ṣaḥīḥa kī taṣrīḥ ke muṭābiq Ahl-e-Sunnat wal-Jamā‘at kī mazhab hai.

Aur insān کى takhshīsh kalām meñ is li‘e hai ki guftagū insān hī ke muta‘alliq thī — warna zāhir yih hai ki farishton se بھى Allāh Ta‘ālā kā kalām bi-l-mushāfaha nahīn hotā — jaisā ki Tirmidhī کى riwāyat meñ Jibrā‘īl (‘alaihi-s-salām) se manqūl hai ki "main bahut qarīb ho gayā thā, aur phir بھى mere aur us ke darmiyān sattar hazār ḥijāb rah ga‘le the."

Aur Shab-e-Mi‘rāj meñ Rasūlullāh ﷺ kā Ḥaqq Ta‘ālā se bi-l-mushāfaha kalām agar sābit ho jā‘le — jaisā ki ba‘ḍ ‘ulamā kā qaul hai — to woh is ke munāfi nahīn; kyonki woh kalām is ‘ālam meñ nahīn thā, ‘ālam-e-samāwāt meñ thā. — Wallāhu a‘lam.

"waḥy" is used here for "casting into the heart", the word is also used broadly for every kind of divine speech — as in a long ḥadīth of Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī, speech through an angel is counted among the kinds of waḥy. Further detail: the waḥy that comes through an angel is itself of two forms — sometimes the angel is in its own real form, sometimes it comes in human shape (wallāhu subḥānahu wa ta‘ālā a‘lam). On "Mā kunta tadrī mā-l-kitābu wa lā-l-īmān": this completes the first verse's theme — no one has, or can have, face-to-face speech in the world; Allāh sends His revelation to His chosen servants by the three modes named, and by that same divine way it is sent to the Prophet ﷺ. The Jews' demand (why does he not speak with Allāh face to face?) was merē ignorance and obstinacy; hence it is said that whatever knowledge any human, even a Messenger, ever receives is Allāh's gift, and until Allāh informs them by revelation they can know neither the Book nor the details of faith. Not knowing the Book before revelation is obvious; "not knowing īmān" means not knowing the details and laws of faith, or the highest station of faith attained through servitude-in-revelation, before the revelation — for by the ijmā‘ of the ummah, one whom Allāh makes His Messenger and prophet is created upon faith from the start, his nature built on faith, a believer even as a child before prophethood and the descent of revelation, the roots of faith part of his very disposition and creation.

This is why, though the nations opposed all the prophets with every kind of accusation, no nation ever accused a prophet of having worshipped idols like them before his claim to prophethood. Qurṭubī (in his tafsīr) and Qāḍī ‘Iyāḍ (in ash-Shifā‘) have written this theme in full detail.] · rukū‘ 7, para 25

43) — Khulāṣa: being of the highest rank and full of wise themes by its i'jāz, such a Book must surely be accepted; yet even if you do not accept it, by the demand of Our wisdom We shall not stop sending it and addressing you with it — "shall We withhold the Reminder from you merely because you are a people who transgress and do not accept it?" — whether you accept or not, the counsel will be given equally, and this grace-flow will continue, that the believers may benefit and the proof stand against you. We kept sending many prophets to the former peoples despite their denial (the chain of prophethood did not stop for their rejection), and — O Prophet ﷺ, as We did not mind their denial, so you should not mind or grieve — for those former peoples too: no prophet came to them but they mocked him, then We destroyed those stronger in power than these people of Makka (in punishment of denial and mockery), and the case of the earlier peoples has already come to pass — so do not grieve that these will meet the like (as at Badr and elsewhere), nor let them be heedless, for the precedent is there. MA'ĀRIF: this sūrah is Makkī, though Muqātil holds the verse "wa-s'al man arsalnā..." (43:45) is Madanī; one view is that it was sent down in the heavens on the Night of Mi'rāj (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī); wallāhu a'lam. On "wa-l-kitābi-l-mubīn": the oath is by the Qur'ān; when Allāh swears by a thing, that thing is generally a proof of what follows — here swearing by the Qur'ān hints that the Qur'ān is, by its own i'jāz, the proof of its truth. Calling it "clear" (mubīn) means its themes of exhortation and counsel are readily grasped; but as for deriving shar'ī rulings from it, that is undoubtedly a hard task, not to be done without full competence in ijtihād — as made clear elsewhere by "wa la-qad yassarnā-l-qur'āna li-z-zikri fa-hal min muddakir" (We have made the Qur'ān easy for taking heed): it is easy for heed-taking, so it does not follow that ijtihād and istinbāt from it are easy; other proofs establish that full mastery of the relevant sciences is a condition for that work.] · rukū' 1, para 25 · Khulāṣa ends, Ma'ārif begins

To prove tawḥīd further, Allāh states His acts that point to it: He made the earth a spread-out floor on which you rest, and made in it paths so you can reach your destinations; He sent down water from the sky by a set measure, by His will and wisdom, and revived the dead land with it — and by this, besides proving tawḥīd, know that you too will be brought forth from your graves. He made all the kinds (in their various genera and species), and made for you the ships and cattle you ride, that you may sit firmly on their backs; then, when settled on them, remember your Lord's favour in your heart and say with the tongue: Glory to Him who subjected this to us — we could not have subdued it, being no stronger than an animal and, without divine inspiration, not knowing how to sail a ship; Allāh taught the means for both — and to our Lord we return. Yet, despite the clear proofs of tawḥīd, these people cling to shirk — and how vile: they call the angels God's daughters and worship them. One corruption: they made a portion of Him from His created servants, though a "part" of God is rationally impossible — such a man is plainly ungrateful, committing so great a kufr as to make God one with a part, which would entail (God forbid) His being originated. A second corruption: they think a girl deficient, then assign daughters to God — did God, in your claim, choose daughters for Himself and single you out with sons? — while you hold girls so despicable that when one of you is given news of a daughter, his face stays gloomy all day and he chokes inwardly with grief. This was the argumentative refutation of their false belief (elaborated in Sūrah aṣ-Ṣāffāt); next the substantive refutation — being a girl is in itself no disgrace or shame...] · rukū‘ 2, para 25 · full-page Khulāṣa

PDF PAGE 722 · [Q 43:18-23 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (Sūrah az-Zukhruf 43) — no doubt a girl is, by her original make, of lesser intellect and weaker judgement (which is the customary point of shame): so did God choose for offspring one reared amid adornment — whose inclination to jewellery and adornment follows, and whose necessary result is immature reason and judgement — and who, from that weakness of intellect, lacks force of expression in dispute (women being generally less able than men to state what is in their mind with force and clarity, often speaking incompletely and mixing in irrelevant matter). Those are two corruptions. The third — the shirk entailed — is the notion that they made the angels, who are God's created servants, into His females merely because the angels are unseen, so no attribute of theirs can be known without Allāh's telling, and Allāh did not say the angels are female; they fixed it without proof — with no rational or transmitted evidence — so it would need eye-witness: were they present at the angels' creation, watching? Plainly they did not witness the angels' creation, so their foolish claim is exposed; this baseless claim is recorded in the register of deeds and they will be questioned about it on Qiyāmah. As for the angels being worshipped: these people say, had Allāh willed (been pleased) that the angels not be worshipped, i.e. displeased with it, we would never have worshipped them — "look, He did not stop us, indeed did not forcibly prevent us, so He is pleased with the worship." Their refutation: they have no knowledge of this — Allāh's giving His servants power over an act is no proof that He is pleased with it, as detailed at "sa-yaqūlu-lladhīna ashrakū..." (para 8). Now, have We given them a Book before this (Qur'ān) that they argue from it? In truth they have neither rational nor transmitted proof, only imitation of their fathers — "we found our fathers on a way and we follow their footsteps" — presenting an ancient custom, without proof and against proof, as their authority. That cattle are a blessing is plain: they are many times stronger than man, yet Allāh has tamed them before him so that even a child, putting a bit in the mouth or a nose-ring, leads them where he wills. Likewise the vehicles man builds — from an aircraft to an ordinary bicycle — are a great blessing of Allāh: though outwardly man made them, who but Allāh taught the methods of their making? [Box — the du‘ās at the time of travel: "Subḥāna-lladhī sakhkhara lanā hādhā..." is the du‘ā to recite on mounting; the Prophet ﷺ used to say these words when mounting, and the full recommended way (from ‘Alī raḍ.): say "Bismillāh" as the foot is placed, then "al-Ḥamdu li-llāh" once mounted, then the words from "Subḥāna-lladhī sakhkhara lanā hādhā" to "la-munqalibūn" (Qurṭubī). It is also related that on setting out on a journey he ﷺ would add: "Allāhumma anta-ṣ-ṣāhibu fi-s-safar wa-l-khalīfatu fi-l-ahli wa-l-māl. "Wa innā ilā rabbīnā la-munqalibūn": teaches that at every worldly journey one should recall the hard journey of the hereafter that must come, and that no conveyance will carry one easily through it but righteous deeds. PDF PAGE 726 · [Q 43:26-30 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr + Ma‘ārif o Masā‘il begins (Sūrah az-Zukhruf 43) — Khulāṣa: Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) said, I am free of what you worship; only Him who created me — He made me, and He guides me to the good of my dīn and world. So these people should recall his state: he held tawḥīd, and left it a lasting word among his descendants by his bequest — its effect lasting in Arabia even into the age of ignorance, so that some Arabs even then hated shirk; he made that bequest so that, in every age, the mushrikīn might, on hearing the tawḥīd of the muwaḥḥidīn, turn back from shirk. Yet these people do not turn back or heed; rather I let them and their fathers enjoy the world's goods (absorbed and heedless in it) until the true Qur'ān — whose i'jāz is its own proof of truth — and a clearly-explaining messenger came to them; and when it came and its i'jāz appeared, they said: this is magic, and we do not accept it. MA'ĀRIF: on "wa iz qāla Ibrāhīm...": the earlier verses stated that the Arab mushrikīn have no proof for shirk but their fathers' customs, and how far from justice it is to insist on mere imitation against clear rational and transmitted proofs. These verses hint: if you would walk your forefathers' road, why not walk the road of Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām), your noblest ancestor, whose kinship you count a matter of pride? He not only held tawḥīd and bequeathed it to his children, but his own conduct shows that mere imitation of forefathers is not permitted when clear proofs are present: when he was raised, his whole people were sunk in shirk following their forefathers, yet he followed the clear proofs instead of blind imitation and declared his disavowal of his people: "innanī barā'un mim mā ta'budūn." It also shows that if a person lives among a group of wrong deed or belief, and silence would risk his being counted one of them, then merely...]

MA'ĀRIF: it is not enough to set one's own belief and deed right; one must also declare disavowal of that group's beliefs and deeds — Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) not only kept his beliefs and deeds distinct in practice from the mushrikīn but voiced his disavowal openly. On "wa ja‘alahā kalimatan baqiyatan fī ‘aqibihi": he did not confine tauḥīd to himself but bequeathed it to his descendants — so a large number of his line were muwaḥḥidīn, and at the Prophet's ﷺ time there were still, in and around Makka, sound-natured men holding to Ibrāhīm's (‘alaihi-s-salām) original dīn after centuries. It also shows that striving to set one's children upon the true dīn and keep them on it is among a person's duties — the Qur’ān tells, of Ya‘qūb (‘alaihi-s-salām) as of Ibrāhīm, that at death he charged his sons to hold to the true dīn. So devoting one's full effort to reforming children's deeds and character, in whatever way possible, is both necessary and the sunnah of the prophets. Among the many methods, Shaykh ‘Abd al-Waḥhāb al-Sha‘rānī (rah.) wrote in Laṭā’if al-Minan wa-l-Akhlāq that the most effective is for parents to be diligent in du‘ā for their children's religious reform — a matter now widely neglected, whose ill outcome parents themselves keep witnessing. v.31: "And they said: why was this Qur'ān not sent down on a great man of the two towns?" v.32: "Is it they who apportion your Lord's mercy? 43) — Khulāṣa: that was what the disbelievers said about the Qur’ān; about the Messenger ﷺ they said, if this Qur’ān is divine speech come as messengership, why was it not sent down on some great man of the two towns, Makka and Ṭā’if? (as if a messenger must be great in status, and the Prophet ﷺ, having no wealth or rule, cannot be a prophet). Allāh refutes this doubt: Is it they who would apportion your Lord's mercy (specifically prophethood) — wishing prophethood to go by their opinion, as though its distribution were in their hands — mere folly? For in worldly life it is We who apportioned their livelihood, and in that distribution raised some above others so that they take service of one another and the world's order stands. And plainly, your Lord's mercy — prophethood — is far better than the worldly goods, rank and office that these people keep amassing. So when We did not leave even the distribution of worldly livelihood — a lowly thing — to their opinion, how would prophethood — itself of the highest rank, with the most immense interests — be apportioned by their opinion! MA‘ĀRIF: these verses answer an objection of the Arab mushrikīn against the Prophet's ﷺ messengership. In fact they were not even prepared to accept that Allāh's messenger could be a human at all — an objection the Qur’ān mentions repeatedly: how shall we take Muḥammad ﷺ as a messenger when he eats, drinks and walks the markets like ordinary men? When many verses made clear this is not peculiar to him ﷺ but all the prophets who ever came were human, they shifted the objection: if prophethood were to be entrusted to a human, the Prophet ﷺ is not, in financial terms, a man of great standing — why was this office not given to some wealthy, high-ranking man of Makka or Ṭā’if rather than to him? Per the reports, they named al-Walīd ibn al-Mughīra and ‘Utba ibn Rabī‘a of Makka, and ‘Urwa ibn Mas‘ūd al-Thaqafī, Ḥabīb ibn ‘Amr al-Thaqafī, or Kināna ibn ‘Abd Yālīl of Ṭā’if (Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī).] · rukū‘ 3, para 25 · full-page Khulāṣa + Ma‘ārif not; the distribution of prophethood is not in your hands, that your opinion be sought before making a prophet — it is entirely in Allāh's hand, done according to His immense wise purposes. Your being, reason and awareness do not even have the capacity for so great a task; indeed your standing cannot even bear the distribution of your own livelihood and means of subsistence being entrusted to you — for We know that if it were, you could not run the order of the world for a single day and the whole arrangement would fall into chaos. So Allāh did not place even the distribution of your worldly livelihood upon you, but kept the work of apportioning subsistence in His own hand. When this lowly task cannot be handed to you, how would the distribution of prophethood — so immense a task — be handed to you? That is the verses' whole intent, but in answering the mushrikīn Allāh gives hints about the world's economic order from which several economic principles are derived — a brief explanation is needed here. [Box — the natural system of distributing subsistence: "naḥnu qasamnā baynahum ma'īshatahum" — by His far-reaching wisdom Allāh made the world's order such that every person depends on another's help for his needs, and all people, bound in this mutual need, meet the needs of the whole society. The verse states plainly that Allāh did not entrust the work of distributing subsistence (as socialism does) to any authoritative human body that would, by planning, decide what society's needs are, how to meet them, in what proportions and on what work the means of production are to be used, and on what basis income is to be distributed among them; instead He kept all this in His own hand, which means He made the world's order itself one in which each is made dependent on another, so that — where no unnatural obstructions are created by monopolists and the like — the order itself solves all these problems. This system of mutual need is called, in current economic terms, the system of "supply and demand". Its natural law: when a thing's supply is scarce and demand high, its price rises, so the means of production, seeing more profit, turn toward producing it; and when supply...] · rukū' 3, para 25 · full-page Ma'ārif

PDF PAGE 730 · [Q 43:32 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il (Sūrah az-Zukhruf 43) — when supply exceeds demand the price falls, so further production of that thing is no longer profitable and the means of production shift to some other, more needed work. Islam has had the production and distribution of wealth carried out through these natural forces of "supply and demand", and in ordinary conditions did not hand the work of "distributing subsistence" to any human body — because however advanced the methods of planning, they cannot encompass every particular need of subsistence, and such social matters generally run under this natural order. Most social matters of life are settled naturally and of themselves, and handing them to government planning only creates an artificial rigidity: that day is for work and night for sleep was not fixed by any social contract or human planning but decided of itself by nature's automatic order; likewise who marries whom is settled of itself by the natural order of temperamental compatibilities, and no one thought to solve it by planning; and which branch of knowledge or craft a person makes his field is better left to natural taste and aptitude than forced by government planning, which could throw the natural order into disorder. So nature has kept the economic order too in its own hand, placing in each heart the work most suited to him and which he can do best, so that each — whatever his form — is content with his work and takes pride in it: "kullu ḥizbin bimā ladayhim fariḥūn." Yet unlike the capitalist system, Islam did not give individuals such freedom that they amass wealth by any means, lawful or not, and shut the doors of provision on others; rather it distinguished lawful from unlawful in sources of income, forbidding interest, speculation, gambling and hoarding; then imposed on lawful income the dues of zakāh, 'ushr and the like, checking the evils found in the present capitalist system; and where monopolies do arise, it allows government intervention to break them (details in the author's treatises Mas'ala-e-Sūd, Islām kā Nizām-e-Taqsīm-e-Dawlat, and Islāmī Nizām mein Ma'āshī Islāḥāt). "Wa rafa‘nā ba‘ḍahum fawqa ba‘ḍin darajāt" (aur ham ne ek ko dūsre par darj ۷ meñ baland kiyā) ... (jārī, PDF p.731)

PDF PAGE 731 · [Q 43:32 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il (Sūrah az-Zukhruf 43) — "wa rafa‘nā ba‘ḍahum fawqa ba‘ḍin darajāt": economic equality (in the sense that all people's incomes be exactly equal) is neither aimed at nor practicable. Allāh has laid on every member of creation certain duties and given certain rights, keeping a wise proportion: the more duties one bears, the more rights one has. Non-human creatures bear the fewest duties — not being liable for shar‘ī lawful/unlawful — so they have the fewest rights: man is given wide freedom over them, to slaughter and eat some, ride some, tread on some, without its being counted a violation of their rights. Most duties fall on humans and jinn, answerable before Allāh for every word, deed and movement, and liable to the punishment of the hereafter if they fail — so they are given far more rights than other creatures. Among humans too, one whose responsibility and duties exceed others' has more rights; the prophets bear the greatest responsibility and were given the most rights. In the economic order Allāh kept the same principle: each is given economic rights in proportion to the duties he takes on. And uniformity of duties is quite impossible — disparity in them is unavoidable, since economic functions and duties rest on people's natural capacities: bodily strength, health, mental powers, age, level of intellect, agility. Anyone can see with open eyes that producing uniformity and equality in these attributes is beyond even a highly advanced socialist government. When disparity in human capacities is unavoidable, disparity in duties is necessarily so too; and since economic rights rest on those duties, disparity in economic rights — i.e. income — is also unavoidable. For if all incomes were made exactly equal while duties differed, justice could never stand: some people's income would exceed their duties and some fall short of theirs — plain injustice. So it is clear that complete equality of income...]

"Wa rafa‘nā ba‘ḍahum fawqa ba‘ḍin darajāt" (aur ham ne ek ko dūsre par darj‘ān meñ baland kar rakhā hai) — is se ma‘lūm huā ki ma‘āshī musāwāt — is ma‘nī meñ ki dunyā ke tamām afrād ke āmadanī bilkul barābar ho — na maṭlūb hai, na mumkin-ul-‘amal.

Is ke tafṣīl yih hai ki Allāh Ta‘ālā ne is kā‘ināt ke har rukn par kuchh farā’id ‘ā’id kḥaiñ, aur kuchh ḥuqūq diye haiñ; aur donoñ meñ apni ḥikmat se yih tanāsub qā’im rakhā hai ki jic ke zimme jitne farā’id haiñ, us ke utne hī ḥuqūq haiñ.

Insān ke ‘ilāwa jitnī makhlūqāt haiñ un ke zimme farā’id sab se kam haiñ — kyonki woh shar‘an ḥalāl wa ḥarām aur jā’iz wa nā-jā’iz ke mukallaf nahīñ. Is li’e un ke ḥuqūq bḥī sab se kam haiñ. Chunāñchi insān ko un ke mu‘āmale meñ wasī‘ āzādī ‘aṭā ke gaī hai ki woh un se chand ma‘mūlī sī pābandiyon ke sāth jic tarah chāḥe naf‘ uṭhā saktā hai — chunāñchi ba‘ḍ ḥaywānāt ko woh kāṭ kar khā tā hai, ba‘ḍ par sawār ho tā hai, ba‘ḍ makhlūqāt ko pāmāl kartā hai — magar use in makhlūqāt ke ḥaqq-talfī nahīñ samjhā jātā; is li’e ki in makhlūqāt par farā’id kam haiñ, is li’e un ke ḥuqūq bḥī bahut kam haiñ.

Phir kā‘ināt meñ sab se ziyāda farā’id insān aur jinnāt par ‘ā’id kḥaiñ ga’ haiñ ki woh apne har qaul wa fi‘l aur har naql wa ḥarakat meñ Allāh Ta‘ālā ke sāmne jawāb-deh haiñ, aur agar apni zimma-dāriyān pūrī na karen to ākhirat ke ‘azāb ke mustaḥiq haiñ. Is li’e Allāh Ta‘ālā ne insān aur jinnāt ko ḥuqūq bḥī dūsarī makhlūqāt ke muqābale meñ kahīñ ziyāda ‘aṭā kḥaiñ.

Phir insānon meñ bḥī yih liḥāz hai ki jic ke zimma-dārī aur farā’id dūsron se ziyāda haiñ, us ke ḥuqūq bḥī zā’id haiñ. Insānon meñ sab se ziyāda zimma-dārī anbiyā (‘alaihimu-s-salām) par ‘ā’id hotī hai; chunāñchi un ko bahut se ḥuqūq bḥī dūsron se zā’id ‘aṭā kḥaiñ ga’ haiñ.

farā' id meñ yaksāniyyat kā paidā honā bilkul nā-mumkin hai, aur un meñ tafāwut nā-guzīr hai. Aisā hargiz nahīn ho saktā ki har shakhṣ ke ma'āshī waṣā'if wa farā' id dūsroñ se bilkul musāwī hon — is li'e ki ma'āshī waṣā'if wa farā' id insānoñ kī fiṭrī ṣalāḥiyyatoñ par mauqūf haiñ, jin meñ jismānī ṭāqat, ṣiḥḥat, dimāghī quwwā aur 'umr, ṣihnī mi'yār, chustī aur phurtī jaisī chīzeñ dākhil haiñ. PDF PAGE 732 · [Q 43:32 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il (Sūrah az-Zukhruf 43) — complete equality of income can never be just in any age; so even in its ultimate phase — full "communism" — socialism's claim of equality is neither practicable nor just. Deciding whose duties are greater and whose lesser, and how many rights each should get in proportion, is an extremely delicate, difficult task, and man has no standard to determine these factors exactly. Sometimes it seems that a skilled, experienced engineer earned in one hour what an unskilled labourer did not earn hauling tons of earth all day; but justly seen — apart from the fact that the labourer's free toil cannot equal the weight of responsibility the engineer carries — the engineer's income is not the wage of that one hour alone, but includes a part of the wage of years of his mental labour, sweat and toil borne in his engineering education and training and then in gaining experience and skill. Socialism in its early phase accepted this income disparity — in all socialist countries there is a huge disparity of salaries between the different classes of the population. But it stumbled by placing all means of production under government, and entrusting to the government alone the determination of duties for the means and then the distribution of income in proportion to them — while, as just said, man has no standard for keeping the proportion between duties and rights. Under socialism's method, the determination of the whole country's people's livelihood came into the hands of a few government functionaries, with the power to give whom they will as much as they will and withhold as much as they will: first, this gives dishonesty and nepotism a great field, on which bureaucracy spreads and flourishes; second, even if all the government's functionaries were imagined angels who truly wanted income distribution based on truth and justice — what standard have they by which to decide how much disparity there is between an engineer's and a labourer's duties, and how much disparity in their incomes is just in proportion? The truth is that a precise decision on this is wholly beyond the grasp of human reason; that is why He kept it in His own hand. The verse under discussion, "wa rafa' nā ba' ḍahum fawqa ba' ḍin darajāt"... [Footnote: socialism says complete equality of income is not possible at present, done so only because socialism is in its early stage; a time will come when complete equality of income, or complete common ownership among countries, arises — that will be the age of full communism.] · rukū' 3, para 25 · full-page Ma'ārif

PDF PAGE 733 · [Q 43:32 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il (Sūrah az-Zukhruf 43) — Allāh hints that He kept the determination of this disparity in His own hand rather than entrusting it to humans; "keeping it in His own hand" here too means that He has bound each person's needs to another and made the order such that each is compelled to give another as much as that other deserves — the supply-and-demand system, based on mutual need, determines each person's income: each decides for himself how much recompense is enough for the duties he has taken on, refusing to work for less, and if he demands more the employer does not hire him. "Li-yattakhidha ba' ḍuhum ba' ḍan sukhriyyā" means We kept disparity in income precisely so that one may take the work of another; had all ranks' incomes been equal, none would serve another. Yes, in some extraordinary circumstances big capitalists can wrongfully exploit this natural system to force the poor to work for less than their true due; Islam first prevents such a situation through its wide rulings of lawful and unlawful and its moral guidance and the concept of the hereafter, and if it nonetheless arises somewhere, an Islamic government is given the power to fix wages to the extent of those extraordinary conditions — but only for extraordinary conditions; there is no need to hand all the means of production to government for this purpose, for its harms far exceed its benefits. [Box — the meaning of Islamic equality: from the above it is clear that complete equality of income is neither a demand of justice, nor ever established in practice, nor possible, nor sought by Islam. The equality Islam established is equality of law, of social treatment, and of the rendering of rights: under the above natural process, whatever rights are determined for a person, all are equal in the legal, civil and social right to obtain them. It is meaningless for a rich man or a man of rank to obtain his right easily and with honour while the poor must wander door to door and suffer humiliation to get theirs — the law guarding the rich man's rights and leaving the poor helpless. Of this Abū Bakr al-Ṣiddīq (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) said in a sermon: "wa-l-lāhi mā 'indī aqwā min

So, in exact economic terms, Islamic equality means that in Islam's view every person has equal opportunities of earning; Islam does not tolerate a few great rich seizing the sources of wealth, setting up monopolies and making it impossible for small traders to sit in the markets. By forbidding interest, speculation, gambling, hoarding and monopolistic trade agreements, and by imposing zakāh, 'ushr, kharāj, maintenance dues, ṣadaqāt and other obligations, an environment is created in which each person can gain fitting opportunities of earning in proportion to his own capacity, labour and capital — and from this a prosperous society can be built. Any disparity of income that then remains is in truth unavoidable; as the disparity among people in beauty, health, intellect and family cannot be erased, so this disparity too can never be erased. v.33: "Were it not that mankind would become one (disbelieving) community, We would have given those who disbelieve in the Most Merciful houses with roofs of silver and stairways on which to ascend, v.34: and doors for their houses, and couches on which to recline, v.35: and ornaments of gold — yet all that is only the enjoyment of the life of this world, and the hereafter with your Lord is for the God-fearing." Khulāṣa: were it not to be feared that nearly all people would become of one way — i.e. all turn disbelievers — We would have given those who disbelieve in Allāh (and are hateful to Him) silver roofs for their houses, silver stairways to climb, silver doors, silver couches to recline on, and the same of gold — some of silver, some of gold. But this was not given to all disbelievers because greed for goods dominates most people's nature, and in that hypothetical case kufr would become a sure means of gaining wealth, so all but a few would embrace kufr; so We did not give all disbelievers this breadth of wealth, though but for that consideration We would have — for one plainly does not give an enemy things of worth and abundance. So worldly goods are in truth no great thing, and cannot be the condition of capacity for so great an office as prophethood; its condition is the lofty faculties Allāh grants the prophets, gathered fully in Muḥammad ﷺ — so prophethood befitted him alone, not the chiefs of Makka and Ṭā'if. And (a plain statement of the world's worthlessness:) all this equipment is nothing, only a few days' enjoyment of worldly life (then perishing upon perishing); while the hereafter (eternal, hence better) is with your Lord for the God-fearing. MA'ĀRIF: much wealth is no cause of merit — to the disbelievers "why was some great rich man of Makka or Ṭā'if not made a prophet" this is the second answer: prophethood needs certain conditions of capacity, but is not given for abundance of wealth, which is so contemptible in Our sight that but for the fear of all becoming disbelievers We would rain gold and silver on every disbeliever. In a ṣaḥīḥ ḥadīth the Prophet ﷺ said: "law kānat-id-dunyā ta'dilu 'inda-llāhi janāḥa ba'ūḍatin mā saqā kāfirān minhā sharbata mā'" — if the world were worth a gnat's wing to Allāh He would not give a disbeliever a sip of water from it. So neither is abundance of wealth a merit, nor its lack a sign of low rank; prophethood needs certain lofty attributes, present most perfectly in the Master of both worlds ﷺ, so this objection is utterly idle and void.] · rukū' 3, para 25 · full-page Khulāṣa + Ma'ārif

Yet take comfort that their heedlessness will soon end and their error soon be exposed, for it lasts only as far as this world: when such a man comes to Us he will say to his devil-companion, "would that between me and you were the distance of the two easts — for you misled me!" — but regret will not avail then. And it will be said: today it will not benefit you that you disbelieved in the world, since you both share in the punishment (in the world seeing another share one's misfortune brings a kind of comfort, but there, the punishment being so severe, no one will turn to another — each absorbed in his own state, thinking himself the worst afflicted). So, O Prophet ﷺ, since their state is known — no hope of their guidance — can you make such deaf men hear, or guide such blind, and those sunk in plain misguidance? Their guidance is outside your power; do not chase after it. Yet their ship will not be left empty: punishment will surely fall on them, whether in your lifetime or after your death. If We take you from the world, We shall still take vengeance on those disbelievers; or if We send down in your lifetime the punishment We promised them and show it to you — that too is not far, for We have every power over them. So hold fast, with a settled heart, to the Qur‘ān revealed to you — for you are on a straight path (i.e. do your own work and do not grieve over

Aur جو shakhṣ Allāh کی naṣīḥat (ya'nī Qur'ān aur waḥy) se jān-būjh kar andhā ban jā'ے — jaisے yih kuffār hain ki kāfī-shāfī dalā'il ke maujūd hote hue tajāhul se kāṁ lete hain — to ham us par ek shayṭān musallaṭ kar dete hain; so woh (har waqt) us ke sāth rahtā hai. Aur woh (sāth rahne wālے shayāṭīn) un (Qur'ān se i'rāḍ karne wālon) ko barābar rāh-e-ḥaqq se rokṭe rahte hain — aur tasalluṭ kā yihī aṣar hai — aur yih log, bāwujūd rāh-e-ḥaqq se dūr hone ke, yih khyāl karte hain ki woh (dīnī ṭaur par) ham rāh-e-rāst par hain. Aur yih bھی tasallī rakhے ki in kā yih taghāful jaldī hī khatm hō gā, aur jaldī hī in ko apnī ghalaṭī zāhir ho jā'ے گی — kyonki yih taghāful ṣirf dunyā hī tak hai; yahān tak ki jab aisā shakhṣ hamāre pās ā'ے gā (aur us کی ghalaṭī zāhir hō گی) to woh us shayṭān-e-qarīn se kahے gā ki: kāsh mere aur tere darmiyān mashriq wa maghrib ke barābar fāṣila hotā — kyonki tū ne mujhے gumrāh kiyā! "Ask the messengers We sent before you" (v.45): tawhīd is the truth on which all the prophets have consensus; the prophets being masters of both rational and transmitted proofs, it is as if the consensus of thousands of prophets, plus rational and transmitted proofs, stands on it — so, if you wish, ask (i.e. investigate from their Books and Ṣaḥīfahs, some remnant of which survives) whether Allāh ever appointed any god besides the Most Merciful to be worshipped. (This "asking the messengers" is figurative — an invitation to anyone who wishes to investigate and to look in the Books.) MA'ĀRIF on "wa man ya'shu 'an dhikri-r-raḥmān...": whoever wilfully turns from Allāh's counsel — the Qur'ān and revelation — We set a devil over him who stays attached, barring him from good and inciting him to evil, and who is with him in this world and, when he rises from the grave, accompanies him until both enter Hell (Qurṭubī). [Box: turning from the remembrance of Allāh is a cause of bad company.] It shows that turning from Allāh's remembrance is punished even here by one's company being spoilt, devils — human or jinn — keeping near; such a man does everything toward misguidance yet thinks he is doing very well (Qurṭubī). This devil "set over him" is besides the devil attached to every believer and disbeliever, for that one departs from a believer at certain times, while this one stays permanently (Bayān al-Qur'ān). On "wa lan yanfa'akumu-l-yawm...": two readings — (1) once your kufr and shirk are established, your wish in the hereafter that "would that this devil were far from me" will not avail, since you will all share in the punishment — here "innakum fi-l-'aẓābi mushtarikūn" is the sense, and the subject-pronoun of "yanfa'" refers back to the saying "yā layta baynī..."; (2) after arriving there, your sharing of the punishment with the devils...] · rukū' 4, para 25 · Khulāṣa ends, Ma'ārif begins

Matlab yih hai ki jo shakḥ Allāh kī naṣṭhat — ya 'nī Qur'ān aur waḥy — se jān-būjh kar i'rād kare, to ham us par ek shayṭān musallaṭ kar dete haiñ jo us ke sāth lagā rahtā hai, aur use nekiyoñ se rok kar burā'iyōñ par ubhārtā rahtā hai; aur jo dunyā meñ bḥi us ke sāth lagā rahtā hai, aur ākhirat meñ bḥi jab yih shakḥ qabr se uṭhے gā to yih shayṭān us ke sāth-sāth hōgā, yahān tak ki donoñ jahannam meñ dākhil ho jā'ēñ. (Qurṭubī.)

Is se ma'lūm huā ki Allāh kī yād se i'rād kī itnī sazā dunyā hī meñ mil jātī hai ki insān kī ṣuḥbat kharāb ho jātī hai; aur shayāṭīn — khwāh insānoñ meñ se hoñ yā jinnāt meñ se — us ke qarīb rahte haiñ. Woh sāre kām gumrahī hī ke karte haiñ, magar samajhtā hai ki yih bahut acchā kar rahā hai. (Qurṭubī.)

of "wa lan yanfa' akumu-l-yawm...": sharing the punishment there will not benefit you — in the world, several sharing one misfortune lightens each one's grief, but there each is absorbed in his own and none can lessen another's pain, so that sharing brings no benefit; here "annakum" is the subject of "yanfa'". [Box: good repute too is desirable in religion.] "Wa innahu la-dhikrun laka wa li-qawmik": "dhikr" here means good fame — the Qur'ān is a source of great honour and good repute for the Prophet ﷺ and his people. Imām al-Rāzī: this verse shows good repute is a thing to be desired, hence Allāh mentions it here as a favour, and hence Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) prayed "wa-j' al lī lisāna ṣidqin fī-l-ākhirīn" (Tafsīr Kabīr). But note that good repute is praiseworthy only when it comes of itself from one's righteous deeds without being made the aim of life; if one does good only so as to be named in the world, that is "riyā'", which loses all the benefit of the good deeds and leaves a sin instead. Some mufasssīrīn take "your people" here as the tribe of Quraysh alone, proving Quraysh's merit; but 'Allāma al-Qurṭubī: the sound view is that it means the Prophet's ﷺ whole ummah, of whatever race or lineage — the Qur'ān is a source of greatness, honour and good fame for them all (Qurṭubī). On "wa-s' al man arsalnā min qablīka min rusulīnā": since the earlier prophets have passed away, how is asking them commanded? Some mufasssīrīn: if Allāh, by a miracle, brings about the Prophet's ﷺ meeting with the earlier prophets, then ask them — as on the Night of Mi'raj he ﷺ met all the prophets, and Qurṭubī cites reports that after leading them in prayer he ﷺ asked them this, though the chains of those reports could not be verified. Hence most mufasssīrīn hold that it does not mean asking the prophets themselves, but investigating from the Ṣaḥīfahs revealed to them and asking the scholars of their communities — the extant Ṣaḥīfahs of the Banī Isrā'īl prophets still contain, despite many distortions, the teaching of tawḥīd and of disavowal of shirk; e.g. see the following passages of the present Bible...] · rukū' 4, para 25 · Ma'ārif

Khulāṣa (vv.46-48...): We sent Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām) with Our proofs — the miracles of the staff and the shining hand — to Fir'awn and his chiefs, and he came and said, "I have come as a messenger from the Lord of the worlds for your guidance." But Fir'awn and his people did not accept. Then We showed other proofs in the form of punishments — famine and the like — to establish his prophethood; yet their state stayed such that when Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām) brought them Our signs — the "nine signs" — they at once laughed at those miracles ("what fine miracles — mere ordinary events; famine and such happen anyway"). But that was their folly, for from other indications it was plain that these events were extraordinary and happening as miracles — hence their charge of magic ("li-taṣḥaranā bihā" in Sūrah al-A'rāf attests to it). And the state of those signs was that each We showed them was greater than the one before — meaning all were great; not that literally each was greater than each, this being an idiom for perfection, as one says "each greater than the last"; though it is also possible that each new sign did have some merit over the last. And We seized those people with punishment (by bringing about those signs) that they might turn back from their kufr — for those signs were both a proof of prophethood and a chastisement for them; yet they did not turn back, though seeing that with each sign...] · rukū‘ 5, para 25 · verse table ends, Khulāṣa begins — with each sign they made a covenant with Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām), yet addressed him "O magician" (a word slipping out from habit in their extreme agitation, since it seems unlikely at the moment of so humble a request); their meaning was: O Mūsā, pray to your Lord by the covenant He has with you — that He remove the wrath (punishment) when we desist — and we promise, if you have the punishment lifted we shall surely take the path. But when We lifted it they at once broke their word (these signs are detailed in Sūrah al-A'raf). And Fir'awn — probably fearing the common people would become believers on seeing the miracles — had it proclaimed among his people: O my people, is not the kingdom of Egypt and its dependencies mine? See these rivers flowing beneath my palace. Do you not see these things? (And Mūsā has no such equipment.) So am I not better and more worthy to be followed than Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām), a man of little worth in wealth and rank who cannot even speak clearly? And if he claims to be a messenger, why were gold bracelets not cast on his hands, or angels sent in his train in ranks — as worldly kings, when they specially favour someone, put gold bracelets on him in open court, and the retinue of the chief nobles processes so? So by such talk he stupefied his people's reason and they obeyed him — a people already full of corruption, so Fir'awn's words affected them the more. Then when they had angered Us by persisting in kufr and obstinacy, We took vengeance and drowned them all, and made them a signal precedent and a lesson-example for those to come — that people recall their story and take heed: see, such were the ancients, and such was their end. MA'ĀRIF: the story of Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām) has recurred repeatedly, and the events hinted at here are detailed in Sūrah al-A'raf; recalling it here is to show that the doubt the Makkans raise against the Prophet's ﷺ prophethood — from his not being rich — is no new doubt...] · rukū' 5, para 25 · full-page Khulāṣa + Ma'ārif

the same doubt against prophethood — from a prophet's not being rich — was raised by Fir'awn and his people against Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām): Fir'awn said he owned Egypt and rivers ran beneath his palaces, so he was (God forbid) superior to Mūsā, and why then had prophethood gone to Mūsā and not him? But as that doubt did not avail Fir'awn, who drowned with his people, so the Makkans' objection will not save them from ruin in this world or the next. On "wa lā yakādu yubīn": though by Mūsā's ('alaihi-s-salām) prayer Allāh had removed the impediment of his tongue, Fir'awn remembered only the earlier scene and cast this as a fault; or "power of expression" here may mean the force and clarity of proofs, Fir'awn meaning that Mūsā has no proofs sufficient to satisfy him — though this was mere pretence, for Mūsā ('alaihi-s-salām) had left Fir'awn utterly without answer against his proofs (Tafsīr Kabīr, Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī). On "fa-stakhaffa qawmahu": two renderings — he easily made his people subservient (ṭalab minhum al-khiffata fī muṭāwa'atih), or he found his people foolish (wajadahum khifāfa aḥlāmihim) (Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī). On "fa-lammā āsafūnā": from "asaf", literally "grief", so the literal sense is "when they grieved Us"; "asaf" is also much used for "anger", hence the idiomatic rendering "when they angered Us"; and since Allāh is pure of the emotional states of grief and anger, its meaning is that they did such deeds that We firmly resolved to punish them (Rūḥ). v.57: "And when the son of Maryam was cited as an example, your people at once cried out." v.58: "And they said: are our gods better, or he? They cite him to you only for argument — they are a contentious people." v.59: "He is only a servant on whom We bestowed favour and made an example for the Banī Isrā'īl." v.60: "And if We willed, We could make angels among you succeeding in the earth..." · 'ain 6, rukū' 6, para 25 · Ma'ārif + verse table

The answer follows, first in brief, then in detail. Brief: what they put to you was for the mere purpose of increasing quarrel, not from seeking truth — else its absurdity would not be hidden from them; and this quarrel is not special to this objection: these people are, by habit, a contentious folk who often raise disputes over plain truths. Detailed: ‘Īsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) is only a servant on whom We bestowed favour — acceptance and the perfections of prophethood — and whom We made a specimen of Our power, first for the Banī Isrā’īl and second for others, that they realize it is no hard thing for Allāh to create thus without a father. This answers both their objections completely (as will come in the detailed Ma‘ārif). And We are able to do things stranger still: if We willed We could make angels among you — as your children are born from you — succeeding one another on earth, born and dying as men are. So being born without a father does not entail that ‘Īsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) is God's son or beyond His power — it cannot be a proof of his being worshipped. Rather there were wisdoms in creating him thus: one, to make him a specimen of Allāh's power; another, that he be a means of certainty in the possibility of Qiyāmah — for what is thought remote in being raised again at Qiyāmah is chiefly that a second life is against the norm, and ‘Īsā’s (‘alaihi-s-salām) birth without a father proves Allāh can bring about matters against the norm; so the truth of the belief in Qiyāmah and the hereafter is established. And now that you have heard this proof, do not doubt it; and follow me in tawḥīd, the hereafter and the other beliefs — this is the straight path; and let not Satan bar you from it, for he is your open enemy. (That was the answer to the disbelievers’ objection; now comes support from the substance of ‘Īsā’s (‘alaihi-s-salām) own call — establishing tawḥīd and abolishing shirk:) when ‘Īsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) came with open miracles he told the people: I have brought you wisdom, to correct your beliefs, and to make clear to you some of the matters — of lawful and unlawful deeds — in which you differ, that difference and confusion be removed. Yet, despite his clear declaration of tauḥīd, the factions fell into dispute among themselves — inventing sects against tauḥīd; the disputes of Christians and non-Christians about tauḥīd are known to all. So for those wrongdoers — the mushrikīn among the Ahl al-Kitāb and others — there is great ruin from the punishment of a painful Day. (So ‘Īsā's (‘alaihi-s-salām) own call supports tauḥīd — hence arguing from his wrongful worship for the validity of shirk is pointless, like a claimant's witness denying him.) (2) When "innakum wa mā ta‘budūna min dūnī-llāhi ḥaṣabu jahannam" (you and what you worship besides Allāh are fuel for Hell) was revealed, a leader of that day [‘Abdullāh ibn al-Zibā‘rā] said he had the best answer to it: the Christians worship the Messiah (‘alaihi-s-salām) and the Jews ‘Uzayr (‘alaihi-s-salām) — will they too be fuel for Hell? The Quraysh mushrikīn were delighted; so Allāh revealed both "inna-lladhīna sabaqat lahum minna-l-ḥusnā ulā‘ika ‘anhā mub‘adūn" and these verses of Sūrah az-Zukhruf (Ibn Kathīr, etc.). (3) Once the Makkan mushrikīn showed the foolish notion that Muḥammad ﷺ wanted to claim divinity, wishing that as the Christians worship the Messiah (‘alaihi-s-salām) they might worship him;

Ek yih ki ek martaba Ānḥaḍrat ﷺ ne qabīla-e-Quraysh ke logoṅ se khiṭāb karte hue irshād farmāyā thā: "Yā ma‘shara Quraysh, lā khayra fī aḥadīn yu‘badu min dūni-llāh" — ya‘nī ai Quraysh ke logo! Dūsarī riwāyat yih hai ki jab Qur’ān Karīm kī āyat "Innakum wa mā ta‘budūna min dūni-llāhi ḥaṣabu jahannam" (bilā-shubha ai mushriko! tum aur jīc kī tum ‘ibādat karte ho, woh sab jahannam kā īndhan honḍ ge) nāzil hu’ī, to us waqt ke ek sardār [‘Abdullāh ibn az-Zibā‘rā] ne kahā ki is āyat kā to mere pās behtarīn jawāb maujūd hai — aur woh yih ki Naṣārā Ḥaḍrat Masīḥ (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī ‘ibādat karte haiṁ, aur Yahūd Ḥaḍrat ‘Uzayr (‘alaihi-s-salām) kī — to kya yih donoṅ bī jahannam kā īndhan honḍ ge? that answer all three objections. The last objection (that Muḥammad ﷺ wished to claim divinity) is plainly answered by these verses: those who began worshipping the Messiah ('alaihi-s-salām) did so by no divine command, nor was it the Messiah's ('alaihi-s-salām) wish, nor does the Qur'ān support it; they fell into confusion from his birth without a father, and the Qur'ān refutes that confusion — so how could the Prophet ﷺ (God forbid) claim divinity in imitation of the Christians? The first two reports' objection amounts to nearly the same. Its answer from these verses: what Allāh said — that the idols people have taken as gods besides Allāh will be fuel for Hell — and what the Prophet ﷺ said — that there is no good in them — refers to gods that are either lifeless (like stone idols) or living beings who themselves command or approve their own worship (like the devils, Fir'awn, Namrūd, etc.). How can 'Isā ('alaihi-s-salām) be included among them, when he never at any stage approved his own worship? The Christians worship him by no guidance of his, but We made him a specimen of Our power, born without a father, that people see Allāh needs no means or causes in His creation; the Christians misread this and took him as a god — which was wrong even rationally, and wholly against 'Isā's ('alaihi-s-salām) own call, for he always taught tawḥīd. So 'Isā's ('alaihi-s-salām) aversion to his own worship bars his being ranged with the other false gods. This also ends the disbelievers' objection mentioned in the Khulāṣa — that one you call good ('Isā 'alaihi-s-salām) has also been worshipped, so worship of other than Allāh is no bad thing — the verses make clear that his being worshipped was against Allāh's will and against his own call, so it cannot prove the validity of shirk. On "wa law nashā'u la-ja'alnā minkum malā'ikatan fī-l-arḍi yakhlufūn": this answers the Christians' confusion by which they made 'Isā ('alaihi-s-salām) a god — arguing his divinity from his birth without a father; Allāh refutes them: that was only a manifestation of Our power, and We can do more than that...] · rukū' 6, para 25 · full-page Ma'ārif

43) — Khulāṣa: it will be said, this is the Garden you have been made to own for your righteous deeds — it will never be taken from you — and in it is much fruit for you to eat. That is the state of the believers. As for the disbelievers: the disobedient will abide forever in the punishment of Hell; it will not be lightened for them, and they will remain in it despairing. And Allāh says: We did not wrong them in the least by an unjust punishment; they themselves were the wrongdoers, harming themselves by kufr and shirk. Then their remaining state: when they wholly despair of deliverance they will wish for death, and call to the angel Mālik, keeper of Hell: O Mālik, let your Lord give us death — he will answer: you will remain forever in this state; you will not leave, nor will you die. MAʿĀRIF on "al-akhillāʾu yawmaʾidhin baʿḍuhum li-baʿḍin ʿaduwwun illa-l-muttaqīn": this verse makes plain that the friendly ties man prides himself on in the world, for whose sake he mixes lawful and unlawful, will on Qiyāmah not merely be of no use but turn into enmity. Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kathīr, under this verse, cites from ʿAlī (raḍ.) — via ʿAbd al-Razzāq and Ibn Abī Ḥātim — that there were two believing friends and two disbelieving friends: one of the believing friends died and

 O Allāh, my such-and-such friend used to urge me to obey You and Your Messenger ﷺ, enjoin good and forbid evil on me, and remind me that one day I must come before You — so, O Allāh, do not let him go astray after me, that he too may see the scenes of the Garden You have shown me, and be pleased with him as You are pleased with me. In answer he will be told: go — if you knew the reward I have kept for that friend of yours, you would laugh more and weep less. Then, when the second friend has died, their souls will be gathered, and Allāh will say: let each of you praise the other — and each will say of the other: he is the best brother, the best companion, the best

When the second also dies their souls are gathered and each is told to praise his companion — and each says of the other: he is the worst brother, the worst companion, the worst friend (Ibn Kathīr, vol. 4 p. 134). So the best friendship, for this world and the next, is that which is for Allāh's sake. Great virtues are reported in the aḥādīth for two Muslims who love one another only for Allāh — one being that on the Field of Gathering they will be under the shade of Allāh's Throne. "Love for Allāh's sake" means the tie with another rests on his being a true adherent of Allāh's dīn — so disinterested love for teachers of the religious sciences, for one's shaykh and murshid, for the scholars and the people of Allāh, and for all the Muslims of the world of Islam, is included in it. v.78: "We have brought you the truth, but most of you are averse to the truth." v.79: "Or have they settled a matter? Then We too are settling (one)." v.80: "Or do they think We do not hear their secret and their private talk? Yes — and Our messengers are with them recording." v.81: "Say: if the Most Merciful had a son, I would be the first of the worshippers." v.82: "Glory to the Lord of the heavens and the earth, the Lord of the Throne, above what they ascribe." v.83: "So leave them to plunge and play until they meet their Day which they are promised." v.84: "And He it is who is God in the heaven..."] · rukū' 8, para 25 · Ma'ārif tail + verse table pillar is belief in tawḥīd and risālah — but most of you loathe the truth

the true sense was only in some, the rest merely following blindly in leaving the way of truth). This loathing covers both opposition to the Messenger and opposition to tawḥīd. The detail of both: have they arranged some scheme (to harm the Messenger)? Then We too have arranged one — plainly their scheme could not prevail against the divine arrangement, so the Prophet ﷺ was kept safe, they failed, and were finally destroyed at Badr (detailed in Sūrah al-Anfāl, 4th rukū‘, verse "Wa iẓ yamkuru bika-lladhīna kafarū").
And do these people think We do not hear their whispered talk and their secret consultations? — else, if they did not think We hear, why would they dare so? Their thought is refuted: We surely hear; and besides, Our angels,

That was their opposition to the Messenger. As for opposition to tawḥīd: O Prophet ﷺ, tell the mushrikīn — since in some of your polytheistic sayings you attribute offspring to Allāh — if (supposing the impossible) that were so, that the Most Merciful had a child, I would be the very first of its worshippers: as you worship the angels taking them as God's daughters, so I too, in that case, would worship that child. Meaning: unlike you, I do not refuse the truth — if you could prove it I would be the first to accept it, and having accepted it as God's child (since God's child must itself be God, and God deserves worship), I would worship it too; but since this matter is sheer falsehood, I will neither accept it nor worship it. Then the declaration that Allāh is pure of shirk: the Owner of the heavens and the earth, who is also the Owner of the Throne, is far above what these people ascribe to Him — so since they will not desist from their obstinacy though the truth is clear, leave them to their pastime and play until they meet the Day promised them, when the whole reality will become known. ("Turn away" and "leave them" do not mean stop conveying, but: do not heed their opposition, and do not grieve at their not believing.) And He it is who is worthy of worship in the heavens and worthy of worship in the earth — and He is the Most Wise, the Most Knowing (none shares His knowledge and wisdom, so divinity too is His alone). And blessed and sublime is He whose is the dominion of the heavens and the earth and the creatures between them; and His knowledge is so perfect that He knows the Hour, of which no creature has any knowledge; and requital is His alone — you will all return to Him and be held to account — and then it will be so manifest that Allāh alone, with no partner, owns reward and punishment, that those they call besides Him will have no power even of intercession; yes, those who acknowledged the truth (the word of faith) and assented to it in their hearts — they, by Allāh's leave, may intercede for the believers, but what benefit is that to the disbelievers? And in the theme of tawḥīd We have set out, in which they dispute, they nonetheless admit its premises: if you ask them who created them, they will say Allāh — so, since only He who can create can deserve worship, these people admit the premises yet, when it comes to accepting the conclusion, God knows which way they turn away...] · rukū‘ 8, para 25 · full-page Khulāṣa

Khulāṣa: their crimes are grievous, so their punishment will surely be grievous; and it is emphasized further: just as Allāh knows the Hour, so He knows the Prophet's ﷺ saying, "O my Lord, these are people who — despite my utmost wish that they believe — do not believe" (this deepens the severity: the crimes were grievous, and on top of them the Messenger's complaint stands too — so imagine how severe the punishment). And since their end will be this, turn away from them — do not hold a hope for their faith that would later bring grief; and if they speak in opposition and ignorance, say only, "Peace be on you — I say nothing more and want nothing to do with it"; and Allāh consoles: be patient a few days more, and they will come to know (as soon as they die). MA'ĀRIF on "in kāna li-r-rahmāni waladun fa-ana awwalu-l-`ābidīn": it does not mean there is any possibility, in any degree, of God having a child; the aim is to say that I reject your beliefs not from obstinacy or stubbornness but on the strength of proofs — had God's having a child been established by sound proofs I would certainly have accepted it, but every rational and transmitted proof refutes it, so there is no question of accepting it. It is learnt that, in debate with the people of falsehood, to show one's love of truth it is permissible and fitting to say: had your claim been established by sound proofs I would have accepted it — for such a manner of speech can at times produce in the opponent a softening that disposes him to accept the truth. On "wa qīlihi yā rabbi inna hā'ulā'i qawmun lā yu'minūn": this clause is brought to show how severe the causes are for divine wrath to descend on these disbelievers — on one hand their crimes are grievous in themselves; on the other, when the Messenger sent as a Mercy to the worlds and an intercessor for sinners (ṣallallāhu `alaihi wa sallam) himself complains of these people and says they do not believe despite his repeated wish, it can be gauged how deeply they must have hurt him ﷺ — else the Mercy to the worlds ﷺ would not make so pained a complaint to Allāh over an ordinary hurt. MA‘ĀRIF: the verse "wa qīlihi" has several other readings — e.g. that the "wāw" here is not of conjunction but of oath: "yā Rabbi" being the reported speech (maqūla) of "qīl", and "inna hā’ulā’i... al-āyah" the answer of the oath (details in Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī, etc.). On "wa qul salām": at the verse's end every caller to the truth is taught, for all time, to answer the opponents' proofs and doubts, but when they speak in ignorance, folly or abuse, to choose silence rather than answer in kind. And "say: peace be on you" does not mean saying to them "as-salāmu ‘alaykum" — for it is not permitted to greet a non-Muslim with those words — rather it is an idiom: when one wishes to cut ties with someone one says "peace from me" or "I bid you peace", meaning not a real greeting but "I wish to break off with you gracefully". So those who argued from this verse that it is permitted to say "as-salāmu ‘alaykum" or "salām" to disbelievers — their view is the weaker one (Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī). COLOPHON: al-Ḥamdu li-llāh, today, 3 Rajab, Monday, at the time of ‘ishā’, the tafsīr of the verses of Sūrah az-Zukhruf was completed. Then the blessings of that night: in it every wise matter is settled by a command from Us — the affairs of the whole year, all founded on wisdom, are, in the manner Allāh means to carry them out, fixed and made known to the angels concerned and handed over to them; since that night is such, and the sending down of the Qur’ān was the most wisdom-laden of works, that same night was chosen for it. And the Qur’ān was sent down because, out of the mercy that comes from your Lord, We meant to make you a prophet, that through your knowledge you might warn Our servants. He is the All-Hearing, the All-Knowing — so He cares for His servants — and He alone is the Owner of the heavens and the earth and the creatures between them, if you would be certain (the proofs of tawḥīd for certainty are amply present). Then tawḥīd is declared: none is worthy of worship but He; He gives life and takes it; He is your Lord and the Lord of your forefathers. (This should have made them accept, yet) they still do not, being in doubt about the realities of tawḥīd and absorbed in play — no care for the hereafter, no reflection to seek the truth. Allāh swears by the Qur’ān that He sent it down in a blessed night, whose purpose is to awaken heedless men; a like oath in the same words came at the start of Sūrah az-Zukhruf, explained there.

PDF PAGE 758 · [Q 44:3-5 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il (Sūrah ad-Dukhān 44) — the Qur’ān's Sūrah al-Qadr says explicitly "innā anzalnāhu fī laylati-l-qadr", so here too "laylatin mubārakah" means Laylat al-Qadr. A ḥadīth of the Messenger ﷺ (Qatādah, from Wāthilah raḍ.): every Book Allāh sent to His prophets from the world's beginning to its end came down in the blessed month of Ramaḍān on various dates — the Ṣaḥīfahs of Ibrāhīm (‘alaihi-s-salām) on the 1st of Ramaḍān, the Torah on the 6th, the Zabūr on the 12th, the Injīl on the 18th, and the Qur’ān after 24 days had passed, i.e. on the night of the 25th (Qurṭubī). The Qur’ān's being sent down in Laylat al-Qadr means the whole Qur’ān was sent from the Preserved Tablet to the sky of the world in that one night, then over 23 years it came down piecemeal upon the Messenger ﷺ; some say that each year's decreed portion was sent that year from the Tablet to the sky of the world in Laylat al-Qadr (Qurṭubī). From ‘Ikrimah and others some mufassirīn take "laylatin mubārakah" as Shab-e-Barā’at, i.e. mid-Sha‘bān's night; but the Qur’ān's descent in that night is against all the other texts of the Qur’ān and reports of ḥadīth — with clear texts like "Shahru Ramaḍāna-lladhī unzila fīhi-l-Qur’ān" and "Innā anzalnāhu fī laylati-l-qadr", it cannot be said without strong proof that the descent was in Shab-e-Barā’at. The 15th night of Sha‘bān is in some ḥadīth reports called "Shab-e-Barā’at" or "Laylatu-ṣ-ṣakk", with mention of its being blessed and of Allāh's mercy descending in it; and some of those reports also carry the theme stated here as an attribute of "laylatin mubārakah" — "fīhā yufraqu kullu amrin ḥakīm, amran min ‘indinā". Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.): the night of the Qur’ān's descent — Laylat al-Qadr — is when all the important matters concerning the creatures, whose decisions fall within the coming year up to the next Laylat al-Qadr, are settled: who will be born this year, who will die, who will be given how much provision this year. The same is reported from Qatādah, Mujaḥid, Ḥasan and others. Maḥdawī: it means these decisions, already settled in the divine decree, are that night handed over to the angels concerned — for the other texts of Qur’ān and Sunnah attest that Allāh wrote these decisions in eternity, before man's very creation...] · rukū‘ 1, para 25 · full-page Ma‘ārif

Aur ek ḥadīṣ meñ Rasūlullāh ﷺ se yih bḥī manqūl hai ki Allāh Ta'ālā ne jitnī bḥī kitāben ibtidā-e-dunyā se ākhīr tāk apnē anbiyā ('alaihimu-s-salām) par nāzil farmā'ī haiñ, woh sab ke sab māh-e-Ramaḍān-ul-Mubārak hī ke mukhtalif tārikh meñ nāzil hu'ī haiñ. Ḥaḍrat Qatāda ne ba-riwāyat-e-Wāthila (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) naql kiya hai ki Rasūlullāh ﷺ ne farmāyā ki Ṣuḥuf-e-Ibrāhīm ('alaihi-s-salām) Ramaḍān ke pahle tārikh meñ, aur Taurāt Ramaḍān ke chāṭī tārikh meñ, aur Zabūr bārḥvīn meñ, aur Injīl aṭḥārḥvīn meñ, aur Qur'ān chāubīs tārikh guzarne ke ba'd — ya'nī pachīsḥvīn shab meñ — nāzil huā. verse table vv.10-14 (Sūrah ad-Dukhān 44) — MA‘ĀRIF: their being "settled" that night can mean that the carrying-out of the divine decree, which is done through the angels, is handed over to them as the year's rulings that night (Qurṭubī). Because some ḥadīth reports say the same of Shab-e-Barā‘at — mid-Sha‘bān's 15th night — that in it the decrees of lifespans and provisions are written, some took "laylatin mubārakah" here as Laylat al-Barā‘at; but that is not sound, for the verse mentions the Qur‘ān's descent in this night, and its being in Ramaḍān is fixed by the Qur‘ān's texts. As for the theme reported of Shab-e-Barā‘at, that in it provisions etc. are decided — Ibn Kathīr says that report is mursal and cannot stand against the explicit texts; Qāḍī Abū Bakr Ibn al-‘Arabī said no reliable report establishes that provision and life and death are decided on mid-Sha‘bān's night, indeed no reliable ḥadīth of its virtue has come — but Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī cites an unchained report from Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.) that the decrees of provision and life and death are written on mid-Sha‘bān's night and handed to the angels on Laylat al-Qadr; if that report is established the two views can be reconciled, else the plain sense of the Qur‘ān and the ṣaḥīḥ aḥādīth is that all the words of Sūrah ad-Dukhān's verse — "laylatin mubārakah", "fihā yufraqu" etc. — pertain to Laylat al-Qadr. As for the virtue of Shab-e-Barā‘at, that is a separate matter reported in some ḥadīth, mostly weak, hence Ibn al-‘Arabī denied any virtue for it; yet the reports of its virtue, though not free of weakness of chain, gain a kind of strength by their multiple routes, so many of the mashā‘ikh accepted them — for in faḍā‘il al-a‘māl there is room to act on weak reports (wallāhu a‘lam). v.10: "So await the Day when the sky brings a manifest smoke, v.11: enveloping the people — this is a painful punishment. v.12: Our Lord, remove the punishment from us — we believe. v.13: How can the reminder avail them, when a clear messenger has already come to them, v.14: then they turned away from him and said..."] · rukū‘ 1, para 25 · Ma‘ārif ends, verse table not accept though the truth is clear, await the Day when a visible smoke comes from the sky and covers all the people — a painful chastisement (for them) too. This means the famine that struck the people of Makka when they were afflicted by the Prophet's ﷺ imprecation — once in Makka and once in Madīnah — for in severe hunger and drought a smoke-like haze appears before the eyes between sky and earth. The people of Makka were worn out and began pleading; and (Allāh foretells) they will then say to their Lord: our Lord, remove this affliction from us — we shall surely believe. (Thus the prophecy was fulfilled: Abū Sufyān and other Quraysh wrote to the Prophet ﷺ and came asking him to pray, and to instruct Thumāmah ibn Uthāl, chief of Yamāmah, who had cut off the grain supply, to release it; the author of Rūḥ also cites Abū Sufyān's pledge of faith.) Then their pledge's insincerity is stated: how would the reminder avail them and their faith be expected — when a manifestly noble prophet (whose station of prophethood was plain) had already come to them, and they still rebelled against him, saying "he is taught (by some other man), a madman"? So when they did not believe at the coming of so great a Messenger, whose proofs of messengership admit no interpretation away, what hope is there in their "we shall believe" at the famine — which an unjust man might even suppose to be an ordinary event by natural causes and no punishment for kufr; their saying it is mere time-serving. Yet, to complete the proof, We shall remove this punishment for a few days — but you will go back to your former state. (Thus the prophecy was fulfilled: he prayed, rain came, he wrote to Thumāmah to let the grain through, ease reached the people of Makka — but far from believing, even that softness and brokenness passed, and back came the same force and the same clamour.) And "a few days" was said because this punishment...]

MA‘ĀRIF on "dukḥān mubīn": three views are reported from the Companions and Tābi‘īn about this smoke foretold to appear on the sky and cover the people. (1) It is one of the signs of the Hour, occurring right near it — the view of ‘Alī (raḍ.), Ibn ‘Abbās, Ibn ‘Umar, Abū Hurayra, Zayd ibn ‘Alī, Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, Ibn Abī Mulaykah and others, and reported marfū‘an from Abū Sa‘īd al-Khudrī and Ḥudhayfah ibn Asīd al-Ghifārī (details follow). (2) The prophecy has already occurred, its instance being the famine of Makka sent on them by the Prophet's ﷺ imprecation — they starved, ate even carrion, and instead of rain saw smoke on the sky — the view of Ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍ.) and others. (3) The "smoke" is the dust that spread over the sky of Makka on the Day of its Conquest — the view of ‘Abd al-Raḥmān al-A‘raj and others (Qurtubī). The first two views are the better known; of the third, Ibn Kathīr said "hādhā-l-qawlu gharībun jiddan, bal munkar". Both the first two are mentioned in ṣaḥīḥ aḥādīth. Rūḥ al-Maʿānī prefers the second, and it is the reading chosen in the Khulāṣa of Bayān al-Qurʾān above; Ibn Kathīr and Qurtubī seem to prefer the first — wallāhu aʿlam. The reports of both views are as follows: Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim, from Ḥudhayfah ibn Asīd (raḍ.): the Messenger ﷺ looked down on us from an upper room while we were discussing the signs of the Hour, and said: the Hour will not come until you have seen ten signs — the sun's rising from the west, the Dukhān, the Dābbah, the emergence of Yaʿjūj and Maʿjūj, the descent of ʿĪsā (ʿalaihi-s-salām), the emergence of the Dajjāl, and three sinkings of the earth — one in the east, one in the west, one in the Arabian Peninsula — and a fire that will come out of the depths of ʿAdan and drive the people before it, halting where they halt for the night and where they rest at noon (Ibn Kathīr). PDF PAGE 762 · [Q 44:10 · Ma‘ārif o Masā‘il (Sūrah ad-Dukhān 44) — Abū Mālīk al-Ash‘arī (raḍ.): "I warn you of three things — a Dukhān (smoke) that for the believer will serve only as a kind of cold, but will fill the whole body of the disbeliever until it comes out of every ear-hole and pore; and second, the Dābbah (Dābbat al-arḍ, some strange creature to come out of the earth); and third, the Dajjāl." Ibn Kathīr, citing this, said "hādhā isnādun jayyid". The same theme he cites (from Ibn Abī Ḥātim) from Abū Sa‘īd al-Khudrī (raḍ.), and from ‘Alī (karrama-llāhu wajhahu): the prophecy of the Dukhān has not yet passed, but will be near the Hour — this smoke will act as a cold for the believers and fill the disbeliever until it comes out of every opening; likewise from Ibn ‘Umar and Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.) via Ibn Jarīr. Citing these, Ibn Kathīr said: "This chain is ṣaḥīḥ to Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.), the scholar of the ummah and interpreter of the Qur‘ān; likewise the view of the Companions and Ṭābi‘īn who agreed with him, together with the marfū‘ aḥādīth of the Ṣiḥāḥ, Ḥisān and others we have cited — which are convincing and a clear indication that the Dukhān is among the awaited signs, along with the apparent sense of the Qur‘ān ('fa-rtaqib yawma ta'ti-s-samā'u bi-dukhānin mubīn'); as against what Ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍ.) held — that it was only an imagination they saw in their eyes from the intensity of hunger and hardship — for that is why He said 'yaghshā-n-nās', i.e. it envelops and covers them all; and had it been an imagination for a specific group, it would not be said of it 'yaghshā-n-nās'." Ibn 'Abbās, the scholar of the ummah and interpreter of the Qur'ān — the chain is ṣaḥīḥ to him; and this is also the view of the other Companions and Tābi'īn who agreed with him. The famed tafsīr of Ibn Mas'ūd speaks of an imaginary smoke felt in their eyes from severe hunger; the word "yaghshā-n-nās" seems far from that, since the imaginary smoke was peculiar to the people of Makka, while "yaghshā-n-nās" tells that it will cover all people generally. As for the report of Ibn Mas'ūd's view: in the Ṣaḥīḥayn, Musnad Aḥmad, Tirmidhī, Nasā'ī etc., Masrūq relates that one day they entered the masjid of Kūfa near Bāb Kinda, saw a preacher preaching, and about this verse ("yawma ta'ti-s-samā'u bi-dukhānin mubīn") he asked the people, "do you know what this Dukkān means?" then said it will be a smoke coming out on the Day of Qiyāmah...] · rukū' 1, para 25 · full-page Ma'ārif

(raḍ.) narration: the preacher said the smoke would take the ears and eyes of the hypocrites while for the believer it would be only a cold; Masrūq and his companions went to Ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍ.) with this — he was lying down, sat up startled, and said Allāh guided your Prophet ﷺ: "Qul mā as‘alukum ‘alayhi min ajrin wa mā ana min al-mutakallifin" — I ask you no wage for teaching and conveying, nor am I one to fabricate a matter (knowledge requires that a man say plainly of what he does not know, "I have no knowledge of it; Allāh alone knows it" — and not fabricate). Then he said: I will tell you an incident about this verse's meaning — when the Quraysh refused the Prophet's ﷺ call to Islam and persisted in kufr, he prayed against them: O Allāh, send on them a famine like the one You sent in the time of Yūsuf (‘alaihi-s-salām); the effect was that they were struck by a severe famine, eating even bones and carrion, and when they looked up at the sky they saw nothing but smoke — one report: a man looking up at the sky, from the intensity of hunger, saw a smoke-like haze. Ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍ.) then recited as his proof: "Fa-rtaqib yawma ta‘ti-s-samā‘u bi-dukhānin mubīn." When this befell, the people came to the Messenger ﷺ and asked him to pray for rain for his tribe of Muḍar, else they would all perish; he prayed and Allāh sent rain, and this verse came down: "Innā kāshifu-l-‘azābi qalīlan innakum ‘ā‘idūn" — We remove your punishment for a few days, but when you emerge from the affliction you will return to your kufr. So it happened — they returned to their former state, and Allāh sent down: "Yawma nabṭishu-l-baṭshata-l-kubrā innā muntaqimūn" — fear the Day We seize with the great seizing; and Ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍ.) said this "baṭshah kubrā" already took place at the Battle of Badr. After relating this,

Ibn Mas'ūd (raḍ.) said five things have passed — the Dukhān, the Rūm, the Baṭshah, the Qamar, the Lizām. (From Ibn Kathīr:) "Dukhān" on this reading is the famine of Makka; "Rūm" is the prophecy in Sūrah ar-Rūm of their victory, "wa hum min ba'di ghalabihim sa-yaghlibūn"; "Qamar" is the splitting of the moon, "iqtarabati-s-sā'atu wa-nshaqqa-l-qamar"; "Baṭshah", on this reading, is the end of the Quraysh disbelievers at Badr; and "Lizām" points to the verse "fa-sawfa yakūnu lizāmā".] · rukū' 1, para 25 · full-page Ma'ārif

... (woh dhuwān) جو munāfiqīn ke kānoñ aur āñkhoñ ko لے گا, aur mu'min ko us se širf zukām کی-sī kaifiyyat paidā ہوگی۔ Masrūq kahte haiñ ki wā'iz کی yih bāt sun kar ham Ḥaḍrat 'Abdullāh bin Mas'ūd (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) ke pās ga'ے, un se is kā zikr kiyā — woh le'ے hue the — ghabrā kar uṭh baiṭhے, aur farmāyā ki Allāh ne tumhāre Nabī ﷺ ko yih hidāyat farmā'ī hai ki: "Qul mā as'alukum 'alayhi min ajrin wa mā ana min al-mutakāllifīn" — ya'nī: main tum se apnī khidmat-e-ta'līm wa tablīgh kā koī mu'āwaḍa nahīn māngtā, aur na main un logoñ meñ se hūñ جو takalluf se koī bāt banā'ēñ. Phir farmāyā ki ab tumheñ is āyat کی tafsīr kā ek wāqī'a sunātā hūñ: woh yih hai ki jab Quraysh ne Rasūlullāh ﷺ کی da'wat-e-Islām ko qubūl karne se inkār kiyā, aur apnē kufr par iṣrār kiyā, to Rasūlullāh ﷺ ne un ke li'e bad-du'ā farmā'ī ki: yā Allāh! in par aisā qahṭ ḍāl de jaisā ki āp ne Yūsuf (alaihi-s-salām) ke zamāne meñ ḍālā thā. Is bad-du'ā kā aṣar yih huā ki yih log shadīd qahṭ meñ mubtalā ho ga'ے, yahāñ tak ki haḍḍiyāñ aur murdār jānwar tak khāne lagے۔ Yih log āsmān کی ṭaraf naẓar uṭhāte the to dhuwān ke siwā kuchh naẓar nahīn ā tā thā. Aur ek riwāyat meñ hai ki un kā koī ādmī āsmān کی ṭaraf naẓar uṭhātā to بھوک کی shiddat se us ko dhuwān-sā naẓar ā tā thā. Is ke ba'd 'Abdullāh bin Mas'ūd (raḍ.) ne istidlāl meñ yih āyat tilāwat farmā'ī: "Fa-rtaqib yawma ta'ti-s-samā'u bi-dukhānin mubīn."

Jab yih wāqī'a pesh āyā to log Rasūlullāh ﷺ کی khidmat meñ ḥāḍir hue aur darkhwāst کی ki āp apnē qabīla-e-Muḍar ke li'e Allāh se bārish کی du'ā karen, warna woh sab halāk ho jā'ēñ ge. Rasūlullāh ﷺ ne du'ā farmā'ī to Allāh ne bārish de dī. Is par yih āyat nāzil hu'ī: "Innā kāshifu-l-'azābi qalīlan innakum 'ā'idūn" — ya'nī: ham tumhāre is 'azāb ko chand roz ke li'e ṭālے lete haiñ; magar jab tum muṣibat se nikal jā'ō ge to phir apnē kufr کی ṭaraf laūṭ jā'ō ge. Chunāñchi aisā hī huā — woh phir apnē pichhle ḥāl کی ṭaraf laūṭ ga'ے — to Allāh Ta'ālā ne yih āyat nāzil farmā'ī: "Yawma nabṭishu-l-baṭshata-l-kubrā innā muntaqimūn" — ya'nī: جس din ham sakht pakaṛ pakaṛēñ ge, us din se ḍaro. Phir Ibn Mas'ūd (raḍ.) ne farmāyā ki yih "baṭsha-e-kubrā" — baṭī sakht pakaṛ — Ghazwa-e-Badr meñ ho chukī.

several prophecies: (1) a smoke appearing on the sky and covering all people; (2) the mushrikīn, worn out by it, pleading to Allāh with a pledge of faith; (3) their pledge proving false and their later denial; (4) Allāh, even so, to complete the proof, removing the punishment from them for a time, warning they will not keep the pledge; (5) then seizing them again with a severe seizing. On Ibn Mas‘ūd's (raḍ.) reading all five are fulfilled — the first four during the severe famine on Makka and its lifting, the fifth at Badr. But that reading seems far from the plain Qur’ānic wording: it is unlikely the Qur’ān would call an imaginary smoke seen on the sky from severe hunger "ta’ti-s-samā’u", "dukhānin mubīn" and "yaghshā-n-nās" — those words apparently mean an open smoke spreading over the general sky and all people being affected by it, neither of which is established on that reading; that smoke was only the effect of their own severe distress. Hence Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kathīr, going by the plain sense of the Qur’ān, preferred that this Dukhān mubīn is among the signs of the Hour — also because that is established by marfū‘ reports, while the other is only Ibn Mas‘ūd's own view. Against that reading, "innā kāshifu-l-‘azābi qalīlan innakum ‘ā’idūn" raises the objection that at Qiyāmah no punishment is lifted from the disbelievers — how can removing it for a few days fit? Ibn Kathīr gave two senses: (a) if We removed the punishment as you ask and returned you to the world, you would go back to the same kufr — as in "wa nazaruhum fī ṭughyānihim ya‘mahūn" and "wa law raddū la-‘ādū limā nuḥū ‘anhu"; (b) "kashf al-‘azāb" may mean that though the causes of the punishment are complete and it has drawn near, We defer it for a few days — as it is said of the people of Yūnus (‘alaihi-s-salām) "kashafnā ‘anhumu-l-‘azāb", though the punishment had not yet come upon them, only its signs had appeared, and that was termed "kashf al-‘azāb". Summary: if the Dukhān prophecy is counted among the signs of the Hour, then "kāshifu-l-‘azāb" raises no difficulty against it either; and on that reading "yawma nabṭishu-l-baṭshata-l-kubrā" means the seizing on the Day of Qiyāmah. Ibn Mas‘ūd's (raḍ.) taking it of the seizing at Badr is also sound in its place — that too was a severe seizing.] · rukū‘ 1, para 25 · full-page Ma‘ārif

Āyāt-e-madhkūra meñ ghaur کجیہیہ to un meñ chand peshīn-go'iyāñ haiñ: awwal dhuwāñ kā āsmān par zāhir honā aur sab logoñ par chā jānā; dūsre mushrikīn kā is 'azāb se 'ājiz ā kar īmān kā wa'da kar ke Allāh se du'ā māngnā; tīsre un ke wa'de kā jhūṭā honā aur ba'd meñ munkar ho jānā; chauthے Allāh Ta'ālā kā un ke jhūṭے wade par bہیہ baṭaur-e-itmām-e-hujjat kuchh 'arṣe ke li'e un se 'azāb kā haṭā denā aur yih jatlā denā ki tum is wade par qā'im nہ rahو ge; pāñchweñ phir dubāra un ko sakht pakar meñ pakar lenā.

Isī li'e Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kathīr ne zāhir-e-Qur'ān ke muṭābiq is ko tarjīḥ dī hai ki yih Dukhān mubīn 'alāmāt-e-qiyaamat meñ se hai; aur is ko tarjīḥ is li'e bہیہ hai ki woh riwāyāt-e-marfū'a se ṣābit hai. Yih (dūsra) ṣirf Ḥaḍrat 'Abdullāh bin Mas'ūd kā apnā qaul hai.

Magar is tafsīr par zāhir "innā kāshifu-l-'azābi qalīlan innakum 'ā'idūn" se yih ishkāl hotā hai ki qiyaamat meñ to kuffār se koī 'azāb nahīñ haṭāyā jā'ے گا — yahān chand roz ke li'e 'azāb haṭā dene kā zikr kaise durust ہوگا? Ibn Kathīr ne farmāyā ki is ke do ma'nī ho sakte haiñ: ek yih ki murād yih ho ki agar ham tumhāre kahne ke muṭābiq 'azāb haṭā den aur tumheñ phir dunyā meñ lauṭā den, to tum phir wohī kufr karne lagو ge — jaisā ki dūsarī āyat meñ yih maḍmūn is tarah āyā hai: "wa nazaruhum fī tughyānihim ya'mahūn", aur ek aur āyat meñ farmāyā: "wa law raddū la-'ādū limā nuḥū 'anhu". Dūsre ma'nī yih bہیہ ho sakte haiñ ki "kāshifu-l-'azāb" meñ kashf-e-'azāb se murād yih ho ki agarchi 'azāb āne ke asbāb mukammal ho chuke, aur 'azāb tumhāre qarīb ā chukā hai, magar kuchh roz ke li'e ham us ko mu'akhhkar kar dete haiñ — jaisā ki qaum-e-Yūnus ('alaihi-s-salām) ke bāre meñ āyā hai "kāshafnā 'anhumu-l-'azāb", ḥālāñki qaum-e-Yūnus par 'azāb ā nہ chukā thā, ṣirf āṣār-e-'azāb naẓar ā ye the — is ko "kāshf-e-'azāb" se ta'bīr kar diyā gayā hai.

ad-Dukhān 44) — MA‘ĀRIF: it does not follow that there will be no greater seizing at Qiyāmah; it is not unlikely that the Qur’ān warned the Makkan disbelievers of a coming punishment in these verses, and the Companions (raḍ.), taking the later punishment as its instance to some degree, cited these verses — which does not negate its being among the signs of the Hour. Thus Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī, from ‘Allāmah al-Safārīnī’s al-Buḥūr al-Zākhīrah, cites from Ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍ.) himself: "There are two smokes — one has passed, and the one that remains will fill what is between the sky and the earth; it will not afflict the believer save with the nose, like a cold, but the disbeliever it will split his ears. Then Allāh will send from that a south wind from Yemen that will take the soul of every believer, and only the worst of people will remain." (Rūḥ.) The author of Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī, per his own chosen reading, expressed doubt about this report’s soundness; but if it is established, it no longer conflicts with the plain Qur’ān and the marfū‘ reports — wallāhu subḥānahu wa ta‘ālā a‘lam. v.17: "And We had tried before them the people of Fir‘awn, and a noble messenger came to them, v.18: (saying) deliver to me the servants of Allāh — I am to you a trustworthy messenger, v.19: and do not exalt yourselves against Allāh — I bring you a clear authority, v.20: and I have taken refuge with my Lord and your Lord, lest you stone me; v.21: and if you do not believe me, then stand away from me." v.22: "Then he called his Lord: these are a criminal people." v.23: "So set out with My servants by night — you will be pursued. v.24: And leave the sea at rest — they are an army to be drowned." v.25: "How many gardens and springs they left, v.26: and cornfields and noble dwellings, v.27: and comfort in which they had been rejoicing..." · rukū‘ 2, para 25 · Ma‘ārif ends, verse table

He said to Fir‘awn and his people: hand over to me these servants of Allāh — the Banī Isrā‘īl, whom you have entangled in every kind of hardship — and release them, that I may set them free where it is fitting. I have come to you as Allāh's messenger, and I am trustworthy — I add nothing to and take nothing from the revelation; the command that reaches me I convey exactly; so you should obey. And do not exalt yourselves against Allāh — I bring before you a clear proof of my prophethood (the miracle of the staff and the shining hand). And when Fir‘awn and his people did not accept, but consulted together to kill him, he took refuge with his Lord, saying: I take refuge with my Lord and your Lord lest you stone me; and if you do not believe me, then stand away from me — do not seek to hurt me, for no harm will reach me, Allāh has promised me ("fa-lā yaṣilūna ilaykumā"), but your crime would only grow the more severe, so out of goodwill I tell you not to do it. — Khulāṣa: it was said, We accepted Mūsā's prayer and the time of their judgement came; so, O Mūsā, set out with My servants — the Banī Isrā'īl — by night, for you will be pursued (from Fir'awn's side), so by leaving at night get far enough that the pursuit cannot overtake you. And the sea that lies in your way — which will dry up and give a path when the staff is struck — after you have crossed, when you see it still in that state, do not worry that Fir‘awn too might cross; rather leave it in that same calm state (in the form it takes when the water parts and the path dries), and be free of concern — for the wisdom in leaving it so is that the whole army of the Fir‘awnites will be drowned in it: they will enter it, and once in, the water will come from all sides. So it happened: Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) crossed, and the Fir‘awnites were drowned. And how many gardens, how many springs (canals), fields, fine houses and comforts in which they had been rejoicing they left behind. This is how the tale went; and We made another people (the Banī Isrā‘īl) inherit it. Being utterly hateful (to Allāh), neither did the heaven and earth weep over them, nor were they given any respite from the punishment — even had they lived a few days more, they would still be handed to Hell at Qiyāmah. And thus We saved the Banī Isrā‘īl from the humiliating punishment — the tyranny of Fir‘awn, who was indeed haughty and of those who cross the bounds of servitude. And We favoured the Banī Isrā‘īl, by Our knowledge and wisdom, over a large part of creation — e.g. the people of their time — in some matters entirely, or in all; and in those blessings there was, besides the favour, an indication of Allāh's power; We gave them such great signs of Our power in which a clear favour was found — the kindness shown to them had two aspects, being a favour and being a proof of power. Some of them were sensory blessings, like deliverance from Fir‘awn, and some spiritual, like knowledge, Scripture and the witnessing of miracles. PDF PAGE 768 · [Q 44:20,24,28-29 · Ma‘ārif o Masā’il (Sūrah ad-Dukhān 44) — "rajm" is used both for killing by stoning and for abuse and reviling; both senses are possible here, but the preferable is killing by stoning, since Fir‘awn's people would have been threatening Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) with unlawful killing. On "wa-truki-l-baḥra rahwan" (leave the sea in a state of calm): "rahw" means "still". After Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) and his companions had crossed, their natural wish would have been for the sea to return to its former state so Fir‘awn's army could not cross; so Allāh warned them: once you have crossed, leave the sea still in that same form, and do not seek to have the water flow again — so that Fir‘awn, seeing a dry path, may reach the middle of the sea, and then We will set it flowing and the army will drown (Ibn Kathīr). On "wa awrathnāḥ qawman ākharīn": Sūrah ash-Shu‘arā’ states explicitly that this "other people" means the Banī Isrā’īl; the well-known objection — that recognized histories do not establish the Banī Isrā’īl re-settling in Egypt — is answered in the tafsīr of Sūrah ash-Shu‘arā’. [Box — the weeping of the earth and sky: "fa-mā bakat ‘alayhimu-s-samā’u wa-l-arḍ"] — they had done no righteous deed on the earth for the earth to weep at their death, nor had any good deed of theirs reached the sky for the sky to weep for them. Several reports establish that the sky and earth weep at the death of a righteous servant. Ḥāfiẓ Abū Ya‘lā, from Anas (raḍ.), cites the Prophet ﷺ: in the sky every servant has two doors fixed for him — from one his provision descends, from the other his deeds and speech ascend; when he dies these two doors remember him and weep, and the Prophet ﷺ then recited this verse. Similar reports are related from Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.) (Ibn Kathīr). Another ḥadīth from Shurayḥ ibn ‘Ubayd (raḍ.): the Prophet ﷺ said, "any believer who dies away from home with none to weep for him, the sky and earth weep for him," reciting this verse and saying "the sky and earth do not weep for any disbeliever" (Ibn Jarīr). ‘Alī (raḍ.) too is reported to have spoken of the sky and earth weeping at a righteous man's death (Ibn Kathīr). Some have taken the verse's words as figurative — that the literal weeping of sky and earth is not meant, but that their existence was so unregarded that its ending...] · rukū‘ 2, para 25 · full-page Ma‘ārif

"Fa-mā bakat 'alayhimu-s-samā'u wa-l-arḍ" — (pas un par āsmān wa zamīn ko roṇā nahīn āyā). Matlab yih hai ki unhoñ ne zamīn par koī aisā 'amal-e-ṣāliḥ nahīn kiyā thā ki un ke mar jāne se zamīn ro'ē; aur nō un kā koī nek 'amal āsmān tak pahuñchā thā ki un ko āsmān ro'ē.

Aur yih bāt muta'addid riwāyāt se ṣābit hai ki kisī nek bande kī maut par āsmān wa zamīn rote haiñ. Ḥāfiẓ Abū Ya'lā ne Ḥaḍrat Anas (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) kī riwāyat se Ānḥaḍrat ﷺ kā yih irshād naql kiyā hai ki āsmān meñ har bande ke li'e do darwāze muqarrar haiñ: ek se us kā rizq nāzil hotā hai, dūsre se us kā 'amal aur us kī guftagū ūpar pahuñchtī hai. Ek aur ḥadīṣ meñ jō Ḥaḍrat Shuraiḥ bin 'Ubayd (raḍiyallāhu 'anhu) se marwī hai, āp ﷺ ne irshād farmāyā ki "jō mu'min bḥī aisī ghurbaṭ-ul-waṭanī kī ḥālat meñ martā hai ki us par koī rone wālā nō ho, to us par āsmān wa zamīn rote haiñ." PDF PAGE 769 · [Q 44:32-38 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il (end) + verse table vv.34-38 (Sūrah ad-Dukhān 44) — MA'ĀRIF: in the light of the cited reports the preferable view is that a literal weeping of the sky and earth is meant — when the verse's literal sense is possible and reports support it, there is no need to force it onto figure and metaphor. As for the doubt "where is the awareness in the sky and earth that they weep?" — the answer is plain: every creature of the universe has some measure of awareness, as known from "In min shay'in illā yusabbiḥu bi-ḥamdih", and modern science is gradually reaching the same conclusion; it is not necessary that their weeping be like human weeping — its manner is certainly different, its reality unknown to us. On "wa la-qadi-khtarnāhum 'alā 'ilmin 'alā-l-'ālamīn": this does not entail the Banī Isrā'īl surpassing the ummah of Muḥammad ﷺ, for it means the people of the world of their time, over whom they were then undoubtedly the most excellent — as the Qur'ān mentions Maryam's (raḍ.) precedence over "nisā' al-'ālamīn"; it is also possible that in some particular respect the Banī Isrā'īl have a merit over all the world of every age, while overall excellence belongs to the ummah of Muḥammad ﷺ (details in Ibn Kathīr etc.). "‘alā ‘ilmin" means every act of Ours has wisdom in it — so their being favoured was because Our knowledge's wisdom and interest called for it. On "wa ātaynāhum mina-l-āyāti mā fīhi balā’un mubīn": "signs" means the miracles of the staff and the shining hand etc.; "balā’" has two senses — "favour" and "trial" — both possible here without strain (Qurṭubī). v.34: "Indeed these people say — v.35: it is nothing but our first death, and we shall not be raised. v.36: So bring our forefathers, if you are truthful." v.37: "Are they better, or the people of Tubba’ and those before them? Khulāṣa: hearing the warnings of Qiyāmah these people deny it and say, our final state is just this worldly death, and we shall not be raised again (the final state is not an individual life, but this worldly death, after which nothing happens). So, O Muslims, if you are truthful in your claim of the hereafter, then bring our forefathers back to life now (rather than wait) — meaning only one raised alive could bear witness. Then a threat over their disbelief: let them consider whether they are greater in power and might, or the people of Tubba‘ (kings) and the nations before them (‘Ād, Ṣamūd, etc.) — those nations were greater, yet We destroyed them, simply for being disobedient; so if these do not desist from disobedience, how will they save themselves? Then the soundness and wisdom of Qiyāmah: We did not create the heavens and the earth and what is between them as an act of vain play, but by wisdom — from them is derived the indication of Allāh's perfect power, and the proof of reward and punishment; yet most people do not understand that He who could create such vast bodies from the start can also create them again. The Day of Decision — the Day of Qiyāmah — is the appointed time for all of them (to be raised and requited), which will certainly come at its time. Then some events of Qiyāmah: the Day when no relative will avail a relative at all, nor will any help reach them from anyone — e.g. no protection from their supposed gods; except him on whom Allāh has mercy, for whose sake an intercession made by Allāh's leave will avail, and Allāh will be his helper. PDF PAGE 771 · [Q 44:36-37 · Ma‘ārif o Mas‘il (Sūrah ad-Dukhān 44) — on "fa-‘tū bi-ābā‘inā in kuntum ṣādiqīn": the Qur‘ān did not answer this objection because it is obvious — the raising of all mankind is claimed for the hereafter, when Allāh will bring all to life; in the world, life and death are bound by the particular laws and interests of (divine) power, so Allāh's not granting a second life to someone now is no proof that He cannot raise them again in the hereafter. In logical terms: the non-occurrence of the conditioned does not entail the non-occurrence of the absolute (Bayān al-Qur‘ān). [Box — the story of the people of Tubba‘:] "a-hum khayrun am qawmu Tubba‘" — the people of Tubba‘ are mentioned in the Qur‘ān in two places, here and in Sūrah Qāf, but only by name, with no detailed story; hence the long discussions of the mufasssīrīn about who is meant. In fact "Tubba‘" is not the name of a particular person, but a recurring title of the Ḥimyarī kings of Yemen who, for a long period, made the western part of Yemen their capital and ruled over parts of Arabia, Syria, Iraq and Africa — hence the plural "Tabābi‘ah", and those kings are called "Tabābi‘ah of Yemen". As to which Tubba‘ among them is meant here, Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kathīr's finding seems the more preferable: Tubba‘ al-Awsaṭ, whose name was As‘ad Abū Karib al-Yamānī. This king lived at least seven hundred years before the Prophet's ﷺ mission, and among the Ḥimyarī kings his reign was the longest; in his time he conquered many regions, reaching as far as Samarqand. Muḥammad ibn Ishāq relates that during those conquests he once passed the settlement of Madīna Munawwarah and meant to attack it; the people of Madīna took to fighting him by day and being his hosts by night — which shamed him, and he abandoned his intent to fight them. In the meantime two Jewish scholars there warned him that he could not prevail over that city, for it is the place of migration of the last-age Prophet (ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam). So he took those Jews with him to Yemen, and, affected by their teaching, accepted the dīn of Mūsā,

This shows that where Tubba' himself is mentioned, he had come as a Muslim, though his people later strayed — which is why the Qur'ān in both places mentions "the people of Tubba'", not Tubba' himself. This is supported by reports from Sahl ibn Sa'd and Ibn 'Abbās (raḍ.) — Ibn Abī Ḥātim, Aḥmad, Ṭabarānī etc. — that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Lā tasubbū Tubba'an fa-innahu kāna qad aslama" — do not revile Tubba', for he had come as a Muslim. On "mā khalaqnāhumā illā bi-l-ḥaqqi wa lākinna aksarahum lā ya'lamūn": with a reflective intellect, the sky and earth and their creatures point to many truths — to divine power; to the possibility of the hereafter (for He who brought these vast bodies from nothing to being can surely destroy them once and create them again); to the need for reward and punishment (for without the hereafter's requital this whole edifice of existence would be futile — the very wisdom of its creation is that it be a house of testing, then requited in the hereafter, else the ends of good and evil would be one, which is far from Allāh's wisdom); and the universe rouses the reflective to obey Allāh, for all this creation is His great favour, and the servant is bound to thank that favour by obeying his Creator. v.43: "Indeed the tree of Zaqqūm, v.44: is the food of the sinner, v.45: like molten copper, boiling in the bellies, v.46: like the boiling of scalding water." v.47: "Seize him and drag him to the midst of the Blaze, v.48: then pour over his head from the punishment of scalding water." v.49: "Taste — you are the mighty, the noble!" v.50: "This is what you used to doubt." v.51: "Indeed the God-fearing are in..."] · 'ain 2, rukū' 3, para 25 · Ma'ārif ends, verse table

Khulāṣa: the tree of Zaqqūm — detailed in the second rukū‘ of Sūrah aṣ-Ṣaffāt — is the food of the great criminal (the religious disbeliever), like the dregs of oil in loathsome form, boiling in the bellies like scalding water. The angels will be commanded: seize him and drag him to the very midst of Hell; then pour over his head scalding water. And it will be said mockingly: taste — you were the honoured, the noble! (This is your "honouring" — as in the world you thought yourself great and noble and disdained Our rulings.) And the people of Hell will be told: this is what you used to doubt and deny. Now the state of the believers: the God-fearing will be in a place of security (ease), in gardens and rivers, wearing fine and thick silk, seated facing one another; and We shall wed them to fair, large-eyed maidens. There they will call at ease for every kind of fruit, and there they will taste no death — save the death already past in the world — i.e. they will not die; and Allāh will guard them from the punishment of Hell too. All this will be by the bounty of your Lord — that is the great triumph. So We have made this Qur’ān easy in your tongue, that they may take heed. So await (their end); they too are awaiting (yours).] · rukū‘ 3, para 25 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr of ad-Dukhān 44 (jārī — sūrah concludes on PDF p.775)

Khulāṣa close: O Prophet ﷺ, your task is only to keep telling them; for that purpose We made this Qur'ān easy in your tongue (Arabic), that they may understand it and accept counsel. If they do not accept, await (the descent of afflictions on them); they too are awaiting (afflictions on you). So do not go beyond conveying into anxiety, nor grieve at the opposition; leave their affair to Allāh and be patient — He will settle it Himself. MA'ĀRIF: these verses state some conditions of the hereafter, and as usual the Qur'ān gives the conditions of both Hell and the Garden one after the other. On "inna shajarata-z-zaqqūm": some necessary points on the reality of Zaqqūm are in the tafsīr of Sūrah aṣ-Ṣāffāt — see there. Here it is worth noting that the verses seem to indicate the disbelievers will be fed Zaqqūm before entering Hell, since after "feeding Zaqqūm" comes the command "seize and drag him to the midst of Hell"; and from Sūrah al-Wāqī'a's "hādhā nuzuluhum yawma-d-dīn" some scholars understood the same, since "nuzul" properly means the hospitable reception offered a guest before he reaches the main meal — the later meal being called "ḍiyāfah" or "ma'dubah". But the Qur'ānic wording also allows that the feeding of Zaqqūm be after entering Hell — in which case "nuzul" is used loosely for the meal itself; and the dragging to the midst of Hell would then mean that though he was already in Hell, after the feeding he is taken to its middle part for further disgrace and torment (wallāhu a'lam — summarized from Bayān al-Qur'ān). On "inna-l-muttaqīna fī maqāmin amīn": these verses point to the cool (comforting) blessings of the Garden and gather nearly all classes of blessing — human needs are usually: a fine dwelling, fine clothing, a good life-partner, good food; then the guarantee that all these blessings last, and the certainty of being wholly safe from grief and pain. Here these six things are established for the people of the Garden, as is plain from these six verses. Calling the dwelling of the people of the Garden "amīn" (secure) also hints that the most praiseworthy quality of a human dwelling is its being secure — safe from dangers.] · rukū' 3, para 25 · Khulāṣa ends, Ma'ārif

Kyonki insānī ḍarūrat کى chīzeñ 'umūman yih hotī haiñ: 'umda rihā'ish-gāh, 'umda libās, behtar sharīk-e-zindagī, behtar mā'kulāt; phir in sab ni'matoñ ke bāqī rahne کى ḍamānat, aur ranj wa taklīf se kullī ṭaur par ma'mūn rahne kā yaqīn. Yahān in chāa bātoñ ko Ahl-e-Jannat ke li'e ṣābit kar diyā gayā hai — jaisā ki in chāa āyāt par ghaur karne se ṣāf zāhir hai.

On "sundusin wa istabraq": both are names of silk cloths — "sundus" is fine silk cloth, "istabraq" is thick silk. On "wa zawwajnāhum bi-ḥūrin 'īn": "tazwīj" originally means "to make one the pair of another"; it later became much used for "to give in marriage" — both senses are possible here. On the second sense: the men of the Garden will be given the ḥūr al-'īn in a proper contract of marriage; and though no one in the Garden is liable for rulings, this contract will be by way of honour and dignity, so there is no difficulty. On the first sense: the ḥūr al-'īn will simply be declared the pairs of the men of the Garden, and those women of the Garden bestowed on them as a gift, needing no marriage contract as in the world. On "lā yadhūqūna fihā-l-mawta illā-l-mawtata-l-ūlā": the death that came once (in the world) is the only one — no death will come upon them after it. Though this is also true of the people of Hell (they too will not die there), for them it is a cause of more torment, while for the people of the Garden it increases their joy and delight — for however great a blessing, the thought of its ending necessarily lessens its worth, and when the people of the Garden reflect that these blessings will never be taken from them, their gladness increases. proofs for a people who are certain; and in the succession of night and day, and in the substance of provision (rain) that Allāh sends from the sky and revives the dead earth with, and in the shifting of the winds by direction and quality — now a west wind, now an east; now warm, now cold — in all these are proofs of power and oneness for a people who have sound reason (the method of reasoning to tawḥīd from these was given at Sūrah Āl ‘Imrān's "Inna fī khalqī-s-samāwāt", para 2). The second theme is prophethood: these are the verses of Allāh which We recite to you exactly (by which prophethood is established); yet if these people do not believe despite so great a miraculous proof, then after Allāh and His verses in what discourse would they believe? His mischief is such that when he learns of any of Our verses he ridicules it; for such there is a humiliating punishment in the hereafter — he denies the verses he hears in recitation and also the verses he merely hears reported, so he is far gone in denial. The specification of that punishment: before them is Hell; and then neither the things they earned in the world (wealth and deeds) will avail them at all, nor those they took as protectors and gods besides Allāh; and for them is a great punishment — because this Qur'ān is guidance from end to end, and the demand of that is: those who do not accept their Lord's verses will have the painful punishment of a scourge. MA'ĀRIF: this whole sūrah is Makkī; only one view holds the verse "qul li-lladhīna āmanū yagħfirū li-lladhīna lā yarjūna ayyāma-llāh" to be Madanī, the rest Makkī; but per the jumhūr the whole sūrah was revealed before the Hijrah. Like the other Makkī sūrahs its basic theme is the correction of beliefs — tawḥīd, risālah and the hereafter are proven by various methods, and the proofs for the hereafter, and the refutation of the deniers' doubts and of the dahriyyah (materialists), come in more detail here. On "inna fī-s-samāwātī wa-l-arḍi la-āyātin li-l-mu'minīn": these verses aim to establish tawḥīd; similar verses passed at another para's rukū', "inna fī khalqī-s-samāwātī wa-l-arḍ", with their full tafsīr and how tawḥīd is proven from these things (the slight difference of wording between the two places is discussed in Imām al-Rāzī's Tafsīr Kabīr). One point worth noting: after stating the universe's various signs, one place says the signs are "for the believers", another "for a people who are certain", and a third "for a people who use reason" — besides variety of style, this hints that full — Khulāṣa: Allāh it is who subjected the sea for your benefit — that ships may run in it by His command, and that you, travelling in them, may seek His provision and, gaining it, be grateful. And He subjected to you, from Himself — by His command and bounty — all that is in the heavens and the earth, that it may be a means of your benefit; in this are proofs of power for a people who keep reflecting. (The Muslims were at times angered by the disbelievers' mischief; now they are told to forgive:) tell the believers to forgive those who do not believe in Allāh's dealings — the requital of the hereafter — that Allāh may give a people, the Muslims, a good reward for this righteous deed. For the rule there is total: whoever does a good deed does it for his own benefit and reward, and whoever does an evil deed, its burden falls on him alone; then, after all these good and evil deeds, you must return to your Lord — where you will be given the best reward for your good deeds and character, and your opponents the worst punishment for their kufr and sins; so forgiveness is what befits you here. MA‘ĀRIF: on "Allāhu-lladhī sakhkhara lakumu-l-baḥra... wa li-tabtaghū min faḍlihi": in the Qur’ān "seeking His bounty" generally means the striving of earning a livelihood; here it may mean you were given power over sailing so you might trade by it; and it may be that "seeking bounty" is unrelated to sailing and is a distinct kind of the sea's subjection — meaning We created many beneficial things in the sea and subjected it to you, that you may seek them out and benefit — and modern science shows the sea holds such mineral resources and hidden wealth of the earth as are not even in so much of the dry land. (2) On the Banū al-Muṣṭaliq expedition, the Messenger ﷺ and the Companions camped by a well; the hypocrites' chief ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Ubayy was in the Muslim army. He sent his freed slave (named Mirsaya’ [?]) to draw water; the slave was delayed, and explained that a slave of ‘Umar (raḍ.) sitting at the well's edge let no one draw until the waterskins of the Messenger ﷺ and Abū Bakr (raḍ.) were filled. ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Ubayy said, "the saying applies to us and them: 'sammin kalbaka ya’kulka' — fatten your dog and it will devour you." ‘Umar (raḍ.), informed, went for ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Ubayy with his sword — this verse came; on this report it is Madanī (Qurṭubī, Rūḥ al-Ma‘ānī). If the chains of both are established, they can be reconciled thus: the verse was first revealed in Makka, then when a like incident occurred at Banū al-Muṣṭaliq the Messenger ﷺ recited it there too and applied it to that incident — common in occasion-of-revelation reports; or Jibrā'il (‘alaihi-s-salām) may have brought it again at that incident as a reminder that this was an occasion to act on it — in tafsīr terms, "nuzūl-e-mukarrar" (repeated revelation). "Ayyāma-llāh" per most mufasssīrīn means Allāh's dealings with people in the hereafter — reward and punishment — since "ayyām" is much used in Arabic for "events and dealings". A second point: it could have been said "tell the believers to forgive the mushrikīn"; instead it says "forgive those who do not believe in Allāh's dealings" — perhaps a hint that their real punishment will be in the hereafter, and since they do not believe in the hereafter it will be unexpected and sudden for them, and unexpected pain is far greater; so the punishment reaching them will be most severe, and by it full requital will be taken for all their misdeeds.] · rukū‘ 2, para 25 · full-page Ma‘ārif

Uṣūl-e-tafsīr کى iṣṭilāḥ meñ ise "nuzūl-e-mukarrar" kahā jātā hai.

Aur āyat meñ "ayyāma-llāh" ke lafẓ se murād bishtar mufasssīrīn ke nazdīk Allāh Ta'ālā ke woh mu'āmalāt haiñ j woh ākhirat meñ insānoñ ke sāth kar de gā, ya 'nī jazā wa sazā — kyonki "ayyām" kā lafẓ "wāqī'āt wa mu'āmalāt" ke ma'nے meñ ‘arabī meñ ba-kaṣrat isti'māl hotā hai.

— Khulāṣa: We gave the Banī Isrā'īl fine food — sending down manna and quail in the wilderness of Tīh — and made them owners of the land of Shām, a mine of the earth's blessings; and in some matters (parting the sea, the shade of the cloud, etc.) We favoured them above the people of the world. And We gave them clear proofs of the matter of religion — showed them plain miracles; gave them every kind of importance, sensory, spiritual, intellectual. They ought then to have obeyed well; but they differed only after knowledge came, out of mutual rivalry (stated at para 2, rukū' "Sal Banī Isrā'īl") — the knowledge that should have ended the differences they, by carnal desire, made a cause of difference instead. So your Lord will decide between them on the Day of Resurrection about the matters they differed in. Then, after the era of prophethood among the Banī Isrā'īl ended, We gave you prophethood and set you on a particular way of religion; so follow that way — in deed and in conveying — and do not follow the whims of those ignorant ones (who wish you to abandon conveying, harassing you in every way so you tire and quit — no such thing is to be feared of you, but for the diligence of conveying you are ordered afresh). The reason of this order: these people cannot avail you at all against Allāh (so let them not be followed); the wrongdoers are friends of one another (obeying each other), and Allāh is the friend of the people of taqwā (who obey Him). Since you are no wrongdoer but the chief of the God-fearing, what tie have you with following them? Your tie is with following the divine rulings — you are a possessor of prophethood and the true sharī'ah. And this Qur'ān is, for people at large, a source of understanding and a means of guidance, and for those who attain certainty (a cause of) great mercy. MA'ĀRIF: the subject of these verses is the establishing of the Messenger's ﷺ prophethood, with consolation for him over the disbelievers' denial and rebellion. On "inna rabbaka yaqḍī baynahum...": two points are drawn from the theme so far — the confirmation of his prophethood by the Book and prophethood given to the Banī Isrā'īl; and consolation, that the cause of the Banī Isrā'īl's disputing is the same that faces his people in disputing with him — love of the world, envy and carnal self. The root beliefs have stayed the same in every prophet's community, never amended or changed; but the practical rulings have varied in the different prophets' ('alaihimu-s-salām) sharī'ahs according to their times. The verse calls this second kind of ruling "a particular way of religion", and from it the fuqahā' derive that for the ummah of Muḥammad ﷺ only the rulings of the Muḥammadi sharī'ah are binding. The rulings given to earlier communities are not binding on us unless confirmed by the Qur'ān and Sunnah — one form of confirmation is an explicit statement in Qur'ān or ḥadīth that a given community's ruling is binding on us too; another is that the Qur'ān or the Prophet ﷺ mention an earlier community's ruling with praise and approval and do not say it is abrogated in our time — that too shows the ruling is in force in our sharī'ah, and in that case its being binding is by virtue of being a part of the Muḥammadi sharī'ah. PDF PAGE 785 · [Q 45:21-22 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr + Ma'ārif o Masā'il begins (Sūrah al-Jāthiyah 45) — Khulāṣa: do these people think We shall make them equal to those who took up faith and righteous deeds — that the life and death of all be alike? (i.e. that the believers' life and death be alike in the sense that, as they enjoy pleasures in life, so after death they be deprived; and the disbelievers' life and death be alike in the sense that, as they are spared punishment and hardship in this life, so after death they stay safe from punishment). This means: denying the resurrection would entail that obedient servants nowhere reap the fruit of obedience, and opponents never bear the burden of their opposition — an evil judgement they make. And Allāh created the heavens and the earth with wisdom — one wisdom being that, when His power to create these mighty things is witnessed, every person of reason grasps that He who first created them can destroy them and bring them into being again in the same way, which establishes Qiyāmah and the hereafter; another wisdom, that every person be requited for his deeds — and all know that in this world there is no full requital, so the hereafter must exist — and in that requital they will not be wronged. MA‘ĀRIF: [Box — the world of the hereafter, and requital in it, is rationally necessary:] the gist of the first of these two verses is a rational proof that requital that Day is necessary. Everyone sees, and cannot deny, that in this world good and evil deeds are not fully requited — generally the disbelievers and the wicked pass their lives in worldly wealth and ease, while Allāh's obedient servants are in poverty, want and afflictions. First, in the world the crime of the wicked is often not even known; if known, they are often not caught; if caught, they find ways to escape punishment without regard to lawful/unlawful or truth/falsehood; and if one in hundreds is punished, it is still not the full punishment his deed deserves. So the rebels against Allāh, followers of their desires, strut about in this life, while the poor believers, bound to the sharī‘ah, give up much wealth and pleasure as unlawful, and take only lawful means even to avoid afflictions — so their being deprived of great comforts and pleasures in the world is plain. And once it is known that deeds are not fully requited in this world, then if there is no other world of the hereafter after this one, with a second life and the enforcement of requital, what is calling theft, robbery, zinā, murder etc. a "crime" but folly? These people mostly pass very successful lives in the world — a thief or robber in one night gathers such wealth...]

45) — MA'ĀRIF (concl.): ... a thief or robber gathers in one night such wealth as a graduate could not earn in years of employment and toil; so if there were no hereafter and no reckoning, one would be forced to call that thief and robber better and more excellent than the honest graduate — which no person of reason can stomach. As for the plea that "severe punishments for such people are laid down in every government of the world" — present-day experience shows that only the foolish criminal is caught, while for the clever habitual criminal the roads of escaping punishment lie open; a single bribe is escape-door enough. The upshot: either it must be granted that in the world there is no such thing as good and evil, virtue and vice — that gaining one's object however one can is itself the very good — and no one in the world holds that; or, once the distinction of virtue and vice is granted, the end of the two cannot be made equal — much less the wicked criminal left in more ease than the righteous — no greater wrong than that could be. This is what the Qur'ān stated in the verse: do you wish criminal and non-criminal be made equal in this world and the next? — a most foolish judgement — whereas virtue and vice are not fully requited in the world, so a second life of the hereafter and requital in it is necessary. The second verse completes the theme: "wa li-tujzā kullu nafsin bimā kasabat wa hum lā yuẓlamūn" — to wipe out wrong and oppression and to establish justice, a Day of Requital is necessary. As for the doubt "why was every deed not requited, good or bad, in this world itself?" — that runs against the wisdom of creation: Allāh the Real made this world an abode of action and an abode of testing, not an abode of requital. Wallāhu a'lam. v.23: "Have you seen him who takes his desire as his god, and Allāh sends him astray upon knowledge, and seals his hearing and his heart and sets a covering over his sight — who then will guide him after Allāh? Will you not take heed?" v.24: "And they say: there is nothing but our worldly life — we die and we live, and nothing destroys us but time — and they have no knowledge of that; they only conjecture." v.25: "And when Our clear verses are recited to them, their only argument is to say: bring our fathers, if you are truthful."] · rukū' 3, para 25 · Ma'ārif ends, verse table vv.23-25

let go astray despite his understanding (he heard the truth and grasped it, yet by following desire went astray), and upon whose ear and heart Allāh has set a seal and over whose eye a veil (so that by self-worship his capacity to accept the truth grew very weak) — who then can guide such a man after Allāh? (In this there is also consolation for the Prophet ﷺ.) Next, a rebuke addressed to these deniers: do you, even after hearing these statements, still not understand — an understanding that would profit you — though in the common sense you did understand? And these deniers of Qiyāmah say: there is no life other than this worldly life of ours; we die once and we live once (their aim: that life, like death, belongs to this world alone), and nothing but the turning of time brings us death (i.e. as time passes the bodily powers are spent and death comes by these natural causes; likewise the cause of life is natural factors too — so, since death and life follow natural causes, and natural causes do not require a life of the hereafter, there will be no life of the hereafter). They have no proof of this — they merely drive on by conjecture (no proof for denying the life to come), nor can they answer the proof of the people of truth. So when Our clear verses are recited before them (verses sufficient to establish the claim), their only answer is to say: bring our forefathers back (alive) before us, if you are truthful — they can give no answer but this (e.g. they cannot prove by any rational proof that it is rationally impossible). MA‘ĀRIF: "man ittakhadha ilāhahu hawāhu" — he who has taken his carnal desires as his god. Plainly no one calls his carnal desires his god or object of worship; but this verse teaches that worship is in reality the name of obedience — whoever chooses to obey another over against obedience to Allāh, that other is his object of worship. So when a man has no regard for lawful and unlawful, permitted and forbidden — and in what Allāh has forbidden he follows his self instead of Allāh's command — then though he does not call his self his god with his tongue, in reality it is his god. A Sufī voiced this theme in a couplet: "My forehead is worn from prostrating on the road of idols — how long shall I lay on myself the false charge of the faith of Islam?" — here carnal desires are figured as idols: once one makes one's own desires one's leader and follows behind them, those desires are one's idols. Ḥaḍīth (via Qurṭubī): Abū Umāmah (raḍ.) — "I heard the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ say: of all objects worshipped under the sky, the most hateful to Allāh is carnal desire." Shaddād ibn Aws (raḍ.): the Messenger ﷺ said the wise man is he who holds his self in check and works for what is after death, and the foolish/wicked man is he who lets his self follow its desire and yet keeps hoping in Allāh for good. Sahl ibn ‘Abdullāh al-Tustarī (raḥ.): your disease is your carnal desires; yet if you oppose them, that very disease is also your cure. On "wa mā yuhlikunā illā-d-dahr": "dahr" is properly the name for the whole stretch of time from the world's beginning to its end, and is also used for a very long span. The disbelievers offered as proof that our death and life have no connection with Allāh's command and will but follow natural causes — their observation being that the human organs and faculties wear down with use and after a long span stop entirely, which is death; and they reasoned that life too comes not by divine command but from the natural motions of matter...] · rukū‘ 3, para 25 ·

Hence the sound aḥādīth forbid reviling "time" or "the age": for the force the disbelievers name "dahr" is in reality the power of the Real, so the upshot of cursing "dahr" reaches back to Allāh. The Messenger ﷺ said: "Do not revile time, for time is Allāh." The meaning: the acts these ignorant people call the work of "time" are in truth the work of Allāh's power; "time" is nothing. It does not follow that "dahr" is one of Allāh's names — here Allāh's act is called "dahr" only figuratively. v.27: "To Allāh belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth; and the Day the Hour comes to pass, that Day the followers of falsehood will be the losers." v.28: "And you will see every community kneeling; every community summoned to its record: today you are requited for what you used to do." v.29: "This Our record speaks against you in truth; We were having transcribed all that you did." v.30: "As for those who believed and did righteous deeds, their Lord will admit them into His mercy — that is the manifest triumph." v.31: "But as for those who disbelieved — were not My verses recited to you? This punishment is because you mocked Allāh's verses, and the life of the world had deceived you, so that being absorbed in it you grew wholly heedless of — rather deniers of — the hereafter. So today these people will neither be taken out of Hell, nor will amends toward Allāh's pleasure be sought of them (they will not be given the chance to repent and win His favour). Having heard all these matters, [they also grasp that] all praise belongs to Allāh alone, who is Lord of the heavens and Lord of the earth — and why single out heaven and earth? — He is Lord of the entire universe; and to Him alone belongs [all] greatness (its signs and traces manifest) in the heavens and the earth; and He is the Mighty, the Wise. MA‘ĀRIF: "tarā kulla ummatin jāthiyah" — "jāthiyah" derives from "juthūw", meaning to sit on the knees; Sufyān said "juthūw" is sitting so that only the knees and the toes rest on the ground — a posture of dread and fear. Plainly "kullu ummatin" means this terrified state comes upon all the people of the Gathering, believers and disbelievers alike; and the exemption of the prophets and the righteous from the terror of the Gathering, in other verses and reports, does not contradict it — either that dread comes over prophets and righteous too for a brief while, counted as "not occurring" for its shortness; or "kullu ummatin" means most, not all (kull is sometimes used for "most"). Some mufasssīrīn take "jāthiyah" as the sitting done in ṣalāh, in which case the difficulty falls away — that is a posture of reverence, not fear. "Kullu ummatin tud‘ā ilā kitābihā" — "kitāb" here, per most mufasssīrīn, is the record of deeds the angels wrote in the world; in the Gathering these scrolls will fly out and each person's record reach his hand, and it will be said "iqra' kitābaka kafā bi-nafsika-l-yawma 'alayka ḥasībā" — read your record and reckon for yourself what requital your deeds deserve. Being summoned to the record means being summoned to the reckoning, as stated in the Khulāṣa. Wallāhu a'lam. Khulāṣa: "Ḥā Mīm" (its meaning is known to Allāh) — this Book has been sent from Allāh, the Mighty, the Wise, so its contents deserve reflection. Then tawḥīd and the resurrection: We created the heavens and the earth and what is between them only with wisdom and for a fixed term; yet the disbelievers turn away, in indifference, from what they are warned of (e.g. that for denying tawḥīd there is punishment for them at Qiyāmah) and do not accept tawḥīd. Say to them: tell me — the things you worship in place of Allāh's oneness, what proof is there that they deserve worship? If it is a rational proof, show me what patch of the earth they created, or what share they have in the heavens — and plainly you yourselves do not hold them to be creators (which alone could be a proof of deserving worship), but call them creatures (which is incompatible with deserving worship). So rational proof is absent; and if you have a transmitted proof, bring me a sound Book — one from before this Qur'ān — containing a sanction for shirk (for you know the Qur'ān denies shirk, so another Book would be needed); or, failing a Book, bring some other authoritative account handed down orally and not set in a Book — if you are truthful in your claim of shirk (the point: a transmitted proof must be verifiable and reliable — a prophet's Book, or his spoken word). Plainly no one can produce such a proof. As for one who still will not desist from his false belief: who is more astray than he who — despite being helpless for proof and the proof standing against him — calls, apart from Allāh, upon an object of worship that will not answer him till Qiyāmah and is not even aware of his calling; and when all are gathered for the reckoning, those objects of worship will become their enemies and will deny their worship outright — so what error is greater than worshipping such objects, for which there is no reasonable ground, while the grounds against it are many? MA'ĀRIF: "qul a-ra'aytum mā tadūna min dūni-llāh" — these verses demand of the idolaters proof for their claim of shirk, since no claim is acceptable rationally or in sharī'ah without testimony and proof; and here both kinds of proof [rational and transmitted] are gathered together and...] · rukū' 1, para 26 · full-page Khulāṣa + Ma'ārif begins

MAʿĀRIF (concl.): it is established that no proof or testimony of any kind exists for your claim, so clinging to this baseless claim is nothing but misguidance. The verse names three sorts of proof. One is a rational proof — negated by "arūnī mādhā khalaqū mina-l-arḍi am lahum shirkun fī-s-samāwāt". The second sort is transmitted proof — and plainly, in Allāh's matter, only a transmitted proof that comes from the Real Himself can count: the revealed Books (Torah, Injīl, Qurʾān, etc.), or the sayings of those He chose as His messengers and prophets. Of these two, the first is negated by "itūnī bi-kitābin min qabli hādhā" — if you have any transmitted proof for idolatry, produce a revealed Book that sanctions idol-worship and shirk. The second — the sayings of prophets — is negated by "aw athāratin min ʿilm": failing a Book, show at least a saying of one of the prophets, established from him by a trustworthy chain. Since you can produce neither, your word and deed can be nothing but misguidance. In "athāratin min ʿilm", "athārah" is a maṣdar on the pattern of shajā‘ah, samāḥah, meaning transmission and narration; hence ‘Ikrimah and Muqātil glossed "athāratin min ‘ilm" as "narration from the prophets", and Qurṭubī reported this with a sound chain. In sum: two kinds of transmitted proof count — a revealed Book Allāh sent down upon a prophet, and a prophet's saying established from him by a reliable chain. That is the meaning of "athāratin min ‘ilm" — all this is taken from Tafsīr al-Qurṭubī, and it is the preferred, unclouded interpretation. Other glosses are reported from some, but they are not themselves established nor suited to the Qur’ānic flow, so the majority do not prefer them. Wallāhu a‘lam. v.7: "And when Our clear verses are recited to them, the disbelievers say of the truth when it comes to them: this is plain magic." v.8: "Or do they say he has forged it? Say: if I have forged it, you have no power to avail me anything against Allāh; He knows best what you pour forth about it; He suffices as witness between me and you, and He is the Forgiving, the Merciful." v.9: "Say: I am no new thing among the messengers..."] · rukū‘ 1, para 26 · Ma‘ārif ends, verse table vv.7-9

Its answer: say — had I composed it myself and pinned it on God, then God, by His way, would soon destroy me for this deceiving of people with a false claim of prophethood; and then neither you nor anyone could save me the least bit from God's punishment (i.e. punishment for a false claim of prophethood is so inevitable that no helper of mine could hold it off) — but no punishment

PDF PAGE 796 · [Q 46:9-10 · Khulāṣa-e-Tafsīr (end) + Ma‘ārif o Masā’il begins (Sūrah al-Aḥqāf 46) — Khulāṣa (concl.): ...so it is also part of His great mercy that punishment does not fall on the disbelievers [at once], and He grants even them at times a share of the general mercy. Hence the absence of worldly punishment on the deniers is not proof of their truthfulness — unlike the claimant of prophethood, where a false claim and the descent of punishment are mutually entailed, because a false claimant of prophethood left unpunished in the world could become a cause of people's misguidance — unlike other criminals. Next, an emphatic confirmation of prophethood: say — I am no strange messenger for you to marvel at, for many prophets came before me, whose account has reached you by mass transmission. Nor do I claim any other extraordinary thing such as knowledge of the unseen: I myself say that of the unseen I know only what is given to me by revelation; of any other unseen matter I have no knowledge — so much so that I do not know what will be done with me, nor what will be done with you. So when I do not even claim knowledge of my own and your future states, how could I claim the far things of the unseen? Yet the matters whose knowledge has come to me by revelation — whether about myself or others, whether of this world or the hereafter — of these my knowledge is indeed complete. Hence: in practice I follow only what comes to me by revelation, and I convey it; and if you do not accept it, I lose nothing, for I am only a plain warner (which I have established by proofs). And the rebuttal of the charge of forgery, made in brief by "huwa a‘lamu bimā tufīḍūna fīh", is now spelled out: say — tell me, if this Qur’ān be from Allāh, and you deny it, while its being from Allāh is further confirmed (e.g. by a witness from the scholars of the Children of Israel — recognised and reliable in religious knowledge, one or more, past or present or future) who testifies to the like of it and believes, and you, for all your ignorance, are only arrogant — then who is more unjust than you? And the state of the unjust is that Allāh does not guide the unjust people (because of their obstinacy); they stay always in misguidance, and the end of misguidance is the Fire. PDF PAGE 797 · [Q 46:10 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il (Sūrah al-Aḥqāf 46) — the sentence "in attabi'u" carries the sense of exception: "I know nothing except what is revealed to me." On this basis, the tafsīr adopted in the Khulāṣa is the one narrated from the imām of tafsīr al-Ḍaḥḥāk: knowledge of unseen matters can reach me only through revelation; where a matter's knowledge has not come to me by revelation — whether concerning my own person or the believers and disbelievers of the ummah, whether an affair of this world or the hereafter — of that I have no news. Whatever I say about unseen matters, I say from divine revelation. The Qur'ān itself states that Allāh granted the Prophet ﷺ countless kinds of knowledge of the unseen: "tilka min anba'i-l-ghaybi nūḥīhā ilayk" means just this. Matters of the hereafter — Hell, Paradise, the reckoning, reward and punishment — are stated in detail in the Qur'ān itself in great number; and many details of future events in this world are narrated from the Messenger ﷺ in sound, mass-transmitted aḥādīth. From this it is clear that the verse means only this: I am not, in encompassing knowledge of the unseen, like Allāh, nor am I independent in that knowledge; rather I relate whatever is told me by divine revelation. Tafsīr Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī, after citing this view, adds: my belief is that the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ did not depart this world until Allāh had, by revelation, informed him of Allāh's Essence and Attributes, and of the hereafter, and of the important affairs to befall in this world. As for knowledge of the particular, individual circumstances and affairs of persons — what so-and-so will do and how he will end, what this or that man is doing or will do in his house — knowledge of such unseen particulars is no perfection at all, nor does its absence make any difference to knowledge or to the perfection of prophethood. [Box — the courtesy due regarding the Messenger's ﷺ knowledge of the unseen:] it is that one should not say "he did not know the unseen", but rather say "Allāh gave the Messenger ﷺ a very great knowledge of unseen matters, such as was given to no other prophet." Some mufasssīrīn answered that the denial of knowledge in this verse concerns only worldly matters; the denial of knowledge of the unseen regarding the hereafter is not included (as al-Qurṭubī mentions) — they most likely did not take "in attabi'u illā mā yūḥā" as an exception, so they restricted the denial of unseen knowledge to worldly affairs, since about the hereafter the Prophet plainly stated that the disbeliever goes to Hell and the believer to Paradise. On "wa shahida shāhidun min banī Isrā'īla 'alā mithlihi fa-āmana wa-stakbartum" — its theme is nearly the same as the verse in the last rukū' of Sūrah ash-Shu'arā', namely "a wa lam yakun lahum..." · rukū' 2, para 26 · full-page Ma'ārif

Isrā‘īl" is: these ignorant Jews and Christians who deny the Messengership ^{صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ} and the Qur‘ān are themselves ignorant of, and unacquainted with, their own Books; for many scholars of the Children of Israel, seeing in their Books the prophethood of the Prophet ^{صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ} and its signs, have believed in him — is the testimony of those scholars not enough for these ignorant people? The verse says: you claim that my claim of Messengership and the Qur‘ān's being Allāh's Book are false and a forgery — first, to show its falsity, the point already stated suffices: one who forges so openly against Allāh, saying "He made me a prophet and sent me", while in fact he is no prophet, must be struck by Allāh's punishment in this very world and destroyed, so that people be saved from his deception. Second, suppose you still do not accept this — do not ignore the possibility: if my claim proves true and this Book really is from Allāh, and you persist in disbelieving it, what will your end be? — especially when someone eminent from your own people, the Children of Israel, testifies that it is from Allāh and becomes Muslim, and you after that still persist in obstinacy and arrogance — how deserving of punishment will you then be! The verse's wording names no particular Israelite scholar, nor fixes whether the testimony came before this verse or is yet to come; it is put as a conditional clause: if such has happened in the past, or happens in the future, you should fear how you will escape punishment. So grasping the verse's sense does not depend on identifying a specific Israelite witness; rather all Jews and Christians who entered Islam are included — of whom ‘Abdullāh ibn Salām (raḍ.) is the best known — though his faith came after this verse, in Madīnah, and this whole sūrah is Makkī (Ibn Kathīr). Some reports from Sa‘d (raḍ.) say this verse was revealed about ‘Abdullāh ibn Salām (raḍ.) — as al-Bukhārī, Muslim, and al-Nasā’ī narrate from Mālik's ḥadīth — and Ibn ‘Abbās, Mujāhid, al-Ḍaḥḥāk, Qatādah and other imāms of tafsīr all agreed it was revealed concerning ‘Abdullāh ibn Salām; this does not conflict with its being Makkī, for in that case the statement is a prophecy for the future (thus said Ibn Kathīr). v.11: "And those who disbelieve say of those who believe: had it been any good they would not have beaten us to it; and since they were not guided by it, they will say: this is an ancient lie."] · rukū‘ 2, para 26 · Ma‘ārif cont., verse table v.11

Khulāṣa: these disbelievers say of the believers' faith: had this Qur’ān been anything good (i.e. true), these people would not have gone ahead of us to it — we are the great intelligent ones and they are the dull; and the intelligent accept the truth first; so had it been true we would have accepted it first, and since we did not, it is not true — they run this way and that in their foolishness. This saying of theirs is proof of their utmost arrogance, mentioned ahead in "wa-stakbartum". And when, through obstinacy and pride, these people found no guidance in the Qur’ān, they, out of spite, say: this too is, like the ancient false tales, one more lie. And before this Qur’ān the Book of Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) had come down — a guide for Mūsā's community in general, and a mercy for the believers in particular. And just as the Torah foretells this Qur’ān, so this Qur’ān is a Book confirming that prophecy, in the Arabic tongue — sent down to warn the wrongdoers and to give good news to the righteous. MA‘ĀRIF: "law kāna khayran mā sabaqūnā ilayh" — arrogance and vanity distort a man's very reason. The arrogant man makes his own reason and his own conduct the measure of good and bad, right and wrong; whatever he dislikes, however much others may think it good, he counts them all fools — while he himself is the fool. This same degree of the disbelievers' pride is described here: since Islam and faith did not please them, they said to others who loved faith: had this faith been anything good, it would have pleased us first — what worth is the liking of these other poor, needy people?] · rukū‘ 2, para 26 · verse table vv.11-12 + Khulāṣa + Ma‘ārif begins sent down on him, which these Jews and Christians all accept; and it also strengthens the earlier "wa shahida shāhidun", since Mūsā and the Torah are themselves witnesses to the truthfulness of the Qur’ān and the Messenger ﷺ.

And just as We made the rights of Allāh obligatory, so We made the rights of fellow-servants obligatory too — one very great such right being that of the parents; so We enjoined man to treat his parents kindly, and the mother especially and more, since his mother carried him in her womb with great hardship and bore him with hardship, and his carrying in the womb and his weaning are (usually) completed in thirty months. All those days she bears trouble of every kind; and to some degree the father shares these troubles — indeed for most matters the father must, by habit, arrange things, and the disturbance of one's ease falls on both equally — so the right of both parents is made the more binding upon man. Then he grows up, until, having grown, he reaches his young manhood (i.e. puberty), and then, month by month after puberty, reaches forty years of age, when — if he is fortunate — he says: my Lord, grant me constancy in being thankful for Your favours which You bestowed on me and on my parents (if the parents are Muslim, then also the favour of religion; else the worldly favour is plain — and the favour of the parents reaches the child too: their existence and continuance, a worldly favour, is the very cause of the child's own existence; and the effect of the religious favour is that their teaching and upbringing become for him a means of knowledge and practice). And he also says: grant me too the keeping-up of doing righteous deeds that please You; and set right for me [righteousness] in my offspring too (worldly benefit: that he find comfort in seeing them;

religious benefit: that there be reward and recompense); and I turn to You in repentance (from sins too); and I am [Your] obedient one (meant as an avowal of servitude, not a boast). Then the result of these deeds: these are they from whom We accept their good deeds and overlook their sins, so that they are among the people of Paradise — all by virtue of the true promise made to them in the world. Next the wrongdoers and the wretched:) and he who — as appears from his saying — trampled both the rights of Allāh and the rights of servants, who said to his parents (whose right is the most emphasised among the rights of servants — especially when they are Muslim, and especially when they are calling him to Islam): "uff to you! Whereas many fixed communities passed away before me — whose prophets in every age gave them such tidings, yet to this day nothing has come to pass." From this he concludes: these are all just talk. And the two poor parents, alarmed at his denial — which is a monstrous kufr — cry to Allāh for help, and in deep anguish say to him: "woe to you, believe! Hold the Day of Resurrection as truth too; indeed Allāh's promise is true." Yet he says even to this: these unwelcome tales have been handed down from the ancients. (The point: he is so wretched that he commits both kufr and ill-treatment of his parents, and ill-treatment to the degree that, along with opposing them, he is even rude to them in speech.) Then the result of these deeds: these are they against whom, along with the earlier communities of jinn and men (disbelievers) who passed away before them, Allāh's word — the promise of punishment — has come true; indeed these are all losers. Then the foregoing detail is summed up: for each of the two parties there are distinct degrees according to their differing deeds — some of Paradise, some of Hell — and the degrees differ so that Allāh may pay each in full for his deeds, and they will not be wronged in any way. (For the doers of good, Paradise had been named specifically; but the wrongdoers' punishment had not been specified — only stated in brief as "ḥaqqa 'alayhimu-l-qawlu" and "kānū khāsirīn" — so now the punishment is specified:) worth remembering is the Day the disbelievers are brought before the Fire, and told: you obtained your objects of pleasure in your worldly life (here no pleasure will be yours) and enjoyed them fully (until, absorbed in them, you forgot even Us) — so today you are given the punishment of humiliation (the Fire for punishment, and reproach and rebuke as part of the humiliation) — because you were arrogant on earth without right ("arrogance" here meaning the kind that keeps one from faith, since eternal punishment is tied to that alone), and because you used to transgress (kufr, fisq, zulm and all its forms included). MA'ĀRIF: of the verses at the head, the first two complete the earlier discourse — that there was a warning of punishment for the wrongdoers and glad tidings of success for the righteous believers. The first verse, "inna-lladhīna qālū rabbunā-llāhu thumma-staqāmū", gathers with great eloquence all of Islam, faith and righteous deeds together: the avowal "rabbunā-llāhu" is complete faith, and steadfastness upon it...] · rukū' 3, para 26 · Khulāṣa ends, Ma'ārif begins

This verse promises those steadfast on faith that they will have no fear of any coming hardship or distress, nor grief and regret over past hardship; and the following verse gives the glad tidings of that unmatched comfort being permanent and unbroken. The four verses after it teach kindness to the parents, condemn its opposite, and along the way mention the parents' favours upon the person, their bearing of severe toil and hardship for the child, and — on reaching an advanced age — the special instruction to turn back to Allāh in repentance. Its connection with the preceding verses, per Ibn Kathīr, is that the Qur'ān's general style is: where it calls man to obedience and worship of Allāh, it also, alongside, gives rulings of good conduct, service and obedience toward the parents — many verses in various sūrahs attest this; in the same style, here too the mention of kindness to parents comes with the call to Allāh's oneness. Al-Qurṭubī, via al-Qushayrī, gives the link as: in it there is a consolation for the Messenger ﷺ — that he should keep calling to faith and tawḥīd; some will accept, some will not; let him not grieve at that, for man's very state is that not all treat even their own parents alike — some behave well, some behave badly. Wallāhu a'lam. In any case, the main theme of these four verses is enjoining kindness to parents, with other teachings incidental. Though some ḥadīth reports show these verses were revealed concerning Ṣiddīq al-Akbar (raḍ.) —

and on this basis Tafsīr Mazharī takes the alif-lām in "al-insān" as the alif-lām of ‘ahd, meaning Ṣiddīq al-Akbar — it is plain that even when a verse's occasion of revelation is a particular person or event, the ruling is still general for all. Even if the occasion is specifically Ṣiddīq al-Akbar and the particulars mentioned are his attributes, the intent of the verses is still a general teaching. And if the verses are taken as a general teaching, Ṣiddīq al-Akbar is still the first exemplar of that teaching; the particulars mentioned about becoming young and reaching forty years would then be by way of illustration. Now see the explanation of the specific words of these verses: "wa waṣṣaynā-l-insāna bi-wālidayhi ihsānā" — the word "waṣiyyah" is used in the sense of an emphatic command; and "ihsān" means good conduct, which includes serving and obeying them, and also honouring and revering them.] · rukū‘ 3, para 26 · full-page Ma‘ārif

Sābiqa āyāt se is kى munāsabat aur rabṭ, ba-qaul Ibn Kaṣīr, yih hai ki Qur’ān Karīm kā ‘ām uslub yih hai ki woh jahān insān ko Allāh Ta‘ālā kى aṭā‘at wa ‘ibādat kى ṭaraf da‘wat detā hai, wahān sāth hī sāth wālidayn ke sāth ḥusn-e-sulūk aur khidmat wa aṭā‘at ke aḥkām bہی detā hai. The first clause commanded kindness to the parents; this second clause emphasises it: one reason serving and obeying the parents is necessary is that from your birth to your youth they bore great hardships for you, and the mother's toil and hardship especially stands out — so only the mother's hardship is mentioned here: she carried you a long period, nine months, in her womb, bearing every kind of trouble and hardship in it; then at the time of birth your existence came into this world amid severe pain and suffering. [Box — the command of kindness at the start of the verse is for both mother and father, but the wisdom in mentioning only the mother's toil here is that the mother's toil is unavoidable and necessary — the troubles of the pregnancy, then delivery and the pain of labour, are in every case unavoidable for every child, and that is the mother's toil alone. For the father, bearing toil in rearing is not so unavoidable — a wealthy man with servants and retinue might have others serve the child, or he might go to another land and keep sending expenses. That is why the Messenger ﷺ set the mother's right over the child highest. A ḥadīth: "ṣil ummaka thumma ūmmaka thumma ummaka thumma abāka thumma adnāka fa-adnāka" (Maẓharī) — keep ties with and serve your mother, then your mother, then your mother, then after that your father, then the nearest relative, then whoever is next.] "Wa ḥamluhu wa fiṣāluhu thalāthūna shahran" — this clause too states the mother's toil: even after the hardship of carrying and delivering the child, the mother finds no rest from toil, for Nature has placed the child's food too in the mother's breasts, and she suckles it. The verse says the child's carrying and weaning are within thirty months. 'Alī (karramallāhu wajhahu) argued from this verse that the minimum term of pregnancy is six months — because the Qur'ān has fixed the maximum term of suckling at a full two years, as in "wa-l-wālidātu yurḍī 'na awlādahunna ḥawlayni kāmilaḥ", while here the term of carrying and suckling together is set at thirty months.] · rukū' 3, para 26 · full-page Ma'ārif

A report: in the time of 'Uthmān al-Ghanī (raḍ.) a woman bore a child a little past six months, whereas the usual habit is nine months and at least seven months; 'Uthmān (raḍ.) ruled the pregnancy illicit and ordered punishment. 'Alī (karramallāhu wajhahu), on learning of it, stopped 'Uthmān (raḍ.) from that punishment, saying: the Qur'ān sets the combined term of pregnancy and suckling at thirty months; and elsewhere it fixes the suckling term at twenty-four months — so the remaining term, six months, is the minimum term of pregnancy. 'Uthmān al-Ghanī (raḍ.) accepted the argument and withdrew his ruling (Qurṭubī). Hence on the minimum term of pregnancy all the imāms of the ummah agree that it can be six months; on the maximum term the imāms' views differ, and the Qur'ān gives no ruling on it. [Fā'idah: the verse mentions the minimum term of pregnancy and the maximum term of suckling — a hint that the minimum term of pregnancy is fixed at six months, below which a sound, whole child cannot be born; but how long at most a child may stay in the womb — habits differ, and it is not fixed. Likewise the maximum term of suckling is fixed at two years; the minimum is not fixed — some women have no milk, some women's milk dries in a few months, some children do not take much of the mother's milk or it harms them, so other milk must be given.] [Box — the scholars' disagreement on the maximum term of pregnancy and of suckling: the maximum term of pregnancy, per Imām al-A'zam Abū Ḥanīfah (raḥ.), is two years. From Imām Mālik (raḥ.) various reports: four years, five years, seven years. Per Imām al-Shāfi'ī (raḥ.), four years; Imām Aḥmad's (raḥ.) well-known report is also four years (Maḥzarī). As for the maximum term of suckling — since the prohibition by fosterage and its rulings hang on it — per the majority of jurists (rah.) it is two years: Imāms Mālik, al-Shāfi‘ī, Aḥmad ibn Ḥanbal (rah.), and among the Ḥanafī imāms Abū Yūsuf and Imām Muḥammad (rah.) all agree. Among the Companions, ‘Umar and Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.) held this too (narrated by al-Dāraqutnī); ‘Alī al-Murtaḍā and ‘Abdullāh ibn Mas‘ūd (raḍ.) said the same (Ibn Abī Shaybah). Only from Imām al-A‘ẓam Abū Ḥanīfah (rah.) is it reported that a child may be suckled up to two and a half years — whose upshot, per the majority of Ḥanafīs, is that if the child is weak and takes no food but the mother's milk even at two years, another six months of suckling is allowed; since all agree that the term of fosterage...] · rukū‘ 3, para 26 · full-page Ma‘ārif

Sayyidī Ḥakīm al-Ummat, in Bayān al-Qur‘ān, said: though the fatwā is on the majority's view, in practice it is better to be cautious — caution should be exercised regarding marriage with a child suckled within the two-and-a-half-year term. Some tried, from "wa ḥamluhu wa fiṣāluhu thalāthūna shahran", to establish, per Imām al-A‘ẓam's (raḥ.) view, that the maximum term of suckling is two and a half years. Tafsīr Maẓharī said this is not correct, because a group of the Companions — ‘Alī al-Murtaḍā, ‘Uthmān al-Ghanī (raḍ.) — settled the interpretation that the verse means six months as the minimum term of pregnancy and twenty-four months as the term of suckling. Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.) said the Qur‘ān gave the combined term of pregnancy and suckling as thirty months, without stating each one's limit separately — the reason being that the general habit is that a child is born in nine months; when born at a full nine months, the mother need only suckle for twenty-one months; if born at seven months, twenty-three months of suckling are needed; and a child born at six months needs the full twenty-four months — i.e. two full years — of suckling (Maẓharī). "Ḥattā idhā balagha ashuddahu wa balagha arba‘īna sanah" — the word "ashudd" lexically means "strength". In Sūrah al-An‘ām, under "ḥattā yablughā ashuddahu", it was glossed as "bulūgh" — i.e. when the child reaches the age of maturity. Ibn ‘Abbās (raḍ.) said "bulūgh al-ashudd" means reaching the age of eighteen years. In the verse here too some took "balagha ashuddahu" to mean reaching the age of maturity, and made

"balagha arba'īna sanah" a separate stage of life — this is the view of al-Sha'bī and Ibn Zayd. Al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī (raḥ.) took "bulūgh al-ashudd" and "balagha arba'īn" as synonymous, making "balagha arba'īn" the explanation and emphasis of "balagha ashuddahu" (Qurṭubī). The implied sense of the passage: after mentioning the child's carrying in the womb, then delivery, then the suckling period, the point of "ḥattā idhā balagha" is — "and he lived on and his life continued until his strength and his reason (spirit) grew firm and settled" — i.e. after weaning the child lived on and reached an age at which he became mature and strong, his strength and reason complete, and he was granted the ability to turn back toward his Creator and Sustainer, and began to pray thus: "rabbi awzi'nī an ashkura ni'mataka-llatī an'amta 'alayya wa 'alā wālidayya wa an a'mala ṣāliḥan tarḍāhu wa aṣliḥ lī fī dhurriyyatī, innī tubtu ilayka wa innī mina-l-muslimīn" — i.e. ...] · rukū' 3, para 26 · full-page Ma'ārif

PDF PAGE 808 · [Q 46:15 · Ma'ārif o Masā'il (Sūrah al-Aḥqāf 46) — "...my Sustainer, grant me the ability to thank You for the favour You bestowed on me and on my parents; and grant me the ability to do the deed that pleases You; and set right for me my offspring too; I turn to You, and I am of the Muslims who obey You." From "ḥattā idhā balagha ashuddahu" to "mina-l-muslimīn" the Qur'ān used the past tense throughout — which shows this describes a particular event and a particular person, already fulfilled by the time of the verse's revelation. Hence Tafsīr Mazḥarī adopts that all these states are of Abū Bakr al-Ṣiddīq (raḍ.); his case is stated in general wording so that other Muslims too be encouraged to do likewise. Its proof is the report Qurṭubī cites from Ibn 'Abbās (raḍ.): when the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ, at the age of twenty, set out to trade with Khadīja's (raḍ.) wealth and travelled to Syria, Abū Bakr al-Ṣiddīq was with him on that journey; Abū Bakr's age then was eighteen years, the exemplar of "balagha ashuddahu". On that journey he saw such states of the Prophet ﷺ that he became so devoted that after returning he kept constantly in his company, until, when the Prophet's blessed age reached forty and Allāh honoured him with prophethood and messengership, Abū Bakr's (raḍ.) age was then thirty-eight [text: "twenty-three"; per most sources ~38]. He was the first among men to accept Islam. Then when his age reached forty he made the prayer mentioned in the verse, "rabbi awzi'nī" — the exemplar of "balagha arba'īna sanatan". When he prayed "an a'mala ṣāliḥan tarḍāhu", Allāh answered it: he was granted the ability to buy and free slaves who had become Muslim and whose masters tortured them in various ways for entering Islam. Likewise his prayer "aṣliḥ lī fī dhurriyyatī" was answered — none of his offspring remained who did not believe. Likewise among the Companions (raḍ.), the Real granted this distinction to Ṣiddīq al-Akbar alone: that he himself became Muslim, his parents too, his offspring too, and all had the honour of the Prophet's ﷺ company. Tafsīr Rūḥ al-Ma'ānī: this is also supported by the fact that among all the Companions, Muhājirīn and Anṣār, only Ṣiddīq al-Akbar (raḍ.) had at that time the distinction that both he and his parents became Muslim. As for the question that Ṣiddīq al-Akbar's father Abū Quḥāfah (raḍ.) became Muslim after the Conquest of Makka, and this sūrah is wholly Makkī — so these verses were revealed in Makka; how then is it fitting to mention Allāh's favour bestowed on the parents at that time? The answer: some hold these verses to be Madanī, in which case no difficulty remains; and even if Makkī, the favour meant is being honoured with the favour of Islam...] · rukū' 3, para 26 · full-page Ma'ārif

By this interpretation, though all these states are described of Ṣiddīq al-Akbar (raḍ.), the ruling is general — the aim is to guide all Muslims that when a man's age nears forty, concern for the hereafter should dominate him: he should renew repentance from past sins, and make full effort to avoid them in future — for habit and experience show that the character and habits a person acquires by forty become hard to change afterwards. A ḥadīth from 'Uthmān al-Ghanī (raḍ.): the Messenger of Allāh ﷺ said — when the believing servant reaches forty years, Allāh eases his reckoning; when he reaches sixty, Allāh grants him turning back and repentance toward Him; when he reaches seventy, all the dwellers of heaven begin to love him; when he reaches eighty, Allāh fixes his good deeds and wipes out his evil deeds; and when he reaches ninety, Allāh forgives all his former and latter sins, gives him the right to intercede for his household, and it is written beside his name in heaven that he is "aṣīrullāh fī-l-arḍ" — Allāh's captive on earth (Ibn Kathīr, from Abū Ya‘lā and Musnad Aḥmad etc.). Plainly the one meant is the believing servant who spent his life obedient to the sharī‘ah, with taqwā. Since Ibn Kathīr adopted the first interpretation — that the general human being is meant — the words of specificity in it, like "ḥattā idhā balagha ashuddahu wa balagha arba‘īna sanatan" etc., are all by way of illustration; the aim in them is to guide that when a person reaches forty, concern for his own reform, the reform of his family, and the hereafter should dominate him. Wallāhu subḥānahu wa Ta‘ālā a‘lam. "Ulā’ika-lladhīna nataqabbalu ‘anhum aḥsana mā ‘amilū wa natajāwazu ‘an sayyi’ātihim" — i.e. such believers as have the states passed above, their good deeds are accepted and their sins forgiven. This ruling too is general; if its occasion is Ṣiddīq al-Akbar (raḍ.), he is its first exemplar. The generality of the verse's sense is also shown by the following statement of ‘Alī (raḍ.): Ibn Kathīr narrates in his tafsīr, with a chain, from Muḥammad ibn Ḥaṭīb (raḍ.): I was once in the presence of Amīr al-Mu‘minīn ‘Alī (raḍ.), and with him were some others who cast some fault on ‘Uthmān (raḍ.); to this ‘Alī (raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu) said: [Box, Arabic] "kāna ‘Uthmān raḍiyallāhu ‘anhu mina-lladhīna qāla-llāhu Ta‘ālā fīhim: ulā’ika-lladhīna nataqabbalu ‘anhum aḥsana mā ‘amilū" — ‘Uthmān (raḍ.) was of those about whom Allāh said "ulā’ika-lladhīna nataqabbalu ‘anhum aḥsana mā ‘amilū".] · rukū‘ 3, para 26 · full-page Ma‘ārif

PDF PAGE 810 · [Q 46:16-21 · Ma'ārif o Mas'īl (cont.) + verse table v.21 begins (Sūrah al-Aḥqāf 46) — [Box, Arabic — 'Alī's (raḍ.) words:] "...wa natajāwazu 'an sayyi'ātihim fī aṣḥābi-l-jannati, wa 'da-ṣ-ṣidqi-lladhī kānū yū'adūn — by Allāh, 'Uthmān and his companions; by Allāh, 'Uthmān (raḍ.)" — he said it three times (Ibn Kathīr). The exemplar of this verse is 'Uthmān (raḍ.) and his companions — 'Alī (raḍ.) said this three times. "Wa-lladhī qāla li-wālidayhi uffin lakumā" — the previous verse gave rulings of serving and obeying the parents; this verse mentions the punishment of one who treats his parents badly, with foul speech — especially when the parents are calling him to Islam and righteous deeds; not obeying them then is a double sin. Ibn Kathīr said the verse's sense is plainly general — whoever treats his parents badly is its exemplar. Marwān, in one of his sermons, made 'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Abī Bakr (raḍ.) the exemplar of this verse; its refutation is narrated in

Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī from ‘Ā’ishah (raḍ.). The correct position is that the verse's sense is general; no sound report makes any individual its exemplar. "Adhhabtum ṭayyibātikum fī ḥayātikum-d-dunyā" — the disbelievers will be addressed and told: if you did any good deeds in the world, their reward has already been given to you in the form of worldly favours and comfort and ease; now no share of yours remains in the hereafter. This address is to the disbelievers, showing that the disbelievers' good deeds — not accepted by Allāh because of their unbelief — have no worth in the hereafter, but in this world Allāh gives them their return: the wealth, honour, rank and pomp that disbelieving sinners get in the world is the return for their good deeds — generosity, sympathy, honesty and so on. For the believers this ruling does not hold: if they receive some favour, wealth etc. in the world they are not thereby deprived of their right in the hereafter. Hence the encouragement to abstain from worldly pleasures and luxury: this verse ties the disbelievers' punishment to their being absorbed in worldly pleasures. So the Messenger ﷺ and the Companions and Successors made a habit of forsaking worldly pleasures, as their conduct attests. When sending Mu‘ādh (raḍ.) to Yemen the Messenger ﷺ counselled him to keep abstaining from worldly luxury. And ‘Alī (karramallāhu wajhahu) narrates that the Messenger ﷺ said: whoever is content to take a little provision from Allāh, Allāh too is content with his little deed (Maḥzarī, from al-Baghawī). v.21: "And mention the brother of ‘Ād, when he warned his people at al-Aḥqāf — and warners had passed away..." · rukū‘ 3, para 26 · Ma‘ārif cont., verse table v.21 begins

And this is so necessary and true a matter that before Hūd ('alaihi-s-salām) and after him many warning prophets have passed away conveying this same theme. (It is no wonder that Hūd stated to his people that all of them agreed in the call to tawḥīd; hence "wa qad khalati-n-nudhuru" is inserted in the middle — for these benefits: to emphasise the substance of the call. And Hūd said in his warning:) I fear for you the punishment of a mighty, severe Day (if you would be saved from it, accept tawḥīd). They said: have you come with the aim of turning us away from our gods? — we are not going to turn away; if you are truthful, bring down on us the punishment you promise us. Hūd ('alaihi-s-salām) said: full knowledge of when the punishment will come is with God alone; I convey to you the message I was sent with (in it I was told that punishment will come to you — I have informed you; beyond that I have neither knowledge nor power). But I see you a people talking sheer ignorance — first you do not accept tawḥīd, then you call for [the punishment] with your own mouth and demand it of me. I do claim my own truthfulness, having established it with proof; but the time and occurrence of the event, which is unclear to you, has not been told to me — its actual occurrence God will let one see when He wills. In short, when in no way did they accept the truth, the punishment's approach began thus: first a cloud arose. When these people saw the cloud facing their valleys, they said: this is a cloud that will rain on us. (He said:) no — not a rain-cloud; rather this is the punishment you sought to hasten — in that cloud is a wind carrying a painful punishment. That wind will destroy everything it is commanded to destroy, by its Lord's command. So (the wind snatched up men and cattle and dashed them down, until they were so ruined that nothing but their dwellings could be seen — no man or beast). Thus do We requite the guilty. And We had given the people of ‘Ād power in matters in which We have not given you power (matters dependent on bodily and material strength); and We had given them hearing and sight and hearts — all of it; yet since they rejected Allāh's signs, when the punishment came, neither their ears availed them at all, nor their eyes, nor their hearts; and the very punishment they used to mock closed in upon them — i.e. neither their senses could save them from that punishment, nor their planning, since planning is by the perception of the heart, not by their strength. (Sūrah al-Aḥqāf 46) — v.27: "And We have destroyed the towns around you, and varied the signs, that they might return." v.28: "Why then did those they took as gods besides Allāh, [seeking] nearness [to Him], not help them? Rather they vanished from them; and that was their lie and what they used to invent."

Khulāṣa — link of the verses: above, the story of ‘Ād was given in detail; next is mention of other such communities on whom punishment came for kufr and opposing the prophets, and who were destroyed. Their ruined towns lay on the routes of the people of Makka's travels; so that lessons be drawn from them, a brief account of them is given here. And We destroyed other towns around you too (for this kufr and shirk) — like Thamūd and the people of Lūt, whose towns [the Makkans] passed on the way to Syria; and since Yemen lies on one side of Makka and Syria on the other, He said "mā ḥawlakum" ("around you"). And (before destroying them, to admonish them) We had shown them Our signs again and again, that they might desist from kufr and shirk — but they did not desist, and were destroyed. So the things they had taken as objects of worship besides God, to gain nearness to God, thinking these would help them in adversity — why did they not help them at the time of destruction and punishment? Rather they all vanished from them; and that — taking them as gods and intercessors — is merely their own carved and fabricated notion (they were never in reality intercessors or gods at all). v.29: "And [recall] when We turned toward you a company of the jinn, listening to the Qur’ān; when they attended it they said: be silent. When it was finished, they went back to their people as warners." v.30: "They said: O our people, we have heard a Book sent down after Mūsā, confirming what was before it, guiding to the truth and

Khulāṣa: and recount to them the episode when We turned a company of the jinn toward you, who at last came here and began to listen to the Qur'ān. When they reached the place where the Qur'ān was being recited, they said to one another: be silent (and listen to this speech). Then when the Qur'ān had been recited — i.e. as much as the Prophet ﷺ had to recite in the prayer at that time was finished — those people (believed in it and) went back to their people to convey the news; and going, they said: O our brothers! We have come from hearing a wondrous Book, sent down after Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām), which confirms the Book before it — i.e. the Torah — and guides to the true religion and the straight path. (That is the establishing and displaying of the truthfulness of the religion of Islam; next, its acceptance is urged, first by encouragement then by warning) — i.e. O our brothers! Respond to the caller of Allāh (the caller meaning the Qur'ān or the noble Prophet); and (responding means) believe in him (a hint that he calls to faith, not to any worldly aim). So if you do so, Allāh will forgive your sins and protect you from a painful punishment. And whoever does not respond to the caller of Allāh cannot, by fleeing, defeat God anywhere on earth (i.e. cannot slip out of His grasp); and, just as he himself cannot escape, so no one besides God will be his protector to save him. Such people are in manifest misguidance: that despite the standing proofs of the caller's truth, they still do not respond to him. the jinn are even greater in arrogance and pride than you, yet on hearing the Qur'ān their hearts too softened and they became Muslim. Allāh has given you more reason and awareness than the jinn, yet despite that you do not believe. The episode of the jinn hearing the Qur'ān and believing comes in the sound aḥādīth thus: at the time of the Messenger's ﷺ being raised, when the jinn were barred from hearing the tidings of heaven, then, after his prophethood and mission, any jinn who went up to hear the tidings of heaven had a piercing shooting-star flung at him to drive him off. This was discussed among the jinn — that the cause must be found out: what new event has occurred in the world that the jinn are now barred from the tidings of heaven? Different bands of the jinn spread out across different regions of the world to investigate. One of their bands came toward the Ḥijāz. That day the Prophet ﷺ was staying with a few Companions at the place Baṭn Nakhla, intending to go toward the Market of 'Ukāz. (The Arabs would set up markets at particular places on particular days for trade and social affairs, where people from every region gathered, shops were set up, and assemblies and gatherings held — like the fairs held here and there in our times. One such market was at the place 'Ukāz, and the Messenger ﷺ was most likely going there to call and convey Islam.) At Baṭn Nakhla he was leading the dawn prayer when those jinn arrived; hearing the Qur'ān they said: this must be the new thing that has come between us and the tidings of heaven. (Narrated by Imām Aḥmad, al-Bukhārī, Muslim, al-Tirmidhī, al-Nasā'ī and a group, from Ibn 'Abbās raḍiyallāhu 'anhu.) Another report: when those jinn came they said to one another, be silent and listen to the Qur'ān; when he finished the prayer they, believing and certain of Islam's truth, returned to their people and told them the real cause of the event, urging them to believe too — but the Messenger ﷺ was not informed of the jinn's coming (or of their believing) until Sūrat al-Jinn was revealed, in which he was told of the event. (Narrated by Ibn al-Mundhir from 'Abd al-Malik.) Another report: these jinn were inhabitants of the place Naṣībīn, and were nine in all, or seven per some reports. When they gave their people this news worth hearing and urged them to believe, three hundred of them then came to present themselves to enter Islam. (Narrated by Abū Nu'aym and al-Wāqidi from Ka'b al-Aḥbār; all the reports are in al-Rūḥ.) Other ḥadīths relate the jinn's coming differently; but since several events occurred at different times, there is no contradiction. This is also supported by the report of al-Ṭabarānī in al-Awsaṭ and of Ibn Mardawayh from Ibn 'Abbās (raḍ.) that the jinn came to the Messenger ﷺ repeatedly. Al-Khafājī said: gathering the reports of the aḥādīth shows that the jinn came to the Messenger ﷺ ...] · rukū' 4, para 26 · full-page Ma'ārif

The detail of this same episode is stated in the verses at the head. "Kitāban unzila min ba‘di Mūsā" — from the qualifier "after Mūsā" some concluded that these jinn were Jews, since after Mūsā (‘alaihi-s-salām) the Injīl was sent down on ‘Īsā (‘alaihi-s-salām), and they did not mention it. But there is no explicit report of this; and inferring their being Jews from their not mentioning the Injīl is insufficient, for their not mentioning the Injīl could also be because the Injīl in most rulings follows the Torah, while the Qur‘ān, like the Torah, is an independent Book whose rulings and legislation differ greatly from the Torah — so it may be that the aim is to state that a Book independent like the Torah is the Qur‘ān itself. "Yaghfir lakum min dhunūbikum" — the particle "min" is basically for partitivity, i.e. "some of". If that sense is taken here, the benefit of adding "min" is that accepting Islam does not remit all the rights of fellow-servants — so it was fitting to say that some sins, i.e. the rights of Allāh, are forgiven. Some hold this "min" to be extra, in which case that explanation is not needed. v.33: "Do they not see that Allāh, who created the heavens and the earth and did not tire in creating them, is able to give life to the dead? Yes indeed — He is powerful over all things." v.34: "And the Day those who disbelieved are exposed to the Fire: is this not the truth? They will say: yes, by our Lord. He will say: then taste the punishment for what you used to disbelieve." v.35: "So be patient, as the messengers of firm resolve were patient, and do not seek to hasten [it] for them. On the Day they see what they are promised, it will be as though they had lingered only an hour of a day. Aḥqāf 46 — LAST PAGE OF VOLUME 7) — Khulāṣa: Have these people not realised that when God created the heavens and the earth and did not tire in the least in creating them, He has, all the more, the power to bring the dead to life (at the Resurrection)? And why should He not be able to — indeed He is powerful over all things? (That establishes its possibility.) And on that Day, when it comes to pass and the people of Hell are brought forward and asked: is this Hell not a real thing — as, in the world, you used to deny its reality — they will say: by our Lord, this kind of thing is indeed real. It will be said: then, for your disbelief (which included denial of Hell), taste the punishment of this Hell. Next, to console the Messenger ﷺ: since it is certain that vengeance will be taken from them, be patient as the messengers of firm resolve were patient, and do not hasten (the divine vengeance) for these people (which you wish for, to comfort the Muslims). It is a wondrous turn that those who deserve the punishment themselves make haste for it — a claimant seeking his opponent's swift punishment is not strange, but the opponent seeking his own swift punishment is most strange. So, by divine wisdom, the punishment will not come at once; yet at the moment they witness it, it will affect them just as an immediate punishment would — for when on that Day they see the thing promised them, the extreme severity of the punishment will make it seem as though they lingered in this world only an hour of a day (the long span of the world will seem short, as though the punishment came at once). Then a warning to the disbelievers: this is a conveyance (from God, to complete the proof), which has reached them through the Messenger ﷺ; so after it, only the disobedient will be ruined (for after the conveying no excuse remains). And the Messenger takes no harm from them; in this too there is emphatic consolation. MA'ĀRIF: "ulū-l-ʿazmi mina-r-rusul" — per the verifiers the "min" in "mina-r-rusul" is explanatory, not partitive: the sense is that all messengers are people of resolve and firm purpose — so being of resolve and firm purpose is an attribute of the prophets. Yet gradation and disparity in the degrees of these attributes among the messengers is established by the Qur'ān itself: "tilka-r-rusulu faḍḍalnā ba'dahum ʿalā ba'd." Hence the prophets (ʿalaihimu-s-salām) who were most distinguished from others in the attribute of resolve and firm purpose — for those messengers this became a well-known title, and there is also disagreement about who they are. Most hold that the title "ulū-l-ʿazm" was given to those mentioned in the verse of Sūrah al-Aḥzāb: "wa idh akhadhnā mina-n-nabiyyīna mīthāqahum wa minka wa min Nūḥin wa Ibrāhīma wa Mūsā wa ʿĪsa-bni Maryam" — i.e. Nūḥ, Ibrāhīm, Mūsā, ʿĪsā and Muḥammad (ʿalaihimu-s-salām). ʿĀ'ishah (raḍ.) narrates that the Messenger ﷺ said: the ease, comfort and luxury of the world do not befit Muḥammad and the family of Muḥammad, for

Allāh is not content with anything from the ulū-l-‘azm messengers but patience; and I too have been commanded: "fa-ṣbir kamā ṣabara ulū-l-‘azmi mina-r-rusul." COLOPHON: Sūrah al-Aḥqāf completed, by the aid of Allāh, on the 22nd of Rajab 1392 AH, Saturday — wa lillāhi-l-ḥamd.] · rukū‘ 4, para 26 ·

Aur ‘ajab tarbiyat hai ki woh mustahiqqīn-e-‘azāب khud jald-bāzī karte haiñ — mudda’ ī agar mudda’ ā-‘alaih kī sazā jaldī chāhᵉ to ba’īd nahīn; lekin mudda’ ā-‘alaih agar sazā jaldī chāhᵉ to nihāyat amr-e-gharīb hai.

So go ḥikmat-e-ilāhiyya se ‘azāب faurī nahīn h-وگآ, lekin mushāhida ke waqt un par is kā wohī aṣar h-وگآ j aur faurī ‘azāب kā hotā hai — kyonki jab us roz yih log us chīz ko (ya’ nᵉ ‘azāب ko) dekheñ ge jic kā un se wa‘da kiyā jātā hai, to us waqt ghāyat-e-shiddat-e-‘azāب ma‘lūm h-وگآ ki go yih log (dunyā meñ) din-bhar meñ ek ghāṭī rahᵉ haiñ (ya’ nᵉ dunyā kī muddat-e-ṭawīla qaṣīr ma‘lūm h-وگی, aur yihī ma‘lūm h-وگآ ki faurī ‘azāب ā gayā).

Āge kuffār ko tanbīh hai ki yih (Khudā kī ṭaraf se itmām-e-ḥujjat ke li’e) pahonchā denā hai (j aur Rasūlullāh [ṣallallāhu ‘alaihi wa sallam] kī ma‘rifat ho chukā) — so (us ke ba‘d) wohī barbād h-وñ ge j aur nā-farmānī kareñ ge (kyonki ba‘d-e-tablīgh koī ‘uzr nᵉ rahā). Aur Rasūl ko un se koī ṣarar nahīn; us se ta’kīd tasliya kī h-ہی ho gāī.

Is mein "min ar-rusul" kā ḥarf "min" muḥaqqiqīn ke nazdīk bayāniyya hai, tab ʿiḍiyya ke li'e nahīn. Ma'nī yih hai ki tamām rusul jo ṣāḥib-e-ʿazm wa himmat hī hote hai — [is se] ma'lūm huā ki ṣāḥib-e-ʿazm wa himmat honā anbiyā ke ṣifāt hai. Albatta rusul ke darmiyān ṣifāt ke darjāt mein tafāḍul aur kamī-beshī khud Qur'ān ke irshād se ṣābit hai — "tilka-r-rusulu faḍḍalnā ba'ḍahum 'alā ba'ḍ".

Is li'e jo anbiyā (ʿalaihimu-s-salām) ṣifāt-e-ʿazm wa himmat mein dūsron se ziyāda imtiyāz rakhte the, un rusul ke li'e yih laqab baṭaur-e-mashhūr ho gayā, aur un ke ta'yīn mein bḥī ikhtilāf hai. Aur aksar kā qaul yih hai ki laqab "ulū-l-ʿazm" jo ko diyā gayā hai, yih woh ḥaḍrāt hai jo jīn kā zikr Sūrah al-Aḥzāb ke is āyat mein hai: "wa idh akhadhnā mina-n-nabiyyīna mīthāqahum wa minka wa min Nūḥin wa Ibrāhīma wa Mūsā wa ʿĪsa-bni Maryam" — ya'nī Nūḥ, Ibrāhīm, Mūsā, ʿĪsā aur Muḥammad (ʿalaihimu-s-salām).
